18 Then the Spirit came upon Amasai, leader of the Thirty, and he said, "David, we belong to you; we're with you, son of Jesse! Peace, peace to you, and peace to the one who helps you! For your deliverer is your God." So David received them and assigned them to be officers over troops.

19 Some of the descendants of Manasseh joined David when he was going to fight against Saul, accompanied by the Philistines. Even so, David was of no help to them, because the Philistine rulers were counselled to send him away. They told themselves, "He's going to go over to his master Saul at the cost of our heads."

20 As he travelled toward Ziklag, these descendants of Manasseh joined him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediahel, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, leaders in charge of thousands in Manasseh.

21 They helped David against raiders, since they were all warriors and commanders in the army.

22 Indeed people kept coming to David every day to help him, until his army became a great, vast army.

23 What follows is a listing of the divisions of battle-ready troops who joined David in Hebron to turn the kingdom of Saul over to him, in accordance with what the LORD had spoken.

24 The army of Judah, equipped with both shields and spears, numbered 6,800 warriors,
25 the elite warriors of Simeon numbered 7,100,
26 and the descendants of Levi numbered 4,600.

27 Jehoiada, a senior officer in the house of Aaron, brought with him 3,700.

28 Zadok, a young and valiant soldier, brought 22 commanders from his own ancestral house.

29 The tribe of Benjamin, relatives of Saul numbered 3,000, of whom most had remained allied to what remained of Saul's dynasty.

30 The tribe of Ephraim supplied 20,800 valiant soldiers who were well known in their ancestral households.

31 The half-tribe of Manasseh supplied 18,000, who had been appointed specifically to come and establish David as king.

32 The tribe of Issachar supplied 200 leaders, along with all of their relatives under their command. They kept up-to-date in their understanding of the times and knew what Israel should do.

33 The tribe of Zebulun supplied 50,000 experienced troops, trained in the use of every kind of war weapon, in order to help David with undivided loyalty.

34 The tribe of Naphtali supplied 1,000 commanders, accompanied by 37,000 troops armed with shields and spears.

35 The tribe of Dan supplied 28,600 battle-ready troops.

36 The tribe of Asher supplied 40,000 experienced, battle-ready troops.

37 The tribes of Reuben and Gad, along with the half-tribe of Manasseh east of the Jordan supplied 120,000 men armed with every kind of war weapon.

38 All these warriors arrived in battle order at Hebron, fully intending to establish David as king over all Israel. Furthermore, all of the rest of Israel were united in their intent to make David king.

39 They spent three days eating and drinking with David, since their relatives had supplied provisions for them.

40 Their neighbours came from as far away as the territories of Issachar, Zebulun, and Naphtali, bringing provisions loaded on donkeys, camels, mules, and oxen. They brought abundant provisions of meal, fig bars, raisins, wine, oil, oxen, and sheep, because there was joy in Israel.

1 Chronicles 13

1 Later, David conferred with every officer in charge of groups of thousands and groups of hundreds.

2 Then he addressed the entire community of Israel, "If it seems good to you and something from the Lord our God, let's spread word to all of our relatives who remain throughout the entire land of Israel, including the priests and descendants of Levi in the cities and pasture lands, so they can gather together with us.

3 Then let's bring the Ark of God back to us, because we didn't consult it during Saul's reign."

4 The entire community consented, because doing so pleased all the people.

5 So David assembled all of Israel — from the Shihor River of Egypt to Lebo-hamath — in order to bring the Ark of God from Kiriath-jearim.

6 David, accompanied by all of Israel, went up to Baalah (the former name of Kiriath-jearim), which belonged to Judah, to bring from there the Ark of God, the LORD, who sits enthroned on the cherubim, and who is called the Name.

7 They mounted the Ark of God on a new cart, bringing it from Abinadab's home, with Uzzah and Ahio driving the cart.

8 David and all of Israel were dancing in the presence of God with all of their might with songs, harps, tambourines, cymbals, and trumpets.

9 As they approached Chidon's threshing floor, Uzzah put out his hand to steady the ark, because the oxen had stumbled.

10 Just then, the anger of the LORD blazed against Uzzah, and he struck him down because he had put his hand on the ark, and he died right there in the presence of God.

11 David flew into a rage because the LORD had killed Uzzah. As a result, that place was called Perez-uzzah to this day.

12 But David feared God that day, and asked "How am I to bring the Ark of God to me?"

13 As a result, David would not take the ark into the city of David for it to be in his care. Instead, he took it to the home of Obed-edom the Gittite.

14 So the Ark of God remained in the care of Obed-edom's household for three months, and God blessed Obed-edom's household, along with everyone associated with it.

1 Chronicles 14

1 After this, King Hiram of Tyre sent a delegation to David, accompanied by cedar logs, stone masons, and wood workers, to construct a palace for him.

2 David realized that the LORD was affirming him as king over Israel, and that his government was being exalted in order to benefit his people Israel.

3 But while he was living in Jerusalem, David married more wives and fathered more sons and daughters.

4 Here's a list of the children whom he fathered while in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,

5 Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet,

6 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia,

7 Elishama, Beeliada, and Eliphelet.

8 When the Philistines learned that David had been anointed king over all of Israel, all of the Philistines invaded to look for David. David heard about it and went out to fight them.

9 Meanwhile, the Philistines had invaded and raided the Rephaim Valley.
10 So David asked God, "Am I to go out against the Philistines? Will you give me victory over them?" "Go out," the LORD replied to him, "and I'll put them right into your hand."
11 So David went out to Baal-perazim and defeated the Philistines there. David observed, "Like an overwhelming flood, God has overwhelmed my enemies, using me to do it." That's why that place is called Baal-perazim.
12 The Philistines abandoned their gods there, so David ordered that their idols be incinerated.
13 Later the Philistines invaded the Rephaim Valley again.
14 When David asked God about it, God told him, "Don't directly attack them. Instead, go around them and come up against them opposite those balsam trees.
15 When you hear the sound of marching coming from the tops of the balsam trees, then go out to battle, because God will have gone out ahead of you to destroy the Philistine army."
16 So David did just as God had ordered, and they struck down the Philistine army from Gibeon to Gezer.
17 Then David's reputation spread through all of the neighbouring countries, and the LORD caused all nations to be afraid of David.

1 Chronicles 15

1 David built palaces for himself in the city of David, and he prepared a place for the Ark of God and erected a tent for it.
2 Then David ordered that the Ark of God was to be carried by no one except the descendants of Levi, because the LORD had chosen them to carry the ark of the LORD and to serve him forever.
3 David assembled all of Israel in Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD to its proper place that he had prepared for it.
4 David also assembled the descendants of Aaron, who were descendants of Levi,
5 including Uriel their leader from the descendants of Kohath, along with 120 of his relatives,
6 from the descendants of Merari, Asaiah their leader, along with 220 of his relatives,
7 from the descendants of Gershon, Joel their chief, along with 130 of his relatives,
8 from the descendants of Elizaphan, Shemaiah their leader, along with 200 of his relatives,
9 from Hebron's descendants, Eliel their leader, along with 80 of his relatives,
10 and from Uzziel's descendants, Amminadab their leader, along with 112 of his relatives.

Luke 11

1 Once Jesus was praying in a certain place. After he had finished, one of his disciples told him, "Lord, teach us to pray, as John taught his disciples."

2 So he told them, "Whenever you pray you are to say, 'Father, may your name be kept holy. May your kingdom come.

3 Keep giving us every day our daily bread,

4 and forgive us our sins, as we forgive everyone who sins against us. And never bring us into temptation.'"

5 Then he told them, "Suppose one of you has a friend, and you go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, let me borrow three loaves of bread.

6 A friend of mine on a trip has dropped in on me, and I don't have anything to serve him.'

7 Suppose he answers from inside, 'Stop bothering me! The door is already locked, and my children are here with us in the bedroom. I can't get up and give you anything!'

8 I tell you, even though that man doesn't want to get up and give him anything because he is his friend, he will get up and give him whatever he needs because of his persistence.

9 So I say to you: Keep asking, and it will be given you. Keep searching, and you will find. Keep knocking, and the door will be opened for you,

10 because everyone who keeps asking will receive, and the person who keeps searching will find, and the person who keeps knocking will have the door opened.

11 "What father among you, if his son asks for bread, would give him a stone, or if he asks for a fish, would give him a snake instead of the fish?

12 Or if he asks for an egg, would he give him a scorpion?

13 So if you who are evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the Father in heaven give the Holy Spirit to those who keep asking him!"

14 Jesus was driving a demon out of a man who was unable to talk. When the demon had gone out, the man began to speak, and the crowds were amazed.

15 But some of them said, "He drives out demons by Beelzebul, the ruler of the demons."

16 Others, wanting to test Jesus, kept asking him for a sign from heaven.

17 Since he knew what they were thinking, he told them, "Every kingdom divided against itself is devastated, and a divided household collapses.

18 Now, if Satan is divided against himself, how can his kingdom last? After all, you say that I drive out demons by Beelzebul.

19 If I drive out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your own followers drive them out? That is why they will be your judges!

20 But if I drive out demons by the power of God, then the kingdom of God has come to you.

21 "When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own mansion, his property is safe.

22 But when a stronger man than he attacks and defeats him, the stronger man strips off that man's armour in which he trusted and then divides his plunder.

23 "The person who isn't with me is against me, and the person who doesn't gather with me scatters."

1 Chronicles 15

11 Then David summoned the priests Zadok and Abiathar, along with the descendants of Levi - Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab -

12 and addressed them: "As leaders of your Levitical families, set yourselves apart, both you and your relatives, so you can be qualified to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel to the place I've prepared for it.

13 Because you didn't carry it from the very first, the LORD our God attacked us, since we didn't care for it appropriately."

14 So the priests and descendants of Levi set themselves apart to carry the ark of the LORD God of Israel.

15 The descendants of Levi carried the Ark of God the way Moses had commanded and in accordance with the command from the LORD — that is, with poles on their shoulders.

16 David also told the leaders of the descendants of Levi to appoint their relatives as singers, to play musical instruments such as harps, lyres, and cymbals, and to keep sounding aloud with joyful voices.

17 So the descendants of Levi appointed Joel's son Heman, his relative Berechiah's son Asaph, as well as certain relatives of Merari's sons, including Kushaiah's son Ethan, 18 their second order relatives Zechariah, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, as well as the trustees Obed-edom and Jeiel.

19 The singers included Heman, Asaph, and Ethan (who played bronze cymbals).

20 Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah played harps to accompany the women singers, 21 and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah led on lyres, sounding the octaves.

22 Chenaniah, music leader for the descendants of Levi, served as music director, because he was expert at it.

23 Berechiah and Elkanah served as gatekeepers for the ark.

24 Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer the priests were appointed to sound the trumpets before the Ark of God, and Obed-edom and Jehiah were trustees for the ark.

25 Then David, the elders of Israel, and the leaders of groups of thousands proceeded to bring the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD from Obed-edom's house, rejoicing as they went.

26 As God helped the descendants of Levi who were carrying the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, they sacrificed seven bulls and seven rams.

27 David wore a robe made from fine linen, as did all of the descendants of Levi who were carrying the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah the music and choir director. David also wore a linen ephod.

28 All of Israel were bringing up the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, accompanied by shouting, sounding of horns, trumpets, and cymbals, along with loud music on harps and lyres.

29 But as the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD approached the city of David, Saul's daughter Michal was peering out of a window, watching King David dancing and cavorting around, and she despised him in her heart.

1 Chronicles 16

1 They brought the Ark of God, placed it within the tent that David had erected, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings in the presence of God.

2 After David had finished sacrificing the burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD

3 and distributed a loaf of bread, a date bar, and a raisin bar to every person in Israel — that is, to each man and to each woman.

4 In the presence of the ark of the LORD, he appointed some of the descendants of Levi to minister continually by remembering, giving thanks, and praising the LORD God of Israel.

5 Their director Asaph played cymbals, and next to him was Zechariah, followed by Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel, who played harps and lyres.

6 The priests Benaiah and Jahaziel continually played the trumpets in the presence of the Ark of the Covenant of God.

7 On that very day, David composed this psalm of thanksgiving to the LORD just for Asaph and his companions:

8 Give thanks to the LORD, calling on his name. Make what he has done known among the people.

9 Sing to him, sing psalms to him, and think about all of his miraculous deeds.

10 Find joy in his holy name; let the hearts of those who keep on seeking the LORD rejoice.

11 Seek the LORD and his strength. Always look to him.

12 Keep remembering the awesome deeds that he has done, along with his miracles and the rulings that he has handed down,

13 you descendants of his servant Israel, you descendants of Jacob, the ones he has chosen.

14 He is the LORD our God. His justice is in all of the land.

15 Remember his covenant forever, his promise that he made to the thousandth generation,

16 the covenant that he made with Abraham, and the oath he swore to Isaac.

17 He confirmed it to Jacob in the form of an ordinance, an eternal covenant to Israel,

18 when he told Israel, "To you I will give the land of Canaan as your joyful inheritance."

19 When you were few in number — very few, and strangers at that —

20 wandering from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another,

21 he did not let anyone wrong them. He warned kings on their behalf,

22 "Don't touch my chosen ones, and don't hurt my prophets!"

23 Let all the earth sing to the LORD! Day after day proclaim his deliverance!

24 Declare his glory among the nations, and his miraculous deeds to all people,

25 because the LORD is great, and he is praised greatly! He is feared above every god.

26 For all of the gods of the other nations are mere idols, but the LORD fashioned the heavens!

27 Splendour and majesty surround him, and strength and joy fill his palace.

28 Let the families of earth recognize the LORD — that he is glorious and powerful.

29 Recognize the glory that is due the LORD! Bring your offering, and come into his presence, worshipping the LORD in all of his holy splendour.

30 Tremble in his presence, all the earth! Surely the inhabited world stands firm — it cannot be moved.

31 Let the heavens rejoice, and the earth be glad! Say to the nations, "The LORD reigns!"

32 Let the sea roar along with everything that fills it! Let the fields exult, along with everything in them!

33 Then let the trees in the forest sing out in praise, for the LORD is coming to judge the world.

34 Give thanks to the LORD, because he is good and because his gracious love is eternal!

35 Call out, "Save us, God, you who delivers us! Gather us and rescue us from the nations! We will thank your holy name and rejoice as we praise you!"

36 Praise the LORD God of Israel, who lives from eternity to eternity!

Then all of the people shouted "Amen!" and praised the LORD.

37 Later David left the presence of the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD so Asaph and his fellow descendants of Levi could serve the ark there continually each day, doing whatever was required.

38 Obed-edom and 68 of his relatives remained also, with Jeduthun's son Obed-edom and Hosah serving as trustees.

39 He left Zadok the priest and his relatives at the Tent of the LORD at the high place in Gibeon, where they ministered in the LORD's presence, 40 sacrificing the regular burnt offerings regularly each morning and evening to the LORD on the altar dedicated to that purpose, doing everything written in the Law of the LORD, just as he had commanded Israel.

41 David also appointed Heman, Jeduthun, and others chosen by name to give thanks to the LORD, because "his gracious love is eternal."

42 They accompanied their songs of praise to God with trumpets, cymbals, and other musical instruments while Jeduthun's children served as trustees.

43 After this, everyone left for their own homes and David went home to bless his own household.

Luke 11

24 "Whenever an unclean spirit goes out of a person, it wanders through dry places looking for a place to rest but doesn't find any. So it says, 'I will go back to my home that I left.'

25 When it gets back home, it finds it swept clean and put in order.

26 Then it goes and brings with it seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they all go in and settle there. And so the final condition of that person is worse than the first."

27 As Jesus was saying this, a woman in the crowd raised her voice and told him, "How blessed is the womb that gave birth to you and the breasts that nursed you!"

28 But he said, "Rather, how blessed are those who hear God's word and obey it!"

29 Now as the crowds continued to throng around Jesus, he went on to say, "This people living today are an evil generation. It craves a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah, 30 because just as Jonah became a sign to the people of Nineveh, so the Son of Man will be a sign to this generation.

31 The queen of the south will stand up at the judgement and condemn the people living today, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon. But look, something greater than Solomon is here!

32 The men of Nineveh will stand up at the judgement and condemn the people living today, because they repented at the preaching of Jonah. But look, something greater than Jonah is here!"

33 "No one lights a lamp and puts it in a hiding place or under a basket, but on a lamp stand, so that those who enter may see its light.

34 Your eye is the lamp of your body. When your eye is healthy, your whole body is full of light. But when it is evil, your body is full of darkness.

35 Therefore, be careful that the light in you isn't darkness.

36 Now if your whole body is full of light, with no part of it in darkness, it will be as full of light as when a lamp gives you light with its rays."

37 After Jesus had said this, a Pharisee invited him to have a meal with him. So Jesus went and took his place at the table.

38 The Pharisee was surprised to see that he didn't first wash before the meal.

39 But the Lord told him, "Now you Pharisees clean the outside of the cup and the dish, but on the inside you are full of greed and evil.

40 You fools! The one who made the outside made the inside, too, didn't he?

41 So give what is inside to the poor, and then everything will be clean for you.

42 "How terrible it will be for you Pharisees! You give a tenth of your mint, spices, and every kind of herb, but you neglect justice and the love of God. These are the things you should have practised, without neglecting the others.

43 How terrible it will be for you Pharisees! You love to have the places of honour in the synagogues and to be greeted in the marketplaces.

44 How terrible it will be for you! You are like unmarked graves — people walk on them without realizing it."

1 Chronicles 17

- 1 After David had settled down to live in his palace, he spoke with the prophet Nathan. "Look, here I am living in this cedar palace, but the ark of the LORD's covenant remains surrounded by curtains!"
- 2 "Do everything you have in mind," Nathan replied to David, "because God is with you."
- 3 But later that same night, this message came to Nathan from God:
- 4 "Go tell David, my servant, 'This is what the LORD says: ""You won't be building a house for me to inhabit, will you?
- 5 After all, I haven't lived in a house from the day I brought out Israel until today. Instead, I've lived from tent to tent and from one place to another.
- 6 Wherever I've moved within all of Israel, did I ever ask even one judge of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd my people, 'Why haven't you built me a cedar house?'"
- 7 "Now therefore this is what you are to tell my servant David: 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "I took you from the pasture myself — from tending sheep — to become Commander-in-Chief over my people Israel.
- 8 ""Furthermore, I have remained with you everywhere you have gone, annihilating all your enemies right in front of you. I will make your reputation great, like the reputation of the great ones who have lived on earth.
- 9 I will establish a homeland for my people Israel, planting them in a secure location where they will never be disturbed anymore. Wicked people will not oppress them as happened in the past,
- 10 during the time I had commanded judges to administer my people Israel. I'll also grant you deliverance from all your enemies. ""I'm also announcing to you that the LORD also will himself build a house for you.
- 11 It will come about that when your life is complete and you go to join your ancestors, I will raise up your offspring after you, who is related to one of your sons, and I will fortify his kingdom.
- 12 He will build a temple dedicated to me, and I will make his throne last forever.
- 13 I will be a father to him and he will be a son to me. I will never remove my gracious love from him as I did from the one who preceded you.
- 14 I will confirm him in my Temple and in my kingdom forever, and his throne will remain secure forever.""
- 15 Using precisely these words, Nathan communicated this complete oracle to David.
- 16 Then King David went in, sat down in the presence of the LORD, and said: "Who am I, LORD God, and what is my household, since you have brought me to this?
- 17 Furthermore, this is a small thing to you, God, and yet you have spoken concerning your servant's household for a great while to come, and you have seen in me the fulfilment of man's purpose, LORD God.
- 18 "What more can David say to you about how you are honouring your servant, and you surely know your servant.
- 19 LORD, for the sake of your servant, and consistent with your heart, you have done all of these great things and are now making these great things known.
- 20 "LORD, there is no one like you, and we have heard from no god other than you.
- 21 What other one nation on the earth is like your people Israel, God, which you have redeemed from slavery to become your own people, making a great name for yourself when you redeemed your people from Egypt. You did awesome miraculous deeds, driving out nations that stood in their way.
- 22 You took your people Israel to be your very own people forever, and you, LORD, have become their God.

23 "And now, LORD, let what you have spoken concerning your servant and his household be done forever — and let it be done just as you've promised.

24 May your name be made great and honoured forever: The LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, is God for Israel, and may the family of David your servant stand before you forever.

25 "Because of you, my God, I have been bold to pray to you, as you have told your servant that you will build him a dynasty.

26 And now, LORD, you are God, and you have promised all of these good things to your servant.

27 Furthermore, it has pleased you to bless the dynasty of your servant, so that it will continue in place forever in your presence, because when you, LORD, grant a blessing, it is an eternal blessing."

1 Chronicles 18

1 After this, David defeated and subdued the Philistines, and then took possession of Gath and its towns from Philistine control.

2 He also conquered Moab, placing them in servitude and making them pay tribute.

3 David also defeated King Hadadezer of Zobah, which is near Hamath, while he was going about establishing his hegemony as far as the Euphrates River.

4 David confiscated 1,000 chariots, 7,000 horsemen, and 20,000 foot soldiers from him, and hamstrung all of the chariot horses except for a reserve force of 100 chariots.

5 When Arameans came from Damascus to help King Hadadezer of Zobah, David killed 22,000 of them.

6 David later erected garrisons in Aram of Damascus, and the Arameans were placed under servitude to David, to whom they paid tribute.

7 David also confiscated the gold shields that belonged to Hadadezer's officials and took them to Jerusalem.

8 David also confiscated a vast quantity of bronze from Tibhath and Cun, cities under Hadadezer's control. Later on, Solomon crafted the bronze sea, the pillars, and the bronze vessels for the Temple.

9 When King Tou of Hamath learned that David had conquered King Hadadezer of Zobah's entire army,

10 he sent his son Hadoram to King David to meet and congratulate him, because he had fought against and defeated Hadadezer. Since Hadadezer had often been to war against Tou, he sent all sorts of gold, silver, and bronze goods

11 to King David, which David also dedicated to the LORD, along with silver and gold that he confiscated from all the surrounding nations, including Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, and Amalek.

12 Zeruiah's son Abishai killed 18,000 Edomites in the Salt Valley.

13 He erected garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became subservient to David, while the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went.

14 So David reigned over all of Israel, administering justice and equity to all of his people.

15 Zeruiah's son Joab served in charge of the army, Ahilud's son Jehoshaphat was his personal archivist,

16 Ahitub's son Zadok and Abiathar's son Ahimelech were priests, Shavsha was his personal secretary, 17 Jehoiada's son Benaiah supervised the special forces and mercenaries, while David's sons worked as chief officials in service to the king.

1 Chronicles 19

1 Some time later, King Nahash of Ammon died and his son succeeded him,

2 so David told himself, "I will be loyal to Nahash's son Hanun, since his father showed loyal, gracious love to me." So David sent a delegation to console him about his loss of his father. But when David's delegation arrived to visit Hanun in Ammonite territory to console him,

3 the Ammonite officials asked Hanun, "Do you think that because David has sent a delegation of consolers to you that he is honouring your father? His delegation has arrived to search, overthrow, and scout the land, hasn't it?"

4 So Hanun arrested David's delegation, shaved off their beards, cut off their clothes at the waist line, and sent them away in disgrace.

5 After they had departed, David was informed about the men, so he sent word to them, since they had been deeply humiliated. He told them, "Stay at Jericho until your beards have grown back, and then return."

6 When the Ammonites realized that they had created quite a stink with David, Hanun and the Ammonites spent 1,000 silver talents to hire chariots and mercenaries from Mesopotamia, from Aram-maacah, and from Zobah.

7 They hired 32,000 chariots, along with the king of Maacah and his army, who arrived and encamped at Medeba. The Ammonites also were mustered and came out to battle from their home cities.

8 In response, David sent out Joab and his entire army of elite soldiers.

9 The Ammonites went out in battle formation in front of the entrance to the city while the kings who had come stayed by themselves in the open fields.

10 When Joab observed that the battle lines were set up to oppose him both in front and behind, he appointed some special forces from Israel and arrayed them to oppose the Arameans,

11 putting the rest of his forces under command of his brother Abishai, who arrayed them to oppose the Ammonites.

12 He told Abishai, "If the Arameans prove too strong for me, then you are to help me. If the Ammonites prove too strong for you, then I will help you.

13 Be strong, be courageous on behalf of our people and for the cities of our God, and may the LORD do what he thinks is best."

14 So Joab and the soldiers who were with him attacked the Arameans in battle formation, and the Arameans retreated in front of him.

15 When the Ammonites saw the Arameans retreating, they also retreated from Joab's brother Abishai back to the city and Joab left for Jerusalem.

16 After the Arameans realized that they had been defeated by Israel, they sent for the Arameans who lived beyond the Euphrates River. Shophach was leading them as commander of Hadadezer's army.

17 When David learned this, he mustered all of Israel, crossed the Jordan, approached the Arameans, and drew up his forces against them. After David had assembled in battle array against the Arameans, the Arameans attacked him.

18 The Arameans retreated from Israel, and David's forces killed 7,000 Aramean charioteers, 40,000 soldiers, and Shophach, the commander of their army.

19 When Hadadezer's officials saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they sought terms of peace with David and became subservient to him. After this, the Arameans were unwilling to help the Ammonites anymore.

Luke 11

45 Then one of the experts in the Law told him, "Teacher, when you say these things, you insult us, too."

46 Jesus said, "How terrible it will be for you experts in the Law, too! You load people with burdens that are hard to carry, yet you don't even lift a finger to ease those burdens.

47 How terrible it will be for you! You build monuments for the prophets, and it was your ancestors who killed them!

48 So you are witnesses and approve of the deeds of your ancestors, because they killed those for whom you are building monuments.

49 That is why the Wisdom of God said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles. They will kill some of them and persecute others,'

50 so those living today will be charged with the blood of all the prophets that was shed since the foundation of the world,

51 from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah, who died between the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, I tell you, it will be charged against this generation!

52 How terrible it will be for you experts in the Law! You have taken away the key to knowledge. You didn't go in yourselves, and you kept out those who were trying to go in."

53 As Jesus was leaving, the scribes and the Pharisees began to oppose him fiercely, interrogating him about many things.

54 They watched him closely in an effort to trap him in something he might say.

Luke 12

1 Meanwhile, the people had gathered by the thousands and were trampling on one another. Jesus began to speak first to his disciples. "Watch out for the yeast — that is, the hypocrisy — of the Pharisees!

2 There is nothing covered up that will not be exposed and nothing secret that will not be made known.

3 Therefore, what you have said in darkness will be heard in the daylight, and what you have whispered in private rooms will be shouted from the housetops."

4 "But I tell you, my friends, never be afraid of those who kill the body and after that can't do anything more.

5 I'll show you the one you should be afraid of. Be afraid of the one who has the authority to throw you into hell after killing you. Yes, I tell you, be afraid of him!

6 "Five sparrows are sold for two pennies, aren't they? Yet not one of them is forgotten by God.

7 Why, even all the hairs on your head have been counted! Stop being afraid. You are worth more than a bunch of sparrows."

8 "But I tell you, the Son of Man will acknowledge before God's angels everyone who acknowledges me before people.

9 But whoever denies me before people will be denied before God's angels.

10 Everyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but the person who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven.

11 When people bring you before synagogue leaders, rulers, or authorities, don't worry about how you will defend yourselves or what you will say,

12 because at that time the Holy Spirit will teach you what you are to say."

1 Chronicles 20

- 1 Later the next spring, at the time that kings go out to fight, Joab led out the army, ravaged the territory of the Ammonites, and then went out and attacked Rabbah, while David remained behind in Jerusalem. Joab besieged Rabbah and conquered it.
- 2 David confiscated the crown of their king from his head, and found that its weight was 75 pounds in gold. A precious stone had been set in it, and it was placed on David's head. He also confiscated a great amount of war booty that had been plundered from the city,
- 3 brought back the people who had lived in it, and put them to conscripted labour with saws, iron picks, and axes. David did this to every Ammonite city, and then David and his entire army returned to Jerusalem.
- 4 Afterwards, war broke out against the Philistines at Gezer, where Sibbecai the Hushathite killed Sippai, one of the descendants of the Rephaim, defeating the Philistines.
- 5 There was also another battle against the Philistines, when Jair's son Elhanan killed Lahmi the Gittite, Goliath's brother, whose spear was as big as a weaver's beam.
- 6 There was also a battle at Gath, where there was a very tall man with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot — for a total of 24 digits — who was a descendant of the Rephaim.
- 7 When he challenged Israel, Shimei's son Jonathan, David's nephew, killed him.
- 8 These descendants from the giants in Gath died at the hands of David and his servants.

1 Chronicles 21

- 1 Then Satan attacked Israel by inciting David to enumerate a census of Israel.
- 2 David ordered Joab and the commanders of the army, "Go take a census of Israel from Beer-sheba to Dan, and bring me a report so I can be aware of the total number."
- 3 But Joab replied, "May the LORD increase the population of his people a hundredfold! Your majesty, all of them are your majesty's servants, aren't they? So why should your majesty demand this? Why should he bring guilt to Israel?"
- 4 But the king's order overruled Joab, so Joab left, travelled throughout all of Israel, and then returned to Jerusalem
- 5 to report the total population count to David. Throughout all of Israel there were 1,100,000 men trained for war. In Judah there were 470,000 men trained for war.
- 6 Levi and Benjamin were not included in the census, because what the king had commanded was unethical to Joab.
- 7 God considered this behaviour to be evil, so he attacked Israel.
- 8 David responded to God, "I sinned greatly by behaving this way. But now I am asking you, please remove the guilt of your servant, since I have acted very foolishly."
- 9 So the LORD responded through Gad, David's seer.
- 10 "Go and tell David, 'This is what the LORD says: 'I'm holding three choices out for you: pick one of them for yourself, and I will do it to you.'"
- 11 Gad went to David and told him, "This is what the LORD says: 'Make a choice for yourself:
- 12 Either three years of famine, or three months of reversals as you are swept away by your enemies while the sword of your enemies overtakes you, or three days with the sword of the LORD, consisting of pestilence infecting the land, with the angel of the LORD wreaking destruction from border to border throughout all of Israel.' Decide right now what I am to answer to the one who sent me."
- 13 So David replied to Gad, "This is a very bad choice for me to make! Let me now please fall into the hand of the LORD, because his mercy is very great, but may I never fall into human hands!"
- 14 Then the LORD sent a pestilence to Israel, and 70,000 men died in Israel.

15 God also sent an angel to destroy Jerusalem, but as he was about to do so, the LORD looked and withdrew the calamity by saying to the destroying angel, "Enough! Stop what you're doing!" So the angel of the LORD remained standing near the threshing floor that belonged to Ornan the Jebusite.

16 David looked up and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, with a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces.

17 David told God, "Wasn't I the one who ordered the census of the population? Wasn't it I who sinned and acted wickedly? Now as for these sheep, what have they done? LORD God, please let your hand be against me and my ancestral household, but don't let your people be ravaged by plague!"

18 The angel of the LORD told Gad to tell David that David was to go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor that belonged to Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So David went up, obeying Gad's directive that he had spoken in the name of the LORD.

20 Ornan turned around and saw the angel. While his four sons with him ran away to hide, Ornan continued to thresh wheat.

21 As David approached Ornan, Ornan looked around and observed David, left the threshing floor, and fell to the ground before David with his face on the ground.

22 David told Ornan, "Give me the threshing floor as a site to build an altar to the LORD on it. Give it to me at its full price, so the plague may be averted from the people."

23 But Ornan replied to David, "Take it! Let your majesty the king do whatever seems like a good idea to him. Look here! I'm giving the oxen for burnt offerings, the threshing machinery for the wood, and the wheat for a grain offering. I'm giving all of it."

24 But King David told Ornan, "No. I will buy them for the full price because I will not offer to the LORD what is yours or offer burnt offerings that cost me nothing."

25 So David paid Ornan 600 shekels weight worth in gold for the site, 26 built an altar to the LORD there, and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings. He called out to the LORD, and he answered him from heaven with fire on the altar of burnt offerings.

27 After this, the LORD spoke to the angel, who then sheathed his sword.

28 From that time on, after David had observed that the LORD had answered him at the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he made his sacrifices there.

29 Meanwhile, the tent of the LORD that Moses had crafted in the desert, along with the altar of burnt offerings, were being stored at the high place in Gibeon at that time,

30 but David was not going before it to inquire of God, because he was afraid of the sword carried by the angel of the LORD.

1 Chronicles 22

1 David said, "This is where the LORD God's Temple will be, along with the altar of burnt offerings for Israel."

2 David subsequently issued orders to conscript the resident aliens who lived in the land of Israel and appointed stonecutters to prepare stones for building a temple for God.

3 David also provisioned abundant supplies of iron for nails to build the doors for gates and to build clamps. Furthermore, he provided so much bronze it wasn't inventoried,

4 as well as an innumerable amount of cedar logs, since the Sidonians and Tyrians brought vast amounts of cedar to David.

5 David thought, "My son Solomon is young and inexperienced. The temple that will be built for the LORD is to be magnificent, well known, and internationally honoured, so I will complete preparations for it." So before his death, David finished providing a great quantity of materials for it.

6 Later, David called for his son Solomon and directed him to build a temple to the LORD God of Israel.

7 David addressed Solomon: "I have attempted to build a temple to the name of the LORD my God.

8 But this message from the LORD came to me, telling me 'You have shed a lot of blood and fought great battles. You won't be building a house for my name, since you have shed so much blood on the earth in my sight.

9 But look! A son born to you will live comfortably, because I will give him rest from all his enemies that surround him on every side, since his name will be "Solomon" — I will give peace and quiet for Israel during his lifetime.

10 He will build a temple to my name. He will be a son to me, I myself will be a father to him, and I will secure his royal throne in Israel forever.'

11 So now, my son, may the LORD be with you, so that you are successful in constructing the Temple of the LORD your God, just as he has spoken about you.

12 "Only may the LORD give you discretion and understanding as he places you in charge over Israel, so you can keep the Law of the LORD your God.

13 Then you will be successful, if you keep on observing the statutes and ordinances that the LORD commanded Moses concerning Israel. Be strong, be courageous, and never give in to fear or dismay.

14 At great effort I have provided for the Temple of the LORD 100,000 gold talents, 1,000,000 silver talents, as well as bronze and iron beyond calculation, since there is so much of it. I've also provided timber and stone, but you'll need to obtain more.

15 You already have plenty of workers, including stonecutters, masons, carpenters, and an innumerable group of artisans who are skilled at working in 16 gold, silver, bronze, and iron. So begin the work, and may the LORD be with you."

17 David also issued these orders to all of the leaders of Israel to assist his son Solomon:

18 "Isn't the LORD your God with you? Hasn't he surrounded you with comfort? He has delivered the inhabitants of the land into my control, and the land lies subdued both in the LORD's presence and before his people.

19 So set your minds and hearts to seek the LORD your God, to get up, and to build the sanctuary of the LORD God, so the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD and the holy vessels of God may be stored in a temple built for the name of the LORD."

1 Chronicles 23

1 After David had reached old age, and had completed his reign, he set his son Solomon as king over Israel.

2 David then gathered together all of the leaders of Israel, including the priests and descendants of Levi.

3 descendants of Levi 30 years old and above were counted for a total of 38,000.

4 "24,000 of these," David said, "are to be set in charge of the work of the Temple of the LORD, with 6,000 serving as officers and judges,

5 with 4,000 gatekeepers, and with 4,000 offering praises to the LORD with the musical instruments that I have had crafted."

Luke 12

13 Then someone in the crowd told him, "Teacher, tell my brother to divide the family inheritance with me."

14 But Jesus asked him, "Mister, who appointed me to be a judge or arbitrator over you people?"

15 Then he told them, "Be careful to guard yourselves against every kind of greed, because a person's life doesn't consist of the amount of possessions he has."

16 Then he told them a parable. He said, "The land of a certain rich man produced good crops.

17 So he began to think to himself, 'What should I do, since I have no place to store my crops?'

18 Then he said, 'This is what I'll do. I'll tear down my barns and build bigger ones, and I'll store all my grain and goods in them.

19 Then I'll say to myself, "You've stored up plenty of good things for many years. Take it easy, eat, drink, and enjoy yourself."

20 But God told him, 'You fool! This very night your life will be demanded back from you. Now who will get the things you've accumulated?'

21 That's how it is with the person who stores up treasures for himself rather than with God."

22 Then Jesus told his disciples, "That's why I'm telling you to stop worrying about your life — what you will eat — or about your body — what you will wear, 23 because life is more than food, and the body more than clothing.

24 Consider the crows. They don't plant or harvest, they don't even have a storeroom or barn, yet God feeds them. How much more valuable are you than birds!

25 Can any of you add an hour to the length of your life by worrying?

26 So if you can't do a small thing like that, why worry about other things?

27 Consider how the lilies grow. They don't work or spin yarn, but I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendour was clothed like one of them.

28 Now if that's the way God clothes the grass in the field, which is alive today and thrown into an oven tomorrow, how much more will he clothe you — you who have little faith?

29 "So stop concerning yourselves about what you will eat or what you will drink, and stop being distressed,

30 because it is the gentiles who are concerned about all these things. Surely your Father knows that you need them!

31 Instead, be concerned about his kingdom, and these things will be provided for you as well.

32 Stop being afraid, little flock, because your Father is pleased to give you the kingdom.

33 "Sell your possessions, and give the money to the poor. Make yourselves wallets that don't wear out — a dependable treasure in heaven, where no thief can get close and no moth can destroy anything.

34 Because where your treasure is, there your heart will be also."

1 Chronicles 23

6 David divided them into divisions based on Gershon, Kohath, and Merari, Levi's sons.

7 The descendants of Gershon were Ladan and Shimei.

8 The three descendants of Ladan included Jehiel (their chief), Zetham, and Joel.

9 The three descendants of Shimei included Shelomoth, Haziël, and Haran. These were the heads of families of Ladan.

10 The descendants of Shimei included Jahath, Zina, Jeush, and Beriah. These four were sons of Shimei.

11 Jahath served as chief and Zizah was second in rank, but since Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, they were enrolled as a single family unit.

12 The four descendants of Kohath included Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

13 The descendants of Amram included Aaron and Moses. Aaron had been set apart to consecrate the most holy things, with the intent that he and his sons should present offerings in the LORD's presence forever, ministering to him and pronouncing blessings in his name forever.

14 Meanwhile, as for Moses the man of God, his sons were considered among the tribe of Levi.

15 The descendants of Moses included Gershom and Eliezer.

16 The descendants of Gershom included Shebuel as their chief.

17 The descendants of Eliezer included Rehabiah as their chief. Eliezer had no other sons, but Rehabiah had many descendants.

18 The descendants of Izhar included Shelomith their chief.

19 The descendants of Hebron included Jeriah their chief, Amariah their second in rank, Jahaziel their third, and Jekameam their fourth.

20 The descendants of Uzziel included Micah their chief and Isshiah their second in rank.

21 The descendants of Merari included Mahli and Mushi. The descendants of Mahli included Eleazar and Kish, 22 but Eleazar died having no sons, but only daughters. Their relatives (the descendants of Kish) married them.

23 The three descendants of Mushi included Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth.

24 These were the descendants of Levi according to their ancestral households, with family heads documented according to the names of persons 20 years and older who were appointed to perform work in service to the Temple of the LORD.

25 For David had said "The LORD God of Israel has granted rest to his people, and he has taken Israel as his eternal residence.

26 Therefore the descendants of Levi are no longer to carry the Tent or its service implements."

27 Since, according to David's final instructions, the list above contains the total number of descendants of Levi from the age of 20 years and upward,

28 David issued these orders: "Instead, they are to assist by lending a hand to the descendants of Aaron regarding service to the Temple of the LORD relating to the courts, the chambers, purification of everything pertaining to holiness, and to anything else pertaining to service on behalf of the Temple of God,

29 including assisting with the rows of showbread, selecting flour for the grain offerings, the unleavened bread, baked offerings, and oil-based offerings, no matter what the quantity or sizes.

30 They are to take their stand morning by morning, thanking and praising the LORD right through until the evening,

31 whenever burnt offerings are presented to the LORD, whether on Sabbaths, New Moons, or scheduled festivals, regularly in the LORD's presence in accordance with the number required to conduct their service.

32 By doing this, they will fulfil their obligation as trustees over the Tent of Assembly and the Sanctuary, attending to the needs of their relatives, who are descendants of Aaron, in keeping with their service on behalf of the Temple of the LORD."

1 Chronicles 24

1 With respect to the descendants of Aaron, classes of service were organized for Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, the descendants of Aaron.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father did, leaving no sons, so Eleazar and Ithamar became priests.

3 Along with Zadok, one of Eleazar's descendants, and Ahimelech, one of Ithamar's descendants, David organized their service according to their assigned responsibilities.

4 More leaders were located among Eleazar's descendants than among those of Ithamar, so sixteen leaders were appointed from the leaders of the ancestral households of Eleazar's descendants and eight from those of Ithamar.

5 They were chosen by impartial lottery, since there were trustees of the sanctuary and officers of God among both Eleazar's descendants and among Ithamar's descendants.

6 Nethanel's son Shemaiah, a Levitical scribe, made an official record of them for the king, the officers, Zadok the priest, Abiathar's son Ahimelech, and the heads of ancestral households of both the priests and the descendants of Levi. One ancestral house was chosen for Eleazar and one for Ithamar.

7 The first lottery was chosen in favour of Jehoiarib, the second for Jedaiah,

8 the third for Harim, the fourth for Seorim,

9 the fifth for Malchijah, the sixth for Mijamin,

10 the seventh for Hakkoz, the eighth for Abijah,

11 the ninth for Jeshua, the tenth for Shecaniah,

12 the eleventh for Eliashib, the twelfth for Jakim,

13 the thirteenth for Huppah, the fourteenth for Jeshebeab,

14 the fifteenth for Bilgah, the sixteenth for Immer,

15 the seventeenth for Hezir, the eighteenth for Happizzez,

16 the nineteenth for Pethahiah, the twentieth for Jehezkel,

17 the twenty-first for Jachin, the twenty-second for Gamul,

18 the twenty-third for Delaiah, and the twenty-fourth for Maaziah.

19 These were appointed to enter the Temple of the LORD according to their protocols established by their ancestor Aaron, as commanded by the LORD God of Israel.

20 Now with respect to the descendants of Levi there remained Shubael from the descendants of Amram and Jehdeiah from the descendants of Shubael;

21 with respect to Rehabiah, Isshiah their chief from the descendants Rehabiah;

22 with respect to the Izharites, Shelomoth, Jahath from the descendants of Shelomoth;

23 with respect to the descendants of Hebron, Jeriah their chief, Amariah their second in rank, Jahaziel their third, and Jekameam their fourth;

24 with respect to the descendants of Uzziel, Micah; with respect to the descendants of Micah, Shamir;

25 with respect to Micah's brother Isshiah; with respect to the descendants of Isshiah, Zechariah;

26 with respect to Merari's sons, Mahli and Mushi; with respect to the sons of Jaaziah, Beno;

27 with respect to the sons of Merari, Jaaziah, Beno, Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri;

28 with respect to Mahli, Eleazar, who had no sons;

29 with respect to Kish, Jerahmeel, one of the descendants of Kish;

30 and with respect to the descendants of Mushi, Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the descendants of Levi according to their ancestral households.

31 These individuals also cast lots corresponding to their relatives, Aaron's descendants, in the presence of King David, Zadok, and Ahimelech, and in the presence of the heads of the ancestral households of the priests and of the descendants of Levi, and the eldest was treated as impartially as was the younger brother.

1 Chronicles 25

1 Along with officers in his army, David consecrated to assist in service to the descendants of Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun those who prophesy with lyres, harps, and cymbals. The list of those who participated in this service included:

2 from the descendants of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asarelah, sons of Asaph mentored by Asaph himself, who prophesied under the supervision of the king;

3 from Jeduthun, these six of his descendants: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiiah, Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, mentored by their father Jeduthun, who played a lyre and prophesied, giving thanks and praise to the LORD;

4 from Heman, these descendants: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth.

5 All of these were descendants of Heman the king's seer, according to God's promise to exalt him, since God had given Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

6 They were all under their father's supervision regarding music in the Temple of the LORD with cymbals, harps, and lyres for the service of the Temple of God. Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman were under command of the king.

7 They and their relatives who had been skilfully trained in singing to the LORD, numbered 288.

Luke 12

35 "You must keep your belts fastened and your lamps burning.

36 Be like people who are waiting for their master to return from a wedding. As soon as he arrives and knocks, they will open the door for him.

37 How blessed are those servants whom the master finds watching for him when he comes! I tell you with certainty, he himself will put on an apron, make them sit down at the table, and go around and serve them.

38 How blessed they will be if their master comes in the middle of the night or near dawn and finds them awake!

39 But be sure of this: if the homeowner had known at what time the thief were coming, he would have watched and would not have let his house be broken into.

40 So be ready, because the Son of Man is coming at a time when you don't expect him."

41 Peter asked, "Lord, are you telling this parable just for us or for everyone?"

42 The Lord said, "Who, then, is the faithful and careful servant manager whom his master will put in charge of giving all his other servants their share of food at the right time?

43 How blessed is that servant whom his master finds doing this when he comes!

44 I tell you with certainty, he will put him in charge of all his property.

45 "But if that servant says to himself, 'My master is taking a long time to come back,' and begins to beat the other servants and to eat, drink, and get drunk,

46 the master of that servant will come on a day when he doesn't expect him and at an hour that he doesn't know. Then his master will punish him severely and assign him a place with unfaithful people.

47 That servant who knew what his master wanted but didn't prepare himself or do what was wanted will receive a severe beating.

48 But the servant who did things that deserved a beating without knowing it will receive a light beating. Much will be required from everyone to whom much has been given. But even more will be demanded from the one to whom much has been entrusted."

49 "I've come to set the earth on fire, and how I wish it were already ablaze!

50 I have a baptism to be baptized with, and what stress I am under until it's completed!

51 "Do you think that I came to bring peace on earth? Not at all, I tell you, but rather division!

52 From now on, five people in one household will be divided, three against two and two against three.

53 They will be divided father against son, son against father, mother against daughter, daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law, and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

1 Chronicles 25

8 Their duties, whether significant or insignificant, whether performed by teacher or pupil alike, were assigned by lottery.

9 Asaph's first lottery was cast in favour of Joseph; the second went to Gedaliah, that is, to him, to his relatives, and his sons, for a total of twelve;

10 the third to Zaccur, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

11 the fourth to Izri, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

12 the fifth to Nethaniah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

13 the sixth to Bukkiah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

14 the seventh to Jesharelah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

15 the eighth to Jeshaiiah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

16 the ninth to Mattaniah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

17 the tenth to Shimei, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

18 the eleventh to Azarel, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

19 the twelfth to Hashabiah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

20 the thirteenth to Shubael, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

21 the fourteenth to Mattithiah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

22 the fifteenth to Jeremoth, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

23 the sixteenth to Hananiah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

24 the seventeenth to Joshbekashah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

25 the eighteenth to Hanani, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

26 the nineteenth to Mallothi, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

27 the twentieth to Eliathah, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

28 the twenty-first to Hothir, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

29 the twenty-second to Giddalti, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

30 the twenty-third to Mahazioth, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve;

31 the twenty-fourth to Romamti-ezer, his sons and his relatives, for a total of twelve.

1 Chronicles 26

1 The guild of trustees included, from the descendants of Korah, Kore's son Meshelemiah from Asaph's descendants;

2 Meshelemiah's sons Zechariah, his firstborn, Jediahel his second, Zebadiah his third, Jathniel his fourth,

3 Elam his fifth, Jehohanan his sixth, and Eliehoenai his seventh;

4 Obed-edom's sons Shemaiah, his firstborn, Jehozabad his second, Joah his third, Sachar his fourth, Nethanel his fifth,

5 Ammiel his sixth, Issachar his seventh, and Peullethai his eighth, since God had blessed him.

6 Furthermore, his son Shemaiah had sons born to him who wielded authority in their ancestral households, since they were mighty men of valour.

7 These sons of Shemaiah included Othni, Rephael, Obed, and Elzabad, whose brothers were valiant, able men, Elihu and Semachiah.

8 All of these sons of Obed-edom, along with their sons and brothers, were valiant men, fully qualified for duty — 62 descendants of Obed-edom.

9 Meshelemiah had 18 sons and brothers who were valiant men.

10 Hosah, one of Merari's sons, had these sons: Shimri their chief (though not the firstborn, his father had appointed him chief),

11 Hilkiyah his second, Tebaliah his third, and Zechariah his fourth, with a total of 13 sons and brothers of Hosah

12 With respect to their leaders, these courses of trustees had responsibilities, along with their relatives, regarding ministry within the Temple of the LORD

13 assigned by lottery according to their ancestral households, whether large or small alike, for their gate assignments.

14 The lot for the eastern gate fell to Shelemiah. They also cast lots for his son Zechariah, who was a wise counsellor, and his lot indicated the northern gate.

15 Obed-edom's lot indicated the south gate, and his sons were also allotted responsibility for the storehouse.

16 For Shuppim and Hosah the lot indicated the west at the gate of Shallecheth on the ascending road. Each guard corresponding to each guard,

17 on the east six descendants of Levi were assigned for each day, on the north four for each day, on the south four for each day (as well as two pairs of guards assigned to the storehouse),

18 and for the colonnade on the west four were assigned at the road and two at the colonnade.

19 These were the ranks of trustees assigned among the descendants of Korah and the sons of Merari.

20 Now with respect to the descendants of Levi, Ahijah was responsible for the treasuries of the Temple of God, including the treasuries containing dedicated gifts.

21 With respect to the descendants of Ladan, the Gershonite descendants pertaining to Ladan, the heads of families pertaining to Ladan the Gershonite, there was Jehieli.

22 The descendants of Jehieli, Zetham and his brother Joel, were responsible for the treasuries of the Temple of the LORD.

23 From the descendants of Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel were assigned

24 Shebuel, a descendant of Gershom and a descendant of Moses (as chief officer in charge of the treasuries)

25 and his brothers from Eliezer, including his son Rehabiah, his son Jeshaiiah, his son Joram, his son Zichri, and his son Shelomoth.

26 Shelomoth and his brothers were responsible for all of the treasuries of dedicated gifts given by King David, by the heads of families, by the officers of groups of thousands and groups of hundreds, and by the leading army officers.

27 They dedicated gifts for the maintenance of the Temple of the LORD from spoils of war.

28 Furthermore, everything that Samuel the seer, Kish's son Saul, Ner's son Abner, and Zeruiah's son Joab had dedicated — all of their dedicated gifts — were under the care of Shelomoth and his brothers.

29 From the descendants of Izhar, Chenaniah and his sons were assigned as officers and judges with responsibilities relating to external duties.

30 From the descendants of Hebron, Hashabiah and his relatives — 1,700 outstanding men — were assigned oversight of Israel west of the Jordan regarding all of the LORD's work and services on behalf of the king.

31 From the descendants of Hebron, Jerijah was assigned chief of the descendants of Hebron. During the fortieth year of David's administration, a search was made by genealogical record, family by family, to find men of great ability, including those found at Jazer in Gilead.

32 King David appointed Jerijah, his relatives, and 2,700 competent men who were each family heads, to oversee the tribes of Reuben and Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh regarding everything pertaining to God as well as matters relating to the king.

1 Chronicles 27

- 1 The Israelis, according to the number of the leaders of their families, the officers of groups of thousands and groups of hundreds, and their leaders who served the king on behalf of the army divisions of 24,000 soldiers on duty month by month throughout the year, consisted of the following:
- 2 Zabdiel's son Jashobeam was responsible for the first division of 24,000 soldiers for the first month.
- 3 A descendant of Perez, he was chief of all the commanders of the army for the first month.
- 4 Dodai the Ahohite was responsible for the division of the second month. Mikloth served as chief officer of his division, consisting of 24,000 soldiers.
- 5 Jehoiada's son Benaiah the priest was commander of the third division for the third month, consisting of 24,000 soldiers.
- 6 This was the same Benaiah who was one of the elite men of the Thirty and in command of the Thirty. His son Ammizabad was responsible for his division.

Luke 12

54 Then Jesus told the crowds, "When you see a cloud coming in the west, you immediately say, 'There's going to be a storm,' and that's what happens.
55 When you see a south wind blowing, you say, 'It's going to be hot,' and so it is.
56 You hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of the earth and the sky, yet you don't know how to interpret the present time?"
57 "Why don't you judge for yourselves what is right?
58 For example, when you go with your opponent in front of a ruler, do your best to settle with him on the way there. Otherwise, you will be dragged in front of the judge, and the judge will hand you over to an officer, and the officer will throw you into prison.
59 I tell you, you will never get out of there until you pay back the last penny!"

Luke 13

1 At that time, some people who were there told Jesus about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mixed with their sacrifices.
2 He asked them, "Do you think that these Galileans were more sinful than all the other Galileans because they suffered like this?
3 Absolutely not, I tell you! But if you don't repent, then you, too, will all die.
4 What about those eighteen people who were killed when the tower at Siloam fell on them? Do you think they were worse offenders than all the other people living in Jerusalem?
5 Absolutely not, I tell you! But if you don't repent, then you, too, will all die."
6 Then Jesus told them this parable: "A man had a fig tree that had been planted in his vineyard. He went to look for fruit on it but didn't find any.
7 So he told the gardener, 'Look here! For three years I have been coming to look for fruit on this tree but haven't found any. Cut it down! Why should it waste the soil?'
8 But the gardener replied, 'Sir, leave it alone for one more year, until I dig around it and fertilize it.
9 Maybe next year it'll bear fruit. If not, then cut it down.'"
10 Jesus was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.
11 A woman was there who had a spirit that had disabled her for eighteen years. She was hunched over and completely unable to stand up straight.
12 When Jesus saw her, he called to her and said, "Woman, you are free from your illness."
13 Then he placed his hands on her, and immediately she stood up straight and began praising God.
14 But the synagogue leader, indignant because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath, told the crowd, "There are six days when work is to be done. So come on those days to be healed, and not on the Sabbath day."
15 The Lord replied to him, "You hypocrites! Doesn't each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or donkey and lead it out of its stall to give it some water?
16 Shouldn't this woman, a descendant of Abraham whom Satan has kept bound for eighteen long years, be set free from this bondage on the Sabbath day?"
17 Even as he was saying this, all of his opponents were blushing with shame. But the rest of the crowd was rejoicing at all the wonderful things he was doing.

1 Chronicles 27

7 Joab's brother Asahel was fourth for the fourth month, assisted by his son Zebadiah, with 24,000 soldiers in his division.

8 The fifth commander for the fifth month was Shamhuth the Izrahite. His division consisted of 24,000 soldiers.

9 Ikkesh's son Ira from Tekoa was sixth for the sixth month; there were 24,000 soldiers in his division.

10 Helez the Pelonite, an Ephraimite, was seventh for the seventh month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

11 Sibbecai the Hushathite, a Zerahite, was eighth for the eighth month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

12 Abiezer from Anathoth, a descendant of Benjamin, was ninth for the ninth month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

13 Mahari from Netophah, a Zerahite, was tenth for the tenth month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

14 Benaiah from Pirathon, an Ephraimite, was eleventh for the eleventh month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

15 Heldai the Netophathite, from Othniel, was twelfth for the twelfth month; 24,000 soldiers served in his division.

16 Wielding the sceptres of Israel for the descendants of Reuben, there was Zichri's son Eliezer as chief officer; for the descendants of Simeon there was Maacah's son Shephatiah;

17 for Levi there was Kemuel's son Hashabiah; for Aaron there was Zadok;

18 for Judah there was Elihu, one of David's brothers; for Issachar there was Michael's son Omri;

19 for Zebulun there was Obadiah's son Ishmaiah; for Naphtali, there was Azriel's son Jerimoth;

20 for the descendants of Ephraim, there was Azaziah's son Hoshea; for the half-tribe of Manasseh, there was Pedaiah's son Joel;

21 for the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, there was Zechariah's son Iddo; for Benjamin, there was Abner's son Jaasiel;

22 for Dan, there was Jeroham's son Azarel. These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

23 David did not complete a census of those younger than 20 years of age, since the LORD had said he would make Israel as numerous as the stars of heaven.

24 Zeruiah's son Joab began the census, but never completed it. Nevertheless, God became angry with Israel because of this, so the number was never entered into the official records of the Annals of King David.

25 Adiel's son Azmaveth was responsible for the king's treasuries. Uzziah's son Jonathan was in charge of treasuries located in the country, in cities, in villages, and in towers.

26 Chelub's son Ezri supervised the field workers who tilled the soil.

27 Shimei the Ramathite supervised the vineyards. In charge over the produce of the vineyards for the wine cellars was Zabdi the Shiphamite.

28 Baal-hanan the Gederite supervised the olive and sycamore trees in the Shephelah. Joash supervised the oil reserves.

29 Shitrai the Sharonite supervised the herds that were pastured in Sharon. Adlai's son Shaphat supervised the herds in the valleys.

30 Obil the Ishmaelite supervised the camels. Jehdeiah the Meronothite supervised the donkeys. Jaziz the Hagrite supervised the flocks.

31 All of these served as stewards over King David's property.

32 David's uncle Jonathan was a counsellor, since he was a man of understanding and a scribe, and Hachmoni's son Jehiel was an attendant to the king's sons.

33 Ahithophel served as an advisor to the king, Hushai the Archite was the king's trusted associate,

34 and under Ahithophel there was Benaiah's son Jehoiada and Abiathar. Joab served as commander of the king's army.

1 Chronicles 28

1 David gathered together all of the leaders of Israel, the leaders of the tribes, division officers who reported to the king, the commanders of thousands, commanders of hundreds, the supervisors of the property and livestock that belonged to the king and to his sons, along with all of the officers of the palace, the elite forces, and all of the soldiers.

2 King David rose to his feet and said, "My fellow citizens, may I have your attention. I intended to build a house of rest for the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, for a footstool of our God, so I began preparations for its construction.

3 But then God told me, 'You will not build a temple to my name, because you are a man of war, and you have committed bloodshed.'

4 Nevertheless, the LORD God of Israel chose me from my entire ancestral household to be king over Israel forever, since he had chosen Judah as Commander-in-Chief. In my ancestor Judah's household, from my father's household, and from among my father's sons it pleased him to make me king over all of Israel.

5 "Now out of all of my sons (since the LORD has given me many of them), he has selected my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD, ruling over Israel.

6 He told me, 'I chose your son Solomon to be the one who will construct my Temple and my courts, because I have chosen him to be a son to me, and I will be a father to him.

7 I will establish his kingdom forever, assuming he remains strongly committed to carry out my commandments and ordinances, as he is doing today.'

8 Therefore, in the presence of all of Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and while our God is listening, observe and search through all of the commandments of the LORD your God, so that you may continue to possess this good land, leaving it for an inheritance forever to benefit your descendants who come after you."

9 "Now as for you, my son Solomon, get to know the God of your father. Serve him with a sound heart and a devoted soul, because the LORD is searching every heart, every plan and thought. He will be found by you, assuming you are seeking him, but if you abandon him, he will abandon you forever.

10 So keep watching, because the LORD has chosen you to build the Temple of his sanctuary. So be strong, and get to work!"

11 At this point in his address, David transferred to his son Solomon the construction plans for the Hall of Justice, its buildings, its treasure vaults, its upper rooms, its inner chambers, the housing for the Mercy Seat,

12 and the plans for everything else that he had in mind for the courtyards of the Temple of the LORD. Included were plans for all of the surrounding vaults and treasuries of the Temple of God intended for storage of dedicated gifts,

13 for use by the ranks of priests and descendants of Levi, for all the work of service responsibilities in the Temple of the LORD, and for all of the utensils used in the work of the Temple of the LORD.

14 David also transferred to him by weight the gold that was to be used to craft the service utensils, the silver that was to be used to craft the service utensils,

15 the gold for the golden lamp stands and their lamps, the silver for a lamp stand and its lamps (each according to its intended use in the service),

16 the gold by weight for each table of the rows of bread, the silver for the silver tables,

17 pure gold for the forks, the basins, the cups, the golden bowls (along with enough gold by weight for each one), enough weight for each of the silver bowls,
18 refined gold for the altar of incense, by weight, along with his plans for crafting the golden chariot for the cherubim that spread out their wings to cover the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD.

19 "All of these things the LORD made clear to me in writing at his direction — the construction plans for all of the building."

20 David continued with these words for his son Solomon: "Be strong and courageous, and get to work. Never be afraid or discouraged, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. He will not fail you nor will he abandon you right up to your completion of the work for the service of the Temple of the LORD.

21 Now look! Here are the ranks of the priests and the descendants of Levi for the entire service of the Temple of God, and in all of the work there will be all types of volunteers who have skills for anything needed for the services. Furthermore, the officers and all of the people will be at your complete command."

1 Then King David addressed the entire assembly: "My son Solomon, the one whom God alone has chosen, is still young and inexperienced, and the task is great, since this structure will be a citadel to the LORD God and not for human beings.

2 To the extent that I have been able to do so, I have provided supplies for the Temple of my God, including gold for what is to be made of gold, silver for what is to be made of silver, bronze for what is to be made of bronze, iron for what is to be made of iron, wood for what is to be made of wood, and great quantities of onyx, precious stones, antimony, coloured stones, all types of other semi-precious stones, and plenty of marble.

3 "In addition to everything that I have supplied for the Temple, it pleases me to provide my own treasure of gold and silver, so because of my love for the Temple of my God I hereby give to the Temple of my God the following:

4 3,000 gold talents imported from Ophir, 7,000 talents of refined silver for gilding the walls of the Temple

5 and for all the work to be undertaken by skilled artists, gold for what is to be made of gold, and silver for what is to be made of silver. Who then, will be dedicating the productivity of his own work to the LORD today?"

6 So the leaders of the ancestral households presented their voluntary offerings, as did the leaders of the tribes, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, and the officials in charge of the king's business.

7 They presented 5,000 gold talents and 10,000 gold darics for the work of the Temple of God, 10,000 silver talents, 18,000 bronze talents, and 100,000 iron talents.

8 Whoever owned precious stones gave them to the treasury of the Temple of the LORD, in care of Jehiel the Gershonite.

9 Then the people rejoiced because they had given voluntarily, since with a devoted heart they had freely given to the LORD.

Luke 13

18 So Jesus went on to say, "What is the kingdom of God like? What can I compare it to?"

19 It is like a mustard seed that someone took and planted in his garden. It grew and became a tree, and the birds of the sky nested in its branches."

20 Again he said, "What can I compare the kingdom of God to?"

21 It is like yeast that a woman took and mixed with three measures of flour until all of it was leavened."

22 Then Jesus taught in one town and village after another as he made his way to Jerusalem.

23 Someone asked him, "Lord, are only a few people going to be saved?" He told them, 24 "Keep on struggling to enter through the narrow door, because I tell you that many people will try to enter, but won't be able to do so.

25 After the homeowner gets up and closes the door, you can stand outside, knock on the door, and say again and again, 'Lord, open the door for us!' But he will answer you, 'I don't know where you come from.'

26 Then you will say, 'We ate and drank with you, and you taught in our streets.'

27 But he will tell you, 'I don't know where you come from. Get away from me, all you who practise evil!'

28 In that place there will be crying and gnashing of teeth when you see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves being driven away on the outside.

29 People will come from east and west, and from north and south, and will eat in the kingdom of God.

30 You see, some who are last will be first, and some who are first will be last.

31 At that hour some Pharisees came and told Jesus, "Leave and get away from here, because Herod wants to kill you!"

32 He told them, "Go and tell that fox, 'Listen! I am driving out demons and healing today and tomorrow, and on the third day I will finish my work.

33 But I must be on my way today, tomorrow, and the next day, because it's not possible for a prophet to be killed outside of Jerusalem.'

34 "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, who kills the prophets and stones to death those who have been sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you people were unwilling!

35 Look! Your house is left vacant to you. I tell you, you will not see me again until you say, 'How blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord!'"

1 Chronicles 29

10 Then David blessed the LORD in the presence of the entire assembly. David said, How blessed you are, LORD, the God of our ancestor Israel, from eternity to eternity!

11 To you, LORD, belongs the greatness, and the valour, and the splendour, and the endurance, and the majesty because all that is in heaven and on earth is yours. To you belongs the kingdom, LORD, and you are exalted as head over all.

12 Both wealth and honour proceed from you, and you are ruling over them all. You control power — you control who is made great, and how everyone becomes strong.

13 And so, our God, we are giving you thanks, and we are praising your wonderful name!

14 But who am I, and who are my people, that we make such voluntary offerings as these? For all things come from you, and from your own hand we are giving to you.

15 For we are aliens and vagrants in your presence, as were all of our ancestors. Our days on the earth pass away like shadows, and we have no hope.

16 LORD our God, all of this abundance that we have given for building a temple for your great name was provided by you and all of it belongs to you.

17 And I know, God, that it is you who searches the heart and you who finds pleasure in righteousness. With a righteous heart I have freely given all these things, and now I have seen all of these people of yours giving freely and joyfully to you!

18 LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our ancestors, keep your purposes and thoughts constantly in the hearts of your people and direct their hearts toward you,

19 granting to my son Solomon to keep with a devoted heart your commands, your decrees, and your statutes, carrying out all of them, and that he may build the Temple for which I have made the preparations.

20 Then David told the entire assembly, "Bless the LORD your God, please." So the entire assembly blessed the LORD God of their ancestors, bowing their heads and falling in the LORD's presence and before the king.

21 The next day, they offered sacrifices and burnt offerings to the LORD amounting to 1,000 bulls, 1,000 rams, and 1,000 lambs, along with their libations. Sacrifices were abundant throughout all Israel, 22 and they ate and drank in the LORD's presence with great joy.

23 So Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king in the place of his father David. He prospered, and all of Israel obeyed him.

24 All of the officials, all of the valiant soldiers, and all of King David's sons submitted to King Solomon's control,

25 and the LORD exalted Solomon magnificently in the sight of all Israel, bestowing upon him royal majesty such as had not been given to any king in Israel before him.

26 Jesse's son David reigned as king over all of Israel,

27 serving as king over Israel for 40 years. He reigned for seven years in Hebron and for 33 in Jerusalem.

28 He died at a good old age, having lived a full life, replete with riches and honour, and with his son Solomon reigning in his place.

29 The activities of David the king are recorded in the History of Samuel the Seer, in the History of Nathan the Prophet, and in the History of Gad the Seer, 30 including details regarding his reign, his power, the circumstances that attended his life, Israel, and all of the kingdoms of the countries that surrounded him.

2 Chronicles 1

- 1 As David's son Solomon consolidated his administration, the LORD his God was with him to make him very successful.
- 2 Solomon addressed the entire nation of Israel, including the commanders of thousands and hundreds, the judges, all the other leaders of Israel, and all of the heads of the ancestral houses of Israel.
- 3 Solomon, along with the whole assembly with him, met at the high place in Gibeon because that's where God's Tent of Meeting that the LORD's servant Moses had constructed in the wilderness was located.
- 4 Nevertheless, David had brought the Ark of God from Kiriath-jearim to the place that David had prepared for it, after having erected a tent for it in Jerusalem.
- 5 Also, the bronze altar that Uri's son Bezalel, Hur's grandson had erected, was in place in front of the LORD's tent. Solomon and the assembly sought the LORD there.
- 6 Solomon approached the presence of the LORD at the bronze altar that had been placed at the Tent of Meeting and offered 1,000 burnt offerings on it.
- 7 That very night God appeared to Solomon and told him, "Ask what I am to give you."
- 8 Solomon replied to God, "You showed great gracious love to my father David, and have established me as king in his place.
- 9 Now, LORD God, your promise to my father David is fulfilled, because you have made me king over a people as numerous as the dust of the earth.
- 10 Give me wisdom now, so I may go in and out among this people, because who can rule this great people that belongs to you?
- 11 God told Solomon, "Since you had this in mind, to ask neither to focus on riches, wealth, honour, or the lives of those who hate you, nor have you requested a long life, but instead you have asked for wisdom and knowledge for yourself, so that you may rule my people over whom I have established you as king,
- 12 wisdom and knowledge have been granted to you. Furthermore, I will give you riches, wealth, and honour — such as none of the kings owned who lived before you and none after you are to ever attain their equal."
- 13 So Solomon returned from the Tent of Meeting at the high place in Gibeon to Jerusalem, where he reigned over Israel.
- 14 Solomon amassed both chariots and horsemen: he owned 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, stationing them in armouries and with the king in Jerusalem.
- 15 The king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, and made cedar trees as plentiful as sycamore trees that grow in the Shephelah.
- 16 Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt and from Kue; the king's procurement officials obtained them from Kue at great price.
- 17 Chariots were imported from Egypt for 600 shekels each, and horses cost 150 shekels each, and then they exported them to all of the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of Aram.

2 Chronicles 2

- 1 Now Solomon was determined to build a temple dedicated to the Name of the LORD as well as his own royal palace.
- 2 So Solomon conscripted 70,000 men to do heavy work, 80,000 men to quarry in the hill country, and 3,600 to supervise them.
- 3 Solomon also sent this message to King Hiram of Tyre: "Just as you did with my father David, sending him cedars to build him a palace to live in, do the same for me.
- 4 Look, I'm building a temple dedicated to the name of the LORD my God, to his glory, so we can burn fragrant incense in his presence, display rows of the bread of his presence continually, and make burnt offerings in the morning, evening, on Sabbath days, during

New Moon festivals, and during appointed feasts scheduled by the LORD our God. This is mandated forever in Israel.

5 "The Temple that I'm building will be great, because the greatness of our God surpasses that of all gods.

6 But who can build a temple for him, since neither heaven nor the highest of the heavens can contain him? So who am I, that I should build a temple to him, except to burn incense in his presence?

7 "At any rate, send me an individual who is a skilled craftsman in gold, silver, bronze, and iron, as well as in purple, crimson, and blue materials, who knows how to craft engravings, so he may work with the craftsmen whom I have assembled in Judah and Jerusalem, as provided for by my father David.

8 Also send me cedar, cypress, and algum timber from Lebanon, since I'm aware that your servants know how to cut down timber from Lebanon. My servants will accompany your servants

9 to prepare an abundant amount of timber for me, because the Temple that I'm building is to be great and awesome.

10 "Now look! I will pay your servants, the lumberjacks who prepare the timber, 20,000 measures of barley, 20,000 baths of wine, and 20,000 baths of oil."

11 In a letter that he sent to Solomon, King Hiram of Tyre wrote, "Because he loves his people, the LORD has placed you as king over them."

12 Hiram also wrote: "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who made the heavens and the earth. He gave King David a wise son, who is acquainted with discretion and understanding, and who is building a temple to the LORD, as well as a royal palace for himself.

13 Now I'm sending along Hiram-abi, a skilled craftsman, who is very creative.

14 He is the son of a mother from the tribe of Dan, and his father is from Tyre. He's skilled in working with gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, and timber, as well as in purple, blue, linen, and crimson materials. He is skilled in engravings, and can craft any design to which he may be assigned. He will work with your skilled artisans and with all of your craftsmen who have been assigned by my lord David, your father.

15 "So then, may my lord send to his servants the wheat, barley, oil, and wine about which he has spoken.

16 We'll cut down the timber you need from Lebanon and transport it to you on rafts by sea to Joppa, so you can move it to Jerusalem."

17 Solomon took a census of all the non-Israeli men who lived in the land of Israel, after the census that his father David had taken, and 153,600 were counted.

18 He conscripted 70,000 of them to do heavy work, 80,000 to quarry in the hill country, and 3,600 men to supervise the people.

Luke 14

- 1 One Sabbath, Jesus went to the house of a leader of the Pharisees to eat a meal. The guests were watching Jesus closely.
- 2 A man whose body was swollen with fluid suddenly appeared in front of him.
- 3 So Jesus asked the Pharisees and experts in the Law, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath or not?"
- 4 But they kept silent. So he took hold of the man, healed him, and sent him away.
- 5 Then he asked them, "If your son or ox falls into a well on the Sabbath day, you would pull him out immediately, wouldn't you?"
- 6 And they couldn't argue with him about this.
- 7 When Jesus noticed how the guests were choosing the places of honour, he told them a parable.
- 8 "When you are invited by someone to a wedding banquet, don't sit down at the place of honour in case someone more important than you was invited by the host.
- 9 Then the host who invited both of you would come to you and say, 'Give this person your place.' In disgrace, you would have to take the place of least honour.
- 10 But when you are invited, go and sit down at the place of least honour. Then, when your host comes, he will tell you, 'Friend, move up higher,' and you will be honoured in the presence of everyone who eats with you.
- 11 Because everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the person who humbles himself will be exalted."
- 12 Then he told the man who had invited him, "When you give a luncheon or a dinner, stop inviting only your friends, brothers, relatives, or rich neighbours. Otherwise, they may invite you in return and you would be repaid.
- 13 Instead, when you give a banquet, make it your habit to invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, and the blind.
- 14 Then you will be blessed because they can't repay you. And you will be repaid when the righteous are resurrected."
- 15 Now one of those eating with him heard this and told him, "How blessed is the person who will eat in the kingdom of God!"
- 16 Jesus told him, "A man gave a large banquet and invited many people.
- 17 When it was time for the banquet, he sent his servant to tell those who were invited, 'Come! Everything is now ready.'
- 18 Every single one of them began asking to be excused. The first told him, 'I bought a field, and I need to go out and inspect it. Please excuse me.'
- 19 Another said, 'I bought five pairs of oxen, and I'm on my way to try them out. Please excuse me.'
- 20 Still another said, 'I recently got married, so I can't come.'
- 21 "So the servant went back and reported all this to his master. Then the master of the house became angry and told his servant, 'Go quickly into the streets and alleys of the town and bring back the poor, the crippled, the blind, and the lame.'
- 22 The servant said, 'Sir, what you ordered has been done, and there is still room.'
- 23 Then the master told the servant, 'Go out into the streets and the lanes and make the people come in, so that my house may be full.
- 24 Because I tell all of you, none of those men who were invited will taste anything at my banquet.'"

2 Chronicles 3

- 1 So Solomon began construction of the LORD's Temple in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah where the LORD had appeared to his father David, that is, where David had prepared Ornan the Jebusite's threshing floor.
- 2 He began construction on the second day of the second month of the fourth year of his reign.
- 3 These are the foundations that Solomon set in place for God's Temple. The length in terms of the former standard measurements: 90 feet; its width: 30 feet.
- 4 A portico extended in front of the Temple for its entire width of 30 feet, and was 180 feet high. Inside he had it overlaid with pure gold.
- 5 The main room of the Temple was trimmed with a wainscoting composed of cypress wood, overlaid with fine gold ornamented with palm trees and chains.
- 6 The Temple was adorned with precious stones, including gold from the Orient.
- 7 The Temple was overlaid with gold, including the beams, thresholds, walls, and doors. Cherubim were engraved on the walls.
- 8 With respect to the Most Holy Place in the Temple, its length across the width of the Temple was 30 feet, and its width extended 30 feet.
- 9 The gold nails weighed 50 shekels. He also overlaid the upper rooms with gold.
- 10 He crafted two cherubim from wood, overlaid them with gold, and placed them in the Most Holy Place in the Temple.
- 11 The wingspan of the cherubim was 30 feet; the wing of one, seven and a half feet long, touched the wall of the Temple, and its other wing, seven and a half feet long, touched the wing of the other cherub.
- 12 The wing of the other cherub, seven and a half feet long, touched the opposite wall of the Temple and its other wing, seven and a half feet long, touched the wing of the first cherub.
- 13 The wings of these cherubim extended for 30 feet as they stood on their feet and faced the front of the Temple.
- 14 He constructed the veil from blue, purple, crimson, and fine linen, embroidering cherubim on it.
- 15 He also made two pillars 52 and a half feet high for the front of the Temple, topped by a capital that was seven and a half feet high.
- 16 He crafted chains for the inner sanctuary and placed them on top of the pillars, attaching 100 pomegranates to each of the chains.
- 17 He set up the pillars at the front of the Temple, one on the south side of the entrance and the other on the north side of the entrance. He named the south pillar Jachin and the north pillar Boaz.

2 Chronicles 4

- 1 Solomon also constructed a bronze altar 30 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 15 feet high.
- 2 He crafted a circular sea of cast metal 15 feet from rim to rim and seven-and-a-half feet tall. A line 45 feet long surrounded it.
- 3 Underneath, figurines resembling oxen encircled the circular sea beneath it, ten oxen every one and a half feet and encircling the sea completely. The oxen were in two rows, cast all at the same time.
- 4 The sea stood on top of twelve oxen, three of which faced to the north, three of which faced to the west, three of which faced to the south, and three of which faced toward the east. The sea was placed on top of the oxen, with all of their hindquarters turned inwards.
- 5 It was three inches thick, with its brim fashioned like the brim of a cup. Similar in shape to a lily blossom, it could hold 18,000 gallons.

6 Solomon also made ten wash basins, placing five on the right side and five on the left. The basins were intended for use to rinse burnt offerings, and the sea was intended for use by the priests to wash in.

7 Solomon made ten gold lamp stands as he had been directed and set them in the Temple, five on the south side and five on the north side.

8 He also made ten tables and placed them in the Temple, five on the right side and five on the left side. He also constructed 100 gold basins.

9 He made the court of the priests, the great court, and doors for the court, overlaying their doors with bronze.

10 He set the sea at the southeast corner of the Temple.

11 Hiram-abi crafted the pots, shovels, and basins, thus completing the work that he did for King Solomon on the Temple of God;

12 that is, the two pillars, the bowls, the two capitals on top of the pillars, the two lattice works that covered the two bowls for the capitals that were on top of the pillars;

13 the 400 pomegranate-shaped ornaments for the latticework of the two pillars (each latticework having two rows of ornaments at the bowl-shaped top of each pillar);

14 the ten stands with their ten basins;

15 the large bronze basin called the Sea with the twelve oxen underneath,

16 along with its pots, shovels, forks, and all of its other implements that Hiram-abi made from polished bronze for King Solomon and the LORD's Temple.

17 The king had them forged in the clay ground between Succoth and Zeredah in the Jordan plain.

18 Solomon made so many utensils in such great quantities that the weight of the bronze was never fully recorded.

19 Solomon also made these items for God's Temple: the golden altar, the tables for the Bread of the Presence,

20 the lamp stands and their lamps made of pure gold to burn in front of the inner sanctuary, as required,

21 the pure gold ornaments in the shape of flowers, the lamps, and the tongs (all made of the purest gold),

22 the gold trimming instruments, basins, pans, censers, and the gold door sockets for the inner sanctuary (that is, the Most Holy Place), and for the doors to the main hall of the Temple.

2 Chronicles 5

1 As soon as Solomon had completed the LORD's Temple, he installed the holy items that had belonged to his father David, including the silver, gold, and all the other items in the treasure rooms of God's Temple.

2 Then Solomon called Israel's elders together, including all the leaders of the tribes and families of Israel. They met in Jerusalem to transfer the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD from Zion, the city of David.

3 All the men of Israel assembled in front of the king during the Feast of Tents that takes place in the seventh month of the year.

4 As soon as all of Israel's elders had arrived, the descendants of Levi lifted the ark

5 and carried it, the tent where God met with his people, and all of the sacred implements that belonged in the tent. The Levitical priests carried these up to the city of David.

6 King Solomon and all the Israelis who had assembled together proceeded ahead of the ark and sacrificed more sheep and oxen than could be counted or recorded due to the number of sacrifices.

7 The priests transported the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD to the place created for it within the inner sanctuary of the Temple, into the Most Holy Place under the wings of the cherubim.

8 The wings of the cherubim extended over where the ark and its carrying poles had been placed,
9 but the poles were long enough for their ends to extend to the front of the inner sanctuary, even though they could not be seen from outside. They remain there to this day.
10 There was nothing in the ark except for the two tablets that Moses had placed there while Israel was encamped at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the Israelis after he had brought them out of the land of Egypt.
11 After this, the priests vacated the Holy Place. (Meanwhile, all the priests who were participating consecrated themselves, irrespective of their Levitical divisions.
12 All the musicians who were descendants of Levi, including Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun, and their sons and relatives wore linen and played cymbals and stringed instruments as they stood east of the altar. Accompanied by 120 priests who played trumpets,
13 the trumpeters and musicians played in union, praising and giving thanks to the LORD. They praised the LORD loudly and sang, "He is good, and his gracious love is eternal," accompanied by the trumpets, cymbals, and other musical instruments). As they did this, a cloud filled the Temple, that is, the LORD's Temple,
14 and the priests were unable to complete their duties because of the cloud, since the glory of the LORD had filled God's Temple.

2 Chronicles 6

1 Then Solomon said, "The LORD has said that he lives shrouded in darkness.
2 Now I have constructed a magnificent temple dedicated to you that will serve as a place for you to inhabit forever."
3 Then the king turned to face the entire congregation of Israel while the congregation of Israel remained standing.
4 Then Solomon prayed: "Blessed is the LORD God of Israel, who made a commitment to my father David and then personally fulfilled what he had promised when he said:
5 'From the day I brought out my people from the land of Egypt I never chose a city from all the tribes of Israel to build a temple where my name might reside. And I never chose any man to become Commander-in-Chief over my people Israel.
6 But I have chosen Jerusalem, where my name will reside. And I have chosen David to be over my people Israel.'
7 "My father David wanted to build a temple for the name of the LORD God of Israel.
8 The LORD told my father David: 'Therefore, since you determined to build a temple for my name, you acted well, because it was your choice to do so.
9 Nevertheless, you are not to build the Temple, but your son who will be born to you is to build a temple for my name.'
10 "The LORD has brought to fulfilment what he promised, and now here I stand, having succeeded my father David to sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised. I have built the Temple for the name of the Lord GOD of Israel.
11 I have placed in it the ark in which the covenant that the LORD made with the Israelis is stored."

Luke 14

25 Now large crowds were travelling with Jesus. He turned and told them,
26 "If anyone comes to me and does not hate his father, mother, wife, children, brothers, and sisters, as well as his own life, he can't be my disciple.
27 Whoever doesn't carry his cross and follow me can't be my disciple.
28 "Suppose one of you wants to build a tower. He will first sit down and estimate the cost to see whether he has enough money to finish it, won't he?
29 Otherwise, if he lays a foundation and can't finish the building, everyone who watches will begin to ridicule him
30 and say, 'This person started a building but couldn't finish it.'
31 "Or suppose a king is going to war against another king. He will first sit down and consider whether with 10,000 men he can fight the one coming against him with 20,000 men, won't he?
32 If he can't, he will send a delegation to ask for terms of peace while the other king is still far away.
33 In the same way, none of you can be my disciple unless he gives up all his possessions."
34 "Now, salt is good. But if the salt should lose its taste, how can its flavour be restored?
35 It is suitable neither for the soil nor for the manure pile. People throw it away. Let the person who has ears to hear, listen!"

Luke 15

1 Now all the tax collectors and sinners kept coming to listen to Jesus.
2 But the Pharisees and the scribes kept complaining, "This man welcomes sinners and eats with them."
3 So he told them this parable:
4 "Suppose one of you has a hundred sheep and loses one of them. He leaves the ninety-nine in the wilderness and looks for the one that is lost until he finds it, doesn't he?
5 When he finds it, he puts it on his shoulders and rejoices.
6 Then he goes home, calls his friends and neighbours together, and says to them, 'Rejoice with me, because I've found my lost sheep!'
7 In the same way, I tell you that there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous people who don't need to repent."
8 "Or suppose a woman has ten coins and loses one of them. She lights a lamp, sweeps the house, and searches carefully until she finds it, doesn't she?
9 When she finds it, she calls her friends and neighbours together and says, 'Rejoice with me, because I have found the coin that I lost!'
10 In the same way, I tell you that there is joy in the presence of God's angels over one sinner who repents."

2 Chronicles 6

12 Then Solomon took his place in front of the LORD's altar in the presence of the entire congregation of Israel and spread out his hands.

13 Solomon had a bronze platform constructed seven and a half feet square and four and a half feet high. He had it erected in the middle of the courtyard, and stood on it. Then he knelt down on his knees in front of the entire congregation of Israel, spread out his hands toward heaven,

14 and said: "LORD God of Israel, there is no one like you, God of heaven and earth, who watches over his covenant, showing gracious love to your servants who live their lives in your presence with all their hearts.

15 It is you, LORD God, who has kept your promise to my father, your servant David, that you made to him. Indeed, you made a commitment to my father David and then personally fulfilled what you had promised today.

16 "Now therefore, LORD God of Israel, keep your promise that you made to my father, your servant David, when you said, 'You are to not lack a man to sit on the throne of Israel, if only your descendants will watch their lives, to live according to my Law, just as you have lived in my presence.'

17 "Now therefore, LORD God of Israel, may your promise that you made to your servant David be fulfilled. . .

18 and yet, will God truly reside on earth with human beings? Look! Neither the sky nor the highest heaven can contain you! How much less this Temple that I have built!

19 Pay attention to the prayer of your servant and to his request, LORD my God, and listen to the cry and prayer that your servant is praying in your presence.

20 Let your eyes always look toward this Temple day and night, toward the location where you have said you would place your name. Listen to the prayer that your servant prays in this direction.

21 Listen to the requests from your servant and from your people Israel as they pray in this direction, and listen from the place where you reside — from heaven! — then hear and forgive.

22 "If a man sins against his neighbour and he is required to take an oath, and he then comes to take an oath in front of your altar in this Temple,

23 then listen from heaven, act, and judge your servants, recompensing the wicked by bringing back to him the consequences of his choices and by justifying the righteous by recompensing him according to his righteousness.

24 "If your people Israel are defeated in a battle with their enemy because they have sinned against you, when they return to you and confess to you, pray, and in this Temple they ask you to show grace to them,

25 then hear from heaven, forgive the sin of your people Israel, and return them to the soil that you gave to them and to their ancestors.

26 "When the skies remain closed, and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, and they pray in the direction of this place, confessing your name and turning from their sin when you afflict them,

27 then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants and of your people Israel. Indeed, teach them the best way to live and send rain on your land that you have given to your people as an inheritance.

28 "If a famine comes to the land, or if there comes plant diseases, mildew, locusts, or grasshoppers, or if their enemies attack them in their settlements of the land, no matter what the epidemic or illness is,

29 whatever prayer or request is made, no matter whether it's made by a single man or by all of your people Israel, each praying out of his own illness and anguish and stretching out their hands toward this Temple,
30 then hear from heaven, the place where you reside, and forgive, repaying each person according to all of his ways, since you know their hearts — for you alone know the hearts of human beings —
31 so they will fear you and live life your way as long as they live in the land that you have given to our ancestors.
32 "Now concerning the foreigner who is not from your people Israel, when he comes from a land far away for the sake of your great name, your mighty acts, and your obvious power, when they come and pray in the direction of this Temple,
33 then hear from heaven where you reside, and do whatever the foreigner asks of you, so that all the people of the earth may know your name, fear you as do your people Israel, and so they may know that this Temple that I have built is called by your name.
34 "When your people go out to war against their enemies, no matter what way you send them, and they pray to you in the direction of this city that you have chosen and in the direction of the Temple that I have built for your name,
35 then hear their prayer and their request from heaven, and fight for their cause.
36 "When they sin against you — because there isn't a single human being who doesn't sin — and you become angry with them and deliver them over to their enemy, who takes them away captive to a land that's near or far away,
37 if they turn their hearts back to you in the land where they have been taken captive, repent, and pray to you — even if they do so in the land where they have been taken captive — confessing, 'We have sinned, we have committed abominations, and practised wickedness,'
38 if they return to you with all of their heart and with all of their soul in the land where they have been taken captive, as they pray in the direction of their land that you have given to their ancestors and to the city that you have chosen, and to the Temple that I have built for your name,
39 then hear their prayer and requests from heaven, where you reside, and fight for their cause, forgiving your people who have sinned against you.
40 "And now, my God, please let your eyes be open and your ears attentive to the prayers that are uttered in this place.
41 "And now may the LORD God arise, to your place of rest, you, and the ark of your power! Let your priests, LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and cause your godly ones to find their joy in what is good.
42 "LORD God, do not turn your face away from your anointed one. Remember your gracious love to your servant David."

2 Chronicles 7

1 As soon as Solomon finished his prayer, fire descended from heaven and burned up the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the Temple.
2 The priests could not enter into the Temple because the glory of the LORD had filled the LORD's Temple.
3 When all of the Israelis saw the fire coming down and the glory of the LORD resting on the Temple, they bowed down with their faces to the ground on the pavement, worshipped, and gave thanks to the LORD, "Because he is good; because his gracious love is eternal."
4 Then the king and all the people kept on offering sacrifices in the presence of the LORD.
5 King Solomon offered a sacrifice of 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep, which is how the king and all of the people dedicated God's Temple.
6 The priests stood in waiting at their assigned places, along with the descendants of Levi who carried musical instruments used in service to the LORD that King David had made for giving thanks to the LORD — because his gracious love is eternal — whenever David, accompanied by priests sounding trumpets, offered praises while all of Israel stood in the assembly.

7 Solomon also dedicated the middle of the court in front of the LORD's Temple by offering there burnt offerings and fat from peace offerings because the bronze altar that Solomon had made could not contain the burnt offerings, grain offerings, and fat portion offerings.

8 At that time Solomon also held a week-long festival attended by all of Israel. The assembly was very large, and included people from as far away as Lebo-hamath to the Wadi of Egypt.

9 On the day after the festival ended, they convened a solemn assembly, because they had been dedicating the altar for seven days and observing the feast for seven days.

10 On the twenty-third day of the seventh month, King Solomon sent the people back home, and they returned rejoicing and in good spirits because of the goodness that the LORD had shown to David, to Solomon, and to his people Israel.

11 And so Solomon completed the LORD's Temple, bringing to completion everything that he had planned on doing for the LORD's Temple and for his own palace.

12 Later, the LORD appeared to Solomon during the night and told him: "I have heard your prayer and have chosen this place for a sacrificial temple to me.

13 Whenever I close the skies so there is no rain, or whenever I command locusts to lay waste to the land, or whenever I send epidemics among my people,

14 when my people humble themselves — the ones who are called by my name — and pray, seek me, and turn away from their evil practices, I myself will listen from heaven, I will pardon their sins, and I will restore their land.

15 "Now therefore my eyes will remain open and my ears will remain listening to the prayers that are offered in this place.

16 Furthermore, I have chosen and have set apart for myself this Temple, intending my name to reside there forever. My eyes and my heart will reside there every day.

17 Now as for you, if you commune with me like your father did, doing everything that I have commanded you, including obeying my statutes and my legal decisions,

18 then I will make your royal throne secure, just as I agreed to do for your father David when I said, 'You are to not lack a man to rule over Israel.'

19 "But if you turn away and abandon my statutes and my commands that I have given you, and if you walk away to serve other gods and worship them,

20 then I will tear them up by the roots from the ground that I had given them! And as for this Temple that I have set apart for my name, I will throw it out of my sight and make it the butt of jokes and a means of ridicule among people worldwide!

21 "Furthermore, even though this Temple seems so exalted, everyone who passes by it will be so astounded that they will ask, 'Why did the LORD do this to this land and to this Temple?'

22 They will answer, 'Because they abandoned the LORD God of their ancestors, who brought them from the land of Egypt, adopted other gods, worshipped them, and served them, therefore the LORD has brought all of this disaster on them.'"

2 Chronicles 8

1 It took Solomon 20 years to build the LORD's Temple and his own palace.

2 During this time, he also rebuilt the towns that Hiram had restored to him, and he settled Israelites in them.

3 After this, Solomon travelled to Hamath-zobah and captured it.

4 Then he rebuilt Tadmor in the desert, along with supply centres that he had built in Hamath.

5 He also built upper and lower Beth-horon as fortified cities, installing walls, gates, and bars,

6 and he rebuilt Baalath and its supply centres that belonged to Solomon, along with all the cities that he utilized to garrison his chariots and cavalry forces. Solomon was pleased also to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in every territory that he controlled.

7 All of the survivors who remained living in the land but who were not Israelis (including Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites)

8 were descendants of the nations whom the people of Israel had not eliminated.

Solomon put them to work as conscripted labourers, which they continue to do to this day.

9 However, Solomon never made conscripted labourers from among the Israelis, but they did serve as his army, as his chief captains, and as commanders in charge of his chariots and cavalry.

10 King Solomon appointed 250 chief officers to command his army.

Luke 15

11 Then Jesus said, "A man had two sons.

12 The younger one told his father, 'Father, give me my share of the estate.' So the father divided his property between them.

13 A few days later, the younger son gathered everything he owned and travelled to a distant country. There he wasted it all on wild living.

14 After he had spent everything, a severe famine took place throughout that country, and he began to be in need.

15 So he went out to work for one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to feed pigs.

16 No one would give him anything, even though he would gladly have filled himself with the husks the pigs were eating.

17 "Then he came to his senses and said, 'How many of my father's hired men have more food than they can eat, and here I am starving to death!

18 I will get up, go to my father, and say to him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and you.

19 I don't deserve to be called your son anymore. Treat me like one of your hired men.'"

20 "So he got up and went to his father. While he was still far away, his father saw him and was filled with compassion. He ran to his son, threw his arms around him, and kissed him affectionately.

21 Then his son told him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and you. I don't deserve to be called your son anymore.'

22 But the father told his servants, 'Hurry! Bring out the best robe and put it on him, and put a ring on his finger and sandals on his feet.

23 Bring the fattened calf and kill it, and let's eat and celebrate!

24 Because my son was dead and has come back to life. He was lost and has been found.' And they began to celebrate.

25 "Now the father's older son was in the field. As he was coming back to the house, he heard music and dancing.

26 So he called to one of the servants and asked what was happening.

27 The servant told him, 'Your brother has come home, and your father has killed the fattened calf because he got him back safely.'

28 "Then the older son became angry and wouldn't go into the house. So his father came out and began to plead with him.

29 But he answered his father, 'Listen! All these years I've worked like a slave for you. I've never disobeyed a command of yours. Yet you've never given me so much as a young goat for a feast so I could celebrate with my friends.

30 But this son of yours spent your money on prostitutes, and when he came back, you killed the fattened calf for him!'

31 "His father told him, 'My child, you are always with me, and everything I have is yours.

32 But we had to celebrate and rejoice, because this brother of yours was dead and has come back to life. He was lost and has been found.'"

2 Chronicles 8

11 Later, Solomon moved Pharaoh's daughter from the City of David to the palace that he had constructed to house her, because he reasoned, "My wife isn't going to live in the palace where King David of Israel lived, because wherever the ark of the LORD entered is holy."

12 Solomon offered burnt offerings to the LORD on the LORD's altar that he had built in front of the porch of the Temple,

13 acting in compliance with the daily rule by offering them in conformity to commands issued by Moses for the Sabbaths, the New Moons, the three annual feasts (the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Booths).

14 Following prescriptions laid down by his father David, Solomon appointed divisions of priests for their service as well as descendants of Levi for duties of praise and ministry before the priests consistent with the daily rules. Furthermore, because David, the man of God, had commanded it, Solomon also appointed gatekeepers to serve by divisions at every gate of the Temple.

15 They scrupulously adhered to the orders issued by the king to the priests and descendants of Levi in everything, including matters pertaining to operation of the treasuries.

16 And so Solomon completed all of the work, from the day that the foundation stone of the LORD's Temple was laid until the LORD's Temple was completely finished.

17 After this, Solomon visited Ezion-geber and Elath at the seashore in the land of Edom.

18 Hiram sent Solomon ships and servants who were expert mariners, and they sailed with Solomon's servants to Ophir, where they brought back 33,750 pounds of gold for Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9

1 When the queen of Sheba heard about Solomon's reputation, she travelled to Jerusalem and tested him with difficult questions. She brought along a large retinue, camels laden with spices, and lots of gold and precious stones. Upon her arrival, she spoke with Solomon about everything that was on her mind.

2 Solomon answered all of her questions. Because nothing was hidden from Solomon, he hid nothing from her.

3 When the queen of Sheba had seen Solomon's wisdom for herself, the palace that he had built,

4 the food set at his table, his servants who waited on him, his ministers in attendance and how they were dressed, his personal staff and how they were dressed, and even his personal stairway by which he went up to the LORD's Temple, she was breathless!

5 "Everything I heard about your wisdom and what you have to say is true!" she gasped,

6 "but I didn't believe it at first! But then I came here and I've seen it for myself! It's amazing! I wasn't told half of what's really great about your wisdom. You're far better in person than what the reports have said about you!

7 How blessed are your staff! And how blessed are your employees who serve you continuously and get to listen to your wisdom!

8 Blessed be the LORD your God, who is delighted with you! He set you in place on his throne to be king for the LORD your God. He made you king over them so you could carry out justice and implement righteousness, because your God loves Israel and intends to establish them forever."

9 Then she gave the king 9,000 pounds of gold, a vast quantity of spices, and precious stones. There were no spices comparable to those that the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

10 Hiram's servants and Solomon's servants, who brought gold from Ophir, also presented algum wood and other precious stones.

11 The king used the algum wood to have steps made for the LORD's Temple and for the royal palace, as well as lyres and harps for the choir, and nothing like that wood had been seen before in the territory of Judah.

12 In return, King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she wanted and requested in addition to what she had brought for the king. Afterward, she returned to her own land, accompanied by her servants.

13 Solomon received in any given year about 49,950 pounds of gold,

14 not including revenue from traders and merchants. In addition, all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the nation brought gold and silver to Solomon.

15 King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold, overlaying each shield with the gold from 600 gold pieces,

16 and 300 shields from beaten gold, overlaying each shield with the gold from 300 gold pieces. The king put them in his palace in the Lebanon forest.

17 The king also made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 Six steps led up to the throne. A golden footstool was attached to the throne, which had armrests on each side of the seat and two lions standing on either side of each armrest.

19 Twelve lions were placed on both sides of the six steps leading to the throne, and nothing comparable was made for any other kingdom.

20 All of King Solomon's drinking vessels were made of gold, and all the vessels in his palace in the Lebanon forest were made of pure gold. Silver was never considered to be valuable during the lifetime of Solomon, 21 because the king had ships that sailed to Tarshish accompanied by Hiram's servants. Once every three years ships from Tarshish returned, bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks.

22 As a result, King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the earth in regards to wealth and wisdom.

23 All the kings of the earth continued to seek audiences with Solomon so they could hear the wise things that God had put in his heart.

24 Everyone kept on bringing gifts on an annual basis, including items made of silver and gold, garments, myrrh, spices, horses, and mules.

25 Solomon had 4,000 stalls for horses and chariots, along with 12,000 cavalry soldiers. He stationed them in various chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

26 King Solomon ruled over all the kings from the Euphrates River west to the land of the Philistines and as far south as the boundary with Egypt.

27 The king made silver as common as stones in Jerusalem, and made cedar trees as abundant as sycamore trees in the Shephelah.

28 They also kept bringing horses to Solomon from Egypt and from all of the surrounding countries.

29 Now the rest of Solomon's accomplishments, from first to last, are written in the records of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer pertaining to Nebat's son Jeroboam, are they not?

30 Solomon reigned for 40 years in Jerusalem over all of Israel.

31 Then Solomon died, as had his ancestors, and his son Rehoboam reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 10

1 Rehoboam travelled to Shechem, because all of Israel went there to install him as king.

2 Nebat's son Jeroboam heard about it in Egypt, where he had fled to get away from Solomon the king. Jeroboam returned from Egypt

3 after being summoned. When Jeroboam and all of Israel arrived, they spoke to Rehoboam,

4 "Your father made our burdens unbearable. Therefore you must lighten your father's requirements and his heavy burden that he placed on us, and we'll serve you."

5 "Come back again in three days," Rehoboam told them. So the people left

6 while King Rehoboam conferred with his advisors who had worked with his father Solomon during his administration. He asked them, "What is your advice as to what response I should return to these people?"

7 In reply, they told him, "If you will be kind to this people, please them, and speak appropriately to them with kind words, they'll serve you forever."

8 But Rehoboam ignored the counsel that his elder advisors had given him. Instead, he consulted the younger men who had grown up with him and worked for him.

9 As a result, he asked them, "What's your advice, so we can give an answer to these people who have asked me, 'Please lighten the burden that your father put on us'?"

10 "This is what you should tell the people who asked you 'Your father made our burden heavy, but you must make it lighter for us!'" the young men who had grown up with Rehoboam replied. "Tell them 'My little finger will be thicker than my father's whole body!

11 Not only that, but since my father loaded you down heavily, I'm going to add to that burden. If my father disciplined you with whips, I'm going to do so with scorpions!'"

12 So Jeroboam and all the people went back to Rehoboam on the third day, just as they had been directed when the king said, "Come back again in three days."

13 But the king answered them strictly and ignored the counsel of his elders.

14 Instead, Rehoboam spoke to them along the lines of what the younger men suggested. He told them "My father burdened you heavily, but I will add to that burden. If my father disciplined you with whips, I will, too — with scorpions!"

15 The king would not listen to the people because the turn of events was from God, so that the LORD might fulfil his prediction that he spoke through Nebat's son Ahijah the Shilonite.

16 All of Israel — since the king wasn't going to listen to them — the people responded to the king, "What's the point in following David? We have no inheritance in the descendants of Jesse. Let's go home, Israel! David, take care of your own household!" So all of Israel left for home.

17 And so Rehoboam ruled over the Israelis who lived in the cities of Judah.

18 King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was in charge of conscripted labour, but the Israelis stoned him to death, and King Rehoboam had to jump in his chariot and flee back in a hurry to Jerusalem.

19 That's how Israel came to be in rebellion against David's dynasty to this day.

Luke 16

1 Now Jesus was saying to the disciples, "A rich man had a servant manager who was accused of wasting his assets.

2 So he called for him and asked him, 'What's this I hear about you? You can't be my manager any longer. Now give me a report about your management!'

3 "Then the servant manager told himself, 'What should I do? My master is taking my position away from me. I'm not strong enough to plough, and I'm ashamed to beg.

4 I know what I'll do so that people will welcome me into their homes when I'm dismissed from my job.'

5 "So he called for each of his master's debtors. He asked the first, 'How much do you owe my master?'

6 The man replied, 'A hundred jars of olive oil.' The manager told him, 'Get your bill. Sit down quickly and write "50."'

7 Then he asked another debtor, 'How much do you owe?' The man replied, 'A hundred containers of wheat.' The manager told him, 'Get your bill and write "80."'

8 The master praised the dishonest servant manager for being so clever, because worldly people are more clever than enlightened people in dealing with their own.

9 "I'm telling you, make friends for yourselves by means of unrighteous wealth, so that when it fails, they will welcome you into eternal homes.

10 Whoever is faithful with very little is also faithful with a lot, and whoever is dishonest with very little is also dishonest with a lot.

11 So if you haven't been faithful with unrighteous wealth, who will trust you with true wealth?

12 And if you haven't been faithful with what belongs to foreigners, who will give you what is your own?

13 "No servant can serve two masters, because either he will hate one and love the other, or be loyal to one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and wealth!"

14 Now the Pharisees, who love money, had been listening to all this and began to ridicule Jesus.

15 So he told them, "You try to justify yourselves in front of people, but God knows your hearts, because what is highly valued by people is detestable to God.

16 "The Law and the Prophets remained until John. Since then, the good news about the kingdom of God has been proclaimed, and everyone entering it is under attack.

17 However, it is easier for heaven and earth to disappear than for one stroke of a letter in the Law to be dropped.

18 Any man who divorces his wife and marries another woman commits adultery, and the man who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery."

2 Chronicles 11

1 When Rehoboam returned to Jerusalem, he gathered together 180,000 specially chosen soldiers from the households of Judah and Benjamin to fight against Israel and restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.

2 But a message from the LORD came to Shemaiah, a man of God:

3 "Tell Solomon's son Rehoboam, king of Judah and all of Israel in Judah and Benjamin:

4 'This is what the LORD says: "You are not to fight or even to approach your relatives in battle. Every soldier is to return to his own home, for this development comes from me.'""

So they listened to what the LORD had to say and called off their attack on Jeroboam.

5 Rehoboam continued to live in Jerusalem and built defensive fortification cities throughout Judah,

6 including Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa,

7 Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam,

8 Gath, Mareshah, Ziph,

9 Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah,

10 Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron. These were all fortified cities throughout Judah and Benjamin.

11 He also strengthened the fortified cities, assigned officers to them, and stockpiled food, oil, and wine.

12 He also stockpiled shields and spears in every city and fortified them greatly to secure his rule over Judah and Benjamin.

13 The priests and descendants of Levi throughout Israel also supported him in their districts,

14 because the descendants of Levi left their pasture lands and their property to live in Judah and Jerusalem, since Jeroboam and his sons had excluded them from participating in priestly services to the LORD.

15 Jeroboam had appointed his own priests to serve at the high places and to serve the satyrs and calves that he had made.

16 As a result, anyone from all of the tribes of Israel who was determined to seek the LORD God of Israel followed the descendants of Levi to Jerusalem so they could sacrifice to the LORD God of their ancestors,

17 and they continued to strengthen the kingdom of Judah, supporting Solomon's son Rehoboam for three years, by living the way David and Solomon did for three years.

18 Rehoboam married Mahalath, the daughter of David's son Jerimoth, along with Abihail, the daughter of Jesse's son Eliab, 19 who bore him these sons: Jeush, Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 After this he married Absalom's daughter Maacah, who bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 Rehoboam loved Absalom's daughter Maacah more than he did all of his wives and mistresses. (He married eighteen wives and 60 concubines, fathering 28 sons and 60 daughters).

22 Later, Rehoboam appointed Abijah, his son from Maacah, as senior family leader among his brothers, since he intended to establish Abijah as king.

23 Rehoboam was wise to distribute some of his children throughout all of the territories of Judah and Benjamin, placing them in all of the fortified cities. He allotted them abundant supplies of food and sought many wives for them.

2 Chronicles 12

1 At the height of his power, after he had consolidated his rule, Rehoboam abandoned the LORD's Law, along with all of Israel with him.

2 Because he had been unfaithful to the LORD, during the fifth year of King Rehoboam's reign, King Shishak of Egypt attacked Jerusalem
3 with 1,200 chariots and 60,000 cavalry. The Lubim, Sukkiim, and the Ethiopians who invaded from Egypt with Shishak were innumerable.
4 Shishak captured the fortified cities of Judah and invaded as far as Jerusalem.
5 Right then, Shemaiah the prophet approached Rehoboam and the princes of Judah who had gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and he told them, "This is what the LORD says: 'You abandoned me, so I've abandoned you to Shishak.'"
6 In response, the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and declared, "The LORD is righteous."
7 When the LORD observed that they had humbled themselves, the LORD spoke to Shemaiah, "They have humbled themselves, so I won't destroy them. Instead, I'll grant them some deliverance by not pouring out my indignation on Jerusalem, using Shishak to do it.
8 Nevertheless, they will become his slaves so they may learn to differentiate between what it means to serve me and to serve the kingdoms of these nations."
9 So King Shishak of Egypt invaded Jerusalem and looted the treasure stores in the LORD's Temple and in the royal palace. He took everything, including the golden shields that Solomon had made.
10 After this, King Rehoboam made shields out of bronze to take their place, committing them to the care and custody of the commanders of those who guarded the entrance to the royal palace.
11 As often as the king entered the LORD's Temple, the guards came and transported the shields to the Temple and then brought them back to the guard's quarters.
12 After he had humbled himself, the LORD stopped being angry with him, and did not destroy Rehoboam completely. Furthermore, conditions became good in Judah.
13 King Rehoboam consolidated his reign in Jerusalem. Rehoboam was 41 years old when he began to reign, and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that that LORD had chosen from all the tribes of Israel in which to establish his name. Rehoboam's mother was Naamah from Ammon.
14 He practised evil by not setting his heart to seek the LORD.
15 Now Rehoboam's accomplishments, from first to last, are written in the records of Shemaiah the prophet and of Iddo the seer, enrolled by genealogy, are they not?
16 Later, Rehoboam died, as had his ancestors, and his son Abijah became king to replace him.

2 Chronicles 13

1 During the eighteenth year of the reign of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king over Judah.
2 He reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother was Uriel's daughter Micaiah from Gibeah. A war started between Abijah and Jeroboam.
3 Abijah started the battle with an army of 400,000 specially chosen valiant soldiers, but Jeroboam opposed him with 800,000 specially chosen valiant soldiers.
4 Abijah stood on Mount Zemaraim in the hill country of Ephraim and announced: "Listen to me, Jeroboam and Israel!
5 Don't you know that the LORD God of Israel assigned the kingship over Israel to David and his descendants forever by a salt covenant?
6 Even so, Nebat's son Jeroboam, who used to serve David's son Solomon, rose in rebellion against his own master!
7 Useless troublemakers soon gathered around him, who turned out to be too strong for Rehoboam, because he was young, timid, and unable to withstand them.

8 "So now you think you'll be able to withstand the LORD's kingdom as controlled by David's descendants, just because you have a large crown and have brought with you the golden calves that Jeroboam made for you as gods.

9 Haven't you already driven away the LORD's priests, the descendants of Aaron and the descendants of Levi? Haven't you established your own priests like the people of other lands?

10 "Now as far as we're concerned, the LORD is our God, and we haven't abandoned him. The descendants of Aaron are ministering to the LORD as priests, and the descendants of Levi continue their work.

11 Every morning and evening, they're offering burnt offerings and fragrant incense to the LORD, the showbread is set out on the pure table, and they take care of the golden lamp stand so its lamps can continue to burn every evening. We continue to be faithful over what the LORD our God entrusted to us, but you have abandoned him.

12 Now listen! God is with us to lead us, and his priests are about to sound their battle trumpets against you. Descendants of Israel, don't fight against the LORD God of your ancestors, because you won't succeed!"

13 But Jeroboam had sent an ambush to attack from the rear, so Israel was in front of Judah, with the ambush set in place behind them.

14 When the army of Judah turned around to look, they were being attacked from both front and rear, so they cried out to the LORD while the priests sounded their trumpets.

15 Then the army of Judah sounded a war cry, and God routed Jeroboam and the entire army of Israel in front of Abijah and Judah.

16 When the descendants of Israel ran away from the army of Judah, God handed them over to the army of Judah.

17 Abijah and his army defeated them in a tremendous slaughter that resulted in 500,000 special forces from Israel being slain.

18 And so the descendants of Israel were defeated at that time. The descendants of Judah were victorious because they trusted in the LORD God of their ancestors.

19 After this Abijah pursued Jeroboam and captured Bethel and its villages, Jeshanah and its villages, and Ephron and its villages.

20 Jeroboam never recovered his strength for the rest of Abijah's life. The LORD struck Jeroboam, and he died, 21 but Abijah continued to grow more powerful. He took fourteen wives for himself and fathered 22 sons and sixteen daughters.

22 The rest of Abijah's accomplishments, his lifestyle and his memoirs are recorded in the Midrash of the Prophet Iddo.

Luke 16

19 "Once there was a rich man who used to dress in purple and fine linen and live in great luxury every day.

20 A beggar named Lazarus, who was covered with sores, was brought to his gate.

21 He was always trying to satisfy his hunger with what fell from the rich man's table. Even the dogs used to come and lick his sores.

22 "One day the beggar died and was carried away by the angels to Abraham's side. The rich man also died and was buried.

23 In the afterlife, where he was in constant torment, he looked up and saw Abraham far away and Lazarus by his side.

24 So he shouted, 'Father Abraham, have mercy on me! Send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water to cool off my tongue, because I am suffering in this fire.'

25 "But Abraham said, 'My child, remember that during your lifetime you received blessings, while Lazarus received hardships. But now he is being comforted here, while you suffer.

26 Besides all this, a wide chasm has been fixed between us, so that those who want to cross from this side to you cannot do so, nor can they cross from your side to us.'

27 "The rich man said, 'Then I beg you, father, send Lazarus to my father's house —

28 because I have five brothers — to warn them, so that they won't end up in this place of torture, too.'

29 "Abraham said, 'They have Moses and the Prophets. They should listen to them!'

30 "But the rich man replied, 'No, father Abraham! But if someone from the dead went to them, they would repent.'

31 "Then Abraham told him, 'If your brothers do not listen to Moses and the Prophets, they will not be persuaded, even if someone were to rise from the dead.'"

Luke 17

1 Jesus told his disciples, "It is inevitable that temptations to sin will come, but how terrible it will be for the person through whom they come!

2 It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea than for him to cause one of these little ones to sin.

3 "Watch yourselves! If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him.

4 Even if he sins against you seven times in a day and comes back to you seven times and says, 'I repent,' you must forgive him."

5 Then the apostles told the Lord, "Give us more faith!"

6 The Lord replied, "If you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you!

7 "Suppose a man among you has a servant ploughing or watching sheep. Would he say to him when he comes in from the field, 'Come at once and have something to eat'?

8 Of course not. Instead, he would say to him, 'Get dinner ready for me, and put on your apron and wait on me until I eat and drink. Then you can eat and drink.'

9 He doesn't praise the servant for doing what was commanded, does he?

10 That's the way it is with you. When you have done everything you were ordered to do, say, 'We are worthless servants. We have done only what we ought to have done.'"

2 Chronicles 14

1 Then Abijah died, as had his ancestors, and he was buried in the city of David. Abijah's son Asa reigned in his place, and during his lifetime the land enjoyed rest for ten years.

2 Asa practised what the LORD his God considered to be right

3 by removing the foreign altars and high places, tearing down the sacred pillars, cutting down the Asherim, and

4 commanding Judah to seek the LORD God of their ancestors and to keep the Law and the commandments.

5 He also removed the high places and incense altars from all of the cities of Judah. As a result, the kingdom enjoyed rest under Asa's leadership.

6 Asa built fortified cities throughout Judah while the land lay undisturbed, because the LORD had given him peace so that no one went to war against him during those years.

7 He had told Judah, "Let's build up these cities, surrounding them with walls, towers, gates, and bars. The land still belongs to us, because we have kept on seeking the LORD our God. We have sought him out, and he has given us rest all around us." So the people built and prospered.

8 Asa kept a standing army of 300,000 soldiers from Judah equipped with large shields and spears, as well as 280,000 soldiers from Benjamin, also bearing shields and wielding bows. All of them were valiant soldiers.

9 Sometime later, Zerah the Ethiopian went to war against him at Mareshah with an army of one million troops and 300 chariots.

10 Asa went out to engage him in battle, and they drew up their battle lines at Mareshah in the Zephathah Valley.

11 Asa cried out to the LORD his God, telling him, "LORD, there is no one except for you to help between the powerful and the weak. So help us, LORD God, because we're depending on you and have come against this vast group in your name. LORD, you are our God. Let no mere mortal man defeat you!"

12 So the Lord defeated the Ethiopians right in front of Asa and Judah, and the Ethiopians ran away.

13 Asa and his army pursued the Ethiopians as far as Gerar. So many Ethiopians died that their army could not recover, because it had been shattered in the LORD's presence and in the presence of his army. The Israelis carried off a lot of plunder, too.

14 They attacked all the cities that surrounded Gerar, because fear of the LORD had overwhelmed them. The Israelis spoiled all the cities, because there was a lot to plunder in them.

15 They also attacked the tents of those who owned livestock and carried off lots of sheep and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 15

1 After this, the Spirit of the LORD came to rest on Oded's son Azariah,

2 so he went out to meet Asa and rebuked him: "Listen to me, Asa, Judah, and Benjamin! The LORD is with you when you are with him. If you seek him, he will allow you to find him, but if you abandon him, he will abandon you.

3 Israel lived for years without the true God, priests to teach them, and the Law,

4 but they turned to the LORD God of Israel in their distress. When they sought him, he let them become reacquainted with him.

5 "During those days, it wasn't safe for anyone to come and go, because many civil disturbances afflicted everyone who lived in the territories.

6 Nation battled nation, and city fought city, because God was afflicting them all with every kind of distress.

7 Now as for you, be strong and never be discouraged, because there will be reward for your work."

8 Encouraged by what Oded's son Azariah the prophet had said in his prophecy, Asa removed the detestable idols from throughout the entire territories of Judah and Benjamin, and from the cities that he had captured in the hill country of Ephraim. He repaired the LORD's altar that stood in front of the vestibule of the LORD's Temple.

9 Then he gathered together all of Judah, Benjamin, and people from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon who were living among them, since many people had defected to him from Israel when they learned that the LORD his God was with him.

10 They all assembled in Jerusalem during the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign.

11 They sacrificed to the LORD that day 700 oxen and 7,000 sheep from the spoil that they had brought with them.

12 They also entered into a covenant to seek the LORD God of their ancestors with all their heart and soul,

13 and they further agreed that whoever would refuse to seek the LORD God of Israel was to be executed, whether important or unimportant, man or woman.

14 They also made a vow to the LORD with loud voices, shouting, trumpets, and horns.

15 Everybody in Judah was very glad to make their oath, because they had made their vow with all their heart and had sought him with all of their might, and they found him! The LORD also gave them rest in their surrounding lands.

16 King Asa removed his mother Maacah from her position as Queen Mother because she had made a detestable image dedicated to Asherah. He cut down his mother's idol, crushed it, and burned it at the Kidron Brook.

17 Nevertheless, the high places were not removed from Israel, even though Asa's heart was blameless all of his life.

18 Asa brought into God's Temple the things that his father had dedicated, as well as his own dedicated gifts such as silver, gold, and temple service implements.

19 Asa experienced no more war until the end of the thirty-fifth year of his reign.

2 Chronicles 16

1 During the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign, King Baasha of Israel invaded Judah and interdicted Ramah by building fortifications around it so no one could enter or leave to join King Asa of Judah.

2 But Asa removed some silver and gold from the treasuries of the LORD's Temple and from his royal palace and sent them to King Ben-hadad of Aram, who lived in Damascus.

3 "Let's make a treaty between you and me," he said, "just like the one between my father and your father. Notice that I've sent you silver and gold to break your treaty with King Baasha of Israel, so he'll retreat from his attack on me."

4 So King Ben-hadad did just what King Asa had asked: he sent his commanding officers to attack the cities of Israel. They conquered Ijon, Dan, Bel-maim, and all of the storage centres in Naphtali.

5 When Baasha learned of the attack, he withdrew from Ramah and stopped his interdiction.

6 Then King Asa brought his entire army of Judah to carry away the building stones and the timber that Baasha had been using to surround Ramah, and he used those materials to fortify Geba and Mizpah.

7 Right about then, Hanani the seer came to King Asa of Judah and rebuked him.

"Because you have put your trust in the king of Aram and have not relied on the LORD your God, the army of the king of Aram has escaped from your control.

8 Weren't the Ethiopians and the Libyans a vast army with many chariots and cavalry? Yet because you relied on the LORD, he gave them into your control!

9 The LORD's eyes keep on roaming throughout the earth, looking for those whose hearts completely belong to him, so that he may strongly support them. But because you have acted foolishly in this, from now on you will have wars."

10 In response, Asa flew into a rage and locked up the seer in stocks in the palace prison because of what Hanani had told him. Asa also tortured some of the people of Israel at that time.

11 Now the accomplishments of Asa from first to last are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah.

12 In the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa suffered from a foot disease. Even though he suffered greatly, he never sought the LORD, but instead looked to doctors.

13 As a result, in the forty-first year of his reign, Asa died, as had his ancestors,

14 and he was buried in his own tomb that he had prepared for himself in the city of David. He was laid out on a bier that had been filled with various spices prepared by morticians, and the mourners built a massive bonfire to honour his memory.

2 Chronicles 17

1 Asa's son Jehoshaphat succeeded him as king, and he consolidated his authority over Israel

2 by placing troops in all of the fortified citadels through Judah and by establishing garrisons throughout the land of Judah and in the cities that his father Asa had captured.

3 The LORD was with Jehoshaphat because he followed the example set during his ancestor David's preliminary years by not pursuing the Baals.

4 Instead, Jehoshaphat sought the God of his ancestors and obeyed his commands, unlike Israel.

5 Therefore the LORD secured Jehoshaphat's kingdom under his control, with all of Judah paying him tribute, and Jehoshaphat became very wealthy and greatly respected.

6 He remained committed to following the LORD, and he removed the high places and Asherah poles from Judah.

7 During the third year of his reign, Jehoshaphat sent his officials Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah to teach throughout the cities of Judah.

8 They were accompanied by the descendants of Levi, including Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah. These descendants of Levi were accompanied by the priests Elishama and Jehoram.

9 They taught throughout Judah from a copy of the Book of the Law of the LORD that they took with them as they passed through all the cities of Judah, teaching among all the people.

10 Because they were afraid of the LORD, none of the kingdoms of the lands that surrounded Judah dared go to war against Jehoshaphat.

11 Some of the Philistines brought gifts and silver as tribute to Jehoshaphat, and Arabians brought him flocks of 7,700 rams and 7,700 male goats.

12 As a result, Jehoshaphat grew more and more powerful, and built up fortresses and storage centres throughout Judah.

13 He placed a large amount of supplies into storage throughout the cities of Judah and stationed soldiers — all of them valiant men — in Jerusalem.

14 Here's how they were mustered, listed according to their ancestral houses and listed by commanders of thousands: Adnah commanded 300,000 elite forces.

15 Near him was Johanan, commander of 280,000

16 and next to him was Zichri's son Amasiah, who had volunteered to serve the LORD. He commanded 200,000 elite forces.

17 There was also Eliada from Benjamin, himself a valiant soldier. He was accompanied by 200,000 expert archers bearing shields.

18 Near him was Jehozabad, who was accompanied by 180,000 soldiers equipped for warfare.

19 These men served the king, and there were others whom the king garrisoned inside fortified cities throughout all of Judah.

Luke 17

11 One day, Jesus was travelling along the border between Samaria and Galilee on the way to Jerusalem.

12 As he was going into a village, ten lepers met him. They stood at a distance

13 and shouted, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!"

14 When Jesus saw them, he told them, "Go and show yourselves to the priests." While they were going, they were made clean.

15 But one of them, when he saw that he had been healed, came back and praised God with a loud voice.

16 He fell on his face at Jesus' feet and thanked him. Now that man was a Samaritan.

17 Jesus asked, "Ten men were made clean, weren't they? Where are the other nine?"

18 Except for this foreigner, were any of them found to return and give praise to God?"

19 Then he told the man, "Get up, and go home! Your faith has made you well."

20 Once Jesus was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come. He answered them, "The kingdom of God is not coming with a visible display.

21 People won't be saying, 'Look! Here it is!' or 'There it is!' because now the kingdom of God is among you."

22 Then Jesus told the disciples, "The time will come during which you will long to see one of these days when the Son of Man is with you, but you will not see it.

23 People will say to you, 'Look! There he is!' or 'Look! Here he is!' But don't go and chase after him.

24 Because just as lightning flashes and shines from one end of the sky to the other, so will the Son of Man be in his time.

25 But first he must suffer a great deal and be rejected by those living today.

26 "Just as it was in Noah's time, so it will be in the days of the Son of Man.

27 People were eating, drinking, marrying, and being given in marriage right up to the day when Noah went into the ark. Then the flood came and destroyed all of them.

28 So it was in the days of Lot. People were eating and drinking, buying and selling, planting and building.

29 But on the day when Lot left Sodom, fire and sulphur rained down from heaven and destroyed all of them.

30 The day when the Son of Man is revealed will be like that.

31 "The person who is on the housetop that day must not come down to get his belongings out of his house. The person in the field, too, must not turn back to what's left behind.

32 Remember Lot's wife!

33 Whoever tries to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life will preserve it.

34 I tell you, two will be seated on the same couch that night. The one will be taken, and the other will be left behind.

35 Two women will be grinding grain together. The one will be taken, and the other will be left behind."

37 Then they asked him, "Where, Lord, will this take place?" He told them, "Wherever there's a corpse, there the vultures will gather."

2 Chronicles 18

1 After Jehoshaphat had become wealthy and was enjoying abundant honour, he allied himself to Ahab.

2 After a few years, he visited Ahab in Samaria. Ahab slaughtered lots of sheep and oxen for him, and the people who were with him persuaded Jehoshaphat to attack Ramoth-gilead.

3 King Ahab of Israel asked King Jehoshaphat of Judah, "Will you join me in attacking Ramoth-gilead?" "I'm with you," Jehoshaphat replied. "and my army is with you. We'll join you in the battle."

4 But then Jehoshaphat asked the king of Israel, "Please ask for a message from the LORD, first."

5 So the king of Israel gathered together 400 prophets and asked them, "Should we go attack Ramoth-gilead, or should I call off the attack?" "Go attack them," they all said, "because God will drop them right in the king's hand."

6 But Jehoshaphat asked, "Isn't there a prophet of the LORD left here that we could talk to?"

7 "There is still one man left by whom we could ask the LORD what to do," the king of Israel replied to Jehoshaphat, "but I hate him because he won't prophesy anything good about me. Instead, he always prophesies evil. He is Imla's son Micaiah." But Jehoshaphat rebuked Ahab, "Kings should never talk like that."

8 Nevertheless, the king of Israel called an officer and ordered him, "Bring me Imla's son Micaiah quickly."

9 Now the king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah were each sitting on their own thrones, arrayed in their robes, and sitting on the threshing floor at the entrance to the city gate of Samaria, and all of the prophets were prophesying in front of them.

10 Chenaanah's son Zedekiah made iron horns for himself and told them, "This is what the LORD says, 'With these horns you are to gore the Arameans until they are eliminated!'"

11 All the other prophets were saying similar things, like "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and you will be successful, because the LORD will hand it over to the king!"

12 Meanwhile, the messenger who had gone off to summon Micaiah advised him, "Look, everything that the other prophets were saying has been unanimously favourable to the king. So please, cooperate with them and speak favourably."

13 "As the LORD lives," Micaiah replied, "I'll say what my God tells me to say."

14 When Micaiah approached the king, the king asked him, "Micaiah, should we go to war against Ramoth-gilead, or should I not?" "Go to war," Micaiah replied, "and you will be successful, because the LORD will hand it over to the king!"

15 When he heard this, the king asked him, "How many times do I have to ask you? Tell me nothing but the truth, and do it in the name of the LORD!"

16 And so Micaiah replied: I saw all of Israel scattered on the mountains like sheep without a shepherd. And the LORD told me, 'These have no master, so let them each return to his own home in peace.'

17 Then the king of Israel told Jehoshaphat, "Didn't I tell you that he wouldn't prophesy anything good about me, but only evil?"

18 But Micaiah responded, "Therefore, listen to what the LORD has to say. I saw the LORD, sitting on his throne, and the entire Heavenly Army was surrounding him on his right hand and on his left hand.

19 "The LORD asked, 'Who will tempt King Ahab of Israel to attack Ramoth-gilead, so that he will die there?' And one was saying one thing and one was saying another.

20 "But then a spirit approached, stood in front of the LORD, and said, 'I will entice him.' "And the LORD asked him, 'How?'

21 "'I will go,' he announced, 'and I will be a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all of his prophets!' "So the LORD said, 'You're just the one to deceive him. You will be successful. Go and do it.'

22 Now therefore, listen! The LORD has placed a lying spirit in the mouth of all of these prophets of yours, because the LORD has determined to bring disaster upon you."

23 As if on cue, Chenaanah's son Zedekiah approached Micaiah and struck him on the cheek. Then he asked him, "How did the Spirit of the LORD move from me to speak to you?"

24 Micaiah replied, "You'll learn the answer to that question when the day comes that you run away to hide yourself in a closet!"

25 Then the king of Israel ordered, "Take Micaiah and place him in the custody of Amon, the city governor. Hand him over to Joash, the king's son.

26 Give him this order: 'Place him in prison on survival rations only until I come back safely.'"

27 "If you return alive," Micaiah responded, "then the LORD has not spoken by me." Then he added, "Listen, everybody!"

28 So the king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah both attacked Ramoth-gilead.

29 The king of Israel suggested to Jehoshaphat, "I'll go into battle in disguise, but you keep your royal uniform on." So the king of Israel disguised himself and they both went into the battle.

30 Meanwhile, the king of Aram had issued these orders to his chariot commanders: "Don't attack unimportant soldiers or ranking officers. Go after only the king of Israel."

31 So when the chariot commanders observed Jehoshaphat, they said by mistake, "It's the king of Israel!" and they turned aside to attack him. But Jehoshaphat cried out to the LORD, who helped him, and God diverted them from him.

32 When the chariot commanders saw that their target was not the king of Israel, they stopped pursuing him.

33 Meanwhile, somebody drew his bow and struck the king of Israel at a weak spot where his armour plates joined, so he instructed his chariot driver, "Turn around and take me out of the battle, because I've been severely wounded."

34 The battle continued on for the rest of the day while the king of Israel propped himself up in front of the Arameans until the sun set, at which time he died.

2 Chronicles 19

1 After this, King Jehoshaphat of Judah returned safely to his palace in Jerusalem,

2 where Hanani's son Jehu, the seer, went out to meet him. He asked king Jehoshaphat, "Should you be helping those who are wicked, yes or no? Should you love those who hate the LORD? Wrath is headed your way directly from the LORD because of this.

3 Nevertheless, a few good things have been found in you, in that you have removed the Asheroth from the land and you have disciplined yourself to seek God."

4 Jehoshaphat continued to live in Jerusalem, but he travelled again throughout the people from Beer-sheba to Mount Ephraim, bringing them back to the LORD God of their ancestors

5 and appointing judges throughout the land in all of the walled cities of Judah, city by city. He issued this reminder to the judges:

6 "Pay careful attention to your duties, because you are judging not only for the sake of human beings but also for the LORD — and he is present with you as you make your rulings.

7 So let the fear of the LORD rest upon you, be on your guard, and act carefully, because with the LORD our God there is neither injustice, nor partiality, nor bribery."

8 In Jerusalem, Jehoshaphat also appointed certain descendants of Levi, priests, and family leaders of Israel to render verdicts for the LORD and to decide difficult cases. Their offices were in Jerusalem.

9 He issued this reminder to them: "You are to carry out your duties in the fear of the LORD, serving him faithfully with your whole heart.

10 No matter what case comes before you from your fellow citizens who live in their own cities, whether it's a dispute between blood relatives or a dispute regarding the Law and the commands, statutes, or verdicts, you are to warn the parties so that they do not become guilty in the LORD's presence and so that anger does not come upon you and your fellow citizens.

11 Take notice, please, that Amariah the Chief Priest is presiding over all cases that pertain to the LORD, Ishmael's son Zebadiah is presiding as ruler of the household of Judah with respect to all cases that pertain to the national government, and the descendants of Levi will preside over your other civil cases. Serve courageously, and the LORD will be with the upright."

2 Chronicles 20

1 Sometime after these events, the Moabites and the Ammonites, accompanied by some other descendants of Ammon, attacked Jehoshaphat and started a war.

2 Jehoshaphat's military advisors came and informed him, "We've been attacked by a vast invasion force from Aram, beyond the Dead Sea. Be advised — they've already reached Hazazon-tamar, also known as En-gedi."

3 In mounting fear, Jehoshaphat devoted himself to seek the LORD. He proclaimed a period of fasting throughout all of the territory of Judah,

4 and the tribe of Judah assembled together to seek the LORD. People came from all of the cities of Judah to seek the LORD.

5 Jehoshaphat stood among the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem in the LORD's Temple in the vicinity of the new court

6 and said: "LORD God of our ancestors, you are the God who lives in heaven, are you not? You rule over all the kingdoms of the nations, don't you? In your own hands you grasp both strength and power, don't you? As a result, no one can oppose you, can they?

7 You are our God, who expelled the former inhabitants of this land right in front of our people Israel, aren't you? Then you gave it to your friend Abraham's descendant forever, didn't you?

8 They lived in it and have built there a sanctuary for your name, where they said,

9 'If evil comes upon us, such as war as punishment, disease, or famine and we stand in your presence in this Temple (because your Name is in this Temple) and cry out to you in our distress, then you will hear and deliver.'

10 Now therefore look! The Ammonites, the Moabites, and the inhabitants of Mount Seir, whom you would not permit Israel to attack when they arrived from the land of Egypt — since they turned away from them and did not eliminate them —

11 Look how they're rewarding us! They're coming to drive us from your property that you gave us to be our inheritance.

12 Our God, you are going to punish them, aren't you? We have no strength to face this vast multitude that has come against us, nor do we know what to do, except that our eyes are on you."

13 All of Judah was standing in the LORD's presence, along with their little babies, their wives, and their children.

14 Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon Zechariah's son Jahaziel, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a descendant of Levi from the descendants of Asaph in the middle of the assembly, and he said:

15 "Pay attention, everyone in Judah, in Jerusalem, and you, too, King Jehoshaphat! This is what the LORD says to you: 'Stop being afraid, and stop being discouraged because of this vast invasion force, because the battle doesn't belong to you, but to God.

16 Tomorrow you are to go down to attack them. Pay attention, now — they'll be coming up near the ascent of Ziz. You'll find them at the end of the valley that looks out over the Jeruel wilderness.

17 You won't be fighting in this battle. Take your stand, but stand still, and watch the LORD's salvation on your behalf, Judah and Jerusalem! Never fear and never be discouraged. Go out to face them tomorrow, since the LORD is with you."

18 Jehoshaphat bowed down with his face to the ground, and all the assembled inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem fell face down in the LORD's presence and worshipped the LORD.

19 Descendants of Levi from the descendants of Kohath and from the descendants of Korah stood up to praise the LORD God of Israel in a very loud voice that ascended to heaven.

Luke 18

- 1 Jesus told his disciples a parable about their need to pray all the time and never give up.
- 2 He said, "In a city there was a judge who didn't fear God or respect people.
- 3 In that city there was also a widow who kept coming to him and saying, 'Grant me justice against my adversary.'
- 4 For a while the judge refused. But later he told himself, 'I don't fear God or respect people,
- 5 yet because this widow keeps bothering me, I will grant her justice. Otherwise, she will keep coming and wear me out.'"
- 6 Then the Lord added, "Listen to what the unrighteous judge says.
- 7 Won't God grant his chosen people justice when they cry out to him day and night? Is he slow to help them?
- 8 I tell you, he will give them justice quickly. But when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth?"
- 9 Jesus also told this parable to some people who trusted in themselves, thinking they were righteous, but who looked down on everyone else:
- 10 "Two men went up to the Temple to pray. One was a Pharisee, and the other was a tax collector.
- 11 The Pharisee stood by himself and prayed, 'O God, I thank you that I'm not like other people — thieves, dishonest people, adulterers, or even this tax collector.
- 12 I fast twice a week, and I give a tenth of my entire income.'
- 13 "But the tax collector stood at a distance and would not even look up to heaven. Instead, he continued to beat his chest and said, 'O God, be merciful to me, the sinner that I am!'
- 14 I tell you, this man, rather than the other one, went down to his home justified, because everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the person who humbles himself will be exalted."
- 15 Now some people were even bringing their infants to Jesus to have him touch them. But when the disciples saw this, they sternly told the people not to do that.
- 16 Jesus, however, called for the children and said, "Let the little children come to me, and stop keeping them away, because the kingdom of God belongs to people like these.
- 17 I tell you with certainty, whoever doesn't receive the kingdom of God as a little child will never get into it at all."

2 Chronicles 20

20 The army got up early the next morning and headed out into the wilderness of Tekoa. Jehoshaphat stood up and addressed them. "Listen to me, you inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem," he said. "Have faith in the LORD your God and you'll be established! Have faith in his prophets and you'll succeed!"

21 After he had consulted with the people, Jehoshaphat appointed some choir members to sing to the LORD and to praise him in sacred splendour as they marched out in front of the armed forces. They kept saying "Give thanks to the LORD, because his gracious love is eternal!"

22 Right on time, as they began to sing and praise, the LORD ambushed the Ammonites, Moabites, and the inhabitants of Mount Seir who had attacked Judah, and they were defeated.

23 The Ammonites and Moabites attacked the inhabitants of Mount Seir, destroying them, and after they had finished with the inhabitants of Mount Seir, they worked on destroying one another!

24 When the army of Judah arrived at the remotest watchtower in the wilderness, they looked around at the invasion force, and to their surprise, there were dead bodies lying all around on the ground — not one had escaped!

25 Later on, when Jehoshaphat and his army arrived to collect the spoils of war, they discovered there were far more goods, garments, and other valuable items to collect than they could carry off in a single day. There was so much material that it took three days to finish their collection efforts.

26 Three days later, they assembled together in the Beracah Valley, where they blessed the LORD, which is why the name of that place is called Beracah Valley to this day.

27 Then they all returned with joy to Jerusalem, every soldier from Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat at the head of the procession, because the LORD had made them rejoice over their enemies.

28 They proceeded directly to the LORD's Temple, carrying lyres, harps, and trumpets.

29 Fear of God seized all of the kingdoms in the surrounding territories when they heard that the LORD had battled Israel's enemies.

30 As a result, Jehoshaphat's kingdom enjoyed peace, because his God had provided rest for him all around.

31 Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah, having become king at the age of 35. He reigned in Jerusalem for 25 years. His mother's name was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi.

32 He followed the example of his father Asa and never departed from it, practising what the LORD considered to be right.

33 However, the high places were not removed, since the people had not yet directed their hearts to the God of their ancestors.

34 The rest of Jehoshaphat's accomplishments, from first to last, are recorded in the annals of Hanani's son Jehu, which appears in the Book of the Kings of Israel.

35 Sometime later, King Jehoshaphat of Judah entered into a military alliance with King Ahaziah of Israel, acting wickedly by doing so.

36 He also agreed with King Ahaziah to build ships to sail toward Tarshish, which they built in Ezion-geber.

37 But Dodavahu's son Eliezer from Mareshah prophesied in opposition to Jehoshaphat, "Because you have entered into an alliance with Ahaziah, the LORD has destroyed your efforts." So the ships were destroyed and were never able to sail for Tarshish.

2 Chronicles 21

1 Jehoshaphat died, as had his ancestors, and was buried in the city of David alongside his ancestors. His son Jehoram became king in his place.

2 Jehoshaphat's sons, Jehoram's brothers, included Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariah, Michael, and Shephatiah. All of these were sons of Jehoshaphat, king of Israel.

3 Their father gave them many gifts made of silver, and gold, as well as valuable things, along with fortified cities in Judah, but he passed the kingdom to Jehoram because Jehoram was his firstborn.

4 But after Jehoram had assumed the throne and consolidated his rule over his father's kingdom, he executed all of his brothers, along with some of the rulers of Israel.

5 Jehoram was 32 years old when he became king, and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem.

6 He lived like the kings of Israel, following the example of Ahab's dynasty, since he had married Ahab's daughter, and he practised what the LORD considered to be evil.

7 Nevertheless, the Lord was unwilling to destroy David's dynasty because of the covenant that he had made with David, especially since he had promised to give him and to his sons the reigning presence of an heir forever.

8 Nevertheless, Edom revolted against Judah's rule and set up their own king to rule them during Jehoram's reign.

9 So Jehoram invaded Edom with his commanders and his chariots by night and killed the Edomites who had surrounded him and his chariot commanders.

10 Edom remains in revolt against Judah to this day. Libnah revolted against Jehoram's rule, too, because he had abandoned the LORD God of his ancestors.

11 In addition to all of this, he built high places in the mountains of Judah, led the inhabitants of Jerusalem into cultic sexual immorality, and made Judah go astray.

12 After this, a letter arrived from Elijah the prophet. It said: "This is what the LORD God of your ancestor David says: 'You haven't lived like your father Jehoshaphat and like King Asa of Judah.

13 Instead, you have lived like the kings of Israel by causing Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit cultic sexual immorality — just like Ahab's dynasty did! And you've killed your brothers who were better than you — your own father's dynasty!

14 Look what's going to happen! The LORD is going to strike your people, your children, your wives, and everything you own with a massive tragedy.

15 And as for you, you will suffer from a serious disease of your bowels. Eventually, day-by-day you will excrete your own bowels because of this disease."

16 The LORD also provoked the attitude of the Philistines and the Arabs who bordered the Ethiopians against Jehoram, 17 and they attacked Judah, invading it and carried off everything he owned in his royal palace, along with all of his sons and wives except for his youngest son Jehoahaz.

18 After all of this happened, the LORD struck him in his bowels with an incurable illness.

19 Two years later, in due course his bowels came out because of his sickness and he died in agony. His people lit no memorial bonfire for him as they had done for his ancestors.

20 Jehoram was 32 years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for eight years. He left this earth — to nobody's regret — and they buried him in the city of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

2 Chronicles 22

1 The residents of Jerusalem made Jehoram's son Ahaziah king in his place after the raiding party that had invaded the city with the Arabs had killed all of the older sons. That's how Jehoram's son Ahaziah became king of Judah.

2 Ahaziah was 22 years old when he became king, and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. His mother was Athaliah, Omri's granddaughter.

3 He followed the example of Ahab's dynasty because his mother gave him evil counsel.
4 So he practised what the LORD considered to be evil, just like Ahab's dynasty had done, because after his father died, he was given advice that resulted in his destruction.
5 He followed their counsel and accompanied Ahab's son Joram, king of Israel, to wage war against King Hazael of Aram at Ramoth-gilead. But the Arameans wounded Joram,
6 so he returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds that he had received at Ramah in the battle against King Hazael of Aram. King Ahaziah of Judah, Jehoram's son, went to visit Ahab's son Joram, because he was wounded.
7 God used Ahaziah's visit to Joram to destroy Ahaziah. As soon as he arrived, Ahaziah went out with Joram to attack Nimshi's son Jehu, whom the LORD had appointed to eliminate Ahab's dynasty.
8 And that's exactly what happened. While Jehu was punishing Ahab's dynasty, he located the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers who were ministering to Ahaziah, and he put them to death.
9 Jehu also searched for Ahaziah, had him apprehended while Ahaziah was hiding out in Samaria, and had Ahaziah brought to him. Jehu had Ahaziah executed and buried. It was said of Jehu, "He is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all of his heart." As a result, there was no one left in the household of Ahaziah strong enough to reign in the kingdom.
10 As soon as Ahaziah's mother Athaliah learned that her son had died, she set out to destroy the entire royal family of Judah.
11 However, the king's daughter Jehoshabeath took Ahaziah's son Joash away from the king's children who were about to be assassinated and hid him and his nurse in a bedroom. That's how King Jehoram's daughter Jehoshabeath, who was also the priest Jehoiada's wife and Ahaziah's sister, hid him from Athaliah. As a result, she was not able to kill him.
12 Joash remained with them for six years, hidden in God's Temple while Athaliah reigned over the land.

2 Chronicles 23

1 Seven years later, Jehoiada mustered up some courage and made a deal with the officers who commanded units of hundreds of soldiers, including Jehoram's son Azariah, Jehochanan's son Ishmael, Obed's son Azariah, Adaiah's son Maaseiah, and Zichri's son Elishaphat.
2 They travelled throughout Judah and gathered together the descendants of Levi from all the cities of Judah, along with the Israeli family leaders.
3 Everybody went to Jerusalem, and the whole group made a covenant with the king in God's Temple, where Jehoiada addressed them: "Look! The king's son is going to rule, just as the LORD promised David's descendants.
4 So here's what you'll need to do: One third of you priests and descendants of Levi who are on duty during the Sabbath will serve as guards at the temple gates.
5 Another third of you priests and descendants of Levi will take your places in the royal palace, while another third of you priests and descendants of Levi will stand near the Foundation Gate. The rest of you will remain in the courtyard of the LORD's Temple.
6 Nobody is to enter the LORD's Temple except for the priests and descendants of Levi who are on duty. They may enter because they are ceremonially holy, but all the rest of the people must observe the LORD's instructions.
7 The descendants of Levi will surround the king, brandishing weapons in their hands, and anybody who enters the Temple will be killed. Stay near the king wherever he enters and leaves."
8 What Jehoiada the priest ordered is precisely what the descendants of Levi and all of Judah did. Each of them took the men who were on duty on the Sabbath as well as those who were off duty. Jehoiada the priest did not release the divisions from service,

9 and Jehoiada the priest issued the spears and shields that King David had placed in storage in God's Temple to the officers in charge of the units of hundreds.

10 He set the rest of the people to serve as guards for the king, and each one brandished weapons in his hand, from the south side of the Temple to the north side of the Temple, around the altar, and surrounding the palace.

11 Then he brought out the king's son, put a crown on him, and presented him with the Testimony,

12 When Athaliah heard all the commotion of the people running around and praising the king, she went straight to the LORD's Temple to confront the people.

13 She looked around, and there was the king, standing by his pillar at the gate, accompanied by officers and trumpeters who stood beside the king, along with all the people of the land rejoicing and sounding trumpets while singers lead the celebration with their musical instruments. Athaliah tore her robes and yelled "Treason! Treason!"

Luke 18

18 Then an official asked Jesus, "Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

19 "Why do you call me good?" Jesus asked him. "Nobody is good except for God.

20 You know the commandments: 'Never commit adultery. Never murder. Never steal. Never give false testimony. Honour your father and mother.'"

21 The official replied, "I have kept all of these since I was a young man."

22 When Jesus heard this, he told him, "You still need to do one thing. Sell everything you have and give the money to the destitute, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come back and follow me."

23 But when the official heard this he became sad, because he was very rich.

24 So when Jesus saw how sad he was, he said, "How hard it is for rich people to get into the kingdom of God!

25 Indeed, it is easier for a camel to squeeze through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to get into the kingdom of God."

26 Those who were listening to Jesus asked, "Then who can be saved?"

27 Jesus replied, "The things that are impossible for people are possible for God."

28 Then Peter said, "See, we have left everything we have and followed you."

29 Jesus told them, "I tell you with certainty, there is no one who has left his home, wife, brothers, parents, or children because of the kingdom of God

30 who will not receive many times as much in this world, as well as eternal life in the age to come."

31 Jesus took the Twelve aside and told them, "Pay attention! We're going up to Jerusalem. Everything written by the prophets about the Son of Man will be fulfilled.

32 He will be handed over to the gentiles and will be mocked, insulted, and spit on.

33 After they have whipped him, they will kill him, but on the third day he will rise again."

34 But they didn't understand any of this. What he said was hidden from them, and they didn't know what he meant.

35 As Jesus was approaching Jericho, there was a blind man sitting by the road begging.

36 When he heard the crowd going by, he asked what was happening.

37 They told him that Jesus from Nazareth was coming by.

38 So he shouted, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!"

39 The people at the front of the crowd sternly told him to be quiet, but he started shouting even louder, "Son of David, have mercy on me!"

40 Then Jesus stopped and ordered the man to be brought to him. When he came near, Jesus asked him,

41 "What do you want me to do for you?" He said, "Lord, I want to see again!"

42 So Jesus told him, "See again! Your faith has made you well."

43 Immediately the man could see again and began to follow Jesus, glorifying God. All the people saw this and gave praise to God.

2 Chronicles 23

14 But Jehoiada the priest summoned the captains of hundreds who had been appointed in charge over the army and ordered them, "Bring her out between the ranks, and execute anyone who follows her. " The priest also told them, "Don't execute her in the LORD's Temple."

15 So they arrested her when she arrived at the entrance to the Horse Gate near the royal palace, and then they executed her there.

16 After this, Jehoiada drew up a covenant between himself as an individual with all the people, and between himself as king, that they would be the LORD's people.

17 Then all the people went to the temple of Baal, broke its altars and idols to pieces, and executed Mattan, the priest of Baal, in front of the altars.

18 Jehoiada also placed the offices of the LORD's Temple under the authority of the Levitical priests whom David had assigned over the LORD's Temple, just as is required by the Law of Moses, to offer the LORD's burnt offerings with joy and singing, just as David had ordered.

19 Jehoiada also stationed inspectors at the LORD's Temple so that no one would enter who was ritually unclean in any manner.

20 He also took the captains of hundreds, the nobles, the people's governors, and all the people of the land, and they all marched with the king from the LORD's Temple through the upper gate to the royal palace, where they installed the king on his royal throne.

21 There all of the people of the land rejoiced and the city stayed quiet, because they had executed Athaliah with a sword.

2 Chronicles 24

1 Joash was seven years old when he began his reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah. She was from Beer-sheba.

2 Joash practised what the LORD considered to be right during the lifetime of Jehoiada the priest,

3 who found two wives for him, so he fathered sons and daughters.

4 Later on, Joash decided to rebuild the LORD's Temple,

5 so he assembled the priests and descendants of Levi and ordered them, "Go throughout the cities of Judah and take up a collection from all of Israel for the annual upkeep of the Temple of your God. And make sure that you act quickly." But the descendants of Levi did not act quickly,

6 so the king summoned Jehoiada the chief priest and asked him, "Why haven't you required the descendants of Levi to bring from Judah and Jerusalem the tax levied by Moses, the LORD's servant, and the assembly of Israel for the Tent of Testimony?"

7 Because that wicked woman Athaliah's family members had broken into the Temple of God and used the consecrated implements of the LORD's Temple for service to the Baals,

8 the king issued an order and a chest was made and set outside the entrance gate to the LORD's Temple.

9 A public notice was sent throughout Judah and Jerusalem to bring in the tax that Moses the servant of the LORD had levied on Israel when they were in the wilderness.

10 So all the princes and all the people gladly brought their tax and placed it into the chest until they had completed paying the tax.

11 Whenever the chest was brought to the king's officials by the descendants of Levi, the royal secretary and the chief priest's designated officer would come, empty the chest, and take it back to its place. They did this day after day until they had collected a large amount of cash.

12 Both the king and Jehoiada paid the money to those who were working to maintain the service of the LORD's Temple, and they, in turn, hired masons and carpenters to restore the LORD's Temple. Iron and bronze workers also were brought in to repair the Lord's Temple.

13 As a result, the workmen did their labour, and the repair work progressed steadily under their supervision, and they restored God's Temple back to what it should be, and strengthened it, too.

14 When they had completed the work, they brought what was left of the money to the king and to Jehoiada, and it was used to cast utensils for the LORD's Temple that were to be utilized for daily service and for burnt offerings, for incense vessels, and for both gold and silver vessels. Burnt offerings were offered on a regular basis in the LORD's Temple throughout Jehoiada's lifetime.

15 Eventually, Jehoiada grew old and died at the age of 130 years, after having lived a full life.

16 He was buried in the city of David among the graves of the kings, because he had accomplished many good things in Israel on behalf of God and his Temple.

17 But after Jehoiada had died, officials from Judah came, bowed down to the king, and the king listened to what they had to say.

18 They abandoned the LORD's Temple and the God of their fathers, and they served Asherim and idols. As a result this guilt of theirs resulted in wrath coming upon Judah and Jerusalem.

19 Nevertheless, God sent prophets among them to bring them back to the LORD.

20 Then Jehoiada the priest's son Zechariah was clothed by the Spirit of God, and he stood above the people and told them, "This is what God has to say: 'Why are you breaking the LORD's commandments. You'll never be successful! Because you have abandoned the LORD, he has abandoned you.'"

21 But the people conspired against him, and at the direct orders of the king they stoned him to death in the courtyard of the LORD's Temple.

22 This is how King Joash failed to remember the kindness that Zechariah's father Jehoiada had shown him: he killed his son. As he lay dying, Zechariah cried out, "May the LORD watch this and avenge."

23 At the end of that year, the Aramean army attacked Joash. They invaded Judah and Jerusalem, destroyed every senior official among the people, and sent all of their possessions to the king of Damascus.

24 The Aramean army attacked with only a small force, but the LORD delivered a much larger army into their control because Judah had abandoned the LORD God of their ancestors. And so the Aramean army carried out God's judgement on Joash.

25 After the Arameans left him very sick, Joash's own servants conspired against him because Joash had murdered Jehoiada the priest's son, and they killed him on his sick bed.

26 The conspirators included Shimeath the Ammonite's son Zabad and Shimrith the Moabite's son Jehozabad.

27 Records concerning his sons, the various prophetic statements rebuking him, and records of the reconstruction work on God's Temple are written in the Midrash of the Book of the Kings. Joash's son Amaziah reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 25

1 Amaziah began his reign at the age of 25 years, and he reigned 29 years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan. She was from Jerusalem.

2 He practised what the LORD considered to be right, but not with a perfect heart.

3 As soon as he had consolidated his royal authority, he executed the servants who had killed his father, the king,

4 but he did not execute their children in obedience to what is written in the Law, the writings of Moses, where the LORD commanded, "Fathers are not to die because of what their children do, nor are children to die because of what their fathers do, but each person is to die for his own sins."

5 Amaziah gathered Judah together and organized them according to their ancestral households under commanders of thousands and hundreds throughout Judah and Benjamin. He then mustered an army from those who were 20 years old and older. He discovered that there were 300,000 elite soldiers qualified for war duty and capable of handling spears and shields.

6 He also hired 100,000 elite forces from Israel, paying 7,500 pounds of silver for their services.

7 A man came from God and warned him, "Your majesty, don't let the army of Israel accompany you into battle, because the LORD isn't with any of the descendants of Ephraim.

8 But if you do go, strengthen yourself for war. Do you think God will throw you down before the enemy, since God has the power both to help or to overthrow?"

9 Amaziah asked the man of God, "What are we to do about the 7,500 pounds that I have paid to the army of Israel?" The man of God answered, "The LORD has a lot more than that to give you!"

10 So Amaziah sent the troops home who had arrived from Ephraim. They flew into a rage against Judah but left for home very angry.

11 But Amaziah encouraged himself and led his army out to the Salt Valley to kill 10,000 soldiers from Seir.

12 The army of Judah captured another 10,000 prisoners and took them to the top of a cliff and threw them down from there where they all were dashed to pieces.

13 Meanwhile, the troops that Amaziah had sent home from the battle raided the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth-horon, killing 3,000 people and taking a large amount of war booty.

14 Later, Amaziah returned from slaughtering the Edomites, but he brought back the gods that had belonged to the men of Seir, set them up as his own gods, worshipped them, and sacrificed offerings to them.

15 As a result, the Lord became angry with Amaziah and sent a prophet to him, who asked him, "Why did you seek the gods of a people who were unable to deliver their own nation from you?"

16 But even while the prophet was speaking, the king asked him, "Did we appoint you to be a royal counsellor? Stop! Why should you be struck down?" So the prophet stopped speaking, but he also said, "I know God has determined to destroy you, because you've done all this and ignored my counsel."

17 After this, King Amaziah of Judah sought some advice and then challenged Jehoahaz' son King Joash of Israel, the grandson of Jehu, telling him, "Come out and let's fight each other!"

18 But King Joash of Israel replied to King Amaziah of Judah, "There once was a thorn bush in Lebanon that sent an invitation to the cedar of Lebanon that read 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' Right about then, a wild animal in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thorn bush.

19 You claim you've defeated Edom, but you're really only puffed up with arrogant boasting. So stay home. Why stir up trouble so you die, and the rest of Judah with you?"

20 But Amaziah refused to listen, because the situation was being orchestrated by God in order to turn them over to the control of their enemies because they had pursued those Edomite gods.

21 So King Joash of Israel went out to battle against King Amaziah of Judah, and they fought at Beth-shemesh, which is part of Judah's territory.

22 Judah was defeated by Israel, and every soldier ran home.

23 King Joash of Israel captured Joash's son King Amaziah of Judah, the grandson of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh and brought him back to Jerusalem, where he broke down 600 feet of the wall of Jerusalem from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate.

24 He confiscated all the gold, silver, and utensils that he could find in the care of Obed-edom inside of God's Temple and inside the royal palace. Then he took some hostages and returned to Samaria.

25 Joash's son Amaziah, king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoahaz' son Joash, king of Israel.

26 The rest of Amaziah's accomplishments, from first to last, are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel, are they not?

27 From the time that Amaziah abandoned his seeking the LORD, some people conspired against him in Jerusalem, so he ran away to Lachish, but they pursued him to Lachish and killed him there.

28 They brought him back on horses and buried him with his ancestors in the city of Judah.

Luke 19

1 As Jesus entered Jericho and was passing through it,
2 a man named Zacchaeus appeared. He was a leading tax collector, and a rich one at that!
3 He was trying to see who Jesus was, but he couldn't do so due to the crowd, since he was a short man.
4 So he ran ahead and climbed a sycamore tree to see Jesus, who was going to pass that way.
5 When Jesus came to the tree, he looked up and said, "Zacchaeus, hurry and come down! I must stay at your house today."
6 Zacchaeus came down quickly and was glad to welcome him into his home.
7 But all the people who saw this began to complain: "Jesus is going to be the guest of a notorious sinner!"
8 Later, Zacchaeus stood up and announced to the Lord, "Lord, I'll give half of my possessions to the poor. I'll pay four times as much as I owe if I have cheated anyone in any way."
9 Then Jesus told him, "Today salvation has come to this home, because this man is also a descendant of Abraham,
10 and the Son of Man has come to seek and to save the lost."
11 As they were listening to this, Jesus went on to tell a parable because he was near Jerusalem and because the people thought that the kingdom of God would appear immediately.
12 So he said, "A prince went to a distant country to be appointed king and then to return.
13 He called ten of his servants and gave them ten coins. He told them, 'Invest this money until I come back.'
14 But the citizens of his country hated him and sent a delegation to follow him and to announce, 'We don't want this man to rule over us!'
15 "After he was appointed king, the prince came back. He ordered the servants to whom he had given the money to be called so he could find out what they had earned by investing.
16 The first servant came and said, 'Sir, your coin has earned ten more coins.'
17 The king told him, 'Well done, good servant! Because you have been trustworthy in a very small thing, take charge of ten cities.'
18 "The second servant came and said, 'Your coin, sir, has earned five coins.'
19 The king told him, 'You take charge of five cities.'
20 "Then the other servant came and said, 'Sir, look! Here's your coin. I've kept it in a cloth for safekeeping
21 because I was afraid of you. You are a hard man. You withdraw what you didn't deposit and harvest what you didn't plant.'
22 The king told him, 'I will judge you by your own words, you evil servant! You knew, did you, that I was a hard man, and that I withdraw what I didn't deposit and harvest what I didn't plant?
23 Then why didn't you put my money in the bank? When I returned, I could have collected it with interest.'
24 "So the king told those standing nearby, 'Take the coin away from him and give it to the man who has the ten coins.'
25 They answered him, 'Sir, he already has ten coins!'
26 'I tell you, to everyone who has something, more will be given, but from the person who has nothing, even what he has will be taken away.
27 But as for these enemies of mine who didn't want me to be their king — bring them here and slaughter them in my presence!'"

2 Chronicles 26

- 1 All the people of Judah made Uzziah king in place of his father Amaziah. Uzziah was sixteen years old at the time.
- 2 He rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah after King Amaziah had been laid to rest with his ancestors.
- 3 Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned for 52 years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah. She was from Jerusalem.
- 4 He practised what the LORD considered to be right, following the example set by his father Amaziah's accomplishments.
- 5 Uzziah kept on seeking God during the lifetime of Zechariah, who taught him how to fear God, and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosperous.
- 6 One time Uzziah went out and battled the Philistines. He tore down the walls of Gath, Jabneh, and Ashdod, and built cities in the Ashdod area among the Philistines.
- 7 God helped Uzziah defeat the Philistines, the Arabians who lived in Gur-baal, and the Meunites.
- 8 The Ammonites paid tribute to Uzziah, and his reputation extended as far as the border with Egypt as he became stronger and stronger.
- 9 Uzziah also built towers in Jerusalem, at the Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate, and at the Angle and fortified them.
- 10 He also built watchtowers in the wilderness and had many cisterns hewed out, since he also possessed large herds, both in the Shephelah and in the midland plains. He had many farmers and vinedressers throughout the hills and fertile lands because he loved farming.
- 11 Uzziah kept a standing army, equipped for battle, garrisoned in divisions according to an organizational structure devised by his royal secretary Jeiel and his officer Maaseiah, who reported to Hananiah, one of the king's commanders.
- 12 The number of senior leaders of the ancestral houses of his elite forces numbered 2,600.
- 13 Uzziah commanded an army of 307,500 who could fight formidably on behalf of the king against any enemy.
- 14 In addition, Uzziah equipped the entire army with shields, spears, helmets, body armour, bows, and stones for use in slings.
- 15 He also had various siege engines built by skilled designers and placed them on the towers and on the corner ramparts that could fire arrows and very large stones. His reputation spread far and wide, and he was marvellously assisted until he grew very strong.
- 16 But after he had become strong, in his arrogance he acted corruptly and became unfaithful to the LORD his God, and he dared to enter the LORD's Temple to burn incense on the incense altar.
- 17 Azariah the priest ran after him, along with 80 of the LORD's valiant priests,
- 18 and they opposed King Uzziah. "Uzziah, it's not for you to burn incense to the LORD," they told him, "but for the priests to do, Aaron's descendants who are consecrated to burn incense. Leave the sanctuary now, because you have been unfaithful and won't receive any honour from the LORD God."
- 19 Uzziah flew into a rage while he held in his hand a censer to burn incense. As he got angry at the priests, leprosy broke out all over his forehead right in front of the priests beside the incense altar in the LORD's Temple.
- 20 So Azariah the chief priest and all the priests stared at Uzziah, who was infected with leprosy in his forehead! They all rushed at him and hurried him out of the Temple. Uzziah was in a hurry to get out anyway, because the LORD had struck him.

21 King Uzziah remained a leper until the day he died. Because he was a leper, he lived in a separate residence and remained disqualified to enter the LORD's Temple. His son Jotham served in the royal palace, judging the people of the land.

22 Now the rest of Uzziah's accomplishments, from first to last, have been recorded by Amoz's son Isaiah the prophet.

23 Uzziah died, as had his ancestors, and they buried him alongside his ancestors in a grave in a field that belonged to the kings, because they said, "He was a leper." Uzziah's son Jotham became king to replace him.

2 Chronicles 27

1 Jotham was 25 years old when he began his reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother was Zadok's daughter Jerusha.

2 He practised what the LORD considered to be right, just as his father Uzziah had done, even though he did not enter the Temple. Nevertheless, the people continued acting corruptly.

3 Jotham constructed the Upper Gate of the LORD's Temple and did extensive work on the wall of Ophel.

4 He also built cities in the hill country of Judah, along with fortresses and guard towers in the forests.

5 He launched a military excursion against the king of the Ammonites and defeated him. As a result, that year the Ammonites paid 7,500 pounds of silver in tribute, as well as 60,000 bushels of wheat and 60,000 bushels of barley. The Ammonites continued to pay this same amount in tribute over the following two years.

6 Jotham grew in power because he had determined to live his life in the presence of the LORD his God.

7 The rest of the accomplishments of Jotham's reign, including all of his military exploits and campaigns, are recorded in the book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

8 He started his reign at the age of 25 years and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem.

9 Then Jotham died, as had his fathers, and he was buried in the City of David. His son Ahaz became king in his place.

2 Chronicles 28

1 Ahaz was 20 years old when he began to reign, and he reigned 16 years in Jerusalem, but he did not practise what the LORD considered to be right, as his ancestor David had done.

2 Instead, he lived like the kings of Israel did. He cast metal images of Baal,

3 burned incense in the Ben-hinnom Valley, and burned his sons as an offering, following the detestable activities of the nations whom the LORD had expelled in front of the people of Israel.

4 He sacrificed and burned incense on high places, on the top of hills, and under every green tree.

5 As a result, the LORD his God handed Ahaz over to the king of Aram, who defeated him and took a large number of captives away to Damascus. Ahaz was also delivered over to the control of the King of Israel, who defeated him with many heavy casualties.

6 Remaliah's son Pekah killed 120,000 soldiers in a single day, all of them elite forces, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their ancestors.

7 Zichri, a valiant soldier from Ephraim, killed the king's son Maaseiah, Azrikam, the palace manager, and Elkanah, who was second in rank to the king.

8 The Israelis carried away 200,000 women, sons, and daughters from among their own relatives. They also took a great deal of plunder, and brought it all to Samaria.

9 But a prophet of the LORD was there named Oded. He went out to greet the army as it arrived in Samaria. He warned them, "Look! Because the LORD God of your ancestors was angry at Judah, he delivered them into your control, but you have killed them with a vehemence that has reached all the way to heaven!

10 Now you're intending to make the men and women of Judah and Jerusalem to be your slaves. Surely you have your own sins against the LORD your God for which you're accountable, don't you?

11 So listen to me! Return the captives whom you've captured from your brothers, because the anger of the LORD is burning hot against you!"

12 Some of the leaders of the descendants of Ephraim, including Johanan's son Azariah, Meshillemoth's son Berechiah, Shallum's son Jehizkiah, and Hadlai's son Amasa, stood up to the army as they were coming back from the battle

13 and told them, "Don't bring those captives here! You'll bring even more guilt on us from the LORD, in addition to our own existing sin and guilt! He's already mad enough against Israel because of our guilt!"

14 So the army abandoned the captives and the war booty in front of the officers and the entire assembled retinue.

15 After this, some men who were chosen by name took charge of the captives, clothed those who were naked with clothes appropriated from the war booty, gave them clothes and sandals, fed them, gave them something to drink, anointed them with oil, provided those who weren't able to walk with donkeys to ride on, and took them back to their relatives at Jericho, the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

16 Right about then, King Ahaz sent for help from the kings of Assyria

17 because the Edomites had invaded, attacked Judah, and carried off some captives.

18 The Philistines also invaded some of the cities in the Shephelah and in the Negev of Judah. They captured Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Soco, and their surrounding villages, Timnah and its villages, and Gimzo and its villages. Then the Philistines settled there, 19 because the LORD was humiliating Judah because of King Ahaz of Israel, since Ahaz had brought about a lack of restraint within Judah and had remained unfaithful to the LORD.

20 King Tiglath-pileser of Assyria attacked Ahaz and, instead of helping him, attacked him.

21 Even though Ahaz took some of the assets belonging to the LORD's Temple from the royal palace, and from the palaces belonging to the princes, and gave them to the king of Assyria, none of his gifts did any good.

22 In the midst of his troubles, King Ahaz became more and more unfaithful to the LORD.

23 He sacrificed to the gods of Damascus that had defeated him, reasoning, "The gods of the kings of Aram helped them, so I'll sacrifice to them so they will help me!" But those gods brought about his downfall, and the downfall of all of Israel, too.

24 Ahaz also collected the utensils of God's Temple, cut them all into pieces, and closed the doors of the LORD's Temple. Then he made altars to himself on every corner in Jerusalem

25 and established high places in every city of Judah where incense was burned to other gods, thus provoking the LORD God of his ancestors to anger.

26 The rest of his accomplishments, and records of everything he did from first to last are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

27 So Ahaz died, as had his ancestors, and he was buried in the city of Jerusalem, but they didn't bury him among the tombs of the kings of Israel. Ahaz's son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

Luke 19

28 After Jesus had said this, he travelled on and went up to Jerusalem.

29 When he came near Bethphage and Bethany at the Mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples on ahead

30 and said, "Go into the village ahead of you. As you enter, you will find a colt tied up that no one has ever ridden. Untie it, and bring it along.

31 If anyone asks you why you are untying it, say this: 'The Lord needs it.'"

32 So those who were sent went off and found it as Jesus had told them.

33 While they were untying the colt, its owners asked them, "Why are you untying the colt?"

34 The disciples answered, "The Lord needs it."

35 Then they brought the colt to Jesus and put their coats on it, and Jesus sat upon it.

36 As he was riding along, people kept spreading their coats on the road.

37 He was now approaching the descent from the Mount of Olives. The whole crowd of disciples began to rejoice and to praise God with a loud voice because of all the miracles they had seen.

38 They said, "How blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest heaven!"

39 Some of the Pharisees in the crowd told Jesus, "Teacher, tell your disciples to be quiet."

40 He replied, "I tell you, if they were quiet, the stones would cry out!"

41 When he came closer and saw the city, he began to grieve over it:

42 "If you had only known today what could have brought you peace! But now it is hidden from your sight, 43 because the days will come when your enemies will build walls around you, surround you, and close you in on every side.

44 They will level you to the ground — you and those who live within your city limits.

They will not leave one stone on another within your walls, because you didn't recognize the time when God came to help you."

45 Then Jesus went into the Temple and began to throw out those who were selling things.

46 He told them, "It is written, 'My house is to be called a house of prayer,' but you have turned it into a hideout for bandits!"

47 Then he began teaching in the Temple every day. The high priests, the scribes, and the leaders of the people kept looking for a way to kill him, 48 but they couldn't find a way to do it, because all the people were eager to hear him.

2 Chronicles 29

- 1 Hezekiah began his reign at the age of 25. He reigned for 29 years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah, Zechariah's daughter.
- 2 He practised what the LORD considered to be right, following all of the examples set by his ancestor David.
- 3 In the first month of the first year of his reign he repaired and reopened the doors of the LORD's Temple.
- 4 Then he brought in the priests and descendants of Levi, gathered them into the square in the eastern part of the Temple,
- 5 and told them, "Pay attention to me, you descendants of Levi! Consecrate yourselves and the Temple of the LORD God of your ancestors by taking out from the Holy Place whatever is unclean.
- 6 Our ancestors have been unfaithful. They practised what the LORD considers to be evil, abandoned him, turned their faces away from the place where the LORD resides, and turned their backs to him.
- 7 They shut the doors to the vestibule of the Temple, extinguished its lamps, and have not burned incense or offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel in the Holy Place.
- 8 That's why the LORD was angry with Judah and Jerusalem and made them an object of terror, horror, and derision, as you've seen with your own eyes.
- 9 Now look! Our ancestors have been killed with swords and our sons, daughters, and wives are being held captive because of all of this.
- 10 I'm intending to make a covenant with the LORD God of Israel so his burning anger may turn away from us.
- 11 Please don't be careless, you descendants of Aaron, because the LORD has chosen you to minister in his presence, to serve him, to be his ministers, and to burn incense."
- 12 Here are the names of the descendants of Levi who made themselves available to God: Amasai's son Mahath and Azariah's son Joel from the descendants of Kohath; Abdi's son Kish and Jehallelel's son Azariah from the descendants of Merari; Zimmah's son Joah and Joah's son Eden from the descendants of Gershon;
- 13 Elizaphan's sons Shimri and Jeiel; Asaph's sons Zechariah and Mattaniah;
- 14 Heman's sons Jehiel and Shimei; and Jeduthun's sons Shemaiah and Uzziel.
- 15 They also brought together their brothers, consecrated themselves, and proceeded to cleanse the LORD's Temple, just as the king had ordered in accordance with what the LORD had told him.
- 16 The priests entered the inner courts of the LORD's Temple to cleanse it, and they brought out everything unclean that they found there to the outer court of the LORD's Temple. Then the descendants of Levi carried everything from there out to the Kidron Valley.
- 17 They began their consecration duties on the first day of the first month and finished at the LORD's outer vestibule on the eighth day of the month. Another eight days was used to consecrate the LORD's Temple, so they completed the work on the sixteenth day of the first month.
- 18 After this, they went to King Hezekiah and told him, "We have cleansed all of the LORD's Temple, including the altar for burnt offerings, all of its utensils, the table of showbread, and all of its utensils.
- 19 In addition, we have prepared and rededicated all of the utensils that King Ahaz threw away during his unfaithful reign, and now they're back in service at the LORD's altar."
- 20 Early the next morning, King Hezekiah got up and assembled the city officials and went up to the LORD's Temple,

21 where they brought seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for a sin offering on behalf of the kingdom, the Holy Place, and Judah. He ordered that the priests, as descendants of Aaron, place the offerings on the LORD's altar.

22 So they slaughtered the bulls and the priests sprinkled the blood on the altar. They also slaughtered the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar, and they also slaughtered the lambs and sprinkled the blood on the altar.

23 They brought the male goats for the sin offering to the king within the assembled gathering, laid their hands on them,

24 and then the priests slaughtered them and purged the altar with their blood as a sin offering to atone for all Israel, because the king ordered that the burnt offering and the sin offering be made for all Israel.

25 Hezekiah stationed descendants of Levi in the LORD's Temple to play cymbals and stringed instruments, just as David, Gad the seer, and Nathan the prophet had directed, because the command to do so was from the LORD through those prophets.

26 The descendants of Levi played instruments that had been crafted by David and the priests sounded trumpets.

27 Hezekiah gave a command to offer burnt offerings on the altar, and when the burnt offerings began, a song to the LORD also began with trumpets sounding and with the instruments that King David of Israel had crafted.

28 Everybody in the assembly worshipped, the singers sang, and the trumpets sounded. They continued doing this until the burnt offering sacrifice was completed.

29 When the sacrifices had been offered, the king and everyone else who was present with him bowed down and worshipped.

30 King Hezekiah and his officials ordered the descendants of Levi to sing praises to the LORD based on psalms that had been written by David and Asaph the seer. So they all joyfully sang praises, bowed low, and worshipped.

31 After this, Hezekiah announced, "Now that you've consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near and bring your sacrifices and thanksgiving offerings to the LORD's Temple. So the assembly brought sacrifices and thanksgiving offerings, and everyone who was willing to do so brought burnt offerings.

32 The number of burnt offerings brought by the assembly was 70 bulls, 100 rams, and 200 lambs. All of these were burnt offerings to the LORD.

33 The consecrated offerings numbered 600 bulls and 3,000 sheep.

34 Because there weren't enough priests, they were unable to prepare all the burnt offerings until other priests came forward after having consecrated themselves, so their descendant of Levi relatives assisted them until the services were complete. (The descendants of Levi had been more conscientious in consecrating themselves than had been the priests).

35 Furthermore, there were also many burnt offerings, fat from peace offerings, and drink offerings. And that's how the service of the Lord's Temple was restored.

36 Hezekiah and all of the people were ecstatic with joy because of what God had done for the people, since everything had come about so suddenly.

2 Chronicles 30

1 Hezekiah also sent word to all of Israel and Judah, and wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh that they should come to the LORD's Temple in Jerusalem to observe the Passover to the LORD God of Israel.

2 The king, his princes, and the entire assembly in Jerusalem had mutually decided to observe the Passover in the second month,

3 but they had been unable to celebrate it then because not enough priests had consecrated themselves and the people had not yet been gathered together in Jerusalem.

4 This decision seemed to be a good one in the opinion of the king and of the entire assembly,

5 so they published a decree that was circulated throughout Israel from Beer-sheba to Dan that they are to come celebrate the Passover to the LORD God of Israel in Jerusalem. The Passover had not been celebrated in great numbers as was being prescribed by the decree.

6 Couriers were sent throughout all of Israel and Judah with letters written by the king and his princes, just as the king had commanded: "Listen, you descendants of Israel! Come back to the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, so he may come back to those of you who have escaped and survived from domination by the kings of Assyria.

7 Don't be like your ancestors and your relatives, who weren't faithful to the LORD God of their ancestors, who, as a result, made them a desolate horror, as you well know.

8 So don't be stiff-necked like your ancestors were. Instead, submit to the LORD, enter his sanctuary that he has sanctified forever, and serve the LORD your God so that he'll stop being angry with you.

9 If you return to the LORD, your relatives and children will receive compassion from those who took them away captive, and they'll return to this land, because the LORD is both gracious and compassionate — he will not turn away from you if you return to him."

10 Couriers crossed from city to city throughout the territories of Ephraim and Manasseh as far as Zebulun, but those people just mocked them and laughed at them.

11 Nevertheless, a few men from Asher, Manasseh, and Zebulun humbled themselves and travelled to Jerusalem.

12 God also poured out his grace throughout Judah, giving them a dedicated heart to do what the king and princes had decreed according to the message from the LORD.

13 Many of the people gathered together in Jerusalem to observe the Feast of Unleavened Bread during the second month. It was a very large assembly.

14 They all got to work and removed the idolatrous altars that were throughout Jerusalem. They also removed all the incense altars and threw them into the Kidron Brook.

15 Then they slaughtered the Passover lamb on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and descendants of Levi felt ashamed of themselves, so they consecrated themselves and brought burnt offerings to the LORD's Temple.

16 Then they took their customary places, as the Law of Moses the man of God prescribes, and the priests sprinkled the blood that they were given by the descendants of Levi.

17 Because there were so many in the assembly that had not consecrated themselves, therefore the descendants of Levi supervised the slaughter of the Passover sacrifices on behalf of everyone who remained unclean, so they could be consecrated to the LORD.

18 Even though a large crowd of people from as far away as Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun had not completed consecrating themselves, they still ate the Passover in a manner not prescribed by the Law, because Hezekiah had prayed like this for them: "May the good LORD extend a pardon on behalf of 19 everyone who prepares his own heart to seek God, the LORD God of his ancestors, even though he does so inconsistent with the laws of consecration."

20 The LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.

21 The Israelis who were present in Jerusalem observed the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days with immense gladness, and the descendants of Levi and priests praised the LORD throughout each day, singing mightily to the LORD.

22 Hezekiah encouraged all the descendants of Levi who demonstrated significant insight in their service to the LORD, so they all participated in the festival meals for seven days, all the while sacrificing peace offerings and giving thanks to the LORD God of their ancestors.

23 After this, the whole assembly agreed to celebrate for another seven days, and so they did — and they were very happy to do so!

24 King Hezekiah of Judah gave the assembly 1,000 bulls and 7,000 sheep for offerings, and the princes contributed 1,000 bulls and 10,000 sheep, and a large number of priests consecrated themselves.

25 Everyone in the assembly of Judah rejoiced, as did the priests, the descendants of Levi, and the people who gathered together from throughout Israel, including those who came from the land of Israel and those who lived in Judah.

26 There was great joy throughout Jerusalem, because nothing had happened like this in Jerusalem since the days of David's son Solomon, king of Israel.

27 After this, the priests arose, blessed the people, and their voices were heard in prayer all the way to heaven, where God resides in holiness.

Luke 20

1 One day while Jesus was teaching the people in the Temple and telling them the good news, the high priests and the scribes came with the elders
2 and asked him, "Tell us: By what authority are you doing these things, and who gave you this authority?"
3 He answered them, "I, too, will ask you a question. Tell me:
4 Was John's authority to baptize from heaven or from humans?"
5 They discussed this among themselves: "If we say, 'From heaven,' he will ask, 'Then why didn't you believe him?'
6 But if we say, 'From humans,' all the people will stone us to death, because they are convinced that John was a prophet."
7 So they answered that they didn't know where it was from.
8 Then Jesus told them, "Then I won't tell you by what authority I am doing these things."
9 Then he began to tell the people this parable: "A man planted a vineyard, leased it to tenant farmers, and went abroad for a long time.
10 At the right time he sent a servant to the farmers in order to get his share of the produce of the vineyard. But the farmers beat him and sent him back empty-handed.
11 He sent another servant, and they beat him, too, treated him shamefully, and sent him back empty-handed.
12 Then he sent a third, and they wounded him and threw him out, too.
13 "Then the owner of the vineyard said, 'What should I do? I'll send my son whom I love. Maybe they'll respect him.'
14 But when the farmers saw him, they talked it over among themselves and said, 'This is the heir. Let's kill him so that the inheritance will be ours!'
15 So they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. Now what will the owner of the vineyard do to them?
16 He will come and destroy those farmers and give the vineyard to others." Those who heard him said, "That must never happen!"
17 But Jesus looked at them and asked, "What does this text mean: 'The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone'?
18 Everyone who falls on that stone will be broken to pieces, and it will crush anyone on whom it falls."
19 When the scribes and the high priests realized that Jesus had told this parable about them, they wanted to arrest him right then, but they were afraid of the crowd.

2 Chronicles 31

- 1 At the conclusion of all of these activities, everybody in Israel who was in attendance travelled throughout the cities of Judah, broke down the sacred pillars, cut down the Asherim, and broke down the high places and altars throughout the territories of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh until they had eliminated all of them. Then the people of Israel went back to their cities and back to their work.
- 2 Hezekiah appointed the priestly divisions and the divisions of the descendants of Levi, each according to their service duties, including both priests and descendants of Levi who offered morning and evening burnt offerings, peace offerings, general ministry, thanksgiving, and praise in the gateways to the LORD's campgrounds.
- 3 He also gave a portion of his own income for both morning and evening burnt offerings, for burnt offerings on the Sabbath, New Moons, and for the scheduled festivals, as is recorded in the LORD's Law.
- 4 Hezekiah also directed the people who lived in Jerusalem to give what was due to the priests and descendants of Levi, so they could be strengthened in the LORD's Law.
- 5 As the word spread around, the people of Israel gave generously for the first fruits of grain, wine, oil, honey, and all of the produce of the fields. They generously gave a tithe of everything.
- 6 The descendants of Israel and Judah who lived throughout the cities of Judah also brought tithes of cattle and sheep, as well as tithes of gifts that had been dedicated to the LORD their God. As these gifts were given, they were laid in piles.
- 7 They began to make these piles of gifts during the third month, and it took them until the seventh month to finish.
- 8 When Hezekiah and the officials arrived and saw the piles of gifts, they blessed the LORD and his people Israel,
- 9 and Hezekiah quizzed the priests and the descendants of Levi about the piles of gifts.
- 10 Azariah replied, "Since they began to bring their gifts into the LORD's Temple, we have eaten and have been satisfied. Now we still have plenty left, because the LORD has blessed his people so that we have all of this left over."
- 11 Hezekiah gave an order to prepare storerooms in the LORD's Temple, and so they did.
- 12 They faithfully brought in the gifts, tithes, and consecrated materials, and Conaniah the descendant of Levi was placed in charge of them. His brother Shimei was second in command,
- 13 Jehiel, Azariah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah served as supervisors under Conaniah and his brother Shimei, who had been appointed by King Hezekiah. Azariah served as senior officer of God's Temple.
- 14 Imnah the descendant of Levi's son Kore, keeper of the eastern gate, was in charge of voluntary offerings to God, apportioning contributions for the LORD and the most holy things.
- 15 Under his authority, Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah served in the priestly cities, making sure contributions were distributed faithfully to their relatives division by division, no matter how large or how small,
- 16 without regard to genealogical enrolment, to every male 30 years old and older — that is, to everyone who entered the LORD's Temple as their duty obligations required — for their work and duties according to their divisions
- 17 as well as the priests who were enrolled in the genealogies according to their ancestral households.
- 18 These genealogical enrolments also included all of their little children, their wives, and their sons and daughters for the entire assembly, because they were being faithful to consecrating themselves in holiness.

19 Furthermore, with respect to the descendants of Aaron, that is, the priests who lived out in the country away from the cities, or who lived in each and every city, men were designated by name to distribute portions to every male among the priests and to everyone who had been enrolled by genealogy among the descendants of Levi.

20 Hezekiah did this throughout all of Judah, and he acted well, doing what the LORD his God considered to be right and true.

21 Everything that Hezekiah began in the service of God's Temple was done according to the Law and to the commandments as he sought his God, worked with all of his heart, and became successful.

2 Chronicles 32

1 After all of these acts of faithfulness occurred, King Sennacherib of Assyria came, invaded Judah, and laid siege to the fortified cities, thinking to conquer them for himself.

2 As soon as Hezekiah learned that Sennacherib had arrived and had determined to attack Jerusalem,

3 he developed a plan with his commanders and his elite forces to cut off the water supply from the springs that were outside the city, and they helped him to carry it out.

4 Many people gathered together and plugged up all the springs, along with the stream that flowed through the region. They were thinking to themselves, "Why should the Assyrian kings invade and discover an abundant water supply?"

5 Hezekiah took courage and rebuilt all of the walls that had been broken down. Then he erected watch towers on them, and added another external wall. He fortified the terrace ramparts in the city of David and prepared a large number of weapons and shields.

6 He appointed military officers to take charge of the people, who gathered them together in the square near the city gate and spoke to them encouragingly,

7 "Be strong and courageous. Don't be afraid or disheartened because of the king of Assyria or because of the army that accompanies him, because the one who is with us is greater than the one with him.

8 He only has the strength of his own flesh, but the LORD our God is with us to help us and to fight our battles." So the people were encouraged from what King Hezekiah of Judah told them.

9 After this, King Sennacherib of Assyria sent his messengers to Jerusalem while he was in the middle of a vigorous attack on Lachish. They delivered this message to King Hezekiah of Judah and to all the people of Judah who had gathered in Jerusalem:

10 "This is what King Sennacherib of Assyria says: 'What are you leaning on that makes you stay behind while Jerusalem comes under siege?

11 Isn't Hezekiah lying to you so he can hand you over to die by famine and thirst? After all, he's telling you 'The LORD our God will deliver us from the king of Assyria's control.'

12 Isn't this the very same Hezekiah who removed this god's high places and altars? Isn't this the same Hezekiah who issued this order to Judah and Jerusalem: 'You are to worship in front of only one altar and burn your sacrifices only on it.'?"

13 Don't you know what my predecessors have done to all the other people in other lands? Were the gods of the people who lived in those lands able to deliver their countries out of my control?

14 What god, out of all the gods of those nations that my predecessors utterly destroyed, has been able to deliver his people from my control or from the control of my predecessors?

15 Now therefore, don't let Hezekiah lie to you or mislead you like this. Don't believe him, because no god of any nation has been able to deliver his people from my control or from the control of my predecessors. So how much less will your God deliver you from me?"

16 King Sennacherib's spokesmen said even worse things against the LORD God and against his servant Hezekiah.

17 Sennacherib also wrote letters like this that insulted and slandered the LORD God of Israel: "Just as the gods of the nations in other lands haven't delivered their people from my control, so also the god of Hezekiah won't deliver his people from me!"

18 His spokesmen shouted these things out with loud voices in the language of Judah to frighten and terrify the people of Jerusalem who were stationed on the city walls, to make it easier to conquer the city.

19 In doing so, they spoke about the God of Jerusalem as if he were like the gods of the nations of the earth that are made by the hands of human beings.

20 Meanwhile, King Hezekiah and Amoz's son Isaiah the prophet were praying about this and crying out to heaven.

21 So the LORD sent an angel, who eliminated all of the elite forces, commanders, and officers within the encampment of the king of Assyria. As a result, he retreated to his own country, deeply ashamed and humiliated. When he visited the temple of his god, some of his sons killed him right there with swords.

22 That's how the LORD delivered Hezekiah, as well as those who lived in Jerusalem, from Assyria's King Sennacherib and all his forces, and provided for all of their needs.

23 Many brought gifts to the LORD in Jerusalem and brought presents to King Hezekiah of Judah. As a result, he was exalted in the opinion of all nations thereafter.

24 During this time Hezekiah became critically ill, and he prayed to the LORD. The LORD spoke to him and gave him a sign.

25 But Hezekiah's response wasn't commensurate with what had been done for him because he was arrogant in heart, so wrath came upon him, upon Judah, and upon Jerusalem.

26 But Hezekiah humbled himself while he was arrogant in heart, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem joined him in this. As a result, the LORD's wrath did not come upon them during Hezekiah's lifetime.

27 Hezekiah received immense wealth and honour. He built treasuries for himself to store silver, gold, precious stones, spices, shields, and all sorts of valuable items, 28 along with storage facilities for grain, wine, oil, stalls for all sorts of cattle, and sheepfolds for his flocks.

29 He also built cities for himself and stored up flocks and herds in abundance, because God had given him great riches.

30 Hezekiah stopped up the upper outlet of the Gihon springs and diverted them down to the western side of the city of David. He prospered in everything he did.

31 Later on, envoys came from the princes of Babylon to inquire about the miracle that had happened in the land. God left Hezekiah to himself, so that he might make known what was really in Hezekiah's heart.

32 Now the rest of Hezekiah's accomplishments and his faithful deeds are recorded in the vision of Amoz's son Isaiah the prophet, and in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

33 Hezekiah died, as did his fathers, and they buried him in the upper part of the tombs of the descendants of David. All of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem honoured him at his death. But his son Manasseh reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 33

1 Manasseh began to reign at the age of twelve years, and continued to reign for 55 years in Jerusalem.

2 But he practised what the LORD considered to be evil by behaving detestably, as did the nations whom the LORD expelled in front of the Israelis.

3 He re-established the high places that his father Hezekiah had demolished, he built altars to the Baals, erected Asherim, and worshipped and served the armies of heaven.

4 He also built altars in the LORD's Temple, about which the LORD had spoken "My name will reside in Jerusalem forever."

5 He built altars for all the armies of heaven in the two courtyards of the LORD's Temple.
6 He burned his sons as an offering in the Ben-hinnom Valley, practised fortune-telling, witchcraft, sorcery, and communicated with mediums and separatists. He did a lot of things that the LORD considered to be evil, thus provoking him.
7 He also placed an image that he had carved in God's Temple, the place about which God had told to David and to his son Solomon, "I will place my name in this Temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel,"
8 and "I won't let Israel's foothold slip on the land that I've given to your ancestors, if only they will be careful to keep everything that I commanded them in the Law, in the statutes, and in the ordinance through Moses."
9 This is how Manasseh deceived Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to practise more evil than the nations whom the LORD had eliminated in front of the Israelis.
10 The LORD kept on speaking to Manasseh and to his people, but they paid no attention to him,
11 so the LORD brought in the army commanders who worked for the king of Assyria, who captured Manasseh with hooks, bound him in bronze chains, and took him off to Babylon.

Luke 20

20 So they watched him closely and sent spies who pretended to be honest men in order to trap him in what he would say. They wanted to hand him over to the jurisdiction of the governor.

21 So they asked him, "Teacher, we know that you are right in what you say and teach, and that you don't favour any individual, but teach the way of God truthfully.

22 Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not?"

23 But he discerned their craftiness and responded to them,

24 "Show me a denarius. Whose face and name does it have?" "Caesar's," they replied.

25 So he told them, "Then give back to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

26 So they couldn't catch him before the people in what he said. Amazed at his answer, they became silent.

27 Now some Sadducees, who claim there is no resurrection, came to Jesus

28 and asked him, "Teacher, Moses wrote for us that if a man's brother dies and leaves a wife but no child, the man should marry the widow and have children for his brother.

29 Now there were seven brothers. The first one married and died childless.

30 Then the second

31 and the third married her. In the same way, all seven died and left no children.

32 Finally, the woman died, too.

33 Now in the resurrection, whose wife will the woman be, since the seven had married her?"

34 Jesus told them, "Those who belong to this age marry and are married, 35 but those who are considered worthy of a place in that age and in the resurrection from the dead neither marry nor are given in marriage.

36 Nor can they die anymore, because they are like the angels and, since they share in the resurrection, are God's children.

37 Even Moses demonstrated in the story about the bush that the dead are raised, when he calls the Lord 'the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.'

38 He is not the God of the dead, but of the living, because he considers all people to be alive to him."

39 Then some of the scribes replied, "Teacher, you have given a fine answer."

40 Then they no longer dared to ask him another question.

2 Chronicles 33

12 But when he was in trouble, he sought the face of the LORD his God, humbled himself magnificently before the God of his ancestors,

13 and prayed to him. Moved by Manasseh's entreaties, the LORD heard his supplications and brought him back to his kingdom in Jerusalem. That's how Manasseh learned that the LORD is God.

14 Later on, Manasseh reinforced the outer wall to the city of David on the west side overlooking the Gihon Valley as far as the Fish Gate. He encircled the Ophel, raising it to a great height.

15 He also eliminated the foreign gods and idols from the LORD's Temple, along with all of the altars that he had built in Jerusalem and on the mountain where the LORD's Temple was located, and he discarded them outside the city.

16 He set up an altar to the LORD, sacrificed peace offerings on it, and ordered Judah to serve the LORD God of Israel.

17 Even so, the people continued to sacrifice in the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

18 Now as to the rest of Manasseh's accomplishments, including his prayer to God and what the seers had to say to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, they are included among the Acts of the Kings of Israel.

19 His prayer, how God was moved by him, all of his sin and unfaithfulness, and a record of the sites where he constructed high places, erected Asherim and carved images before he humbled himself are written in the Acts of the Seers.

20 So Manasseh died, as had his ancestors, and they buried him in his own palace while his son Amon became king in his place.

21 Amon was 22 years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.

22 He practised what the LORD considered to be evil, just as his father Manasseh had done, sacrificing to and serving all the carved images that his father Manasseh had made,

23 except that he never humbled himself to the LORD like his father Manasseh had done. In fact, Amon multiplied his own guilt

24 until his servants finally conspired against him and executed him in his own palace.

25 But the people of the land executed all of the conspirators against King Amon and installed his son Josiah as king to succeed him.

2 Chronicles 34

1 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned for 31 years in Jerusalem.

2 He practised what the LORD considered to be right, following the example of his ancestor David, turning neither to the right nor to the left.

3 In the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God of his ancestor David. In the twelfth year of his reign, he began to remove the high places, Asherim, carved images, and cast images from Judah and Jerusalem.

4 They tore down the altars of the Baals in his presence. He chopped down the incense altars that stood high above them. He broke into pieces the Asherim, the carved images, and the cast images, ground them to dust, and scattered the residue on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them.

5 He burned the bones of the priests on their altars, thus purging Judah and Jerusalem.

6 In the cities of Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon, and as far as Naphtali and their surrounding ruins,

7 he also tore down altars, destroyed the Asherim and the carved images, grinding them into dust, and chopped down all the incense altars throughout the land of Israel. Then he went back to Jerusalem.

8 In the eighteenth year of his reign, after he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Azaliah's son Shaphan, Maaseiah, mayor of Jerusalem, and Joahaz's son Joah, the recorder, to repair the Temple of the LORD his God.

9 They approached Hilkiah the high priest and delivered to him the money that had been brought into God's Temple that the descendants of Levi and the gatekeepers had collected from Manasseh, Ephraim, the surviving Israelis, Judah, Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 They paid it to the workmen who supervised the LORD's Temple, and the workmen who were employed in the LORD's Temple to supervise restoration and repair of the Temple.

11 They, in turn, paid the carpenters and builders to purchase quarried stone and timber for binders and beams for the buildings that previous kings of Judah had let deteriorate.

12 The workmen did their duties faithfully with these foremen supervising them: Jahath and Obadiah, descendants of Levi who were Merari's sons, Zechariah and Meshullam, descendants of Kohath, and various descendants of Levi, who were skilled musicians.

13 These men also supervised the heavy lift workers and supervised all the workmen from job to job, while some of the descendants of Levi served as scribes, officials, and gatekeepers.

14 While they were bringing out the money that had come in as gifts to the LORD's Temple, Hilkiah the priest discovered the Book of the Law of the LORD that had been handed down by Moses.

15 Hilkiah reported his finding to Shaphan the scribe, telling him, "I found the Book of the Law in the LORD's Temple. Then he gave the book to Shaphan.

16 Shaphan took the book to the king and gave an additional report to the king, telling him "Everything that you've entrusted to your servants is being carried out.

17 They've removed the money that was found in the LORD's Temple and have passed it on to the supervisors and the workmen."

18 Shaphan the scribe also informed the king, "Hilkiah the priest gave me a book." Shaphan read from its contents to the king.

19 As soon as he heard what the Law said, he tore his clothes.

20 He issued these orders to Hilkiah, Shaphan's son Ahikam, Micah's son Abdon, Shaphan the scribe, and the king's personal assistant Asaiah:

21 "Go ask the LORD for me and for those who survive in Israel and in Judah about the words that we've read in this book that we found, because the wrath of the LORD that we deserve to have poured out on us is very great, since our ancestors haven't obeyed the command from the LORD that required us to do everything that is written in this book."

22 So Hilkiah and the others who had received orders from the king went to visit Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Tokhath's son Shallum, grandson of Hasrah. She was the king's wardrobe supervisor, and she lived in Jerusalem's Second Quarter. They asked her about what had happened.

23 In response, she replied: "This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'Tell the man who sent you to me, 24 "This is what the LORD says: 'Pay attention! I'm bringing evil to visit this place and its inhabitants — every single curse written in the book that they've been reading to the King of Judah.

25 Because they abandoned me and have burned incense to other gods, provoking me to become angry at everything they're doing, therefore my wrath is about to be poured out on this place, and it won't be quenched.'"

26 "Now tell the king of Judah who sent you to ask the LORD about this: 'This is what the LORD God of Israel says about what you've heard:

27 "Because your heart was sensitive, and you humbled yourself before God when you heard what he had to say about this place and its inhabitants — indeed, because you humbled yourself before me, tore your clothes, and cried out to me, I have heard you," declares the LORD.

28 "Look! I'm going to take you to your ancestors, and you will be buried in your grave in peace so that you won't have to see all the evil that I'm going to bring to this place and to its inhabitants."" So they all brought back this message to the king.

29 The king sent word to gather all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

30 Then the king went up to the LORD's Temple, accompanied by the men of Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests and descendants of Levi, and everyone else from the most important to the least important, and he read out loud all the words of the book of the covenant that had been found in the LORD's Temple.

31 While standing in his appointed place, the king made a public covenant with the LORD to follow the LORD, to keep his commandments, his testimonies, and his statutes, and to do so with all of his heart and soul, and to carry out what was written in the covenant contained in the book.

32 He also made everyone who was present in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand in agreement with him. As a result, the inhabitants of Jerusalem reconfirmed the covenant of God, the God of their ancestors.

33 Josiah also removed all the detestable things from the territories that belonged to the people of Israel, and made everyone who lived in Israel to serve the LORD their God. For the rest of his life, they didn't abandon their quest to follow the LORD God of their ancestors.

2 Chronicles 35

1 Josiah observed the Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem. They slaughtered the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 He appointed priests to their offices, encouraging them in their service at the LORD's Temple.

3 He addressed the descendants of Levi who were teaching all Israel and who had consecrated themselves to the LORD, telling them: "Put the holy ark in the Temple that Solomon, the son of Israel's King David, built. It will no longer be a burden on their shoulders. Now go serve the LORD your God and his people Israel.

4 Prepare yourselves by divisions according to your ancestral households, keeping to what King David of Israel and his son Solomon wrote about this.

5 In addition to this, take your place in the Holy Place according to the groupings of the ancestral households of your relatives consistent with the division of the descendants of Levi by their ancestral households.

6 Now slaughter the Passover, consecrate yourselves, and prepare your relatives to obey the command from the LORD given by Moses"

7 Josiah contributed 30,000 animals from the flocks of lambs and young goats, giving Passover offerings to all of the people who were present, plus an additional 3,000 bulls from the king's private possessions.

8 His officers contributed a voluntary offering to the people, the priests, and the descendants of Levi. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the officials who supervised God's Temple, gave 2,600 animals from their flocks to the priests for Passover offerings, along with 300 bulls.

9 Also, Conaniah, and his relatives Shemaiah, and Nethanel, along with Hashabiah, Jeiel, and Jozabad, the officers in charge of the descendants of Levi, contributed 5,000 animals from the flocks to the descendants of Levi for the Passover offerings, along with 500 bulls.

10 As a result, the Passover service was prepared, the priests took their assigned places, and the descendants of Levi stood in their divisions as the king had commanded.

11 They slaughtered the Passover lamb, and the priests poured out the blood that they had received from the lambs while the descendants of Levi flayed the sacrifices.

12 They set aside in reserve the burnt offerings, so they could distribute them in proportion to the divisions of their ancestral households for presentation by the people to the LORD, as is required by the book of Moses. They did this with respect to the bulls, also.

13 They roasted the Passover in fire, as required by the ordinances, and boiled the holy things in pots, kettles, and pans, and delivered them quickly to all the people.

14 After this, because the priests, who were descendants of Aaron, were busy offering the burnt offerings and fat portions until evening, the descendants of Levi prepared the Passover for themselves and their fellow-descendants of Aaron, the priests.

15 The singers, as descendants of Asaph, remained at their stations as David, Asaph, Heman, and the king's seer Jeduthun required, and the gatekeepers did not have to leave their posts because their descendant of Levi relatives prepared the Passover for them.

16 That's how the LORD's service was prepared that day to celebrate the Passover and to offer burnt offerings on the LORD's altar according to what King Josiah had commanded.

17 The Israelis who were present celebrated the Passover that day, as well as the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days.

18 There had not been a Passover celebration like it in Israel since Samuel the prophet was alive, nor had any of the kings of Israel celebrated a Passover like Josiah did at that time with the priests, the descendants of Levi, everyone from Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 This Passover celebration was observed during the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah.

Luke 20

41 Then he asked them, "How can people say that the Messiah is David's son?
42 Because David himself in the book of Psalms says, 'The Lord told my Lord, "Sit at my right hand,
43 until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.'"
44 So David calls him 'Lord.' Then how can he be his son?"
45 While all the people were listening, he told his disciples,
46 "Beware of the scribes! They like to walk around in long robes and love to be greeted in the marketplaces and to have the best seats in the synagogues and the places of honour at banquets.
47 They devour widows' houses and say long prayers to cover it up. They will receive greater condemnation!"

Luke 21

1 Now Jesus looked up and saw rich people dropping their gifts into the offering box.
2 Then he saw a destitute widow drop in two small copper coins.
3 He said, "I tell you with certainty, this destitute widow has dropped in more than all of them,
4 because all the others contributed to the offering out of their surplus, but she, in her poverty, dropped in everything she had to live on."
5 Now while some people were talking about the Temple — how it was decorated with beautiful stones and gifts dedicated to God — he said,
6 "As for these things that you see, the time will come when not one stone will be left on another that will not be knocked down."
7 Then they asked him, "Teacher, when will these things take place, and what will be the sign that these things are about to take place?"
8 He said, "Be careful that you are not deceived, because many will come in my name and say, 'I AM' and 'The time has come.' Don't follow them.
9 When you hear of wars and revolutions, never be alarmed, because these sort of things must take place first, but the end won't come right away."
10 Then he went on to say to them, "Nation will rise up in arms against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.
11 There will be great earthquakes and famines and plagues in various places, and there will be fearful events and awful signs from heaven."
12 "But before all these things take place, people will arrest you and persecute you. They will hand you over to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors for my name's sake.
13 It will give you an opportunity to testify.
14 So purpose in your hearts not to prepare your defence ahead of time,
15 because I will give you the ability to speak, along with wisdom, that none of your opponents will be able to resist or refute.
16 "You will be betrayed even by parents, brothers, relatives, and friends, and they will put some of you to death.
17 You will be hated continuously by everyone because of my name.
18 And yet not a hair on your head will be lost.
19 By your endurance you will protect your lives."

2 Chronicles 35

20 Some time after all of this, after Josiah had finished preparing the Temple, King Neco of Egypt invaded Carchemish on the Euphrates River, and Josiah went out to fight him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, who asked him, "What do we have in common, King of Judah? I am not here today opposing you. I am fighting the dynasty that is fighting me, and God has ordered me to hurry. For your own good, stop interfering with God, who is with me, and he won't destroy you!"

22 But Josiah wouldn't turn around. In fact, he put on a disguise so he could fight Neco. He wouldn't listen to what God told him through what Neco had to say, and as a result, Josiah came to attack Neco on the Megiddo plain.

23 Some archers shot King Josiah, and the king told his servants, "Take me away, because I'm badly wounded."

24 So his servants removed him from the chariot he was in and carried him away in a backup chariot that he had and took him back to Jerusalem, where he died and was buried in the tombs of his ancestors. All of Judah and Jerusalem went into mourning for Josiah.

25 Jeremiah sang a lament for Josiah, and all the male and female singers recite that lamentation about Josiah to this day. In fact, they made singing it an ordinance in Israel, and they are recorded in the Lamentations.

26 Now the rest of the accomplishments of Josiah, including his faithful acts of devotion as required in the Law of the LORD, 27 and his other activities from first to last, are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

2 Chronicles 36

1 After this, the people of the land installed Josiah's son Jehoahaz in Jerusalem as king to take his father's place.

2 Jehoahaz was 23 years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem,

3 after which the king of Egypt dethroned him and imposed a fine on the land of 7,500 pounds of silver and 75 pounds of gold.

4 King Neco of Egypt installed Jehoahaz's brother Eliakim as king over Judah and Jerusalem, changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim, and took his brother Joahaz back to Egypt.

5 Jehoiakim was 25 years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem, but he practised what the LORD his God considered to be evil.

6 As a result, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon attacked him, bound him in bronze shackles, and took him to Babylon.

7 Nebuchadnezzar also took articles from the LORD's Temple to Babylon and placed them in his temple in Babylon.

8 The rest of Jehoiakim's accomplishments — along with the detestable things that he did that were recorded in his disfavour — are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. His son Jehoiachin became king to replace him.

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months and ten days in Jerusalem, all the while doing what the LORD considered to be evil.

10 At the beginning of the next year, King Nebuchadnezzar sent for him and brought him to Babylon, along with valuable articles from the LORD's Temple, and he installed Jehoiachin's relative Zedekiah as king over Judah and Jerusalem.

11 Zedekiah was 21 years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem.

12 He practised what the LORD his God considered to be evil and never humbled himself before Jeremiah the prophet who spoke for the LORD.

13 Zedekiah rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear allegiance in the name of God. Instead, he stiffened his resolve, and hardened his heart, and would not return to the LORD God of Israel.

14 Meanwhile, all the officials who supervised the priests and the people remained unfaithful, following the detestable example of the surrounding nations. They polluted the LORD's Temple that he had consecrated in Jerusalem.

15 The LORD God of their ancestors pleaded with them time and again through his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on the place of his residence, but they mocked God's messengers, despised his words, and scoffed at his prophets, until there was no remedy for the wrath of the LORD that arose to punish his people.

17 Therefore he brought up the king of the Chaldeans against them, who executed their young men in the holy Temple, showing no compassion on young man or young virgin, adult men or the aged. God gave them all into the king's control,

18 who took back to Babylon every article in God's Temple, whether large or small, including the treasures of the LORD's Temple, the king's assets, and those of his officers.

19 After this, they set fire to God's Temple, demolished the wall around Jerusalem, burned all of its fortified buildings, and destroyed everything of value.

20 Nebuchadnezzar carried off to Babylon those who survived the executions, and they served him and his descendants until the kingdom of Persia came to power.

21 All of this fulfilled what the LORD had predicted through Jeremiah. And so the land enjoyed its Sabbaths, and the length of the land's desolation lasted until a 70-year long Sabbath had been completed.

22 During the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, in fulfilment of the message from the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD prompted Cyrus, king of Persia, to make this proclamation throughout his entire kingdom, which was also released in written form:

23 AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM CYRUS, KING OF PERSIA

All of the kingdoms of the earth have been given to me by the LORD God of Heaven, and he specifically charged me to build a temple for him in Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

Therefore, who among the LORD's people trusts in his God? Whoever among this group wishes to do so may travel to Jerusalem.

Ezra 1

1 During the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, in fulfilment of the message from the LORD spoken through Jeremiah, the LORD prompted Cyrus, king of Persia, to make this proclamation throughout his entire kingdom, which was also released in written form:

2 AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM CYRUS, KING OF PERSIA

All of the kingdoms of the earth have been given to me by the LORD God of Heaven, and he specifically charged me to build a temple for him in Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

3 Therefore, who among the LORD's people trusts in his God? Whoever among this group wishes to do so may travel to Jerusalem of Judah to rebuild the Temple of the LORD God of Israel, the God of Jerusalem.

4 Furthermore, everyone who wishes to repatriate from any territory where he now resides is to receive assistance from his fellow residents in the form of silver, gold, equipment, and pack animals, in addition to voluntary offerings for the Temple of the God of Jerusalem.

5 In response, the heads of the families of Judah and Benjamin, the priests and descendants of Levi, and all those who had been prompted by God, prepared to travel to rebuild the Temple of the LORD, which was in Jerusalem.

6 So all of their neighbours equipped the travellers with silver, gold, equipment, pack animals, and valuable goods, in addition to voluntary offerings.

7 King Cyrus also brought out from storage the service instruments from the Temple of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and had placed in the temple of his gods.

8 Cyrus, king of Persia, had them brought out to Mithredath the Treasurer, had them inventoried, and had them placed in care of Sheshbazzar, governor of Judah.

9 Here is a partial inventory: Gold dishes: 30; Silver dishes: 1,000; Sacrificial knives: 29;

10 Gold bowls: 30; Silver bowls of another kind: 410; Miscellaneous instruments: 1,000.

11 The complete inventory of gold and silver vessels totalled 5,400. Sheshbazzar brought them all to Jerusalem, along with the exiles from Babylon.

Ezra 2

1 Here is a list of descendants of the province of Judah who returned from the captivity, from those who had been exiled. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had taken them to Babylon. They came back to Jerusalem and Judah, each one to his town,

2 along with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah. Here is the enumeration of:

The Men of Israel:

3 Descendants of Parosh: 2,172

4 Descendants of Shephatiah: 372

5 Descendants of Arah: 775

6 Descendants of Pahath-moab; that is, through Jeshua and Joab: 2,812

7 Descendants of Elam: 1,254

8 Descendants of Zattu: 945

9 Descendants of Zaccai: 760

10 Descendants of Bani: 642

11 Descendants of Bebai: 623

12 Descendants of Azgad: 1,222

13 Descendants of Adonikam: 666

14 Descendants of Bigvai: 2,056

15 Descendants of Adin: 454

16 Descendants of Ater through Hezekiah: 98

17 Descendants of Bezai: 323

- 18 Descendants of Jorah: 112
- 19 Descendants of Hashum: 223
- 20 Descendants of Gibbar: 95
- 21 Descendants of exiles from Bethlehem: 123

Luke 21

20 "When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then understand that its devastation is approaching.

21 Then those in Judea must flee to the mountains, those inside the city must leave it, and those in the countryside must not go into it,

22 because these are the days of vengeance when all that is written will be fulfilled.

23 "How terrible it will be for those women who are pregnant or who are nursing babies in those days! Because there will be great distress in the land and wrath against this people.

24 They will fall by the edge of the sword and be carried off as captives among all the nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled on by the gentiles until the times of the gentiles are fulfilled."

25 "There will be signs in the sun, the moon, and the stars, and there will be distress on earth among the nations that are confused by the roaring of the sea and its waves.

26 People will faint from fear and apprehension because of the things that are to come on the inhabited world, because the powers of heaven will be shaken.

27 Then they will see 'the Son of Man coming in a cloud' with power and great glory.

28 "Now when these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your deliverance is approaching."

29 Then he told them a parable: "Look at the fig tree and all the trees.

30 As soon as they produce leaves, you can see for yourselves and know that summer is already near.

31 In the same way, when you see these things taking place, you will know that the kingdom of God is near.

32 "I tell you with certainty, this generation will not disappear until all these things take place.

33 Heaven and earth will disappear, but my words will never disappear."

34 "Constantly be on your guard so that your hearts will not be loaded down with self-indulgence, drunkenness, and the worries of this life, or that day will take you by surprise like a trap, because it will come on everyone who lives on the face of the earth.

36 So be alert at all times, praying that you may have strength to escape all these things that are going to take place and to take your stand in the presence of the Son of Man."

37 Now during the day Jesus would teach in the Temple, but when evening came he would go out and spend the night on what is called the Mount of Olives.

38 And all the people would get up early in the morning to listen to him in the Temple.

- 53 Descendants of Barkos, Sisera, and Temah.
- 54 Descendants of Nezhiah and Hatipha.
- 55 The Descendants of Solomon's Servants:
Descendants of Sotai, Hassophereth, and Peruda.
- 56 Descendants of Jaalah, Darkon, and Giddel.
- 57 Descendants of Shephatiah, Hattil, Pochereth-hazzebaim, and Ami.

58 All of the Temple Servants and descendants of Solomon's servants numbered 392.
59 Here is a list of returnees from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer who could not prove their ancestry and lineage from Israel:
60 Descendants of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda: 652
61 Descendants of the Priests:
Descendants of Habaiah, Hakkoz, and Barzillai, who married one of the daughters of Barzillai from Gilead and took that name.
62 These people searched for their ancestral registrations but they couldn't be located. Accordingly, they were assigned an "unclean" status and couldn't be priests.
63 Governor Zerubbabel also ruled that they shouldn't eat anything holy until a priest arose with Urim and Thummim.
64 The entire assembly numbered 42,360,
65 not including 7,337 male and female servants, along with 200 singing men and women.
66 In addition, they had 736 horses, 245 mules,
67 435 camels, and 6,720 donkeys.
68 When they arrived at the Temple of the LORD in Jerusalem, some of the heads of the families contributed toward building the Temple of God on its former site.
69 They contributed to the treasury for this work in accordance with their ability: 61,000 golden drachma, 5,000 units of silver, and 100 priestly robes.
70 As a result, the priests, descendants of Levi, certain people, the singers, door-keepers, and the Temple Servants were able to settle in their original cities, with the rest of the Israelis in their cities.

Ezra 3

1 Seven months after the Israelis had settled in their cities, they all gathered together in Jerusalem as a united body.
2 Then Jozadak's son Jeshua and his brothers got up, along with Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel and his brothers. They built an altar of the God of Israel in order to offer burnt offerings, as prescribed by the Law of Moses, the man of God.
3 Even though they feared the people in neighbouring regions, they rebuilt the altar where it had stood before. They offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD — burnt offerings both in the morning and in the evening.
4 They also observed the Festival of Tents as has been prescribed, offering a specific number of daily burnt offerings in accordance with the ordinance of each day.
5 After that, they offered all of the continual burnt offerings and the New Moon sacrifices for all of the designated festivals of the LORD that were being consecrated, along with all the voluntary offerings that were dedicated to the LORD.
6 They began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD from the first day of the seventh month, even though the foundation of the Temple of the LORD had not yet been laid.
7 They paid masons and carpenters in cash. They paid the residents of Sidon and Tyre with food, drink, and oil, for them to bring cedar trees by sea from Lebanon to Joppa in accordance with the order they had obtained from Cyrus, king of Persia.
8 Two years and two months after arriving at the site of the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel, Jozadak's son Jeshua, the relatives of the priests and descendants of Levi, and everyone else who had left the Babylonian captivity for Jerusalem appointed descendants of Levi who were 20 years old and older to oversee the work of the LORD's Temple.
9 At this time Jeshua, along with his children and relatives, and Kadmiel, with his children and the descendants of Judah, joined the family of Henadad with his children and relatives, and the descendants of Levi in overseeing the work on the Temple of God.
10 After the builders laid the foundation for the LORD's Temple, the priests stood in their ministerial robes with trumpets and the descendants of Levi (who were also descendants of Asaph) with cymbals to praise the LORD, according to instructions prepared by David, king of Israel.

11 And they sang in unison to one another, giving thanks to the LORD: "He is good, and his gracious love to Israel endures forever." And all the people shouted out loudly in praise to the LORD when the foundation of the LORD's Temple was laid.

12 Now a number of the priests, the Levites, and the leading officials of the elders — who were very elderly — had seen the former Temple with their own eyes. When they observed the foundation of the Temple being laid, they wept with a loud voice, while the rest of them shouted for joy.

13 As a result, the people couldn't distinguish between the noise coming from the shouts of joy and the noise coming from the weeping people, because everyone was shouting loudly and could be heard a long way off.

Luke 22

- 1 Now the Festival of Unleavened Bread, which is called the Passover, was near.
- 2 So the high priests and the scribes were looking for a way to put him to death, because they were afraid of the crowd.
- 3 But Satan went into Judas called Iscariot, who belonged to the circle of the Twelve.
- 4 So he went off and discussed with the high priests and the Temple police how he could betray Jesus to them.
- 5 They were delighted, and agreed to give him money.
- 6 Judas accepted their offer and began to look for a good opportunity to betray Jesus to them when no crowd was present.
- 7 Then the day of the Festival of Unleavened Bread came, on which the Passover lamb was to be sacrificed.
- 8 So Jesus sent Peter and John, saying, "Go and make preparations for us to eat the Passover meal."
- 9 They asked him, "Where do you want us to prepare it?"
- 10 He told them, "Just after you go into the city, a man carrying a jug of water will meet you. Follow him into the house he enters
- 11 and say to the owner of the house, 'The Teacher asks you, "Where is the room where I can eat the Passover meal with my disciples?"'
- 12 Then he will show you a large upstairs room that is furnished. Get things ready for us there."
- 13 So they went and found everything just as Jesus had told them, and they prepared the Passover meal.
- 14 Now when the hour came, Jesus took his place at the table, along with his apostles.
- 15 He told them, "I have eagerly desired to eat this Passover meal with you before I suffer,
- 16 because I tell you, I will never eat it again until it finds its fulfilment in the kingdom of God."
- 17 Then he took a cup, gave thanks, and said, "Take this and share it among yourselves,
- 18 because I tell you, from now on I will never drink the product of the vine until the kingdom of God comes."
- 19 Then he took a loaf of bread, gave thanks, broke it in pieces, and handed it to them, saying, "This is my body, which is given for you. Keep on doing this in memory of me."
- 20 He did the same with the cup after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant sealed by my blood, which is being poured out for you.
- 21 Yet look! The hand of the man who is betraying me is with me on the table!
- 22 The Son of Man is going away, just as it has been determined, but how terrible it will be for that man by whom he is betrayed!"
- 23 Then they began to discuss among themselves which one of them was going to do this.

Ezra 4

- 1 When the enemies of Judah and Benjamin learned that the descendants of the Babylonian captivity had built their Temple to the LORD, the God of Israel,
- 2 they approached Zerubbabel and the heads of the families with this message: "Let's build along with you, because, like you, we seek your God, as do you, and we've been making sacrifices to him since the reign of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, who brought us here."
- 3 But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the rest of the heads of the families of Israel replied, "You have no part in our plans for building a temple to our God, because we alone will build to the LORD, the God of Israel, in accordance with the decree issued by King Cyrus, king of Persia."
- 4 After this, the non-Israeli inhabitants of the land undermined the people of Judah, harassing them in their construction work
- 5 by bribing their consultants in order to frustrate their plans throughout the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia until Darius became king.
- 6 At the beginning of the reign of Ahasuerus, they lodged a formal accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.
- 7 While Artaxerxes was king of Persia, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their co-conspirators wrote in the Aramaic language and script to King Artaxerxes of Persia.

Aramaic:

- 8 Governor Rehum and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter concerning Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes as follows:
- 9 From Governor Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, The rest of their colleagues — Judges, envoys, officials, Persians, the people of Erech, the Babylonians, the people of Susa (that is, the Elamites)
- 10 and many other nations whom the great and honourable Osnappar deported and resettled in Samaria and in the rest of the province beyond the Euphrates River.
- 11 This is the text of the letter they sent.

To: King Artaxerxes

From: Your servants, the men of the province beyond the Euphrates River.

- 12 May the king be advised that the Jews who came from you to us have reached Jerusalem and are rebuilding a rebellious and wicked city, having completed its walls and repaired its foundations.
- 13 May the king be further advised that if this city is rebuilt and its walls erected, its citizens will refuse to pay tributes, taxes, and tariffs, thereby restricting royal revenues.
- 14 Now, because we are royal employees and are committed to preserving the reputation of the king, we have written to the king and have declared its contents to be true,
- 15 urging that a search may be made in the official registers of your predecessors. You will discover in the registers that this city is a rebellious city, that it is damaging to both kings and provinces, that it has been moved to sedition from time immemorial, and that because of this it was destroyed.
- 16 We certify to the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls completed, you will lose your land holdings in the province beyond the Euphrates River.

17 The king replied:

To: Governor Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, and their colleagues living in Samaria, and the remainder living beyond the Euphrates River.

Greetings:

18 The memorandum you sent to us has been read and carefully considered.

19 Pursuant to my edict, an investigation has been undertaken. It is noted that this city has fomented rebellion against kings from time immemorial, and that rebellion and sedition has occurred in it.

20 Powerful kings have reigned over Jerusalem, including ruling over all lands beyond the Euphrates River. Furthermore, taxes, tribute, and tolls have been paid to them.

21 Accordingly, issue an order to force these men to cease their work so that this city is not rebuilt until you receive further notice from me.

22 Be diligent and take precautions so that you do not neglect your responsibility in this matter. Why should the kingdom sustain any more damage?

23 As soon as a copy of the letter from King Artaxerxes was read to Rehum, to Shimshai the scribe, and to their colleagues, they travelled quickly to Jerusalem and compelled the Jews to cease by force of arms.

24 As a result, work on the Temple of God in Jerusalem ceased and did not begin again until the second year of the reign of King Darius of Persia.

Ezra 5

1 At that time, the prophets Haggai and Iddo's son Zechariah prophesied specifically to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel.

2 So Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel and Jozadak's son Jeshua restarted construction of the Temple of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were there supporting them.

3 Right about then, Trans-Euphrates Governor Tattenai, Shethar-bozenai, and their colleagues approached and challenged them. They asked, "Who authorized you to build this Temple and to reconstruct this wall?"

4 In answer, we responded with a list of the names of the men who were building the structure.

5 But God watched over the Jewish leaders, who could not be forced to stop working until Darius received a report and responded in reply.

6 Here is a copy of the letter that Trans-Euphrates Governor Tattenai, Shethar-bozenai, and his colleagues the Trans-Euphrates Persians sent to King Darius.

7 The letter sent to him was written like this:

To: King Darius:

Greetings!

8 This is to inform the king that we travelled to the Temple of the great God in the Judean province, which is being built with large stones and reinforced with wooden beams in its walls. The work proceeds diligently and is in capable hands.

9 We asked the elders, "Who authorized you to build this Temple and to reinforce these walls?"

10 We also asked them their names so that we could certify the identities of their leaders to you.

11 In answer they responded, "We are servants of the God of heaven and earth, and are rebuilding the Temple that was built many years ago by a great king of Israel.

12 But because our predecessors provoked the God of Heaven to become angry, he handed them over to the control of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, the Chaldean who destroyed this Temple and transported the people to Babylon.

13 However, during King Cyrus' first year — that same King Cyrus of Babylon — issued a decree to reconstruct this Temple of God.

14 He delivered into the care of Sheshbazzar (whom he appointed governor) the gold and silver utensils that Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the Jerusalem Temple and brought into the Babylonian temple.

15 "And Cyrus told him, 'Take these utensils, go to Jerusalem, and carry them to the Temple, after the Temple of God has been built in its appropriate place.'

16 "Then this very same Sheshbazzar arrived and laid the foundations for the Temple of God in Jerusalem. Since that time until now the Temple has been under construction and is not yet completed."

17 Accordingly, with your approval we suggest that a search be conducted within the king's treasury at Babylon to verify whether or not King Cyrus ever issued such a decree to reconstruct this Temple of God in Jerusalem. Then please notify us concerning the king's pleasure in this matter.

Ezra 6

1 Then King Darius issued an order to search the Hall of Records where the Babylonian archives were stored.

2 The following was found written on a scroll in Ecbatana at the summer palace of the province of Media:

3 DATE: First year of Cyrus the King.

FROM: King Cyrus.

SUBJECT: The Temple of God in Jerusalem.

Let the Temple be rebuilt where they offered sacrifices. Let the foundations thereof be laid with a height of ninety feet and a width of ninety feet,

4 constructed with three layers of foundation stone interlaced with a row of new timber, the expenses for which are to be paid from the king's treasury.

5 Furthermore, let the gold and silver utensils from the Temple of God (that Nebuchadnezzar took from the Temple in Jerusalem and carried off to Babylon) be brought back to the Temple at Jerusalem and restored to their respective places in the Temple of God.

6 To: Tattenai, Trans-Euphrates Governor, Shethar-bozenai, and your colleagues living beyond the Euphrates River.

Stay away from there!

7 Leave the work on this Temple of God alone! Let the Jewish governor and the Jewish leaders build this Temple of God on its site.

8 Furthermore, I hereby decree what you are to do for the Jewish leaders who are building this Temple of God: you are to pay the expenses of these men out of the king's assets from taxes collected beyond the River so that they are not hindered.

9 And be sure that you don't fail to provide their daily needs — including young bulls, rams, and lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of Heaven, along with wheat, salt, wine, and oil, as the priests in Jerusalem tell you —

10 so they may approach the God of Heaven with fragrant sacrifices and pray for the life of this king and his sons.

11 I hereby also decree that whoever shall alter the wording of this edict, let his residence be torn down for timber to build a gallows, hang him on it, and turn his home into an outhouse.

12 And may the God who causes his Name to rest there destroy any king or people who might attempt to destroy this Temple of God in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have issued this decree. Let it be carried out quickly.

13 Because of what King Darius had mandated, Tattenai, the Trans-Euphrates Governor, Shethar-bozenai, and their colleagues carried out his orders quickly.

14 And so the Jewish leaders continued their building, and prospered because of the prophecies of Haggai the prophet and Iddo's son Zechariah. They completed the rebuilding in accordance with the commandment from the God of Israel and the edicts of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, king of Persia.

15 The Temple was completed on the third day of the month Adar during the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.

16 The Israelis — the priests, the descendants of Levi, and the other related descendants who had returned from captivity — celebrated with joy at the dedication of the Temple of God.

17 At the dedication offering of the Temple of God, they presented 100 bulls, 200 rams, and 400 lambs, along with a sin offering of twelve male goats for the entire nation of Israel according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 Furthermore, they established the priests in their divisions and the descendants of Levi in their positions for the service of God conducted at Jerusalem, as is prescribed in the Book of Moses.

19 The former exiles observed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month

20 because the priests and descendants of Levi had purified themselves together — all of them were pure — and they killed the Passover lamb for every former exile, for their relatives the priests, and for themselves.

21 So the Israelis who had returned from captivity ate the Passover with all who had consecrated themselves from the uncleanness of the nations of the land in order to seek the LORD God of Israel.

22 Then they observed the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days with joy, because the LORD had made them glad, turning the heart of the king of Assyria toward them and strengthening them for their work on the Temple of God, the God of Israel.

Luke 22

24 Now an argument sprang up among them as to which one of them was to be regarded as the greatest.

25 But he told them, "The kings of the gentiles lord it over them, and those who exercise authority over them are called benefactors.

26 But you are not to do so. On the contrary, the greatest among you should become like the youngest, and the one who leads should become like the one who serves.

27 Because who is greater, the one who sits at the table, or the one who serves? It is the one at the table, isn't it? But I am among you as one who serves.

28 "You are the ones who have always stood by me in my trials.

29 And I confer a kingdom on you, just as my Father has conferred a kingdom on me,

30 so that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom and sit down on thrones to govern the twelve tribes of Israel."

31 "Simon, Simon, listen! Satan has asked permission to sift all of you like wheat, 32 but I have prayed for you that your own faith may not fail. When you have come back, you must strengthen your brothers."

33 Peter told him, "Lord, I am ready even to go to prison and to die with you!"

34 But Jesus said, "I tell you, Peter, the rooster will not crow today until you deny three times that you know me."

35 Then Jesus asked his disciples, "When I sent you out without a wallet, travelling bag, or sandals, you didn't lack anything, did you?" They replied, "Nothing at all."

36 Then he told them, "But now whoever has a wallet must take it along, and his travelling bag, too. And the one who has no sword must sell his coat and buy one.

37 Because I tell you, what has been written about me must be fulfilled: 'He was counted among the criminals.' Indeed, what is written about me must be fulfilled."

38 So they said, "Lord, look! Here are two swords." He answered them, "Enough of that!"

39 Then he left and went to the Mount of Olives, as usual. The disciples went with him.

40 When he arrived, he told them, "Keep on praying that you may not be tempted."

41 Then he withdrew from them about a stone's throw, knelt down, and began to pray,

42 "Father, if you are willing, take this cup away from me. Yet not my will but yours be done."

43 Then an angel from heaven appeared to him and strengthened him.

44 In his anguish he prayed more earnestly, and his sweat became like large drops of blood falling on the ground.

45 When he got up from prayer, he went to the disciples and found them asleep from sorrow.

46 He asked them, "Why are you sleeping? Get up and keep on praying that you may not be tempted."

Ezra 7

1 After all of this, during the reign of King Artaxerxes of Persia, Seraiah's son Ezra (who was the grandson of Azariah, son of Hilkiah,
2 son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son of Ahitub,
3 son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth,
4 son of Zerahiah, son of Uzzi, son of Bukki,
5 son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the chief priest)
6 left Babylon. He was a skilful scribe of the Law of Moses that the LORD God of Israel had given. And the king granted him everything he had requested because the hand of the LORD his God was upon him.

7 Some of the descendants of Israel also left for Jerusalem, including the priests, the descendants of Levi, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Temple Servants, during the seventh year of king Artaxerxes.

8 He arrived in Jerusalem during the fifth month of the seventh year of the king's reign.

9 On the first day of the first month he left Babylon and he arrived in Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month, since the beneficent hand of his God was upon him.

10 For Ezra had set his heart to seek the Law of the LORD, to obey it, and to teach God's statutes and judgements in Israel.

11 Here is a copy of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra, the priest-scribe, a scholar in matters concerning the commandments of the LORD and concerning his statutes pertaining to Israel:

12 From: Artaxerxes, king of kings

To: Ezra, the Priest, a scholar in matters concerning the laws of the God of Heaven

Greetings!

13 I hereby decree that all of the people of Israel — along with their priests and descendants of Levi in my kingdom — who are determined to return to Jerusalem with you may do so.

14 You have authority to act for the king and for his Council of Seven to conduct an inquiry concerning Judah and Jerusalem in accordance with the Law of your God, which is in your possession.

15 You are carrying silver and gold that the King and his advisors have freely given to the God of Israel, whose Temple is in Jerusalem,

16 together with all of the silver and gold that you can raise in the province of Babylon, plus the freewill offerings given by the people and the priests, contributed for the Temple of their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 Accordingly, you are to exercise due diligence to utilize this money to purchase bulls, rams, lambs, grain offerings, and drink offerings, and to offer them upon the altar of the Temple of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 Furthermore, the balance remaining of the silver and gold may be used for whatever other purpose you and your people desire, as long as such use is consistent with the will of your God.

19 Furthermore, you are to deliver to the God of Jerusalem the vessels for the service of the Temple of your God that have been given to you.

20 Furthermore, provide from the royal treasury whatever else may be needed for the Temple of your God.

21 I, Artaxerxes, in my capacity as king, hereby decree to all royal treasuries beyond the Euphrates River that whatever Ezra the priest-scribe of the Law of the God of Heaven, may require of you are to be performed with all due diligence, 22 up to 100 silver talents, 100 measures of wheat, 100 measures of wine, 100 measures of oil, and salt without limitation.

23 Whatever is commanded by the God of Heaven is to be done with all due diligence for the Temple of the God of Heaven, or wrath will come against the king's realm and his sons.

24 Furthermore, we decree that with respect to any of the priests, descendants of Levi, singers, gatekeepers, Temple Servants, or other servants of this Temple of God, it is not to be lawful to impose any tribute, tax, or toll on them.

25 And you, Ezra, in accordance with the wisdom given to you by your God, are to appoint magistrates and judges to administer justice to all the people beyond the Euphrates River. All of them are to know the laws of your God, and you are to instruct those who do not know them.

26 Whoever refuses to practise the law of your God and the law of the king is to see judgement executed quickly, whether to death, banishment, confiscation of goods, or imprisonment.

27 Blessed be the LORD God of our ancestors, who placed this decree into the king's heart to beautify the Temple of the LORD in Jerusalem

28 and who showed gracious love to me before the king, before his advisors, and before all of the king's mighty officials. And I was strengthened because the hand of the LORD my God was upon me. So I gathered together the leaders of Israel to go with me.

Ezra 8

1 These are the leaders of the families listed among those who left Babylon with me during the reign of King Artaxerxes:

2 From Phinehas's descendants: Gershom. From Ithamar's descendants: Daniel. From David's descendants: Hattush.

3 From Shecaniah's descendants and from Parosh's descendants: Zechariah, along with 150 men whose genealogies had been certified.

4 From Pahath-moab's descendants: Zerariah's son Eliehoenai and 200 men with him.

5 From Zattu's descendants: Jahaziel's son Shecaniah and 300 men with him.

6 From Adin's descendants: Jonathan's son Ebed and 50 men with him.

7 From Elam's descendants: Athaliah's son Jeshaiiah and 70 men with him.

8 From Shephatiah's descendants: Michael's son Zebadiah and 80 men with him.

9 From Joab's descendants: Jehiel's son Obadiah and 218 men with him.

10 From Bani's descendants: Josiphiah's son Shelomith and 160 men with him.

11 From Bebai's descendants: Bebai's son Zechariah and 28 men with him.

12 From Azgad's descendants: Hakkatan's son Johanan and 110 men with him.

13 From Adonikam's later descendants: Eliphelet, Jeuel, Shemaiah, and 60 men with him.

14 From Bigvai's descendants: Uthai, Zabbud, and 70 men with him.

15 I gathered them together at the river that flows toward Ahava, where we camped three days. Afterwards, I examined the people and the priests, but found no descendants of Levi there.

16 So I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, who were senior leaders, as well as for Joiarib and Elnathan, who were men of discernment.

17 I told them to go see Iddo, a leader of Casiphia, and tell him and his relatives (administrators of Casiphia) to bring us men who could serve in the Temple of our God.

18 By the grace of our God they brought back a discerning man from the descendants of Mahli, a descendant of Israel's son Levi, along with Sherebiah and eighteen of his sons and brothers;

19 Hashabiah and Jeshaiiah from the descendants of Merari and 20 of his brothers and their sons;

20 220 descendants of the Temple Servants whom David and the leaders had appointed to serve the descendants of Levi, listed by name.

21 Then I called for a fast there at the Ahava River so we could humble ourselves before our God and seek from him an appropriate way for us and our little ones to live, and how we should guard our personal wealth,

22 because I was ashamed to ask the king for a contingent of soldiers and cavalry to protect us from enemies we might encounter on the way. After all, we had told the king, "The hand of our God seeks the good of all who seek him, but his power and anger are against everyone who forsakes him."

23 So we fasted and asked our God about this, and he listened to us.

24 Next I selected twelve of the chief priests — Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brothers with them —

25 and divided between them the silver, the gold, the vessels, and the offering for the Temple of our God which the king had offered, along with his advisors, his senior officials, and all of Israel assembled there.

26 I divided among them 650 silver talents, silver utensils weighing 100 talents, 100 talents of gold, 27 20 gold basins weighing 1,000 darics each, and two vessels made of polished brass, as valuable as gold.

28 I told them, "You are consecrated to the LORD, and the vessels are also consecrated. The silver and the gold are a freely given offering to the LORD God of your ancestors.

29 Guard and protect them until you disperse them to the chief priests, the descendants of Levi, and to the family leaders of Israel at Jerusalem in the chambers of the Temple of the LORD."

30 So the priests and descendants of Levi took possession of the silver, the gold, and the vessels in order to bring them to Jerusalem, to the Temple of our God.

31 Then we left the Ahava River for Jerusalem on the twelfth day of the first month. Our God's protection was with us, and he delivered us from the enemy's power and from ambush along the way.

32 We arrived in Jerusalem and remained there three days.

33 On the fourth day the silver, the gold, and the vessels were distributed at the Temple of our God into the care of Uriah's son Meremoth the priest, Phinehas' son Eleazar, Jeshua's son Jozabad, and Binnui's son Noadiah, the descendants of Levi.

34 Distribution was according to inventory and weight, with all weights being recorded at that time.

35 The descendants of those who had been taken into captivity and who had returned from captivity offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all of Israel, 96 rams, 77 lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering — all of them burnt offerings to the LORD.

36 Then they delivered copies of the king's orders to the king's officers, and governors on this side of the Euphrates River. The orders were in support of the people and God's Temple.

Luke 22

47 While Jesus was still speaking, a crowd arrived. The man called Judas, one of the Twelve, was leading them, and he came close to Jesus to kiss him.

48 But Jesus asked him, "Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?"

49 When those who were around Jesus saw what was about to take place, they asked, "Lord, should we attack with our swords?"

50 Then one of them struck the high priest's servant, cutting off his right ear.

51 But Jesus said, "No more of this!" So he touched the wounded man's ear and healed him.

52 Then Jesus told the high priests, the Temple police, and the elders, who had come for him, "Have you come out with swords and clubs as if I were a bandit?"

53 While I was with you day after day in the Temple, you didn't lay a hand on me. But this is your hour, when darkness reigns!"

54 Then they arrested him, led him away, and brought him to the high priest's house. But Peter was following at a distance.

55 When they had kindled a fire in the middle of the courtyard and had taken their seats, Peter, too, sat down among them.

56 A servant girl saw him sitting by the fire, stared at him, and said, "This man was with him, too."

57 But he denied it, saying, "I don't know him, woman!"

58 A little later a man looked at him and said, "You are one of them, too." But Peter said, "Mister, I am not!"

59 About an hour later another man emphatically asserted, "This man was certainly with him, because he is a Galilean!"

60 But Peter said, "Mister, I don't know what you're talking about!" Just then, while he was still speaking, a rooster crowed.

61 Then the Lord turned and looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the word from the Lord, and how he had told him, "Before a rooster crows today, you will deny me three times."

62 So he went outside and cried bitterly.

63 Then the men who were holding Jesus in custody began to make fun of him while they beat him.

64 They blindfolded him and asked him over and over again, "Prophecy! Who is the one who hit you?"

65 And they kept insulting him in many other ways.

Ezra 9

1 After these things occurred, certain officials approached me and said "The people of Israel, the priests, and the descendants of Levi have not separated themselves from the people of the lands or from the detestable behaviour of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites, 2 because they and their sons have married foreign women. As a result, the holy people have mingled themselves among the peoples of these lands. As a matter of fact, the senior officials and the rulers have been foremost in this sin."

3 When I heard this, I tore both my garment and robe, plucked hair from both my head and my beard, and collapsed in shock!

4 Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel gathered together as a group because of the sin committed by those who had been led astray. As for me, I remained seated, in shock, until the evening sacrifice.

5 At the time of the evening sacrifice, I arose from my discouragement. Still in my torn garment and robe, I fell to my knees with my hands outstretched to the LORD my God,

6 and said, "My God, I am too ashamed and hurt to turn to you, because we're in our iniquities over our heads. Furthermore, my God, our sins have grown as high as the heavens.

7 We have lived in great sin from the days of our ancestors even until today, and because of those iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered over to foreign kings, for execution, for captivity, for plunder, and for humiliation, as is the case today.

8 Though now, for a moment, grace has been shown from the LORD our God, leaving a few survivors to escape, and providing us a secure hold in his Holy Place, so that our God might enlighten us and give us relief from our servitude.

9 Even though we are slaves, our God has not abandoned us in our slavery. Instead, he has extended gracious love to us in the presence of the kings of Persia, to grant us revival, to set up the Temple of our God, to repair its damage, and to give us a protective wall for Judah and Jerusalem.

10 Now, our God, what can we say besides this? Because we have abandoned your commandments

11 that you gave in the writings of your servants, the prophets: 'The land you are entering to possess is a morally unclean land due to the moral uncleanness of the peoples of the lands — along with their abominations — that has filled it from one end to the other with their impurities.

12 So, therefore, do not give your daughters in marriage to their sons, nor marry their daughters to your sons, and under no circumstances are you to seek their well-being or their wealth, so that you may remain strong, enjoying the best things the land has to give, and so that you may establish an inheritance for your children forever.'

13 "After all that has happened to us because of our evil behaviour, and because of our great sin — considering that you our God have punished us less than our iniquities deserve and have given us this deliverance —

14 should we violate your commandments by intermarrying with the peoples who practise these abominations? Would you not be angry with us until you had consumed us, with not even a remnant surviving to escape?

15 LORD God of Israel, you are just: As a result, we remain here today delivered. Look at us! Because of our sin, we cannot stand in your presence as a result of everything that has happened."

Ezra 10

1 Now while Ezra was praying and confessing in tears, having prostrated himself to the ground before the Temple of God, a very large crowd of Israelis — men, women, and children — gathered around him. Indeed, the people were crying bitterly.

2 Jehiel's son Shecaniah, one of Elam's descendants, responded to Ezra: "We have sinned against our God by marrying foreign wives from the people of the land, but even now there is hope in Israel, despite this.

3 So let's make a promise to our God by which we divorce all of these foreign wives — as well as those born to them — in accordance with the counsel of our Lord and of those who tremble at our God's command. Furthermore, let it be done according to the Law.

4 So get up — it's your responsibility! We're with you. Be strong, and get to work."

5 So Ezra got up and made the chief priests, the descendants of Levi, and all of Israel vow to carry out everything they promised. And so they agreed.

6 Ezra arose in front of the Temple of God to visit the apartment of Eliashib's son Jehohanan. While there, he neither ate nor drank because he was in mourning over the sins of those who had returned from exile.

7 Then they sent word throughout Judah and Jerusalem to everyone who had returned from the exile, to gather together in Jerusalem.

8 Whoever would not come within three days would forfeit his assets and be separated from the community of the returning exiles, just as the high officials and elders had advised.

9 Less than three days later, all of the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered together on the twentieth day of the ninth month. Everyone sat in the plaza of the Temple of God, trembling because of everything that was happening, and also because it was raining heavily.

10 Ezra the priest stood up and spoke to them, "You have sinned by marrying foreign wives, thereby increasing the transgressions of Israel.

11 Now confess this to the LORD God of your ancestors, and separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from foreign wives."

12 At this, the entire community responded with a loud cry, "We will do just as you've spoken!

13 However, many people are involved, and it's raining heavily. Furthermore, this is not just a matter of a day or two of work, because many of us have sinned in this.

14 So let's have our officials remain on behalf of the whole community. Then all who have married foreign wives are to come appear at specific times before the elders and judges of each city until the fierce anger of our God has been turned away from us in this matter."

15 Only Asahel's son Jonathan and Tikvah's son Jahzeiah opposed this, and they were supported by Meshullam and Shabbethai the descendant of Levi.

16 So those who had returned from exile did this. Ezra the priest and leaders of certain ancestral groups listed by name devoted themselves to examine the situation on the first day of the tenth month.

17 By the first day of the first month they concluded their investigation of all of the men who had married foreign wives.

18 Here is a list of priestly descendants who were found to have married foreign women. From Jeshua's descendants: Jozadak's son and his brothers Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah.

19 Pleading guilty, they promised to divorce their wives. Then they offered a ram from their flocks for their offence.

20 From Immer's descendants: Hanani and Zebadiah.

21 From Harim's descendants: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uziah.

- 22 From Pashhur's descendants: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.
- 23 From the descendants of Levi: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (that is, Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.
- 24 From the singers: Eliashib. From the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.
- 25 From the Israelis: Parosh's descendants: Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah, and Benaiah.
- 26 From Elam's descendants: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Elijah.
- 27 From Zattu's descendants: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza.
- 28 From Bebai's descendants: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.
- 29 From Bani's descendants: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Jeremoth.
- 30 From Pahath-moab's descendants: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh.
- 31 From Harim's descendants: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon,
- 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah.
- 33 From Hashum's descendants: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei.
- 34 From Bani's descendants: Maadai, Amram, Uel,
- 35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhi,
- 36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib,
- 37 Matanza, Maternai, Jas,
- 38 Baní, Binai, Shihezi,
- 39 Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah,
- 40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai,
- 41 Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah,
- 42 Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph.
- 43 From Nebo's descendants: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, and Benaiah.
- 44 All of these had married foreign wives, and some of them had children by them.

Luke 22

66 As soon as day came, the elders of the people, the high priests, and the scribes assembled and brought him before their Council.

67 They said, "If you are the Messiah, tell us." But he told them, "If I tell you, you won't believe me, 68 and if I ask you a question, you won't answer me.

69 But from now on the Son of Man will be seated at the right hand of the mighty God."

70 Then they all asked, "Are you, then, the Son of God?" He answered them, "You said it, I AM."

71 "Why do we need any more testimony?" they asked. "We have heard it ourselves from his own mouth!"

Luke 23

1 Then the whole crowd got up and took him to Pilate.

2 They began to accuse him, "We found this man corrupting our nation, forbidding us to pay taxes to Caesar, and saying that he is the Messiah, a king."

3 Then Pilate asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" He answered, "You say so."

4 Then Pilate told the high priests and crowds, "I do not find anything chargeable in this man."

5 But they kept insisting, "He is stirring up the people with what he teaches all over Judea, from where he started in Galilee to this place."

6 When Pilate heard this, he asked whether the man was a Galilean.

7 When he learned with certainty that Jesus came from Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him off to Herod, who was in Jerusalem at that time.

8 Now Herod was very glad to see Jesus, because he had been wanting to see him for a long time on account of what he had heard about him. He was also hoping to see some sign done by him.

9 So he continued to question him for a long time, but Jesus gave him no answer at all.

10 Meanwhile, the high priests and the scribes stood nearby and continued to accuse him vehemently.

11 Even Herod and his soldiers treated him with contempt and made fun of him. He put a magnificent robe on Jesus and sent him back to Pilate.

12 So Herod and Pilate became friends with each other that very day. Before this they had been enemies.

Nehemiah 1

1 In this book, I, Hachaliah's son Nehemiah, recount what occurred in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes during the month of Chislev, while I was in Shushan at the palace.

2 Hanani, one of my brothers, arrived with some men from Judah. I asked them about the Jews who had escaped, about those who had survived the Babylonian captivity, and about Jerusalem.

3 They told me, "The survivors of the captivity there in the province are living in great distress and shame. Furthermore, the Jerusalem wall remains broken down and its gates have been burned by fire."

4 When I heard this, I sat down and cried, mourning for a number of days while I fasted and prayed in the presence of the God of Heaven.

5 I said, "Please, LORD, God of Heaven, the great and fearsome God who keeps the covenant, showing gracious love to those who love you and keep your commands,

6 please turn your attention to observe carefully and listen to the prayer of your servant today that I am presenting to you day and night on behalf of your servants, the Israelites. "I confess the sins that we Israelites have committed against you. Both I and my father's house have sinned.

7 We have abandoned you by not keeping your commands, your ceremonies, and your judgements that you prescribed to your servant Moses.

8 Please remember what you spoke in commanding your servant Moses. You said, 'If you rebel, I will scatter you among the nations

9 but if you return to me, keeping my commands and doing them, even if your exiled people are in the farthest horizon, I will gather them from there and bring them to the place where I have chosen to establish my Name.'

10 These are your servants as well as your people, whom you have redeemed by your great power and by your strong hand.

11 "And now, Lord, I ask you to listen to the prayer of your servant — and to the prayers of your servants who delight in revering your Name. I ask you, please prosper your servant today by granting him to receive favour from this man." Now I was the king's senior security advisor.

Nehemiah 2

1 It came about in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, during the month of Nissan, the king was about to drink some wine that I was preparing for him. Now I had never looked troubled in his presence.

2 The king asked me, "Why do you look so troubled, since you're not ill? This cannot be anything else but troubles of the heart." Then I was filled with fear.

3 I replied to the king, "May the king live forever. Why shouldn't I be troubled, since the city where my ancestral sepulchres are located lies waste, with its gates burned by fire?"

4 The king answered, "What do you want?" So I prayed to the God of heaven

5 and I replied to the king, "If it seems good to you, and if your servant has found favour with you, would you send me to Judah, to the city where my ancestral sepulchres are located, so I can rebuild it?"

6 With his queen seated beside him, the king asked me, "How long will your journey take, and when will you return?" The king thought it was a good idea to send me, so I presented him with a prepared plan.

7 I also asked the king, "If it seems good to you, order that letters of authorization be given me for the Trans-Euphrates governors, so they will allow me to pass through to Judah,

8 along with a letter to Asaph, the royal Commissioner of Forests, so that he will supply me with timber to craft beams for the gatehouses of the Temple, for the city walls, and for the house in which I will be living." The king granted this for me, according to the good hand of my God.

9 So I went to the Trans-Euphrates governors and gave them the king's letters of authorization. The king also sent army officers and cavalry to accompany me.

10 But when Sanballat the Horonite and his servant Tobiah the Ammonite heard of this, they were greatly distressed because someone had come to do good for the Israelis.

11 I arrived in Jerusalem and remained there for three days.

12 Then I got up at night, along with a few men with me. I had not confided to any person what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem. Furthermore, there was no other animal with me except for the one I was riding.

13 So I went out during the night through the Valley Gate toward Dragon's Well, and from there to the Dung Gate, inspecting the walls of Jerusalem that were broken down and burned by fire.

14 I proceeded to the Fountain Gate, and then to the King's Pool, but there wasn't sufficient clearance for the animal I was riding to pass.

15 I travelled the valley by night to inspect the wall, returning through the Valley Gate.

16 The local officials did not know where I had gone or what I had done — I informed neither the Judeans, nor the priests, nor the nobles, nor the officials, nor any of the rest who would be doing the work.

17 Later I told them, "You all are watching the predicament we're in, how Jerusalem lies desolate, with its gates burned by fire. Let's rebuild the Jerusalem wall so we're no longer a disgrace."

18 Then I told them how good my God had been to me, and about what the king had told me. They replied, "Let's get out there and build!" So they encouraged themselves to do good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, his servant Tobiah the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arab heard about it, they jeered at us and despised us when they said, "What is this thing that you're doing? You're rebelling against the king, aren't you?"

20 In reply to them, I said, "The God of Heaven will prosper us. That's why we're preparing to build. But as far as you're concerned, there exists no ancestral heritage, no legal right, nor any historic claim in Jerusalem.

Nehemiah 3

1 So Eliashib the high priest came forward, along with his fellow priests, and reconstructed the Sheep Gate. They consecrated it and installed its doors. They also consecrated the wall as far as the Tower of the Hundred and the Tower of Hananel.

2 Men from Jericho did repairs next to him, and Imri's son Zaccur did repairs next to them.

3 The Fish Gate was repaired by Hassenaah's sons. They built its framework and installed its doors, including locks and security bars,

4 with Uriah's son Meremoth (who was also a grandson of Hakkoz) next to them, Berechiah's son Meshullam (who was also a grandson of Meshezabel) next to them, and next to him Baana's son Zadok.

5 Next to them the Tekoites worked valiantly, even though their leading officials weren't fully dedicated to the work of their lord.

6 Paseah's son Joiada and Besodeiah's son Meshullam repaired the Old Gate. They built its framework and installed its doors, including locks and security bars.

7 Next to them, Melatiah the Gibeonite and Jadon the Meronothite were working with men from Gibeon and men from Mizpah under the Trans-Euphrates regional governor.

8 Nearby, Harhaiah's son Uzziel the goldsmith was carrying on repairs, and next to him Hananiah, a perfume-maker, rebuilt Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall.

9 Next to him, Hur's son Rephaiah, ruling official for half of the Jerusalem district, did repairs.

10 Then next to them, Harumaph's son Jedaiah did repairs opposite his house, and next to him Hashabneiah's son Hattush carried on repairs.

11 Harim's son Malchijah and Pahath-moab's son Hasshub repaired another section, along with the Tower of the Ovens, 12 and next to him Hallohesh's son Shallum, ruling official for the other half of the Jerusalem district, did repairs, as did his daughters.

13 Hanun and the residents of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate, reconstructing it and installing its doors, including locks and security bars. They also rebuilt 500 yards of the wall as far as the Dung Gate.

14 Rechab's descendant Malchijah, ruling official of the Beth-haccherem district, repaired the Dung Gate, reconstructing it, installing its doors, its locks, and its security bars.

15 Colhozeh's son Shallum, ruling official of the Mizpah district, repaired the Fountain Gate, reconstructing it, installing its doors, its locks, and its security bars, as well as the Pool of Shelach near the royal garden as far as the stairway that descends from the city of David.

16 Next to him Azbuk's son Nehemiah, ruling official of half of the Beth-zur district, carried on repairs as far as the tombs of David, then to the artificial pool that had been installed there, and then as far as the military barracks.

17 Next to him the descendants of Levi, led by Bani's son Rehum, carried on repairs. Next to him Hashabiah, ruling official for half of the Keilah district, did repairs for his district.

18 Next to him their brothers, led by Henadad's son Bavvai, ruling official for the other half of the Keilah district, carried on repairs.

19 Next to him Jeshua's son Ezer, ruling official of Mizpah, repaired another section near the ascent to the armoury at the Angle.

20 Next to him Zabbai's son Baruch worked valiantly on another section from the angle of the wall as far as the door to the house belonging to Eliashib the high priest.

21 Then next to him Uriah's son Meremoth, grandson of Hakkoz, repaired another section from the door of Eliashib's house as far as the rear of the property.

22 Next to him the priests, men from the plain, carried on repairs.

23 Next to them Benjamin and Hasshub carried on repairs near their house, followed by Maaseiah's son Azariah, grandson of Ananiah, who worked beside his own house.

24 Following him, Henadad's son Binnui repaired another section from Azariah's house to the angle of the wall, and then to the corner.

25 Uzai's son Palal carried on repairs over against the angle of the wall at the tower that stands out from the king's upper palace, which is located by the royal guard's court. Next to him, Parosh's son Pedaiah carried on repairs.

26 (Now the Temple Servants were living on the Ophel as far as the Water Gate that faces eastward with its prominent tower).

27 Next to Pedaiah, the Tekoites repaired another section from the prominent tower as far as the wall of the Ophel.

28 The priests carried on repairs from above the Horse Gate as far as their own houses.

29 Then next to them, Immer's son Zadok did repairs as far as his own house. Next to him, Shecaniah's son Shemaiah, custodian of the East Gate, carried on repairs.

30 Next to him, Shelemiah's son Hananiah and Zalaph's sixth son Hanun repaired another section. Next to him, Berechiah's son Meshullam carried on repairs up to his chamber.

31 Next to him, Malchijah, one of the goldsmiths, carried on repairs up to the house of the Temple Servants and the merchants, up to the Muster Gate as far as the ascent to the corner.

32 Between the ascent of the corner and the Sheep Gate, the goldsmiths and merchants carried on repairs.

Luke 23

13 Then Pilate called the high priests, the other leaders, and the people together
14 and told them, "You brought this man to me as one who turns the people against the government. And here in your presence I have examined him and have found him "Not Guilty" of the charges you make against him.
15 Nor does Herod, because he sent him back to us. Indeed, this man has done nothing to deserve death.
16 So I will punish him and let him go."
17 Now he was obligated to release someone for them at the festival.
18 But they all shouted out together, "Away with this man! Release Barabbas for us!"
19 (This man had been put in prison for murder and for a revolt that had taken place in the city).
20 But Pilate wanted to let Jesus go, so he appealed to them again,
21 but they continued to shout, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"
22 Then he spoke to them a third time: "What has he done wrong? I have found nothing in him worthy of death. So I will punish him and let him go."
23 But they kept pressing him with loud shouts, demanding that Jesus be crucified, and their shouts began to prevail.
24 Then Pilate pronounced his sentence that their demand should be carried out.
25 So he released the man who had been put in prison for revolt and murder — the man whose release they continued to demand — but he let them have their way with Jesus.
26 As they led Jesus away, they grabbed Simon, a man from Cyrene, as he was coming in from the country, and they put the cross on him and made him carry it behind Jesus.
27 A large crowd of people followed him, including some women who kept mourning and wailing for him.
28 But Jesus turned to them and said, "Women of Jerusalem, stop crying for me. Instead, cry for yourselves and for your children,
29 because the time is surely coming when people will say, 'How blessed are the women who couldn't bear children and the wombs that never bore and the breasts that never nursed!'
30 Then people will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us!', and to the hills, 'Cover us up!'
31 And if they do this when the wood is green, what will happen when it is dry?"
32 Two others, who were criminals, were also led away to be executed with Jesus.
33 When they reached the place called The Skull, they crucified him there with the criminals, one on his right and one on his left.
34 Jesus kept saying, "Father, forgive them, because they don't know what they're doing." Then they divided his clothes among them by throwing dice.
35 Meanwhile, the people stood looking on. The leaders were mocking him by saying, "He saved others. Let him save himself, if he is the Messiah of God, the chosen one!"
36 The soldiers also made fun of Jesus by coming up and offering him sour wine,
37 saying, "If you are the king of the Jews, save yourself!"

Nehemiah 4

1 When Sanballat heard that we were reconstructing the wall, he flew into a rage, became indignant, and mocked the Jews.

2 He addressed his allies and the Samaritan officials, saying "What are these pathetic Jews doing? Are they intending to rebuild it by themselves? Do they intend to offer sacrifices? Will they finish in a single day? Can they make stones from this burned out rubble?"

3 Tobiah the Ammonite stood to the side, commenting, "If a fox were to jump onto what they're building, it would collapse their stone wall!"

4 "Listen, our God, because we are being mocked. Let their insults fall back on them, and let them be dragged away as captives into exile.

5 Don't atone their iniquity, and don't let their sin be blotted out from before you, because they have demoralized the builders."

6 So we rebuilt the wall, completing it halfway up, because the people were committed to working.

7 But when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the repair work on the Jerusalem wall was progressing and that its breaches were being repaired, they flew into a rage.

8 So they all conspired together to invade and fight against Jerusalem, creating confusion there.

9 But we prayed to our God. We also set up guards day and night because of them.

10 Meanwhile, the people of Judah said, "The builders are tired and there's so much rubble that we can't reconstruct the wall!"

11 Our enemies said, "Before they notice or see us, we'll penetrate their midst, kill them, and stop the work!"

12 The Jews who lived near them kept coming to us, reporting at least ten times, "They'll attack us from every direction."

13 So I stationed the people by families behind the wall in the lower exposed areas, equipping them with their swords, spears, and bows.

14 Looking things over, I stood up and spoke to the officials, the military leaders, and the rest of the people: "Don't fear them. Remember the great and awe-inspiring Lord. Fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes."

15 Our opponents heard that we had learned about them, that God had brought their plans to failure, and that each and every one of us had come to work on the wall.

16 From that day on, half of my helpers engaged in the work while the other half kept spears, shields, bows, and armour ready. The senior officials backed all of the Judeans

17 who worked on the wall. Those who carried building materials worked with one hand, carrying a spear in the other.

18 Each builder worked with a sword strapped to his side, while a trumpeter remained beside me to sound an alarm.

19 I told the officials, rulers, and the rest of the people, "The project is large and extensive, and we are separated from each other on the wall,

20 so wherever you hear the sound of the trumpet, come over to us, and our God will fight for us!"

21 So we worked hard, half of us holding spears from dawn to dusk.

22 At the same time I told the people, "Let's have everyone sleep at night inside Jerusalem with their servants, so they can guard us at night and work during the day.

23 No one — neither I, my allies, my servants, nor the bodyguards who accompanied me — changed clothes. Everyone carried a weapon even while going for water.

Nehemiah 5

- 1 Now the people along with their spouses complained loudly against their fellow Jews,
- 2 because certain of them kept claiming, "Since we have so many sons and daughters, we must get some grain so we can eat and survive."
- 3 Others were saying, "We're having to mortgage our fields, our vineyards, and our homes so we can buy grain during this famine."
- 4 Still others were saying "We've borrowed money against our fields and vineyards to pay the king's taxes.
- 5 Now our bodies are no different than the bodies of our relatives, and our children are like their children. Nevertheless, we're about to force our sons and daughters into slavery, and some of our daughters are already in bondage. It's beyond our power to do anything about it, because our fields and vineyards belong to others."
- 6 I became very livid when I heard their complaining and these charges.
- 7 So after thinking it over carefully, I accused the officials and nobles openly, "Every one of you is charging your fellow countrymen interest!" So I opened a public investigation against them.
- 8 I accused them, "To the best of our ability, we've been buying back our fellow Jews who had been sold to foreigners. Even now you're selling your fellow countrymen, only for them to be sold back to us!" They kept quiet and never spoke a word.
- 9 So I said, "What you're doing isn't right! Shouldn't you live in the fear of our God to avoid shame from our foreign enemies?
- 10 I'm also lending money and grain, as are my fellow-Jews and my servants, but let's not charge interest.
- 11 So today please restore to them their fields, vineyards, olive orchards, and homes, along with the one percent interest charge that you've assessed them on the grain, wine, and oil."
- 12 They responded, "We will restore these things, and will assess no interest charges against them. We will do what you are requesting!" So I called the priests and made them take an oath to fulfil this promise.
- 13 I also shook my robes, and said, "May God shake out every man from his house and his possessions who does not keep this promise. May he be emptied out and shaken just like this." All the assembly said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD. And the people kept their promise.
- 14 In addition, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah (that is, during the twelve years from the twentieth to the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes), neither I nor my relatives relied on the provisions allotted to the governor.
- 15 Nevertheless, the former governors before me placed a heavy burden on the people. They received food and wine, plus a tax of 40 shekels of silver. Even their young men took advantage of the people, but I never did so because I feared God.
- 16 Also, as I continued to work on the wall, we purchased no land, and all of my young men were employed in the work.
- 17 I fed 150 Jews and officials every day, not counting those who came from the nations around us.
- 18 Our daily requirements were one ox and six choice sheep, along with various kinds of poultry prepared for me. Every ten days there was a delivery of an abundant supply of wine. Despite all this, I refused the governor's allotment, because demands on the people were heavy.
- 19 "Remember me with favour, my God, for everything I've done for this people."

Nehemiah 6

1 When Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had completed the wall and that no break remained in it (even though by that time I hadn't yet installed the doors in the gates),

2 Sanballat and Geshem sent word to me, saying "Come, let's meet together at Kephirim on the Ono Plain." But they were just trying to do me harm.

3 So I sent messengers to them, replying "I am involved in a great endeavour, so I can't leave. Why should the work stop while I leave it to come down to you?"

4 They sent me this message four times, and I answered them the same way.

5 Then Sanballat sent his assistant to me the fifth time. But this time the letter was sent unsealed, and

6 in it was written: It is reported among the nations — and Gashmu confirms this — that you and the Jews are planning a revolt, and that you're rebuilding the wall in order to declare yourself king. According to these reports,

7 you also have appointed prophets to proclaim about you in Jerusalem, "There is a king in Judah!" Since these words are being reported to the king, come and let's meet together.

8 I sent word back to him, "Nothing has happened as you've claimed. You're making up these charges in your imagination."

9 For they all were trying to make us afraid by saying, "Their hands will become tired from labouring, so the work won't be completed." "Therefore, LORD, strengthen my hands!"

10 Later I visited Delaiah's son Shemaiah, a grandson of Mehetabel, who was confined at home. He kept urging me, "Let's meet together at the house of God, within the Temple, and take refuge there, because they're coming to kill you. In fact, they're coming at night to kill you!"

11 But I asked him, "Should a man like me run? Should someone like me run into the Temple to save his life? I won't go there!"

12 I perceived that God had not sent him. Instead, Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him to pronounce this prophecy against me.

13 He had been hired to make me afraid so I would sin by doing what he suggested. Then they could create a slanderous report to use against me.

14 "Remember me, my God, and take note of what Tobiah and Sanballat are doing. Also take note of the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who intend to make me afraid."

15 So the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth day of Elul in 52 days.

16 When all of our enemies — including the surrounding nations — heard this, they became very discouraged, since they saw that the work had been done by our God.

17 Meanwhile, at that time the nobles of Judah continued to send many letters to Tobiah, and Tobiah kept sending letters to them.

18 For many Judeans had sworn allegiance to him, since he was son-in-law to Arah's son Shecaniah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Berechiah's son Meshullam.

19 Furthermore, they kept reporting Tobiah's good deeds to me, and kept repeating what I told him. Tobiah kept sending letters to intimidate me.

Luke 23

38 There was also an inscription over him written in Greek, Latin, and Hebrew: "This is the King of the Jews."

39 Now one of the criminals hanging there kept insulting him, "You are the Messiah, aren't you? Save yourself and us!"

40 But the other criminal rebuked him, "Aren't you afraid of God, since you are suffering the same penalty?"

41 We have been condemned justly, because we are getting what we deserve for what we have done, but this man has done nothing wrong."

42 Then he went on to plead, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom!"

43 Jesus told him, "I tell you with certainty, today you will be with me in Paradise."

44 It was already about noon, and the whole land became dark until three in the afternoon
45 because the sun had stopped shining. And the curtain in the sanctuary was torn in two.

46 Then Jesus cried out with a loud voice and said, "Father, into your hands I entrust my spirit." After he said this, he breathed his last.

47 When the centurion saw what had taken place, he praised God and said, "This man certainly was righteous!"

48 When all the crowds who had come together for this spectacle saw what had taken place, they beat their chests and left.

49 But all his acquaintances, including the women who had followed him from Galilee, were standing at a distance watching these things.

50 Now there was a man named Joseph, a member of the Council, a good and righteous man —

51 he had not voted for their plan and action — from the Jewish town of Arimathea; and he was waiting for the kingdom of God.

52 He went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

53 Then he took it down, wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a tomb cut in the rock, in which no one had yet been laid.

54 It was the Preparation Day, and the Sabbath was just beginning.

55 So the women who had come with Jesus from Galilee, following close behind, saw the tomb and how his body was laid.

56 Then they went back and prepared spices and perfumes, and on the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

Nehemiah 7

- 1 After the wall had been completed and its doors installed, then the gatekeepers, singers, and descendants of Levi were appointed.
- 2 I appointed my brother Hanani and fortress commander Hananiah to be over Jerusalem, since he was a faithful person who revered God more than many others did.
- 3 I charged them, "Do not open the gates of Jerusalem until mid-day. Until then, let everyone stand watch, keeping the gates shut and locked. Appoint security watches from those who live in Jerusalem. Everyone should maintain his own watch near his house."
- 4 Even though the city was large and spread out, not many people were living there and not many houses had been built.
- 5 So my God gave me the idea to gather together the nobles, the officials, and the people so they could be registered according to their genealogies.
- 6 a list of descendants of the province of Judah who returned from captivity, from those who had been exiled by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. They had come back to Jerusalem and to Judah, each one to his town.
- 7 They were coming with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, and Baanah. Here is the enumeration of:
- 8 Parosh's descendants: 2,172
- 9 Shephatiah's descendants: 372
- 10 Arah's descendants: 652
- 11 Pahath-moab's descendants; that is, through Jeshua and Joab: 2,818
- 12 Elam's descendants: 1,254
- 13 Zattu's descendants: 845
- 14 Zaccai's descendants: 760
- 15 Binnui's descendants: 648
- 16 Bebai's descendants: 628
- 17 Azgad's descendants: 2,322
- 18 Adonikam's descendants: 667
- 19 Bigvai's descendants: 2,067
- 20 Adin's descendants: 655
- 21 Ater's descendants through Hezekiah: 98
- 22 Hashum's descendants: 328
- 23 Bezai's descendants: 324
- 24 Hariph's descendants: 112
- 25 Gibeon's descendants: 95
- 26 People from Bethlehem and Netophah: 188
- 27 People from Anathoth: 128
- 28 People from Beth-azmaveth: 42
- 29 People from Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth: 743
- 30 People from Ramah and Geba: 621
- 31 People from Michmas: 122
- 32 People from Bethel and Ai: 123
- 33 People from the other Nebo: 52
- 34 The other Elam's descendants: 1,254
- 35 Harim's descendants: 320
- 36 Jericho's descendants: 345
- 37 Descendants of Lod, Hadid, and Ono: 721
- 38 Senaah's descendants: 3,930
- 39 The Priests: Jedaiah's descendants from the household of Jeshua: 973
- 40 Immer's descendants: 1,052

41 Pashhur's descendants: 1,247
 42 Harim's descendants: 1,017
 43 The Descendants of Levi: Jeshua of Kadmiel's descendants: that is, Hodevah's descendants: 74
 44 The Singers: Asaph's descendants: 148
 45 The Gatekeepers: Shallum's descendants, Ater's descendants, Talmon's descendants, Akkub's descendants, Hatita's descendants, Shobai's descendants: 138
 46 The Temple Servants: Descendants of Ziha, Hasupha, and Tabbaoth.
 47 Descendants of Keros, Sia, and Padon.
 48 Descendants of Lebanah, Hagabah, and Shalmal.
 49 Descendants of Hanan, Giddel, and Gahar.
 50 Descendants of Reaiah, Rezin, and Nekoda.
 51 Descendants of Gazzam, Uzza, and Paseah.
 52 Descendants of Besai, Meunim, and Nephushesim,
 53 Descendants of Bakbuk, Hakupha, and Harhur.
 54 Descendants of Bazlith, Mehida, and Harsha.
 55 Descendants of Barkos, Sisera, and Temah.
 56 Descendants of Neziah and Hatipha.
 57 The Descendants of Solomon's Servants: Descendants of Sotai, Sophereth, and Perida,
 58 Descendants of Jaala, Darkon, and Giddel,
 59 Descendants of Shephatiah, Hattil, Pochereth-hazzebaim, and Ammon;
 60 All of the Temple Servants and descendants of Solomon's servants numbered 392.
 61 Here is a list of returnees from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer, who could not prove their ancestry and lineage from Israel:
 62 Descendants of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda: 642
 63 Of the Priests: Descendants of Habaiah, Koz, and Barzillai, who married one of the daughters of Barzillai from Gilead and took that name.
 64 These people searched for their ancestral records, but they couldn't be located. Accordingly, they were considered disqualified from the priesthood.
 65 The governor ordered them not to eat anything holy until a priest would be installed with Urim and Thummim.
 66 The entire assembly numbered 42,360,
 67 not including their 7,337 male and female servants. They had 245 men and women singers.
 68 They had 736 horses, 245 mules,
 69 435 camels, and 6,720 donkeys.
 70 Some of the heads of the families contributed to the work. The governor contributed 1,000 gold drachmas to the treasury, along with 50 basins, and 530 priestly garments.
 71 Some of the heads of the families gave to the treasury 20,000 gold drachmas and 2,200 silver units for the work.
 72 The rest of the people gave 20,000 gold drachmas, 2,000 silver units, and 67 priestly garments.
 73 The priests, descendants of Levi, gatekeepers, singers, some of the people, the Temple Servants, and all the Israelis settled in their cities. Seven months later, the Israelis had settled in their own cities.

Luke 24

1 But at early dawn on the first day of the week, they went to the tomb, taking the spices they had prepared.

2 They found the stone rolled away from the tomb,

3 but when they went in, they didn't find the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 While they were puzzling over this, two men in dazzling robes suddenly stood beside them.

5 While the women remained terrified, bowing their faces to the ground, the men asked them, "Why are you looking among the dead for someone who is living?

6 He is not here, but has been raised. Remember what he told you while he was still in Galilee:

7 'The Son of Man must be handed over to sinful men, be crucified, and rise on the third day.'"

8 Then the women remembered Jesus' words.

9 They returned from the tomb and reported all these things to the eleven disciples and all the others.

10 The women who told the apostles about it were Mary Magdalene, Joanna, Mary the mother of James, and some others.

11 But what they said seemed nonsense to them, so they did not believe them.

12 Peter, however, got up and ran to the tomb. He stooped down and saw only the linen cloths. Then he went home, wondering about what had happened.

13 On the same day, two of Jesus' followers were walking to a village called Emmaus, about seven miles from Jerusalem.

14 They were talking with each other about all these things that had taken place.

15 While they were discussing and analysing what had happened, Jesus himself approached and began to walk with them,

16 but their eyes were prevented from recognizing him.

17 He asked them, "What are you discussing with each other as you're walking along?" They stood still and looked gloomy.

18 The one whose name was Cleopas answered him, "Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who doesn't know what happened there in the past few days?"

19 He asked them, "What things?" They answered him, "The events involving Jesus of Nazareth, who was a prophet, mighty in what he said and did before God and all the people,

20 and how our high priests and leaders handed him over to be condemned to death and had him crucified.

21 But we kept hoping that he would be the one to redeem Israel. What is more, this is now the third day since these things occurred.

22 Even some of our women have startled us by what they told us. They were at the tomb early this morning

23 and didn't find his body there, so they came back and told us that they had seen a vision of angels, who were saying that he was alive.

24 Then some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said. However, they didn't see him."

25 Then Jesus told them, "O, how foolish you are! How slow you are to believe everything the prophets said!

26 The Messiah had to suffer these things and then enter his glory, didn't he?"

27 Then, beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he explained to them all the passages of Scripture about himself.

17th July

Nehemiah 8

1 All the people gathered as a united body into the plaza in front of the Water Gate. They asked Ezra the scribe to bring out the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded for Israel.

2 So on the first day of the seventh month, Ezra the priest brought out the Law before the assembled people. Both men and women were in attendance, as well as all who could understand what they were hearing.

3 Ezra read from it, facing the plaza in front of the Water Gate, from early in the morning until mid-day in the presence of the men and women, as well as all who could understand. All the people were attentive to the Book of the Law.

4 Ezra the scribe stood on a wooden rostrum erected for that purpose. Beside him to his right stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah, and Maasseiah. Beside him to his left stood Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people. Because he was visible above all the people there, as he opened it, all the people stood up.

6 Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, and with uplifted hands, all the people responded, "Amen! Amen!" They bowed down and worshipped the LORD prostrate on the ground.

7 Furthermore, Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the descendants of Levi taught the Law to the people while the people remained standing.

8 They read from the Book of the Law of God, distinctly communicating its meaning, so they could understand the reading.

9 Because all the people were weeping as they listened to the words of the Law, Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the descendants of Levi who taught the people told everyone, "This day is holy to the LORD your God. Do not mourn or weep."

10 He also told them, "Go eat the best food, drink the best wine, and give something to those who have nothing, since this day is holy to our Lord. Don't be sorrowful, because the joy of the LORD is your strength."

11 The descendants of Levi also calmed all the people by saying, "Be still, for the day is holy. Don't be sorrowful!"

12 So all the people went to eat, to drink, to send something to those who had nothing, and to celebrate with great joy, because they understood the words that were being declared to them.

13 The next day, the heads of the families of all the people were gathered together, along with the priests and the descendants of Levi, to meet with Ezra the scribe in order to understand the words of the Law.

14 They found written in the Law that the LORD had commanded through Moses that the Israelis were to live in tents during the feast scheduled for the seventh month.

15 So they circulated a proclamation throughout their towns and in Jerusalem. It said, "Go out to the hill country and bring back olive branches, wild olive branches, myrtle branches, palm branches, and branches of mature trees, in order to set up tents, as has been written."

16 Then the people went out and found branches to make tents for themselves on the roofs of their houses, in their courtyards, and in the courts of God's Temple, in the plaza near the Water Gate, and in the plaza near the Gate of Ephraim.

17 The entire assembly of those who had returned from exile erected tents and lived in them. Indeed, from the days of Nun's son Joshua until that day the Israelis had not done so. Joy was everywhere,

18 and Ezra continued to read from the Book of the Law of God day by day, from the first day through the last. They celebrated for seven days, and on the eighth day they held a solemn assembly according to regulation.

Nehemiah 9

1 On the twenty-fourth day of this same month, the Israelis gathered together while fasting, wearing sackcloth, and covering themselves with dust.

2 The remnant of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners. Then they stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their ancestors.

3 While they stood there, they read from the Book of the Law of the LORD their God for one fourth of the day, and they confessed and worshipped the LORD their God for another fourth of the day.

4 Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani stood on the rostrum assigned for use by the descendants of Levi and cried out loudly to the LORD their God.

5 Then the descendants of Levi — Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah — said, "Stand up and bless the LORD your God from eternity to eternity! Blessed be your glorious name! May it be exalted above all blessing and praise!

6 "You are the LORD; you alone crafted the heavens, the highest heavens with all of their armies; the earth, and everything in it; the seas, and everything in them; you keep giving all of them life, and the army of heaven continually worships you.

7 You are the LORD, the God who chose Abram, whom you brought from Ur of the Chaldeans and to whom you gave the name Abraham.

8 You found him faithful in your sight; you made a covenant with him and you gave the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Girgashites to his descendants. And you have kept your word, because you are righteous.

9 "You took note of the affliction of our ancestors in Egypt, and listened to their cry at the Red Sea.

10 You sent signs and wonders against Pharaoh, against all of his officials, and against all the people of his land, because you knew they acted arrogantly against your people. So you established your name with them, as it remains to this day.

11 You divided the sea in front of them, and they travelled through the midst of the sea on dry ground. You hurled their pursuers into the depths, as one throws a stone into turbulent waters.

12 You led them during the day by a pillar of cloud, and by a pillar of fire at night to provide light for them on the path they took.

13 "You also came down to Mount Sinai, spoke with them from heaven, and gave them impartial regulations, true laws, statutes, and good commands.

14 You revealed to them your holy Sabbath, and you mandated precepts, statutes, and laws through Moses your servant.

15 You gave them food from heaven for their hunger and water from the rock for their thirst. You directed them to enter and possess the land that you had promised to give them.

16 "But they — our ancestors — became arrogant and stubborn, refusing to listen to your commands.

17 They would not listen, and did not remember the miracles you did among them.

Instead, they became stubborn and appointed a leader to return them to their slavery.

"But you are a God of forgiveness, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger, and rich in gracious love; therefore you did not abandon them.

18 Moreover, after they had cast a golden calf for themselves, they said, "This is your god who brought you out of Egypt!" and committed terrible blasphemies.

19 You, in your great compassion, did not abandon them in the wilderness. The pillar of cloud did not leave them in daylight, in order to provide light for them on the path they took. Nor did the pillar of fire abandon them at night, in order to provide light for them and lead them on the path they took.

20 "You gave your good Spirit to instruct them, not withholding manna from them, and providing water to quench their thirst.

21 You sustained them in the wilderness for 40 years. They lacked nothing. Their clothes did not wear out, and their feet did not swell.

22 You gave them kingdoms and nations, apportioning them as frontier boundaries. They took possession of the land of Sihon, the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og, king of Bashan.

23 "You multiplied their descendants like the stars in heaven and brought them to the land about which you told their ancestors to enter and possess.

24 So their descendants entered and took possession of the land. Before their eyes you subdued those living in the land — the Canaanites — putting them under their control, along with their kings and the peoples of the land, so they could do with them as they pleased.

25 They conquered fortified cities and fertile ground, possessing houses filled with all kinds of good things, wells already dug, with vineyards, olive orchards, and fruit trees in abundance. So they ate, were satiated, and were well nourished, delighting themselves in your great goodness.

26 "Then they disobeyed, rebelled against you, and threw your Law behind their backs. They murdered your prophets who had admonished the people to return to you, committing terrible blasphemies.

27 So you delivered them into the control of their enemies, who oppressed them. But when they were oppressed, they cried out to you, and you heard from heaven. In your great compassion you gave them deliverers who rescued them from the control of their enemies.

28 "But after they had gained relief, they returned to doing evil before you. Therefore you abandoned them to the control of their enemies, who continued to oppress them. But when they came back and cried out to you, you listened from heaven and delivered them in your compassion on many occasions.

29 You admonished them to return to your Law, but they acted arrogantly, and would not listen to your commands. They sinned against your regulations, which if anyone obeys, he will live by them. They turned away, being stubborn and stiff-necked, and they did not listen.

30 You were patient with them for many years, warning them by your Spirit through your prophets. But they would not listen, so you turned them over to the control of people in other lands.

31 Nevertheless, in your great compassion you did not completely destroy them or abandon them, because you are a God of grace and you are merciful.

32 "Now therefore, our God, the great, mighty, and awesome God, who keeps the covenant and gracious love, don't let all of the difficulties seem trifling to you, all of the hardships that have come upon us, upon our kings, upon our leaders, upon our priests, upon our prophets, upon our ancestors, and upon all of your people from the time of the kings of Assyria until this day.

33 You are righteous in all that is happening to us, because you have acted faithfully while we have practised evil.

34 Furthermore, neither our kings, nor our leaders, nor our priests nor our ancestors have practised your Law or paid attention to your commands and warnings by which you admonished them.

35 But they in their kingdom — in the midst of your great goodness that you gave them and in the large and fertile land that you provided them — did not serve you or turn away from their evil deeds.

36 "Look! Today we are your servants, along with the land that you gave to our ancestors, so they could enjoy its fruit and its value — behold, in it we are your servants!

37 But now its abundant produce belongs to the kings whom you placed over us because of our sin. They also have power over our bodies and our herds at their pleasure, and we are in great distress.

38 "Because of all this, we are making a binding agreement, putting it in writing, and our leaders, our descendants of Levi, and our priests hereby set their seals upon it."

Nehemiah 10

1 Here is a list of those who signed: Hacaliah's son Nehemiah the governor, Zedekiah,

2 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,

3 Pashur, Amariah, Malchijah,

4 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch,

5 Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah,

6 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,

7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin,

8 Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah — these are the priests.

9 These were the descendants of Levi: Azaniah's son Jeshua, Binnui from the descendants of Henadad, Kadmiel,

10 also their relatives Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan,

11 Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah,

12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah,

13 Hodiah, Bani, and Beninu.

14 The leaders of the people included Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani,

15 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai,

16 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin,

17 Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur,

18 Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai,

19 Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai,

20 Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir,

21 Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua,

22 Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah,

23 Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub,

24 Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek,

25 Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah,

26 Ahiah, Hanan, Anan,

27 Malluch, Harim, and Baanah.

Luke 24

28 As they came near the village where the two men were headed, Jesus acted as though he were going farther.

29 But they strongly urged him, "Stay with us, because it is almost evening and the daylight is nearly gone." So he went in to stay with them.

30 While he was at the table with them, he took the bread, blessed it, broke it in pieces, and gave it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew who he was. And he vanished from them.

32 Then they asked each other, "Our hearts kept burning within us as he was talking to us on the road and explaining the Scriptures to us, didn't they?"

33 They got up right away, went back to Jerusalem, and found the eleven disciples and their companions all together.

34 They kept saying, "The Lord has really risen and has appeared to Simon!"

35 Then the two men began to tell what had happened on the road and how they had recognized him when he broke the bread in pieces.

36 While they were all talking about this, Jesus himself stood among them and told them, "Peace be with you."

37 They were startled and terrified, thinking they were seeing a ghost.

38 But Jesus told them, "What's frightening you? And why are you doubting?"

39 Look at my hands and my feet, because it's really me. Touch me and look at me, because a ghost doesn't have flesh and bones as you see that I have."

40 After he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet.

41 Even though they were still sceptical due to their joy and astonishment, Jesus asked them, "Do you have anything here to eat?"

42 They gave him a piece of broiled fish,

43 and he took it and ate it in their presence.

44 Then he told them, "These are the words that I spoke to you while I was still with you — that everything written about me in the Law of Moses, the Prophets, and the Psalms had to be fulfilled."

45 Then he opened their minds so that they might understand the Scriptures.

46 He told them, "This is how it is written: the Messiah was to suffer and rise from the dead on the third day,

47 and then repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be proclaimed in his name to all the nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

48 You are witnesses of these things.

49 I am sending to you what my Father promised, so stay here in the city until you have been clothed with power from on high."

50 Later, he led them out as far as Bethany, lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

51 While he was blessing them, he left them and was taken up to heaven.

52 They worshipped him and returned to Jerusalem filled with great joy.

53 They were continually in the Temple, blessing God.

Nehemiah 10

28 The rest of the people, the priests, the descendants of Levi, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Temple Servants, and everyone who had separated themselves from the peoples of the surrounding lands for the Law of God — their wives, their sons, their daughters, and all who had knowledge and understanding —

29 joined with their relatives and their leaders. They entered into an oath — enforced by a curse — to walk in God's Law that was given through God's servant Moses, and to be careful to obey all of the commands of the LORD, our Lord, as well as his regulations and statutes.

30 We will not give our daughters in marriage to the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons.

31 As for the people of the land who bring merchandise or grain to sell on the Sabbath day, we will not buy from them on the Sabbath or on any holy day. We will forego planting crops, and we will cancel debts during every seventh year.

32 We also obligated ourselves to contribute annually a third of a shekel for services relating to the Temple of our God:

33 for the bread set out on the table, for the continual grain offering, for the continual burnt offering, for the Sabbath offerings, for the New Moon festivals, for the appointed feasts, for the holy offerings, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and for all the service of the Temple of our God.

34 We — the priests, the descendants of Levi, and the people — cast lots to determine when to bring the wood offering into the Temple of our God, just as our ancestors' families were appointed annually to maintain the altar fire of the LORD our God, as recorded in the Law.

35 We also cast lots to determine when to bring the first fruits of our land and the annual first fruits of all fruit of every tree to the Temple of the LORD,

36 as well as the first born of our sons and our cattle, as recorded in the Law, along with the firstlings of our herds and our flocks, to present to the Temple of our God for the priests that minister in the Temple of our God.

37 We also determined to present the first fruits of our ground grain, our offerings, the fruit of all kinds of trees, wines, and oil to the priests, to the chambers of the Temple of our God, and the tithes of our land to the descendants of Levi, so those descendants of Levi could collect the tithes in all the towns where we worked.

38 And the priest, the descendant of Aaron, will be with the descendants of Levi when the descendants of Levi receive tithes, and the descendants of Levi will bring the tithe of the tithes into the store rooms of the Temple of our God.

39 For the Israelis and the descendants of Levi will bring the grain offering, the wine, and the oil into the chambers where the vessels of the sanctuary are, along with the ministering priests, the porters, and the singers. We will not neglect the Temple of our God.

Nehemiah 11

1 The leaders of the people who lived in Jerusalem, along with the rest of the people, decided to choose one out of ten of them by lot to live in Jerusalem, the holy city, leaving the other nine of them in their towns.

2 And the people blessed all of the men who volunteered to live in Jerusalem.

3 These are the leaders of the provinces who lived in Jerusalem. Some lived in the towns of Judah — each on their property in their respective towns — that is, the Israelis, the priests, the descendants of Levi, the Temple Servants, and the descendants of Solomon's servants.

4 Some of the descendants of Judah and Benjamin lived in Jerusalem.

From Judah's Descendants:

Uzziah's son Athaiah, who was the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel;

From Perez's Descendants

5 Baruch's son Maaseiah, who was the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of the Shilonite.

6 All of the descendants of Perez who lived in Jerusalem numbered 468 men of valour.

7 These are Benjamin's Descendants:

Meshullam's son Sallu, who was the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiiah;

8 and after him Gabbai and Sallai, numbering 928.

9 Zichri's son Joel was their overseer, and Hassenuah's son Judah was in command of the second district of the city.

10 From the Priests:

Joiarib's son Jedaiah, Jachin,

11 Hilkiah's son Seraiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the administrator of the Temple of God.

12 Their associates who performed the work of the Temple numbered 822. Jeroham's son Adaiah, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah,

13 along with his associates, the leaders of the families, numbered 242, along with

Amashsai, the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, 14 along with their relatives, 128 mighty, valiant men, and their overseer Zabdiel son of Haggadolim.

15 From the descendants of Levi:

Shemaiah son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni,

16 and Shabbethai and Jozabad, from the leaders of the descendants of Levi who oversaw the exterior work of the Temple of God,

17 and Mattaniah son of Mica, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, who led the thanksgiving prayer, and Bakbukiah, second among his relatives, and Abda son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.

18 All of the descendants of Levi in the holy city numbered 284.

19 The Gatekeepers:

Akkub, Talmon, and their relatives, who kept watch at the gates, numbered 172.

20 The rest of Israel — the priests and the descendants of Levi — lived in all the cities of Judah, each on his own property, 21 but the Temple Servants lived on Ophel. Ziha and Gishpa oversaw the Temple Servants.

22 The overseer of the descendants of Levi at Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mica. Singers from the descendants of Asaph oversaw the work of the Temple of God.

23 They were subject to the commands of the king, who provided for the singers daily.

24 Pethahiah son of Meshezabel, a descendant of Zerah son of Judah, represented the king in all matters concerning the people.

25 Now concerning the villages and their fields, some of the people of Judah lived in Kiriath-arba and its villages, in Dibon and its villages, in Jekabzeel and its villages,

26 in Jeshua, in Moladah, and Beth-pelet,

27 in Hazar-shual, in Beer-sheba and its villages,

28 in Ziklag, in Meconah and its villages,

29 in En-rimmon, in Zorah, in Jarmuth,

30 in Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages, Lachish and its fields, and Azekah and its villages. They encamped from Beer-sheba to the Hinnom Valley.

31 The descendants of Benjamin lived from Geba to Michmash, Aija, Bethel and its villages,

32 Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,

34 Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat,

35 Lod, and Ono's Craftsmen Valley,

36 with some Levitical divisions of Judah pertaining to Benjamin.

Nehemiah 12

1 These are the priests and descendants of Levi who had returned with Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel and with Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,

3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

4 Iddo, Ginnethoi, Abijah,

5 Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,

6 Shemaih, Joiarib, Jedaiah,

7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah. These were the leaders of the priests and their associates in the time of Jeshua.

8 The descendants of Levi included Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, who with his associates was in charge of the songs of thanksgiving.

9 Bakbukiah and Unni and their associates stood opposite them in the service.

10 Jeshua fathered Joiakim, Joiakim fathered Eliashib, and Eliashib fathered Joiada.

11 Joiada fathered Jonathan and Jonathan fathered Jaddua.

Philippians 1

1 From: Paul and Timothy, servants of the Messiah Jesus.

To: All the holy ones in Philippi, along with their overseers and ministers, who are in union with the Messiah Jesus.

2 May grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be yours!

3 I thank my God every time I remember you,

4 always praying joyfully in every one of my prayers for all of you

5 because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now.

6 I am convinced of this, that the one who began a good action among you will bring it to completion by the Day of the Messiah Jesus.

7 For it is only right for me to think this way about all of you, because you're constantly on my mind. Both in my imprisonment and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, all of you are partners with me in this privilege.

8 For God is my witness how much I long for all of you with the compassion that the Messiah Jesus provides.

9 And this is my prayer, that your love will keep on growing more and more with full knowledge and insight,

10 so that you may be able to choose what is best and be pure and blameless until the day when the Messiah returns,

11 having been filled with the fruit of righteousness that comes through Jesus the Messiah so that God will be glorified and praised.

12 Now I want you to know, brothers, that what has happened to me has actually caused the gospel to advance.

13 As a result, it has become clear to the whole imperial guard and to everyone else that I am in prison for preaching about the Messiah.

14 Moreover, because of my imprisonment the Lord has caused most of the brothers to become confident to speak God's word more boldly and courageously than ever before.

15 Some are preaching the Messiah because of jealousy and dissension, while others do so because of their good will.

16 The latter are motivated by love, because they know that I have been appointed to defend the gospel.

17 The former proclaim the Messiah because they are selfishly ambitious and insincere, thinking that they will stir up trouble for me during my imprisonment.

18 But so what? Just this — that in every way, whether by false or true motives, the Messiah is being proclaimed. Because of this, I rejoice and will continue to rejoice.

Nehemiah 12

12 These were the priests and heads of their ancestors' houses in the time of Joiakim: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah;

13 of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan;

14 of Malluchi, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph;

15 of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai;

16 of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam;

17 of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of Moadiah, Piltai;

18 of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan;

19 of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi;

20 of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber;

21 of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

22 When Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua were serving, the descendants of Levi were recorded as heads of their ancestors' houses, as were the priests during the reign of Darius the Persian.

23 The leaders of the ancestors of Levi were written in the Book of Annals until the time of Eliashib's son Johanan.

24 The leaders of the descendants of Levi were: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Kadmiel's son Jeshua, along with their associates who served opposite them to give praise and thanks, division by division, according to the commands given by David the man of God.

25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers who guarded the store houses of the gates.

26 These were at the time of Jeshua's son Joiakim, the grandson of Jozadak, and in the time of Nehemiah the governor and Ezra the priest and scribe.

27 At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, they invited the descendants of Levi to come from wherever they lived to Jerusalem so they could celebrate the dedication with joy, thanksgiving, and songs, accompanied by cymbals, lyres, and harps.

28 So the descendants of the singers gathered themselves together from the region surrounding Jerusalem, from the villages of Netophathi,

29 from Beth-gilgal, and from the area of Geba and Azmaveth, because the singers had built villages for themselves in the vicinity of Jerusalem.

30 The priests and the descendants of Levi purified themselves, and also purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

31 Then I brought up the leaders of Judah to the crest of the wall, and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs, the first of which proceeded on the wall to the right toward the Dung Gate.

32 Following them were Hoshai and half of the leaders of Judah,

33 including Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam,

34 Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, and Jeremiah.

35 Some of the priests' sons were trumpeters, including Zechariah son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, 36 with his associates Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, accompanied by the musical instruments of David, the man of God. Ezra the scribe led the procession.

37 At the Fountain Gate, which stood opposite them, they ascended the stairs of the city of David where the wall rose above the house of David east of the Water Gate.

38 The second thanksgiving choir approached opposite them, and I followed them. Half of the people stood on the crest of the wall from beyond the Tower of the Ovens to the Broad Wall,

39 and from above the Ephraim Gate, above the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel and the Tower of the Hundred, as far as the Sheep Gate. They stopped at the Guard Gate.
40 Then the two choirs assembled in the Temple of God, as did I, along with half of the officials who accompanied me,
41 and the priests Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah with trumpeters
42 Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. And the singers made their presence known, with Jezrahiah to lead them.
43 That day they offered a large number of sacrifices, and they rejoiced, because God had caused them to rejoice enthusiastically. Their wives and children rejoiced, so that Jerusalem's joy was heard from a long distance.
44 Also at that time men were appointed over the storerooms for the contributions, for the first fruits, and for the tithes, so those portions required by the Law could be gathered from the fields adjacent to the towns to benefit the priests and descendants of Levi, for the people of Judah rejoiced over the priests and the descendants of Levi who were serving.
45 They carried out their service obligations to their God and their service obligations of purification according to what David and his son Solomon had commanded.
46 For in David's lifetime — and in the lifetime of Asaph, choir master of old — there were songs of praise and thanksgiving to God.
47 All Israel in the time of Zerubbabel and in the time of Nehemiah gave allotments to each of the singers and gate keepers on a daily basis, setting them apart to benefit the descendants of Levi. And the descendants of Levi set them apart to benefit the descendants of Aaron.

Nehemiah 13

1 Later that day the book of Moses was read aloud so the people could hear it, and a written command was discovered therein permanently prohibiting the Ammonites and Moabites from coming into the congregation of God
2 because they did not greet the Israelis with food and water, but instead hired Balaam to oppose them by cursing them, even though our God turned the curse into a blessing.
3 When they heard the Law, they separated all those of foreign descent from Israel.
4 Now prior to this, Eliashib the priest, who supervised the store rooms of the Temple of our God and who was related to Tobiah,
5 had prepared a great chamber for him, in the place where they used to place the grain offerings, incense, and vessels, along with the tithes of the grain, the new wine, and the oil that was mandated for the descendants of Levi, the singers, the gate keepers, and the priests' offerings.
6 During all of this time, I was not in Jerusalem, because I had returned to the king in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes, king of Babylon. After a while I obtained permission from the king
7 to return to Jerusalem. I learned of the evil thing that Eliashib had done for Tobiah in furnishing him with a room in the courts of the Temple of God.
8 I was greatly upset, so I threw out all of Tobiah's property from the room.
9 I ordered them to purify the chambers, and then they brought back the vessels from the Temple of God, along with the grain offerings and incense.
10 I also learned that the allotments for the descendants of Levi had not been distributed. As a result, the descendants of Levi and singers who were responsible for the service had each left to go back to their fields.
11 So I confronted the officials and asked, "Why is the Temple of God neglected?" Then I gathered them together and put them back in their places.
12 Then all of Judah brought the tithe of the grain, the new wine, and the oil into the storerooms.

13 I appointed over the storerooms: Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah from the descendants of Levi; and next to them Zaccur's son Hanan, the grandson of Mattaniah, because they had been considered faithful. Their duties were to distribute to their associates.

14 Remember me, my God, concerning this, and do not erase my faithful deeds that I have undertaken for the Temple of my God, and for its services.

15 At that time I saw in Judah some who were treading wine presses on the Sabbath, bringing in sacks of grain, loading them onto donkeys, along with wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of loads. They brought them into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. So I rebuked them on the day on which they were selling food.

16 Furthermore, Tyrians were living there who were importing fish and all kinds of merchandise, selling them to the people of Judah on the Sabbath, even in Jerusalem.

17 I rebuked the officials of Judah, saying to them, "What's this evil thing that you're doing by profaning the Sabbath day?

18 Didn't your ancestors do the same? And didn't our God bring on us and on this city all of this trouble? Now you're adding to the wrath against Israel by profaning the Sabbath!"

19 As the Sabbath approached and it began to get dark at the gates of Jerusalem, I gave word to shut the gates, charging that they should not be opened until after the Sabbath. I stationed some of my men at the gates to ensure that no loads would be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 As a result, the merchants and sellers of all sorts of goods remained outside Jerusalem a couple of times.

21 I argued with them, "Why are you staying outside the wall? If you do this again, I'll arrest you." From that time on, they didn't come anymore on the Sabbath.

22 Then I commanded the descendants of Levi to purify themselves and to come as gate keepers to sanctify the Sabbath day. Remember me, my God, and show mercy to me according to the greatness of your gracious love.

23 At that time I also noticed that Jews had married women from Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab.

24 Furthermore, their children spoke half of the time in the language of Ashdod, and could not speak in the language of Judah. Instead, they spoke in the languages of various peoples.

25 So I rebuked them, cursed them, struck some of their men, tore out their hair, and made them take this oath in the name of God: "You are not to give your daughters to their sons nor take their daughters for your sons or for yourselves.

26 Didn't Solomon, king of Israel, sin by doing these things, even though among many nations there was no king like him who was loved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel? Even so, foreign women caused him to sin.

27 Should we listen to you and do all of this terrible evil by transgressing against our God to marry foreign wives?"

28 One of the sons of Eliashib the high priest's son Joiada was a son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite, so I drove him away from me.

29 Remember them, my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and the descendants of Levi.

30 I purified them from everything foreign, arranged duties for the priests and the descendants of Levi, each to his task,

31 and I arranged at the appointed time for the supply of wood, and for the first fruits. Remember me, my God, with favour.

Philippians 1

19 I know that this will result in my deliverance through your prayers and the help that comes from the Spirit of Jesus the Messiah.

20 I rejoice because I eagerly expect and hope that I will have nothing to be ashamed of, because through my boldness the Messiah will be exalted through me, now as always, whether I live or die.

21 For to me, to go on living is the Messiah, and to die is gain.

22 Now if I continue living, fruitful labour is the result, so I do not know which I would prefer.

23 Indeed, I cannot decide between the two. I have the desire to leave this life and be with the Messiah, for that is far better.

24 But for your sake it is better that I remain alive.

25 Since I am convinced of this, I know that I will continue to live and be with all of you, so you will mature in the faith and know joy in it.

26 Then your rejoicing in the Messiah Jesus will increase along with mine when I visit with you again.

27 The only thing that matters is that you continue to live as good citizens in a manner worthy of the gospel of the Messiah. Then, whether I come to see you or whether I stay away, I may hear all about you — that you are standing firm in one spirit, struggling with one mind for the faith of the gospel,

28 and that you are not intimidated by your opponents in any way. This is evidence that they will be destroyed and that you will be saved — and all because of God.

29 For you have been given the privilege for the Messiah's sake not only to believe in him but also to suffer for him.

30 You have the same struggle that you saw in me and now hear that I am still having.

1 Therefore, if there is any encouragement in the Messiah, if there is any comfort of love, if there is any fellowship in the Spirit, if there is any compassion and sympathy,

2 then fill me with joy by having the same attitude, sharing the same love, being united in spirit, and keeping one purpose in mind.

3 Do not act out of selfish ambition or conceit, but with humility think of others as being better than yourselves.

4 Do not be concerned about your own interests, but also be concerned about the interests of others.

5 Have the same attitude among yourselves that was also in the Messiah Jesus:

6 In God's own form existed he, and shared with God equality, deemed nothing needed grasping.

7 Instead, poured out in emptiness, a servant's form did he possess, a mortal man becoming. In human form he chose to be,

8 and lived in all humility, death on a cross obeying.

9 Now lifted up by God to heaven, a name above all others given, this matchless name possessing.

10 And so, when Jesus' name is called, the knees of everyone should fall wherever they're residing.

11 Then every tongue in one accord, will say that Jesus the Messiah is Lord, while God the Father praising.

Esther 1

1 This is a record of what happened during the reign of Ahasuerus, the Ahasuerus who ruled over 127 provinces from India to Cush.

2 At that time King Ahasuerus was ruling from Susa the capital.

3 In the third year of his reign, he gave a banquet for all his officials and ministers, and the military leaders of Persia and Media, the nobles, and the provincial officials were present.

4 He displayed the enormous wealth of his kingdom, along with its splendid beauty and greatness for many days — for 180 days in all.

5 When those days were over, the king held a seven-day banquet in the courtyard of the garden of his palace for all the people who were present in Susa the capital, from the greatest to the least important.

6 There were curtains of white and blue linen tied with cords of fine linen and purple material to silver rings on marble columns. There were couches of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl and other precious stones.

7 Drinks were served in gold vessels of various kinds, and there was plenty of royal wine because the king was generous.

8 According to the king's decree the drinking was not compulsory because the king instructed every steward in his house to serve each individual what he desired.

9 Queen Vashti also held a banquet in the royal palace of King Ahasuerus for the women.

10 A week later, when the king was under the influence of all that wine, he ordered Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven eunuchs who served King Ahasuerus,

11 to bring Queen Vashti to the king, wearing the royal crown to display her beauty to the people and the officials, since she was lovely to look at.

12 Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's order that was brought by the eunuchs.

13 The king spoke to the wise men who understood the times, for it was the king's custom to consult all those who understood law and justice.

14 (His closest advisers were: Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven officials of Persia and Media who had direct access to the king and who held the highest rank in the kingdom).

15 The king inquired, "According to law, what should be done to Queen Vashti because she did not obey the order of King Ahasuerus that was delivered by the eunuchs?"

16 Then Memucan replied in the presence of the king and his officials, "It is not the king alone whom Vashti has wronged, but rather all of the officials and all of the people who are in the provinces of King Ahasuerus.

17 When the report about the queen goes out to all the women, it will cause them to despise their husbands. They'll say, 'King Ahasuerus ordered Queen Vashti to be brought before him, but she wouldn't come.'

18 This very day the wives of the officials of Persia and Media who hear the report about the queen will speak in the same way to all the officials of the king, and there will be more than enough contempt and anger.

19 If it seems good to the king, let a royal decree go out from him and let it be written in the laws of Persia and Media, which cannot be repealed, that Vashti is never again to enter the presence of King Ahasuerus. Let the king give her royal position to another woman who is better than she.

20 When the edict of the king that he issues is heard throughout his kingdom — for it's vast — then all the women will give honour to their husbands, from the greatest to the least important."

21 This seemed like a good idea to the king and his officials, so the king did what Memucan suggested.

22 He sent letters to all the provinces of the king, written in the script of that province, and to each people in their own language, ordering that every man should be the master in his house and speak the language of his own people.

Esther 2

1 After this, when the anger of King Ahasuerus had subsided, he remembered Vashti, what she had done, and what had been decreed about her.

2 Then the young men who attended the king suggested, "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king.

3 Let the king appoint officials in all the provinces of his kingdom to bring all the beautiful young virgins into the harem in Susa the capital. Let them be placed under the care of Hegai, the king's eunuch, who is in charge of the women to give them their beauty treatments.

4 Then let the young woman who pleases the king rule in place of Vashti." This advice pleased the king, and he did this.

5 In Susa the capital there was a Jewish man from the tribe of Benjamin, Jair's son Mordecai, who was a descendant of Kish's son Shimei the descendant of Benjamin.

6 He had been taken into captivity from Jerusalem along with the exiles who had been deported with Jeconiah, king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon had taken into exile.

7 Mordecai had raised his cousin Hadassah, or Esther, because she had no father or mother. The young woman had a beautiful figure and was very attractive. When her mother and father died Mordecai had taken her as his daughter.

8 The king's order and edict was proclaimed, and many young women were brought to Susa the capital under the care of Hegai. Esther was taken to the palace into the care of Hegai, who was in charge of the women.

9 The young woman pleased him and gained his favour. He quickly provided her beauty treatments and gave her portions of food to her. He also assigned her seven suitable young women from the palace and transferred her and her young women to the best place in the harem.

10 Esther did not make known her people or heritage because Mordecai had instructed her not to make it known.

11 Every day Mordecai would walk back and forth in front of the court of the harem to find out about Esther's well-being and what was happening to her.

12 Each young woman's turn came to go in to King Ahasuerus at the end of the twelve month period, at which time she was treated according to the regulations for women. This process completed the period of her beauty treatments — six months with oil of myrrh and six months with spices and cosmetics for women.

13 After that the young woman would go in to the king, and whatever she asked for would be given to her to take with her from the harem to the palace.

14 In the evening she would go into the palace and in the morning she would return to the second harem, into the care of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who was in charge of the mistresses. She would not go again to the king unless the king wanted her and she was called for by name.

15 Now Esther was the daughter of Abihail, who had been Mordecai's uncle. Mordecai had taken Esther in as his own daughter. When her turn came to go in to the king, she did not want anything except what Hegai, the king's eunuch in charge of the harem, advised. Esther found favour with everyone who saw her.

16 Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus to his royal palace in the tenth month, which is the month Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

17 The king loved Esther more than any of the other women, so he favoured her and was kinder to her than he was to any of the other virgins. He put the royal crown on her head and made her queen in place of Vashti.

18 The king put on a great banquet for all his officials and ministers to honour Esther. He declared a holiday for the provinces and gave generous gifts.

19 When the virgins were gathered a second time, Mordecai was sitting in the king's gate.

20 Now Esther had not declared her heritage or her people, just as Mordecai had instructed her, for Esther did what Mordecai told her just as she had done when she was raised by him.

21 At that time when Mordecai was sitting in the king's gate, Bigthan and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs among those who guarded the threshold, became angry and conspired to assassinate King Ahasuerus.

22 When Mordecai learned about the plot, he told Queen Esther, and she told the king in Mordecai's name.

23 After the matter had been fully investigated, Bigthan and Teresh were hanged on a pole, and this was recorded in the Book of the Chronicles in the presence of the king.

Esther 3

1 Sometime later King Ahasuerus promoted Hammedatha the Agagite's son Haman, elevating him to a position above all the other officials who were with him.

2 All the king's ministers who were in the king's gate would kneel and bow down to Haman, because the king had commanded that Haman be honoured in this way. Mordecai, however, would not kneel and would not bow down.

3 The king's ministers who were in the king's gate asked Mordecai, "Why are you disobeying the king's command?"

4 They asked him this day after day, and he would not listen to them, so they told Haman to see whether or not Mordecai would get away with his disobedience, since he also had told them that he was Jewish.

5 When Haman saw that Mordecai would not kneel and bow down to him, he flew into a rage.

6 Because they had told him who the people of Mordecai were, Haman found it unacceptable to kill only Mordecai. So Haman sought to destroy all of Mordecai's people, the Jewish people, who were in all the kingdom of Ahasuerus.

7 In the twelfth year of the reign of King Ahasuerus, in the first month (the month Nisan), the pur (that is, the lot) was cast in Haman's presence to determine the best day and month to carry out his plot. The lot indicated the twelfth month, the month Adar.

8 Then Haman told King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered and divided among the people throughout the provinces of your kingdom. Their laws are different than all the other people, they don't obey the king's laws, and it's not in the king's best interest to leave them alone.

9 If the king approves, let it be decreed that they're to be destroyed, and I'll measure out 10,000 silver talents and bring it to the king's treasury for those who will do the work."

10 The king removed his signet ring from his hand and gave it to Hammedatha the Agagite's son Haman, the enemy of the Jewish people.

11 The king told Haman, "The silver is given to you, along with the people, to do with them as you see fit."

Philippians 2

12 And so, my dear friends, just as you have always obeyed, not only when I was with you but even more now that I am absent, continue to work out your salvation with fear and trembling.

13 For it is God who is producing in you both the desire and the ability to do what pleases him.

14 Do everything without complaining or arguing

15 so that you may be blameless and innocent, God's children without any faults among a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine like stars in the world

16 as you hold firmly to the word of life. Then I will be proud when the Messiah returns that I did not run in vain or work hard in vain.

17 Yet even if I am being poured out like an offering as part of the sacrifice and service I offer for your faith, I rejoice, and I share my joy with all of you.

18 In the same way, you also should rejoice and share your joy with me.

19 Now I hope in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy to you soon so that I can be encouraged when I learn of your condition.

20 I do not have anyone else like him who takes a genuine interest in your welfare.

21 For all the others look after their own interests, not after those of Jesus the Messiah.

22 But you know his proven worth — how like a son with his father he served with me in the gospel.

23 Therefore, I hope to send him as soon as I see how things are going to turn out for me.

24 Indeed, I am confident in the Lord that I will come to visit you soon.

25 Meanwhile, I thought it best to send Epaphroditus — my brother, fellow worker, and fellow soldier, but your messenger and minister to my need — back to you.

26 For he has been longing for all of you and is troubled because you heard that he was sick.

27 Indeed, he was sick to the point of death, but God had mercy on him, and not only on him but also on me, so that I would not have one sorrow on top of another.

28 Therefore, I am especially eager to send him so that you may have the joy of seeing him again, and so that I may feel relieved.

29 So joyfully welcome him in the Lord and make sure you honour such people highly,

30 because he came close to death for the work of the Messiah by risking his life to complete what remained unfinished in your service to me.

21st July

Esther 3

12 The king's scribes were summoned on the thirteenth day of the first month, and all that Haman commanded was written to the regional authorities of the king, to the governors who were over each province, and to the officials of each people. This order was translated in the name of King Ahasuerus into the language of each province and bore the seal of the king's signet ring.

13 Letters were sent by couriers to all of the king's provinces to annihilate, to kill, and to destroy all the Jewish people, both young and old, women and children, and to confiscate their goods on a single day — the thirteenth day of the twelfth month of Adar.

14 A copy of the letter was to be issued as an edict in every province and published to all the people, telling them to be ready for that day.

15 The couriers went out, urged on by the king's command, and the edict was issued in Susa the capital. The king and Haman sat down to drink, while the city of Susa was thrown into confusion.

Esther 4

1 When Mordecai learned all that had been done, he tore his garments and clothed himself in sackcloth and ashes. He went into the middle of the city and cried out with a loud and bitter cry.

2 He came as far as the front of the king's gate, because no one was allowed to enter the king's gate clothed in sackcloth.

3 In every province where the order of the king and his edict reached, among the Jewish people there was great mourning, fasting, weeping, and lamenting, and many lay down on sackcloth and ashes.

4 When Esther's young women and her eunuchs came and told her, the queen was greatly distressed. She sent clothes for Mordecai to put on so he could take off the sackcloth that he had on, but he would not take them.

5 Then Esther summoned Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs, whom he had assigned to her, and she ordered him to go to Mordecai to find out what was happening and why it was happening.

6 Hathach went to Mordecai in the city square that was in front of the king's gate.

7 Mordecai told him everything that had happened and the exact amount of money that Haman had said he would pay into the king's treasury in order to destroy the Jewish people.

8 Mordecai gave Hathach a copy of the written decree ordering the Jews' destruction that had been issued in Susa. Mordecai wanted him to show it to Esther, to explain it to her, and then to instruct her to go in to the king to seek his favour and plead with him for her people.

9 Hathach went and told Esther what Mordecai had said.

10 Then Esther spoke to Hathach, instructing him to go back to Mordecai with this message:

11 "Every servant of the king and every person in the king's provinces knows that for any man or woman who goes to the king in the inner court without being summoned there is only one law — that he be put to death — unless the king holds out the golden sceptre to him. Only then he will live. For these last 30 days I've not been summoned to come to the king."

12 They reported Esther's message to Mordecai.

13 Mordecai told them to reply to Esther, "Don't suppose that because you are in the palace, you will escape any more than the other Jewish people."

14 Indeed, if you are silent at this time, relief and deliverance will come to the Jewish people from another place, but you and your father's family will perish. Who knows but that you were brought to the kingdom for a time like this?"

15 Then Esther replied to Mordecai,

16 "Go and gather all the Jewish people who are in Susa and fast for me. Don't eat or drink for three days, night or day. Both I and my young women will also fast in the same way, and then I'll go in to the king, even though it's against the law. And if I perish, I perish."

17 Then Mordecai left and did everything that Esther had ordered him.

Esther 5

1 On the third day, Esther put on her royal attire and stood in the inner courtyard of the palace in front of the king's quarters. The king was sitting on his royal throne in the throne room, opposite the entrance to the building.

2 When the king saw Queen Esther standing in the courtyard, she won his favour, and the king extended to Esther the gold sceptre that he was holding. Esther approached and touched the top of the sceptre.

3 The king asked her, "What do you want, Queen Esther? What is your request? Even if it's half of the kingdom, it will be given to you."

4 Esther replied, "If it pleases the king, let the king and Haman come today to the banquet I've prepared for him."

5 The king responded, "Bring Haman quickly so we may do what Esther has requested." So the king and Haman went to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

6 While they were drinking wine, the king asked Esther, "What's your petition? It will be given to you. What's your request? Up to half of the kingdom, and it will be done."

7 Esther answered, "This is my petition and my request:

8 If I've found favour with the king and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and to honour my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I'll prepare for them tomorrow, and then I'll do what the king has said."

9 Haman went out that day pleased and happy, but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, and that he did not stand up and tremble in his presence, Haman was furious with Mordecai.

10 Haman restrained himself, went to his house, and sent for his friends and his wife Zeresh.

11 Then Haman told them about his splendid wealth, the number of his sons, all the ways the king had honoured him, and that he had promoted him above all the other officials and ministers of the king.

12 Then Haman said, "Even Queen Esther brought no one except me with the king to the banquet that she held. Furthermore, I (along with the king) have also been invited by her tomorrow.

13 But all this does not satisfy me every time I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate."

14 Then Zeresh his wife and all his friends said, "Have a pole made 75 feet high, and then in the morning speak to the king and have Mordecai hanged on it. Then go with the king to the banquet happy." This advice pleased Haman, and he had the pole made.

Esther 6

1 That night the king could not sleep, so he gave instructions to bring the book of records, the chronicles, and they were read to the king.

2 It was found recorded there that Mordecai had reported about Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs who guarded the entrance to the restricted areas of the palace, and that they had conspired to assassinate King Ahasuerus.

3 So the king asked, "What honour and distinction was bestowed on Mordecai for this?" The young men who served the king answered, "Nothing was done for him."

4 The king said, "Who is in the courtyard?" Now Haman had just entered the outer courtyard of the palace to speak to the king about having Mordecai hanged on the pole he had set up.

5 The king's young men told him, "Look, Haman is standing in the courtyard." The king said, "Let him come in."

6 After Haman came in, the king asked him, "What should be done for the man whom the king desires to honour?" Haman told himself, "Whom would the king desire to honour more than me?"

7 Haman answered the king, "For a man whom the king desires to honour,

8 let them bring royal robes that the king has worn and a horse on which the king has ridden, with a royal crown placed on its head.

9 Then give the robes and the horse to one of the king's most noble officials. Let them put the robes on the man whom the king desires to honour, and let them put him on the horse in the main square of the city. Then let them announce in front of him, 'This is what is done for the man whom the king desires to honour.'"

10 Then the king told Haman, "Quick! Take the clothes and the horse just as you have suggested and do this for Mordecai the Jew who sits in the king's gate. And don't let anything you've suggested fall through the cracks."

11 So Haman took the clothes and the horse, dressed Mordecai, and put him on the horse in the main square of the city. He cried out in front of him, "This is what is done for the man whom the king desires to honour."

12 Then Mordecai returned to the king's gate, while Haman hurried to his house, mourning and hiding his face.

13 Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him. His wise friends and his wife Zeresh told him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is one of the Jewish people, you won't prevail against him. Instead, you will surely fall before him."

14 While they were still talking to him, the king's eunuchs arrived, and they quickly took him to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

Esther 7

1 The king and Haman went in to have a drink with Queen Esther.

2 On the second day the king again told Esther as they drank wine, "What's your petition, Queen Esther? It will be given to you. What's your request? Up to half of the kingdom, and it will be done."

3 Queen Esther answered: "If I've found favour with you, your majesty, and if it seems good to the king, let my life be given to me as my petition and my people as my request.

4 Indeed, I and my people have been sold to be annihilated, killed, and destroyed. If we had just been sold as male and female slaves, I would have kept quiet, because the trouble wouldn't have been sufficient to bother the king."

5 Then King Ahasuerus asked Queen Esther, "Who is this, and where is the person who would dare do this?"

6 Esther replied, "An adversary and an enemy — it's this wicked Haman!" So Haman was terrified before the king and the queen.

7 The king got up from the banquet in anger and went out to the palace garden, while Haman stood there begging Queen Esther to spare his life, because he realized that the king intended to harm him.

Philippians 3

1 So then, my brothers, keep on rejoicing in the Lord. It is no trouble for me to write the same things to you; indeed, it is for your safety.

2 Beware of the dogs! Beware of the evil workers! Beware of the mutilators!

3 For it is we who are the circumcision — we who worship in the Spirit of God and find our joy in the Messiah Jesus. We have not placed any confidence in the flesh,

4 although I could have confidence in the flesh. If anyone thinks he can place confidence in the flesh, I have more reason to think so.

5 Having been circumcised on the eighth day, I am of the nation of Israel, from the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of Hebrews. As far as the Law is concerned, I was a Pharisee.

6 As for my zeal, I was a persecutor of the church. As far as righteousness in the Law is concerned, I was blameless.

7 But whatever things were assets to me, these I now consider a loss for the sake of the Messiah.

8 What is more, I continue to consider all these things to be a loss for the sake of what is far more valuable, knowing the Messiah Jesus, my Lord. It is because of him that I have experienced the loss of all those things. Indeed, I consider them rubbish in order to gain the Messiah

9 and be found in him, not having a righteousness of my own that comes from the Law, but one that comes through the faithfulness of the Messiah, the righteousness that comes from God and that depends on faith.

10 I want to know the Messiah — what his resurrection power is like and what it means to share in his sufferings by becoming like him in his death,

11 though I hope to experience the resurrection from the dead.

12 It's not that I have already reached this goal or have already become perfect. But I keep pursuing it, hoping somehow to embrace it just as I have been embraced by the Messiah Jesus.

13 Brothers, I do not consider myself to have embraced it yet. But this one thing I do: Forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead,

14 I keep pursuing the goal to win the prize of God's heavenly call in the Messiah Jesus.

15 Therefore, those of us who are mature should think this way. And if you think differently about anything, God will show you how to think.

16 However, we should live up to what we have achieved so far.

17 Join together in imitating me, brothers, and pay close attention to those who live by the example we have set for you.

18 For I have often told you, and now tell you even with tears, that many live as enemies of the cross of the Messiah.

19 Their destiny is destruction, their god is their belly, and their glory is in their shame. Their minds are set on worldly things.

20 Our citizenship, however, is in heaven, and it is from there that we eagerly wait for a Saviour, the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

21 He will change our unassuming bodies and make them like his glorious body through the power that enables him to bring everything under his authority.

Esther 7

8 When the king returned to the banquet hall from the palace garden, Haman was prostrate on the couch where Esther was. The king asked, "Will this man even assault the queen with me in the house?" The king had no sooner spoken than they covered Haman's face.

9 Then Harbonah, one of the eunuchs attending the king, observed, "Look there! A pole is standing 75 feet high at Haman's house that he prepared for Mordecai, whose report benefitted the king!" The king said, "Hang him on it."

10 So they hanged Haman on the pole he had set up for Mordecai, and then the king's anger subsided.

Esther 8

1 That day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the property of Haman, the enemy of the Jewish people, and Mordecai came into the king's presence because Esther had told him how Mordecai was related to her.

2 The king took off his signet ring that he had taken from Haman and gave it to Mordecai. Esther then put Mordecai in charge of Haman's property.

3 Then Esther spoke to the king again and fell at his feet. She wept and pleaded with him for mercy to overturn the evil plan devised by Haman the Agagite and his plot against the Jewish people.

4 The king extended the golden sceptre to Esther, and she got up and stood before the king.

5 She said, "If it pleases the king, and if I've found favour with him, and if the matter is proper in the king's opinion, and if I'm pleasing to the king, let an order be issued revoking the letters devised by Hammedatha the Agagite's son Haman, which ordered the destruction of the Jewish people throughout the king's provinces.

6 Indeed, how can I bear to see this disaster happen to my people? How can I bear to see the destruction of my kinsmen?"

7 King Ahasuerus told Queen Esther and Mordecai the Jew, "Look, I've given Haman's property to Esther, and they have hanged him on the pole because he tried to harm the Jewish people.

8 Now, in the name of the king, you write what seems good to you concerning the Jewish people, and seal it with the king's signet ring, for a document written in the king's name and sealed with the king's signet ring cannot be revoked."

9 The king's scribes were summoned at that time, on the twenty-third day of the third month, which is the month Sivan, and everything that Mordecai commanded the Jewish people, the regional authorities, the governors, and the provincial officials of the 127 provinces from India to Cush was written down for each province according to its script, for each people according to their language, and for the Jewish people according to their script and language.

10 He wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed it with the king's signet ring. He sent the letters by couriers on horseback, riding steeds especially bred for the king.

11 What the king granted the Jewish people in every town was the right to assemble and defend themselves, to annihilate, kill, and destroy every armed force of a people or a province that was hostile to them, including children and women, and to plunder their property.

12 Throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, the one day for the Jewish people to do this was the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar.

13 A copy of the document was to be issued as law in each and every province and published for all people, indicating that the Jewish people were to be ready to take vengeance on their enemies on that day.

14 The couriers, mounted on the royal steeds, left quickly, urged on by the king's command. The edict was also issued in Susa the capital.

15 Mordecai left the king's presence in royal robes of blue and white, wearing a large golden crown and a purple robe made of fine linen; and the city of Susa shouted with joy.

16 For the Jewish people, there was light and joy, gladness and honour.

17 In each and every province, and in each and every city, in the places where the king's order and edict reached, there was gladness and joy among the Jewish people, along with a feast and a holiday. Many of the people of the land became Jews, because they had come to fear the Jewish people.

Esther 9

1 On the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar, when the king's order and edict was about to be carried out, on the day when the enemies of the Jewish people expected to prevail over them, things were turned around so that the Jewish people themselves prevailed over those who hated them.

2 The Jewish people assembled in their towns throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus to strike out against those who intended to harm them, and no one could oppose them because all the people had come to fear the Jews.

3 All the provincial officials, the regional authorities, the governors, and those doing the king's work supported the Jewish people because the fear of Mordecai had come over them.

4 Indeed, Mordecai was a powerful official in the palace and his fame spread throughout the provinces. Indeed, the man Mordecai grew more and more powerful.

5 The Jewish people struck down all their enemies with the sword, killing and destroying them, and they did with their enemies as they pleased.

6 In Susa the capital the Jewish people killed and destroyed 500 people.

7 They killed Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha,

8 Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha,

9 Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha,

10 the ten sons of Hammedatha's son Haman, the enemy of the Jewish people, but they did not lay their hands on the spoils.

11 On that day the number of those slain in Susa the capital was reported to the king.

12 The king told Queen Esther, "In Susa the capital the Jewish people have killed and destroyed 500 people, including Haman's ten sons. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now what's your petition? It will be given to you. What's your further request? It will be done."

13 Then Esther said, "If it pleases the king, let it also be granted to the Jewish people in Susa to do tomorrow what the edict allowed them to do today, and let Haman's ten sons be hanged on poles."

14 The king said, "Let this be done." So an edict was issued in Susa, and Haman's ten sons were hanged on poles.

15 The Jewish people in Susa assembled again on that day, the fourteenth of Adar, and they killed 300 people in Susa, but they did not lay their hands on the spoils.

16 The rest of the Jewish people in the king's provinces assembled to defend themselves, and they gained relief from their enemies, killing 75,000 of those who hated them. But they did not lay their hands on the spoils.

17 They did this on the thirteenth day of Adar and rested on the fourteenth day, making it a day of feasting and joy.

18 The Jewish people in Susa assembled on the thirteenth day and again on the fourteenth, and then rested on the fifteenth day and made it a day of feasting and joy.

19 Therefore the Jewish people in the rural areas who live in unwalled towns make the fourteenth day of the month Adar a holiday for joy and feasting, and people send presents to one another.

20 Mordecai wrote these instructions and sent letters to all the Jewish people in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, both near and far,

21 establishing that they should celebrate the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month Adar every year,

22 as the days on which the Jewish people enjoyed relief from their enemies. It was a month when things turned around for them, from sorrow to joy and from mourning to a holiday. They were to celebrate these days as days of feasting and joy, and they were to send presents to one another and gifts to the poor.

23 So the Jewish people made a tradition out of what they had begun to do and of what Mordecai had written to them,

24 since Hammedatha's son Haman, the enemy of the Jewish people, had plotted against the Jewish people to destroy them, and he had cast the pur (that is, the lot) to determine when to confuse and destroy them.

25 But when Esther came before the king, he ordered through a letter that the evil plot that Haman had devised against the Jewish people be rescinded, and that he and his sons be hanged on poles.

26 Therefore these days were called Purim, from the word pur. Because of all that was written in this letter, because of what they experienced in this matter, and because of what happened to them,

27 the Jewish people established this celebration, making it a tradition for themselves, for their descendants, and for all who joined with them that they should not fail to observe these two days each year, based on the written instructions, and at the prescribed time.

28 These days should be remembered and observed in every generation by each family in every province and town. These days of Purim should not be neglected by the Jewish people, and that they should not be forgotten by their descendants.

29 Queen Esther, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew wrote with full authority confirming this second letter about Purim.

30 Letters containing wishes for peace and stability were sent to all the Jewish people, to the 127 provinces of Ahasuerus' kingdom,

31 establishing these days of Purim at the prescribed time, just as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had established, and just as the Jewish people had established for themselves and for their descendants. The letter included instructions for their fasting and lamentations.

32 The order of Esther established these instructions for Purim, and it was officially recorded.

Esther 10

1 King Ahasuerus imposed tribute on the land and on the islands of the sea.

2 Now as to all the powerful and great deeds of Ahasuerus, along with an exact statement about the high position of Mordecai to which the king promoted him, these things are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia, are they not?

3 Indeed, Mordecai the Jew was second in authority only to King Ahasuerus and was a powerful official among the Jewish people. Mordecai was accepted favourably by his many kinsmen, and he sought the good of his countrymen and spoke out for the welfare of all his people.

Philippians 4

- 1 Therefore, my dear brothers whom I long for, my joy and my victor's crown, this is how you must stand firm in the Lord, dear friends.
- 2 I urge Euodia and Syntyche to have the same attitude in the Lord.
- 3 Yes, I also ask you, my true partner, to help these women. They have worked hard with me to advance the gospel, along with Clement and the rest of my fellow workers, whose names are in the Book of Life.
- 4 Keep on rejoicing in the Lord at all times. I will say it again: Keep on rejoicing!
- 5 Let your gracious attitude be known to all people. The Lord is near:
- 6 Never worry about anything. Instead, in every situation let your petitions be made known to God through prayers and requests, with thanksgiving.
- 7 Then God's peace, which goes far beyond anything we can imagine, will guard your hearts and minds in union with the Messiah Jesus.
- 8 Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is honourable, whatever is fair, whatever is pure, whatever is acceptable, whatever is commendable, if there is anything of excellence and if there is anything praiseworthy — keep thinking about these things.
- 9 Likewise, keep practising these things: what you have learned, received, heard, and seen in me. Then the God of peace will be with you.
- 10 Now I rejoice in the Lord greatly, because once again you have shown your concern for me. Of course, you were concerned for me but you did not have an opportunity to show it.
- 11 I am not saying this because I am in any need, for I have learned to be content in whatever situation I am in.
- 12 I know how to be humble, and I know how to prosper. In each and every situation I have learned the secret of being full and of going hungry, of having too much and of having too little.
- 13 I can do all things through him who strengthens me.
- 14 Nevertheless, it was kind of you to share my troubles.
- 15 You Philippians also know that in the early days of the gospel, when I left Macedonia, no church participated with me in the matter of giving and receiving except for you.
- 16 Even while I was in Thessalonica, you provided for my needs not once, but twice.
- 17 It is not that I am looking for a gift. No, I want to see that you receive the fruit that increases to your benefit.
- 18 I have been paid in full and have more than enough. I am fully supplied, now that I have received from Epaphroditus what you sent — a fragrant aroma, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasing to God.
- 19 And my God will fully supply your every need according to his glorious riches in the Messiah Jesus.
- 20 Glory belongs to our God and Father forever and ever! Amen.
- 21 Greet every saint who is in union with the Messiah Jesus. The brothers who are with me send their greetings to you.
- 22 All the saints, especially those of the emperor's household, greet you.
- 23 May the grace of the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be with your spirit! Amen.

Job 1

- 1 There once was a man in the land of Uz named Job. The man was blameless as well as upright. He feared God and kept away from evil.
- 2 Seven sons and three daughters had been born to him.
- 3 His livestock included 7,000 sheep, 3,000 camels, 500 teams of oxen, 500 female donkeys, and many servants. Indeed, the man's stature greatly exceeded that of many people who lived in the East.
- 4 His sons used to travel to each other's houses in turn on a regular schedule and hold feasts, inviting their three sisters to celebrate with them.
- 5 When their time of feasting had concluded, Job would rise early in the morning to send for them and consecrate them to God. He would offer a burnt offering for each one, because Job thought, "Perhaps my children sinned by cursing God in their hearts." Job did this time and again.
- 6 One day, divine beings presented themselves to the LORD, and Satan accompanied them.
- 7 The LORD asked Satan, "Where have you come from?" In response, Satan answered the LORD, "From wandering all over the earth and walking back and forth throughout it."
- 8 Then the LORD asked Satan, "Have you considered my servant Job? There is no one like him on earth. The man is blameless as well as upright. He fears God and keeps away from evil."
- 9 But in response, Satan asked the LORD, "Does Job fear God for nothing?"
- 10 Haven't you surrounded him with a fence on all sides, around his house, and around all that he owns? You have blessed everything he puts his hands on and you have increased his livestock in the land.
- 11 However, stretch out your hand and strike everything he owns, and he will curse you to your face."
- 12 Then the LORD told Satan, "Very well then, everything he owns is under your control, only you may not extend your hand against him." So Satan left the LORD's presence.
- 13 Some time later, when his children were celebrating in their oldest brother's house,
- 14 a messenger approached Job and said, "The oxen were ploughing and the female donkeys were grazing nearby
- 15 when the Sabeans attacked, captured the servants, and killed them with swords. I alone escaped to tell you!"
- 16 While this messenger was still speaking, another came and announced, "A lightning storm struck and incinerated the flock and the servants while they were eating. I alone escaped to tell you!"
- 17 While this messenger was still speaking, another came and announced, "The Chaldeans formed three companies, raided the camels, captured the servants, and killed them with swords. Only I alone escaped to tell you."
- 18 While this messenger was still speaking, another came and announced, "Your children were celebrating in their oldest brother's house
- 19 when a strong wind came straight out of the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house. It collapsed on the young people, and they died. I alone escaped to tell you!"
- 20 Then Job stood up, tore his robe, shaved his head, fell to the ground, bowed very low,
- 21 and exclaimed: "I left my mother's womb naked, and I will return to God naked. The LORD has given, and the LORD has taken. May the name of the LORD be blessed."
- 22 Job neither sinned nor charged God with wrongdoing in all of this.

Job 2

- 1 Some time later, divine beings again presented themselves to the LORD, and Satan accompanied them to present himself to the LORD.

2 The LORD asked Satan, "Where have you come from?" In response, Satan told the LORD, "From wandering all over the earth and walking back and forth throughout it."

3 The LORD asked Satan, "Have you considered my servant Job? There is no one like him on earth. The man is blameless as well as upright. He fears God and keeps away from evil. He remains firm in his integrity, even though you have been urging me to overwhelm him without cause."

4 Satan answered the LORD, "Skin for skin! The man will give up everything that he owns in exchange for his health.

5 However, stretch out your hand and strike his bones and flesh, and he'll curse you to your face, won't he?"

6 Then the LORD told Satan, "Very well then, he is under your control. Just preserve his life."

7 So Satan left the LORD's presence and struck Job with terrible boils from the sole of his feet to the top of his head.

8 Job took a broken piece of pottery to scrape himself while sitting among the ashes.

9 Then his wife told him, "Do you remain firm in your integrity? Curse God and die!"

10 But he replied to her, "You're talking like foolish women do. Are we to accept what is good from God but not tragedy?" Throughout all of this, Job did not sin by what he said.

11 When Job's three friends heard all these tragedies that happened to him, they each travelled from their home towns to visit him. Eliphaz came from Teman, Bildad came from Shuah, and Zophar came from Naamath. They met together and went to console and comfort him.

12 Observing him from a distance, at first they didn't even recognize him, so they raised their voices and burst into tears. They each ripped their robes, threw ashes into the air on their heads, 13 and sat with Job on the ground for a full week without saying a word, since they could see the great extent of his anguish.

Job 3

1 After this, Job spoke up solemnly, cursing the day he was born.

2 This is what Job said:

3 "Let the day when I was born be annihilated, along with the night when it was announced, 'It's a boy!'

4 Let that day be dark; let God above not care about it; let no light shine over it.

5 Let darkness and deep gloom reclaim it; let clouds settle down on it; let blackness in mid-day terrify it.

6 Let darkness carry that night away; let it not take its place joyfully among the days of the year; let it not be entered into the calendar.

7 "Yes, let that night be barren; let it not appear with its joyful shout.

8 Let whoever curses days curse it — those who are ready to awaken monsters.

9 Let the stars of its evening twilight be dark; let it hope for light but let there be none; let it not see the breaking rays of the dawn.

10 "For that night refused to shut the doors of my mother's womb; it failed to keep me from seeing this trouble.

11 Why didn't I die while I was still in the womb, or die while I was being born?

12 Why was there a lap to hold me, and why were there breasts to nurse me?

13 "If I had died, I would be lying down by now, undisturbed, asleep, and at rest,

14 along with kings and counsellors of the earth, who used to build for themselves what are now only ruins,

15 or princes who amassed gold for themselves, and who kept filling their houses with silver.

16 "Or why was I not buried like a stillborn child, like babies who never saw the light?

17 In that place, the wicked stop causing trouble, and there those whose strength is exhausted are at rest.
18 In that place, those who once were prisoners will be at ease together; they won't hear the voice of oppressors.
19 The unimportant and the important are both there, and the servant is free from his master.
20 "Why does God give light to the sufferer or life to the bitter person:
21 To those who are longing for death — even though it does not come? To those who search for it more than for hidden treasure?
22 To those who are happy beyond measure when they reach their graves?
23 To the formerly successful man who has lost his way in life because God has fenced him in?
24 "As far as I'm concerned, my food comes to me in the form of sighs, and my cries of anguish pour out like water.
25 For the dreaded thing that I feared has happened to me, what caused me to worry has engulfed me.
26 I will not be at ease; I will not be quiet; I will not rest; because trouble has arrived."

Job 4

1 In reply, Eliphaz from Teman answered:
2 "Will you get offended if somebody tries to talk to you? Who can keep from speaking at a time like this?
3 Look! You've admonished many people, and you've strengthened feeble hands.
4 A word from you has supported those who have stumbled, and has strengthened faltering knees.
5 "But now it's your turn, and you're the one who is worn out! Now it's striking you, and you're dismayed!
6 "Your fear of God has been your confidence, hasn't it? The integrity of your life has been your hope, hasn't it?"

Colossians 1

1 From: Paul, an apostle of the Messiah Jesus by the will of God, and Timothy our brother.

2 To: The holy and faithful brothers in Colossae who are in union with the Messiah.

May grace and peace from God our Father be yours!

3 We give thanks to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, praying always for you,

4 because we have heard about your faith in the Messiah Jesus and the love that you have for all the saints,

5 based on the hope laid up for you in heaven. Some time ago you heard about this hope through the word of truth, the gospel

6 that has come to you. Just as it is bearing fruit and spreading all over the world, so it has been doing among you from the day you heard it and came to know the grace of God in truth.

7 You learned about this gospel from Epaphras, our dear fellow servant, who is a faithful minister of the Messiah on your behalf.

8 He has told us about your love in the Spirit.

9 For this reason, since the day we heard about this, we have not stopped praying for you and asking that you may be filled with the full knowledge of God's will with respect to all spiritual wisdom and understanding,

10 so that you might live in a manner worthy of the Lord and be fully pleasing to him as you bear fruit while doing all kinds of good things and growing in the full knowledge of God.

11 You are being strengthened with all power according to his glorious might, so that you might patiently endure everything with joy

12 and might thank the Father, who has enabled us to share in the saints' inheritance in the light.

13 God has rescued us from the power of darkness and has brought us into the kingdom of the Son whom he loves, 14 through whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

15 The Son is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation.

16 For by him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether they are kings, lords, rulers, or powers. All things have been created through him and for him.

17 He himself existed before anything else did, and he holds all things together.

18 He is also the head of the body, which is the church. He is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, so that he himself might have first place in everything.

19 For God was pleased to have all of his divine essence inhabit him.

20 Through the Son, God also reconciled all things to himself, whether things on earth or things in heaven, thereby making peace through the blood of his cross.

21 You who were once alienated with a hostile attitude, doing evil,

22 he has now reconciled by the death of his physical body, so that he may present you holy, blameless, and without fault before him.

23 However, you must remain firmly established and steadfast in the faith, without being moved from the hope of the gospel that you heard, which has been proclaimed to every creature under heaven and of which I, Paul, have become a servant.

Job 4

7 Now please think: Who has ever perished when they're innocent? Where have the upright been destroyed?
8 It's been my experience that those who plough the soil of iniquity and those who sow the seed of trouble will reap their harvest!
9 They perish by the breath of God; they are consumed by the storm that is his anger.
10 "The lioness may roar, and the lion cub may growl; but even the ivory teeth of the full grown lion are broken.
11 Full grown lions die when they cannot find prey; that's when the lion cubs are scattered.
12 "A message was confided to me; my ear caught a whisper of it.
13 Disquieting thoughts from dreams at night; when deep sleep falls on everyone.
14 A fear fell upon me, along with trembling that caused all my bones to shake in terror.
15 A spirit glided past me and made the hair on my skin to bristle.
16 It remained standing, but I couldn't recognize its appearance. A form appeared before my eyes; At first there was silence, and then this voice:
17 'Can a mortal person be more righteous than God? Or can the purity of the valiant exceed that of his maker?'
18 "Indeed, since he doesn't trust his servants, since he charges his angels with error,
19 how much less confidence does he have in those who dwell in houses of clay; who were formed from a foundation in dust and can perish like a moth?
20 They are defeated between morning and evening; they perish forever — and no one notices!
21 Their wealth perishes with them, doesn't it? They die, and do so without having wisdom, don't they?"

Job 5

1 "Cry out, won't you! Is there anyone who will answer you? To whom will you turn among the holy ones?
2 For wrath will slay a fool; zealous anger will kill the naive.
3 "I myself saw a fool becoming established, but I suddenly cursed where he lived.
4 His children are far from deliverance; they'll be maltreated before they leave home, with no one to rescue them.
5 Then the hungry will devour his harvest, snatching it even from the midst of thorns, while the thirsty covet their wealth.
6 For wickedness doesn't crop up from dust, nor does trouble sprout out of the ground;
7 But mankind is born headed for trouble, just as sparks soar skyward."
8 "Now as for me, I would seek God if I were you; I would commit my case to God.
9 He is always doing great things that cannot be explained, countless awesome deeds.
10 He sends rain on the surface of the earth, and waters the surface of the open country.
11 He sets the lowly on high, and lifts those who mourn to safety.
12 He frustrates the plans of the crafty; so that what they work for never succeeds.
13 He captures the wise in their own craftiness, bringing a quick end to their cunning advice.
14 They meet with darkness in broad daylight; at noonday they grope around as if it were night.
15 So he delivers from the sword of their mouth — the poor from the power of the mighty.
16 Therefore there is hope for those who are poor, and iniquity shuts its mouth.
17 "Indeed, how blessed is the person whom God reproves! So never disrespect the discipline of the Almighty, 18 because though he wounds, but then applies bandages; though he strikes, his hands still heal.

19 "He will deliver you through six calamities; and calamity won't touch you throughout the seventh.
20 He will deliver you from death by famine; in war from the power of the sword.
21 You'll be protected from the accusing tongue; you need not fear destruction when it heads your way.
22 You'll laugh at destruction and famine; and you need not fear the beasts of the earth.
23 For you'll have a pact with the stones in the field; and the beasts of the field will be at peace with you.
24 You'll know that your home is secure; when you search your possessions, and nothing will be missing.
25 You'll know that you'll have many children; and that your offspring will be like the grass of the earth.
26 You'll go to your grave at a ripe old age; like a stack of grain that's harvested at just the right time.
27 "Look! We have thought all this through, and what we've said is true; So please listen and learn for your own good!"

Job 6

1 In rebuttal, Job replied:
2 "If only my grief could be weighed; or my calamity piled together on a balance scale!
3 It would weigh more than the sand on the seashore! Here's why I've talked so rashly:
4 "The arrows of the Almighty have pierced me; my spirit absorbs their poison; God's terrors have been arranged just for me!
5 "Will the wild donkey bray from hunger if fresh grass is beside him? Will the ox low from distress if it is near its feed?
6 Tasteless food isn't eaten without salt, is it? Is there any taste in an egg white?
7 I cannot bring myself to touch them; food like this makes me sick."
8 "Who will grant my wish? I wish God would grant what I'm hoping for:
9 that God would just be willing to crush me; that he would let loose and eliminate me!
10 At least I could still take comfort and rejoice in unceasing anguish, for I didn't conceal what the Holy One has to say.
11 "Do I have the strength to wait? And why should I be patient?
12 Am I as strong as a rock? Am I some kind of iron man?
13 There is no help within me, is there? My resources have been driven away from me, haven't they?
14 The friend shows gracious love for his friend, even if he has forsaken the fear of the Almighty.
15 But my brothers have acted treacherously like a cascading river, like torrential rivers that overflow.
16 Filled with waters made cold by ice; they are where the snow goes to hide.
17 But then the snow melts, and they disappear; when warmed, they evaporate from their stream beds.
18 Travellers divert in their route; they go into a wasteland and die.
19 Travellers from Tema search intently; caravans from Sheba hope to find them.
20 For all their expectations, they are doomed to disappointment; even though they have come and searched this far.
21 "And now you're all just like them, aren't you? You see my terror and are terrified.
22 When did I ever ask you for anything, say 'Offer a bribe for me from your wealth?'
23 or say 'Deliver me from my enemy's control,' or 'Redeem me from the domination of ruthless people'?"

Colossians 1

24 Now I am rejoicing while suffering for you as I complete in my flesh whatever remains of the Messiah's sufferings on behalf of his body, which is the church.

25 I became its servant as God commissioned me to work for you, so that I may complete my ministry of the word of God.

26 This secret was hidden throughout the ages and generations but has now been revealed to his saints,

27 to whom God wanted to make known the glorious riches of this secret among the gentiles — which is the Messiah in you, our glorious hope.

28 It is he whom we proclaim as we admonish and wisely teach everyone, so that we may present everyone mature in the Messiah.

29 I work hard and struggle to do this, using the energy that he powerfully provides in me.

Colossians 2

1 For I want you to know how much I struggle for you, for those in Laodicea, and for all who have never seen me face to face.

2 Because they are united in love, I pray that their hearts may be encouraged by all the riches that come from a complete understanding of the full knowledge of the Messiah, who is the mystery of God.

3 In him are stored all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 I say this so that no one will mislead you with nice-sounding rhetoric.

5 For although I am physically absent, I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see how stable you are and how firm your faith in the Messiah is.

6 So then, just as you have received the Messiah Jesus the Lord, continue to live dependent on him.

7 For you have been rooted in him and are being built up and strengthened in the faith, just as you were taught, while you continue to be thankful.

8 See to it that no one enslaves you through philosophy and empty deceit according to human tradition, according to the basic principles of the world, and not according to the Messiah,

9 because all the essence of deity inhabits him in bodily form.

10 And you have been filled by him, who is the head of every ruler and authority.

11 In union with him you were also circumcised with a circumcision performed without human hands by stripping off the corrupt nature by the circumcision performed by the Messiah.

12 When you were buried with the Messiah in baptism, you were also raised with him through faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead.

13 Even when you were dead because of your offences and the uncircumcision of your flesh, God made you alive with him when he forgave us all of our offences,

14 having erased the charges that were brought against us, along with their obligations that were hostile to us. He took those charges away when he nailed them to the cross.

15 And when he had disarmed the rulers and the authorities, he made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them in the cross.

16 Therefore, let no one judge you in matters of food and drink or with respect to a festival, a New Moon, or Sabbath days.

17 These are a shadow of the things to come, but the reality belongs to the Messiah.

18 Let no one who delights in humility and the worship of angels cheat you out of the prize by rejoicing about what he has seen. Such a person is puffed up for no reason by his carnal mind.

19 He does not hold on to the head, from whom the whole body, which is nourished and held together by its joints and ligaments, grows as God enables it.

20 If you have died with the Messiah to the basic principles of the world, why are you submitting to its decrees as though you still lived in the world?

21 "Don't handle this! Don't taste or touch that!"

22 All of these things will be destroyed as they are used, because they are based on human commands and teachings.

23 These things have the appearance of wisdom in promoting self-made religion, humility, and harsh treatment of the body, but they have no value against self-indulgence.

Job 6

24 "Instruct me, and I'll remain silent. Help me understand where I've gone astray.
25 The truth can be painful, but what has your argument proven?
26 Did you intend your words to reprove, even though the speech of a desperate person is just wind?
27 Indeed, you would gamble to buy an orphan; and barter to buy your friend!
28 Now be willing to face me, and I won't lie to your face.
29 Repent! Let there be no injustice; Change your ways! My vindication is at stake.
30 Have I said anything that's unjust? I can discern evil, can't I?"

Job 7

1 "Men have harsh servitude on earth, do they not? His days are like those of a hired labourer, are they not?
2 I'm like a servant who longs for the shade, like a hired labourer who is looking for his wages,
3 truly I've been allotted months of emptiness; nights of trouble have been allocated to me.
4 "When I lie down I ask, 'When will I wake up?' But the night continues and I keep tossing and turning until dawn.
5 My skin is covered with worms and clods of dirt; my skin becomes rough and then breaks out afresh.
6 My days pass as swiftly as a hand-loom; but they come to their conclusion without hope.
7 Remember that my life is a breath; my eyes won't go back to seeing good things.
8 The eyes of the one who sees me won't see me anymore; your eyes will look for me but I won't be around!
9 As a cloud fades away and vanishes, the one who descends to the afterlife doesn't return.
10 He doesn't return again to his house, and his place won't recognize him anymore."
11 "In addition, I won't keep my opinion to myself; I'll speak from my distressed spirit; I'll complain with my bitter soul.
12 Am I the sea, or a sea monster, that you keep watching me?
13 For I've said, 'My bed will comfort me; my couch will ease my burdens while I complain.'
14 But then you scared me with dreams; you terrified me with visions.
15 I would rather die by strangulation than continue living.
16 I hate the thought of living forever! Leave me alone, because my days are pointless."
17 "What is a human being, that you make so much of him; that you set your affections on him,
18 visit him every morning, and test him continually?
19 Why won't you look away from me? Why don't you leave me alone so I can swallow my saliva?
20 So what if I sin? What have I done against you, you observer of humankind? Why have you made me your target? Why burden yourself with me?
21 Why haven't you pardoned my transgression and taken away my iniquity? Now I'm about to lie down in the dust. You will seek me diligently, but I won't be around!"

Job 8

1 Then in response, Bildad from Shuah said:
2 "How long will you keep talking like this? How long will you keep talking like a wind storm?
3 Does God pervert justice? Does the Almighty pervert what's right?"

4 "If your children sin against him; he'll make them a prisoner of their sins.
5 If you seek God, if you ask the Almighty for mercy,
6 if you are clean and upright; surely then he'll act on your behalf and restore your rightful place.
7 Your beginning may be small, but later years will be very great.
8 "Inquire of the previous generation, won't you please? Consider what their forefathers searched out.
9 Because we are of yesterday and we know nothing; for our time on earth is only a shadow.
10 Won't they instruct you, and tell you, and bring out words from the heart?
11 "Can papyrus grow where there's no marsh? Can reeds flourish without water?
12 While they are still green, and not yet ready to be harvested, they wither before any plant.
13 Such are the paths of everyone who forgets God — the hope of the godless will be destroyed:
14 his confidence is shattered; his trust is in a spider's web.
15 He leans against his house, but it won't stand; he grabs hold of it firmly, but it doesn't last.
16 He is a fresh sapling planted in the sunlight, spreading out its branches over its garden.
17 Its roots weave around a pile of stones, seeking to entrench itself among the rocks.
18 If he is uprooted from his place; then it will deny him: 'I never saw you.'
19 "Indeed, this is the benefit of God's way: from the soil other plants will sprout.
20 Surely God won't reject those who are blameless or hold hands with those who practise evil.
21 He will soon fill your mouth with laughter, and your lips will shout with joy.
22 Those who hate you will be clothed with shame; and the tent of the wicked will no longer exist.

Job 9

1 This was Job's response:
2 "Indeed, I'm fully aware that this is so, but how can a person become right with God?
3 If one were to seek to argue with him, he won't be able to answer him even once in a thousand times.
4 He is wise in heart and strong in will — who can be stubborn against him and succeed?
5 "He removes mountains without their knowledge, overthrowing them in his anger.
6 He shakes the earth from its orbit, so that its foundations shudder.
7 He commands the sun so that it doesn't shine and seals up the stars.
8 He alone spreads out the heavens, he walks on the waves of the sea.
9 He created Bear, Orion, the Pleiades, and the southern constellations.
10 He does great things that cannot be explained, and awesome deeds that cannot be counted.
11 "If he were to pass near me, I wouldn't notice; if he moves by, I wouldn't perceive him.
12 Indeed, if he snatches someone away, who could restrain him? Who can say to him, 'What are you doing?'
13 "God doesn't restrain his anger. Rahab's assistants are humiliated under him.

Colossians 3

- 1 Therefore, if you have been raised with the Messiah, keep focusing on the things that are above, where the Messiah is seated at the right hand of God.
- 2 Keep your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on the earth.
- 3 For you have died, and your life has been safely guarded by the Messiah in God.
- 4 When the Messiah, who is your life, is revealed, then you, too, will be revealed with him in glory.
- 5 So put to death your worldly impulses: sexual sin, impurity, passion, evil desire, and greed (which is idolatry).
- 6 It is because of these things that the wrath of God is coming on those who are disobedient.
- 7 You used to behave like them as you lived among them.
- 8 But now you must also get rid of anger, wrath, malice, slander, obscene speech, and all such sins.
- 9 Do not lie to one another, for you have stripped off the old nature with its practices
- 10 and have clothed yourselves with the new nature, which is being renewed in full knowledge, consistent with the image of the one who created it.
- 11 In him there is no Greek or Jew, circumcised or uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave, or free person. Instead, the Messiah is all and in all.
- 12 Therefore, as God's chosen ones, holy and loved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness, and patience.
- 13 Be tolerant of one another and forgive each other if anyone has a complaint against another. Just as the Lord has forgiven you, you also should forgive.
- 14 Above all, clothe yourselves with love, which ties everything together in unity.
- 15 Let the peace of the Messiah also rule in your hearts, to which you were called in one body, and be thankful.
- 16 Let the word of the Messiah inhabit you richly with wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another with psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs, and singing to God with thankfulness in your hearts.
- 17 And whatever you do, whether by speech or action, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him.
- 18 Wives, submit yourselves to your husbands, as is appropriate for those who belong to the Lord.
- 19 Husbands, love your wives, and do not be harsh with them.
- 20 Children, obey your parents in everything, for this is pleasing to the Lord.
- 21 Fathers, do not make your children resentful. Otherwise, they'll become discouraged.

Job 9

14 So how am I to answer him, choosing what I am to say to him?
15 Even if I'm in the right, I cannot answer him. I can only appeal for mercy.
16 "Were I to be summoned, and he were to answer me, I wouldn't even believe that he was listening to what I have to say.
17 For he crushes me with a storm, and keeps on wounding me for no reason.
18 He won't let me catch my breath; instead, he fills me with bitterness.
19 "Is this a contest of strength? He is obviously stronger! Is this a matter of justice? Who can sue him?
20 Though I'm in the right, my own mouth will condemn me; though I'm blameless, he'll pronounce me as guilty.
21 "I'm blameless; I don't know myself; I despise my life.
22 I say it's all the same — he destroys both the blameless and the guilty.
23 If a calamity causes sudden death, he'll mock at the despair of the innocent.
24 A land is given into the hands of a wicked person; he covers the faces of its judges. If it is not God, then who is it?"
25 "My days pass faster than a runner; but they pass quickly without seeing anything good.
26 They pass by like a ship made of reeds, like an eagle swooping down on its prey.
27 If I were to say, 'Let me forget my complaint,' change the expression on my face, and look cheerful,
28 then I still dread all of my suffering; I know you still won't acquit me.
29 I will be condemned, so why should I wear myself out with this futility?
30 "If I wash myself with water from snow, and cleanse my hands with lye,
31 you'll still drop me into the Pit; and my own clothes will despise me.
32 He's not a man like me, so that I can answer him, or that we can enter into litigation with one another.
33 There is not yet a mediator between us, who would set his hand on the two of us,
34 removing his rod from me; and not letting terror of him overwhelm me.
35 Otherwise, I would speak without being terrified of him, because I'm not like that inside myself."

Job 10

1 "I am disgusted with living, so I'm going to talk about my complaint freely. I'll speak out from the bitterness of my soul.
2 I'll say to God, 'Don't condemn me! Let me know why you are fighting me.
3 Does it delight you to oppress or despise what you have made, while you smile at the plans of the wicked?
4 Do you have eyes made of flesh? Can you look at things as humans do?
5 Can you live only as long as a human being? Or live the years of a mortal man?
6 "'For you seek out my iniquity and search for my sin.
7 Although you know that I'm not guilty, there's no one to deliver me from you!
8 Your hands formed and fashioned me, but then you have destroyed me all at once on all sides.
9 "'Please remember that you've made me like clay and you'll return me to dust.
10 Didn't you pour me out like milk and let me congeal like cheese?
11 You covered me with skin and flesh, weaving me together with bones and sinews.
12 You gave life and gracious love to me; your providential care has preserved my spirit.
13 But you've hidden these things in your heart — I know this was your purpose:
14 If I sin, you watch me and won't acquit me for my iniquity."

15 "Woe to me if I'm guilty! If I'm innocent, I cannot lift my head, because I am filled with disgrace. Look at my affliction!
16 But if I do lift up my head, you will hunt me like a lion! You will perform miracles in order to fight against me.
17 "You have brought new witnesses against me, you're even more angry with me — you've brought fresh troops to attack me!
18 So why did you bring me out from the womb? I wish I had died, before anyone had seen me,
19 as if I had never existed; carried from the womb to the grave.
20 My days are so few, aren't they? So leave me alone, then, so I can smile a little 21 before I go, never to return, leaving for the land of deep darkness and shadow.
22 It's a gloomy land, like deepest darkness; where there's no order, and where even the brightness is like darkness."

Job 11

1 Zophar from Naamath had this to say:
2 "Shouldn't a multitude of words be answered, or a person who talks too much be vindicated?
3 Will your irrational babble silence people, and when you mock them, will you escape without being shamed?
4 You've said, 'My teaching is flawless; I'm clean in God's sight.'
5 "But what if God were to speak? What if he were to talk with you,
6 and disclose his wise secrets? After all, there's so much more to understanding. So be aware that God will exact from you less than your sin deserves."
7 "Can you search through God's complex things? Can you uncover the limits of the Almighty?
8 These things are higher than the heavens, so what can you do? They are deeper than Sheol, so what can you know?
9 They are longer than the earth's circumference, and broader than the ocean.
10 "If he bypasses, or imprisons, or convenes a court, who can stop him?
11 For he knows mankind's deceitfulness; when he sees iniquity, won't he himself consider it?
12 An empty-headed person will gain understanding when a wild donkey is born a human being!"
13 "Now for you, if you will prepare your heart, spread out your hands to him.
14 If you have any iniquity, throw it far away. Don't let evil live in your residence.
15 Then your confidence will be flawless, and your security will keep you from terror.
16 You'll forget your suffering; you'll remember it like water that has evaporated.
17 Your life will be brighter than noonday. Even its darkness will be like dawn.
18 You'll be secure, because there is hope; you'll see that you're at rest and safe.
19 When you sleep, there'll be nothing to fear; and many will court your favour.
20 But what the wicked look for will fail; their way of escape will be taken away from them; their only hope is to take their final breath."

Colossians 3

22 Slaves, obey your earthly masters in everything, not only while being watched in order to please them, but with a sincere heart, fearing the Lord.

23 Whatever you do, work at it wholeheartedly as though you were doing it for the Lord and not merely for people.

24 You know that it is from the Lord that you will receive the inheritance as a reward. It is the Lord Messiah whom you are serving!

25 For the person who does what is wrong will be paid back for what he has done without favouritism.

Colossians 4

1 Masters, treat your slaves justly and fairly, because you know that you also have a Master in heaven.

2 Devote yourselves to prayer. Be alert and thankful when you pray.

3 At the same time also pray for us — that God would open before us a door for the word so that we may tell the secret about the Messiah, for which I have been imprisoned.

4 May I reveal it as clearly as I should!

5 Behave wisely toward outsiders, making the best use of your time.

6 Let your speech always be gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how you ought to answer everyone.

7 Tychicus will tell you everything that has happened to me. He is a dear brother, a faithful minister, and a fellow servant in the Lord.

8 I am sending him to you for this very reason, so that you may know how we are doing and that he may encourage your hearts.

9 He is coming with Onesimus, that faithful and dear brother, who is one of you. They will tell you everything that is happening here.

10 Aristarchus, my fellow prisoner, sends his greetings, as does Mark, the cousin of Barnabas. You have received instructions about him. If he comes to you, welcome him.

11 Jesus, who is called Justus, also greets you. These are the only ones of the circumcision who are fellow workers for the kingdom of God. They have been an encouragement to me.

12 Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of the Messiah Jesus, sends you his greetings. He is always wrestling in his prayers for you, so that you may stand mature, completely convinced of the entire will of God.

13 For I can testify on his behalf that he has a deep concern for you and for those in Laodicea and in Hierapolis.

14 Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas greet you.

15 Give my greetings to the brothers in Laodicea, especially to Nympha and the church that is in her house.

16 When this letter has been read among you, have it read also in the church of the Laodiceans, and be sure to read the one from Laodicea.

17 Tell Archippus, "See that you complete the ministry you have received from the Lord."

18 This greeting is written with my own signature — "Paul." Remember that I remain imprisoned. May grace be with you! Amen.

Job 12

- 1 In response Job replied:
- 2 "Truly, you are the people and wisdom will die with you!
- 3 Like you, I also have understanding. I'm not inferior to you; who doesn't know things like this?"
- 4 "I'm a laughingstock to my friends, someone who called on God. But then he answered this upright and blameless man, and I have become a laughingstock.
- 5 The carefree are thinking, 'I have contempt for misfortune,' Those who are about to stumble deserve it.
- 6 The tents of robbers are at rest, and those who provoke God are secure, that is, those who carry their god in their pocket.
- 7 "Ask the wild animals, and they'll teach you; the birds of the sky will tell you.
- 8 Or ask the green plants of the earth and they'll teach you; let the fish in the sea tell you.
- 9 Who among all of these doesn't know that the LORD's hand made them,
- 10 and that the life of every living thing rests in his control, along with the breath of every living human being?
- 11 The ear scrutinizes speech just as the palate tastes food."
- 12 "Wisdom may be found in the company of the aged. Understanding comes with longevity.
- 13 With God is wisdom and strength; counsel and understanding belongs to him.
- 14 When he tears down, nobody rebuilds; when he incarcerates, nobody escapes.
- 15 When he withholds water, rivers dry up; when he lets them loose, they'll flood the land.
- 16 "With God are strength and sound wisdom; both the deceived and those who deceive are responsible to him.
- 17 He leads counsellors away naked; he turns judges into fools.
- 18 He strips away the authority of kings to punish and puts them in prison clothes instead.
- 19 He leads away the priests naked and overthrows the ruling class.
- 20 He keeps reliable advisors from speaking, and removes discernment from elders.
- 21 He pours contempt on nobles and embarrasses the mighty.
- 22 He uncovers the hidden dimensions from darkness, bringing what is in deep shadow to light.
- 23 He makes nations great, and then destroys them; he enlarges nations, but then sends them away to captivity.
- 24 He withdraws understanding from national leaders of the world, causing them to wander through uncharted wilderness.
- 25 They grope in the dark without light; he causes them to stagger around like a drunkard."

Job 13

- 1 "Look, I've seen everything; I've listened carefully and I understand.
- 2 What you know, I know, too; I'm not inferior to you.
- 3 But I want to talk to the Almighty; and I'm determined to argue my case before God."
- 4 "But as for you, you whitewash with lies; all of you are worthless quacks.
- 5 I wish you'd all just shut up. Then at least you would appear to be wise.
- 6 "Now listen to my dispute! Pay attention to my arguments.
- 7 Why do you speak falsely on God's behalf and speak deceitfully about him?
- 8 Will you show partiality to him? Will you plead God's case?
- 9 Will things go well for you under his cross-examination? Can you lie to him, as you would to a human being?
- 10 "He will be sure to rebuke you, if you show partiality in secret.

11 His splendour will petrify you with terror, paralyzing you with fear, won't it?
12 Your maxims are just worthless proverbs; your defensive arguments are made of clay."
13 "Don't talk to me! It's my turn to speak; then whatever happens, happens.
14 Why shouldn't I bite my flesh or take my life in my hands?
15 Even though he kills me, I'll continue to hope in him. At least I'll be able to argue my case to his face!
16 I have this as my salvation: the godless person won't be appearing before him.
17 Pay attention to what I have to say and listen to my testimony with your own ears."
18 "Look, now! I've prepared my case for court. I know that I'm going to win.
19 Who can oppose me? If they do, I'll be silent and die.
20 Grant me only two things as you deal with me; then I won't hide from you.
21 Withdraw your hand far from me and keep me from being petrified with terror.
22 Then call and I'll answer, or let me speak and then you reply to me!"
23 "How many of my iniquities and sins have you counted? Show me my transgression and sin.
24 Why do you hide your face and regard me as your enemy?
25 Are you a god who would make a leaf tremble or who would prosecute a dry straw?
26 You've accused me of bitter things; you've caused me to reap the sins of my youth.
27 You've locked my feet in stocks; you watch all my steps; You've limited where I can walk.
28 So I'm a man who wears out like something rotten, like a garment that has become moth-eaten."

Job 14

1 Human beings born by women are short-lived and full of trouble.
2 He springs up like a flower and then withers. Like a shadow, he disappears and doesn't last.
3 Indeed, have you opened your eyes on one like this — to bring me into a legal fight with you?
4 Who can produce a clean thing from an unclean thing? No one!
5 Since his days have been determined, the number of his months is known to you. You've set his limit and he cannot exceed it.
6 Look away from him and leave him alone, so he can enjoy his time, like a hired worker."
7 "There is hope for the tree, if it is cut down, that it will sprout again, and that its shoots won't stop growing.
8 Even if its roots have grown ancient in the earth, and its stump begins to rot in the ground,
9 the presence of water will make it to bud so that it sprouts new branches like a young plant.
10 "But when a person dies and wastes away, when a person breathes his last, where will he be?
11 As water disappears from the sea, or water evaporates from a river,
12 so also a person lies down and does not get up; they won't awaken until the heavens are no more, nor will they arise from their sleep."

1 Thessalonians 1

1 From: Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy.

To: The church of the Thessalonians in union with God the Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

May grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be yours!

2 We always thank God for all of you when we mention you in our prayers.

3 In the presence of our God and Father, we constantly remember how your faith is active, your love is hard at work, and your hope in our Lord Jesus the Messiah is enduring.

4 Brothers whom God loves, we know that he has chosen you,

5 for the gospel we brought did not come to you in words only, but also with power, with the Holy Spirit, and with deep conviction. Indeed, you know what kind of people we proved to be while we were with you, acting on your behalf.

6 You became imitators of us and of the Lord. In spite of a great deal of suffering, you welcomed the word with the joy that the Holy Spirit produces.

7 As a result, you became a model for all the believers in Macedonia and Achaia.

8 From you the word of the Lord has spread out not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place where your faith in God has become known. As a result, we do not need to say anything about it.

9 For people keep telling us what kind of welcome you gave us and how you turned away from idols to serve a living and true God

10 and to wait for his Son whom he raised from the dead to come back from heaven. This Jesus is the one who rescues us from the coming wrath.

1 Thessalonians 2

1 For you yourselves know, brothers, that our visit to you was not a waste of time.

2 As you know, we suffered persecution and were mistreated in Philippi. Yet we were encouraged by our God to tell you his gospel in spite of strong opposition.

3 For our appeal to you does not spring from deceit, impure motives, or trickery.

4 Rather, because we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, we speak as we do, not trying to please people but God, who tests our motives.

5 As you know, we did not come with flattering words or with a scheme to make money. God is our witness!

6 We did not seek praise from people — from you or from anyone else —

7 even though as apostles of the Messiah we might have made such demands. Instead, we were gentle among you, like a nursing mother tenderly caring for her own children.

8 We cared so deeply for you that we were determined to share with you not only the gospel of God but our very lives. That is how dear you were to us.

9 Brothers, you remember our labour and toil. We worked night and day so that we would not become a burden to any of you while we proclaimed the gospel of God to you.

10 You and God are witnesses of how pure, honest, and blameless our conduct was among you who believe.

11 You know very well that we treated each of you the way a father treats his children.

12 We comforted and encouraged you, urging you to live in a manner worthy of God, who calls you into his kingdom and glory.

28th July

Job 14

13 "Won't you keep me safe in the afterlife? Conceal me until your anger subsides. Set an appointment for me, then remember me.

14 If a human being dies, will he live again? I will endure the entire time of my assigned service, until I am changed.

15 You'll call and I'll answer you; you'll long for your creatures that your hands have made.

16 Then you'll certainly count every step I took, but you won't keep an inventory of my sin.

17 My transgressions would be sealed up in a bag; you would cover over my sins.

18 "Mountains fall and crumble; rocks are dislodged from their places.

19 Water wears away stones; floods wash away topsoil from the land — but you destroy the hope of human beings just like that!

20 You overpower him once and for all, and then he departs; you change his appearance and then send him away.

21 "If his children are honoured, he doesn't know it; if they become insignificant, he never perceives it.

22 He feels only his own pain, and grieves only for himself."

Job 15

1 Then Eliphaz from Teman responded:

2 "Should a wise person respond with knowledge based on wind? Should he fill his stomach with a wind storm from the east?

3 Should he engage in unprofitable argument, or give a speech that benefits no one?

4 Yet you dispense with fear of God and hinder meditations before God.

5 Because your sin dictates your speech, you have chosen the language of the crafty.

6 Your own mouth is condemning you, not I; your own lips will testify against you."

7 "Were you the first person to be born? Were you brought forth before the hills were made?

8 Have you listened in on God's secret council? Have you limited wisdom only to yourself?

9 What do you know that we don't know, or that you understand and that isn't clear to us?

10 "We have both the grey-haired and the aged with us, and they are far older than your father.

11 Are God's encouragements inconsequential to you, even a word that has been spoken gently to you?

12 Why have your emotions carried you away? And why do your eyes flash

13 that you turn your anger against God and speak words like this?

14 "What is mankind, that he can be blameless? Or does being born of a woman mean he'll be in the right?

15 Look, if God doesn't trust his holy ones, if even the heavens aren't pure as he looks at them,

16 then how much less is one who is abhorred and corrupted, such as a man who drinks injustice like water?"

17 "I'll tell you what, listen to me! Let me relate what I've seen, 18 which is what wise men have explained, who didn't withhold anything from their ancestors.

19 To them alone was the land given, when no invader passed through their midst.

20 "The wicked person writhes in pain throughout his life, a number of years has been reserved for the ruthless.

21 Terrifying sounds ring in his ears; when times are prosperous, the Destroyer will attack him.
22 He does not believe he will escape darkness; he is destined for the sword.
23 He wanders around for food — where is it? He knows that a time of darkness is near.
24 Distress and pressure terrify him; they overwhelm him, like a king poised for attack.
25 "For he has raised his fist against God, defying the Almighty.
26 He defiantly ran against him carrying his thick, reinforced shield.
27 Though he covered his face with fat, and is grossly overweight at the waist,
28 He will live in devastated towns, in abandoned houses that are about to become heaps of rubble.
29 "He won't become rich and his wealth won't last; he won't expand his holdings to cover the land.
30 He won't escape darkness; a flame will wither his shoots; and he'll depart by the breath of God's mouth.
31 Let him not trust in a worthless speech. He leads only himself astray, for emptiness will be his reward.
32 This will be accomplished before his time; his branches won't grow luxuriant.
33 "He is like a vine that drops its unripe grapes; like an olive tree that loses its blossoms.
34 For the company of the godless is desolation, and fire consumes the tents of those who bribe.
35 For they conceive mischief and give birth to iniquity; their womb is pregnant with deception."

Job 16

1 In response, Job said:
2 "I've heard many things like this. What miserable comforters you all are!
3 Will windy words like yours never end? What is upsetting you that you keep on arguing?
4 "I could also talk like you if only you were in my place! Then I would put together an argument against you. I would shake my head at you
5 and encourage you with what I have to say; my words of comfort would lessen your pain.
6 "But if I speak, my pain isn't assuaged; if I refrain from speaking, what do I have to lose?"
7 "God has certainly worn me out; you devastated my entire world.
8 You've arrested me, making me testify against myself! My leanness rises up to attack me, accusing me to my face.
9 His anger tears me in his persistent resentment against me; he gnashes his teeth at me. My adversary glares at me.
10 People gaped at me with mouths wide open; they slap me in their scorn and gather together against me.
11 God has delivered me over to the ungodly, throwing me into the control of the wicked.
12 "He tore me apart when I was at ease; grabbing me by my neck, he shook me to pieces — then he really made me his target.
13 His archers surround me, slashing open my kidneys without pity; he pours out my gall on the ground.
14 Attack follows attack as he breaks through my defences! He runs over me like a mighty warrior.
15 "I've even sewn sackcloth directly to my skin; I've buried my strength in the dust.
16 My face is red from my tears, and dark shadows encircle my eyelids,
17 even though violence is not my intention, and my prayer is pure."
18 "Listen, earth! Don't cover my blood, for my outcry has no place to rest.
19 Even now, behold! I have a witness in heaven, my Advocate is on high.

20 My friends mock me, while my eyes overflow with tears to God, 21 crying for him to arbitrate between this man and God; as a human being does with his fellow neighbour.
22 For when only a few years have elapsed, I'll start down a path from which I'll never return."

1 Thessalonians 2

13 Here is another reason why we constantly give thanks to God: When you received God's word, which you heard from us, you did not accept it as the word of humans but for what it really is — the word of God, which is at work in you who believe.

14 For you, brothers, became imitators of the churches of God in Judea that are in union with the Messiah Jesus. You suffered the same persecutions from the people of your own country as they did from those Jews

15 who killed the Lord Jesus and the prophets, who have persecuted us, and who please neither God nor any group of people,

16 as they try to keep us from telling the gentiles how they can be saved. As a result, they are constantly adding to the number of sins they have committed. However, wrath has overtaken them at last!

17 Brothers, although we have been separated from you for a little while — in person but not in heart — we eagerly desire to see you again face to face.

18 That is why we wanted to come to you. Certainly I, Paul, wanted to come time and again, but Satan blocked our way.

19 After all, who is our hope, joy, or reason for rejoicing in the presence of our Lord Jesus at his coming? It is you, isn't it?

20 Yes, you are our glory and joy!

1 Thessalonians 3

1 Therefore, when we could stand it no longer, we decided to remain alone in Athens

2 and send Timothy, our brother who works with us for God in the gospel of the Messiah, to strengthen and encourage you in your faith,

3 so that no one would be shaken by these persecutions, for which you are aware that we were destined.

4 In fact, when we were with you, we told you ahead of time that we were going to suffer persecution. And as you know, that is what happened.

5 But when I could stand it no longer, I sent Timothy to find out about your faith. I was afraid that the tempter had tempted you in some way, and that our work had been a waste of time.

6 But Timothy has just now returned from visiting you and has told us the good news about your faith and love. He also told us that you always have fond memories of us and want to see us, just as we want to see you.

7 That's why, brothers, in all our distress and persecution we have been encouraged about you by your faith.

8 For now we can go on living, as long as you continue to stand firm in the Lord.

9 How can we thank God enough for you in return for all the joy that we have in God's presence because of you?

10 We pray very hard night and day that we may see you again face to face, so that we may equip you with whatever is lacking in your faith.

Job 17

1 "My spirit is crushed, my days are over; it's the grave for me!
2 Mockers surround me; I cannot stop staring at their hostility all through the night.
3 Offer, then, some collateral on my behalf. Is there anyone who will be my guarantor?
4 "Because you're the one who closed their hearts to compassion; therefore, you won't let them triumph.
5 Now as for the one who testifies against his friends to take their property, even the eyes of his children will fail.
6 "He has made me a byword among people; I'm being spit on in the face.
7 My eyes have grown weak from grief; and my whole body is as thin as a shadow.
8 The upright are appalled over this, and the innocent person is troubled by the godless.
9 But the righteous person will hold to his way, and those with clean hands will grow stronger and stronger."
10 "Come here now, all of you, and I won't find a wise person among you.
11 My days are passed; my plans have been shattered; along with my heart's desires.
12 They have transformed night into day — 'The light,' they say, 'is about to become dark.'
13 "If my hope were that my house is the afterlife itself, if I were to make my bed in darkness,
14 if I call out to the Pit, 'You're my father!' or say to the worm, 'My mother!' or 'My sister!'
15 where would my hope be? "And speaking of my hope, who would notice it?
16 Will it go down to the bars that lock the doors of the afterlife? Will we descend together into the dust?"

Job 18

1 Bildad from Shuah replied, saying:
2 "When are you going to stop your word hunt? Think first, and then we can talk.
3 Why do you think we're like dumb animals? Do you think we're stupid?
4 You're tearing yourself to pieces in your anger. Will the land be abandoned because of you, or the rock be moved from its place?"
5 "Indeed, the light of the wicked is extinguished; the flame from his fire doesn't shine.
6 Light in his tent is dark, and his lamp goes out above him.
7 His strong steps are restricted, and his own advice trips him up.
8 "For he has stumbled into a net with his own feet; he walked right into the network!
9 The trap seizes him by the heel; a snare tightens its hold on him.
10 A rope lies hidden in the dirt; a trap lies waiting for him where he is walking."
11 "He is petrified by terror that surrounds him on all sides; they chase at his heels.
12 He is starved for strength; and is ripe for a fall.
13 Something gnaws on his skin; a deadly disease consumes his limbs.
14 Torn from the security of his home, he is brought before the king of terrors.
15 "There's nothing in his tent that belongs to him; sulphur is scattered all over his dwelling place.
16 His roots wither underneath, while his branches above are being cut off.
17 No one remembers him anywhere in the land; no one names streets in his honour.
18 He is driven away from light to darkness, made to wander the landscape.
19 He has no children or descendants within his own people; and no survivors where he once lived.
20 People who live west of him are appalled at his fate; those who live east of him are seized with terror.

21 Indeed, the residences of the wicked are like this; and so are the homes of those who don't know God."

Job 19

1 In response, Job said:

2 "How long do you intend to keep torturing me and trying to break me by what you're saying?

3 Ten times you've tried to humiliate me! You're not ashamed to wrong me!

4 Even if it's true that I've erred, my error only affects me.

5 If you really intend to vaunt yourselves over me, and make my problems the basis of your case against me,

6 then at least you must know that God has accused me of wrong, and trapped me with his net."

7 "Although I cried out 'Violence!' I received no answer; I cried for help, but there was no justice.

8 He blocked my path, so I cannot pass; and he turned out the lights on my pathways.

9 "He has stripped me of my honour; he has stolen the crown off my head!

10 He is breaking me down on every side, and now it's too late for me; he has uprooted my hopes like a tree.

11 His anger burns against me; he regards me as his adversary.

12 His troops march in a column against me, erecting their siege ramps against me; they surround my tent."

13 "My brothers are alienated from me; my acquaintances are estranged;

14 my relatives have failed me; and my friends have abandoned me.

15 Those who live in my house — and my maidservants, too! — treat me like a stranger; they think I'm a foreigner.

16 "I call to my servant, but he doesn't respond, even though I beg him earnestly.

17 My wife says my breath stinks; even my children say I smell bad!

18 Even little children hate me; when I get up, they mock me.

19 My closest friends detest me; even the ones I love have turned against me.

20 I'm a pile of skin and bones; I have barely escaped by the skin of my teeth."

21 "Be gracious to me, be gracious to me, my friends, because God's hand has struck me.

22 Why are you chasing me, as God has been doing? Aren't you satisfied that I'm sick?

23 If only my words were written down; if only they were inscribed in a book

24 using an iron stylus with lead for ink! Then they'd be engraved in rock forever.

25 "As for me, I know that my Vindicator is alive; And he, the Last One, will take his stand on the soil.

26 Even after my skin has been destroyed, clothed in my flesh I will see God,

27 whom I will see for myself. My own eyes will look at him — there won't be any one else for me! — He is the culmination of my innermost desire."

28 "When you're thinking about asking yourselves, 'How will we pursue him, since the root of the problem is with him?'

29 Make sure that you remain wary of God's sword, for God's wrath brings with it the sword of punishment, by which you'll know there's a judgement."

1 Thessalonians 3

11 Now may our God and Father and our Lord Jesus provide a way for us to visit you.

12 May the Lord greatly increase your love for each other and for all people, just as we love you.

13 Then your hearts will be strong, blameless, and holy in the presence of God, who is our Father, when our Lord Jesus appears with all his saints.

1 Thessalonians 4

1 Now then, brothers, you learned from us how you ought to live and to please God, as in fact you are doing. We ask and encourage you in the Lord to do so even more.

2 You know what instructions we gave you through the Lord Jesus.

3 For it is God's will that you be sanctified: You must abstain from sexual immorality.

4 Each of you must know how to control his own body in a holy and honourable manner, not with passion and lust like the gentiles who do not know God.

6 Furthermore, you must never take advantage of or exploit a brother in this regard, because the Lord avenges all these things, just as we already told you and warned you.

7 For God did not call us to be impure, but to be holy.

8 Therefore, whoever rejects this instruction is not rejecting human authority but God, who gives you his Holy Spirit.

9 Now you do not need anyone to write to you about brotherly love, since you have been taught by God to love each other.

10 In fact, you are showing love to all the brothers throughout Macedonia, but we urge you, brothers, to keep on doing this even more.

11 Also, make it your goal to live quietly, to mind your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we instructed you,

12 so that you may win the respect of outsiders, and have need of nothing.

13 But we do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, about those who have died, so that you may not grieve like other people who have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so through Jesus God will bring those who have died with him.

15 For we declare to you what the Lord has told us to say: We who are alive and remain until the coming of the Lord will by no means precede those who have died.

16 With a shout of command, with the archangel's call, and with the sound of God's trumpet, the Lord himself will come down from heaven, and the dead who belong to the Messiah will rise first.

17 Then we who are alive and remain will be caught up in the clouds together with them to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever.

18 So then, encourage one another with these words.

Job 20

1 Then Zophar from Naamath replied:
2 "Therefore my anxious thoughts cause me to answer because I'm agitated within me.
3 Whenever I hear an insulting rebuke, I respond from my spirit because I understand."
4 "Haven't you known this from ancient times, since mankind was placed on the earth?
5 The wicked triumph only briefly; the joy of the godless is momentary.
6 Though he grow as tall as the sky, or though his head touches the clouds,
7 he'll perish forever, like his own excrement; those who saw him will ask, 'Where is he?'
8 He'll vanish like a dream, and no one will find him; he will be chased away like a night vision."
9 "An eye that gazes at him won't do so again; and his place won't even recognize him.
10 His sons will make amends to the poor; their hands will return his wealth.
11 Though his bones were full of youthful vigour; yet they will lie down with him in the dust.
12 Though evil tastes sweet in his mouth, though he conceals it under his tongue,
13 though he savours it and delays swallowing it so he can taste it again and again in his mouth,
14 his food will turn rancid in his stomach — it will become a cobra's poison inside him.
15 "Though he swallows wealth, he will vomit it; God will dislodge it from his stomach.
16 He will suck the poison of cobras; the fangs of a viper will slay him.
17 He won't look at the rivers — the torrents of honey and curd.
18 "He will restore what he has attained from his work and won't consume it; he won't enjoy the profits from his business transactions,
19 because he has crushed and abandoned the poor; he has seized a house that he didn't build.
20 "Since his appetite won't quit; he won't let anything escape his lust.
21 Because nothing was left for him to devour, therefore his prosperity won't last.
22 Even though he is satiated and self-sufficient, he suffers — everyone in any sort of trouble will attack him.
23 "It will come about that, when he has filled himself to the full, God will vent his burning anger on him; he will pour it out on him and on his body.
24 Though he dodges an iron weapon, a bronze arrow will pierce him.
25 It will impale him and come out through his back; the point will glisten as it protrudes through his gall bladder, and he will be terrified.
26 "Total darkness has been reserved for his treasures; a fire that has no need to be kindled will devour him and consume whatever remains in his possession.
27 Heaven will reveal his iniquity, while the earth will rise up against him.
28 A flood will wash away his house; dragging it away when God becomes angry.
29 This is what the wicked person inherits from God; it is the inheritance that God appoints for him."

Job 21

1 In response, Job said:
2 "Listen carefully to my words; let this encourage all of you.
3 Bear with me and let me speak! Then, after I've spoken, you'll be free to mock me.
4 After all, isn't my complaint against a human being? If so, why shouldn't I be impatient?
5 Look at me, be appalled, and then shut up!
6 When I think about this, I'm petrified with terror and my body shudders uncontrollably."
7 "Why do the wicked live to reach old age and increase in power and wealth, too?
8 Their children grow up while they're alive, and they live to see their grandchildren.

9 Their houses are safe from fear, and God's chastisement never visits them.
10 Their bull breeds without fail, and their cows calve without miscarriages.
11 They release their children to play like sheep; their young ones dance about,
12 singing with tambourines and lyres as they rejoice to the sound of flutes.
13 They grow old in prosperity, as they descend peacefully into the afterlife.
14 "They say to God, 'Turn away from us! We have no desire to know your ways.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serve him? Where's the profit in talking to him?'
16 Behold! Their prosperity isn't in their control! The counsel of the wicked will remain far from me."
17 "How often do the wicked have their lights put out? Does calamity ever fall on them?
Will God in his anger ever apportion their destruction?
18 May they become like a straw, blown away before the wind; like a chaff that's swept off by a storm.
19 God stores up their iniquity to repay their children; making them repay so that they may be aware.
20 Their own eyes will see their destruction; and they'll drink the wrath of the Almighty.
21 What will they care for their household after them, when the number of his months comes to an end?"
22 "Can God learn anything? After all, he will judge even the exalted ones.
23 Such persons will die in their full vigour, completely prosperous and secure.
24 His buckets are filled with milk, his bone marrow is healthy.
25 Others die with a bitter soul, never having tasted the good life.
26 They both lie down in the dust; and worms cover them."
27 "Look! I know your thoughts, your plans are going to harm me.
28 You ask, 'Where is the noble person's house?' and 'Where are the tents where the wicked live?'
29 Haven't you asked travellers on the highway? Don't you accept their word
30 that the wicked person is spared from times of calamity, that he is rescued on the day of wrath?
31 Who will expose his conduct to his face? Who will repay him for what he has done
32 when he is carried away to the cemetery and guardians are placed to watch his tomb?
33 The runoff from the streams will seem sweet to him; everyone will follow after him; countless crows march ahead of him.
34 How then, can you console me so worthlessly? What is left of your answers is treachery."

1 Thessalonians 5

- 1 Now you do not need to have anything written to you about times and dates, brothers,
- 2 for you yourselves know very well that the Day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night.
- 3 When people say, "There is peace and security," destruction will strike them as suddenly as labour pains come to a pregnant woman, and they will not be able to escape.
- 4 However, brothers, you are not in the darkness, in order that the Day of the Lord might surprise you like a thief.
- 5 For all of you are children of the light and children of the day. We do not belong to the night or to darkness.
- 6 Therefore, let's not fall asleep like others do, but let's stay awake and be sober.
- 7 For people who go to sleep, go to sleep at night; and people who get drunk, get drunk at night.
- 8 But since we belong to the day, let's be sober. We must put on the breastplate of faith and love, and the hope of salvation as a helmet.
- 9 For God has not destined us to receive wrath but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus, the Messiah,
- 10 who died for us in order that, whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with him.
- 11 So then, encourage one another and build each other up, as you are doing.
- 12 Brothers, we ask you to show your appreciation for those who work among you, set an example for you in the Lord, and instruct you.
- 13 Hold them in the highest regard, loving them because of their work. Live in peace with each other.
- 14 We urge you, brothers, to admonish those who are idle, cheer up those who are discouraged, and help those who are weak. Be patient with everyone.
- 15 Make sure that no one pays back evil for evil. Instead, always pursue what is good for each other and for everyone else.
- 16 Always be joyful.
- 17 Continually be prayerful.
- 18 In everything be thankful, because this is God's will for you in the Messiah Jesus.
- 19 Do not put out the Spirit's fire.
- 20 Do not despise prophecies.
- 21 Instead, test everything. Hold on to what is good.
- 22 Keep away from every kind of evil.
- 23 May the God of peace himself make you holy in every way. And may your whole being — spirit, soul, and body — remain blameless when our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, appears.
- 24 The one who calls you is faithful, and he will continue to be faithful.
- 25 Brothers, pray for us.
- 26 Greet all the brothers with a holy kiss.
- 27 I order you by the Lord to have this letter read to all the brothers.
- 28 May the grace of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be with you! Amen.

31st July

Job 22

- 1 Then in response, Eliphaz from Teman said:
- 2 "Can a human being be useful to God, since he, who is wise, is sufficient to himself?
- 3 Will it please the Almighty if you are innocent, or does he profit if your life is blameless?
- 4 Will he acquit you just because you fear him, and render a verdict on your behalf?
- 5 Your wickedness is great, isn't it? There's no limit to your iniquity, is there?
- 6 "After all, you've taken collateral from your relatives for no reason; you stripped the naked of their clothing.
- 7 You've neglected to give water to the weary, and you've withheld food from the hungry.
- 8 The land belongs to the powerful, and the privileged thrive in it.
- 9 You sent away widows empty-handed, and broke the outstretched arms of orphans.
- 10 That's why disaster surrounds you, terror suddenly overwhelms you,
- 11 you see nothing but darkness, and a flood of troubles drowns you."
- 12 "Isn't God in heaven above? Consider how far away the stars are, and how lofty they are!
- 13 You've asked, 'What does God know? Can he sort through pitch black darkness?'
- 14 Thick clouds cover him so he can't see as he walks back and forth at heaven's horizon.
- 15 "Will you keep walking on the traditional path that sinners have trod,
- 16 who were snatched away before their time; when their foundation was swept away by a river?
- 17 They told God, 'Get away from us!' and 'What will the Almighty do to them?'
- 18 "Though God fills their houses with good things, the counsel of the wicked will remain far from me.
- 19 The righteous will see this and rejoice; the innocent will insult him, saying,
- 20 'Our enemies are sure to be destroyed, and fire will burn up what's left of their riches.'"
- 21 "Get to know God, and you'll be at peace with him, and then prosperity will come to you.
- 22 Accept what he has to teach you, and treasure his words in your heart.
- 23 "If you return to the Almighty you'll be restored, as you remove iniquity from your household.
- 24 Bury your gold nuggets in the dust, and your source of gold among the stones in a streambed,
- 25 and then the Almighty will be your gold and your refined silver.
- 26 "Then you'll take delight in the Almighty; and will turn your face toward God.
- 27 You'll entreat him and he'll listen to you as you fulfil your vows.
- 28 When you make a decision on something, it will be established for you, and light will brighten your way.
- 29 "For when they're humbled, you may respond; 'It's their pride!' but he delivers the humble.
- 30 He'll even deliver the guilty, who will be delivered through your innocence."

Job 23

- 1 Job's response was to say:
- 2 "I'm still complaining bitterly today; my hand is heavy because of groaning.
- 3 If only I knew where to find him, I would visit him where he has taken his seat.
- 4 I would lay out my case before him; and fill my mouth with arguments.
- 5 I know how he would answer me; I understand what he'll tell me.
- 6 "Would he use his great power to fight me? No, he'll pay attention to me.
- 7 In that place, the upright can reason with him; and I'll be acquitted once and for all by my judge."

8 "Look! If I go east, he isn't there! If I go to the west, I don't perceive him.
9 If he's working in the north, I can't observe him; If he turns south, I can't see him.
10 Because he knows the road on which I travel, when he has tested me, I'll come out like gold.
11 My feet stay where his footsteps lead; I kept on his pathway and haven't turned aside.
12 I haven't wandered away from the commands that he has spoken; I've treasured what he has said more than my own meals."
13 "But he is One — who can change him? He does whatever he wants to do.
14 He'll complete what he has planned for me; he has many things in mind for me!
15 That's why I'm terrified at his presence! When I think about it, I'm afraid of him.
16 God has caused me to faint; the Almighty makes me terrified!
17 Nevertheless, I haven't been silenced because of the darkness, even when thick darkness obscures my vision."

Job 24

1 Why doesn't the Almighty reserve time for judgement? and why don't those who know him perceive his days?
2 They move boundary stones, steal flocks, and pasture them.
3 They drive away the orphan's donkey; they take the ox of the widow as security for a loan;
4 They push the needy off the road, and force the poor of the land into hiding.
5 "Look! Like wild donkeys in the wilderness, they work diligently as they seek wild game in the desert, food for them and their young ones.
6 They reap fodder in the field and glean in the vineyard of the wicked.
7 They spend the night naked, without clothing, with no covering against the cold.
8 They are wet from mountain rains; without shelter, they cling to a rock.
9 "The fatherless are torn from the breast; the poor are taken away as security for a loan.
10 They wander around naked, without clothes; hungry, though they carry sheaves of grain.
11 They press oil between the olive groves owned by the wicked; they suffer from thirst, even while treading the winepress.
12 From the city, dying men groan aloud, and the wounded cries out for help, but God charges no one with wrong.
13 "Then there are those who rebel against the light; they are not acquainted with its ways; and they don't stay on its course.
14 The murderer rises at dawn to kill the poor and needy; at night, he is like a thief.
15 The adulterer watches for twilight, saying, 'No eye is watching me' while he veils his face.
16 They break into houses in the dark; during the day they remained sealed in. They don't know daylight.
17 As a group, deep darkness is their morning time; fear that lives in darkness is their friend."

2 Thessalonians 1

1 From: Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy.

To: The church of the Thessalonians in union with God our Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

2 May grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be yours!

3 Brothers, at all times we are obligated to thank God for you. It is right to do this because your faith is growing all the time and the love every one of you has for each other is increasing.

4 As a result, we rejoice about you among God's churches — about your endurance and faith through all the persecutions and afflictions you are experiencing.

5 This is evidence of God's righteous judgement and is intended to make you worthy of God's kingdom, for which you are suffering.

6 Certainly it is right for God to pay back those who afflict you with affliction

7 and to give us who are afflicted relief when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with his mighty angels

8 in blazing fire. He will take revenge on those who do not know God and on those who refuse to obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.

9 Such people will suffer the punishment of eternal destruction by being separated from the Lord's presence and from his glorious power,

10 when he comes to be glorified by his saints and to be regarded with wonder on that day by all who have believed — including you — because you believed our testimony.

11 With this in mind, we always pray for you, asking that our God might make you worthy of his calling and that through his power he might help you accomplish every good desire and faithful action.

12 That way the name of our Lord Jesus will be glorified by you, and you by him, according to the grace of our God and Lord, Jesus, the Messiah.

2 Thessalonians 2

1 Now we ask you, brothers, regarding the coming of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, and our gathering together to him,

2 not to be so quickly upset or alarmed when someone claims that we said, either by some spirit, conversation, or letter that the Day of the Lord has already come.

1st August

Job 24

18 "They remain only a short time on the water's surface; their inheritance will be cursed in the land; no one will work in their vineyards.
19 As drought and heat evaporate melting snow, that's what Sheol does with sinners.
20 The womb will forget them. Maggots will find them to be a delicacy! They won't be remembered anymore, their iniquity will be cut to pieces like firewood.
21 "They prey on the barren woman, and do no favours for widows.
22 God prolongs the life of the strong by his power, but they get up in the morning without purpose in life.
23 He gives them security and financial support, but he watches everything they do.
24 They're exalted momentarily, but then they are gone; they are humbled, just like all the others. They are cut down like heads of corn.
25 If this weren't so, who can prove that I'm a liar by showing that there's nothing to what I'm saying?"

Job 25

1 Bildad from Shuah responded and said:
2 "Dominion and fear belong to God, who fashions peace in his high heaven.
3 Is there any limit to his armies? On whom does his light not shine?
4 How can a human being become right with God? How can a human being be pure?
5 Behold, even the moon isn't bright, and the stars aren't pure in his eyes.
6 How much less is man, who is only a maggot, or a man's children, who are only worms!"

Job 26

1 In reply, Job responded:
2 "What a help you are to the weak! How powerfully you deliver those without strength!
3 What counsel you provide to the fool! What insight you provide so abundantly!
4 Who helped you say all of this? Who inspired you?"
5 "The ghosts of the dead writhe under the waters along with those who live there with them.
6 Sheol is naked before God and Abaddon has no clothes.
7 he spreads out the north over empty space, suspending the earth over nothing.
8 "He restricts the waters within clouds and the clouds don't burst open under them.
9 He has enclosed the face of the full moon and spread his clouds over it.
10 He has delimited a boundary over the surface of the oceans as a limit between light and darkness.
11 The pillars of the heavens tremble and are astounded at his rebuke.
12 By his power he disturbs the sea; and with his skill he shatters the sea monster.
13 he clears the skies with his wind; his hands have pierced the fleeing serpent.
14 Indeed, these are the fringes of his ways, and how faint is the whisper we've heard of it! But who can comprehend the thunder of his might?"

Job 27

1 Job continued with his discussion and said:
2 "The living God has withheld justice from me; the Almighty has made my life bitter.
3 As long as I can breathe; as long as God's breath is in my nostrils,
4 I won't speak lies nor will I utter deceit.
5 Far be it from me to admit that you're right! I intend to maintain my integrity even if it kills me!
6 I'll retain my righteousness and not compromise it; my conscience won't rebuke me at any time.

7 "May my enemy be like the wicked; my adversary like the unjust.
8 For where is the hope of the godless when he is eliminated; when God takes away his life?
9 Will God hear his cry when distress overtakes him?
10 Will he take delight in the Almighty? Will he call on God at all times?"
11 "I'll teach you about the power of God, that which is with the Almighty I won't conceal.
12 Look! All of you have been watching, so why have you become so completely worthless?
13 "This is what a wicked person inherits from God, and what the ruthless will receive from the Almighty:
14 If he has many children, their destiny is to die by the sword, and his descendants won't have enough food.
15 Those who do survive him disease will bury, and his widow won't even weep.
16 "Though he hoards silver like dust, and stores away garments like clay, 17 whatever he stores up, the righteous will wear, and the innocent will inherit that silver!
18 "He has built his house like a moth's cocoon, like a temporary sunshade that a watchman makes.
19 He will go to bed wealthy, but won't be doing that anymore! When he opens his eyes, it will be gone!
20 Terror will overtake him like a flood, at night, a tornado will sweep him away.
21 He'll be swept up by a storm wind and carried away; he'll be whirled away from his place.
22 It will toss him around without pity. He'll try to break free from its grip,
23 but it will clap its hands over him, hissing at him as it lunges toward him."

Job 28

1 "Surely there are mines for silver and places where gold is refined.
2 Iron is taken from the ground; and copper is smelted from ore.
3 Mankind limits the darkness as they search the deepest depths for ore in unfathomable darkness.
4 He sinks his shaft far from human habitations, in a place forgotten by explorers; they hang on harnesses as they swing back and forth.
5 "While the ground produces food, underneath it is torn up and burning hot,
6 where stones are sapphire and gold dust can be found,
7 a place where birds of prey never fly, and the eyes of the falcon have never seen.
8 The proud beasts haven't walked there; lions have never passed over it.
9 "Using a flint, he thrusts his hand, overturning mountains by the roots.
10 He cuts a channel through the rocks, while his eyes search for anything of value.
11 He dams up flowing rivers, bringing hidden things to light."

2 Thessalonians 2

3 Do not let anyone deceive you in any way, for it will not come unless the rebellion takes place first and the man of sin, who is destined for destruction, is revealed.

4 He opposes and exalts himself above every so-called god and object of worship. As a result, he seats himself in the sanctuary of God and himself declares that he is God.

5 Don't you remember that I repeatedly told you about these things when I was still with you?

6 You know what it is that is now holding him back, so that he will be revealed when his time comes.

7 For the secret of this lawlessness is already at work, but only until the person now holding it back gets out of the way.

8 Then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will destroy with the breath of his mouth, rendering him powerless by the manifestation of his coming.

9 The coming of the lawless one will be accompanied by the power of Satan. He will use every kind of power, including miraculous signs, lying wonders,

10 and every type of evil to deceive those who are dying, those who refused to love the truth that would save them.

11 For this reason, God will send them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie.

12 Then all who have not believed the truth but have taken pleasure in unrighteousness will be condemned.

13 At all times we are obligated to thank God for you, brothers who are loved by the Lord, because God chose you to be the first fruits for salvation through sanctification by the Spirit and through faith in the truth.

14 With this purpose in mind, he called you through our proclamation of the gospel so that you would obtain the glory of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

15 So then, brothers, stand firm, and cling to the traditions that you were taught by us, either by word of mouth or by our letter.

16 May our Lord Jesus, the Messiah himself, and may God our Father, who loved us and by his grace gave us eternal comfort and good hope, 17 encourage your hearts and strengthen you in every good action and word.

Job 28

12 "Where can wisdom be found? Where is understanding's home?
13 Mankind doesn't appreciate their value; and you won't find it anywhere on earth.
14 The deepest ocean says, 'It's not within me.' and the sea says, 'You'll never find it with me.'
15 You can't buy it with gold, and its value cannot be calculated in silver.
16 It cannot be compared to gold from Ophir, with precious onyx, or with sapphire.
17 It cannot be compared to gold and fine glass crystal, nor can it be exchanged for gold-plated weaponry.
18 Don't even bother to mention coral and crystal — wisdom is more valuable than a bag of rubies.
19 It can neither be compared with the topaz of Ethiopia nor valued in comparison to pure gold."
20 "From where, then, does wisdom originate? Where does understanding live?
21 It has been concealed from the sight of every living creature and hidden even from the birds in the skies.
22 Abaddon and death said, 'We did hear a rumour about it.'
23 God understands how to get there; he knows where they live.
24 For he looks as far as the ends of the earth and sees everything under the sky.
25 "He imparted weight to the wind; he regulated water by his measurement.
26 He set in place ordinances for the rain; and determined the pathway for thunder that accompanies lightning.
27 Then he looked at wisdom, and fixed it in place; he established it, and also examined it.
28 He has commanded mankind: 'To fear the Lord — that is wisdom; to move away from evil — that is understanding.'"

Job 29

1 Then Job continued with his discourse:
2 "I wish I could go back to how things were a few months ago; when God used to watch over me,
3 when his lamp used to shine over my head, so I could walk through the dark,
4 like when I was in my prime and God trusted me with his secrets!
5 "The Almighty was still with me back then, and my children were still around me.
6 I was successful wherever I went, and even the rocks poured out streams of olive oil for me."
7 "Whenever I went out to the city gate, a seat had been reserved for me in the plaza.
8 The young men would see me and withdraw, and the aged would rise and stand.
9 Nobles would refrain from speaking, covering their mouths with their hands.
10 The voices of the commanders-in-chief were hushed, and their tongues would cling to the roofs of their mouths."
11 "When people heard me speak, they blessed me; when people saw me, they approved me,
12 because I delivered the poor who were crying for help, along with orphans who had no one to help them.
13 Those who were about to die blessed me, and I made widows sing for joy.
14 I put on righteousness like clothing; my just decisions were like a robe and a turban.
15 I served as eyes for the blind and feet for the lame.
16 I was a father to the needy; I diligently inquired into the case of those I didn't know.
17 I broke the fangs of the wicked, and made him drop the prey."

18 "I used to say: 'I will die in my home. I'm going to live as many days as there are grains of sand on the shore.
19 My roots have spread out and have found water, and dew settles at night on my branches.
20 My glory renews for me and my bow is as good as new in my hand.'
21 "They listened and waited for me, as they remained in silence for my counsel.
22 After I spoke, they had nothing to say, when what I said hit them.
23 They waited for me as one waits for rain, as one opens his mouth to drink in a spring rain shower.
24 I smiled at them when they had no confidence, and no one could discourage me.
25 I set an example of the way to live, as a leader would; I lived like a king among his army; like one who comforts mourners."

Job 30

1 "But now they mock me; men who are far younger than I, whose fathers I would have hated to entrust with my own sheep dogs.
2 Furthermore, what could I have gained from men whose strength is gone?
3 Unproductive due to poverty and hunger, they could only scratch in parched soil, devastated and desolated.
4 "They would pluck off herbs from salt marshes to eat; and roots of the broom shrub for food.
5 Driven away from human company, they were shouted at as though they were thieves.
6 They lived in the most dangerous of ravines, in holes in the ground, and among rocks.
7 They bray like donkeys among the bushes and huddle together under the desert weeds.
8 Sons of fools and of uncertain reputation, they have been driven from the land by scourging."
9 "Now, I've become the object of their mocking melodies; I'm nothing but a fool's proverb to them!
10 They abhor me — they keep their distance from me; but they don't refrain from spitting at the sight of me.
11 But God has loosened his cord and afflicted me; so they've cast off all restraints in my presence.
12 "A wretched crowd ambushes me to my right; they trip my feet; they build up their path of calamity for me.
13 They tear up my pathways; they profit from my destruction, and they need no help to do this!
14 They come like those who breach through a wall; as everything crashes around me they'll roll on and on!
15 My greatest fears have overcome me; my honour is assaulted as though by a wind storm; my prosperity evaporates like a morning cloud."
16 "Now, my soul pours itself out; the time of my affliction has taken control of me.
17 The night racks my bones; and the pain that gnaws on me will not rest.
18 My clothes are dishevelled by his forceful treatment of me; he restricts my movement like the collar of my cloak.
19 "He tossed me into the mire; I've become like dust and ashes.

2 Thessalonians 3

- 1 Finally, brothers, pray for us — that the word of the Lord may spread rapidly, and that it may be honoured the way it is among you.
- 2 Also pray that we may be rescued from worthless and evil people, since not everyone holds to the faith.
- 3 But the Lord is faithful and will strengthen you and protect you from the evil one.
- 4 We have confidence in the Lord that you are doing and will continue to do what we command.
- 5 May the Lord direct your hearts to the love of God and to the endurance of the Messiah.
- 6 In the name of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, we command you, brothers, to keep away from every brother who is living in idleness and not living according to the tradition that they received from us.
- 7 For you yourselves know what you must do to imitate us. We never lived in idleness among you.
- 8 We did not eat anyone's food without paying for it. Instead, with toil and labour we worked night and day in order not to be a burden to any of you.
- 9 It is not as though we did not have that right, but, we wanted to give you an example to follow.
- 10 While we were with you, we gave this order: "If anyone doesn't want to work, he shouldn't eat."
- 11 We hear that some of you are living in idleness. You are not busy working — you are busy interfering in other people's lives!
- 12 We order and encourage such people by the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, to do their work quietly and to earn their own living.
- 13 Brothers, do not get tired of doing what is right.
- 14 If anyone does not obey what we say in this letter, take note of him. Have nothing to do with him so that he will feel ashamed.
- 15 Yet, don't treat him like an enemy, but warn him like a brother.
- 16 Now may the Lord of peace give you his peace at all times and in every way. May the Lord be with all of you.
- 17 I, Paul, am writing this greeting with my own hand. This is the mark in every letter of mine. It is the way I write.
- 18 May the grace of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be with all of you. Amen.

3rd August

Job 30

20 I cry for help to you, but you won't answer me; I stand still, but you only look at me.

21 You changed toward me, and now you're cruel to me; with your mighty hand you are persecuting me;

22 you carried me off in a wind storm, making me ride on it while you toss me about as the storm roars around me.

23 I know that you're about to kill me, so I'm about to go to the house that's appointed for all the living."

24 "Surely he won't stretch his hand against the needy, will he, especially if they cry to him in their calamity?

25 Haven't I wept for the one who is going through hard times? Haven't I grieved for the needy?

26 I have hoped for good, but evil came instead; I have hoped for light, but darkness came.

27 I'm boiling mad inside, and I won't remain silent; the time for my affliction to confront me has arrived.

28 "In growing darkness, I walked without sunlight; I stood in the congregation to cry for help.

29 I've become a brother to jackals, and a friend to ostriches.

30 My skin turns black all over me; and my bones seem burned from the heat.

31 But my harp is in mourning; my flute plays only songs for those who are weeping."

Job 31

1 "I made a covenant with my eyes; how, then, can I focus my attention on a virgin?

2 What would I have from God above, what heritage from the Almighty on high,

3 if not calamity that is due the unjust, and misfortune that is due those who practise iniquity?

4 He watches my life, observing every one of my actions, does he not?"

5 "If I've lived my life in the company of vanity, or run quickly to embrace deception,

6 let my righteousness be weighed in honest scales, and God will make known my integrity.

7 If I have stepped away from the way, or if my heart covets whatever my eyes see, or if some other blemish clings to my hands,

8 what I've planted, let another eat or let my crops be uprooted."

9 "If my heart has been seduced by a woman and I've laid in wait at my friend's door,

10 then let my wife cook for another person and may someone else sleep with her,

11 because something as lascivious as that is an iniquity that should be judged.

12 The fires of Abaddon will burn, disrupting every part of my eternal reward."

13 "If I've refused to help my male and female servants when they complain against me,

14 what will I do when God stands up to act? When he asks the questions, how will I answer him?

15 The one who made me in the womb made them, too, didn't he? Didn't the same one prepare each of us in the womb?"

16 "If I refused to grant the desire of the poor or exhausted the eyes of the widow,

17 if I ate my meals by myself without feeding orphans,

18 (even a poor man had grown up with me as if I were his father, and even though I had guided the widow from the time I was born)

19 "If I've observed someone who is about to die for lack of clothes or if I have no clothing to give to the poor,

20 if he hadn't thanked me from the bottom of his heart, if he had not been warmed by wool from my sheep,
21 if I've raised my hand against an orphan when I thought I would win against him in court,
22 then let my arm fall from its socket; and may my arm be torn off at the shoulder.
23 For I'm terrified of what calamity God may have in store for me; and I cannot endure his grandeur."
24 "If I've put my confidence in gold, if I've told gold, 'You're my security,'
25 if I've found joy in great wealth that I own, if I've earned a lot with my own hands,
26 if I look at the sun when it shines or the moon as it rises in steady splendour,
27 so that in the depths of my deceived heart I worshipped them with my mouth and hands,
28 this is also a sin that deserves to be judged, since I would have tried to deceive God above."
29 "Have I rejoiced in the destruction of those who hate me, or have I been happy that evil caught up with him?
30 No, I haven't allowed my mouth to sin by asking for his life with a curse.
31 People in my household have said, 'We cannot find anyone who has not been satisfied with his meat,' haven't they?
32 No stranger ever spent the night in the street, because I opened my doors to travellers."
33 "Have I covered my transgression like other people, to conceal iniquity within myself?
34 Have I feared large crowds? Has my family's contempt ever terrified me so that I remained silent and wouldn't go outside?"
35 "Who will grant me a hearing? Here's my signature — let the Almighty answer! Since my adversary indicted me,
36 I'll wear it on my shoulder, or tie it on my head for a crown!
37 I'll give an account for every step I've taken; I'll approach him confidently like a Commander-in-Chief."
38 "If my land were to cry out against me or if all its furrows wept as one,
39 If I've consumed its produce without paying for it and snuffed out the life of its owners;
40 may thorns spring up instead of wheat, and obnoxious weeds instead of barley." With this, Job's discourse with his friends is completed.

Job 32

1 These three men stopped responding to Job, because he was claiming to be righteous, in his own opinion.
2 But then Barachel's son Elihu from Buz, one of Ram's descendants, got really angry. He was furious with Job because he had been declaring himself righteous instead of vindicating God.
3 Furthermore, he was furious with his three friends because they had not answered Job, but instead had condemned him.
4 Elihu waited to have a word with Job, since the others were older than he,
5 but when he saw that there had been no response from those three, he got even more angry.
6 Barachel's son Elihu from Buz responded and said: I'm younger than you are. Because you're older, I was terrified to tell you what I know.
7 I thought, experience should speak; abundance of years teaches wisdom.
8 However, a spirit exists in mankind, and the Almighty's breath gives him insight.
9 "The aged aren't always wise, nor do the elderly always understand justice.

1 Timothy 1

1 From: Paul, an apostle of the Messiah Jesus, by the command of God our Saviour and the Messiah Jesus, our hope.

2 To: Timothy, my genuine child in the faith.

May grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and the Messiah Jesus, our Lord, be yours!

3 When I was on my way to Macedonia, I urged you to stay in Ephesus so that you could instruct certain people to stop teaching false doctrine

4 and occupying themselves with myths and endless genealogies. These things promote controversies rather than God's ongoing purpose, which involves faith.

5 The goal of this instruction is love that flows from a pure heart, from a clear conscience, and from a sincere faith.

6 Some people have left these qualities behind and have turned to fruitless discussion.

7 They want to be teachers of the Law, yet they do not understand either what they are talking about or the things about which they speak so confidently.

8 Of course, we know that the Law is good if a person uses it legitimately,

9 that is, if he understands that the Law is not intended for righteous people but for lawbreakers and rebels, for ungodly people and sinners, for those who are unholy and irreverent, for those who kill their fathers, their mothers, or other people,

10 for those involved in sexual immorality, for homosexuals, for kidnappers, for liars, for false witnesses, and for whatever else goes against the healthy teaching

11 that agrees with the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which he entrusted to me.

12 I thank the Messiah Jesus, our Lord, who gives me strength, that he has considered me faithful and has appointed me to his service.

13 In the past I was a blasphemer, a persecutor, and a violent man. But I received mercy because I acted ignorantly in my unbelief,

14 and the grace of our Lord overflowed toward me, along with the faith and love that are in the Messiah Jesus.

15 This is a trustworthy saying that deserves complete acceptance: To this world Messiah came, sinful people to reclaim. I am the worst of them.

16 But for that very reason I received mercy, so that in me, as the worst sinner, the Messiah Jesus might demonstrate all of his patience as an example for those who would believe in him for eternal life.

17 Now to the King Eternal — the immortal, invisible, and only God — be honour and glory forever and ever! Amen.

18 Timothy, my child, I am instructing you in keeping with the prophecies made earlier about you, so that by following them you may continue to fight the good fight

19 with faith and a good conscience. By ignoring their consciences, some people have destroyed their faith like a wrecked ship.

20 These include Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I handed over to Satan so that they may learn not to blaspheme.

1 Timothy 2

1 First of all, then, I urge you to offer to God petitions, prayers, intercessions, and expressions of thanks for all people,

2 for kings, and for everyone who has authority, so that we might lead a quiet and peaceful life with all godliness and dignity.

3 This is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour,

4 who wants all people to be saved and to come to know the truth fully.

4th August

Job 32

10 Therefore I'm saying, 'Listen to me!' Then I'll declare what I know.
11 "Look! I have waited to hear your speech, so I listened to your insights while you searched for the right words to say.
12 Indeed, I paid close attention to you all, but none of you were able to refute Job or answer his arguments convincingly.
13 "So that you cannot claim, 'We have found wisdom!' let God do the rebuking, not man;
14 let him not direct a rebuke toward me. I won't be responding to him with your arguments.
15 "Job's friends won't reason with him anymore; discouraged, words escape them.
16 Shall I continue to wait, since they're no longer talking? After all, they're only standing there; they're no longer responding.
17 "I will contribute my arguments as an answer; I'll declare what I know, 18 because I'm filled with things to say, and my spirit within me compels me to speak.
19 My insides feel like unvented wine, like it's about to burst like a new wineskin.
20 "Let me speak! I need relief! Let me open my lips and respond.
21 I won't discriminate against anyone, and I won't flatter any person,
22 since I don't know the first thing about how to flatter; and the one who made me would sweep me away as if I were nothing."

Job 33

1 "Now please listen to what I have to say, Job. Listen to every word!
2 Look! I've begun to speak, and I'm fashioning my words.
3 I speak from the innocence of my heart; and my lips will utter what I sincerely know.
4 "The spirit of God fashioned me; and the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
5 Answer me, if you can! Present your case! Take your stand in my presence!
6 Look! As far as God is concerned, I'm just like you are — I, too, have been pinched off from a piece of clay.
7 Don't be afraid of me; I'll go easy on you."
8 "You spoke clearly so I could hear; I've heard what you've said:
9 'I'm pure. I'm without sin; I'm innocent. I'm harbouring no iniquity inside of me.
10 Nevertheless, God has found a pretext to attack me; he considers me his enemy.
11 He has bound my feet in shackles, and keeps watching everything I do."
12 "You aren't right about this; My response is that God is greater than human beings.
13 Why are you arguing with him? He doesn't have to give explanations for what he does to you!
14 "God speaks time and time again — but nobody notices —
15 in a dream or night vision, when a deep sleep falls on mankind while they sleep on their beds.
16 That's when he opens the ear of mankind, authenticating his messages to them,
17 turning a person from his actions, keeping him from pride,
18 sparing his soul from the Pit and his life from violent death.
19 "Job is being reprov'd by painful bed rest, with continuous aching in his bones.
20 He cannot stand his food, and he has no desire for appetizing food.
21 His flesh wastes away; his bones, which once couldn't be seen, are visible.
22 His soul is getting close to the Pit; his life is approaching its executioner."
23 "If there's a messenger appointed to mediate for Job — one out of a thousand — to represent the man's integrity on his behalf,
24 to show favour to him and to plead, 'Deliver him from having to go down to the Pit — I know where his ransom is!'

25 Let his flesh be rejuvenated as he was in his youth! Let him recover the strength of his youth.
26 Let him pray to God and he will accept him; he will appear before him with joyful shouts!"
27 "He'll sing to mankind with these words: 'I've sinned. I have twisted what is right. Yet he has not repaid me like I deserve.
28 He has redeemed my soul from going down to the Pit; my life will see the light.'
29 Indeed God does all these things again and again with a person
30 to bring back his soul from the Pit; to light him with the light of life."
31 "Job, pay attention! Listen to me! Be silent and let me speak.
32 If you have anything to say, answer me; speak up, because I'd be happy to vindicate you.
33 But if you have nothing to say, then at least listen to me! Be quiet and learn some wisdom from me."

Job 34

1 Elihu continued speaking, and said:
2 "Listen to what I have to say, you wise men! Pay attention to me, you educated people!
3 Since the ear tests words like a palate tastes food,
4 let's choose what's right for us. Let's consider among ourselves what is good."
5 Now this is Job's claim: 'Even though I'm innocent, God has stopped treating me righteously.
6 Have I lied concerning the justice that I deserve? My wound is incurable, though transgression cannot be attributed to me.'
7 "What man is like Job, who drinks mockery like water,
8 traffics in those who practise evil, and walks with wicked people?
9 Because he says, 'There's no profit for a man to find joy with God.'
10 "Therefore you men of understanding, listen to me! Far be it for God to practise wickedness, or the Almighty to do what is wrong, 11 because he repays a person for his behaviour; and according to a person's conduct, he lets it happen to him.
12 Truly, God doesn't practise wickedness, and the Almighty doesn't pervert justice.
13 Who entrusted the earth to him? Who made him responsible for the entire inhabited world?
14 If he were to decide to do so, that is, to take back to himself his spirit and breath of life,
15 every living thing would die all at once, and mankind would return to dust."
16 If you have understanding, listen to this! Pay attention to what I have to say:
17 Can one who hates justice really govern? And if God is righteous and mighty, can you condemn him?
18 Can one say to a king, 'You're vile!' or to nobles, 'You're wicked!'
19 Who isn't partial to princes? Who doesn't give preference to the nobles over the poor? Nevertheless, all of them are his handiwork.
20 "They die suddenly, in the middle of the night; people suffer seizures and pass away; even valiant men can be taken away — and not by human hands.

1 Timothy 2

5 There is one God. There is also one mediator between God and human beings — a human, the Messiah Jesus.

6 He gave himself as a ransom for everyone, the testimony at the proper time.

7 For this reason I was appointed to be an announcer, an apostle, and a faithful and true teacher of the gentiles. (I am telling you the truth. I am not lying).

8 Therefore, I want the men everywhere to pray, lifting up holy hands without being angry or argumentative.

9 Women, for their part, should display their beauty by dressing modestly and decently in appropriate clothes, not with elaborate hairstyles or by wearing gold, pearls, or expensive clothes,

10 but through good actions. This is proper for women who claim to revere God.

11 A woman must learn quietly and submissively.

12 Moreover, in the area of teaching, I am not allowing a woman to instigate violence towards a man. Instead, she is to remain calm.

13 For Adam was formed first, then Eve,

14 and it was not Adam who was deceived. It was the woman who was deceived and became a lawbreaker.

15 However, women will be saved by having children, if they continue to have faith, love, and holiness, along with good judgement.

1 Timothy 3

1 This is a trustworthy saying: The one who would an elder be, a noble task desires he.

2 Therefore, an elder must be blameless, the husband of one wife, stable, sensible, respectable, hospitable to strangers, and teachable.

3 He must not drink excessively or be a violent person, but instead be gentle. He must not be argumentative or love money.

4 He must manage his own family well and have children who are submissive and respectful in every way.

5 For if a man does not know how to manage his own family, how can he take care of God's church?

6 He must not be a recent convert, so that he won't become arrogant and fall into the devil's condemnation.

7 He must be well thought of by outsiders, so he doesn't fall into disgrace and the trap set for him by the devil.

8 Ministers, too, must be serious. They must not be two-faced, addicted to wine, or greedy for money.

9 They must hold firmly to the secret of the faith with clear consciences.

10 But they must first be tested. Then, if they prove to be blameless, they may become ministers.

11 Their wives must also be serious. They must not be gossips, but instead be stable and trustworthy in everything.

12 Ministers must be husbands of one wife and must manage their children and their families well.

13 Those ministers who serve well gain an excellent reputation for themselves and will have great assurance by their faith in the Messiah Jesus.

Job 34

21 Yes, Job, his eyes constantly watch the behaviour of human beings; he carefully observes their every step.
22 There's no such thing as darkness to him — not even deep darkness — that can conceal those who practise evil.
23 He won't examine mankind further, that they would go before God to judgement.
24 He shatters valiant men without a need to investigate, and he raises others in their place.
25 Thus he acknowledges their behaviour, and overcomes them; when night time comes, they are crushed.
26 "He strikes the wicked among them in a place where they can be seen
27 because they've abandoned their pursuit of him and had no respect for any of his ways.
28 As a result, the cries of the poor have reached him and he has heard the cry of the afflicted.
29 "If he remains silent, who will condemn him? If he conceals his face, who can see him? He watches over both nation and individual alike, 30 to keep the godless man from reigning or laying a snare for the people."
31 "Has anyone ever really told God, 'I've endured, and I won't act corruptly anymore.
32 What I don't see, instruct me! If I've done anything evil, I won't repeat it!'
33 "Should you not be paid back, since you have rejected him? You do the choosing! I won't! Tell us what you know!
34 "Men of understanding, speak to me! Are any of you men wise? Then listen to me!
35 Job has been speaking from his own ignorance, and what he has to say lacks insight!
36 Oh, how Job needs to be given a full court trial, as a rebuke to those who practise evil,
37 because he has been adding rebellion to his sin; he claps his hands among us, and keeps on ranting against God."

Job 35

1 In response, Elihu said:
2 "Are you saying that it's just for you to claim, 'I'm more righteous than God?'
3 After all, you've asked what your benefit will be: 'What will I profit from refraining from sin?'
4 I'm going to respond to that statement, and to your friends with you."
5 "Observe the heavens! Take a look around! Look! The clouds are higher than you, aren't they?
6 If you sin, what will that do to harm him? If you add transgression to transgression what will it do to him?
7 If you are righteous, what will you add to him? What can God receive from your efforts?
8 Your wickedness affects only yourself; and your righteousness, only human beings.
9 "They cry out because they have many oppressors; they cry for help because the powerful are abusing them.
10 He never asks, 'Where is God, my Creator, who gives me songs in the night,
11 who teaches us more than the earth's wild animals, and makes us wiser than the birds of the sky?'
12 "They cry out there, but he doesn't answer because of the arrogance of those who practise evil.
13 Theirs is a useless plea — God won't listen; the Almighty won't pay any attention.
14 Even though you complain that you can't perceive him, your case is already pending for judgement in his presence so keep on placing your hope in him.

15 "So now, if he doesn't inflict punishment in his anger, then he doesn't keep track of your many transgressions.
16 When he began speaking, he communicated only worthlessness; he added words upon words without knowing anything."

Job 36

1 Elihu responded again and said:
2 "Be patient with me a moment longer, and I'll show you that there's more to say on God's behalf.
3 I'll take what I know to its logical conclusion and ascribe righteousness to my Creator,
4 because what I have to say isn't deceptive, and the one who has perfect knowledge is with you."
5 "Indeed God is mighty and he doesn't show disrespect; he is mighty and strong of heart.
6 He doesn't let the wicked live; he grants justice to the afflicted.
7 He won't stop looking at righteous people; he seats them on thrones with kings forever, and they are exalted.
8 "If they're bound in chains, caught in ropes of affliction,
9 he'll reveal their actions to them, when their transgressions have become excessive.
10 He opens their ears and instructs them, commanding them to repent from evil.
11 If they listen and serve him, they'll finish their lives in prosperity and their years will be pleasant.
12 "But if they won't listen, they'll perish by the sword and die in their ignorance.
13 The godless at heart cherishes anger; they won't cry out for help when God afflicts them.
14 They die in their youth; and their life will end among temple prostitutes.
15 He'll deliver the afflicted through their afflictions and open their ears when they are oppressed."
16 "Indeed, he drew you away from the brink of distress to a spacious place without constraints, filling your festive table with bountiful food.
17 But now you are occupied with the case of the wicked; but justice and judgement will be served.
18 So that no one entices you with riches, don't let a large ransom turn you astray.
19 "Will your wealth sustain you when you're in distress, despite your most powerful efforts?
20 Don't long for night, when people vanish in their place.
21 Be careful! Don't turn to evil, because of this you will be tried by more than affliction.
22 "Indeed, God is exalted in his power. Who is like him as a teacher?
23 Who ordained his path for him, and who has asked him, 'You are wrong, aren't you?'
24 Remember to magnify his awesome activities, about which mortal man has sung.
25 All of mankind sees him; human beings observe him from afar off."
26 "God is truly awesome, beyond what we know; the number of his years is unknowable.
27 He draws up drops of water, distilling it to rain and mist.
28 When the clouds pour down; they drop their rain on all of humanity.
29 "Furthermore, can anyone understand cloud patterns, or the thundering in his pavilion?
30 He scatters his lightning above it, and covers the bottom of the sea.
31 He uses them to judge some people and give food to many.
32 His hands are covered with lightning that he commands to strike his designated target.
33 His thunder declares his presence; and tells the animals what is coming."

1 Timothy 3

14 I hope to come to you soon. However, I'm writing this to you
15 in case I am delayed, so that you may know how to behave in God's household, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and foundation of the truth.
16 By common confession, the secret of our godly worship is great: In flesh was he revealed to sight, kept righteous by the Spirit's might, adored by angels singing. To nations was he manifest, believing souls found peace and rest, our Lord in heaven reigning!

1 Timothy 4

1 Now the Spirit says clearly that in the last times some people will abandon the faith by following deceitful spirits, the teachings of demons,
2 and the hypocrisy of liars, whose consciences have been burned by a hot iron.
3 They will try to stop people from marrying and from eating certain foods, which God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth.
4 For everything God created is good, and nothing should be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving,
5 because it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.
6 If you continue to point these things out to the brothers, you will be a good servant of the Messiah Jesus, nourished by the words of the faith and the healthy teaching that you have followed closely.
7 Do not have anything to do with godless myths and fables of old women. Instead, train yourself to be godly.
8 Physical exercise is of limited value, but Godliness is very dear, a pledge of life, both there and here.
9 This is a trustworthy saying that deserves complete acceptance.
10 To this end we work hard and struggle, because we have set our hope on the living God, who is the Saviour of all people, that is, of those who believe.
11 These are the things you must insist on and teach.
12 Do not let anyone look down on you because you are young, but be an example for other believers in your speech, behaviour, love, faithfulness, and purity.
13 Until I arrive, give your full concentration to the public reading of Scripture, to exhorting, and to teaching.
14 Do not neglect the gift that is in you, which was given to you through prophecy when the elders laid their hands on you.
15 Think on these things. Devote your life to them so that everyone can see your progress.
16 Pay close attention to your life and your teaching. Persevere in these things, because if you do so, you will save both yourself and those who listen to you.

6th August

Job 37

- 1 "Now I'll conclude with this: my heart is trembling violently; it feels like it's about to leap from my body!
- 2 Listen carefully to his thundering voice; to the sound that rumbles from his mouth.
- 3 He releases his lightning throughout the sky, to the ends of the earth.
- 4 His thunder roars after it; his majestic voice will thunder; and no one can trace them once his voice has been heard.
- 5 "God thunders with his wondrous voice; he does awesome works that we don't comprehend.
- 6 For he says to the snow, 'Fall to the earth.' He tells the rain, 'Pour down,' then it rains profusely.
- 7 "He puts a limit to the skill of every person; to delineate all people from what they do.
- 8 "Then a beast enters its lair and remains in its den.
- 9 "From the south, a whirlwind proceeds, out of the icy north winds.
- 10 From the breath of God ice is produced, and a wide body of water is frozen.
- 11 He also loads the clouds with moisture, scattering his lightning with the clouds.
- 12 It whirls about in circles at his direction to accomplish all that he commands throughout the surface of the entire world,
- 13 whether for discipline on his land or to demonstrate his gracious love, he causes it to be realized."
- 14 "Pay attention to this, Job! Stand still, and consider the wondrous attributes of God.
- 15 Do you know how God ordains them, and makes his lightning to flash throughout his clouds?
- 16 Do you understand his wondrous work of balancing the clouds, the one whose knowledge is perfect,
- 17 you whose garments are hot, even though the land is cooled by a south wind?
- 18 Can you spread out the skies like he does; can you cast them as one might a mirror?
- 19 Tell us! What are we to say to him? Can we prepare our case to face him when our faces are in darkness?
- 20 Has it been relayed to God that I want to talk? Can a person speak when he is confused?"
- 21 "So then, the sun is too bright to gaze at, is it not? The sky is swept clean by the wind that blows, is it not?
- 22 From the north he brings gold; around God is awesome splendour.
- 23 We cannot find the Almighty — he is majestic in power and justice, and overflowing with righteousness; he never oppresses.
- 24 Therefore humanity fears him, which none of the wise can quite comprehend."

Job 38

- 1 The LORD responded to Job from the whirlwind and said:
- 2 "Who is this who keeps darkening my counsel without knowing what he's talking about?
- 3 Stand up like a man! I'll ask you some questions, and you give me some answers!"
- 4 "Where were you when I laid the foundation of my earth? Tell me, since you're so informed!
- 5 Who set its measurement? Am I to assume you know? Who stretched a boundary line over it?
- 6 On what were its bases set? Who laid its corner stone
- 7 while the morning stars sang together and all the divine beings shouted joyfully?
- 8 "Who enclosed the sea with limits when it gushed out of the womb,
- 9 when I made clouds to be its clothes and thick darkness its swaddling blanket,

10 when I prescribed a boundary for it, set in place bars and doors for it;
11 and said, 'You may come only this far and no more. Your majestic waves will stop here?'
12 "Have you ever commanded the morning at any time during your life? Do you know where the dawn lives, 13 where it seizes the edge of the earth and shakes the wicked out of it?
14 Like clay is moulded by a signet ring, the earth's hills and valleys then stand out like the colours of a garment.
15 Then from the wicked their light is withheld and their upraised arm is broken.
16 "Have you been to the source of the sea and walked about in the recesses of the deepest ocean?
17 Have the gates of death been revealed to you? Have you seen the gates of the deepest darkness?
18 Do you understand the breadth of the earth? Tell me, since you know it all!
19 "Where is the road to where the light lives? Or where does the darkness live?
20 Can you take it to its homeland, since you know the path to his house?
21 You should know! After all, you had been born back then, so the number of your days is great!
22 "Have you entered the storehouses of the snow or seen where the hail is stored,
23 which I've reserved for the tribulation to come, for the day of battle and war?
24 Where is the lightning diffused or the east wind scattered around the earth?
25 "Who cuts canals for storm floods, and paths for the lightning and thunder,
26 to bring rain upon a land without inhabitants, a desert in which no human beings live,
27 to satisfy a desolate and devastated desert, causing it to sprout vegetation?
28 "Does the rain have a father? Who fathered the dew?
29 Whose womb brings forth the ice? Who gives birth to frost out of an empty sky,
30 when water solidifies like stone and the surface of the deepest sea freezes?
31 "Can you bind the chains of Pleiades or loosen the cords of Orion?
32 Can you bring out constellations in their season? Can you guide the Bear with her cubs?
33 Do you know the laws of the heavens? Can you regulate their authority over the earth?
34 "Can you call out to the clouds, so that abundant water drenches you?
35 Can you command the lightning, so that it goes forth and calls to you, 'Look at us!'
36 "Who sets wisdom within you, or imbues your mind with understanding?
37 Who has the wisdom to be able to count the clouds, or to empty the water jars of heaven,
38 when dust dries into a mass and then breaks apart into clods?
39 "Can you hunt prey for the lioness to satisfy young lions
40 when they crouch in their dens and lie in ambush in their lairs?
41 Who prepares food for the raven, when its offspring cry out to God as they wander for lack of food?"

1 Timothy 5

- 1 Never speak harshly to an older man, but appeal to him as if he were your father. Treat younger men like brothers,
- 2 older women like mothers, and younger women like sisters, with absolute purity.
- 3 Honour widows who have no other family members to care for them.
- 4 But if a widow has children or grandchildren, they must first learn to respect their own family by repaying their parents, for this is pleasing in God's sight.
- 5 A woman who has no other family members to care for her and who is left all alone has placed her hope in God and devotes herself to petitions and prayers night and day.
- 6 But the self-indulgent widow is just as good as dead.
- 7 Continue to give these instructions, so that they may be blameless.
- 8 If anyone does not take care of his own relatives, especially his immediate family, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.
- 9 A widow may be put on the widows' list if she is at least sixty years old and has been the wife of one husband.
- 10 She must be well known for her good actions as a woman who has raised children, welcomed strangers, washed the saints' feet, helped the suffering, and devoted herself to doing good in every way.
- 11 But do not include younger widows on your list. For whenever their natural desires cause them to lose their devotion to the Messiah, they want to remarry.
- 12 They receive condemnation because they have set aside their prior commitment to the Messiah.
- 13 At the same time, they also learn how to be lazy while going from house to house. Not only this, but they even become gossips and keep busy by interfering in other people's lives, saying things they should not say.
- 14 Therefore, I want younger widows to remarry, have children, manage their homes, and not give the enemy any chance to ridicule them.
- 15 For some widows have already turned away to follow Satan.
- 16 If any woman is a believer and has relatives who are widows, she should help them. The church should not be burdened, so it can help those widows who have no other family members to care for them.
- 17 Elders who handle their duties well should be considered worthy of double compensation, especially those who work hard at preaching and teaching.
- 18 For the Scripture says, "You must not muzzle an ox while it is treading out grain," and "A worker deserves his pay."
- 19 Do not accept an accusation against an elder unless it is supported "by two or three witnesses."
- 20 As for those who keep on sinning, rebuke them in front of everyone so that the rest will also be afraid.
- 21 With God as my witness, as well as the Messiah Jesus and the chosen angels, I solemnly call on you to carry out these instructions without prejudice, doing nothing on the basis of partiality.
- 22 Do not ordain anyone hastily. Do not participate in the sins of others. Keep yourself pure.
- 23 Stop drinking only water, but use a little wine for your stomach because of your frequent illnesses.
- 24 The sins of some people are obvious, leading them to judgement. The sins of others follow them there.
- 25 In the same way, good actions are obvious, and those that are not cannot remain hidden.

Job 39

- 1 "Do you know when the mountain goat gives birth? Do you watch the doe as it calves its young?
- 2 Can you count the months of their gestation? Do you know the time when they give birth,
- 3 when they crouch down to give birth to their offspring, and let go of their birth pangs?
- 4 Their young are strong; they grow up in the open field; then they go off and don't return to them."
- 5 "Who sets the wild donkey free? Who loosens the bonds of the wild donkey
- 6 to whom I've given the Arabah for a home; the salt plain for his dwelling place?
- 7 He despises city noises; he ignores the shouts of the driver.
- 8 He ranges the mountains that are his pasture to search for anything green.
- 9 Is the wild ox willing to serve you? Will he sleep at night near your feeding trough?
- 10 Can you bind the ox to plough a furrow with a rope? Will he harrow after you in the valley?
- 11 Will you trust him because of his great strength and entrust your labour to him?
- 12 Will you trust him that he'll bring in your grain, and gather it to your threshing floor?"
- 13 "The wings of the ostrich flap joyously, but aren't its pinions and feathers like the stork?
- 14 She abandons her eggs on the ground and lets them be warmed in the sand,
- 15 but she forgets that a foot might crush them or any wild animal might trample them.
- 16 She mistreats her young as though they're not hers, and she has no fear that her labour may be in vain,
- 17 because God didn't grant her wisdom and never gave her understanding.
- 18 And yet when she gets ready to run, she laughs at the horse and its rider."
- 19 Do you instil the horse with strength? Do you clothe its neck with a mane?
- 20 Can you make him leap like the locust, and make the splendour of his snorting terrifying?
- 21 He paws the ground in the valley and rejoices in his strength; he goes out to face weapons.
- 22 He scoffs at fear and is never scared; he never retreats from a sword.
- 23 A quiver of arrows rattles against his side, along with a flashing spear and a lance.
- 24 Leaping in his excitement, he takes in the ground; he cannot stand still when the trumpets sound!
- 25 When the trumpet blasts he'll neigh, 'Aha! Aha!' From a distance he can sense war, the war cry of generals, and their shouting."
- 26 "Is it by your understanding that the hawk flies, spreading its wings toward the south?
- 27 Does the eagle soar high at your command and build its nest on the highest crags?
- 28 He dwells on the crags where he makes his home, there on the rocky crag is his stronghold.
- 29 From there he searches for prey, and his eyes recognize it from a distance.
- 30 His young ones feast on blood; he'll be found wherever there's a carcass."

Job 40

- 1 The LORD continued his response to Job by saying:
- 2 "Should the one who is fighting the Almighty find fault with him? Let God's accuser answer."
- 3 Then Job replied to the LORD. He said:
- 4 "I must look insignificant to you! How can I answer you? I'm speechless.
- 5 I spoke once, but I can't answer; I tried a second time, but I won't do so anymore."

6 The LORD answered Job from the wind storm and told him:
7 "Stand up like a man! I'll ask you some questions, and you give me some answers!
8 Indeed would you annul my justice and condemn me, just so you can claim that you're righteous?
9 Do you have strength like God? Can you create thunder with a sound like he can?"
10 "When you have adorned yourself with exalted majesty, clothed yourself with splendour and dignity,
11 dispensed the fury of your anger, made sure that you have humbled every proud person,
12 stared down and subdued every proud person, trampled the wicked right where they are,
13 buried them in the dust together, and sent them bound to that secret place,
14 then I will applaud you myself! I'll admit that you can deliver yourself by your own efforts!"
15 "Please observe Behemoth, which I made along with you. He eats grass like an ox.
16 Now take a look at the strength that he has in his loins, and in the muscles of his abdomen.
17 His tail protrudes stiffly, like cedar; the sinews of his thigh interlink for strength.
18 His bones are conduits of bronze; his strong bones are like bars of iron.
19 He is the grandest of God's undertakings, yet his creator is approaching him with his sword.
20 Mountains produce food for him, where all the wild animals frolic.
21 He lies under the lotus trees, hiding under reeds and marshes.
22 The lotus trees cover him with their shade, and willows that line the wadis surround him.
23 What you see as a raging river doesn't alarm him; he is confident when the Jordan overflows.
24 Are your eyes looking to capture him, or to pierce his snout with a bridle?"

Job 41

1 "Can you draw Leviathan out of the water with a hook, or tie down his tongue with a rope?
2 Can you attach a bridle to his snout, or pierce his jaw with a hook?
3 Will he make many supplications to you, or will he beg you for mercy?
4 Will he try to make a deal with you, so that you may take him in servitude forever?
5 "Will you play with him like a pet bird? Will you put a leash on him for your little girls?
6 Will your business be able to buy him, Will you divide him among your merchant friends?
7 Will you fill his flesh with harpoons, or his head with lances?
8 Lay your hand on him, and you'll remember the struggle. You'll never do that again!
9 "Look! Anyone's hope to capture him will prove itself false; anyone would be terrified just by looking at him.
10 No one is fierce enough to dare to arouse him. "Who, then, can stand in my presence and face me?
11 Who can take me to court and be reconciled to me? All of heaven is mine.

1 Timothy 6

- 1 All who are under the yoke of slavery should regard their own masters as deserving of the highest respect, so that the name of God and our teaching may not be discredited.
- 2 Moreover, those who have believing masters should be respectful to them, because they are fellow believers. In fact, they must serve them even better, because those who benefit from their service are believers and dear to them. These are the things you must teach and exhort.
- 3 If anyone teaches false doctrine and refuses to agree with the sound words of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, and godly teaching,
- 4 he is a conceited person and does not understand anything. He has an unhealthy craving for arguments and debates. This produces jealousy, rivalry, slander, evil suspicions,
- 5 and incessant conflict between people who are depraved in mind and deprived of truth. They think that godliness is a way to make a profit.
- 6 Of course, godliness with contentment does bring a great profit.
- 7 Nothing to this world we bring;
from it take we nothing.
- 8 With food to eat and clothes to wear;
content we are in everything.
- 9 But people who want to get rich keep toppling into temptation and are trapped by many stupid and harmful desires that plunge them into destruction and ruin.
- 10 For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil. Some people, in their eagerness to get rich, have wandered away from the faith and caused themselves a lot of pain.
- 11 But you, man of God, must flee from all these things. Instead, you must pursue righteousness, godliness, faithfulness, love, endurance, and gentleness.
- 12 Fight the good fight for the faith. Keep holding on to eternal life, to which you were called and about which you gave a good testimony in front of many witnesses.
- 13 Since you are in the presence of God, who gives life to everything, and in the presence of the Messiah Jesus, who gave a good testimony before Pontius Pilate, I solemnly charge you
- 14 to keep these commands stainlessly and blamelessly until the appearance of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah.
- 15 At the right time, he will make him known. God is the blessed and only Ruler, the King of kings and Lord of lords.
- 16 He alone has endless life and lives in inaccessible light. No one has ever seen him, nor can anyone see him. Honour and eternal power belong to him! Amen.
- 17 Tell those who are rich in this age not to be arrogant and not to place their confidence in anything as uncertain as riches. Instead, let them place their confidence in God, who lavishly provides us with everything for our enjoyment.
- 18 They are to do good, to be rich in good actions, to be generous, and to share.
- 19 By doing this they store up a treasure for themselves that is a good foundation for the future, so that they can keep their hold on the life that is real.
- 20 Timothy, guard what has been entrusted to you. Avoid the pointless discussions and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge.
- 21 Although some claim to have it, they have abandoned the faith. May grace be with all of you!

Job 41

12 "I won't be silent concerning his limbs, his mighty strength, and orderly frame.
13 Who can strip off his outer armour? Who can approach him with a bridle?
14 Who dares to open his mouth, since it is ringed with his terrible teeth!
15 His protective scales are his pride, they lie sealed tightly together.
16 Each one is so close to the other that not even air comes in between them.
17 Each is attached to the other, grasping each other so they cannot be separated.
18 "His snorting releases flashes of light; his eyes are like the rays of the dawn.
19 Flames blaze from his mouth; streams of sparking fire fly out.
20 Smoke billows from his nostrils; like a boiling pot or burning reeds.
21 His breath can ignite coal; and flames proceed from his mouth.
22 "His neck is so powerful that all who meet him are terrified.
23 There is no flaw in his body's armour; it is firmly fixed on him and unbreachable.
24 His heart is as strong as stone, it is as hard as a lower millstone.
25 When he rears up, the mighty are terrified; they are bewildered as he thrashes about.
26 "Thrusting at him with a sword won't be effective, nor will spears, darts, or javelins.
27 He regards iron like straw, and hardened bronze like a dead tree.
28 Arrows won't make him flee; stones from a sling are only pebbles to him.
29 Clubs are like twigs; he laughs at the whoosh of the javelin.
30 "Beneath him he is armoured as with sharp potsherds; he tears through muddy ground like a threshing sledge through grain.
31 He causes the deep to boil like water in a pot, and churns the sea like one stirs ointment.
32 The sea is luminescent behind him; his wake turns the sea white, like those with grey hair.
33 "There's nothing like him on earth; he was created without the ability to fear.
34 He looks down on everything that is high; he rules over every kind of pride."

Job 42

1 Job replied to the LORD:
2 "I know that you can do anything and nothing that you plan is impossible.
3 You asked, 'Who is this that darkens counsel without knowledge?' Well now, I have talked about what I don't understand — awesome things beyond me that I don't know.
4 Listen now, and I will speak for myself; I'll interrogate you and then inform me.
5 I've heard you with my ears; and now I've seen you with my eyes.
6 As a result, I despise myself and repent in dust and ashes."
7 After these words had been spoken by the LORD to Job, the LORD spoke to Eliphaz from Teman: "My anger is burning against you along with your two friends, since you haven't spoken correctly about me, as did my servant Job.
8 So take seven bulls and seven rams and bring them to my servant Job. And bring a whole burnt offering for yourselves and my servant Job will pray for you. I'll encourage him by not responding as your disgraceful folly deserves, since you didn't speak about me correctly as did my servant Job.
9 So Eliphaz from Teman, Bildad from Shuah, and Zophar from Naamath did precisely as the LORD had spoken to them, because the LORD showed favour to Job.
10 The LORD restored Job's prosperity after he prayed for his friends. The LORD doubled everything that Job had once possessed.
11 Then all his brothers and sisters and all those who knew him before arrived. They ate food with him in his house, mourned for him, and consoled him for all the trouble that the LORD had brought and placed on him. Some gave him gold bullion and some brought gold earrings.

12 The LORD blessed Job during the latter part of his life more than the former, since he owned 14,000 thousand sheep, 6,000 camels, 1,000 teams of oxen and 1,000 female donkeys.

13 He also had seven sons and three daughters.

14 He named the first daughter Jemima, the second Keziah, and the name of the third was Keren-happuch.

15 No one could find more beautiful women in the whole land than Job's daughters. Their father gave them their inheritance along with their brothers.

16 Job lived 140 years after this, and saw his children and grandchildren to the fourth generation.

17 Then Job died at an old age, having lived a full life.

Psalm 1

1 How blessed is the person, who does not take the advice of the wicked, who does not stand on the path with sinners, and who does not sit in the seat of mockers.
2 But he delights in the LORD's instruction, and meditates in his instruction day and night.
3 He will be like a tree planted by streams of water, yielding its fruit in its season, and whose leaf does not wither. He will prosper in everything he does.
4 But this is not the case with the wicked. They are like chaff that the wind blows away.
5 Therefore the wicked will not escape judgement, nor will sinners have a place in the assembly of the righteous.
6 For the LORD knows the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked will be destroyed.

Psalm 2

1 Why are the nations in an uproar, and their people involved in a vain plot?
2 As the kings of the earth take their stand and the rulers conspire together against the LORD and his anointed one, they say,
3 "Let us tear off their shackles from us, and cast off their chains."
4 He who sits in the heavens laughs; the Lord scoffs at them.
5 In his anger he rebukes them, and in his wrath he terrifies them:
6 "I have set my king on Zion, my holy mountain."
7 Let me announce the decree of the LORD that he told me: "You are my son, today I have become your father.
8 Ask of me, and I will give you the nations as your inheritance, the ends of the earth as your possession.
9 You will break them with an iron rod, you will shatter them like pottery."
10 Therefore, kings, act wisely! Earthly rulers, be warned!
11 Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling.
12 Kiss the son before he becomes angry, and you die where you stand. Indeed, his wrath can flare up quickly. How blessed are those who take refuge in him.

Psalm 3

1 A Davidic Psalm, when he fled from his son Absalom.

LORD, I have so many persecutors! Many are rising up against me!

2 Many are saying about me, "God will never deliver him!"

Interlude.

3 But you, LORD, are a shield around me, my glory, and the one who lifts up my head.

4 I cry aloud to the LORD, and he answers me from his holy mountain.

Interlude.

5 I lie down and sleep, I wake up, because the LORD sustains me.

6 I will not fear multitudes of people, who set themselves against me on every side.

7 Arise, LORD! Deliver me, my God! For you strike the jaw of all my enemies, and you break the teeth of the wicked.

8 Deliverance comes from the LORD! May your blessing be on your people.

Interlude.

John 1

- 1 In the beginning, the Word existed. The Word was with God, and the Word was God.
- 2 He existed in the beginning with God.
- 3 Through him all things were made, and apart from him nothing was made that has been made.
- 4 In him was life, and that life brought light to humanity.
- 5 And the light shines on in the darkness, and the darkness has never put it out.
- 6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.
- 7 He came as a witness to testify about the light, so that all might believe because of him.
- 8 John was not the light, but he came to testify about the light.
- 9 This was the true light that enlightens every person by his coming into the world.
- 10 He was in the world, and the world was made through him. Yet the world did not recognize him.
- 11 He came to his own creation, yet his own people did not receive him.
- 12 However, to all who received him, those believing in his name, he gave authority to become God's children,
- 13 who were born, not merely in a genetic sense, nor from lust, nor from man's desire, but from the will of God.
- 14 The Word became flesh and lived among us. We gazed on his glory, the kind of glory that belongs to the Father's unique Son, who is full of grace and truth.
- 15 John told the truth about him when he cried out, "This is the person about whom I said, 'The one who comes after me ranks higher than me, because he existed before me.'"
- 16 We have all received one gracious gift after another from his abundance,
- 17 because while the Law was given through Moses, grace and truth came through Jesus the Messiah.
- 18 No one has ever seen God. The unique God, who is close to the Father's side, has revealed him.

Psalm 4

1 To the Director:

With stringed instruments.

A Davidic Psalm.

When I call, answer me, my righteous God! When I was in distress, you set me free. Be gracious to me and hear my prayer.

2 You people, how long will you malign my reputation? How long will you love what is vain and what is false? Interlude.

3 But understand this: the LORD has set apart the godly for himself! The LORD will hear me when I cry out to him!

4 Be angry, yet do not sin. Think about this when upon your beds, and be silent.

Interlude.

5 Offer sacrifices that are righteous, and put your confidence in the LORD.

6 Many are asking, "Who will help us to see better days?" LORD, may the light of your favour shine upon us.

7 You have given me more joy in my heart than at harvest times, when grain and wine abound.

8 I will lie down and sleep in peace, for you alone, LORD, enable me to live securely.

Psalm 5

1 To the Director:

For flutes.

A Davidic Psalm.

LORD, listen to my words, consider my groaning.

2 Pay attention to my cry for help, my king and my God, for unto you will I pray.

3 LORD, in the morning you will hear my voice; in the morning I will pray to you, and I will watch for your answer.

4 Indeed, you aren't a God who delights in wickedness; evil will never dwell with you.

5 Boastful ones will not stand before you; you hate all those who practise wickedness.

6 You will destroy those who speak lies. The LORD abhors the person of bloodshed and deceit.

7 But I, because of the abundance of your gracious love, may come into your house. In awe of you, I will worship in your holy Temple.

8 LORD, lead me in your righteousness because of my enemies. Make your path straight before me.

9 But as for the wicked, they do not speak truth at all. Inside them there is only wickedness. Their throat is an open grave; on their tongue is deceitful flattery.

10 Declare them guilty, God! Let them fall by their own schemes. Drive them away because of their many transgressions, for they have rebelled against you.

11 Let all those who take refuge in you rejoice! Let them shout for joy forever, and may you protect them. Let those who love your name exult in you.

12 Indeed, you will bless the righteous one, LORD; like a large shield, you will surround him with favour.

Psalm 6

1 To the Director:

With stringed instruments. On an eight-stringed harp.

A Davidic Psalm.

LORD, in your anger, do not rebuke me; in your wrath, do not discipline me.

2 Be gracious to me, LORD, because I am fading away. Heal me, because my body is distressed.

3 And my soul is deeply distressed. But you, LORD, how long do I wait?

4 Return, LORD, save my life! Deliver me, because of your gracious love.

5 In death, there is no memory of you. Who will give you thanks where the dead are?

6 I am weary from my groaning. Every night my couch is drenched with tears, my bed is soaked through.

7 My eyesight has faded because of grief, it has dimmed because of all my enemies.

8 Get away from me, all of you who practise evil, for the LORD has heard the sound of my weeping.

9 The LORD has heard my plea; the LORD receives my prayer.

10 As for all my enemies, they will be put to shame; they will be greatly frightened and suddenly turn away ashamed.

Psalm 7

1 A Davidic psalm, which he sang to the LORD, because of the words of Cush the descendant of Benjamin.

LORD, my God, I seek refuge in you. Deliver me from those who persecute me! Rescue me!

2 Otherwise, they will rip me to shreds like a lion, tearing me apart with no one to rescue me.

3 LORD, my God, if I have done this thing, if there is injustice on my hands,

4 if I have rewarded those who did me good with evil, if I have plundered my enemy without justification,

5 then, let my enemy pursue me, let him overtake me, and let him trample my life to the ground.

Interlude.

Let him put my honour into the dust.

6 Get up, LORD, in your anger! Rise up, because of the fury of my enemies; Arouse yourself for me; you have ordained justice.

7 Let the assembly of the peoples gather around you, and you will sit high above them.

8 For the LORD will judge the peoples. Judge me according to my righteousness, LORD, and according to my integrity, Exalted One.

9 Let the evil of the wicked come to an end, but establish the righteous. For you are the righteous God who discerns the inner thoughts.

10 God is my shield, the one who delivers the upright in heart.

11 God is a righteous judge, a God who is angry with sinners every day.

12 If the ungodly one doesn't repent, God will sharpen his sword; he will string his bow and prepare it.

13 He prepares weapons of death for himself, he makes his arrows into fiery shafts.

14 But the wicked one travails with evil, he conceives malice and gives birth to lies.

15 He digs a pit, even excavates it; then he fell into the hole that he had made.

16 The trouble he planned will return on his own head, and his violence will descend on his skull.

17 But as for me, I will praise the LORD for his righteousness, and I will sing to the name of the LORD Most High.

Psalm 8

1 To the Director:
On a stringed instrument.
A Davidic Psalm.

LORD, our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the earth! You set your glory above the heavens!

2 Out of the mouths of infants and nursing babies you have established strength on account of your adversaries, in order to silence the enemy and vengeful foe.

3 When I look at the heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars that you established —

4 what is man that you take notice of him, or the son of man that you pay attention to him?

5 You made him a little less than divine, but you crowned him with glory and honour.

6 You gave him dominion over the work of your hands, you put all things under his feet:

7 Sheep and cattle — all of them, wild creatures of the field,

8 birds in the sky, fish in the sea — whatever moves through the currents of the oceans.

9 LORD, our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the earth!

John 1

19 This was John's testimony when the Jews sent priests and descendants of Levi to him from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?"

20 He spoke openly and, remaining true to himself, admitted, "I am not the Messiah."

21 So they asked him, "Well then, are you Elijah?" John said, "I am not." "Are you the Prophet?" He answered, "No."

22 "Who are you?" they asked him. "We must give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?"

23 He replied, "I am ' . . . a voice crying out in the wilderness, "Prepare the Lord's highway," as the prophet Isaiah said."

24 Now those men had been sent from the Pharisees.

25 They asked him, "Why, then, are you baptizing if you are not the Messiah, or Elijah, or the Prophet?"

26 John answered them, "I am baptizing with water, but among you stands a man whom you do not know,

27 the one who is coming after me, whose sandal straps I am not worthy to untie."

28 This happened in Bethany on the other side of the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Look, the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!

30 This is the one about whom I said, 'After me comes a man who ranks above me, because he existed before me.'

31 I didn't recognize him, but I came baptizing with water so that he might be revealed to Israel."

32 John also testified, "I saw the Spirit coming down from heaven like a dove, and it remained on him.

33 I didn't recognize him, but the one who sent me to baptize with water told me, 'The person on whom you see the Spirit descending and remaining is the one who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.'

34 I have seen this and have testified that this is the Son of God."

35 The next day John was standing there again with two of his disciples.

36 As he watched Jesus walk by, he said, "Look, the Lamb of God!"

37 When the two disciples heard him say this, they followed Jesus.

38 But when Jesus turned around and saw them following, he asked them, "What are you looking for?" They asked him, "Rabbi," (which is translated "Teacher"), "where are you staying?"

39 He told them, "Come and see!" So they went and saw where he was staying, and they remained with him that day. It was about four o'clock in the afternoon.

40 Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, was one of the two who heard John and followed Jesus.

41 The first thing Andrew did was to find his brother Simon and say to him, "We have found the Anointed One!" (which is translated "Messiah").

42 He led Simon to Jesus. Jesus looked at him intently and said, "You are Simon, John's son. You will be called Cephas!" (which is translated "Peter").

Psalm 9

1 To the Director:

Accompanied by female voices.

A Davidic Psalm.

I will give thanks to the LORD with all my heart, I will declare all your wonderful deeds.

2 I will be glad and exult in you; I will sing praises to your name, Most High!

3 When my enemies turn back, they will stumble and perish before you.

4 For you have brought about justice for me and my cause; you sit on the throne judging righteously.

5 You rebuked the nations, you destroyed the wicked, you wiped out their name forever and ever.

6 The enemy has perished, reduced to ruins forever. You uprooted their cities, the very memory of them vanished.

7 But the LORD sits on his throne forever; his throne is established for judgement.

8 He will judge the world righteously and make just decisions for the people.

9 The LORD is a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of distress.

10 Those who know your name will trust you, for you have not forsaken those who seek you, LORD.

11 Sing praises to the LORD who dwells in Zion; declare his mighty deeds among the peoples.

12 As an avenger of blood, he remembers them; he has not forgotten the cry of the afflicted.

13 Be gracious to me, LORD, take note of my affliction, because of those who hate me. You snatch me away from the gates of death,

14 so I may declare everything for which you should be praised in the gates of the daughter of Zion, so I will rejoice in your deliverance.

15 The nations have sunk down into the pit they made, their feet are ensnared in the trap they set.

16 The LORD has made himself known, executing judgement. The wicked are ensnared by what their hands have made.

Interlude.

17 The wicked will turn back to where the dead are — all the nations that have forgotten God.

18 For he will not always overlook the plight of the poor, nor will the hope of the afflicted perish forever.

19 Rise up, LORD, do not let man prevail! The nations will be judged in your presence.

20 Make them afraid, LORD, Let the nations know that they are only human.

Interlude.

Psalm 10

1 Why do you stand far away, LORD? Why do you hide in times of distress?

2 The wicked one arrogantly pursues the afflicted, who are trapped in the schemes he devises.

3 For the wicked one boasts about his own desire; he blesses the greedy and despises the LORD.

4 With haughty arrogance, the wicked thinks, "God will not seek justice." He always presumes "There is no God."

5 Their ways always seem prosperous. Your judgements are on high, far away from them. They scoff at all their enemies.

6 They say to themselves, "We will not be moved throughout all time, and we will not experience adversity."
 7 Their mouth is full of curses, lies, and oppression, their tongues spread trouble and iniquity.
 8 They wait in ambush in the villages, they kill the innocent in secret.
 9 Their eyes secretly watch the helpless, lying in wait like a lion in his den. They lie in wait to catch the afflicted. They catch the afflicted when they pull him into their net.
 10 The victim is crushed, and he sinks down; the helpless fall by their might.
 11 The wicked say to themselves, "God has forgotten, he has hidden his face, he will never see it."
 12 Rise up, LORD! Raise your hand, God. Don't forget the afflicted!
 13 Why do the wicked despise God and say to themselves, "God will not seek justice."?
 14 But you do see! You take note of trouble and grief in order to take the matter into your own hand. The helpless one commits himself to you; you have been the orphan's helper.
 15 Break the arm of the wicked and evil man; so that when you seek out his wickedness you will find it no more.
 16 The LORD is king forever and ever; nations will perish from his land.
 17 LORD, you heard the desire of the afflicted; you will strengthen them, you will listen carefully,
 18 to do justice for the orphan and the oppressed, so that men of the earth may cause terror no more.

Psalm 11

1 To the Director:
 A Davidic Song.

I take refuge in the LORD. So how can you say to me, "Flee like a bird to the mountains."?
 2 Look, the wicked have bent their bow and placed their arrow on the string, to shoot from the darkness at the upright in heart.
 3 When the foundations are destroyed, what can the righteous do?
 4 The LORD is in his holy Temple; the LORD's throne is in the heavens. His eyes see, his glance examines humanity.
 5 The LORD examines the righteous, but the wicked and those who love violence, he hates.
 6 He rains on the wicked burning coals and sulphur; a scorching wind is their destiny.
 7 Indeed, the LORD is righteous; he loves righteousness; the upright will see him face-to-face.

Psalm 12

1 To the Director:
 On an eight stringed harp.
 A Davidic Psalm.

Help, LORD, for godly people no longer exist; trustworthy people have disappeared from humanity.
 2 Everyone speaks lies to his neighbour; they speak with flattering lips and hidden motives.
 3 The LORD will cut off all slippery lips, and the tongue that boasts great things,
 4 those who say, "By our tongues we will prevail; our lips belong to us. Who is master over us?"
 5 "Because the poor are being oppressed, because the needy are sighing, I will now arise," says the LORD, "I will establish in safety those who yearn for it."
 6 The words of the LORD are pure, like silver refined in an earthen furnace, purified seven times over.

- 7 You, LORD, will keep them safe, you will guard them from this generation forever.
8 The wicked, however, keep walking around, exalting the vileness of human beings.

Psalm 13

- 1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

- How long? LORD, will you forget me forever? How long will you hide your face from me?
2 How long must I struggle in my soul at night and have sorrow in my heart during the day? How long will my enemy rise up against me?
3 Look at me! Answer me, LORD, my God! Give light to my eyes! Otherwise, I will sleep in death;
4 Otherwise, my enemy will say, "I have overcome him;" Otherwise, my persecutor will rejoice when I am shaken.
5 As for me, I have trusted in your gracious love, my heart will rejoice in your deliverance.
6 I will sing to the LORD, for he has dealt bountifully with me.

Psalm 14

- 1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

- Fools say to themselves, "There is no God." They are corrupt and commit evil deeds; not one of them practises what is good.
2 The LORD looks down from the heavens upon humanity to see if anyone shows discernment as he searches for God.
3 All have turned away, together they have become corrupt; no one practises what is good, not even one.
4 Will those who do evil ever learn? They devour my people like they devour bread, and never call on the LORD.
5 There they are seized with terror, because God is with those who are righteous.
6 You would frustrate the plans of the oppressed, but the LORD is their refuge.
7 May Israel's deliverance come from Zion! When the LORD restores the fortunes of his people, Jacob will rejoice, and Israel will be glad.

John 1

43 The next day Jesus decided to go away to Galilee, where he found Philip and told him, "Follow me."

44 Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the hometown of Andrew and Peter.

45 Philip found Nathaniel and told him, "We have found the man about whom Moses in the Law and the Prophets wrote — Jesus, the son of Joseph, from Nazareth."

46 Nathaniel asked him, "Out of Nazareth? Can anything good come from there?" Philip told him, "Come and see!"

47 Jesus saw Nathaniel coming toward him and said about him, "Look, a genuine Israeli, in whom there is no deceit!"

48 Nathaniel asked him, "How do you know me?" Jesus answered him, "Before Philip called you, while you were under the fig tree, I saw you."

49 Nathaniel replied to him, "Rabbi, you are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!"

50 Jesus told him, "Do you believe because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree? You will see greater things than that."

51 Then he told him, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, you will see heaven standing open and the angels of God going up and coming down to the Son of Man."

John 2

1 On the third day of that week there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee. Jesus' mother was there,

2 and Jesus and his disciples had also been invited to the wedding.

3 When the wine ran out, Jesus' mother told him, "They don't have any more wine."

4 "How does that concern us, dear lady?" Jesus asked her. "My time hasn't come yet."

5 His mother told the servants, "Do whatever he tells you."

6 Now standing there were six stone water jars used for the Jewish rites of purification, each one holding from 20 to 30 gallons.

7 Jesus told the servants, "Fill the jars with water." So they filled them up to the brim.

8 Then he told them, "Now draw some out and take it to the man in charge of the banquet." So they did.

9 When the man in charge of the banquet tasted the water that had become wine (without knowing where it had come from, though the servants who had drawn the water knew), he called for the bridegroom

10 and told him, "Everyone serves the best wine first, and the cheap kind when people are drunk. But you have kept the best wine until now!"

11 Jesus did this, the first of his signs, in Cana of Galilee. He revealed his glory, and his disciples believed in him.

12 After this, Jesus went down to Capernaum — he, his mother, his brothers, and his disciples — and they remained there for a few days.

Psalm 15

1 A Davidic Psalm.

LORD, who may stay in your tent? Who may dwell on your holy mountain?

2 The one who lives with integrity, who does righteous deeds, and who speaks truth to himself.

3 The one who does not slander with his tongue, who does no evil to his neighbour, and who does not destroy his friend's reputation.

4 The one who despises those who are utterly wicked, but who honours the one who fears the LORD, who keeps his word even when it hurts and does not change,

5 who does not loan his money with interest, and who does not take a bribe against those who are innocent. The one who does these things will stand firm forever.

Psalm 16

1 A special Davidic Psalm.

Keep me safe, God, for I take refuge in you.

2 I told the LORD, "You are my master, I have nothing good apart from you."

3 As for the saints that are in the land, they are noble, and all my delight is in them.

4 Those who hurry after another god will have many sorrows; I will not present their drink offerings of blood, nor will my lips speak their names.

5 The LORD is my inheritance and my cup; you support my lot.

6 The boundary lines have fallen in pleasant places for me; truly, I have a beautiful heritage.

7 I will bless the LORD who has counselled me; indeed, my conscience instructs me during the night.

8 I have set the LORD before me continually; because he stands at my right hand, I will stand firm.

9 Therefore, my heart is glad, my whole being rejoices, and my body will dwell securely.

10 For you will not leave my soul in Sheol, you will not allow your holy one to experience corruption.

11 You cause me to know the path of life; in your presence is joyful abundance, at your right hand there are pleasures forever.

Psalm 17

1 A Davidic Prayer.

LORD, hear my just plea! Pay attention to my cry! Listen to my prayer, since it does not come from lying lips.

2 Justice for me will come from your presence; your eyes see what is right.

3 When you probe my heart, and examine me at night; when you refine me, you will find nothing wrong, for I have determined that I will not transgress with my mouth.

4 As for the ways of mankind, I have, according to the words of your lips, avoided the ways of the violent.

5 Because my steps have held fast to your paths, my footsteps have not faltered.

6 I call upon you, for you will answer me, God. Listen closely to me and hear my prayer.

7 Show forth your gracious love, save those who take refuge in you from those who rebel against your sovereign power.

8 Protect me as the most precious part of the eye; hide me under the shadow of your wings

9 from the wicked who have afflicted me, from my enemies who have surrounded me.

10 They are imprisoned by their own prosperity, they have boasted proudly with their mouth.
11 Now they have encircled our paths and are determined to cast us down to the ground.
12 Like a lion they desire to rip us to pieces, like a young lion waiting in ambush.
13 Arise, LORD, confront them, bring them to their knees! Deliver me from the wicked by your sword —
14 from men, LORD, by your hand — from men who belong to this world, whose reward is only in this life. But as for your treasured ones, may their stomachs be full, may their children have an abundance, and may they leave wealth to their offspring.
15 But as for me, justified, I will behold your face; when I awake, your presence will satisfy me.

Psalm 18

1 To the Director:

By the servant of the LORD, David, who spoke the words of this song to the LORD on the day when the LORD delivered him from the hands of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. He said:

"I love you, Lord, my strength.

2 The LORD is my rock, my fortress, my deliverer, my God, my stronghold in whom I take refuge, my shield, the glory of my salvation, and my high tower."

3 I cried out to the LORD, who is worthy to be praised, and I was delivered from my enemies.

4 The cords of death entangled me; the rivers of Belial made me afraid.

5 The cords of Sheol surrounded me; the snares of death confronted me.

6 In my distress I cried to the LORD; to my God I cried for help. From his Temple he heard my voice; my cry reached his ears.

7 The world shook and trembled; the foundations of the mountains quaked, they shook because he was angry.

8 In his anger smoke poured out of his nostrils, and consuming fire from his mouth; coals were lit from it.

9 He bent the sky and descended, and darkness was under his feet.

10 He rode upon a cherub and flew; he soared upon the wings of the wind.

11 He made darkness his hiding place, his canopy surrounding him was dark waters and thick clouds.

12 The brightness before him scattered the thick clouds, with hail stones and flashes of fire.

13 Then the LORD thundered in the heavens, and the Most High sounded aloud, calling for hail stones and flashes of fire.

14 He shot his arrows and scattered them; with many lightning bolts he frightened them.

15 Then the channels of the sea could be seen, and the foundations of the earth were uncovered because of your rebuke, LORD, because of the blast from the breath of your nostrils.

16 He reached down and took me; he drew me from many waters.

17 He delivered me from my strong enemies, from those who hated me because they were stronger than I.

18 They confronted me in the day of my calamity, but the LORD was my support.

19 He brought me out to a spacious place; he delivered me, for in me he takes delight.

20 The LORD will reward me because I am righteous; because my hands are clean he will restore me;

21 because I have kept the ways of the LORD, and I have not wickedly departed from my God;

22 because all his judgements were always before me, and I did not cast off his statutes.

23 I was upright before him, and I kept myself from iniquity.
24 So the LORD restored me according to my righteousness, because my hands were clean in his sight.
25 To the holy, you show your gracious love, to the upright, you show yourself upright;
26 to the pure, you show yourself pure, and to the morally corrupt, you appear to be perverse.
27 Indeed, you deliver the oppressed, but you bring down those who exalt themselves in their own eyes.
28 For you, LORD, make my lamp shine; my God enlightens my darkness.
29 With your help I will run through an army, with help from my God I leap over walls.
30 As for God, his way is upright; the word of God is pure; he is a shield to all those who take refuge in him.
31 For who is God but the LORD, and who is a Rock other than our God? —
32 the God who clothes me with strength, and who makes my way upright;
33 who makes my feet swift as the deer; who makes me stand on high places;
34 who teaches my hands to make war, and my arms to bend a bronze bow.

John 2

13 The Jewish Passover was near, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 In the Temple he found people selling cattle, sheep, and doves, as well as moneychangers sitting at their tables.

15 After making a whip out of cords, he drove all of them out of the Temple, including the sheep and the cattle. He scattered the coins of the moneychangers and knocked over their tables.

16 Then he told those who were selling the doves, "Take these things out of here! Stop making my Father's house a marketplace!"

17 His disciples remembered that it was written, "Zeal for your house will consume me."

18 Then the Jews asked him, "What sign can you show us as authority for doing these things?"

19 Jesus answered them, "Destroy this sanctuary, and in three days I will rebuild it."

20 The Jews said, "This sanctuary has been under construction for 46 years, and you're going to rebuild it in three days?"

21 But the sanctuary he was speaking about was his own body.

22 After he had been raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this. So they believed the Scripture and the statement that Jesus had made.

23 While Jesus was in Jerusalem for the Passover Festival, many people believed in him because they saw the signs that he was doing.

24 Jesus, however, did not entrust himself to them, because he knew all people

25 and didn't need anyone to tell him what people were like, because he himself knew what was in every person.

John 3

1 Now there was a man from the Pharisees, a leader of the Jews, whose name was Nicodemus.

2 He came to Jesus at night and told him, "Rabbi, we know that you have come from God as a teacher, because no one can perform these signs that you are doing unless God is with him."

3 Jesus replied to him, "Truly, I tell you with certainty, unless a person is born from above he cannot see the kingdom of God."

4 Nicodemus asked him, "How can a person be born when he is old? He can't go back into his mother's womb a second time and be born, can he?"

5 Jesus answered, "Truly, I tell you with certainty, unless a person is born of water and Spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God.

6 What is born of the flesh is flesh, and what is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Don't be astonished that I told you, 'All of you must be born from above.'

8 The wind blows where it wants to. You hear its sound, but you don't know where it comes from or where it is going. That's the way it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

9 Nicodemus asked him, "How can that be?"

10 Jesus answered him, "You're a teacher of Israel, and you can't understand this?

11 Truly, I tell you with certainty, we know what we're talking about, and we testify about what we've seen. Yet you people do not accept our testimony.

12 If I have told you people about earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you about heavenly things?

13 "No one has gone up to heaven except the one who came down from heaven, the Son of Man who is in heaven.

Psalm 18

35 You have given to me the shield of your deliverance, and your right hand holds me up; your gentleness made me great.
36 You make a broad place for my steps, so my feet won't slip.
37 I pursued my enemies and overtook them; I did not turn around until they were utterly defeated.
38 I struck them down, so they are not able to rise up; they fell under my feet.
39 You clothed me with strength for war; you will subdue under me those who rise up against me.
40 You have made my enemies turn their back to me, and I will destroy those who hate me.
41 They cried out for deliverance, but there was no one to deliver; they cried out to the LORD, but he did not answer them.
42 I ground them like wind-swept dust; I emptied them out like dirt in the street.
43 You rescued me from conflict with the people; you made me head of the nations. People who did not know me will serve me.
44 When they hear of me, they will obey me; foreigners will submit to me.
45 Foreigners will wilt away; they will come trembling out of their stronghold.
46 The LORD lives! Blessed be my Rock! May the God of my deliverance be exalted!
47 He is the God who executes vengeance on my behalf; who destroys peoples under me;
48 who delivers me from my enemies. Truly you will exalt me above those who oppose me; you will deliver me from the violent person.
49 Therefore, I will give thanks to you among the nations, LORD; I will sing praises to your name.
50 He is the one who gives victories to his king; who shows gracious love to his anointed, to David and his seed forever.

Psalm 19

1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

The heavens are declaring the glory of God, and their expanse shows the work of his hands.
2 Day after day they pour forth speech, night after night they reveal knowledge.
3 There is no speech nor are there words — their voice is not heard —
4 yet their message goes out into all the world, and their words to the ends of the earth. He has set up a tent for the sun in the heavens,
5 which is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, or like a champion who rejoices at the beginning of a race.
6 Its circuit is from one end of the sky to the other, and nothing is hidden from its heat.
7 The Law of the LORD is perfect, restoring life. The testimony of the LORD is steadfast, making foolish people wise.
8 The precepts of the LORD are upright, making the heart rejoice. The commandment of the LORD is pure, giving light to the eyes.
9 The fear of the LORD is clean, standing forever. The judgements of the LORD are true; they are altogether righteous.
10 They are more desirable than gold, even much fine gold. They are sweeter than honey, even the drippings from a honeycomb.
11 Moreover your servant is warned by them; and there is great reward in keeping them.
12 Who can detect his own mistake? Cleanse me from hidden sin.

13 Preserve your servant from arrogant people; do not let them rule over me. Then I will be upright and acquitted of great wickedness.

14 May the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in your sight, LORD, my Rock and my Redeemer.

Psalms 20

1 To the Director:

A Davidic Psalm.

May the LORD answer you in the day of distress; may the name of the God of Jacob protect you.

2 May he send you help from the sanctuary, and may he sustain you from Zion.

3 May he remember all your gifts, and may he accept your burnt offerings.

Interlude.

4 May he give you what your heart desires, and may he fulfil all your plans.

5 May we shout for joy at your deliverance and unfurl our banners in the name of our God. May the LORD fulfil all your petitions.

6 Now I know that the LORD has delivered his anointed; he has answered him from his sanctuary with the strength of his right hand of deliverance.

7 Some boast in chariots, others in horses; but we will boast in the name of the LORD our God.

8 While they bowed down and fell, we arose and stood upright.

9 Deliver us, LORD! Answer us, our King, on the day we cry out!

Psalms 21

1 To the Director:

A Davidic Psalm.

The king rejoices in your strength, LORD. How greatly he rejoices in your deliverance.

2 You have granted him the desire of his heart, and have not withheld what his lips requested.

Interlude.

3 You go before him with wonderful blessings, and put a crown of fine gold on his head.

4 He asked life from you, and you gave it to him — a long life for ever and ever.

5 His glory is great because of your deliverance, you have given him honour and majesty.

6 Indeed, you have given him eternal blessings; you will make him glad with the joy of your presence.

7 The king trusts in the LORD; because of the gracious love of the Most High, he will stand firm.

8 Your hand will find all your enemies, your right hand will find those who hate you.

9 When you appear, you will set them ablaze like a fire furnace. In his wrath, the LORD will consume them, and the fire will devour them.

10 You will destroy their descendants from the earth, even their offspring from the ranks of mankind.

11 Though they plot evil against you and devise schemes, they will not succeed.

12 Indeed, you will make them retreat, when you aim your bow at their faces.

13 Rise up, LORD, because you are strong; we will sing and praise your power.

Psalms 22

1 To the Director:

To the tune of "Doe of the Dawn".

A Davidic Psalm.

My God! My God! Why have you abandoned me? Why are you so far from delivering me — from my groaning words?

2 My God, I cry out to you throughout the day, but you do not answer; and throughout the night, but I have no rest.
3 You are holy, enthroned on the praises of Israel.
4 Our ancestors trusted in you; they trusted and you delivered them.
5 They cried out to you and escaped; they trusted in you and were not put to shame.
6 But as for me, I am only a worm and not a man, scorned by mankind and despised by people.
7 Everyone who sees me mocks me; they gape at me with open mouths and shake their heads at me.
8 They say, "Commit yourself to the LORD; perhaps the LORD will deliver him, perhaps he will cause him to escape, since he delights in him."
9 Yet, you are the one who took me from the womb, and kept me safe on my mother's breasts.
10 I was dependent on you from birth; from my mother's womb you have been my God.
11 Do not be so distant from me, for trouble is at hand; indeed, there is no deliverer.

John 3

14 Just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, 15 so that everyone who believes in him may have eternal life.

16 "For this is how God loved the world: He gave his unique Son so that everyone who believes in him might not be lost but have eternal life.

17 Because God sent the Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him.

18 Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe has already been condemned, because he has not believed in the name of God's unique Son.

19 And this is the basis for judgement: The light has come into the world, but people loved the darkness more than the light because their actions were evil.

20 Everyone who practises wickedness hates the light and does not come to the light, so that his actions may not be exposed.

21 But whoever does what is true comes to the light, so that it may become evident that his actions have God's approval."

22 After this, Jesus and his disciples went into the Judean countryside. He spent some time there with them and began baptizing.

23 John was also baptizing in Aenon, near Salim, because there was plenty of water there. People kept coming and were being baptized,

24 since John had not yet been thrown into prison.

25 Then a controversy about ritual purification sprang up between a certain Jew and John's disciples,

26 so they went to John and told him, "Rabbi, the man who was with you on the other side of the Jordan, the one about whom you testified — look, he's baptizing, and everyone is going to him!"

27 John replied, "No one can receive anything unless it has been given to them from heaven.

28 You yourselves are my witnesses that I said, 'I am not the Messiah, but I have been sent ahead of him.'

29 It is the bridegroom who gets the bride, yet the bridegroom's friend, who merely stands by and listens for him, is overjoyed to hear the bridegroom's voice. That's why this joy of mine is now complete.

30 He must become more important, but I must become less important."

31 The one who comes from above is superior to everything. The one who is of the earth belongs to the earth and speaks about earthly things. The one who comes from heaven is superior to everything.

32 He testifies about what he has seen and heard, yet no one accepts his testimony.

33 The person who has accepted his testimony has acknowledged that God is truthful.

34 The one whom God sent speaks the words of God, because God does not give the Spirit in limited measure to him.

35 The Father loves the Son and has put everything in his hands.

36 The one who believes in the Son has eternal life, but the one who disobeys the Son will not see life. Instead, the wrath of God remains on him.

Psalm 22

12 Many bulls have surrounded me; the vicious bulls of Bashan have encircled me.
13 Their mouths are opened wide toward me, like roaring and attacking lions.
14 I am poured out like water; all my bones are out of joint. My heart is like wax, melting within me.
15 My strength is dried up like broken pottery; my tongue sticks to the roof of my mouth, and you have brought me down to the dust of death.
16 For dogs have surrounded me; a gang of those who practise evil has encircled me. They gouged my hands and my feet.
17 I can count all my bones. They look at me; they stare at me.
18 They divide my clothing among themselves; they cast lots for my clothing!
19 But as for you, LORD, do not be far away from me; My Strength, come quickly to help me.
20 Deliver me from the sword; my precious life from the power of the dog.
21 Deliver me from the mouth of the lion, from the horns of the wild oxen.

You have answered me.

22 I will declare your name to my brothers; in the midst of the congregation I will praise you, saying,
23 "All who fear the LORD, praise him! All the seed of Jacob, glorify him! All the seed of Israel, fear him!
24 For he does not despise nor detest the afflicted person; he does not hide his face from him, but he hears him when he cries out to him."
25 My praise in the great congregation is because of you; I will pay my vows before those who fear you.
26 The afflicted will eat and be satisfied; those who seek the LORD will praise him, "May you live forever!"
27 All the ends of the earth will remember and turn to the LORD; all the families of the nations will bow in submission to the LORD.
28 Indeed, the kingdom belongs to the LORD; he rules over the nations.
29 All the prosperous people will eat and bow down in submission. All those who are about to go down to the grave will bow down in submission, along with the one who can no longer keep himself alive.
30 Our descendants will serve him, and that generation will be told about the Lord.
31 They will come and declare his righteousness to a people yet to be born; indeed, he has accomplished it!

Psalm 23

1 A Davidic Psalm.

The LORD is the one who is shepherding me; I lack nothing.
2 He causes me to lie down in pastures of green grass; he guides me beside quiet waters.
3 He revives my life; he leads me in pathways that are righteous for the sake of his name.
4 Even when I walk through a valley of deep darkness, I will not be afraid because you are with me. Your rod and your staff — they comfort me.
5 You prepare a table before me, even in the presence of my enemies. You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows.
6 Truly, goodness and gracious love will pursue me all the days of my life, and I will remain in the LORD's Temple forever.

Psalm 24

1 A Davidic Psalm.

The earth and everything in it exists for the LORD — the world and those who live in it.

2 Indeed, he founded it upon the seas, he established it upon deep waters.

3 Who may ascend the mountain of the LORD? Who may stand in his Holy Place?

4 The one who has innocent hands and a pure heart; the person who does not delight in what is false and does not swear an oath deceitfully.

5 This person will receive blessing from the LORD and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

6 This is the generation that seeks him. Those who seek your face are the true seed of Jacob. Interlude.

7 Lift up your heads, gates! Be lifted up, ancient doors, so the King of Glory may come in.

8 Who is the King of Glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD, mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, gates! Be lifted up, ancient doors, so the King of Glory may come in.

10 Who is he, this King of Glory? The LORD of the heavenly armies — He is the King of Glory. Interlude.

Psalm 25

1 Davidic.

I will lift up my soul to you, LORD.

2 I trust in you, my God, do not let me be ashamed; do not let my enemies triumph over me.

3 Indeed, no one who waits on you will be ashamed, but those who offend for no reason will be put to shame.

4 Cause me to understand your ways, LORD; teach me your paths.

5 Guide me in your truth and teach me; for you are the God who delivers me. All day long I have waited for you.

6 Remember, LORD, your tender mercies and your gracious love; indeed, they are eternal!

7 Do not remember my youthful sins and transgressions; but remember me in light of your gracious love, in light of your goodness, LORD.

8 The LORD is good and just; therefore he will teach sinners concerning the way.

9 He will guide the humble to justice; he will teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of the LORD lead to gracious love and truth for those who keep his covenant and his decrees.

11 For the sake of your name, LORD, forgive my sin, for it is great.

12 Who is the man who fears the LORD? God will teach him the path he should choose.

13 He will experience good things; his descendants will inherit the earth.

14 The intimate counsel of the LORD is for those who fear him so they may know his covenant.

15 My eyes look to the LORD continually, because he's the one who releases my feet from the trap.

16 Turn toward me and have mercy on me, for I am lonely and oppressed.

17 The troubles of my heart have increased; bring me out of my distress!

18 Look upon my distress and affliction; forgive all my sins.

19 Look how many enemies I have gained! They hate me with a vicious hatred.

20 Preserve my life and deliver me; do not let me be ashamed, because I take refuge in you.

21 Integrity and justice will preserve me, because I wait on you.

22 Redeem Israel, God, from all its troubles.

Psalm 26

1 Davidic.

Vindicate me, LORD, because I have walked in integrity; I have trusted in the LORD without wavering.

2 Examine me, LORD, and inspect me! Test my heart and mind.

3 For your gracious love precedes me, and I continually walk according to your truth.

4 I do not sit with those committed to what is false, nor do I travel with hypocrites.

5 I hate the company of those who practise evil, nor do I sit with the wicked.

6 I wash my hands innocently. I go around your altar, LORD,

7 so I may praise you loudly with thanksgiving and declare all your wondrous acts.

8 LORD, I love the dwelling place that is your house, the place where your glory resides.

9 Do not group me with sinners, nor include me with men who shed blood.

10 Their hands are filled with wicked schemes, and their right hands with bribes.

11 But as for me, I walk in my integrity. Redeem me and be gracious to me!

12 My feet stand on level ground; among the worshipping congregations I will bless the LORD.

John 4

1 Now when Jesus realized that the Pharisees had heard he was making and baptizing more disciples than John —

2 although it was not Jesus who did the baptizing but his disciples —

3 he left Judea and went back to Galilee.

4 Now it was necessary for him to go through Samaria.

5 So he came to a town in Samaria called Sychar, near the piece of land that Jacob had given to his son Joseph.

6 Jacob's Well was also there, and Jesus, tired out by the journey, sat down by the well. It was about noon.

7 A Samaritan woman came to draw water, and Jesus told her, "Please give me a drink,"

8 since his disciples had gone off into town to buy food.

9 The Samaritan woman asked him, "How can you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a Samaritan woman?" Because Jews do not have anything to do with Samaritans.

10 Jesus answered her, "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is who is saying to you, 'Please give me a drink,' you would have been the one to ask him, and he would have given you living water."

11 The woman told him, "Sir, you don't have a bucket, and the well is deep. Where are you going to get this living water?"

12 You're not greater than our ancestor Jacob, who gave us the well and drank from it, along with his sons and his flocks, are you?"

13 Jesus answered her, "Everyone who drinks this water will become thirsty again.

14 But whoever drinks the water that I will give him will never become thirsty again. The water that I will give him will become a well of water for him, springing up to eternal life."

15 The woman told him, "Sir, give me this water, so that I won't get thirsty or have to keep coming here to draw water."

16 He told her, "Go and call your husband, and come back here."

17 The woman answered him, "I don't have a husband." Jesus told her, "You are quite right in saying, 'I don't have a husband,'

18 because you have had five husbands, and the man you have now is not your husband. What you have said is true."

19 The woman told him, "Sir, I see that you are a prophet!

20 Our ancestors worshipped on this mountain. But you Jews say that the place where people should worship is in Jerusalem."

21 Jesus told her, "Believe me, dear lady, the hour is coming when you Samaritans will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.

22 You don't know what you're worshipping. We Jews know what we're worshipping, because salvation comes from the Jews.

23 Yet the time is coming, and is now here, when true worshippers will worship the Father in spirit and truth. Indeed, the Father is looking for people like that to worship him.

24 God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth."

25 The woman told him, "I know that the Anointed One is coming, who is being called 'Messiah'. When that person comes, he will explain everything."

26 "I am he," Jesus replied, "the one who is speaking to you."

Psalm 27

1 Davidic.

The LORD is my light and my salvation — whom will I fear? The LORD is the strength of my life; of whom will I be afraid?

2 When those who practise evil, my enemies, and my oppressors come near me to devour my flesh, they stumble and fall.

3 If an army encamps against me, my heart will not fear. If a war is launched against me, I will even trust in that situation.

4 I have asked one thing from the LORD; it is what I really seek: that I may remain in the LORD's Temple all the days of my life, to gaze on the beauty of the LORD; and to inquire in his Temple.

5 For he will conceal me in his shelter on the day of evil; He will hide me in a secluded chamber within his tent; He will place me on a high rock.

6 Now my head will be lifted up above my enemies, even those who surround me. I will sacrifice in his tent with shouts of joy; I will sing and make melodies to the LORD.

7 Hear my voice, LORD, when I cry out! Be gracious to me and answer me.

8 My mind recalls your word, "Seek my face," so your face, LORD, I will seek.

9 Do not hide your face from me; do not turn away in anger from your servant. You have been my help, therefore do not abandon or forsake me, God of my salvation.

10 Though my father and my mother abandoned me, the LORD gathers me up.

11 Teach me your way, LORD, and lead me on a level path because of my enemies.

12 Do not hand me over to the desires of my enemies; for false witnesses have risen up against me; even the one who breathes out violence.

13 I believe that I will see the LORD's goodness in the land of the living.

14 Wait on the LORD. Be courageous, and he will strengthen your heart. Wait on the LORD!

Psalm 28

1 Davidic.

To you, LORD, I cry out! My Rock, do not refuse to answer me. If you remain silent, I will become like those who descend into the Pit.

2 Hear the sound of my supplications when I cry to you for help, as I lift up my hands toward your most holy sanctuary.

3 Do not drag me away with the wicked, with those who practise iniquity, who speak peace to their neighbours while harbouring evil in their hearts.

4 Reward them according to their deeds; according to the evil of their actions. Reward them based on what they do; give them what they deserve.

5 Because they do not understand the deeds of the LORD or the work of his hands, He will tear them down and never build them up.

6 Blessed be the LORD! For he has heard the sound of my supplications.

7 The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusts in him, and I received help. My heart rejoices, and I give thanks to him with my song.

8 The LORD is the strength of his people; he is a refuge of deliverance for his anointed.

9 Deliver your people and bless your inheritance! Shepherd them and lift them up forever!

Psalm 29

1 A Davidic Psalm.

Ascribe to the LORD, you heavenly beings; ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.

2 Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name; worship the LORD wearing holy attire.

- 3 The voice of the LORD was heard above the waters; the God of glory thundered; the LORD was heard over many waters.
- 4 The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is majestic.
- 5 The voice of the LORD snaps the cedars; the LORD snaps the cedars of Lebanon.
- 6 He makes them stagger like a calf, even Lebanon and Sirion like a young wild ox.
- 7 The voice of the LORD shoots out flashes of fire.
- 8 The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness; the voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.
- 9 The voice of the LORD causes deer to give birth, and strips the forest bare. In his Temple all of them shout, "Glory!"
- 10 The LORD sat enthroned over the flood, and the LORD sits as king forever.
- 11 The LORD will give strength to his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace.

Psalms 30

- 1 A Davidic Psalm for the dedication of the Temple.

I exalt you, LORD, for you have lifted me up, and my enemies could not gloat over me.

- 2 LORD, my God! I cried out to you for help and you healed me.
- 3 LORD, you brought me from death; you kept me alive so that I did not descend into the Pit.
- 4 You, his godly ones, sing to the LORD, give thanks at the mention of his holiness.
- 5 For his wrath is only momentary; yet his favour is for a lifetime. Weeping may lodge for the night, but shouts of joy will come in the morning.
- 6 As for me, I said in my prosperity, "I will never be moved."
- 7 By your favour, LORD, you established me as a strong mountain; Then you hid your face, and I was dismayed.
- 8 I cried out to you, LORD, and I make supplication to the Lord:
- 9 "What profit is there in my death if I go down to the Pit? Can dust worship you? Can it proclaim your faithfulness?"
- 10 Hear me, LORD, and have mercy on me! LORD, help me!
- 11 You have turned my mourning into dancing; you took off my sackcloth and clothed me with a garment of joy,
- 12 so that I may sing praise to you and not remain silent. LORD, my God, I will give you thanks forever!

Psalms 31

- 1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

In you, LORD, I have taken refuge. Let me never be ashamed. Because you are righteous, deliver me!

- 2 Listen to me, and deliver me quickly. Become a rock of safety for me, a fortified citadel to deliver me;
- 3 For you are my rock and my fortress; for the sake of your name guide me and lead me.
- 4 Rescue me from the net that they concealed to trap me; for you are my strength.
- 5 Into your hands I commit my spirit; for you have redeemed me, LORD God of truth.
- 6 I despise those who trust vain idols; but I have trusted in the LORD.
- 7 I will rejoice and be glad in your gracious love, for you see my affliction and take note that my soul is distressed.
- 8 You have not delivered me into the hand of the enemy, but you have set my feet in a sturdy place.
- 9 Be gracious to me, LORD, for I am in distress. My eyes have been consumed by my grief along with my soul and my body.

10 My life is consumed by sorrow, my years with groaning. My strength has faltered because of my iniquity; my bones have been consumed.

11 I have become an object of reproach to all my enemies, especially to my neighbours. I have become an object of fear to my friends, and whoever sees me outside runs away from me.

12 Like a dead man, I am forgotten in their thoughts — like broken pottery.

13 I have heard the slander of many; it is like terror all around me, as they conspire together and plot to take my life.

John 4

27 At this point his disciples arrived, and they were astonished that he was talking to a woman. Yet no one said, "What do you want from her?" or, "Why are you talking to her?"

28 Then the woman left her water jar and went back to town. She told people,

29 "Come, see a man who told me everything I've ever done! Could he possibly be the Messiah?"

30 The people left the town and started on their way to him.

31 Meanwhile, the disciples were urging him, "Rabbi, have something to eat."

32 But he told them, "I have food to eat that you know nothing about."

33 So the disciples began to say to one another, "No one has brought him anything to eat, have they?"

34 Jesus told them, "My food is doing the will of the one who sent me and completing his work.

35 You say, don't you, 'In four more months the harvest will begin?' Look, I tell you, open your eyes and observe that the fields are ready for harvesting now!

36 The one who harvests is already receiving his wages and gathering a crop for eternal life, so that the one who sows and the one who harvests may rejoice together.

37 In this respect the saying is true: 'One person sows, and another person harvests.'

38 I have sent you to harvest what you have not worked for. Others have worked, and you have adopted their work as your own."

39 Now many of the Samaritans of that town believed in Jesus because the woman had testified, "He told me everything I've ever done."

40 So when the Samaritans came to Jesus, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there for two days.

41 And many more believed because of what he said.

42 They kept telling the woman, "It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, because now we have heard him ourselves, and we know that he really is the Saviour of the world."

43 Two days later, Jesus left for Galilee from there,

44 since Jesus himself had testified that a prophet has no honour in his own country.

45 When he arrived in Galilee, the Galileans welcomed him because they had seen everything that he had done in Jerusalem during the festival and because they, too, had gone to the festival.

Psalm 31

- 14 But I trust in you, LORD. I say, "You are my God."
15 My times are in your hands. Deliver me from the hands of my enemies and from those who pursue me.
16 May your face shine on your servant; in your gracious love, deliver me.
17 Let me not be ashamed, LORD, for I have called upon you. Let the wicked be put to shame, let them be silent in the next life.
18 Let the lying lips be made still, especially those who speak arrogantly against the righteous with pride and contempt.
19 How great is your goodness that you have reserved for those who fear you, that you have set in place for those who take refuge in you, in the presence of the children of men.
20 You will hide them in the secret place of your presence, away from the conspiracies of men. You will hide them in your tent, away from their contentious tongues.
21 Blessed be the LORD! In a marvellous way he demonstrated his gracious love to me, when I was in a city under siege.
22 When I said in my panic, "I have been cut off in your sight," then you surely heard the voice of my prayer in my plea to you for help.
23 Love the LORD, all his godly ones! The LORD preserves the faithful and repays those who act with proud motives.
24 Be strong, and let your heart be courageous, all you who put your hope in the LORD.

Psalm 32

- 1 A Davidic instruction.

How blessed is the one whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.

- 2 How blessed is the person against whom the LORD does not charge iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit.

- 3 When I kept silent about my sin, my body wasted away by my groaning all day long.

- 4 For your hand was heavy upon me day and night; my strength was exhausted as in a summer drought.

Interlude.

- 5 My sin I acknowledged to you; my iniquity I did not hide. I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD." And you forgave the guilt of my sin!

Interlude.

- 6 Therefore every godly person should pray to you at such a time. Surely a flood of great waters will not reach him.

- 7 You are my hiding place; you will deliver me from trouble and surround me with shouts of deliverance.

Interlude.

- 8 I will instruct you and teach you concerning the path you should walk; I will direct you with my eye.

- 9 Don't be like a horse or mule, without understanding. They are held in check by a bit and bridle in their mouths; otherwise they will not remain near you.

- 10 The wicked have many sorrows, but gracious love surrounds those who trust in the LORD.

- 11 Righteous ones, be glad in the LORD and rejoice! Shout for joy, all of you who are upright in heart!

Psalm 33

- 1 Rejoice in the LORD, righteous ones; for the praise of the upright is beautiful.

- 2 With the lyre, give thanks to the LORD; with the ten stringed harp, play music to him;

3 with a new song, sing to him; with shouts of joy, play skilfully.
4 For the word of the LORD is upright; and all his works are done in faithfulness.
5 He loves righteousness and justice; the world is filled with the gracious love of the LORD.
6 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made; all the heavenly bodies by the breath of his mouth.
7 He gathered the oceans into a single place; he put the deep water into storehouses.
8 Let all the world fear the LORD; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him;
9 because he spoke and it came to be, because he commanded, it stood firm.
10 The LORD makes void the counsel of nations; he frustrates the plans of peoples.
11 But the LORD's counsel stands firm forever, the plans in his mind for all generations.
12 How blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD, the people he has chosen as his own inheritance.
13 When the LORD looks down from heaven, he observes every human being.
14 From his dwelling place, he looks down on all the inhabitants of the earth.
15 He formed the hearts of them all; he understands everything they do.
16 A king is not saved by a large army; a mighty soldier is not delivered by his great strength.
17 It is vain to trust in a horse for deliverance, even with its great strength, it cannot deliver.
18 Indeed, the LORD watches those who fear him; those who trust in his gracious love
19 to deliver them from death; to keep them alive in times of famine.
20 We wait on the LORD; he is our help and our shield.
21 Indeed, our heart will rejoice in him, because we have placed our trust in his holy name.
22 LORD, may your gracious love be upon us, even as we hope in you.

Psalms 34

1 By David, when he pretended to be insane before Abimelech, who drove him away. So David left.

I will bless the LORD at all times; his praise will be in my mouth continually.
2 My soul will glorify the LORD; the humble will hear about it and rejoice.
3 Magnify the LORD with me! Let us lift up his name together!
4 I sought the LORD and he answered me; he delivered me from all of my fears.
5 Look to him and be radiant; and you will not be ashamed.
6 This poor man cried out, and the LORD heard and delivered him from all of his distress.
7 The angel of the LORD surrounds those who fear him, and he delivers them.
8 Taste and see that the LORD is good! How blessed is the person who trusts in him!
9 Fear the LORD, you holy ones of his; for those who fear him lack nothing.
10 Young lions lack and go hungry, but those who seek the LORD will never lack any good thing.
11 Come, children, listen to me, and I will teach you the fear of the LORD.
12 Who among you desires life, and wants long life in order to see good?
13 Then keep your tongue from doing evil and your lips from spreading lies.
14 Avoid evil and do good! Seek peace and pursue it!
15 The LORD looks on the righteous, and he listens to their cries.
16 The face of the LORD is set against those who do evil, and he will remove people's recollection of them from the earth.
17 The LORD hears those who cry out, and he delivers them from all their distress.
18 The LORD is close to the broken-hearted, and he delivers those whose spirit has been crushed.
19 A righteous person will have many troubles, but the LORD will deliver him from them all.
20 God protects all his bones; not one of them will be broken.

- 21 Evil will kill the wicked; those who hate the righteous will be held guilty.
- 22 The LORD redeems the lives of his servants; and none of those who trust in him will be held guilty.

John 4

46 So Jesus returned to Cana in Galilee, where he had turned the water into wine. Meanwhile, in Capernaum there was a government official whose son was ill.

47 When this man heard that Jesus had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to him and asked him repeatedly to come down and heal his son, because he was about to die.

48 Jesus told him, "Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will never believe."

49 The official told him, "Sir, please come down before my little boy dies."

50 Jesus told him, "Go home. Your son will live." The man believed what Jesus told him and started back home.

51 While he was on his way, his servants met him and told him that his child was alive.

52 So he asked them at what hour he had begun to recover, and they told him, "The fever left him yesterday at one o'clock in the afternoon."

53 Then the father realized that this was the very hour when Jesus had told him, "Your son will live." So he himself believed, along with his whole family.

54 Now this was the second sign that Jesus did after coming from Judea to Galilee.

John 5

1 Later on, there was another festival of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2 Near the Sheep Gate in Jerusalem is a pool called Bethesda in Hebrew. It has five colonnades,

3 and under these a large number of sick people were lying — blind, lame, or paralyzed — waiting for the movement of the water.

4 At certain times an angel of the Lord would go down into the pool and stir up the water, and whoever stepped in first after the stirring of the water was healed of whatever disease he had.

5 One particular man was there who had been ill for 38 years.

6 When Jesus saw him lying there and knew that he had already been there a long time, he asked him, "Do you want to get well?"

7 The sick man answered him, "Sir, I don't have anyone to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up. While I'm trying to get there, someone else steps down ahead of me."

8 Jesus told him, "Stand up, pick up your mat, and walk!"

9 The man immediately became well, and he picked up his mat and started walking. Now that day was a Sabbath.

Psalm 35

1 Davidic.

Argue my case, LORD, against those who argue against me. Fight against those who fight against me.

2 Take up the buckler and the shield, and rise up to help me.

3 Take out the spear and the axe to confront the one who pursues me; say to me, "I am your deliverer!"

4 Let those who seek my life be ashamed and disgraced; let those who plot evil against me be driven back and confounded.

5 Make them like the chaff before the wind, as the messenger of the LORD pushes them aside.

6 May their path be dark and slippery, as the messenger of the LORD tracks them down.

7 Without justification they laid a snare for me; without justification they dug a pit to trap me.

8 Let destruction come upon them unawares, and let the net that he hid catch him; let him fall into destruction.

9 My soul will rejoice in the LORD and be glad in his deliverance.

10 All my bones will say, "LORD, who is like you? Who delivers the weak from the one who is stronger than he, and the weak and the needy from the one who wants to rob him?"

11 False witnesses stepped forward and questioned me concerning things about which I knew nothing.

12 They paid me back evil for good; my soul mourns.

13 But when they were sick, I wore sackcloth, humbled myself with fasting, and prayed from my heart repeatedly for them.

14 I paced about as for my friend or my brother, and fell down mourning as one weeps for one's mother.

15 But when I stumbled, they rejoiced and gathered together. They gathered together against me — attackers whom I did not know. They tore me apart and would not stop.

16 Malicious mockers — they gnashed their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long will you just watch? Rescue me from their destruction, my precious life from these young lions.

18 Then I will give you thanks in front of the great congregation; in the midst of the mighty throng I will praise you.

19 Do not let my deceitful enemies gloat over me, nor let those who hate me without justification mock me with their eyes.

20 For they do not speak peace; they devise clever lies against the peaceful people of the land.

21 They open their mouth wide against me, claiming, "Yes! Yes! We saw him do it with our own eyes!"

22 You see this, LORD, so do not be silent. Lord, do not be far from me!

23 Wake up! Arouse yourself to vindicate me and argue my case, my God and my Lord.

24 Judge me according to your righteousness, LORD my God! But do not let them gloat over me.

25 Don't let them say in their hearts, "Yes! We got what we wanted." Don't let them say, "We have swallowed him up."

26 Instead, let those who gloat over the evil directed against me be ashamed and confounded together; Let those who exalt themselves over me be clothed with shame and dishonour.

27 Let those who delight in my vindication shout for joy and rejoice! Let them continually say, "Magnify the LORD, who delights in giving peace to his servant."

28 My tongue will declare your righteousness and praise you all day long.

Psalm 36

1 To the Director:

By the servant of the LORD, David.

An oracle that came to me about the transgressions of the wicked:

There is no fear of God before his eyes.

2 He flatters himself too much to discover his transgression and hate it.

3 The words from his mouth are vain and deceptive. He has abandoned behaving wisely and doing good.

4 He devises iniquity on his bed and is determined to follow a path that is not good. He does not resist evil.

5 Your gracious love, LORD, reaches to the heavens; your truth extends to the skies.

6 Your righteousness is like the mountains of God; your justice is like the great depths of the sea. You deliver both people and animals, LORD.

7 How precious is your gracious love, God! The children of men take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

8 They are refreshed from the abundance of your house; You cause them to drink from the river of your pleasures.

9 For with you is a fountain of life, and in your light we will see light.

10 Send forth your gracious love to those who know you, and your righteousness to those who are upright in heart.

11 Do not let the foot of the proud crush me; and do not let the hand of the wicked dissuade me.

12 There, those who do evil have fallen; They have been thrown down, and they cannot get up.

Psalm 37

1 Davidic.

Don't be angry because of those who do evil, do not be jealous because of those who commit iniquity.

2 Indeed, they soon will wither like grass, and like green herbs they will fade away.

3 Trust in the LORD and do good. Dwell in the land and feed on faithfulness.

4 Delight yourself in the LORD, and he will give you the desires of your heart.

5 Commit your way to the LORD; Trust him, and he will act.

6 He will bring forth your righteousness as a light, and your justice as the noonday sun.

7 Be silent in the LORD's presence and wait patiently for him. Don't be angry because of the one whose way prospers or the one who implements evil schemes.

8 Calm your anger and abandon wrath. Don't be angry — it only leads to evil.

9 Those who do evil will perish. But those who wait on the LORD will inherit the land.

10 Yet a little while longer, and the wicked will be no more. You will search for his place, but he will not be there.

11 The humble will inherit the land; they will take in abundant peace.

12 The wicked person plots against the righteous, and grinds his teeth at him.

13 But the Lord laughs at him because he sees that his day is coming!

14 The wicked take out a sword and bend the bow, to bring down the humble and the poor to slay those who are righteous in conduct.

15 But their sword will pierce their own heart, and their bows will be broken!

16 Better is the little that the righteous have than the abundance of many wicked people.

17 For the arms of the wicked will be broken, but the LORD upholds the righteous.

- 18 The LORD knows the day of the blameless, and their inheritance will last forever.
- 19 They will not experience shame in times of trouble; in times of famine they will have plenty.
- 20 Indeed, the wicked will perish. The LORD's enemies will be consumed like flowers in the fields. They will vanish like smoke.
- 21 The wicked borrow but never pay back; but the righteous are generous and give.
- 22 For those blessed by God will inherit the land, but those cursed by him will be cut off.
- 23 A man's steps are established by the LORD, and the LORD delights in his way.
- 24 Though he stumbles, he will not fall down flat, for the LORD will hold up his hand.

John 5

10 So the Jews told the man who had been healed, "It is the Sabbath, and it is not lawful for you to carry your mat.

11 But he answered them, "The man who made me well told me, 'Pick up your mat and walk.'"

12 They asked him, "Who is the man who told you, 'Pick it up and walk'?"

13 But the one who had been healed did not know who it was, because Jesus had slipped away from the crowd in that place.

14 Later on, Jesus found him in the Temple and told him, "See, you have become well. Stop sinning or something worse may happen to you."

15 The man went off and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

16 So the Jews began persecuting Jesus, because he kept doing such things on the Sabbath.

17 But Jesus answered them, "My Father has been working until now, and I, too, am working."

18 So the Jews were trying all the harder to kill him, because he was not only breaking the Sabbath but was also calling God his own Father, thereby making himself equal to God.

19 Jesus told them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the Son can do nothing on his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing, What the Father does, the Son does likewise.

20 The Father loves the Son and shows him everything he is doing, and he will show him even greater actions than these, so that you may be amazed.

21 Just as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so also the Son gives life to those he chooses.

22 The Father judges no one, but has given all authority to judge to the Son,

23 so that everyone may honour the Son as they honour the Father. Whoever does not honour the Son does not honour the Father who sent him.

24 "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, whoever hears what I say and believes in the one who sent me has eternal life and will not be judged, but has passed from death to life.

25 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the time approaches, and is now here, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear it will live.

26 Just as the Father has life in himself, so also he has granted the Son to have life in himself,

27 and he has given him authority to judge, because he is the Son of Man.

28 "Don't be amazed at this, because the time is approaching when everyone in their graves will hear the Son of Man's voice

29 and will come out — those who have done what is good to the resurrection that leads to life, and those who have practiced what is evil to the resurrection that ends in condemnation.

30 I can do nothing on my own accord. I judge according to what I hear, and my judgement is just, because I do not seek my own will but the will of the one who sent me."

17th August

Psalm 37

25 I once was young and now I am old, but I have not seen a righteous person forsaken or his descendants begging for bread.

26 Every day he is generous, lending freely, and his descendants are blessed.

27 Depart from evil, and do good, and you will live in the land forever.

28 Indeed, the LORD loves justice, and he will not abandon his godly ones. They are kept safe forever, but the lawless will be chased away, and the descendants of the wicked will be cut off.

29 The righteous will inherit the land, and they will dwell in it forever.

30 The mouth of the righteous one produces wisdom; his tongue speaks justice.

31 The instruction of his God is in his heart; his steps will not slip.

32 The wicked stalks the righteous person, seeking to kill him,

33 but the LORD will not let him fall into his hands. He will not be condemned when he is put on trial.

34 Wait on the LORD, Keep faithful to his way, and he will exalt you to possess the land. You will see the wicked cut off.

35 I once observed a wicked and oppressive person, flourishing like a green tree in native soil.

36 But then he passed away; in fact, he simply was not there. When I looked for him, he could not be found.

37 Observe the blameless! Take note of the upright! Indeed, the future of that man is peace.

38 Sinners will be destroyed together; the future of the wicked will be cut off.

39 But deliverance for the righteous one comes from the LORD; he is their strength in times of distress.

40 The LORD helps and delivers them; he will deliver them from the wicked, and he will save them because they have sought refuge in him.

Psalm 38

1 A Davidic Psalm:

As a Reminder.

LORD! Do not rebuke me in your anger; do not correct me in your wrath,

2 because your arrows have sunk deep into me, and your hand has come down hard on me.

3 My body is unhealthy due to your anger, and my bones have no rest due to my sin.

4 My iniquities loom over my head; like a cumbersome burden, they are too heavy for me.

5 My wounds have putrefied and festered because of my foolishness.

6 I am bent over and walk about greatly bowed down; all day long I go around mourning.

7 My insides are burning and my body is unhealthy.

8 I am weak and utterly crushed; I cry out in distress because of my heart's anguish.

9 Lord, all my longings are before you, and my groaning is not hidden from you.

10 My heart pounds, my strength fails me, even the gleam in my eye is gone.

11 As for my friends and my neighbours, they stand aloof from my distress; even my close relatives stand at a distance.

12 Those who seek my life lay snares for me; those who seek to do me harm brag all day long about their wicked planning.

13 I am like the deaf, who cannot hear, and like the mute, who cannot open his mouth.

14 Indeed, I have become like a man who hears nothing, and in whose mouth there is no rebuke.

15 Because I have placed my hope in you, LORD, you will answer, Lord, my God.

16 For I said, "Do not let them gloat over me, as they congratulate themselves when my foot slips."
17 Indeed, I am being set up for a fall, and I am continually reminded of my pain.
18 I confess my iniquity, and my sin troubles me.
19 But my enemies are alive and well; those who hate me for no reason are numerous.
20 They reward my good with evil, opposing me because I seek to do good.
21 Don't forsake me, LORD. My God, do not be so distant from me.
22 Come quickly and help me, Lord, my deliverer.

Psalm 39

1 To the Director:
To Jeduthun.
A Davidic Psalm.

I told myself, "I will keep watch over my tongue to keep from sinning. I will muzzle my mouth when the wicked are around."

2 I was as silent as a mute person; I said nothing, not even something good, and my distress deepened.

3 My heart within me became incensed; as I thought about it, the fire burned. Then I spoke out:

4 "LORD, let me know how my life ends, and the standard by which you will measure my days, whatever it is! Then I will know how transient my life is.

5 Look, you have made my life span fit in your hand; It is nothing compared to yours. Surely every person at their best is a puff of wind.

Interlude.

6 In fact, people walk around as shadows. Surely, they busy themselves for nothing, heaping up possessions but not knowing who will get them.

7 How long, LORD, will I wait expectantly? I have placed my hope in you.

8 Deliver me from all my transgressions, and do not let fools scorn me."

9 I remain silent; I do not open my mouth, for you are the one who acted.

10 Stop scourging me, since I have been crushed by your heavy hand.

11 You rebuke by chastening a man with the consequence of iniquities; you destroy what is attractive to him, as one would treat a moth. Indeed, every person is a puff of wind.

Interlude.

12 Hear my prayer, LORD, pay attention to my cry, and do not ignore my tears. I am an alien in your presence, a stranger just like my ancestors were.

13 Stop looking at me with chastisement, so I can smile again, before I depart and am no more.

Psalm 40

1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

I waited expectantly for the LORD, and he took notice of me and heard my cry.

2 He plucked me out of a pit of confusion, even out of the quicksand; he placed my feet on a rock and established my steps.

3 He put a new song in my mouth, praise to our God! Many will watch and be in awe, and they will place their trust in the LORD.

4 How blessed is that strong person who places his trust in the LORD, and who has not acknowledged the proud nor resorted to lies.

5 LORD, my God, You have done great things: marvellous works and your thoughts toward us. There is no one who compares to you! I will try to recite your actions, even though there are too many to number.

6 You take no delight in sacrifices and offerings — you have prepared my ears to listen — you require no burnt offerings or sacrifices for sin.

7 Then I said, "Here I am! I have come! In the scroll of the book it is written about me.

8 I delight to do your will, my God. Your Law is part of my inner being."

9 In the great congregation I have proclaimed the righteous good news. Behold, I did not seal my lips, LORD, as you know.

10 I have not ignored your righteousness in my heart; instead, I have proclaimed your faithfulness and deliverance. I have not concealed your gracious love and truthfulness from the great congregation.

11 LORD, do not withhold your mercy from me, for your gracious love and truthfulness will keep me safe continuously.

12 Innumerable evils have surrounded me; my iniquities have overtaken me so that I cannot see. They are more in number than the hair on my head, and my courage has forsaken me.

13 Be pleased, LORD, to deliver me; LORD, hurry up and help me!

14 May those who seek to destroy my life be ashamed and confounded; let them be driven backwards and humiliated, particularly those who wish me evil.

15 Let shame be the reward for those who say to me, "Aha! Aha!"

16 Let all who seek you shout for joy and be glad in you. May those who love your deliverance say, "The LORD be magnified!" continuously.

17 But I am poor and needy; may the Lord think about me. You are my help and deliverer. My God, do not tarry too long!

John 5

31 "If I testify on my own behalf, my testimony is not trustworthy.
32 There is another who testifies about me, and I know that the testimony he gives about me is true.
33 You have sent messengers to John, and he has testified to the truth.
34 I myself do not accept human testimony, but I am saying these things so that you may be saved.
35 That man John was a lamp that burns and brightly shines, and for a while you were willing to rejoice in his light.
36 "But I have a greater testimony than John's, because the actions that the Father has given me to complete — the very actions that I am doing — testify on my behalf that the Father has sent me.
37 Moreover, the Father who sent me has himself testified on my behalf. You have never heard his voice or seen what he looks like,
38 nor do you have his word at work in you, because you do not believe in the one whom he sent.
39 You examine the Scriptures carefully because you suppose that in them you have eternal life. Yet they testify about me.
40 But you are not willing to come to me to have life.
41 "I do not accept human praise.
42 I know that you do not have the love of God in you.
43 I have come in my Father's name, and you do not accept me. Yet if another man comes in his own name, you will accept him.
44 How can you believe when you accept each other's praise and do not look for the praise that comes from the only God?
45 Do not suppose that I will be the one to accuse you before the Father. Your accuser is Moses, on whom you have set your hope,
46 because if you believed Moses, you would believe me, since he wrote about me.
47 But if you do not believe what he wrote, how will you believe my words?"

John 6

1 After this, Jesus went away to the other side of the Sea of Galilee (or Tiberias).
2 A large crowd kept following him because they had seen the signs that he was performing by healing the sick.
3 But Jesus went up on a hillside and sat down there with his disciples.

Psalm 41

1 To the Director:
A Davidic Psalm.

Blessed is the one who is considerate of the destitute; the LORD will deliver him when the times are evil.

2 The LORD will protect him and keep him alive; he will be blessed in the land; and he will not be handed over to the desires of his enemies.

3 The LORD will uphold him even on his sickbed; you will transform his bed of illness into health.

4 As for me, I said, "LORD, be gracious to me! Heal me, for I have sinned against you!"

5 As for my enemies, with malice they said, "When will he die and memory of his name perish?"

6 The one who comes to visit me speaks lies; in his heart he thinks slanderous things about me and goes around spreading them.

7 As for all who hate me, they whisper together against me; they desire to do me harm.

8 They say, "Wickedness is entrenched in him. Once he is brought low, he will not rise again."

9 As for my best friend, the one in whom I trusted, the one who ate my bread, even he has insulted me!

10 But you, LORD, be gracious to me and raise me up so that I may pay them back!

11 In this way I will know that you are pleased with me, and that my enemies will not shout in triumph over me.

12 As for me, you will maintain my just cause, and you will cause me to stand in your presence forever.

13 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, from eternity to eternity. Amen and amen!

Psalm 42

1 To the Director:
An instruction of the Sons of Korah.

As an antelope pants for streams of water, so my soul pants for you, God.

2 My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When may I come and appear in God's presence?

3 My tears have been my food day and night, while people keep asking me all day long, "Where is your God?"

4 These things I will recall as I pour out my troubles within me: I used to go with the crowd in a procession to the house of God, accompanied with shouts of joy and thanksgiving.

5 Why are you in despair, my soul? Why are you disturbed within me? Hope in God, for once again I will praise him, since his presence saves me.

6 My God, my soul feels depressed within me; therefore I will remember you from the land of Jordan, from the heights of Hermon, even from the foothills.

7 Deep waters call out to what is deeper still; at the roar of your waterfalls all your breakers and your waves swirled over me.

8 By day the LORD will command his gracious love, and by night his song is with me — a prayer to the God of my life.

9 I will ask God, my Rock, "Why have you forsaken me? Why do I go around mourning under the enemy's oppression?"

10 Like the shattering of my bones are the taunts of my oppressors, saying to me all day long, "Where is your God?"

11 Why are you in despair, my soul? Why are you disturbed within me? Hope in God, for once again I will praise him, since his presence saves me and he is my God.

Psalm 43

1 You be my judge, God, and plead my case against an unholy nation; rescue me from the deceitful and unjust man.

2 Since you are the God who strengthens me, why have you forsaken me? Why do I go around mourning under the enemy's oppression?"

3 Send forth your light and your truth so they may guide me. Let them bring me to your holy mountain and to your dwelling places.

4 Then I will approach the altar of God, even to God in whom my joy finds its source. Then I will praise you with the lyre, God, my God,

5 Why are you in despair, my soul? Why are you disturbed within me? Hope in God, because I will praise him once again, since his presence saves me and he is my God.

Psalm 44

1 To the Director:

An instruction of the Sons of Korah.

God, we heard it with our ears; our ancestors told us about what you did in their day — a long time ago.

2 With your hand you expelled the nations and established our ancestors. You afflicted nations and cast them out.

3 It was not with their sword that they inherited the land, nor did their own arm deliver them. But it was by your power, your strength, and by the light of your face; because you were pleased with them.

4 You are my king, God, command victories for Jacob.

5 Through you we will knock down our oppressors; through your name we will tread down those who rise up against us.

6 For I place no confidence in my bow, nor will my sword deliver me.

7 For you delivered us from our oppressors and put to shame those who hate us.

8 We will praise God all day long; and to your name we will give thanks forever.

Interlude.

9 However, you cast us off and made us ashamed! You did not even march with our armies!

10 You made us retreat from our oppressors. Our enemies ransacked us.

11 You handed us over to be slaughtered like sheep and you scattered us among the nations.

12 You sold out your people for nothing, and made no profit at that price.

13 You made us a laughing stock to our neighbours, a source of mockery and derision to those around us.

14 You made us an object lesson among the nations; people shake their heads at us.

15 My dishonour tortures me continuously; the shame on my face overwhelms me

16 because of the voice of the one who mocks and reviles, because of the enemy and the avenger.

17 All this came upon us, yet we did not forsake you, and we have not dealt falsely with your covenant;

18 Our hearts have not turned away; our steps have not swerved from your path.

19 Nevertheless, you crushed us in the lair of jackals, and covered us in deep darkness.

20 If we had forgotten the name of our God or lifted our hands to a foreign god,

21 wouldn't God find out since he knows the secrets of the heart?

22 For your sake we are being killed all day long. We are thought of as sheep to be slaughtered.

- 23 Wake up! Why are you asleep, Lord? Get up! Don't cast us off forever!
24 Why are you hiding your face? Why are you ignoring our affliction and oppression?
25 For we have collapsed in the dust; our bodies cling to the ground.
26 Arise! Deliver us! Redeem us according to your gracious love!

John 6

4 Now the Passover, the festival of the Jews, was near.

5 When Jesus looked up and saw that a large crowd was coming toward him, he asked Philip, "Where can we buy bread for these people to eat?"

6 Jesus said this to test him, because he himself knew what he was going to do.

7 Philip answered him, "Two hundred denarii worth of bread isn't enough for each of them to have a little."

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, who was Simon Peter's brother, told him,

9 "There's a little boy here who has five barley loaves and two small fish. But what are these among so many people?"

10 Jesus said, "Have the people sit down." Now there was plenty of grass in that area, so they sat down, numbering about 5,000 men.

11 Then Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks, and distributed them to those who were seated. He also distributed as much fish as they wanted.

12 When they were completely satisfied, Jesus told his disciples, "Collect the pieces that are left over so that nothing is wasted."

13 So they collected and filled twelve baskets full of pieces of the five barley loaves left over by those who had eaten.

14 When the people saw the sign that he had done, they kept saying, "Truly this is the Prophet who was to come into the world!"

15 Then Jesus, realizing that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, withdrew again to the hillside by himself.

16 When evening came, his disciples went down to the sea,

17 got into a boat, and started across the sea to Capernaum. Darkness had already fallen, and Jesus had not yet come to them.

18 A strong wind was blowing, and the sea was getting rough.

19 After they had rowed about three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea toward their boat. They became terrified.

20 But he told them, "It is I. Stop being afraid!"

21 So they were glad to take him on board, and immediately the boat reached the land toward which they were going.

22 The next day, the crowd that had remained on the other side of the sea noticed that only one boat had been there, and no other, and that Jesus had not gotten into that boat with his disciples. Instead, his disciples had gone away by themselves.

23 Other small boats from Tiberias arrived near the place where they had eaten the bread after the Lord had given thanks.

24 When the crowd saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they got into these boats and went to Capernaum to look for Jesus.

25 When they had found him on the other side of the sea, they asked him, "Rabbi, when did you get here?"

26 Jesus replied to them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, you are looking for me, not because you saw signs, but because you ate the loaves and were completely satisfied.

27 Do not work for food that perishes but for food that lasts for eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you, because God the Father has set his seal on him."

28 Then they asked him, "What must we do to perform the actions of God?"

29 Jesus answered them, "This is the action of God: to believe in the one whom he has sent."

Psalm 45

1 To the Director:

An instruction by the Sons of Korah.

A love song to the tune of "Lilies".

My heart is overflowing with good news; I speak what I have composed to the king; my tongue is like the pen of an articulate scribe.

2 You are the most handsome of Adam's descendants; grace has anointed your lips; therefore God has blessed you forever.

3 Strap your sword to your side, mighty warrior, along with your honour and majesty.

4 In your majesty ride forth for the cause of truth, humility, and righteousness; and your strong right hand will teach you awesome things.

5 Your arrows are sharpened to penetrate the hearts of the king's enemies. People will fall under you.

6 Your throne, God, exists forever and ever, and the sceptre of your kingdom is a righteous sceptre.

7 You love justice and hate wickedness. That is why God, even your God, has anointed you rather than your companions with the oil of gladness.

8 All your clothes are scented with myrrh, aloes, and cassia. From ivory palaces stringed instruments have made you glad.

9 The king's daughters are among your honourable women; the queen, dressed in gold from Ophir, has taken her place at your right hand."

10 Listen, daughter! Consider and pay attention. Forget your people and your father's house,

11 and the king will greatly desire your beauty. Because he is your lord, you should bow in respect before him.

12 The daughter of Tyre will come with a wedding gift; wealthy people will entreat your favour.

13 In her chamber, the king's daughter is glorious; her clothing is embroidered with gold thread.

14 In embroidered garments she is presented to the king. Her virgin companions who follow her train will be presented to you.

15 Filled with joy and gladness, they are presented when they enter the king's palace.

16 Your sons will take the place of your ancestors, and you will set them up as princes in all the earth.

17 From generation to generation, I will cause your name to be remembered. Therefore people will thank you forever and ever.

Psalm 46

1 To the Director:

A song by the Sons of Korah, to the tune of "The Maidens".

God is our refuge and strength, a great help in times of distress.

2 Therefore we will not be frightened when the earth roars, when the mountains shake in the depths of the seas,

3 when its waters roar and rage, when the mountains tremble despite their pride.

Interlude.

4 Look! There is a river whose streams make the city of God rejoice, even the Holy Place of the Most High.

5 Since God is in her midst, she will not be shaken. God will help her at the break of dawn.

6 The nations roared; the kingdoms were shaken. His voice boomed; the earth melts.
7 The LORD of the heavenly armies is with us; our refuge is the God of Jacob.

Interlude.

8 Come, observe the mighty works of the LORD, who causes desolation in the earth.
9 He causes wars to cease all over the earth, he causes the bow to break, the spear to snap, the chariots to ignite and burn.
10 Be in awe and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the nations. I will be exalted throughout the earth.
11 The LORD of the heavenly armies is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge.

Interlude.

Psalm 47

1 To the Director:
A song by the Sons of Korah.

Clap your hands, all you peoples! Shout to God with a loud cry of joy!
2 For the LORD, the Most High, is to be feared, a great king over all the earth.
3 He subdued peoples under us, and nations under our feet.
4 He chose our inheritance for us, even the pride of Jacob whom he loved.

Interlude.

5 God has ascended on high with a shout, the LORD has ascended with the blast of a trumpet.
6 Sing songs to God! Sing songs! Sing songs to our King! Sing songs!
7 Indeed, God is king over all the earth; sing a song of praise.
8 God is king over the nations; God is seated on his holy throne.
9 The nobles among the nations have joined the people of the God of Abraham. For the shields of the earth belong to God; he is greatly exalted.

Psalm 48

1 A song:
Lyrics by the Sons of Korah.

Great is the LORD! For he is to be praised greatly, even in the city of our God, his holy mountain.
2 Beautifully situated, the joy of all the earth, Mount Zion towards the north, the city of the great King.
3 Within her citadels God is known as a place of refuge.
4 Behold, when the kings assembled together, when they travelled together,
5 they looked and were awestruck; they became afraid and ran away.
6 Trembling seized them there, pains like those of a woman in labour,
7 as when an east wind destroyed the ships of Tarshish.
8 Just as we have heard, so have we seen; in the city of the LORD of the heavenly armies — even in the city of our God — God will establish her forever.

Interlude.

9 God, we have meditated on your gracious love in the midst of your Temple.
10 God, according to your name, so is your praise to the ends of the earth. Your right hand is filled with righteousness.
11 Mount Zion will be glad; the towns of Judah will rejoice because of your judgements.
12 March around Zion; encircle her; count her towers.
13 Take note of her ramparts; investigate her citadels; that you may speak about them to the next generation.
14 For this God is our God forever and ever. He will guide us until death.

Psalm 49

1 To the Director:

A song by the Sons of Korah.

- Listen to this, all you people! Pay attention, all you who live in the world,
2 both average people and those of means, the rich and the poor together.
3 My mouth will speak wisely, and I will understand what I think about.
4 I will focus my attention on a proverb; I will use the harp to expound my riddle.
5 Why should I be afraid when evil days come my way, when the wickedness of those who deceive me surrounds me —
6 those who put confidence in their wealth and boast about their great riches?
7 No man can redeem the life of another, nor can he give to God a sufficient payment for him —
8 for it would cost too much to redeem his life, and the payments would go on forever —
9 that he should go on living and not see corruption.
10 Indeed, he will see wise people die; the stupid and the senseless will meet their doom and leave their wealth to others.
11 Their inner thoughts are on their homes forever; their dwellings from generation to generation. They even name their lands after themselves.
12 But humanity cannot last, despite its conceit; it will pass away just like the animals.

John 6

30 So they asked him, "What sign are you going to do so that we may see it and believe in you? What actions are you performing?"

31 Our ancestors ate the manna in the wilderness, just as it is written, 'He gave them bread from heaven to eat.'"

32 Jesus told them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, it was not Moses who gave you the bread from heaven, but it is my Father who gives you the true bread from heaven.

33 The bread of God is the one who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world."

34 Then they told him, "Sir, give us this bread all the time."

35 Jesus told them, "I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never become hungry, and whoever believes in me will never become thirsty.

36 I told you that you have seen me, yet you don't believe.

37 Everything the Father gives me will come to me, and I'll never turn away the one who comes to me.

38 I have come down from heaven, not to do my own will, but the will of the one who sent me.

39 And this is the will of the one who sent me, that I should not lose anything that he has given me, but should raise it to life on the last day.

40 This is my Father's will: That everyone who sees the Son and believes in him should have eternal life, and I will raise him to life on the last day."

41 Then the Jews began grumbling about him because he said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven."

42 They kept saying, "This is Jesus, the son of Joseph, isn't it, whose father and mother we know? So how can he say, 'I have come down from heaven'?"

43 Jesus answered them, "Stop grumbling among yourselves.

44 No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him, and I will raise him to life on the last day.

45 It is written in the Prophets, 'And all of them will be taught by God.' Everyone who has listened to the Father and has learned anything comes to me.

46 Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who comes from God. This one has seen the Father.

47 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the one who believes in me has eternal life.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your ancestors ate the manna in the wilderness and died.

50 This is the bread that comes down from heaven, so that a person may eat it and not die.

51 I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats this bread, he will live forever. And the bread I will give for the life of the world is my flesh."

Psalm 49

13 This is the fate of those who are foolish and of those who correct their words after they speak.

Interlude.

14 Like sheep, they are destined for the realm of the dead, with death as their shepherd. The upright will have dominion over them in the morning; their strength will be consumed in the afterlife, so that they have no home.

15 God will truly redeem me from the power of Sheol. He will surely receive me!

Interlude.

16 Don't be afraid when someone gets rich, when the glory of his household increases.

17 When he dies, he will not be able to take it all with him — his possessions will not follow him to the grave,

18 although he considers himself blessed while he's alive. Though people praise you for doing well, 19 you will end up like your ancestors' generation, never again to see the light of day!

20 Humanity, despite its conceit, does not understand that it will perish, just like the animals.

Psalm 50

1 A song of Asaph.

God, the LORD, has spoken. He has summoned the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting place.

2 From Zion, the perfection of beauty, God has shined forth.

3 Our God has appeared and he has not been silent; a devouring fire blazed before him, and a mighty storm swirled around him.

4 He summoned the heavens above and the earth below, to sit in judgement on his people.

5 "Assemble before me, my saints, who have entered into my covenant by sacrifice."

6 The heavens revealed his justice, for God is himself the judge.

Interlude.

7 "Listen, my people, for I am making a pronouncement: Israel, I, God, your God, am testifying against you.

8 I do not rebuke you because of your sacrifices; indeed, your burnt offerings are continually before me.

9 I will no longer accept a sacrificial bull from your household; nor goats from your pens.

10 Indeed, every animal of the forest is mine, even the cattle on a thousand hills.

11 I know all the birds in the mountains; indeed, everything that moves in the field is mine.

12 "If I were hungry, I would not tell you; for the world is mine along with everything in it.

13 Why should I eat the flesh of oxen or drink the blood of goats?

14 Offer to God a thanksgiving praise; pay your vows to the Most High.

15 Call on me in the day of distress; I will deliver you, and you will glorify me."

16 As for the wicked, God says, "How dare you recite my statutes or speak about my covenant with your lips!

17 You hate instruction and toss my words behind you.

18 When you see a thief, you befriend him, and you keep company with adulterers.

19 You give your mouth free reign for evil, and your tongue devises deceit.

20 You sit and speak against your brother; you slander your own mother's son.

21 These things you did, and I kept silent, because you assumed that I was like you. But now I am going to rebuke you, and I will set forth my case before your very own eyes."

22 Consider this, you who have forgotten God — Otherwise, I will tear you in pieces and there will be no deliverer:

23 Whoever offers a sacrifice of thanksgiving glorifies me, and I will reveal the salvation of God to whomever continues in my way."

Psalm 51

1 To the Director:

A Davidic Psalm.

When the prophet Nathan came to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

Have mercy, God, according to your gracious love, according to your unlimited compassion, erase my transgressions.

2 Wash me from my iniquity, cleanse me from my sin.

3 For I acknowledge my transgression; my sin remains continually before me.

4 Against you, you only, have I sinned, and done what was evil in your sight. As a result, you are just in your pronouncement and clear in your judgement.

5 Indeed, in iniquity I was brought forth; in sin my mother conceived me.

6 Indeed, you are pleased with truth in the inner person, and you will teach me wisdom in my innermost parts.

7 Purge me with hyssop, and I will be clean. Wash me, and I will be whiter than snow.

8 Let me know joy and gladness; let the bones that you have broken rejoice.

9 Hide your countenance from my sins and erase the record of my iniquities.

10 God, create a pure heart in me, and renew a right attitude within me.

11 Do not cast me from your presence; do not take your Holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the joy of your salvation, and let a willing attitude control me.

13 Then I will teach transgressors about your ways, and sinners will turn to you.

14 Deliver me from the guilt of shedding blood, God, God of my salvation. Then my tongue will sing about your righteousness.

15 Lord, open my lips, and my mouth will declare your praise.

16 Indeed, you do not delight in sacrifices, or I would give them, nor do you desire burnt offerings.

17 True sacrifice to God is a broken spirit. A broken and chastened heart, God, you will not despise.

18 Show favour to Zion in your good pleasure; and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem.

19 Then you will be pleased with right sacrifices, with burnt offerings, and with whole burnt offerings. Then they will offer bulls on your altar.

Psalm 52

1 To the Director:

A Davidic instruction about Doeg, the Edomite, when he went to Saul and told him, "David went to the house of Abimelech."

Why do you make evil the foundation of your boasting, mighty one? God's gracious love never ceases.

2 Your tongue, like a sharp razor, devises wicked things and crafts treachery.

3 You love evil rather than good, falsehood rather than speaking uprightly.

Interlude.

4 You love all words that destroy, you deceitful tongue!

5 But God will tear you down forever; he will take you away, even snatching you out of your tent! He will uproot you from the land of the living.

Interlude.

6 The righteous will fear when they see this, but then they will laugh at him, saying,

7 "Look, here is a young man who refused to make God his strength; instead, he trusted in his great wealth and made his wickedness his strength.

8 But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God; I trust in the gracious love of God forever and ever.

9 Therefore I will praise you forever because of what you did; I will proclaim that your name is good in the midst of your faithful ones.

John 6

52 Then the Jews debated angrily with each other, asking, "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?"

53 So Jesus told them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life in yourselves.

54 Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him to life on the last day, 55 because my flesh is real food, and my blood is real drink.

56 The person who eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in him.

57 Just as the living Father sent me and I live because of the Father, so the one who feeds on me will also live because of me.

58 This is the bread that came down from heaven, not the kind that your ancestors ate. They died, but the one who eats this bread will live forever."

59 He said this while teaching in the synagogue at Capernaum.

60 When many of his disciples heard this, they said, "This is a difficult statement. Who can accept it?"

61 But Jesus, knowing within himself that his disciples were grumbling about this, asked them, "Does this offend you?"

62 What if you saw the Son of Man going up to the place where he was before?

63 It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh accomplishes nothing. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life.

64 But there are some among you who do not believe. . ." — because Jesus knew from the beginning those who weren't believing, as well as the one who would betray him.

65 So he said, "That's why I told you that no one can come to me unless it be granted him by the Father."

66 As a result, many of his disciples turned back and no longer associated with him.

67 So Jesus asked the Twelve, "You don't want to leave, too, do you?"

68 Simon Peter answered him, "Lord, to whom would we go? You have the words of eternal life.

69 Besides, we have believed and remain convinced that you are the Holy One of God."

70 Jesus answered them, "I chose you, the Twelve, didn't I? Yet one of you is a devil."

71 Now he was speaking about Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot, because this man was going to betray him, even though he was one of the Twelve.

Psalm 53

1 To the Director:
Upon machalath.
A Davidic instruction.

Fools say to themselves "There is no God." They are corrupt and commit iniquity; not one of them practises what is good.

2 God looks down from the heavens upon humanity to see if anyone shows discernment as he searches for God.

3 All of them have fallen away; together they have become corrupt; no one does what is good, not even one.

4 Will those who do evil ever learn? They devour my people like they devour bread, and never call on God.

5 There the Israelis were seized with terror, when there was nothing to fear. For God scattered the bones of those who laid siege against you — you put them to shame, for God rejected them.

6 Would that Israel's deliverance come out of Zion! When God restores the fortunes of his people, Jacob will rejoice and Israel will be glad.

Psalm 54

1 To the Director:
With stringed instruments.
A Davidic instruction, when the Ziphites came and told Saul, "David is hiding among us, is he not?"

God, by your name deliver me, and by your power vindicate me.

2 God, listen to my prayer, and pay attention to the words of my mouth.

3 For the arrogant have arisen against me; oppressors have sought to take my life. They do not keep God in mind!

Interlude.

4 Look, God is my helper; the Lord is with those who are guarding my life.

5 He will turn the evil upon those who lie in wait for me. Cut them off with your truth.

6 With a free will offering I will sacrifice to you; I will give thanks to your name, LORD, because it is good,

7 for he has delivered me from every trouble, and my eyes have seen the end of my enemies.

Psalm 55

1 To the Director:
With stringed instruments.
A Davidic instruction.

Pay attention to my prayer, God, and do not hide yourself from my appeal.

2 Pay attention to me and answer me. I moan and groan in my thoughts,

3 because of the voice of the enemy, and because of the oppression of the wicked. They bring down evil upon me, and in anger they hate me.

4 My heart is trembling within me, and the terrors of death have assaulted me.

5 Fear and trembling have overwhelmed me, and horror has covered me.

6 I said, "O, who will give me the wings of a dove, so that I could fly away and live somewhere else?"

7 Look, I want to flee far away; I want to settle down in the wilderness.

Interlude.

8 I want to deliver myself quickly from this windstorm and tempest."
9 Confound them, Lord, and confuse their speech, because I have seen violence and strife in the city.
10 Day and night they prowl around its walls; evil and iniquity are within it.
11 Wickedness is at the centre of it; fraud and lies never leave its streets.
12 For it is not an enemy who insults me — I could have handled that — nor is it someone who hates me and who now arises against me — I could have hidden myself from him —
13 but it is you — a man whom I treated as my equal — my personal confidant, my close friend!
14 We had good fellowship together; and we even walked together in the house of God!
15 Let death seize them! May they be plunged alive into the afterlife, for wicked things are in their homes and among them.
16 I call upon God, and the LORD will deliver me.
17 Morning, noon, and night, I mulled over these things and cried out in my distress, and he heard my voice.
18 He calmly ransomed my soul from the war waged against me, for there was a vast crowd who stood against me.
19 God, who is enthroned from long ago, will hear me and humble them.

Interlude.

Because they do not repent, they do not fear God.

20 Each of my friends raises his hand against his allies; each of my friends breaks his word.
21 His mouth is as smooth as butter, while war is in his heart. His words were as smooth as olive oil, while his sword is drawn.
22 Cast on the LORD whatever he sends your way, and he will sustain you. He will never allow the righteous to be shaken.
23 But you, God, bring them down to the Pit of corruption; bloodthirsty and deceitful people will not live out half their days. But I put my full confidence in you.

Psalm 56

1 To the Director:

A special Davidic psalm to the tune of "A Silent Dove Far Away," when the Philistines seized him in Gath.

Have mercy on me, God, because men have harassed me. Those who oppress me have fought against me all day long.

2 Those who watch me all day have harassed me, for there are many who fight against me out of conceit.
3 On days when I am afraid, I put my trust in you.
4 In God, whose word I praise, in God I put my trust. I will not fear what mortal man can do to me.
5 All day long people distort what I say; all their schemes against me are for evil purposes.
6 They gather together and hide in ambush. They watch my every step as they lie in wait for my life.
7 Cast them away because of their wickedness. In wrath, God, cast down these people!
8 You have kept count of my wanderings. Put my tears in your bottle — have not you recorded them in your book?
9 My enemies will retreat when I call on you. This has been my experience, because God is with me.
10 In God, whose word I praise, in the LORD, whose word I praise,
11 in God I will put my trust. I will not fear what mortal man can do to me.

12 God, I have taken vows before you; therefore I will offer thanksgiving sacrifices to you.
13 For you have delivered me from death and my feet from stumbling, so that I may walk before God in the light of the living!

Psalm 57

1 To the Director:

A special Davidic psalm to the tune of "Do Not Destroy," when he fled from Saul into a cave.

Have mercy on me, God, have mercy, for in you I have placed my trust. Even in the shadow of your wings will I find my refuge until this calamity passes.

2 I call upon the God Most High; to the God who completes what he began in me.

3 He will send help from heaven to deliver me from those who harass and despise me.

Interlude.

God will send his gracious love and truth.

4 I am surrounded by lions. I lie down with those who burn with fire — that is, with people whose teeth are like spears and arrows — whose tongues are like sharp swords.

5 Be exalted above the heavens, God! May your glory cover the earth!

6 They have set a snare for my feet, which makes me depressed. They dug a pit in front of me, but they are the ones who fell into it!

Interlude.

7 My heart is committed, God, my heart is committed, so I will sing and play music.

8 Wake up, my soul, wake up, lyre and harp! I will awaken at dawn.

9 I will exalt you among the peoples, Lord. I will play music among the nations.

10 For your gracious love is great, extending even to the heavens, and your truth even to the skies.

11 Be exalted above the heavens, God! May your glory cover the earth!

John 7

- 1 After this, Jesus travelled about in Galilee, because he didn't want to travel in Judea, since the Jews there were trying to kill him.
- 2 Now the Jewish Festival of Tents was approaching.
- 3 So his brothers told him, "You should leave this place and go to Judea, so that your disciples can see the actions that you're doing,
- 4 since no one acts in secret if he wants to be known publicly. If you're going to do these things, you should reveal yourself to the world!"
- 5 Not even his brothers believed in him.
- 6 Jesus told them, "My time has not yet come, but your time is always here.
- 7 The world cannot hate you, but it hates me because I testify against it that its actions are evil.
- 8 Go up to the festival yourselves. I am not yet going to this festival, because my time has not yet fully come."
- 9 After saying this, he remained in Galilee.
- 10 But after his brothers had gone up to the festival, he went up himself, not openly but, as it were, in secret.
- 11 The Jews kept looking for him at the festival, asking, "Where is that man?"
- 12 And there was a great deal of discussion about him among the crowds. Some were saying, "He is a good man," while others were saying, "No, he is deceiving the crowds!"
- 13 Nevertheless, no one would speak openly about him because they were afraid of the Jewish leaders.
- 14 Halfway through the festival, Jesus went up to the Temple and began teaching.
- 15 The Jewish leaders were astonished and remarked, "How can this man be so educated when he has never gone to school?"
- 16 Jesus replied to them, "My teaching is not mine but comes from the one who sent me.
- 17 If anyone wants to do his will, he will know whether this teaching is from God or whether I am speaking on my own.
- 18 The one who speaks on his own seeks his own praise. But the one who seeks the praise of him who sent him is genuine, and there is nothing false in him.
- 19 Moses gave you the Law, didn't he? Yet none of you is keeping the Law. Why are you trying to kill me?"
- 20 The crowd answered, "You have a demon! Who is trying to kill you?"
- 21 Jesus answered them, "I performed one action, and all of you are astonished.
- 22 Moses gave you circumcision — not that it is from Moses, but from the Patriarchs — and so you circumcise a man on the Sabbath.
- 23 If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath so that the Law of Moses may not be broken, are you angry with me because I made a man perfectly well on the Sabbath?
- 24 Stop judging by appearances, but judge with righteous judgement!"

Psalm 58

1 To the Director:

A special Davidic psalm to the tune of "Do Not Destroy".

How is it that by remaining silent you can speak righteously? How can you judge people fairly?

2 As a matter of fact, in your heart you plan iniquities! In the land your hands are violent!

3 The wicked go astray from the womb; they go astray, telling lies even from birth.

4 Their venom is like a poisonous snake; even like a deaf serpent that shuts its ears,

5 refusing to hear the voice of the snake charmer, the cunning enchanter.

6 God, shatter their teeth in their mouths; LORD, break the fangs of the young lions!

7 May they flow away like rain water that runs off, may they become like someone who shoots broken arrows.

8 May they be like a snail that dries up as it crawls; like a woman's stillborn baby, who never saw the sun.

9 Before your clay pots are placed on a fire of burning thorns — whether green or ablaze — wrath will sweep them away like a storm.

10 The righteous person will rejoice when he sees your vengeance; when he washes his feet in the blood of the wicked.

11 A person will say, "Certainly, the righteous are rewarded; certainly there is a God who judges the earth."

Psalm 59

1 To the Director:

A special Davidic psalm to the tune of "Do Not Destroy," when Saul sent men to watch the house in order to kill him.

Save me from my enemies, my God! Keep me safe from those who rise up against me.

2 Save me from those who practise evil; deliver me from bloodthirsty men.

3 Look, they lie in ambush for my life; these violent men gather together against me, but not because of any transgression or sin of mine, LORD.

4 Without any fault on my part, they rush together and prepare themselves. Get up! Come help me! Pay attention!

5 You, LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, God of Israel, stir yourself up to punish all the nations. Show no mercy to those wicked transgressors.

Interlude.

6 At night they return like howling dogs; they prowl around the city.

7 Look what pours out of their mouths! They use their lips like swords, saying "Who will hear us?"

8 But you, LORD, will laugh at them; you will mock all the nations.

9 My Strength, I will watch for you, for God is my fortress.

10 My God of Gracious Love will meet me; God will enable me to see what happens to my enemies.

11 Don't kill them! Otherwise, my people may forget. By your power make them stumble around; bring them down low, Lord, our Shield.

12 The sin of their mouth is the word on their lips. They will be caught in their own conceit; for they speak curses and lies.

13 Go ahead and destroy them in anger! Wipe them out, and they will know to the ends of the earth that God rules over Jacob.

Interlude.

14 At night they return like howling dogs; they prowl around the city.

- 15 They scavenge for food. If they find nothing, they become hungry and growl.
16 But I will sing of your power and in the morning I will shout for joy about your gracious love. For you have been a fortress for me; and a refuge when I am distressed.
17 My Strength, I will sing praises to you, for you, God of Gracious Love, are my fortress.

Psalm 60

1 To the Director:

A special Davidic psalm to the tune of "Lily of The Covenant," for teaching about his battle with Aram-naharaim and Aram-zobah, when Joab returned and attacked 12,000 Edomites in the Salt Valley.

God, you have cast us off; you have breached our defences and you have become enraged. Return to us!

2 You made the earth quake; you broke it open. Repair its fractures, because it has shifted.

3 You made your people go through hard times; you had us drink wine that makes us stagger.

4 But you have given a banner to those who fear you, so they may display it in honour of truth.

Interlude.

5 So your loved ones may be delivered, save us by your power and answer us quickly!

6 Then God spoke in his holiness, "I will rejoice — I will divide Shechem; I will portion out the Succoth Valley.

7 Gilead belongs to me, and Manasseh is mine. Ephraim is my helmet, and Judah my sceptre.

8 Moab is my wash basin; over Edom I will throw my shoes; over Philistia I will celebrate my triumph."

9 Who will lead me to the fortified city? Who will lead me to Edom?

10 Aren't you the one, God, who has cast us off? Didn't you refuse, God, to accompany our armies?

11 Help us in our distress, for human help is worthless.

12 Through God we will fight valiantly; and it is he who will crush our enemies.

Psalm 61

1 To the Director:

A composition by David for stringed instruments.

God, hear my cry; pay attention to my prayer.

2 From the end of the earth I will cry to you whenever my heart is overwhelmed. Place me on the rock that's too high for me.

3 For you have been a refuge for me, a tower of strength before the enemy.

4 Let me make my home in your tent forever; let me hide under the shelter of your wings.

Interlude.

5 For you, God, have heard my promises; you have assigned to me the heritage of those who fear your name.

6 Add day after day to the king's life; may his years continue for many generations.

7 May he be enthroned before God forever; Appoint your gracious love and truth to guard him.

8 So I will sing songs to your name forever; I will fulfil my promises day by day.

Psalm 62

1 To the Director:

According to Jeduthun's style.

A Davidic Psalm.

My soul rests quietly only when it looks to God; from him comes my deliverance.

2 He alone is my rock, my deliverance, and my high tower; nothing will shake me.

3 How long will you rage against someone? Would you attack him as if he were a leaning wall or a tottering fence?

4 They plan to cast him down from his exalted position. They delight in lies; their mouth utters blessings, while their heart is cursing.

Interlude.

5 My soul, be quiet before God, for from him comes my hope.

6 He alone is my rock, my deliverance, and my high tower; nothing will shake me.

7 I rely on God who is my deliverance and my glory; he is my strong rock, and my refuge is in God.

8 People, in every situation put your trust in God; pour out your heart before him; for God is a refuge for us.

Interlude.

9 Human beings are a mere vapour, while people in high positions are not what they appear. When they are placed on the scales, they weigh nothing; even when weighed together, they are less than nothing.

10 Don't trust in oppression or put false hope in stealing; if you become wealthy, do not set your heart on it.

11 God spoke once, but I heard it twice, "Power belongs to God."

12 Also to you, Lord, belongs gracious love, because you reward each person according to what he does.

John 7

25 Then some of the people of Jerusalem began saying, "This is the man they are trying to kill, isn't it?"

26 And look, he is speaking in public, and they are not saying anything to him! Can it be that the authorities really know that this is the Messiah?

27 We know where this man comes from. But when the Messiah comes, no one will know where he comes from."

28 At this point Jesus, still teaching in the Temple, shouted, "So you know me and know where I have come from? I have not come on my own accord. But the one who sent me is true, and he is the one you do not know.

29 I know him because I have come from him and he sent me."

30 Then they tried to seize him, but no one laid a hand on him because his hour had not yet come.

31 However, many in the crowd believed in him, saying, "When the Messiah comes, he won't do more signs than this man has done, will he?"

32 The Pharisees heard the crowd debating these things about him, so the high priests and the Pharisees sent officers to arrest Jesus.

33 Then Jesus said, "I will be with you only a little while longer, and then I am going back to the one who sent me.

34 You will look for me but will not find me. And where I am, you cannot come."

35 Then the Jewish leaders asked one another, "Where does this man intend to go that we won't be able to find him? Surely he's not going to the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks, is he?"

36 What does this statement mean that he said, 'You will look for me but will not find me,' and 'Where I will be, you cannot come'?"

37 On the last and most important day of the festival, Jesus stood up and shouted, "If anyone is thirsty, let him come to me and drink!

38 The one who believes in me, as the Scripture has said, will have rivers of living water flowing from his heart."

39 Now he said this about the Spirit, whom those who were believing in him were to receive, because the Spirit was not yet present and Jesus had not yet been glorified.

40 When they heard these words, some in the crowd were saying, "This really is the Prophet,"

41 while others were saying, "This is the Messiah!" But some were saying, "The Messiah doesn't come from Galilee, does he?"

42 Doesn't the Scripture say that the Messiah is from David's family and from Bethlehem, the village where David lived?"

43 So there was a division in the crowd because of him.

44 Some of them were wanting to seize him, but no one laid hands on him.

Psalm 63

1 A Davidic Psalm, while he was in the Judean wilderness.

God, you are my God! I will fervently seek you. My soul thirsts for you; my flesh longs for you in a dry, weary, and parched land.

2 So I have looked for you in the sanctuary, to behold your power and glory.

3 Because your gracious love is better than life itself, my lips will praise you.

4 So I will bless you as long as I live; I will lift up my hands in your name.

5 Just as I am satisfied with the choicest of foods, so my lips will praise you joyfully.

6 When I think of you in bed, I will meditate on you in the night watches.

7 For you have been my strength, and in the shadow of your wings I will shout for joy.

8 My soul clings to you, even as your right hand supports me.

9 But as for those who seek to destroy me, they will go down to the depths of the earth;

10 May they be given over to the power of the sword; may they become carrion for jackals.

11 But as for the king, he will rejoice in God. Indeed, everyone who swears by God will exult, because the mouths of liars will be silenced.

Psalm 64

1 To the Director:

A Davidic Psalm.

Hear, God, as I express my concern; protect me from fear of the enemy.

2 Hide me from the secret plots of the wicked, from the mob of those who practise evil,

3 who sharpen their tongues like swords, and aim their bitter words like arrows,

4 shooting at the innocent from concealment. Suddenly they shoot, fearing nothing.

5 They concoct an evil scheme for themselves; they enumerate their hidden snares; they say, "Who will see them?"

6 They devise wicked schemes, saying, "We have completed our plans, hiding them deep in our hearts."

7 But God shot an arrow at them, and they were wounded immediately.

8 They tripped over their own tongues, and everyone who was watching ran away.

9 Everyone was gripped with fear and acknowledged God's deeds, understanding what he had done.

10 The righteous rejoiced in the LORD, because they had fled to him for refuge. Let all the upright in heart exult.

Psalm 65

1 To the Director:

A song.

Lyrics by David.

In Zion, God, praise silently awaits you, and vows will be paid to you.

2 Since you hear prayer, everybody will come to you.

3 My acts of iniquity — they overwhelm me! Our transgressions — you blot them out!

4 How blessed is the one you choose, the one you cause to live in your courts. We will be satisfied with the goodness of your house, yes, even with the holiness of your Temple.

5 With awesome deeds of justice you will answer us, God our Deliverer; you are the confidence for everyone at the ends of the earth, even for those far away overseas.

6 The One who established the mountains by his strength is clothed with omnipotence.

7 He calmed the roar of seas, the roaring of the waves, and the turmoil of the peoples.

8 Those living at the furthest ends of the earth are seized by fear because of your miraculous deeds. You make the going forth of the morning and the evening shout for joy.
9 You take care of the earth, you water it, and you enrich it greatly with the river of God that overflows with water. You provide grain for them, for you have ordained it this way.
10 You fill the furrows of the field with water so that their ridges overflow. You soften them with rain showers; their sprouts you have blessed.
11 You crown the year with your goodness; your footsteps drop prosperity behind them.
12 The wilderness pastures drip with dew, and the hills wrap themselves with joy.
13 The meadows are clothed with flocks of sheep, and the valleys are covered with grain. They shout for joy; yes, they burst out in song!

Psalms 66

1 To the Director:
A song. A Psalm.

Shout praise to God all the earth!
2 Sing praise about the glory of his name. Make his praise glorious.
3 Say to God: "How awesome are your works! Because of your great strength your enemies cringe before you."
4 The whole earth worships you. They sing praise to you. They sing praise to your name.
Interlude.
5 Come and see the awesome works of God on behalf of human beings:
6 He turned the sea into dry land. Israel crossed the river on foot; let us rejoice in him.
7 He rules by his power forever, his eyes watching over the nations. Do not let the rebellious exalt themselves.

Interlude.

8 Bless our God, people, and let the sound of his praise be heard.
9 He gives us life and does not permit our feet to slip.
10 For you, God, tested us, to purify us like fine silver.
11 You have led us into a trap and set burdens on our backs.
12 You caused men to ride over us. You brought us through fire and water, but you led us to abundance.
13 I will come to your house with burnt offerings. I will fulfil my vows to you 14 that my lips uttered and that my mouth spoke when I was in trouble.
15 I will offer to you burnt offerings of fat, along with the smoke of the sacrifice of rams. I will offer bulls along with goats.

Interlude.

16 Come and listen, all of you who fear God, and I will tell you what he did for me.
17 I called aloud to him and praised him with my tongue.
18 Were I to cherish iniquity in my heart, the Lord would not listen to me.
19 Surely God has heard, and he paid attention to my prayers.
20 Blessed be God, who did not turn away my prayers nor his gracious love from me.

Psalms 67

1 To the Director of music:
Accompanied by stringed instruments.
A Psalm. A song.

May God show us favour and bless us; may he truly show us his favour.
Interlude.
2 Let your ways be known by all the nations of the earth, along with your deliverance.
3 Let the people thank you, God. Let all the people thank you.

4 Let the nations rejoice and sing for joy, because you judge people with fairness and you govern the people of the earth.

Interlude.

5 Let the people thank you, God; let all the people thank you.

6 May the earth yield its produce. May God, our God, bless us.

7 May God truly bless us so that all the peoples of the earth will fear him.

John 7

45 Then the officers returned to the high priests and Pharisees, who asked them, "Why didn't you bring him?"

46 The officers answered, "No man ever spoke like that!"

47 Then the Pharisees replied to them, "You haven't been deceived, too, have you?"

48 None of the authorities or Pharisees has believed in him, have they?

49 But this mob that does not know the Law — they're under a curse!"

50 One of their own, Nicodemus (the man who had previously met with Jesus), asked them,

51 "Surely our Law does not condemn a person without first hearing from him and finding out what he is doing, does it?"

52 They answered him, "You aren't from Galilee, too, are you? Search and see that no prophet comes from Galilee."

53 Then each of them went to their own home.

John 8

1 Jesus, however, went to the Mount of Olives.

2 At daybreak he appeared again in the Temple, and all the people came to him. So he sat down and began to teach them.

3 But the scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery. After setting her before them,

4 they told him, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in the very act of adultery.

5 Now in the Law, Moses commanded us to stone such women to death. What do you say?"

6 They said this to test him, so that they might have a charge against him. But Jesus bent down and began to write on the ground with his finger.

7 When they persisted in questioning him, he straightened up and told them, "Let the person among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her."

8 Then he bent down again and continued writing on the ground.

9 When they heard this, they went away one by one, beginning with the oldest, and he was left alone with the woman standing there.

10 Then Jesus stood up and asked her, "Dear lady, where are your accusers? Hasn't anyone condemned you?"

11 "No one, sir," she replied. Then Jesus said, "I don't condemn you, either. Go home, and from now on do not sin any more."

Psalm 68

1 To the Director of music:

A Psalm. A song.

God arises, and his enemies are scattered. Those who hate him flee from his presence.

2 As smoke is driven away, so you drive them away. As wax melts in the presence of fire, so the wicked die in the presence of God.

3 But the righteous rejoice and exult before God; they are overwhelmed with joy.

4 Sing to God! Sing praise to his name! Exalt the one who rides on the clouds. The LORD is his name. Be jubilant in his presence.

5 A father to orphans and an advocate for widows is God in his holy dwelling place.

6 God causes the lonely to dwell in families. He leads prisoners into prosperity, but rebels live on parched land.

7 God, when you led out your people, when you marched through the desert,

Interlude.

8 the land quaked. Indeed, the heavens poured down rain from the presence of God, this God of Sinai, from the presence of God, the God of Israel.

9 God, you poured out abundant rain on your inheritance. When Israel was weary, you sustained her.

10 Your people live there; you sustain the needy with your goodness, God.

11 The Lord issues a command. Numerous are the women who announce the news:

12 "Kings of armies retreat and flee, while the lady of the house divides the spoil.

13 When you men lie down among the sheepfolds, you are like the wings of the dove covered with silver, with its feathers in glittering gold."

14 When the Almighty scattered the kings there, there was snow on Mt. Zalmon.

15 The mountain of God is as the mountain of Bashan; a mountain of many peaks is Mount Bashan.

16 You mountains of many peaks, why do you watch with envy the mountain in which God has chosen to dwell? Indeed, the LORD will live there forever.

17 God's chariots were many thousands. The Lord was there with them at Sinai in holiness.

18 You ascended to the heights, you took captives. You received gifts among mankind, even the rebellious, so the LORD God may live there.

19 Blessed be the Lord who daily carries us. God is our deliverer.

20 God is for us the God of our deliverance. The Lord God rescues us from death.

21 God surely strikes the heads of his enemies, even the hairy heads of those who continue in their guilt.

22 The Lord says, "From Bashan I will bring them, I will bring them from the depths of the sea,

23 that your feet may wade through blood. The tongues of your dogs will have their portions from your enemies."

24 They have observed your processions, God, the processions of my God, my king, in the sanctuary.

25 The singers are in front, the musicians follow, strumming their stringed instruments among the maidens who are playing their tambourines.

26 Bless God in the great congregation, the LORD who is the fountain of Israel.

27 Little Benjamin is there, leading them, and the princes of Judah all together with the princes of Zebulun and the princes of Naphtali.

28 Summon the power of your God, the power, God, that you have shown us.

29 Because of your Temple in Jerusalem, kings bring tribute to you.

30 Rebuke the wildlife that lives among the reeds, the nations that congregate like bulls and cows, humbling themselves with pieces of silver, for God scatters the nations that delight in battle.

31 Envoys will come from Egypt. Let the Ethiopians stretch out their hands to God.

32 You kingdoms of the earth, sing to God! Sing praises to the Lord,

Interlude.

33 to the one who rides the heavens, the ancient heavens. Behold! He thunders with a mighty voice.

34 Ascribe power to God, whose glory is over Israel, whose power is in the skies.

35 You are awesome, God, from your sanctuaries. The God of Israel is the one who gives strength and power to the people. Blessed be God!

Psalms 69

1 To the Director:

To the tune of "The Lilies".

Davidic.

Deliver me, God, because the waters are up to my neck.

2 I am sinking in deep mire, and there is no solid ground. I have come into deep water, and the flood overwhelms me.

3 I am exhausted from calling for help. My throat is parched. My eyes are strained from looking for God.

4 Those who hate me without cause are more than the hairs of my head. My persecutors are mighty, and they want to destroy me. Must I be forced to return what I did not steal?

5 God, you know my sins, and my guilt is not hidden from you.

6 Do not let those who look up to you be ashamed because of me, Lord God of the Heavenly Armies. Let not those who seek you be humiliated because of me, God of Israel.

7 I am being mocked because of you. Dishonour overwhelms me.

8 I am a stranger to my brothers, a foreigner to my mother's sons.

9 Zeal for your house consumes me, and the mockeries of those who insult you fall on me.

10 I weep and fast, and I am mocked for it.

11 When I dressed in sackcloth, I became an object of gossip among them.

12 The prominent people mock me, composing drinking songs.

13 As for me, LORD, may my prayer to you come at a favourable time. God, in the abundance of your gracious love, answer me with your sure deliverance.

14 Rescue me from the mud and do not let me sink. Rescue me from those who hate me, and from the deep waters.

15 Let neither the floodwaters overwhelm me nor let the deep swallow me up, nor the mouth of the well close over me.

16 Answer me, LORD, for your gracious love is good; Turn to me in keeping with your great compassion,

17 and do not ignore your servant, because I am in distress. Hurry to answer me!

18 Draw near and redeem me; ransom me because of my enemies.

19 Truly you know my reproach, shame, and disgrace. All my enemies are known to you.

20 Insults broke my heart. I despaired and looked for sympathy; but there was none, for comforters, but I found none.

21 They put poison in my food, in my thirst they forced me to drink vinegar.

22 May their dining tables entrap them, and become a snare for their allies.

23 May their eyes be blinded and may their bodies tremble continually.

24 May you pour out your fury on them. May your burning anger overtake them.

25 May their camp become desolate and their tents remain unoccupied.

26 For they persecute those whom you have struck, and they brag about the pain of those you have wounded.

27 May you punish them for their crimes; may they receive no verdict of innocence from you.

28 May they be erased from the Book of Life, and their names not be written with the righteous.

29 As for me, I am afflicted and hurting; may your deliverance, God, establish me on high.

30 Let me praise the name of God with a song that I may magnify him with thanksgiving.

31 That will please the LORD more than oxen and bulls with horns and hooves.

32 The afflicted will watch and rejoice. May you who seek God take courage.

33 For the LORD listens to the needy and doesn't despise those in bondage.

34 Let the heavens and earth praise him, along with the sea and its swarming creatures.

35 For God will deliver Zion and will rebuild the cities of Judah so they may live there and possess them.

36 The descendants of his servants will inherit it, and those who cherish his name will live there.

John 8

12 Later on Jesus spoke to them again, saying, "I am the light of the world. The one who follows me will never walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

13 The Pharisees told him, "You are testifying about yourself. Your testimony is not valid."

14 Jesus answered them, "Even though I am testifying about myself, my testimony is valid because I know where I have come from and where I am going. But you do not know where I come from or where I am going.

15 You are judging by human standards, but I am not judging anyone.

16 Yet even if I should judge, my judgement would be valid, because it is not I alone who judges, but I and the one who sent me.

17 In your own Law it is written that the testimony of two people is valid.

18 I am testifying about myself, and the Father who sent me is testifying about me."

19 Then they asked him, "Where is this Father of yours?" Jesus replied, "You do not know me or my Father. If you had known me, you would have known my Father also."

20 He spoke these words in the treasury, while he was teaching in the Temple. Yet no one arrested him, because his hour had not yet come.

21 Later on he told them again, "I am going away, and you will look for me, but you will die in your sin. You cannot come where I am going."

22 So the Jews were asking, "He isn't going to kill himself, is he? Is that why he said, 'You cannot come where I am going'?"

23 He told them, "You are from below, I am from above. You are of this world, but I am not of this world.

24 That is why I told you that you will die in your sins, for unless you believe that I AM, you will die in your sins."

25 Then they asked him, "Who are you?" Jesus told them, "What have I been telling you all along?

26 I have much to say about you and to condemn you for. But the one who sent me is truthful, and what I have heard from him I declare to the world."

27 They didn't realize that he was talking to them about the Father.

28 So Jesus told them, "When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I AM, and that I do nothing on my own authority. Instead, I speak only what the Father has taught me.

29 Moreover, the one who sent me is with me. He has never left me alone because I always do what pleases him."

30 While he was saying these things, many believed in him.

31 So Jesus told those Jews who had believed in him, "If you continue in my word, you are really my disciples.

32 And you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

33 They replied to him, "We are Abraham's descendants and have never been slaves to anybody. So how can you say, 'You will be set free'?"

34 Jesus answered them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty that everyone who commits sin is a slave of sin.

35 The slave does not remain in the household forever, but the son does remain forever.

36 So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed!"

Psalm 70

1 To the Music director.

Davidic. As a memorial.

God, come to my rescue. LORD, hurry to help me.

2 May those who seek to kill me be publicly humiliated. May those who take pleasure in my harm be turned back in humiliation.

3 May those who say "Aha! Aha!" be turned back because of their shameful deeds.

4 Let those who seek you greatly rejoice in you. Let those who love your deliverance say, "May God be continually exalted."

5 As for me, I am poor and needy. God, come quickly to me. You are my helper and my deliverer. LORD, please do not delay.

Psalm 71

1 In you, LORD, I take refuge; let me never be humiliated.

2 Rescue and deliver me, because you are righteous. Turn your ear to me and save me.

3 Be my sheltering refuge where I may go continually; command my deliverance for you are my rock and fortress.

4 My God, deliver me from the power of the wicked and the grasp of ruthless practitioners of evil.

5 For you are my hope, Lord GOD, my security since I was young.

6 I depended on you since birth, when you brought me from my mother's womb; I praise you continually.

7 I have become an example to many that you are my strong refuge.

8 My mouth is filled with your praise and your splendour daily.

9 Don't throw me away when I am old; do not abandon me when my strength fails.

10 For my enemies talk against me; those who seek to kill me plot together

11 and say, "God has abandoned him. Run after him and seize him, because there's no deliverer."

12 God, do not be distant from me. My God, come quickly to help me.

13 Let my adversaries be ashamed and consumed; let those who seek my destruction be covered with scorn and disgrace.

14 As for me, I will hope continually and will praise you more and more.

15 I will declare your righteousness and your salvation every day, though I do not fully understand what the outcome will be.

16 Lord GOD, I will come in the power of your mighty acts, remembering your righteousness — yours alone.

17 God, you taught me from my youth, so I am still declaring your awesome deeds.

18 Also, when I reach old age and have grey hair, God, do not forsake me, until I have declared your power to this generation and your might to the next one.

19 Your many righteous deeds, God, are great,

20 God, who can compare to you, who caused me to experience many distresses and evil? You will return to revive me and lift me up from the depths of the earth.

21 You will increase my honour and comfort me once again.

22 I also will praise you with the harp; because of your faithfulness, my God, I will praise you with the lyre — Holy One of Israel.

23 My lips will shout for joy when I sing praise to you, whose life you have redeemed.

24 Moreover, my tongue will speak all day about your justice; for those who seek my destruction will be utterly humiliated.

Psalm 72

1 Solomonic.

God, endow the king with ability to render your justice, and the king's son to render your right decisions.

2 May he rule your people with right decisions and your oppressed ones with justice.

3 May the mountains bring prosperity to the people and the hills bring righteousness.

4 May he defend the afflicted of the people and deliver the children of the poor, but crush the oppressor.

5 May they fear you as long as the sun and moon shine — from generation to generation.

6 May he be like the rain that descends on mown grass, like showers sprinkling on the ground.

7 The righteous will flourish at the proper time and peace will prevail until the moon is no more.

8 May he rule from sea to sea, from the Euphrates River to the ends of the earth.

9 May the nomads bow down before him, and his enemies lick the dust.

10 May the kings of Tarshish and of distant shores bring gifts, and may the kings of Sheba and Seba offer tribute.

11 May all kings bow down to him, and all nations serve him.

12 For he will deliver the needy when they cry out for help, and the poor when there is no deliverer.

13 He will have compassion on the poor and the needy, and he will save the lives of the needy.

14 He will redeem them from oppression and violence, since their lives are precious in his sight.

15 May he live long and be given gold from Sheba, and may prayer be offered for him continually, and may he be blessed every day.

16 May grain be abundant in the land all the way to the mountain tops; may its fruits flourish like the forests of Lebanon, and may the cities sprout like the grass of the earth.

17 May his fame be eternal — as long as the sun — may his name endure, and may they be blessed through him, and may all nations call him blessed.

18 Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel, who alone does awesome deeds.

19 And blessed be his glorious name forever, and may the whole earth be filled with his glory. Amen and amen!

20 This ends the prayers of Jesse's son David.

Psalm 73

1 A song of Asaph.

God is indeed good to Israel, to those pure in heart.

2 Now as for me, my feet nearly stumbled, as I almost lost my step.

3 For I was envious of the proud when I observed the prosperity of the wicked.

4 For there is no struggle at their deaths, and their bodies are healthy.

5 They do not experience problems common to ordinary people; they aren't afflicted as others are.

6 Therefore pride is their necklace and violence covers them like a garment.

7 Their eyes bulge from obesity and the imaginations of their mind cross the border into sin.

8 In their mockery they speak evil; from their arrogant position they speak oppression.

9 They choose to speak against heaven; while they talk about things on earth.

10 Therefore God's people return there and drink it all in like water until they're satiated.

11 Then they say, "How can God know? Does the Most High have knowledge?"

12 Just look at these wicked people! They're perpetually carefree as they increase their wealth.
13 I kept my heart pure for nothing and kept my hands clean from guilt.
14 For I suffer all day long and I am punished every morning.
15 If I say, "I will talk like this," I would betray a generation of your children.
16 When I tried to understand this, it was too difficult for me
17 until I entered the sanctuaries of God. Then I understood their destiny.

John 8

37 "I know that you are Abraham's descendants. Yet you are trying to kill me because you've not received what I've told you.

38 I declare what I have seen in my Father's presence, and you are doing what you have heard from your father."

39 They replied to him, "Our father is Abraham!" Jesus told them, "If you were Abraham's children, you would be doing what Abraham did.

40 But now you are trying to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham would not have done that.

41 You are doing your father's actions." They told him, "We are not illegitimate children. We have one Father, God himself."

42 Jesus told them, "If God were your Father, you would have loved me, because I came from God and am here. I have not come on my own accord, but he sent me.

43 Why don't you understand what I've said? It's because you can't listen to my words.

44 You belong to your father the devil, and you want to carry out the desires of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning and has never stood for truth, since there is no truth in him. Whenever he tells a lie he speaks in character, because he is a liar and the father of lies.

45 But it is because I speak the truth that you do not believe me.

46 Can any of you prove me guilty of sin? If I am telling the truth, why don't you believe me?

47 The one who belongs to God listens to the words of God. The reason you do not listen is because you do not belong to God."

48 The Jews replied to him, "Surely we are right in saying that you are a Samaritan and have a demon, aren't we?"

49 Jesus answered, "I don't have a demon. On the contrary, I honour my Father, and you dishonour me.

50 I don't seek my own glory. There is one who seeks it, and he is the Judge.

51 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death."

52 Then the Jews told him, "Now we really know that you have a demon. Abraham died, and so did the prophets, but you say, 'If anyone keeps my word, he will never taste death.'

53 You aren't greater than our father Abraham, who died, are you? The prophets also died. Who are you making yourself out to be?"

54 Jesus answered, "If I were trying to glorify myself, my glory would mean nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, 'He is our God.'

55 You don't know him, but I know him. If I were to say that I don't know him, I would be a liar like you. But I do know him and keep his word.

56 Your father Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day, and he saw it and was glad."

57 Then the Jews asked him, "You are not even 50 years old, yet you have seen Abraham?"

58 Jesus told them, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, before there was an Abraham, I AM!"

59 At this, they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the Temple.

Psalm 73

18 You have certainly set them in slippery places; you will make them fall to their ruin.
19 How desolate they quickly become, completely destroyed by calamities.
20 Like a dream when one awakens, Lord, you will despise their image when you arise.
21 When I chose to be bitter I was emotionally pained.
22 Then, I was too stupid and didn't realize I was acting like a wild animal with you.
23 But now I am always with you, for you keep holding my right hand.
24 You will guide me with your wise advice, and later you will receive me with honour.
25 Whom do I have in heaven but you? I desire nothing on this earth.
26 My body and mind may fail, but God is my strength and my portion forever.
27 Those far from you will perish; you will destroy those who are unfaithful to you.
28 As for me, how good for me it is that God is near! I have made the Lord God my refuge so I can tell about all your deeds.

Psalm 74

1 An instruction of Asaph.

Why, God? Have you rejected us forever? Your anger is burning against the sheep of your pasture.

2 Remember your community, whom you purchased long ago, the tribe whom you redeemed for your possession. Remember Mount Zion, where you live.

3 Hurry! Look at the permanent ruins — every calamity the enemy brought upon the Holy Place.

4 Those who are opposing you roar where we were meeting with you; they unfurl their war banners as signs.

5 As one blazes a trail through a forest with an axe,

6 now they're tearing down all its carved work with hatchets and hammers.

7 They burned your sanctuary to the ground, desecrating your dwelling place.

8 They say to themselves, "We'll crush them completely;" They burned down all the meeting places of God in the land.

9 We see no signs for us; there is no longer a prophet, and no one among us knows the future.

10 God, how long will the adversary scorn while the enemy despises your name endlessly?

11 Why do you not withdraw your hand — your right hand — from your bosom and destroy them?

12 But God is my king from ancient times, who brings acts of deliverance throughout the earth.

13 You split the sea by your own power. You shattered the heads of sea monsters in the water.

14 You crushed the heads of Leviathan. You set it as food for desert creatures.

15 You opened both the spring and the river; you dried up flowing rivers.

16 Yours is the day, and yours is the night; you established the moon and the sun.

17 You set all the boundaries of the earth; you made summer and winter.

18 Remember this: The enemy scorns the LORD and a foolish people despises your name.

19 Don't hand over the life of your dove to beasts; do not continually forget your afflicted ones.

20 Pay attention to your covenant, for the dark regions of the earth are full of violence.

21 Don't let the oppressed return in humiliation. The poor and needy will praise your name.

22 Get up, God, and prosecute your case — remember that you're being scorned by fools all day long.

23 Don't ignore the shout of those opposing you, The uproar of those who rebel against you continuously.

Psalms 75

1 To the Director:

To the tune of "Do not Destroy!"

A psalm of Asaph. A song.

We praise you, God! We praise you — your presence draws near — as we declare your wonderful deeds.

2 "At the time that I choose I will judge the righteous.

3 While the earth and all its inhabitants melt away, it is I who keep its pillars firm."

Interlude.

4 I will say to the proud, "Don't brag," and to the wicked, "Don't vaunt your strength.

5 Don't use your strength to fight heaven or speak from stubborn arrogance."

6 For exaltation comes not from the east, the west, or the wilderness,

7 since God is the judge. This one he will debase or that one he will exalt.

8 For there is a cup in the hand of the LORD, foaming with well-mixed wine that he will pour out, leaving only the dregs, from which all the wicked of the earth will drink.

9 But as for me, I will declare forever, singing praise to the God of Jacob.

10 I will cut down the strength of the wicked, but the strength of the righteous will be lifted up.

Psalms 76

1 To the Director:

With stringed instruments.

A psalm of Asaph. A song.

God is known in Judah; in Israel his reputation is great.

2 His abode is in Salem, his dwelling place in Zion.

3 There he shattered sharp arrows, shields, swords, and weapons of war.

Interlude.

4 You are enveloped by light; more majestic than mountains filled with game.

5 Brave men were plundered while they slumbered in their sleep. All the men of the army were immobilized.

6 At the sound of your battle cry, God of Jacob, both horse and chariot rider fell into deep sleep.

7 You are awesome! who can stand in your presence when you're angry?

8 From heaven you declared judgement. The earth stands in awe and is quiet

9 when God arose to execute justice and to deliver all the afflicted of the earth.

Interlude.

10 Even human anger praises you; you will wear the survivors of your wrath as an ornament.

11 Let everyone who surrounds the LORD your God make a vow and fulfil it to the Awesome One.

12 He will humble the arrogant commanders-in-chief, instilling fear among the kings of the earth.

Psalms 77

1 To the director:

To Jeduthun.

A psalm of Asaph.

I cry out to God! I cry out to God and he hears me.

2 When I was in distress, I sought the Lord; my hands were raised at night and they did not grow weary. I refused to be comforted.

3 I remember God, and I groan; I meditate, while my spirit grows faint.

Interlude.

4 You kept my eyes open; I was troubled and couldn't speak.

5 I thought of ancient times, considering years long past.

6 During the night I remembered my song. I meditate in my heart, and my spirit ponders.

7 Will the Lord reject me forever and not show favour again?

8 Has his gracious love ceased forever? Will his promise be unfulfilled in future generations?

9 Has God forgotten to be gracious? Has he in anger withheld his compassion?

Interlude.

John 9

- 1 As he was walking along, he observed a man who had been blind from birth.
- 2 His disciples asked him, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that caused him to be born blind?"
- 3 Jesus answered, "Neither this man nor his parents sinned. This happened so that God's work might be revealed in him.
- 4 I must do the work of the one who sent me while it is day. Night is approaching, when no one can work.
- 5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world."
- 6 After saying this, he spat on the ground and made mud with the saliva. Then he spread the mud on the man's eyes
- 7 and told him, "Go and wash in the pool of Siloam" (which is translated "Sent One"). So he went off, washed, and came back seeing.
- 8 Then the neighbours and those who had previously seen him as a beggar said, "This is the man who used to sit and beg, isn't it?"
- 9 Some were saying, "It's him," while others were saying, "No, but it's someone like him." He himself kept saying, "It's me!"
- 10 So they asked him, "How, then, did you gain your eyesight?"
- 11 He said, "The man named Jesus made some mud, spread it on my eyes, and told me, 'Go to Siloam and wash.' So off I went and washed, and I received my sight."
- 12 They asked him, "Where is that man?" He said, "I don't know!"
- 13 So they brought to the Pharisees the man who had once been blind.
- 14 Now it was a Sabbath day when Jesus made the mud and healed his eyes.
- 15 So the Pharisees also began to ask him how he had gained his sight. He told them, "He put mud on my eyes, then I washed, and now I can see."
- 16 Some of the Pharisees began to remark, "This man is not from God because he does not keep the Sabbath." But others were saying, "How can a sinful man perform such signs?" And there was a division among them.
- 17 So they asked the formerly blind man again, "What do you say about him, since it was your eyes he healed?" He said, "He is a prophet."
- 18 The Jews did not believe that the man had been blind and had gained sight until they summoned his parents
- 19 and asked them, "Is this your son, the one you say was born blind? How does he now see?"
- 20 His parents replied, "We know that this is our son and that he was born blind.
- 21 But we don't know how it is that he now sees, and we don't know who opened his eyes. Ask him. He is of age and can speak for himself."
- 22 His parents said this because they were afraid of the Jews, since the Jews had already agreed that anyone who acknowledged that Jesus was the Messiah would be thrown out of the synagogue.
- 23 That's why his parents said, "He is of age. Ask him."

Psalm 77

- 10 So I say: "It causes me pain that the right hand of the Most High has changed."
11 I will remember the LORD's deeds; indeed, I will remember your awesome deeds from long ago.
12 As I meditate on all your works, I will consider your awesome deeds.
13 God, your way is holy. What god is like our great God?
14 God, you are the one performing awesome deeds. You reveal your might among the nations.
15 You delivered your people — the descendants of Jacob and Joseph — with your power.
Interlude.
16 The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you and writhed. Indeed, the depths of the sea quaked.
17 The clouds poured rain; the skies rumbled. Indeed, your lightning bolts flashed.
18 Your thunderous sound was in a whirlwind; your lightning lights up the world; the earth becomes agitated and quakes.
19 Your way was through the sea, and your path through mighty waters, but your footprints cannot be traced.
20 You have led your people like a flock by the hands of Moses and Aaron.

Psalm 78

- 1 An instruction of Asaph.

- Listen, my people, to my instruction. Hear the words of my mouth.
2 I will tell a parable, speaking riddles from long ago —
3 things that we have heard and known and that our ancestors related to us.
4 We will not withhold them from their descendants; we'll declare to the next generation the praises of the LORD — his might and awesome deeds that he has performed.
5 He established a decree in Jacob, and established the Law in Israel, that he commanded our ancestors to reveal to their children
6 in order that the next generation — children yet to be born — will know them and in turn teach them to their children.
7 Then they will put their trust in God and they will not forget his awesome deeds. Instead, they will keep his commandments.
8 They will not be like the rebellious generation of their ancestors, a rebellious generation, whose heart was not steadfast, and whose spirits were unfaithful to God.
9 The descendants of Ephraim were sharp shooters with the bow, but they retreated in the day of battle.
10 They did not keep God's covenant, and refused to live by his Law.
11 They have forgotten what he has done, his awesome deeds that they witnessed.
12 He performed marvellous things in the presence of their ancestors in the land of Egypt — in the fields of Zoan.
13 He divided the sea so that they were able to cross; he caused the water to stand in a single location.
14 He led them with a cloud during the day, and during the night with light from the fire.
15 He caused the rocks to split in the wilderness, and gave them water as from an abundant sea.
16 He brought streams from rock, causing water to flow like a river.
17 But time and again, they sinned against him, rebelling against the Most High in the desert.
18 To test God was in their minds, when they demanded food to satisfy their cravings.
19 They spoke against God by asking, "Is God able to prepare a feast in the desert?"

20 It's true that Moses struck the rock so that water flowed forth and torrents of water gushed out, but is he also able to give bread or to supply meat for his people?"

21 Therefore, when the LORD heard this, he was angry, and fire broke out against Jacob. Moreover, his anger flared against Israel, 22 because they didn't believe in God and didn't trust in his deliverance.

23 Yet he commanded the skies above and the doors of the heavens to open, 24 so that manna rained down on them for food and he sent them the grain of heaven.

25 Mortal men ate the food of angels; he sent provision to them in abundance.

26 He stirred up the east wind in the heavens and drove the south wind by his might.

27 He caused meat to rain on them like dust and winged birds as the sand of the sea.

28 He caused these to fall in the middle of the camp and all around their tents.

29 So they ate and were very satisfied, because he granted their desire.

30 However, before they had fulfilled their desire, while their food was still in their mouths,

31 the anger of God flared against them, and he killed the strongest men and humbled Israel's young men.

32 In spite of all of this, they kept on sinning and didn't believe in his marvellous deeds.

33 So he made their days end in futility, and their years with sudden terror.

34 When he struck them, they sought him; they repented, and eagerly sought God.

35 Then they remembered that God was their rock, and the Most High God was their deliverer.

36 But they deceived him with their mouths; they lied to him with their tongues.

37 For their hearts weren't committed to him, and they weren't faithful to his covenant.

38 But he, being merciful, forgave their iniquity and didn't destroy them; He restrained his anger and didn't vent all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that they were only flesh, a passing wind that doesn't return.

40 How they rebelled against him in the desert, grieving him in the wilderness!

41 They tested God again and again, provoking the Holy One of Israel.

42 They did not remember his power — the day he delivered them from their adversary,

43 when he set his signs in Egypt and his wonders in the plain of Zoan.

44 He turned their rivers into blood and made their streams undrinkable.

45 He sent swarms of insects to bite them and frogs to destroy them.

46 He gave their crops to caterpillars and what they worked for to locusts.

47 He destroyed their vines with hail and their sycamore trees with frost.

48 He delivered their beasts to hail and their livestock to lightning bolts.

49 He inflicted his burning anger, wrath, indignation, and distress, sending destroying angels among them.

50 He blazed a path for his anger; he did not stop short from killing them, but handed them over to pestilence.

51 He struck every firstborn in Egypt, the first fruits of their manhood in the tents of Ham.

52 Yet he led out his people like sheep, guiding them like a flock in the desert.

53 He led them to safety so they would not fear. As for their enemies, the sea covered them.

54 He brought the people to the border of his holy mountain, which he acquired by his might.

55 He drove out nations before them and allotted their tribal inheritance, settling the tribes of Israel in their tents.

John 9

24 The Jewish leaders summoned the man who had been blind a second time and told him, "Give glory to God! We know that this man is a sinner."

25 But he responded, "I don't know whether he is a sinner or not. The one thing I do know is that I used to be blind and now I can see!"

26 Then they asked him, "What did he do to you? How did he heal your eyes?"

27 He answered them, "I've already told you, but you didn't listen. Why do you want to hear it again? You don't want to become his disciples, too, do you?"

28 At this, they turned on him in fury and said, "You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses!"

29 We know that God has spoken to Moses, but we do not know where this fellow comes from."

30 The man answered them, "This is an amazing thing! You don't know where he comes from, yet he healed my eyes.

31 We know that God doesn't listen to sinners, but he does listen to anyone who worships him and does his will.

32 Ever since creation it has never been heard that anyone healed the eyes of a man who was born blind.

33 If this man were not from God, he couldn't do anything like that."

34 They asked him, "You were born a sinner and you are trying to instruct us?" And they threw him out.

35 Jesus heard that they had thrown him out. So when he found him, he asked him, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?"

36 He answered, "And who is he, sir? Tell me, so that I may believe in him."

37 Jesus told him, "You have seen him. He is the person who is talking with you."

38 He said, "Lord, I do believe," and worshipped him.

39 Then Jesus said, "I have come into this world to judge it, so that those who are blind may see and so that those who see may become blind."

40 Some of the Pharisees who were near him overheard this and asked him, "We aren't blind, too, are we?"

41 Jesus told them, "If you were blind, you would not have any sin. But now that you insist, 'We see,' your sin still exists."

Psalm 78

56 But they tested the Most High God by rebelling against him, and they did not obey his statutes.
57 They fell away and were as disloyal as their ancestors. They became unreliable, like a defective bow;
58 they angered him with their high places and with their carved images they made him jealous.
59 God heard and became furious, and he completely rejected Israel.
60 He abandoned the tent at Shiloh, the tent that he established among mankind.
61 Then he sent his might into captivity and his glory into the control of the adversary.
62 He delivered his people over to the sword and was angry with his possession.
63 The young men were consumed by fire, and the virgins had no marriage celebrations.
64 The priests fell by the sword, yet their widows couldn't weep.
65 The LORD awoke as though from sleep, like a mighty warrior stimulated by wine.
66 He beat back his adversaries, permanently disgracing them.
67 He rejected the clan of Joseph; and the tribe of Ephraim he did not choose.
68 But he chose the tribe of Judah, the mountain of Zion, which he loves.
69 He built his sanctuary, high as the heavens, like the earth that he established forever.
70 Then he chose his servant David, whom he took from the sheepfold.
71 He brought him from birthing sheep to care for Jacob, his people, Israel, his possession.
72 David shepherded them with a devoted heart, and led them with skilful hands.

Psalm 79

1 A Psalm of Asaph.

God, nations have invaded your land to desecrate your holy Temple, to destroy Jerusalem,
2 to give the corpses of your servants as food for the birds of the skies and the flesh of your godly ones to the beasts of the earth;
3 to make their blood flow like water around Jerusalem, with no one being buried.
4 We have become a reproach to our neighbours, a mockery and a derision to those around us.
5 How long, LORD, will you be angry? Forever? Will your jealousy burn like fire?
6 Pour out your wrath upon the nations that do not acknowledge you, and over the kingdoms that do not call on your name.
7 For they consumed Jacob, making his dwelling place desolate.
8 Don't charge us for previous iniquity, but let your compassion come quickly to us, for we have been brought very low.
9 Help us, God, our deliverer, on account of your glorious name, deliver us and forgive our sins on account of your name.
10 Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?" Let vengeance for the blood of your servants be meted out before our eyes and among the nations.
11 Let the cries of the prisoners reach you. With the strength of your power, release those condemned to death.
12 Pay back our neighbours seven times the reproach with which they reproached you, LORD.
13 Then we, your people, the sheep of your pasture, will praise you always, from generation to generation. We will declare your praise.

Psalm 80

1 For the Director of Music:

According to "The Lilies".

A testimony of Asaph. A psalm.

Shepherd of Israel, listen! The one who leads Joseph like a flock, the one enthroned on the cherubim, display your glory.

2 Reveal your power before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh, then come to our rescue.

3 God, restore us, show your favour and deliver us.

4 LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, when will your smouldering anger toward your people's prayers cease?

5 You fed them tears as their food, and caused them to drink a full measure of tears.

6 You have set us at strife against our neighbours and our enemies deride us.

7 God of the Heavenly Armies, restore us and show your favour, so we may be delivered.

8 You uprooted a vine from Egypt, and drove out nations to transplant it.

9 You cleared the ground so that its roots grew and filled the land.

10 Mountains were covered by its shadows, and the mighty cedars by its branches.

11 Its branches spread out to the Mediterranean Sea and its shoots to the Euphrates River.

12 Why did you break down its walls so that those who pass by pluck its fruits?

13 Wild boars of the forest gnaw at it, and creatures of the field feed on it.

14 God of the Heavenly Armies, return! Look down from heaven and see. Show care toward this vine.

15 The root that your right hand planted, the shoot that you tended for yourself, 16 was burned with fire, cut off, and destroyed on account of your rebuke.

17 May you support the man at your right hand; the son of man whom you have raised for yourself.

18 Then we will not turn away from you. Restore us, so we can call upon your name.

19 God of hosts, restore to us the light of your favour. Then we'll be delivered.

Psalm 81

1 For the Director:

On the Gittith.

By Asaph.

Sing joyfully to God, our strength. Raise a shout to the God of Jacob.

2 Sing a song and play the tambourine, the pleasant-sounding lyre along with the harp.

3 Blow the ram's horn when there is a New Moon, when there is a full moon, on our festival day,

4 because it is a statute in Israel, an ordinance by the God of Jacob,

5 a decree that he prescribed for Joseph when he went throughout the land of Egypt, speaking a language I did not recognize.

6 I removed the burden from your shoulder; your hands were freed of the burdensome basket.

7 In a time of need you called out and I delivered you; I answered you from the dark thundercloud; I tested you at the waters of Meribah.

Interlude.

8 Listen, My people and I will warn you. Israel, if only you would obey me!

9 You must neither have a foreign god over you or worship a strange god.

10 I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, open your mouth that I may fill it.

11 Yet my people didn't obey my voice; Israel didn't submit to me.

12 So I allowed them to continue in their stubbornness, living by their own advice.

- 13 If only my people would obey me, if only Israel would walk in my ways!
- 14 Then I would quickly subdue their enemies. I would turn against their foes.
- 15 Those who hate the LORD will cringe before him; their punishment will be permanent.
- 16 But I will feed Israel with the finest wheat, satisfying you with honey from the rock.

John 10

- 1 "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the person who does not enter the sheepfold through the gate, but climbs in by some other way, is a thief and a bandit.
- 2 The one who enters through the gate is the shepherd of the sheep.
- 3 It is to him the gatekeeper opens the gate, and it is his voice the sheep hear. He calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.
- 4 When he has driven out all his own, he goes ahead of them, and the sheep follow him because they recognize his voice.
- 5 They will never follow a stranger, but will run away from him because they do not recognize the voice of strangers."
- 6 Jesus used this illustration with them, but they didn't understand what he was saying to them.
- 7 So again Jesus said, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, I am the gate for the sheep.
- 8 All who came before me are thieves and bandits, but the sheep didn't listen to them.
- 9 I am the gate. If anyone enters through me, he will be saved. He will come in and go out and find pasture.
- 10 The thief comes only to steal, slaughter, and destroy. I have come that they may have life, and have it abundantly.
- 11 "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.
- 12 The hired worker, who is not the shepherd and does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming, deserts the sheep, and runs away. So the wolf snatches them and scatters them,
- 13 because he is a hired worker, and the sheep don't matter to him.
- 14 I am the good shepherd. I know my own and my own know me,
- 15 just as the Father knows me and I know the Father. And I lay down my life for the sheep.
- 16 I have other sheep that don't belong to this fold. I must lead these also, and they will listen to my voice. So there will be one flock and one shepherd.
- 17 This is why the Father loves me, because I lay down my life in order to take it back again.
- 18 No one is taking it from me; I lay it down of my own free will. I have the authority to lay it down, and I have the authority to take it back again. This is what my Father has commanded me."
- 19 Once again there was a division among the Jews because of what Jesus had been saying.
- 20 Many of them were saying, "He has a demon and is insane. Why bother listening to him?"
- 21 Others were saying, "These are not the words of a man who is demon-possessed. A demon cannot open the eyes of the blind, can it?"

Psalm 82

1 A Psalm of Asaph.

God takes his stand in the divine assembly; among the divine beings he renders judgement:

2 "How long will you judge partially by showing favour on the wicked?

Interlude.

3 "Defend the poor and the fatherless. Vindicate the afflicted and the poor.

4 Rescue the poor and the needy, delivering them from the power of the wicked.

5 They neither know nor understand; they walk about in the dark while all the foundations of the earth are shaken.

6 "Indeed I said, 'You are gods, and all of you are sons of the Most High.

7 However, as all human beings do, you will die, and like other rulers, you will fall.'

8 Arise, God, to judge the earth, for all nations belong to you.

Psalm 83

1 A song.

A Psalm of Asaph.

God, do not rest! Don't be silent! Don't stay inactive, God!

2 See! Your enemies rage; those who hate you issue threats.

3 They plot against your people and conspire against your cherished ones.

4 They say, "Let us go and erase them as a nation so the name of Israel will not be remembered anymore."

5 Indeed, they shrewdly planned together, forming an alliance against you —

6 the tents of Edom, the Ishmaelites, Moab, the Hagrites,

7 Gebal, Ammon, Amalek, Philistia, and the inhabitants of Tyre.

8 Even Assyria joined them to strengthen the descendants of Lot.

Interlude.

9 Deal with them as you did to Midian, Sisera, and Jabin at the Kishon Brook.

10 They were destroyed at En-dor and became as dung on the ground.

11 Punish their nobles like Oreb and Zeeb, and all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,

12 who said, "Let us possess the pastures of God."

13 God, set them up like dried thistles, like straw before the wind.

14 Like a fire burning a forest, and a flame setting mountains ablaze.

15 Pursue them with your storm and terrify them with your whirlwind.

16 Fill their faces with shame until they seek your name, God.

17 Let them be humiliated and terrified permanently until they die in shame.

18 Then they will know that you alone — whose name is LORD — are the Most High over all the earth.

Psalm 84

1 To the Director:

On the Gittith.

A Psalm by the descendants of Korah.

How lovely are your dwelling places, LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

2 I desire and long for the Temple courts of the LORD. My heart and body sing for joy to the living God.

3 Even the sparrow found a house for herself and the swallow a nest to lay her young at your altar, LORD of the Heavenly Armies, my king and God.

4 How happy are those who live in your Temple, for they can praise you continuously.

Interlude.

- 5 How happy are those whose strength is in you, whose heart is on your path.
- 6 They will pass through the Baca Valley where he will prepare a spring for them; even the early rain will cover it with blessings.
- 7 They will walk from strength to strength; each will appear before God in Zion.
- 8 LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, hear my prayer! Listen, God of Jacob!

Interlude.

- 9 God, look at our shield, and show favour to your anointed,
- 10 for a day in your Temple courts is better than a thousand elsewhere; I would rather stand at the entrance of God's house than live in the tent of wickedness.
- 11 For the LORD God is a sun and shield; the LORD grants grace and favour; the LORD will not withhold any good thing from those who walk blamelessly.
- 12 LORD of Heavenly Armies, how happy are those who trust in you.

Psalm 85

- 1 To the Director:

A Psalm by the descendants of Korah.

LORD you have favoured your land and restored the fortunes of Jacob.

- 2 You took away the iniquity of your people, forgiving all their sins.

Interlude.

- 3 You withdrew all your wrath and turned away from your burning anger.
- 4 Restore us, God of our salvation, and stop being angry with us.
- 5 Will you be angry with us forever? Will you prolong your anger from generation to generation?
- 6 Will you restore our lives again so that your people may rejoice in you?
- 7 LORD, show your gracious love and deliver us.
- 8 Let me listen to what God, the LORD, says; for the LORD will promise peace to his people, to his holy ones; may they not return to foolishness.
- 9 Surely, he will soon deliver those who fear him, for his glory will live in our land.
- 10 Gracious love and truth meet; righteousness and peace kiss.
- 11 Truth sprouts up from the ground, while righteousness looks down from the sky.
- 12 The LORD will also provide what is good, and our land will yield its produce.
- 13 Righteousness will go before him to prepare a path for his steps.

Psalm 86

- 1 A Davidic prayer.

LORD, listen and answer me, for I am afflicted and needy.

- 2 Protect me, for I am faithful; My God, deliver your servant who trusts in you.
- 3 Have mercy on me Lord, for I call on you all day long.
- 4 Your servant rejoices, because, Lord, I set my hope on you.
- 5 Indeed you, Lord, are kind and forgiving, overflowing with gracious love to everyone who calls on you.
- 6 Hear my prayer, LORD; attend to my prayer of supplication.
- 7 In my troubled times I will call on you, for you will answer me.
- 8 No one can compare with you among the gods, Lord; No one can accomplish your work.
- 9 All the nations that you have established will come and worship you, my Lord. They will honour your name.
- 10 For you are great, and you are doing awesome things; you alone are God.
- 11 Teach me your ways, LORD, that I may walk in your truth; let me wholeheartedly revere your name.
- 12 I will praise you, Lord my God, with my whole being; and I will honour your name continuously.

- 13 For great is your gracious love to me; you've delivered me from the depths of Sheol.
- 14 God, arrogant men rise up against me, while a company of ruthless individuals want to kill me. They do not have regard for you.
- 15 But you, Lord, are a compassionate God, merciful and patient, with unending gracious love and faithfulness.
- 16 Return to me and have mercy on me; clothe your servant with your strength and deliver the son of your maid servant.
- 17 Show me a sign of your goodness, so that those who hate me will see it and be ashamed. For you, LORD, will help and comfort me.

John 10

22 Now Hanukkah was taking place in Jerusalem. It was winter,
23 and Jesus was walking around in the Temple inside the open porch of Solomon.
24 So the Jews surrounded him and quizzed him, "How long are you going to keep us in suspense? If you are the Messiah, tell us so plainly."
25 Jesus answered them, "I have told you, but you do not believe it. The actions that I do in my Father's name testify on my behalf,
26 but you do not believe because you do not belong to my sheep.
27 My sheep hear my voice. I know them, and they follow me.
28 I give them eternal life, they will never be lost, and no one will snatch them out of my hand.
29 What my Father has given me is more important than anything, and no one can snatch it from the Father's hand.
30 I and the Father are one."
31 Again the Jews picked up stones to stone him to death.
32 Jesus replied to them, "I have shown you many good actions from my Father. For which of them are you going to stone me?"
33 The Jews answered him, "We are not going to stone you for a good action, but for blasphemy, because you, a mere man, are making yourself God!"
34 Jesus replied to them, "Is it not written in your Law, 'I said, "You are gods"'?
35 If he called those to whom a message from God came 'gods' (and the Scripture cannot be disregarded),
36 how can you say to the one whom the Father has consecrated and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God'?
37 If I am not doing my Father's actions, do not believe me.
38 But if I am doing them, even though you do not believe me, believe the actions, so that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father."
39 Again they tried to seize him, but he slipped away from them.
40 Then he went away again across the Jordan to the place where John had been baptizing at first, and he remained there.
41 Many people came to him and kept saying, "John never performed a sign, but everything that John said about this man is true!"
42 And many believed in Jesus there.

Psalm 87

1 A psalm by the descendants of Korah. A song.

God's foundation is in the holy mountains.

2 The LORD loves the gates of Zion more than the dwellings of Jacob.

3 Glorious things are spoken about you, city of God.

Interlude.

4 I will mention Rahab and Babylon among those who acknowledge me — including Philistia, Tyre, and Ethiopia — "This one was born there," they say.

5 Indeed, about Zion it will be said: "More than one person was born in it," and "The Most High himself did it."

6 The LORD will record, as he registers the peoples, "This one was born there."

Interlude.

7 Then singers, as they play their instruments, will declare, "All my roots are in you."

Psalm 88

1 A song.

A psalm by the descendants of Korah.

According to Machalath Leannoth.

An instruction by Heman the Ezrahite.

LORD, God of my salvation, by day and by night I cry out before you.

2 Let my prayer come before you; listen to my cry.

3 For my life is filled with troubles as I approach Sheol.

4 I am considered as one of those descending into the Pit, like a mighty man without strength,

5 released to remain with the dead, lying in a grave like a corpse, remembered no longer, and cut off from your power.

6 You have assigned me to the lowest part of the Pit, to the darkest depths.

7 Your anger lies heavily upon me; you pound me with all your waves.

Interlude.

8 You caused my acquaintances to shun me; you make me extremely abhorrent to them.

Restrained, I am unable to go out.

9 My eyes languish on account of my affliction; all day long I call out to you, LORD, I spread out my hands to you.

10 Can you perform wonders for the dead? Can departed spirits stand up to praise you?

Interlude.

11 Can your gracious love be declared in the grave or your faithfulness in Abaddon?

12 Can your awesome deeds be known in darkness or your righteousness in the land of oblivion?

13 As for me, I cry out to you LORD, and in the morning my prayer greets you.

14 Why, LORD, have you rejected me? Why have you hidden your face from me?

15 Since my youth I have been oppressed and in danger of death. I bear your dread and am overwhelmed.

16 Your burning anger overwhelms me; your terrors destroy me.

17 Like waters, they engulf me all day long; they surround me on all sides.

18 You caused my friend and neighbour to shun me; and my acquaintances are confused.

Psalm 89

1 An instruction.

By Ethan, the Ezrahite.

I will sing forever about the gracious love of the LORD; from generation to generation I will declare your faithfulness with my mouth.

2 I will declare that your gracious love was established forever; in the heavens itself, you have established your faithfulness.

3 I have made a covenant with my chosen one; I have made a promise to David, my servant.

4 "I will establish your dynasty forever, and I will lift up one who will build your throne from generation to generation."

Interlude.

5 Even the heavens praise your awesome deeds, LORD, your faithfulness in the assembly of the holy ones.

6 For who in the skies compares to the LORD? Who is like the LORD among the divine beings?

7 God is feared in the council of the holy ones, revered by all those around him.

8 LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, who is as mighty as you, LORD? Your faithfulness surrounds you.

9 You rule over the majestic sea; when its waves surge, you calm them.

10 You crushed the proud one to death; with your powerful arm you scattered your enemies.

11 Heaven and the earth belong to you, the world and everything it contains — you established them.

12 The north and south — you created them; Tabor and Hermon joyously praise your name.

13 Your arm is strong; your hand is mighty; indeed, your right hand is victorious.

14 Righteousness and justice make up the foundation of your throne; gracious love and truth meet before you.

15 How happy are the people who can worship joyfully! LORD, they walk in the light of your presence.

16 In your name they rejoice all day long; they exult in your justice.

17 For you are their strength's grandeur; by your favour you exalted our power.

18 Indeed, our shield belongs to the LORD, and our king to the Holy One of Israel.

19 You spoke to your faithful ones through a vision: "I will set a helper over a warrior. I will raise up a chosen one from the people.

20 I have found my servant David; I have anointed him with my sacred oil, 21 with whom my power will be firmly established; for my arm will strengthen him.

22 No enemy will deceive him; no wicked person will afflict him.

23 I will crush his enemies before him and strike those who hate him.

24 My faithfulness and gracious love will be with him, and in my name his power will be exalted.

25 I will place his hand over the sea, and his right hand over the rivers.

26 He will announce to me 'You are my father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.'

27 "Indeed, I myself made him the first born, the highest of the kings of the earth.

28 I will show my gracious love toward him forever, since my covenant is securely established with him.

29 I will establish his dynasty forever, and his throne as long as heaven endures.

30 "But if his sons abandon my laws and do not follow my ordinances,

31 if they profane my statutes; and do not keep my commands,

32 then I will punish their disobedience with a rod and their iniquity with lashes.

- 33 But I will not cut off my gracious love from him, and I will not stop being faithful.
34 I will not dishonour my covenant, because I will not change what I have spoken.
35 I have sworn by my holiness once for all: I will not lie to David.
36 His dynasty will last forever and his throne will be like the sun before me.
37 It will be established forever like the moon, a faithful witness in the sky.”

Interlude.

John 11

- 1 Now a certain man was ill, Lazarus from Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha.
- 2 Mary was the woman who anointed the Lord with perfume and wiped his feet with her hair. Her brother Lazarus was the one who was ill.
- 3 So the sisters sent word to Jesus, saying, "Lord, the one whom you love is ill."
- 4 But when Jesus heard it, he said, "This illness is not meant to end in death. It is for God's glory, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it."
- 5 Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.
- 6 Yet, when he heard that Lazarus was ill, he stayed where he was for two more days.
- 7 After this he told the disciples, "Let's go back to Judea."
- 8 The disciples told him, "Rabbi, the Jews were just now trying to stone you to death, and you are going back there again?"
- 9 Jesus replied, "There are twelve hours in the day, aren't there? If anyone walks during the day he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world.
- 10 But if anyone walks at night he stumbles, because the light is not in him."
- 11 These were the things he said. Then after this he told them, "Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep, but I am leaving to wake him up."
- 12 So the disciples told him, "Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will get well."
- 13 Jesus, however, had been speaking about his death, but they thought that he was speaking about resting or sleeping.
- 14 Then Jesus told them plainly, "Lazarus has died.
- 15 For your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe. But let's go to him."
- 16 Then Thomas, who was called the Twin, told his fellow disciples, "Let's go, too, so that we may die with him!"
- 17 When Jesus arrived, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb for four days.
- 18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles away,
- 19 and many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary to console them about their brother.
- 20 As soon as Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went and met him, while Mary stayed at home.
- 21 Martha told Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.
- 22 But even now I know that whatever you ask of God, he will give it to you."
- 23 Jesus told her, "Your brother will rise again."
- 24 Martha told him, "I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day."

Psalm 89

38 But you have spurned, rejected, and became angry with your anointed one.
39 You have dishonoured the covenant with your servant; you have defiled his crown on the ground.
40 You have broken through all his walls; you have laid his fortresses in ruin.
41 All who pass by on their way plunder him; he has become a reproach to his neighbours.
42 You have exalted the right hand of his adversaries; you have caused all of his enemies to rejoice.
43 Moreover, you have turned back the edge of his sword and did not support him in battle.
44 You have caused his splendour to cease and cast down his throne to the ground.
45 You have caused the days of his youth to be cut short; you have covered him with shame.

Interlude.

46 How long, LORD, will you hide yourself? Forever? Will your anger continuously burn like fire?
47 Remember how short my lifetime is! How powerless have you created all human beings!
48 What valiant man can live and not see death? Who can deliver himself from the power of Sheol.
49 Where is your gracious love of old, Lord, that in your faithfulness you promised to David?
50 Remember, Lord, the reproach of your servant! I carry inside me all the insults of many people,
51 when your enemies reproached you, LORD, when they reproached the footsteps of your anointed.
52 Blessed is the LORD forever! Amen and amen!

Psalm 90

1 A prayer by Moses, the godly man.

Lord, you've been our refuge from generation to generation.
2 Before the mountains were formed or the earth and the world were brought forth, you are God from eternity to eternity.
3 You return people to dust merely by saying, "Return, you mortals!"
4 One thousand years in your sight are but a single day that passes by, just like a night watch.
5 You will sweep them away while they are asleep — by morning they are like growing grass.
6 In the morning it blossoms and is renewed, but toward evening, it fades and withers.
7 Indeed, we are consumed by your anger and terrified by your wrath.
8 You have set our iniquities before you, what we have concealed in the light of your presence.
9 All our days pass away in your wrath; our years fade away and end like a sigh.
10 We live for 70 years, or 80 years if we're healthy, yet even in the prime years there are troubles and sorrow. They pass by quickly and we fly away.
11 Who can know the intensity of your anger? Because our fear of you matches your wrath,
12 teach us to keep account of our days so we may develop inner wisdom.
13 Please return, LORD! When will it be? Comfort your servants.

14 Satisfy us in the morning with your gracious love so we may sing for joy and rejoice every day.

15 Cause us to rejoice throughout the time when you have afflicted us, the years when we have known trouble.

16 May your awesome deeds be revealed to your servants, as well as your splendour to their children.

17 May your favour be on us, Lord our God; make our endeavours successful; yes, make our endeavours secure!

Psalm 91

1 A Davidic Psalm.

The one who lives in the shelter of the Most High, who rests in the shadow of the Almighty,

2 will say to the LORD, "You are my refuge, my fortress, and my God in whom I trust!"

3 He will surely deliver you from the hunter's snare and from the destructive plague.

4 With his feathers he will cover you, under his wings you will find safety. His truth is your shield and armour.

5 You need not fear terror that stalks in the night, the arrow that flies in the day,

6 plague that strikes in the darkness, or calamity that destroys at noon.

7 If a thousand fall at your side or ten thousand at your right hand, it will not overcome you.

8 Only observe it with your eyes, and you will see how the wicked are paid back.

9 "LORD, you are my refuge!" Because you chose the Most High as your dwelling place,

10 no evil will fall upon you, and no affliction will approach your tent,

11 for he will command his angels to protect you in all your ways.

12 With their hands they will lift you up so you will not trip over a stone.

13 You will stomp on lions and snakes; you will trample young lions and serpents.

14 Because he has focused his love on me, I will deliver him. I will protect him because he knows my name.

15 When he calls out to me, I will answer him. I will be with him in his distress. I will deliver him, and I will honour him.

16 I will satisfy him with long life; I will show him my deliverance.

Psalm 92

1 A Psalm.

A song for the Sabbath Day.

It is good to give thanks to the LORD and to sing praise to your name, Most High;

2 to proclaim your gracious love in the morning and your faithfulness at night,

3 accompanied by a ten-stringed instrument and a lyre, and the contemplative sound of a harp.

4 Because you made me glad with your awesome deeds, LORD, I will sing for joy at the works of your hands.

5 How great are your works, LORD! Your thoughts are unfathomable.

6 A stupid man doesn't know, and a fool can't comprehend this:

7 Though the wicked sprout like grass; and all who practise iniquity flourish, it is they who will be eternally destroyed.

8 But you are exalted forever, LORD.

9 Look at your enemies, LORD! Look at your enemies, for they are destroyed; everyone who practises iniquity will be scattered.

10 You've grown my strength like the horn of a wild ox; I was anointed with fresh oil.

11 My eyes gloated over those who lie in wait for me; when those of evil intent attack me, my ears will hear.

- 12 The righteous will flourish like palm trees; they will grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
- 13 Planted in the LORD's Temple, they will flourish in the courtyard of our God.
- 14 They will still bear fruit even in old age; they will be luxuriant and green.
- 15 They will proclaim: "The LORD is upright; my rock, in whom there is no injustice."

John 11

25 Jesus told her, "I am the resurrection and the life. The person who believes in me, even though he dies, will live.

26 Indeed, everyone who lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe that?"

27 "Yes, Lord," she told him. "I believe that you are the Messiah, the Son of God, the one who was to come into the world."

28 When she had said this, she went away and called her sister Mary and told her privately, "The Teacher is here and is calling for you!"

29 As soon as Mary heard this, she got up quickly and went to him.

30 Now Jesus had not yet arrived at the village but was still at the place where Martha had met him.

31 When the Jews who had been with her, consoling her in the house, saw Mary get up quickly and go out, they followed her, thinking that she had gone to the tomb to cry there.

32 As soon as Mary came to where Jesus was and saw him, she fell down at his feet and told him, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died."

33 When Jesus saw her crying, and the Jews who had come with her crying, he was greatly troubled in spirit and deeply moved.

34 He asked, "Where have you put him?" They told him, "Lord, come and see."

35 Jesus burst into tears.

36 So the Jews said, "See how much he loved him!"

37 But some of them said, "Surely the one who opened the eyes of the blind man could have kept this man from dying, couldn't he?"

38 Groaning deeply again, Jesus came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone was lying in front of it.

39 Jesus said, "Remove the stone." Martha, the dead man's sister, told him, "Lord, there must be a stench by now, because he's been dead for four days."

40 Jesus told her, "I told you that if you believed you would see God's glory, didn't I?"

41 So they removed the stone. Then Jesus looked upward and said, "Father, I thank you for hearing me.

42 I know that you always hear me, but I have said this for the sake of the crowd standing here, so that they may believe that you sent me."

43 After saying this, he shouted with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come out!"

44 The man who had died came out, his hands and feet tied with strips of cloth, and his face wrapped in a handkerchief. Jesus told them, "Untie him, and let him go."

Psalm 93

- 1 The LORD reigns! He is clothed in majesty; the LORD is clothed, and he is girded with strength. Indeed, the world is well established, and cannot be shaken.
- 2 Your throne has been established since time immemorial; you are king from eternity.
- 3 The rivers have flooded, LORD; the rivers have spoken aloud, the rivers have lifted up their crushing waves.
- 4 More than the sound of surging waters — the majestic waves of the sea — the LORD on high is majestic.
- 5 Your decrees are very trustworthy, and holiness always befits your house, LORD.

Psalm 94

- 1 God of vengeance, LORD God of vengeance, display your splendour!
- 2 Stand up, judge of the earth, and repay the proud.
- 3 How long will the wicked, LORD, how long will the wicked continue to triumph?
- 4 When they speak, they spew arrogance. Everyone who practises iniquity brags about it.
- 5 LORD, they have crushed your people, afflicting your heritage.
- 6 The wicked kill widows and foreigners; they murder orphans.
- 7 They say, "The LORD cannot see, and the God of Jacob will not notice."
- 8 Pay attention, you dull ones among the crowds! You fools! Will you ever become wise?
- 9 The one who formed the ear can hear, can he not? The one who made the eyes can see, can he not?
- 10 The one who disciplines nations can rebuke them, can he not? The one who teaches mankind can discern, can he not?
- 11 The LORD knows the thoughts of human beings — that they are futile.
- 12 How blessed is the man whom you instruct, LORD, whom you teach from your Law,
- 13 keeping him calm when times are troubled until a pit has been dug for the wicked.
- 14 For the LORD will not forsake his people; he will not abandon his heritage.
- 15 Righteousness will be restored with justice, and all the pure of heart will follow it.
- 16 Who will rise up for me against the wicked? Who will stand for me against those who practise iniquity?
- 17 If the LORD had not been my helper, I would have quickly become silent.
- 18 When I say that my foot is shaking, your gracious love, LORD, will sustain me.
- 19 When my anxious inner thoughts become overwhelming, your comfort encourages me.
- 20 Will destructive national leaders, who plan wicked things through misuse of the Law, be allied with you?
- 21 They gather together against the righteous, condemning the innocent to death.
- 22 But the LORD is my stronghold, and my God, the rock, is my refuge.
- 23 He will repay them for their sin; he will annihilate them because of their evil. The LORD our God will annihilate them.

Psalm 95

- 1 Come! Let us sing joyfully to the LORD! Let us shout for joy to the rock of our salvation.
- 2 Let us come into his presence with thanksgiving; let us shout with songs of praise to him.
- 3 For the LORD is an awesome God; a great king above all divine beings.
- 4 He holds in his hand the lowest parts of the earth and the mountain peaks belong to him.
- 5 The sea that he made belongs to him, along with the dry land that his hands formed.
- 6 Come! Let us worship and bow down; let us kneel in the presence of the LORD, who made us.

7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture and the flock in his care. If only you would listen to his voice today,
8 do not be stubborn like your ancestors were at Meribah, as on that day at Massah, in the wilderness,
9 where your ancestors tested me. They tested me, even though they had seen my awesome deeds.
10 For forty years I loathed that generation, so I said, "They are a people whose hearts continually err, and they have not understood my ways."
11 So in my anger I declared an oath: "They are not to enter my place of rest."

Psalms 96

1 Sing a new song to the LORD! Sing to the LORD, all the earth!
2 Sing to the LORD! Bless his name! Proclaim his deliverance every day!
3 Declare his glory among the nations and his awesome deeds among all the peoples!
4 For the LORD is great, and greatly to be praised; he is awesome above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the peoples are worthless idols, but the LORD made the heavens.
6 Splendour and majesty are before him; might and beauty are in his sanctuary.
7 Ascribe to the LORD, you families of peoples, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength!
8 Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name, bring an offering and enter his courts!
9 Worship the LORD in holy splendour; tremble before him, all the earth.
10 Declare among the nations, "The LORD reigns!" Indeed, he established the world so that it will not falter. He will judge people fairly.
11 The heavens will be glad and the earth will rejoice; even the sea and everything that fills it will roar.
12 The field and all that is in it will rejoice; then all the trees of the forest will sing for joy
13 in the LORD's presence, because he is coming; indeed, he will come to judge the earth. He will judge the world fairly and its people reliably.

Psalms 97

1 The LORD reigns! Let the earth rejoice! May many islands be glad!
2 Thick clouds are all around him; righteousness and justice are his throne's foundation.
3 Fire goes out from his presence to consume his enemies on every side.
4 His lightning bolts light the world; the earth sees and shakes.
5 Mountains melt like wax in the LORD's presence — In the presence of the LORD of all the earth.
6 The heavens declare his righteousness so that all the nations see his glory.
7 All who serve carved images — and those who praise idols — will be humiliated. Worship him, all you "gods"!
8 Zion hears and rejoices; the towns of Judah rejoice on account of your justice, LORD.
9 For you, LORD, are the Most High above all the earth; you are exalted high above all divine beings.
10 Hate evil, you who love the LORD! He guards the lives of those who love him, delivering them from domination by the wicked.
11 Light shines on the righteous; gladness on the morally upright.
12 Rejoice in the LORD, you righteous ones! Give thanks at the mention of his holiness!

John 11

45 Many of the Jews who had come with Mary and had observed what Jesus did believed in him.

46 Some of them, however, went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done.

47 So the high priests and the Pharisees assembled the Council and said, "What are we going to do? This man is performing many signs.

48 If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him, and the Romans will come and destroy both our Temple and our nation."

49 But one of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, told them, "You don't know anything!

50 You don't realize that it is better for you to have one man die for the people than to have the whole nation destroyed."

51 Now he did not say this on his own initiative. As high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation,

52 and not only for the nation, but that he would also gather into one the children of God who were scattered abroad.

53 So from that day on they resolved to put him to death.

54 As a result, Jesus no longer walked openly among the Jews. Instead, he went from there to a town called Ephraim in the region near the wilderness. There he remained with his disciples.

55 Now the Jewish Passover was approaching, and before the Passover many people from the countryside went up to Jerusalem to purify themselves.

56 They kept looking for Jesus and saying to one another as they stood in the Temple, "What do you think? Surely he won't come to the festival, will he?"

57 Now the high priests and the Pharisees had given orders that whoever knew where he was should tell them so that they could arrest him.

John 12

1 Six days before the Passover, Jesus arrived in Bethany, where Lazarus lived, the man whom Jesus had raised from the dead.

2 There they gave a dinner for him. Martha served, and Lazarus was one of those at the table with him.

3 Mary took a pound of very expensive perfume made of pure nard and anointed Jesus' feet. She wiped his feet with her hair, and the house became filled with the fragrance of the perfume.

4 But Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples, who was going to betray him, asked,

5 "Why wasn't this perfume sold for 300 denarii and the money given to the destitute?"

6 He said this, not because he cared about the destitute, but because he was a thief. He was in charge of the moneybag and would steal what was put into it.

7 Then Jesus said, "Leave her alone so she can observe the day of my burial,

8 because you will always have the destitute with you, but you will not always have me."

Psalm 98

1 A psalm.

Sing to the LORD a new song, for he has done awesome deeds! His right hand and powerful arm have brought him victory.

2 The LORD has made his deliverance known; he has disclosed his justice before the nations.

3 He has remembered his gracious love; his faithfulness toward the house of Israel; all the ends of the earth saw our God's deliverance.

4 Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all the earth! Break forth into joyful songs of praise!

5 Sing praises to the LORD with a lyre — with a lyre and a melodious song!

6 With trumpets and the sound of a ram's horn shout in the presence of the LORD, the king!

7 Let the sea and everything in it shout, along with the world and its inhabitants;

8 let the rivers clap their hands in unison; and let the mountains sing for joy

9 in the LORD's presence, who comes to judge the earth; He'll judge the world righteously; and its people fairly.

Psalm 99

1 The LORD reigns — let people tremble; he is seated above the cherubim — let the earth quake.

2 The LORD is great in Zion and is exalted above all peoples.

3 Let them praise your great and awesome name. He is holy!

4 A mighty king who loves justice, you have established fairness. You have exercised justice and righteousness over Jacob.

5 Exalt the LORD our God; worship and bow down at his footstool; He is holy!

6 Moses and Aaron were among his priests; Samuel also was among those who invoked his name. When they called on the LORD, he answered them.

7 In a pillar of cloud he spoke to them; they obeyed his decrees and the Law that he gave them.

8 LORD our God, you answered them; you were their God who forgave them, but also avenged their evil deeds.

9 Exalt the LORD our God and worship at his holy mountain, for the LORD our God is holy!

Psalm 100

1 A psalm of thanksgiving.

Shout to the LORD all the earth!

2 Serve the LORD with joy. Come before him with a joyful shout!

3 Acknowledge that the LORD is God. He made us and we belong to him; we are his people and the sheep of his pasture.

4 Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise. Thank him and bless his name,

5 for the LORD is good and his gracious love stands forever. His faithfulness remains from generation to generation.

Psalm 101

1 A Davidic Psalm.

I will sing about gracious love and justice; LORD, I will sing praise to you.

2 I will pay attention to living a life of integrity — when will I attain it? I will live with integrity of heart in my house.

3 I will not even think about doing anything lawless; I hate to do evil deeds; I will have none of it.
4 I will not allow anyone with a perverted mind in my presence; I will not be involved with anything evil.
5 I will destroy the one who secretly slanders a friend. I will not allow the proud and haughty to prevail.
6 My eyes are looking at the faithful of the land, so they may live with me; The one who lives a life of integrity will serve me.
7 A deceitful person will not sit in my house; A liar will not remain in my presence.
8 Every morning I will destroy all the wicked of the land, eliminating everyone who practises iniquity from the LORD's city.

Psalms 102

1 A prayer by the afflicted man who is overwhelmed and talks about his troubles with the LORD.

LORD, hear my prayer! May my cry for help come to you.
2 Do not hide your face from me when I am in trouble. Listen to me. When I call to you, hurry to answer me!
3 For my days are vanishing like smoke; my bones are charred as in a fireplace.
4 Withered like grass, my heart is overwhelmed, and I have even forgotten to eat my food.
5 Because of the sound of my sighing, my bones cling to my skin.
6 I resemble a pelican in the wilderness or an owl in a desolate land.
7 I lie awake, yet I am like a bird isolated on a rooftop.
8 My enemies revile me all day long; those who ridicule me use my name to curse.
9 I have eaten ashes as food and mixed my drink with tears
10 because of your indignation and wrath, when you lifted and threw me away.
11 My life is like a declining shadow, and I am withering like a plant.
12 But you, LORD, are enthroned forever; You are remembered throughout all generations.
13 You will arise to extend compassion on Zion, for it is time to show her favour — the appointed time has come.
14 Your servants take pleasure in its stones and delight in its debris.
15 Nations will fear the name of the LORD, and all the kings of the earth, your splendour.
16 When the LORD rebuilds Zion, he will appear in his glory.
17 He will turn to the prayer of the destitute, not despising their prayer.
18 Write this for the next generation, that a people yet to be created will praise the LORD.
19 For when he looked down from his holy heights — the LORD looked over the earth from heaven —
20 to listen to the groans of prisoners, to set free those condemned to death,
21 so they would declare the name of the LORD in Zion and his praise in Jerusalem,
22 when people and kingdoms gather together to serve the LORD.
23 He has weakened my strength along the way. He has cut short my days.
24 I say, "My God, whose years continue through all generations, do not take me in the middle of my life.
25 You established the earth long ago; the heavens are the work of your hands.
26 They will perish, but you will remain; and they all will become worn out, like a garment. You will change them like clothing, and they will pass away.
27 But you remain the same; your years never end.
28 May the descendants of your servants live securely, and may their children be established in your presence."

John 12

9 When the large crowd of Jews realized that he was there, they came not only because of Jesus but also to see Lazarus, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 So the high priests planned to kill Lazarus, too,

11 since he was the reason why so many of the Jews were leaving to believe in Jesus.

12 The next day the large crowd that had come to the festival heard that Jesus was coming into Jerusalem.

13 So they took branches of palm trees and went out to meet him, shouting, "Hosanna! How blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord, the King of Israel!"

14 Then Jesus found a young donkey and sat upon it, as it is written:

15 "Stop being afraid, people of Zion. Look, your king is coming, sitting upon a donkey's colt!"

16 At first his disciples didn't understand these things. However, when Jesus had been glorified, they remembered that these things had been written about him and that people had done these things to him.

17 So the crowd that had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead continued to testify to what they had seen.

18 The crowd was going out to meet Jesus because they had heard that he had performed this sign.

19 Then the Pharisees told one another, "You see, there is nothing you can do. Look, the world has gone after him!"

20 Now some Greeks were among those who had come up to worship at the festival.

21 They went to Philip (who was from Bethsaida in Galilee) and told him, "Sir, we would like to see Jesus."

22 Philip went and told Andrew, and Andrew and Philip went and told Jesus.

23 Jesus told them, "The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified.

24 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone. But if it dies, it produces a lot of grain.

25 The one who loves his life will destroy it, and the one who hates his life in this world will preserve it for eternal life.

26 If anyone serves me, he must follow me. And where I am, there my servant will also be. If anyone serves me, the Father will honour him."

27 "Now my soul is in turmoil, and what should I say — 'Father, save me from this hour'? No! It was for this very reason that I came to this hour.

28 Father, glorify your name." Then a voice came from heaven, "I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again!"

29 The crowd standing there heard this and said that it was thunder. Others were saying, "An angel has spoken to him."

30 Jesus replied, "This voice is for your benefit, not for mine.

31 Now is the time for the judgement of this world to begin. Now will the ruler of this world be thrown out.

32 As for me, if I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw all people to myself."

33 He said this to indicate the kind of death he was about to die.

Psalm 103

1 Davidic.

Bless the LORD, My soul, and all that is within me, bless his holy name.
2 Bless the LORD, My soul, and never forget any of his benefits:
3 He continues to forgive all your sins, he continues to heal all your diseases,
4 he continues to redeem your life from the Pit, and he continually surrounds you with gracious love and compassion.
5 He keeps satisfying you with good things, and he keeps renewing your youth like the eagle's.
6 The LORD continually does what is right, executing justice for all who are being oppressed.
7 He revealed his plans to Moses and his deeds to the people of Israel.
8 The LORD is compassionate and gracious, patient, and abundantly rich in gracious love.
9 He does not chasten continuously or remain distant for all time.
10 He neither deals with us according to our sins, nor repays us equivalent to our iniquity.
11 As high as heaven rises above earth, so his gracious love strengthens those who fear him.
12 As distant as the east is from the west, that is how far he has removed our sins from us.
13 As a father has compassion for his children, so the LORD has compassion for those who fear him.
14 For he knows how we were formed, aware that we were made from dust.
15 A person's life is like grass — it blossoms like wild flowers,
16 but when the wind blows through it, it withers away and no one remembers where it was.
17 Yet the LORD's gracious love remains throughout eternity for those who fear him and his righteous acts extend to their children's children,
18 to those who keep his covenant and to those who remember to observe his precepts.
19 The LORD has established his throne in heaven and his kingdom rules over all.
20 Bless the LORD, you angels who belong to him, you mighty warriors who carry out his commands, who are obedient to the sound of his words.
21 Bless the LORD, all his heavenly armies, his ministers who do his will.
22 Bless the LORD, all his creation, in all the places of his dominion. Bless the LORD, My soul.

Psalm 104

1 Davidic.

Bless the LORD, My soul; LORD, my God, you are very great. You are clothed in splendour and majesty;
2 you are wrapped in light like a garment, stretching out the sky like a curtain.
3 He lays the beams of his roof loft on the water above, making clouds his chariot, walking on the wings of the wind.
4 He makes the winds his messengers, blazing fires his servants.
5 He established the earth on its foundations, so that it never falters.
6 You covered the primeval ocean like a garment; the water stood above the mountains.
7 They flee at your rebuke; they rush away at the sound of your thunders.
8 Mountains rise up and valleys sink to the place you have ordained for them.
9 You have set a boundary they cannot cross; they will never again cover the earth.
10 He causes springs to gush forth into rivers that flow between the mountains.

11 They give water for animals of the field to drink; the wild donkeys quench their thirst.
12 Birds of the sky live beside them and chirp a song among the foliage.
13 He waters the mountains from his heavenly rooms; the earth is satisfied from the fruit of your work.
14 He causes grass to sprout for the cattle and plants for people to cultivate, to produce food from the land,
15 like wine that makes the heart of people happy, oil that makes the face glow, and food that sustains people.
16 The loftiest trees are satisfied, the cedars of Lebanon that he planted, 17 the birds build their nests there, and the heron builds its nest among the evergreen.
18 The high mountains are for wild goats; the cliffs are a refuge for the rock badger.
19 He made the moon to mark time; the sun knows its setting time.
20 You bring darkness and it becomes night; when every beast of the forest prowls.
21 Young lions roar for prey, seeking their food from God.
22 When the sun rises, they gather and lie down in their dens.
23 People go out to their work and labour until evening.
24 How numerous are your works, LORD! You have made them all wisely; the earth is filled with your creations.
25 There is the deep and wide sea, teeming with numberless creatures, living things small and great.
26 There, the ships pass through; Leviathan, which you created, frolics in it.
27 All of them look to you to provide them their food at the proper time.
28 They receive what you give them; when you open your hand, they are filled with good things.
29 When you withdraw your favour, they are disappointed; Take away their breath, and they die and return to dust.
30 When you send your spirit, they are created, and you replenish the surface of the earth.
31 May the glory of the LORD last forever; may the LORD rejoice in his works!
32 He looks at the earth and it shakes; he touches the mountains and they smoke.
33 I will sing to the LORD with my whole being; I will sing to my God continuously!
34 May my thoughts be pleasing to him; indeed, I will rejoice in the LORD!
35 May sinners disappear from the land and the wicked live no longer. Bless the LORD, My soul! Hallelujah!

John 12

34 Then the crowd answered him, "We have learned from the Law that the Messiah remains forever. So how can you say that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?"

35 Jesus replied to the crowd, "The light is among you only for a short time. Walk while you have the light, so that the darkness may not overtake you. The person who walks in the darkness is in the darkness and does not know where he is going.

36 As long as you have the light, believe in the light, so that you may become children of light." After Jesus had said this, he went away and hid from them.

37 Although he had performed numerous signs in their presence, they did not believe in him,

38 so that what the prophet Isaiah spoke might be fulfilled when he said: "Lord, who has believed our message, and to whom has the Lord's power been revealed?"

39 This is why they could not believe: Isaiah also said,

40 "He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, so that they might not perceive with their eyes, and understand with their mind and turn, and I would heal them."

41 Isaiah said this when he saw his glory and spoke about him.

42 Yet many people, even some of the authorities, believed in him, but because of the Pharisees they did not admit it so they would not be thrown out of the synagogue.

43 For they loved the praise of human beings more than the praise of God.

44 Then Jesus said loudly, "The one who believes in me does not believe in me only, but also in the one who sent me.

45 The one who sees me sees the one who sent me.

46 I have come into the world as light, so that everyone who believes in me will not remain in the darkness.

47 If anyone hears my words and does not keep them, I do not condemn him, because I did not come to condemn the world but to save it.

48 The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has something to judge him: The word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day,

49 because I have not spoken on my own authority. Instead, the Father who sent me has himself commanded me what to say and how to speak.

50 And I know that what he commands brings eternal life. What I speak, therefore, I speak just as the Father has told me."

John 13

1 Now before the Passover Festival, Jesus realized that his hour had come to leave this world and return to the Father. Having loved his own who were in the world, he loved them to the end.

2 By supper time, the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot, to betray him.

3 Because Jesus knew that the Father had given everything into his control, that he had come from God, and that he was returning to God,

4 therefore he got up from the table, removed his outer robe, and took a towel and fastened it around his waist.

5 Then he poured some water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to dry them with the towel that was tied around his waist.

Psalm 105

- 1 Give thanks to the LORD, call on his name, and make his deeds known among the people.
- 2 Sing to him! Praise him! Declare all his awesome deeds!
- 3 Exult in his holy name; let all those who seek the LORD rejoice!
- 4 Seek the LORD and his strength; seek his face continuously.
- 5 Remember his awesome deeds that he has done, his wonders and the judgements he declared.
- 6 You descendants of Abraham, his servant, You children of Jacob, his chosen ones.
- 7 He is the LORD our God; his judgements extend to the entire earth.
- 8 He remembers his eternal covenant — every promise he made for a thousand generations,
- 9 like the covenant he made with Abraham, and his promise to Isaac.
- 10 He presented it to Jacob as a decree, to Israel as an everlasting covenant.
- 11 He said: "I will give Canaan to you as the allotted portion that is your inheritance."
- 12 When the Hebrews were few in number — so very few — and were sojourners in it,
- 13 they wandered from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another.
- 14 He did not allow anyone to oppress them, or any kings to reprove them.
- 15 "Don't touch my anointed or hurt my prophets!"
- 16 He declared a famine on the land; destroying the entire food supply.
- 17 He sent a man before them — Joseph, who had been sold as a slave.
- 18 They bound his feet with fetters and placed an iron collar on his neck,
- 19 until the time his prediction came true, as the word of the LORD refined him.
- 20 He sent a king who released him, a ruler of people who set him free.
- 21 He made him the master over his household, the manager of all his possessions —
- 22 to discipline his rulers at will and make his elders wise.
- 23 Then Israel came to Egypt; indeed, Jacob lived in the land of Ham.
- 24 He caused his people to multiply greatly; and be more numerous than their enemies.
- 25 He caused them to hate his people and to deceive his servants.
- 26 He sent his servant Moses, along with Aaron, whom he had chosen.
- 27 They performed his signs among them, his wonders in the land of Ham.
- 28 He sent darkness, and it became dark. Did they not rebel against his words?
- 29 He turned their water into blood, so that the fish died.
- 30 Their land swarmed with frogs even to the chambers of their kings.
- 31 He spoke, and a swarm of insects invaded their land.
- 32 He sent hail instead of rain, and lightning throughout their land.
- 33 It destroyed their vines and their figs, breaking trees throughout their country.
- 34 Then he commanded the locust to come — grasshoppers without number.
- 35 They consumed every green plant in their land, and devoured the fruit of their soil.
- 36 He struck down every firstborn in their land, the first fruits of all their progeny.
- 37 Then he brought Israel out with silver and gold, and no one among his tribes stumbled.
- 38 The Egyptians rejoiced when they left, because fear of Israel descended on them.
- 39 He spread out a cloud for a cover, and fire for light at night.
- 40 Israel asked, and quail came; food from heaven satisfied them.
- 41 He opened a rock, and water gushed out flowing like a river in the desert.
- 42 Indeed, he remembered his sacred promise to his servant Abraham.
- 43 He led his people out with gladness, his chosen ones with shouts of joy.
- 44 He gave to them the land of nations; they inherited the labour of other people
- 45 so they might keep his statutes and observe his laws. Hallelujah!

Psalm 106

- 1 Hallelujah! Give thanks to the LORD, since he is good, for his gracious love exists forever.
- 2 Who can fully describe the mighty acts of the LORD or proclaim all his praises?
- 3 How happy are those who enforce justice, who live righteously all the time.
- 4 Remember me, LORD, when you show favour to your people. Visit us with your deliverance,
- 5 to witness the prosperity of your chosen ones, to rejoice in your nation's joy, to glory in your inheritance.
- 6 We have sinned, along with our ancestors; we have committed iniquity and wickedness.
- 7 In Egypt, our ancestors neither comprehended your awesome deeds nor remembered your abundant gracious love. Instead, they rebelled beside the sea, the Red Sea.
- 8 He delivered for the sake of his name, to make his power known.
- 9 He shouted at the Red Sea and it dried up; and led them through the sea as though through a desert.
- 10 He delivered them from the power of their foe; redeeming them from the power of their enemy.
- 11 The water overwhelmed their enemies, so that not one of them survived.
- 12 Then they believed his word and sang his praise.
- 13 But they quickly forgot his deeds and did not wait for his counsel.
- 14 They were overwhelmed with craving in the wilderness, so God tested them in the wasteland.
- 15 God granted them their request, but sent leanness into their lives.
- 16 They were envious of Moses in the camp, and of Aaron, the holy one of the LORD.
- 17 The earth opened and swallowed Dathan, closing over Abiram's clan.
- 18 Then a fire burned among their company, a flame that set the wicked ablaze.

John 13

6 Then he came to Simon Peter, who asked him, "Lord, are you going to wash my feet?"

7 Jesus answered him, "You do not realize now what I am doing, but later on you will understand."

8 Peter told him, "You must never wash my feet!" Jesus answered him, "Unless I wash you, you cannot be involved with me."

9 Simon Peter told him, "Lord, not just my feet, but my hands and my head as well!"

10 Jesus told him, "Whoever has bathed is entirely clean. He doesn't need to wash himself further, except for his feet. And you men are clean, though not all of you."

11 For he knew who was going to betray him. That's why he said, "Not all of you are clean."

12 When Jesus had washed their feet and put on his outer robe, he sat down again and told them, "Do you realize what I have done to you?"

13 You call me Teacher and Lord, and you are right because that is what I am.

14 So if I, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you must also wash one another's feet.

15 I have set an example for you, so that you may do as I have done to you.

16 Truly, I say to you with certainty, a servant is not greater than his master, and a messenger is not greater than the one who sent him.

17 If you understand these things, how blessed you are if you put them into practice!

18 I'm not talking about all of you. I know the ones I have chosen. But the Scripture must be fulfilled: 'The one who ate bread with me has turned against me.'

19 I'm telling you this now, before it happens, so that when it does happen, you may believe that I AM.

20 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the one who receives whomever I send receives me, and the one who receives me receives the one who sent me."

21 After saying this, Jesus was deeply troubled in spirit and declared solemnly, "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, one of you is going to betray me!"

22 The disciples began looking at one another, completely mystified about whom he was speaking.

23 One of his disciples, the one whom Jesus kept loving, had been sitting very close to him.

24 So Simon Peter motioned to this man to ask Jesus about whom he was speaking.

25 Leaning forward on Jesus' chest, he asked him, "Lord, who is it?"

26 Jesus answered, "He is the one to whom I will give this piece of bread after I have dipped it in the dish." Then he took a piece of bread, dipped it, and gave it to Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot.

27 After he had taken the piece of bread, Satan entered him. Then Jesus told him, "Do quickly what you are going to do!"

28 Now no one at the table knew why Jesus said this to him.

29 Some thought that, since Judas had the moneybag, Jesus was telling him to buy what they needed for the festival or to give something to the destitute.

30 So Judas took the piece of bread, immediately went outside, and it was night.

Psalm 106

19 They fashioned a calf at Horeb and worshipped a carved image.
20 They exchanged their glory with the image of a grass-eating bull.
21 They forgot God their Saviour, who performed great things in Egypt —
22 awesome deeds in the land of Ham, astonishing deeds at the Red Sea.
23 He would have destroyed them but for Moses, his chosen one, who stood in the breach before him to avert his destructive wrath.
24 They rejected the desirable land, and they didn't trust his promise.
25 They murmured in their tents, and didn't listen to the voice of the LORD.
26 So he swore an oath concerning them — that he would cause them to die in the wilderness,
27 to cause their children to perish among the nations and be scattered among many lands.
28 For they adopted the worship of Baal Peor and ate sacrifices offered to the dead.
29 They had provoked anger by their deeds, so that a plague broke out against them.
30 But Phinehas intervened and prayed so that the plague was restrained.
31 And it was credited to him as a righteous act, from generation to generation — to eternity.
32 They provoked wrath at the waters of Meribah, and Moses suffered on account of them.
33 For they rebelled against him, so that he spoke thoughtlessly with his lips.
34 They never destroyed the people, as the LORD had commanded them.
35 Instead, they mingled among the nations and learned their ways.
36 They worshipped their idols, and this became a trap for them.
37 They sacrificed their sons and daughters to demons.
38 They shed innocent blood — the blood of their sons and daughters — whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, thereby polluting the land with blood.
39 Therefore, they became unclean because of what they did; they have acted like whores by their evil deeds.
40 The LORD's anger burned against his people, so that he despised his own inheritance.
41 He turned them over to domination by nations where those who hated them ruled over them.
42 Their enemies oppressed them, so that they were humiliated by their power.
43 He delivered them many times, but they demonstrated rebellion by their evil plans; therefore they sank deep in their sins.
44 Yet when he saw their distress and heard their cries for help, 45 he remembered his covenant with them, and so relented according to the greatness of his gracious love.
46 He caused all their captors to show compassion toward them.
47 Deliver us, LORD our God, gather us from among the nations so we may praise your holy name and rejoice in praising you.
48 Blessed are you, LORD God of Israel, from eternity to eternity; Let all the people say,
"Amen!" Hallelujah!

Psalm 107

1 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good! His gracious love exists forever.
2 Let those who have been redeemed by the LORD declare it — those whom he redeemed from the power of the enemy,
3 those whom he gathered from other lands — from the east, west, north, and south.
4 They wandered in desolate wilderness; they found no road to a city where they could live.

5 Hungry and thirsty, their spirits failed.
6 Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble, and he delivered them from their distress.
7 He led them in a straight way to find a city where they could live.
8 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his gracious love and his awesome deeds for mankind.
9 He has satisfied the one who thirsts, filling the hungry with what is good.
10 Some sat in deepest darkness, shackled with cruel iron,
11 because they had rebelled against the command of God, despising the advice of the Most High.
12 He humbled them through suffering, as they stumbled without a helper.
13 Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble; he delivered them from their distress.
14 And he brought them out from darkness and the shadow of death, shattering their chains.
15 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his gracious love, and for his awesome deeds to mankind.
16 For he shattered bronze gates and cut through iron bars.
17 Because of their rebellious ways, fools suffered for their iniquities.
18 They loathed all food, and even reached the gates of death.
19 Yet when they cried out to the LORD in their trouble, he delivered them from certain destruction.
20 He issued his command and healed them; he delivered them from their destruction.
21 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his gracious love, and for his awesome deeds for mankind.
22 Let them offer sacrifices of thanksgiving and talk about his works with shouts of joy.
23 Those who go down to the sea in ships, who work in the great waters,
24 witnessed the works of the LORD — his awesome deeds in the ocean's depth.
25 He spoke and stirred up a windstorm that made its waves surge.
26 The people ascended skyward and descended to the depths, their courage melting away in their peril.
27 They reeled and staggered like a drunkard, as all their wisdom became useless.
28 Yet when they cried out to the LORD in their trouble, the LORD brought them out of their distress.
29 He calmed the storm and its waves quieted down.
30 So they rejoiced that the waves became quiet, and he led them to their desired haven.
31 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his gracious love and for his awesome deeds on behalf of mankind.
32 Let them exalt him in the assembly of the people and praise him in the counsel of the elders.

John 13

31 After Judas had gone out, Jesus said, "The Son of Man is now glorified, and God has been glorified by him.

32 If God has been glorified by him, God himself also will glorify the Son of Man, and he will do so quickly.

33 Little children, I am with you only a little longer. You will look for me, but what I told the Jews I now tell you, 'Where I am going, you cannot come.'

34 I am giving you a new commandment to love one another. Just as I have loved you, you also should love one another.

35 This is how everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."

36 Simon Peter asked him, "Lord, where are you going?" Jesus answered him, "I am going where you cannot follow me now, though you will follow me later on."

37 "Lord, why can't I follow you now?" Peter asked him. "I would lay down my life for you!"

38 Jesus answered him, "Would you lay down your life for me? Truly, I tell you with certainty, a rooster will not crow until you have denied me three times."

John 14

1 "Do not let your hearts be troubled. Believe in God, believe also in me.

2 There are many rooms in my Father's house. If there were not, would I have told you that I am going away to prepare a place for you?

3 And if I am going away to prepare a place for you, I will come back again and welcome you into my presence, so that you may be where I am.

4 You know where I am going, and you know the way."

5 Thomas asked him, "Lord, we don't know where you are going, so how can we know the way?"

6 Jesus told him, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

7 If you have known me, you will also know my Father. From now on you know him and have seen him."

8 Philip told him, "Lord, show us the Father, and that will satisfy us."

9 "Have I been with you all this time, Philip, and you still do not know me?" Jesus asked him. "The person who has seen me has seen the Father. So how can you say, 'Show us the Father'?

10 You believe, don't you, that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own. It is the Father who dwells in me and who carries out his work.

11 Believe me, I am in the Father and the Father is in me. Otherwise, believe me because of what I've been doing.

Psalm 107

33 He turns rivers into a desert, springs of water into dry ground,
34 and a fruitful land into a salty waste, due to the wickedness of its inhabitants.
35 He turns a desert into a pool of water, dry land into springs of water.
36 There he settled the hungry, where they built a city to live in.
37 They sowed fields and planted vineyards that yielded a productive harvest.
38 Then he blessed them, and they became numerous; he multiplied their cattle.
39 But they became few in number, and humiliated by continued oppression, agony, and sorrow.
40 Having poured contempt on their nobles, causing them to err aimlessly in the way.
41 Yet he lifted the needy from affliction and made them families like a flock.
42 The upright see it and rejoice, but the mouth of an evil person is shut.
43 Let whoever is wise observe these things, that they may comprehend the gracious love of the LORD.

Psalm 108

1 A song.

A Davidic psalm.

My heart is firm, God; I will sing and praise you with my whole being.
2 Awake, harp and lyre! I will wake up at dawn.
3 I will give thanks to you among the peoples, LORD! I will sing praise to you among the nations.
4 For your gracious love extends to the sky, and your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.
5 May you be exalted above the heavens, God, and your glory be over all the earth.
6 In order that those you love may be rescued, deliver with your power and answer me!
7 God had promised in his sanctuary: "I will triumph and divide Shechem, then I will measure the valley of Succoth!
8 Gilead and Manasseh belong to me, while Ephraim is my chief stronghold and Judah is my sceptre.
9 Moab is my washbasin; I will fling my shoe on Edom and shout over Philistia."
10 Who will lead me to the fortified city? Who will lead me as far as Edom?
11 God, you have rejected us, have you not, since you did not march out with our army, God?
12 Give us help against the enemy, because human help is useless.
13 I will find strength in God, for he will trample on our foes.

Psalm 109

1 To the Director.

A Davidic psalm.

God, whom I praise, do not be silent,
2 for the mouths of wicked and deceitful people are opened against me; they speak against me with lying tongues.
3 They surround me with hate-filled words, attacking me for no reason.
4 Instead of receiving my love, they accuse me, though I continue in prayer.
5 They devise evil against me instead of good, and hatred in place of my love.
6 Appoint an evil person over him; may an accuser stand at his right side.
7 When he is judged, may he be found guilty; may his prayer be regarded as sin.
8 May his days be few; may another take over his position.
9 May his children become fatherless, and his wife a widow.

10 May his children roam around begging, seeking food while driven far from their ruined homes.
11 May creditors seize all his possessions, and may foreigners loot the property he has acquired.
12 May no one extend gracious love to him, or show favour to his fatherless children.
13 May his descendants be eliminated, and their memory be erased from the next generation.
14 May his ancestors' guilt be remembered in the LORD's presence, and may his mother's guilt not be erased.
15 May what they have done be continuously in the LORD's presence; and may their memory be excised from the earth.
16 For he didn't think to extend gracious love; he harassed to death the poor, the needy, and the broken hearted.
17 He loved to curse — may his curses return upon him! He took no delight in blessing others — so may blessings be far from him.
18 He wore curses like a garment — may they enter his inner being like water and his bones like oil.
19 May those curses wrap around him like a garment, or like a belt that one always wears.
20 May this be the way the LORD repays my accuser, those who speak evil against me.
21 Now you, LORD my God, defend me for your name's sake; because your gracious love is good, deliver me!
22 Indeed, I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.
23 I am fading away like a shadow late in the day; I am shaken off like a locust.
24 My knees give way from fasting, and my skin is lean, deprived of oil.
25 I have become an object of derision to them — they shake their heads whenever they see me.
26 Help me, LORD my God! Deliver me in accord with your gracious love!
27 Then they will realize that your hand is in this — that you, LORD, have accomplished it.
28 They will curse, but you will bless. When they attack, they will be humiliated, while your servant rejoices.
29 May my accusers be clothed with shame and wrapped in their humiliation as with a robe.
30 I will give many thanks to the LORD with my mouth, praising him publicly, 31 for he stands at the right hand of the needy one, to deliver him from his accusers.

Psalms 110

1 A Davidic psalm.

A declaration from the LORD to my Lord: "Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool."

2 When the LORD extends your mighty sceptre from Zion, rule in the midst of your enemies.

3 Your soldiers are willing volunteers on your day of battle; in majestic holiness, from the womb, from the dawn, the dew of your youth belongs to you.

4 The LORD took an oath and will never recant: "You are a priest forever, after the manner of Melchizedek."

5 The Lord is at your right hand; he will utterly destroy kings in the time of his wrath.

6 He will execute judgement against the nations, filling graves with corpses. He will utterly destroy leaders far and wide.

7 He will drink from a stream on the way, then hold his head high.

John 14

12 "Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, the one who believes in me will also do what I am doing. He will do even greater things than these, because I am going to the Father.

13 I will do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14 If you ask me for anything in my name, I will do it."

15 "If you love me, keep my commandments.

16 I will ask the Father to give you another Helper, to be with you always.

17 He is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor recognizes him. But you recognize him, because he lives with you and will be in you.

18 I am not going to forsake you like orphans. I will come back to you.

19 "In a little while the world will no longer see me, but you will see me. Because I live, you will live also.

20 At that time you will know that I am in my Father, that you are in me, and that I am in you.

21 The person who has my commandments and keeps them is the one who loves me. The one who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I, too, will love him and reveal myself to him."

22 Judas (not Iscariot) asked him, "Lord, how is it that you are going to reveal yourself to us and not to the world?"

23 Jesus answered him, "If anyone loves me, he will keep my word. Then my Father will love him, and we will go to him and make our home within him.

24 The one who does not love me does not keep my words. The words that you're hearing me say are not mine, but come from the Father who sent me.

25 "I have told you this while I am still with you.

26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and remind you of everything that I have told you.

27 I am leaving you at peace. I am giving you my own peace. I am not giving it to you as the world gives. So don't let your hearts be troubled, and don't be afraid.

28 You have heard me tell you, 'I am going away, but I am coming back to you.' If you loved me, you would rejoice that I am going to the Father, because the Father is greater than I am.

29 I have told you this now, before I leave, so that when I do leave, you will believe.

30 I will not talk with you much longer, because the ruler of this world is coming. He has no power over me.

31 But I am doing what the Father has commanded me to let the world know that I love the Father. Get up! Let us leave this place."

Psalm 111

- 1 Hallelujah! I will give thanks to the LORD with all of my heart in the assembled congregation of the upright.
- 2 Great are the acts of the LORD; they are within reach of all who desire them.
- 3 Splendid and glorious are his awesome deeds, and his righteousness endures forever.
- 4 He is remembered for his awesome deeds; the LORD is gracious and compassionate.
- 5 He prepares food for those who fear him; he is ever mindful of his covenant.
- 6 He revealed his mighty deeds to his people by giving them a country of their own.
- 7 Whatever he does is reliable and just, and all his precepts are trustworthy,
- 8 sustained through all eternity, and fashioned in both truth and righteousness.
- 9 He sent deliverance to his people; he ordained his covenant to last forever; his name is holy and awesome.
- 10 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom; sound understanding belongs to those who practise it. Praise of God endures forever.

Psalm 112

- 1 Hallelujah! How happy is the person who fears the LORD, who truly delights in his commandments.
- 2 His descendants will be powerful in the land, a generation of the upright who will be blessed.
- 3 Wealth and riches are in his house, and his righteousness endures forever.
- 4 A light shines in the darkness for the upright, for the one who is gracious, compassionate, and just.
- 5 It is good for the person who lends generously, conducting his affairs with fairness.
- 6 He will never be shaken; the one who is just will always be remembered.
- 7 He need not fear a bad report, for his heart is unshaken, since he trusts in the LORD.
- 8 His heart is steadfast, he will not fear. In the end he will look in triumph over his enemy.
- 9 He gives generously to the poor; his righteousness endures forever; his horn is exalted in honour.
- 10 The wicked person sees this and flies into a rage; his teeth gnash and wear away. The desire of the wicked will amount to nothing.

Psalm 113

- 1 Hallelujah! Give praise, you servants of the LORD. Praise the name of the LORD!
- 2 May the name of the LORD be blessed from now to eternity.
- 3 From rising to setting sun, may the name of the LORD be praised.
- 4 The LORD is exalted high above all the nations; his glory beyond the heavens.
- 5 Who is like the LORD our God, enthroned on high,
- 6 yet stooping low to observe the sky and the earth?
- 7 He lifts the poor person from the dust, raising the needy from the trash pile
- 8 and giving him a seat among nobles — with the nobles of his people.
- 9 He makes the barren woman among her household a happy mother of joyful children. Hallelujah!

Psalm 114

- 1 When Israel came out of Egypt — the household of Jacob from a people of foreign speech —
- 2 Judah became his sanctuary and Israel his place of dominion.
- 3 The sea saw this and fled, the Jordan River ran backwards,
- 4 the mountains skipped like rams, and the hills like lambs.

5 What happened to you, sea, that you fled? Jordan, that you ran backwards?
6 Mountains, that you skipped like rams? and you hills, that you skipped like lambs?
7 Tremble then, earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob,
8 who turned the rock into a pool of water, the flinty rock into flowing springs.

Psalms 115

1 Not to us, LORD, not to us, but to your name be given glory on account of your gracious love and faithfulness.
2 Why should the nations ask "Where now is their God?"
3 when our God is in the heavens and he does whatever he desires?
4 Their idols are silver and gold, crafted by human hands.
5 They have mouths, but cannot speak; they have eyes, but cannot see.
6 They have ears, but cannot hear; they have noses, but cannot smell;
7 They have hands, but cannot touch; feet, but cannot walk; they cannot even groan with their throats.
8 Those who craft them will become like them, as will all those who trust in them.
9 Israel, trust in the LORD! He is their helper and shield.
10 House of Aaron, trust in the LORD! He is their helper and shield.
11 You who fear the LORD, trust in the LORD! He is their helper and shield.
12 The LORD remembers and blesses us. He will indeed bless the house of Israel; he will bless the house of Aaron.
13 He will bless those who fear the LORD, both the important and the insignificant together.
14 May the LORD add to your numbers — to you and to your descendants.
15 May you be blessed by the LORD, who made the heavens and the earth.
16 The highest heavens belong to the LORD, but he gave the earth to human beings.
17 Neither can the dead praise the LORD, nor those who go down into the silence of death.
18 But we will bless the LORD from now to eternity. Hallelujah!

John 15

- 1 "I am the true vine, and my Father is the vintner.
- 2 He cuts off every branch that does not produce fruit in me, and he cuts back every branch that does produce fruit, so that it might produce more fruit.
- 3 You are already clean because of what I've spoken to you.
- 4 "Abide in me, and I will abide in you. Just as the branch cannot produce fruit by itself unless it abides in the vine, neither can you unless you abide in me.
- 5 I am the vine, you are the branches. The one who abides in me while I abide in him produces much fruit, because apart from me you can do nothing.
- 6 Unless a person abides in me, he is thrown away like a pruned branch and dries up. People gather such branches, throw them into a fire, and they are burned up.
- 7 "If you abide in me and my words abide in you, you can ask for anything you want, and you will receive it.
- 8 This is how my Father is glorified, when you produce a lot of fruit and so prove to be my disciples.
- 9 Just as the Father has loved me, so I have loved you. So abide in my love.
- 10 If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love.
- 11 I have told you this so that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be complete.
- 12 "This is my commandment: that you love one another as I have loved you.
- 13 No one shows greater love than when he lays down his life for his friends.
- 14 You are my friends if you do what I command you.
- 15 I do not call you servants anymore, because a servant does not know what his master is doing. But I have called you friends, because I have made known to you everything that I have heard from my Father.
- 16 "You have not chosen me, but I have chosen you. I have appointed you to go and produce fruit that will last, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he will give it to you.
- 17 I am giving you these commandments so that you may love one another."
- 18 "If the world hates you, you should realize that it hated me before you.
- 19 If you belonged to the world, the world would love you as one of its own. But because you do not belong to the world and I have chosen you out of it, the world hates you.
- 20 Remember what I told you: 'A servant is not greater than his master.' If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you. If they kept my word, they will also keep yours.
- 21 They will do all these things to you on account of my name, because they do not know the one who sent me.
- 22 "If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have any sin. But now they have no excuse for their sin.
- 23 The person who hates me also hates my Father.

Psalm 116

- 1 I love the LORD because he has heard my prayer for mercy;
- 2 for he listens to me whenever I call.
- 3 The ropes of death were wound around me and the anguish of Sheol came upon me; I encountered distress and sorrow.
- 4 Then I called on the name of the LORD, "LORD, please deliver me!"
- 5 The LORD is gracious and righteous; our God is compassionate;
- 6 the LORD watches over the innocent; I was brought low, and he delivered me.
- 7 Return to your resting place, My soul, for the LORD treated you generously.
- 8 Indeed, you delivered my soul from death, my eyes from crying, and my feet from stumbling.
- 9 I will walk in the LORD's presence in the lands of the living.
- 10 I will continue to believe, even when I say, "I am greatly afflicted"
- 11 and speak hastily, "All people are liars!"
- 12 What will I return to the LORD for all his benefits to me?
- 13 I will raise my cup of deliverance and invoke the LORD's name.
- 14 I will fulfil my vows to the LORD in the presence of all his people.
- 15 In the sight of the LORD, the death of his faithful ones is valued.
- 16 LORD, I am indeed your servant. I am your servant. I am the son of your handmaid. You have released my bonds.
- 17 I will bring you a thanksgiving offering and call on the name of the LORD!
- 18 I will fulfil my vows to the LORD in the presence of all his people,
- 19 in the courts of the LORD's house, in your midst, Jerusalem. Hallelujah!

Psalm 117

- 1 Praise the LORD, all you nations! Exalt him, all you peoples!
- 2 For great is his gracious love toward us, and the LORD's faithfulness is eternal. Hallelujah!

Psalm 118

- 1 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his gracious love is eternal.
- 2 Let Israel now say, "His gracious love is eternal."
- 3 Let the house of Aaron now say, "His gracious love is eternal."
- 4 Let those who fear the LORD now say, "His gracious love is eternal."
- 5 I called on the LORD in my distress; the LORD answered me openly.
- 6 The LORD is with me. I will not be afraid. What can people do to me?
- 7 With the LORD beside me as my helper, I will triumph over those who hate me.
- 8 It is better to take shelter in the LORD than to trust in people.
- 9 It is better to take shelter in the LORD than to trust in princes.
- 10 All the nations surrounded me; but in the name of the LORD I will defeat them.
- 11 They surrounded me, they are around me; but in the name of the LORD I will defeat them.
- 12 They surrounded me like bees; but they will be extinguished like burning thorns. In the name of the LORD I will defeat them.
- 13 Indeed, you oppressed me so much that I nearly fell, but the LORD helped me.
- 14 The LORD is my strength and protector, for he has become my deliverer.
- 15 There's exultation for deliverance in the tents of the righteous: "The right hand of the LORD is victorious!"
- 16 The right hand of the LORD is exalted! The right hand of the LORD is victorious!"
- 17 I will not die, but I will live to recount the deeds of the LORD.
- 18 The LORD will discipline me severely, but he won't hand me over to die.

19 Open for me the righteous gates so I may enter through them to give thanks to the LORD.
20 This is the LORD's gate — The righteous will enter through it.
21 I will praise you because you have answered me and have become my deliverer.
22 The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone.
23 This is from the LORD — it is awesome in our sight.
24 This is the day that the LORD has made; let's rejoice and be glad in it.
25 Please LORD, deliver us! Please LORD, hurry and bring success now!
26 Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the LORD! Let us bless you from the LORD's house.
27 The LORD is God — he will be our light! Bind the festival sacrifice with ropes to the horn at the altar.
28 You are my God, and I will praise you; my God, and I will exalt you.
29 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good and his gracious love is eternal.

Psalm 119

1 Aleph.

How blessed are those whose life is blameless, who walk in the Law of the LORD!
2 How blessed are those who observe his decrees, who seek him with all of their heart,
3 who practise no evil while they walk in his ways.
4 You have commanded concerning your precepts, that they be guarded with diligence.
5 Oh, that my ways were steadfast, so I may keep your statutes.
6 Then I will not be ashamed, since my eyes will be fixed on all of your commands.
7 I will praise you with an upright heart, as I learn your righteous decrees.
8 I will keep your statutes; do not ever abandon me.

9 Bet.

How can a young man keep his behaviour pure? By guarding it in accordance with your word.
10 I have sought you with all of my heart; do not let me drift away from your commands.
11 I have stored what you have said in my heart, so I won't sin against you.
12 Blessed are you, LORD! Teach me your statutes.
13 I have spoken with my lips about all your decrees that you have announced.
14 I find joy in the path of your decrees, as if I owned all kinds of riches.
15 I will meditate on your precepts, and I will respect your ways.
16 I am delighted with your statutes; I will not forget your word.

John 15

24 If I had not done among them the actions that no one else did, they would not have any sin. But now they have seen and hated both me and my Father.

25 But this happened so that what has been written in their Law might be fulfilled: 'They hated me for no reason.'

26 "When the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of Truth who comes from the Father, he will testify on my behalf.

27 You will testify also, because you have been with me from the beginning.

John 16

1 "I have told you this to keep you from falling away.

2 You will be thrown out of the synagogues. Yes, a time is coming when the one who kills you will think he is serving God.

3 They will do this because they have not known the Father or me.

4 But I have told you this so that when the time comes you will remember that I told you about them. I did not tell you this in the beginning, because I was still with you."

5 "But now I am going to the one who sent me. Yet none of you asks me, 'Where are you going?'

6 But because I have told you this, sorrow has filled your hearts.

7 However, I am telling you the truth. It is for your advantage that I am going away, because if I do not go away the Helper will not come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you.

8 When he comes, he will convict the world of sin, righteousness, and judgement —

9 of sin, because they do not believe in me;

10 of righteousness, because I am going to the Father and you will no longer see me;

11 and of judgement, because the ruler of this world has been judged.

12 "I still have a lot to say to you, but you cannot bear it now.

13 Yet when the Spirit of Truth comes, he will guide you into all truth. He will not speak on his own accord, but will speak whatever he hears and will declare to you the things that are to come.

14 He will glorify me, because he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

15 All that the Father has is mine. That is why I said, 'He will take what is mine and declare it to you.'

17 Gimel.

Deal kindly with your servant so I may live and keep your word.
18 Open my eyes so that I will observe amazing things from your instruction.
19 Since I am a stranger on the earth, do not hide your commands from me.
20 My soul is consumed with longing for your decrees at all times.
21 You rebuke the accursed ones, who wander from your commands.
22 Remove scorn and disrespect from me, for I observe your decrees.
23 Though nobles take their seat and gossip about me, your servant will meditate on your statutes.
24 I take joy in your decrees, for they are my counsellors.

25 Dalet.

My soul clings to the dust; revive me according to your word.
26 I have talked about my ways, and you have answered me; Teach me your statutes.
27 Help me understand how your precepts function, and I will meditate on your wondrous acts.
28 I weep because of sorrow; fortify me according to your word.
29 Remove false paths from me; and graciously give me your instruction.
30 I have chosen the faithful way; I have firmly placed your ordinances before me.
31 I cling to your decrees; LORD, do not put me to shame.
32 I eagerly race along the way of your commands, for you enable me to do so.

33 He.

Teach me, LORD, about the way of your statutes, and I will observe them without fail.
34 Give me understanding and I will observe your instruction. I will keep it with all of my heart.
35 Help me live my life by your commands, because my joy is in them.
36 Turn my heart to your decrees and away from unjust gain.
37 Turn my eyes away from gazing at worthless things, and revive me by your ways.
38 Confirm your promise to your servant, which is for those who fear you.
39 Turn away the shame that I dread, because your ordinances are good.
40 Look, I long for your precepts; revive me through your righteousness.

41 Vav.

May your gracious love come to me, LORD, your salvation, just as you said.
42 Then I can answer the one who insults me, for I place my trust in your word.
43 Never take your truthful words from me, For I wait for your ordinances.
44 Then I will always keep your Law, forever and ever,
45 I will walk in liberty, for I seek your precepts.
46 Then I will speak of your decrees before kings and not be ashamed.
47 I will take delight in your commands, which I love.
48 I will lift up my hands to your commands, which I love, and I will meditate on your statutes.

49 Zayin.

Remember what you said to your servant, by which you caused me to hope.
50 This is what comforts me in my troubles: that what you say revives me.
51 Even though the arrogant utterly deride me, I do not turn away from your instruction.
52 I have remembered your ancient ordinances, LORD, and I take comfort in them.

53 I burn with indignation because of the wicked who forsake your instruction.
54 Your statutes are my songs, no matter where I make my home.
55 In the night I remember your name, LORD, and keep your instruction.
56 I have made it my personal responsibility to keep your precepts.

57 Het.

The LORD is my inheritance; I have given my promise to keep your word.

58 I have sought your favour with all of my heart; be gracious to me according to your promise.

59 I examined my lifestyle and set my feet in the direction of your decrees.

60 I hurried and did not procrastinate to keep your commands.

61 Though the ropes of the wicked have ensnared me, I have not forgotten your instruction.

62 At midnight I will get up to thank you for your righteous ordinances.

63 I am united with all who fear you, and with everyone who keeps your precepts.

64 LORD, the earth overflows with your gracious love! Teach me your statutes.

65 Tet.

LORD, you have dealt well with your servant, according to your word.

66 Teach me both knowledge and appropriate discretion, because I believe in your commands.

67 Before I was humbled, I wandered away, but now I observe your words.

68 LORD, you are good, and do what is good; teach me your statutes.

69 The arrogant have accused me falsely; but I will observe your precepts wholeheartedly.

70 Their minds are clogged as with greasy fat, but I find joy in your instruction.

71 It was for my good that I was humbled; so that I would learn your statutes.

72 Instruction that comes from you is better for me than thousands of gold and silver coins.

73 Yod.

Your hands made and formed me; give me understanding, that I may learn your commands.

74 May those who fear you see me and be glad, for I have hoped in your word.

75 I know, LORD, that your decrees are just, and that you have rightfully humbled me.

76 May your gracious love comfort me in accordance with your promise to your servant.

77 May your mercies come to me that I may live, for your instruction is my delight.

78 May the arrogant become ashamed, because they have subverted me with deceit; as for me, I will meditate on your precepts.

79 May those who fear you turn to me, along with those who know your decrees.

80 May my heart be blameless with respect to your statutes so that I may not become ashamed.

John 16

16 In a little while you will no longer see me, then in a little while you will see me again."

17 At this point, some of his disciples asked each other, "What does he mean by telling us, 'In a little while you will no longer see me, then in a little while you will see me again,' and 'because I am going to the Father'?"

18 They kept saying, "What is this 'in a little while' that he keeps talking about? We don't know what he means."

19 Jesus knew that they wanted to ask him a question, so he asked them, "Are you discussing among yourselves what I meant when I said, 'In a little while you will no longer see me, then in a little while you will see me again'?"

20 Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, you will cry and mourn, but the world will rejoice. You will be deeply distressed, but your pain will turn into joy.

21 When a woman is in labour she has pain, because her time has come. Yet when she has given birth to her child, she doesn't remember the agony anymore because of the joy of having brought a human being into the world.

22 Now you are having pain. But I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy away from you.

23 On that day, you will not ask me for anything. Truly, I tell all of you with certainty, whatever you ask the Father for in my name, he will give it to you.

24 So far you haven't asked for anything in my name. Keep asking and you will receive, so that your joy may be complete."

25 "I have said these things to you in figurative language. The time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figurative language, but will tell you plainly about the Father.

26 At that time, you will make your requests in my name, so that I will have no need to ask the Father on your behalf,

27 because the Father himself loves you, and because you have loved me and believed that I came from God.

28 I left the Father and came into the world. Now I am leaving the world and going back to the Father."

29 Jesus' disciples said, "Well, now you're speaking plainly and not using figurative language.

30 Now we know that you know everything and do not need to have anyone ask you any questions. Because of this, we believe that you have come from God."

31 Jesus answered them, "Do you now believe?

32 Listen, the time is coming, indeed it has already come, when you will be scattered, each of you to his own home, and you will leave me all by myself. Yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me.

33 I have told you this so that through me you may have peace. In the world you will have trouble, but be courageous — I have overcome the world!"

Psalm 119

81 Kaph.

I long for your deliverance; I have looked to your word, placing my hope in it.
82 My eyes grow weary with respect to what you have promised — I keep asking, "When will you comfort me?"
83 Though I have become like a water skin dried by smoke, I have not forgotten your statutes.
84 How many days must your servant endure this? When will you judge those who persecute me?
85 The arrogant have dug pitfalls for me, disobeying your instruction.
86 All of your commands are reliable. I am persecuted without cause — help me!
87 Though the arrogant nearly destroyed me on earth, I did not abandon your precepts.
88 Revive me according to your gracious love; and I will keep the decrees that you have proclaimed.

89 Lamed.

Your word is forever, LORD; it is firmly established in heaven.
90 Your faithfulness continues from generation to generation. You established the earth, and it stands firm.
91 To this day they stand by means of your rulings, for all things serve you.
92 Had your instruction not been my pleasure, I would have died in my affliction.
93 I will never forget your precepts, for you have revived me with them.
94 I am yours, so save me, since I have sought your precepts.
95 The wicked lie in wait to destroy me, while I ponder your decrees.
96 I have observed that all things have their limit, but your commandment is very broad.

97 Mem.

How I love your instruction! Every day it is my meditation.
98 Your commands make me wiser than my adversaries, since they are always with me.
99 I am more insightful than my teachers, because your decrees are my meditations.
100 I have more common sense than the elders, for I observe your precepts.
101 I keep away from every evil choice so that I may keep your word.
102 I do not avoid your judgements, for you pointed them out to me.
103 How pleasing is what you have to say to me — tasting better than honey.
104 I obtain understanding from your precepts; therefore I hate every false way.

105 Nun.

Your word is a lamp for my feet, a light for my pathway.
106 I have given my word and affirmed it, to keep your righteous judgements.
107 I am severely afflicted. Revive me, LORD, according to your word.
108 LORD, please accept my voluntary offerings of praise, and teach me your judgements.
109 Though I constantly take my life in my hands, I do not forget your instruction.
110 Though the wicked lay a trap for me, I haven't wandered away from your precepts.
111 I have inherited your decrees forever, because they are the joy of my heart.
112 As a result, I am determined to carry out your statutes forever.

113 Samek.

I despise the double-minded, but I love your instruction.
114 You are my fortress and shield; I hope in your word.
115 Leave me, you who practise evil, that I may observe the commands of my God.

116 Sustain me, God, as you have promised, and I will live. Do not let me be ashamed of my hope.

117 Support me, that I may be saved, and I will carry out your statutes consistently.

118 You reject all who wander from your statutes, since their deceitfulness is vain.

119 You remove all the wicked of the earth like dross; therefore I love your decrees.

120 My flesh trembles out of fear of you, and I am in awe of your judgements.

121 Ayin.

I have acted with justice and righteousness; do not abandon me to my oppressors.

122 Back up your servant in a positive way; do not let the arrogant oppress me.

123 My eyes fail as I look for your salvation and for your righteous promise.

124 Act toward your servant consistent with your gracious love, and teach me your statutes.

125 Since I am your servant, give me understanding, so I will know your decrees.

126 It is time for the LORD to act, since they have violated your instruction.

127 I truly love your commands more than gold, including fine gold.

128 I truly consider all of your precepts — all of them — to be just, while I despise every false way.

129 Pe.

Your decrees are wonderful — that's why I observe them.

130 The disclosure of your words illuminates, providing understanding to the simple.

131 I open my mouth and pant as I long for your commands.

132 Turn in my direction and show mercy to me, as you have decreed regarding those who love your name.

133 Direct my footsteps by your promise, and do not let any kind of iniquity rule over me.

134 Deliver me from human oppression and I will keep your precepts.

135 Show favour to your servant, and teach me your statutes.

136 My eyes shed rivers of tears, when others do not obey your instruction.

137 Tsadde.

LORD, you are righteous, and your judgements are right.

138 You have ordered your decrees to us rightly, and they are very faithful.

139 My zeal consumes me because my enemies forget your words.

140 Your word is very pure, and your servant loves it.

141 Though I may be small and despised, I do not neglect your precepts.

142 Your righteousness is an eternal righteousness, and your instruction is true.

143 Though trouble and anguish overwhelm me, your commands remain my delight.

144 Your righteous decrees are eternal; give me understanding, and I will live.

John 17

1 After Jesus had said this, he looked up to heaven and said, "Father, the hour has come. Glorify your Son, so that the Son may glorify you.

2 For you have given him authority over all humanity so that he might give eternal life to all those you gave him.

3 And this is eternal life: to know you, the only true God, and the one whom you sent — Jesus the Messiah.

4 I glorified you on earth by completing the task you gave me to do.

5 "So now, Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I had with you before the world existed.

6 I have made your name known to these men whom you gave me from the world. They were yours, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word.

7 Now they realize that everything you gave me comes from you,

8 because the words that you gave me I passed on to them. They have received them and know for sure that I came from you. They have believed that you sent me.

9 "I am asking on their behalf. I am not asking on behalf of the world, but on behalf of those you gave me, because they are yours.

10 All that is mine is yours, and what is yours is mine, and I have been glorified through them.

11 I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, protect them by your name, the name that you gave me, so that they may be one, as we are one.

12 While I was with them, I protected them by the authority that you gave me. I guarded them, and not one of them became lost except the one who was destined for destruction, so that the Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 "And now I am coming to you, and I say these things in the world so that they may have my joy made complete in themselves.

14 I have given them your word, and the world has hated them, because they do not belong to the world, just as I do not belong to the world.

15 I am not asking you to take them out of the world but to protect them from the evil one.

16 They do not belong to the world, just as I do not belong to the world.

17 "Sanctify them by the truth. Your word is truth.

18 Just as you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world.

19 It is for their sakes that I sanctify myself, so that they, too, may be sanctified by the truth.

20 I ask not only on behalf of these men, but also on behalf of those who will believe in me through their message,

21 so that they may all be one. Just as you, Father, are in me and I am in you, may they also be one in us, so that the world may believe that you sent me.

22 "I have given them the glory that you gave me, so that they may be one, just as we are one.

23 I am in them, and you are in me. May they be completely one, so that the world may know that you sent me and that you have loved them as you loved me.

24 Father, I want those you have given me to be with me where I am and to see my glory, which you gave me because you loved me before the creation of the world.

25 "Righteous Father, the world has never known you. Yet I have known you, and these men have known that you sent me.

26 I made your name known to them, and will continue to make it known, so that the love you have for me may be in them and I myself may be in them."

Psalm 119

145 Qoph.

I have cried out with all of my heart. Answer me, LORD! I will observe your statutes.
146 I have called out to you, "Save me, so I may keep your decrees."
147 I get up before dawn and cry for help; I place my hope in your word.
148 I look forward to the night watches, when I may meditate on what you have said.
149 Hear my voice according to your gracious love. LORD, revive me in keeping with your justice.
150 Those who pursue wickedness draw near; they remain far from your instruction.
151 You are near, LORD, and all of your commands are true.
152 I discovered long ago about your decrees that you have confirmed them forever.

153 Resh.

Look on my misery, and rescue me, for I do not ignore your instruction.
154 Defend my case and redeem me; revive me according to your promise.
155 Deliverance remains remote from the wicked, for they do not seek your statutes.
156 Your mercies are magnificent, LORD; revive me according to your judgements.
157 Though my persecutors and adversaries are numerous, I do not turn aside from your decrees.
158 I watch the treacherous, and despise them, because they do not do what you have said.
159 Look how I love your precepts, LORD; revive me according to your gracious love.
160 The sum of your word is truth, and each righteous ordinance of yours is everlasting.

161 Sin/Shin.

Though nobles persecute me for no reason, my heart stands in awe of your words.
162 I find joy at what you have said like one who has discovered a great treasure.
163 I despise and hate falsehood, but I love your instruction.
164 I praise you seven times a day because of your righteous ordinances.
165 Great peace belongs to those who love your instruction, and nothing makes them stumble.
166 I am looking in hope for your deliverance, LORD, as I carry out your commands.
167 My soul treasures your decrees, and I love them deeply.
168 I keep your precepts and your decrees because all of my ways are before you.

169 Tav.

May my cry arise before you, LORD; give me understanding according to your word.
170 Let my request come before you; deliver me, as you have promised.
171 May my lips utter praise, for you teach me your statutes.
172 May my tongue sing about your promise, for all of your commands are right.
173 May your hand stand ready to assist me, for I have chosen your precepts.
174 I am longing for your deliverance, LORD, and your instruction is my joy.
175 Let me live, and I will praise you; let your ordinances help me.
176 I have wandered away like a lost sheep; come find your servant, for I do not forget your commands.

Psalm 120

1 A Song of Ascents.

I cried to the LORD in my distress, and he responded to me.
2 "LORD, deliver me from lips that lie and tongues that deceive."

- 3 What will be given to you, and what will be done to you, you treacherous tongue?
- 4 Like a sharp arrow from a warrior, along with fiery coals from juniper trees!
- 5 How terrible for me, that I am an alien in Meshech, that I reside among the tents of Kedar!
- 6 I have resided too long with those who hate peace.
- 7 I am in favour of peace; but when I speak, they are in favour of war.

Psalms 121

- 1 A Song of Ascents.

I lift up my eyes toward the mountains — from where will my help come?

- 2 My help is from the LORD, maker of heaven and earth.
- 3 He will never let your foot slip, nor will your guardian become drowsy.
- 4 Look! The one who is guarding Israel never sleeps and does not take naps.
- 5 The LORD is your guardian; the LORD is your shade at your right side.
- 6 The sun will not ravage you by day, nor the moon by night.
- 7 The LORD will guard you from all evil, preserving your life.
- 8 The LORD will guard your goings and comings, from this time on and forever.

Psalms 122

- 1 A Davidic Song of Ascents.

I rejoiced when they kept on asking me, "Let us go to the LORD's Temple."

- 2 Our feet are standing inside your gates, Jerusalem.
- 3 Jerusalem stands built up, a city knitted together.
- 4 To it the tribes ascend — the tribes of the LORD — as decreed to Israel, to give thanks to the name of the LORD.
- 5 For thrones are established there for judgement, thrones of the house of David.
- 6 Pray for peace for Jerusalem: "May those who love you be at peace!
- 7 May peace be within your ramparts, and prosperity within your fortresses."
- 8 For the sake of my relatives and friends I will now say, "May there be peace within you."
- 9 For the sake of the Temple of the LORD our God, I will seek your welfare.

Psalms 123

- 1 A Song of Ascents.

To you, who sit enthroned in heaven, I lift up my eyes.

- 2 Consider this: as the eyes of a servant focus on what his master provides, and as the eyes of a female servant focus on what her mistress provides, so our eyes focus on the LORD our God, until he has mercy on us.
- 3 Have mercy on us, LORD, have mercy, for we have had more than enough of contempt.
- 4 Our lives overflow with scorn from those who live at ease, with contempt from those who are proud.

Psalms 124

- 1 A Davidic Song of Ascents.

If the LORD had not been on our side — let Israel now say —

- 2 if the LORD had not been on our side, when men came against us,
- 3 then they would have devoured us alive, when their anger burned against us.
- 4 Then the flood waters would have overwhelmed us, the torrent would have flooded over us;
- 5 the swollen waters would have swept us away.
- 6 Blessed be the LORD, who did not give us as prey to their teeth.

7 We have escaped like a bird from the hunter's trap. The trap has been broken, and we have escaped.

8 Our help is in the name of the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth.

John 18

- 1 After Jesus had said this, he went with his disciples across the Kidron valley to a place where there was a garden, which he and his disciples entered.
- 2 Now Judas, who betrayed him, also knew the place because Jesus often met there with his disciples.
- 3 So Judas took a detachment of soldiers and some officers from the high priests and the Pharisees and went there with lanterns, torches, and weapons.
- 4 Then Jesus, knowing everything that was going to happen, went forward and asked them, "Who are you looking for?"
- 5 They answered him, "Jesus from Nazareth." Jesus told them, "I AM." Judas, the man who betrayed him, was standing with them.
- 6 When Jesus told them, "I AM," they backed away and fell to the ground.
- 7 So he asked them again, "Who are you looking for?" They said, "Jesus from Nazareth."
- 8 Jesus replied, "I told you that I am the one, so if you are looking for me, let these men go."
- 9 This was to fulfil what he had said, "I did not lose a single one of those you gave me."
- 10 Then Simon Peter, who had a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant, cutting off his right ear. The servant's name was Malchus.
- 11 Jesus told Peter, "Put your sword back into its sheath. Shouldn't I drink the cup that the Father has given me?"
- 12 Then the soldiers, along with their commander and the Jewish officers, arrested Jesus and tied him up.
- 13 First they brought him to Annas, because he was the father-in-law of Caiaphas, the high priest that year.
- 14 Caiaphas was the person who had advised the Jews that it was better to have one man die for the people.
- 15 Simon Peter and another disciple were following Jesus. Since the other disciple was known to the high priest, he accompanied Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest.
- 16 Peter, however, stood outside the gate. So this other disciple who was known to the high priest went out and spoke to the gatekeeper and brought Peter inside.
- 17 The young woman at the gate asked Peter, "You aren't one of this man's disciples, too, are you?" "I am not," he replied.
- 18 Meanwhile, the servants and officers were standing around a charcoal fire they had built and were warming themselves because it was cold. Peter was also standing with them, keeping himself warm.
- 19 Then the high priest questioned Jesus about his disciples and about his own teaching.
- 20 Jesus answered him, "I have spoken publicly to the world. I have always taught in the synagogue or in the Temple, where all Jews meet together, and I have said nothing in secret.
- 21 Why do you question me? Question those who heard what I said. These are the people who know what I said."
- 22 When he said this, one of the officers standing nearby slapped Jesus on the face and demanded, "Is that any way to answer the high priest?"
- 23 Jesus answered him, "If I have said anything wrong, tell me what it was. But if I have told the truth, why do you hit me?"
- 24 Then Annas sent him, with his hands tied, to Caiaphas the high priest.

Psalm 125

1 A Song of Ascents.

Those who are trusting in the LORD are like Mount Zion, which cannot be overthrown. They remain forever.

2 Just as mountains encircle Jerusalem, so the LORD encircles his people, from now to eternity.

3 For evil's sceptre will not rest on the land that has been allotted to the righteous, and so the righteous will not direct themselves to do wrong.

4 LORD, do good to those who are good, and to those who are upright in heart.

5 But for those who choose their own devious paths, the LORD will lead them away, along with those who practise evil. Peace be upon Israel.

Psalm 126

1 A Song of Ascents.

When the LORD brought back Zion's exiles, we were like dreamers.

2 Then our mouths were filled with laughter, and our tongues formed joyful shouts. Then it was said among the nations, "The LORD has done great things for them."

3 The great things that the LORD has done for us gladden us.

4 Restore our exiles, LORD, like the streams of the Negev.

5 Those who weep while they plant will sing for joy while they harvest.

6 The one who goes out weeping, carrying a bag of seeds, will surely return with a joyful song, bearing sheaves from his harvest.

Psalm 127

1 A Solomonic Song of Ascents.

Unless the LORD builds the house, its builders labour uselessly. Unless the LORD guards the city, its security forces keep watch uselessly.

2 It is useless to get up early and to stay up late, eating the food of exhausting labour — truly he gives sleep to those he loves.

3 Children are a gift from the LORD; a productive womb, the LORD's reward.

4 As arrows in the hand of a warrior, so also are children born during one's youth.

5 How blessed is the man whose quiver is full of them! He will not be ashamed as they confront their enemies at the city gate.

Psalm 128

1 A Song of Ascents.

How blessed are all who fear the LORD as they follow in his ways.

2 You will eat from the work of your hands; you will be happy, and it will go well for you.

3 Your wife will be like a fruitful vine within your house; your children like olive shoots surrounding your table.

4 See how the man will be blessed who fears the LORD.

5 May the LORD bless you from Zion, and may you observe the prosperity of Jerusalem every day that you live!

6 And may you see your children's children! Peace be on Israel!

Psalm 129

1 A Song of Ascents.

"Since my youth they have often persecuted me," let Israel repeat it,

2 "Since my youth they have often persecuted me, yet they haven't defeated me.

3 Wicked people ploughed over my back, creating long-lasting wounds."
4 The LORD is righteous — he has cut me free from the cords of the wicked.
5 Let all who hate Zion be turned away and be ashamed.
6 May they become like a tuft of grass on a roof top, that withers before it takes root —
7 not enough to fill one's hand or to bundle in one's arms.
8 And may those who pass by never tell them, "May the LORD's blessing be upon you. We bless you in the name of the LORD."

Psalm 130

1 A Song of Ascents.

I cry to you from the depths, LORD,
2 Lord, listen to my voice; let your ears pay attention to what I ask of you!
3 LORD, if you were to record iniquities, Lord, who could remain standing?
4 But with you there is forgiveness, so that you may be feared.
5 I wait for the LORD; my soul waits, and I will hope in his word.
6 My soul looks to the Lord more than watchmen look for the morning — more, indeed, than watchmen for the morning.
7 Israel, hope in the LORD! For with the LORD there is gracious love, along with abundant redemption.
8 And he will redeem Israel from all its sins.

Psalm 131

1 A Davidic Song of Ascents.

LORD, my heart is not arrogant, nor do I look haughty. I do not aspire to great things, nor concern myself with things beyond my ability.
2 Instead, I have composed and quieted myself like a weaned child with its mother; I am like a weaned child.
3 Place your hope in the LORD, Israel, both now and forever.

Psalm 132

1 A Song of Ascents.

LORD, remember in David's favour all of his troubles;
2 how he swore an oath to the LORD, vowing to the Mighty One of Jacob,
3 "I will not enter my house, or lie down on my bed,
4 or let myself go to sleep or even take a nap,
5 until I locate a place for the LORD, a dwelling place for the Mighty One of Jacob."
6 We heard about it in Ephrata; we found it in the fields of Jaar.
7 Let's go to his dwelling place and worship at his footstool.
8 Arise, LORD, and go to your resting place, you and the ark of your strength.
9 May your priests be clothed with righteousness and may your godly ones shout for joy.
10 For the sake of your servant David, don't turn away the face of your anointed one.
11 The LORD made an oath to David from which he will not retreat: "One of your sons I will set in place on your throne.
12 If your sons keep my covenant and my statutes that I will teach them, then their sons will also sit on your throne forever."
13 For the LORD has chosen Zion, desiring it as his dwelling place.
14 "This is my resting place forever. Here I will live, because I desire to do so.
15 I will bless its provisions abundantly; I will satiate its poor with food.
16 I will clothe its priests with salvation and its godly ones will shout for joy.
17 There I will create a power base for David — I have prepared a lamp for my anointed one.
18 I will clothe his enemies with disgrace, but on him his crown will shine."

Psalm 133

1 A Davidic Song of Ascents.

Look how good and how pleasant it is when brothers live together in unity!

2 It is like precious oil on the head, descending to the beard — even to Aaron's beard — and flowing down to the edge of his robes.

3 It is like the dew of Hermon falling on Zion's mountains. For there the LORD commanded his blessing — life everlasting.

Psalm 134

1 A Song of Ascents.

Now bless the LORD, all you servants of the LORD who serve nightly in the LORD's Temple.

2 Lift up your hands to the Holy Place and bless the LORD.

3 May the LORD who fashions heaven and earth bless you from Zion.

John 18

25 Meanwhile, Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. Some people asked him, "You aren't one of his disciples, too, are you?" He denied it by saying, "I am not!"

26 Then one of the high priest's servants, a relative of the man whose ear Peter had cut off, said, "I saw you in the garden with Jesus, didn't I?"

27 Peter again denied it, and immediately a rooster crowed.

28 Then Jesus was led from Caiaphas to the governor's headquarters early in the morning. The Jews did not go into the headquarters, to avoid becoming unclean and unable to eat the Passover meal.

29 So Pilate came out to them and asked, "What accusation are you bringing against this man?"

30 They answered him, "If he weren't a criminal, we wouldn't have handed him over to you."

31 Pilate told them, "You take him and try him according to your Law." The Jews told him, "It is not legal for us to put anyone to death."

32 This was to fulfil what Jesus had said when he indicated the kind of death he was to die.

33 So Pilate went back into the governor's headquarters, summoned Jesus, and asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?"

34 Jesus replied, "Are you asking this on your own initiative, or did others tell you about me?"

35 Pilate replied, "I am not a Jew, am I? It is your own nation and high priests who have handed you over to me. What have you done?"

36 Jesus answered, "My kingdom does not belong to this world. If my kingdom belonged to this world, my servants would fight to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But for now my kingdom is not from here."

37 Pilate asked him, "So you are a king?" Jesus answered, "You say that I am a king. I was born for this, and I came into the world for this: to testify to the truth. Everyone who is committed to the truth listens to my voice."

38 Pilate asked him, "What is 'truth'?" After he said this, he went out to the Jews again and told them, "I find no basis for a charge against him."

39 But you have a custom that I release one person for you at Passover. Do you want me to release for you the king of the Jews?"

40 At this, they shouted out again, "Not this fellow, but Barabbas!" Now Barabbas was a revolutionary.

John 19

1 Then Pilate had Jesus taken away and whipped.

2 The soldiers twisted some thorns into a victor's crown, put it on his head, and threw a purple robe on him.

3 They kept coming up to him and saying, "Long live the king of the Jews!" Then they began to slap him on the face.

4 Pilate went outside again and told the Jews, "Look, I am bringing him out to you to let you know that I find no basis for a charge against him."

5 Then Jesus came outside, wearing the victor's crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate told them, "Here is the man!"

6 When the high priests and the officials saw him, they shouted, "Crucify him! Crucify him!" Pilate told them, "You take him and crucify him. I find no basis for a charge against him."

7 The Jews answered Pilate, "We have a law, and according to that Law he must die because he made himself out to be the Son of God."

Psalm 135

1 Hallelujah! Praise the name of the LORD! Give praise, you servants of the LORD,
2 you who are standing in the LORD's Temple, in the courtyards of the house of our God.
3 Praise the LORD, because the LORD is good; Sing to his name, for he is gracious.
4 It is Jacob whom the LORD chose for himself — Israel as his personal possession —
5 Indeed, I know that the LORD is great, and that our Lord surpasses all gods.
6 The LORD does whatever pleases him in heaven and on earth, in the seas and all its deep regions.
7 He makes the clouds rise from the ends of the earth; fashioning lightning for the rain, bringing the wind from his storehouses.
8 It was the LORD who struck down the firstborn of Egypt, including both men and animals.
9 He sent signs and wonders among you, Egypt, before Pharaoh and all his servants.
10 He struck down many nations, killing many kings —
11 Sihon, king of the Amorites, Og, king of Bashan, and every kingdom of Canaan —
12 and he gave their land as an inheritance, an inheritance to his people Israel.
13 Your name, LORD, exists forever, and your reputation, LORD, throughout the ages.
14 For the LORD will vindicate his people, and he will show compassion on his servants.
15 The idols of the nations are silver and gold, worked by the hands of human beings.
16 Mouths are attributed to them, but they cannot speak; sight is attributed to them, but they cannot see;
17 ears are attributed to them, but they do not hear, and there is no breath in their mouths.
18 Those who craft them — and all who trust in them — will become like them.
19 House of Israel, bless the LORD! House of Aaron, bless the LORD!
20 House of Levi, bless the LORD! You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!
21 Blessed be the LORD from Zion, he who lives in Jerusalem. Hallelujah!

Psalm 136

1 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his gracious love is everlasting.
2 Give thanks to the God of gods, for his gracious love is everlasting.
3 Give thanks to the Lord of lords, for his gracious love is everlasting —
4 To the one who alone does great and wondrous things, for his gracious love is everlasting —
5 to the one who by wisdom made the heavens, for his gracious love is everlasting —
6 to the one who spread out the earth over the waters, for his gracious love is everlasting —
7 to the one who made the great lights, for his gracious love is everlasting —
8 the sun to illumine the day, for his gracious love is everlasting —
9 and the moon and stars to illumine the night, for his gracious love is everlasting —
10 to the one who struck the firstborn of Egypt, for his gracious love is everlasting —
11 and brought Israel out from among them, for his gracious love is everlasting —
12 with a strong hand and an active arm, for his gracious love is everlasting.
13 To the one who split the Red Sea in two for his gracious love is everlasting —
14 and made Israel pass through the middle of it, for his gracious love is everlasting —
15 and cast Pharaoh and his armies into the Red Sea, for his gracious love is everlasting.
16 To the one who led his people into the wilderness, for his gracious love is everlasting —
17 to the one who struck down great kings, for his gracious love is everlasting —
18 and killed famous kings, for his gracious love is everlasting —
19 including Sihon king of the Amorites, for his gracious love is everlasting —
20 and Og king of Bashan, for his gracious love is everlasting —

21 and gave their land as an inheritance, for his gracious love is everlasting —
22 to Israel his servant as a possession, for his gracious love is everlasting —
23 He it is who remembered us in our lowly circumstances, for his gracious love is everlasting —
24 and rescued us from our enemies, for his gracious love is everlasting.
25 He gives food to all creatures, for his gracious love is everlasting.
26 Give thanks to the God of Heaven, for his gracious love is everlasting.

Psalm 137

1 There we sat down and cried — by the rivers of Babylon — as we remembered Zion.
2 On the willows there we hung our harps,
3 for it was there that our captors asked us for songs and our torturers demanded joy from us, "Sing us one of the songs about Zion!"
4 How are we to sing the song of the LORD on foreign soil?
5 If I forget you, Jerusalem, may my right hand cease to function.
6 May my tongue stick to the roof of my mouth if I don't remember you, if I don't consider Jerusalem to be more important than my highest joy.
7 Remember the day of Jerusalem's fall, LORD, because of the Edomites, who kept saying, "Tear it down! Tear it right down to its foundations!"
8 Daughter of Babylon! You devastator! How blessed will be the one who pays you back for what you have done to us.
9 How blessed will be the one who seizes your young children and pulverizes them against the cliff!

Psalm 138

1 LORD, I thank you with all of my heart; because you heard the words that I spoke, I will sing your praise before the heavenly beings.
2 I will bow down in worship toward your holy Temple and give thanks to your name for your gracious love and truth, for you have done great things to carry out your word consistent with your name.
3 When I called out, you answered me; you strengthened me.
4 LORD, all the kings of the earth will give you thanks, for they have heard what you have spoken.
5 They will sing about the ways of the LORD, for great is the glory of the LORD!
6 Though the LORD is highly exalted, yet he pays attention to those who are lowly regarded, but he is aware of the arrogant from afar.
7 Though I walk straight into trouble, you preserve my life, stretching out your hand to fight the vehemence of my enemies, and your right hand delivers me.
8 The LORD will complete what his purpose is for me. LORD, your gracious love is eternal; do not abandon your personal work in me.

John 19

8 When Pilate heard this, he became even more afraid.

9 Returning to his headquarters, he asked Jesus, "Where are you from?" But Jesus did not answer him.

10 So Pilate asked him, "Aren't you going to speak to me? You realize, don't you, that I have the authority to release you and the authority to crucify you?"

11 Jesus answered him, "You have no authority over me at all, except what was given to you from above. That's why the one who handed me over to you is guilty of a greater sin."

12 From then on, Pilate tried to release him, but the Jews kept shouting, "If you release this fellow, you're not a friend of Caesar! Anyone who claims to be a king is defying Caesar!"

13 When Pilate heard these words, he brought Jesus outside and sat down on the judgement seat in a place called The Pavement, which in Hebrew is called Gabbatha.

14 Now it was the Preparation Day for the Passover, about noon. He told the Jews, "Here is your king!"

15 Then they shouted, "Take him away! Take him away! Crucify him!" Pilate asked them, "Should I crucify your king?" The high priests responded, "We have no king but Caesar!"

16 Then Pilate handed him over to be crucified, and they took Jesus away.

17 Carrying the cross all by himself, he went out to what is called The Place of a Skull, which in Hebrew is called Golgotha.

18 There they crucified him, along with two others, one on each side of him with Jesus in the middle.

19 Pilate wrote an inscription and put it on the cross. It read, "Jesus from Nazareth, the King of the Jews."

20 Many Jews read this inscription, because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city. It was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek.

21 Then the Jewish high priests told Pilate, "Don't write, 'The King of the Jews,' but that this fellow said, 'I am the King of the Jews.'"

22 Pilate replied, "What I have written I have written."

23 When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they took his clothes and divided them into four parts, one for each soldier, and took his cloak as well. The cloak was seamless, woven in one piece from the top down.

24 So they told each other, "Let's not tear it. Instead, let's throw dice to see who gets it." This was to fulfil the Scripture that says, "They divided my clothes among themselves, and for my clothing they threw dice." So that is what the soldiers did.

25 Meanwhile, standing near Jesus' cross were his mother, his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple whom he kept loving standing there, he told his mother, "Dear lady, here is your son."

27 Then he told the disciple, "Here is your mother." And from that hour the disciple took her into his own home.

28 After this, when Jesus realized that everything was now completed, he said (in order to fulfil the Scripture), "I'm thirsty."

29 A jar of sour wine was standing there, so they put a sponge full of the wine on a branch of hyssop and held it to his mouth.

30 After Jesus had taken the wine, he said, "It is finished." Then he bowed his head and released his spirit.

Psalm 139

1 To the Music Director:
A Davidic Song.

LORD, you have examined me; you have known me.
2 You know when I rest and when I am active. You understand what I am thinking when I am distant from you.
3 You scrutinize my life and my rest; you are familiar with all of my ways.
4 Even before I have formed a word with my tongue, you, LORD, know it completely!
5 You encircle me from back to front, placing your hand upon me.
6 Knowledge like this is too amazing for me. It is beyond my reach, and I cannot fathom it.
7 Where can I flee from your spirit? Or where will I run from your presence?
8 If I rise to heaven, there you are! If I lie down with the dead, there you are!
9 If I take wings with the dawn and settle down on the western horizon
10 your hand will guide me there, too, while your right hand keeps a firm grip on me.
11 If I say, "Darkness will surely conceal me, and the light around me will become night," 12 even darkness isn't dark to you, darkness and light are the same to you.
13 It was you who formed my internal organs, fashioning me within my mother's womb.
14 I praise you, because you are fearful and wondrous! Your work is wonderful, and I am fully aware of it.
15 My frame was not hidden from you while I was being crafted in a hidden place, knit together in the depths of the earth.
16 Your eyes looked upon my embryo, and everything was recorded in your book. The days scheduled for my formation were inscribed, even though not one of them had come yet.
17 How deep are your thoughts, God! How great is their number!
18 Were I to count them, they would number more than the sand. When I awake, I will be with you.
19 God, if only you would execute the wicked, so that the men guilty of bloodshed would get away from me,
20 who speak against you with evil motives, your enemies who are acting in vain.
21 I hate those who hate you, LORD, do I not? I loathe those who rebel against you, do I not?
22 With consummate hatred I hate them; I consider them my enemies.
23 Examine me, God, and know my mind, test me, and know my thoughts.
24 See if there is any offensive tendency in me, and lead me in the eternal way.

Psalm 140

1 To the Music Director:
A Davidic Song.

Deliver me, LORD, from evil people, preserve me from violent men,
2 who craft evil plans in their minds, inciting wars every day.
3 They sharpen their tongues like a serpent; the venom of vipers is on their lips.
Interlude.
4 Protect me, LORD, from the control of evil people, from violent men who have planned to trip me.
5 The arrogant have laid a trap for me; they have spread a net with ropes, lining it with snares along the way.

Interlude.

6 So I say to the LORD, "You are my God; listen to my voice as I plead for mercy, LORD.
7 LORD, my Lord, my strong deliverer, you have protected my head in the time of battle.
8 Never grant, LORD, the desires of the wicked; never condone their plans so they cannot exalt themselves.

Interlude.

9 May those who surround me discover that the trouble they talk about falls on their own head!
10 May burning coals fall on them; may they be cast into fire, and into miry pits, never to rise again.
11 Let not the slanderer become established in the land. May evil quickly hunt down the violent man.
12 I know that the LORD will act on behalf of the tormented, providing justice for the needy.
13 Surely the righteous will give thanks to your name, while the upright live in your presence.

Psalm 141

1 A Davidic Song.

LORD, I call to you, be quick to listen to me when I cry out!
2 Let my prayer be like incense offered before you, and my uplifted hands like the evening sacrifice.
3 LORD, set a guard over my mouth; keep watch over the door to my lips.
4 Don't let my heart turn toward evil or involve itself in wicked activities with men who practise iniquity. Let me not feast on their delicacies.
5 Let one who is righteous strike me in gracious love and let him rebuke me; it is oil for my head, do not let my head refuse it. My prayers continually will be against their wicked activities.
6 When their judges are thrown off the cliff, the people will hear my words, for they are appropriate.
7 Just as one ploughs and breaks up the earth, our bones are scattered near the entrance to the place of the dead.
8 Nevertheless, my eyes are on you, Lord GOD, as I seek protection in you. Don't leave me defenceless!
9 Protect me from the trap laid for me and from the snares of those who practise evil.
10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, while I come through.

Psalm 142

1 A Davidic Song, when he was in the cave.

A prayer.

My voice cries out to the LORD; my voice pleads for mercy to the LORD.
2 I pour out my complaint to him, telling him all of my troubles.
3 Though my spirit grows faint within me, you are aware of my path. Wherever I go, they have hidden a trap for me.
4 I look to my right and observe — no one is concerned about me. There is nowhere I can go for refuge, and no one cares for me.
5 So I cry to you, Lord, declaring, "You are my refuge, my only possession while I am on this earth."
6 Pay attention to my cry, for I have been brought very low. Deliver me from my tormentors, for they are far too strong for me.
7 Break me out of this prison, so I can give thanks to your name. The righteous will surround me, for you will deal generously with me.

Psalm 143

1 A Davidic Song.

LORD, hear my prayer; pay attention to my request, because you are faithful; answer me in your righteousness.

2 Do not enter into judgement with your servant, for no living person is righteous in your sight.

3 For those who oppose me are pursuing my life, crushing me to the ground, making me sit in darkness like those who died long ago.

4 As a result, my spirit is desolate within me, and my mind within me is appalled.

5 I remember the former times, meditating on everything you have done. I think about the work of your hands.

6 I stretch out my hands toward you, longing for you like a parched land.

Interlude.

7 Answer me quickly, LORD; my spirit is failing. Do not hide your face from me; otherwise, I will become like those who descend to the Pit,

8 In the morning let me hear of your gracious love, for in you I trust. Cause me to know the way I should take, because I have set my hope on you.

9 Deliver me from my enemies, LORD. I have taken refuge in you.

10 Teach me to do your will, for you are my God. Let your good Spirit lead me on level ground.

11 For the sake of your name, LORD, preserve my life. Because you are righteous, bring me out of trouble.

12 Because of your gracious love, you will cut off my enemies. You will destroy all who oppose me, for I am your servant.

John 19

31 Since it was the Preparation Day, the Jews did not want to leave the bodies on the crosses during the Sabbath, because that was a particularly important Sabbath. So they asked Pilate to have the men's legs broken and the bodies removed.

32 So the soldiers went and broke the legs of the first man and then of the other man who had been crucified with him.

33 But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs.

34 Instead, one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and blood and water immediately came out.

35 The one who saw this has testified, and his testimony is true. He knows he is telling the truth so that you, too, may believe,

36 because these things happened so that the Scripture might be fulfilled: "None of his bones will be broken."

37 In addition, another passage of Scripture says, "They will look on the one whom they pierced."

38 Later on, Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus (though a secret one because he was afraid of the Jews), asked Pilate to let him remove the body of Jesus. Pilate gave him permission, and he came and removed his body.

39 Nicodemus, the man who had first come to Jesus at night, also arrived, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes weighing about a hundred pounds.

40 They took the body of Jesus and wrapped it in linen cloths along with spices, according to the burial custom of the Jews.

41 A garden was located in the place where he was crucified, and in that garden was a new tomb in which no one had yet been placed.

42 Because it was the Jewish Preparation Day, and because the tomb was nearby, they put Jesus there.

John 20

1 On the first day of the week, early in the morning and while it was still dark, Mary Magdalene went to the tomb and noticed that the stone had been removed from the tomb.

2 So she ran off and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, whom Jesus kept loving. She told them, "They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we don't know where they have put him!"

3 So Peter and the other disciple took off for the tomb.

4 The two of them were running together, but the other disciple ran faster than Peter and came to the tomb first.

5 Bending over to look inside, he noticed the linen cloths lying there but didn't go in.

6 At this point Simon Peter arrived, following him, and went straight into the tomb. He observed that the linen cloths were lying there,

7 and that the handkerchief that had been on Jesus' head was not lying with the linen cloths but was rolled up in a separate place.

8 Then the other disciple, who arrived at the tomb first, went inside, looked, and believed.

9 For they did not yet understand the Scripture that said that Jesus had to rise from the dead.

10 So the disciples went back to their homes.

Psalm 144

1 Davidic.

Blessed be the LORD, my rock, who trains my hands for battle and my fingers for warfare,

2 he is my gracious love and my fortress, my strong tower and my deliverer, my shield and the one in whom I find refuge, who subdues peoples under me.

3 LORD, what are human beings, that you should care about them, or mortal man, that you should think about him?

4 The human person is a mere empty breath; his days are like a fading shadow.

5 Bow your heavens, LORD, and descend; touch the mountains, and they will smoulder.

6 Send forth lightning and scatter the enemy, shoot your arrows and confuse them.

7 Reach down your hand from your high place; rescue me and deliver me from mighty waters, from the control of foreigners.

8 Their mouths speak lies, and their right hand deceives,

9 God, I will sing a new song to you. On a harp of ten strings I will play to you —

10 to you who gives victory to kings, rescuing his servant David from cruel swords.

11 Rescue me and deliver me from the control of foreigners, whose mouths speak lies, and whose right hand deceives.

12 May our sons in their youth be like full-grown plants, and our daughters like pillars destined to decorate a palace.

13 May our granaries be filled, storing produce in abundance; may our sheep bring forth thousands, even tens of thousands in our fields.

14 May our cattle grow heavy with young, with no damage or loss. May there be no cry of anguish in our streets!

15 Happy are the people to whom these things come; happy are the people whose God is the LORD.

Psalm 145

1 A Davidic Psalm.

I will speak highly of you, my God and King, and I will bless your name forever and ever.

2 I will bless you every day and I will praise your name forever and ever.

3 The LORD is great, and to be praised highly, though his greatness is indescribable.

4 One generation will acclaim your works to another and will describe your mighty actions.

5 I will speak about the glorious splendour of your majesty as well as your awesome actions.

6 People will speak about the might of your great deeds, and I will announce your greatness.

7 They will extol the fame of your abundant goodness, and will sing out loud about your righteousness.

8 Gracious and merciful is the LORD, slow to become angry, and overflowing with gracious love.

9 The LORD is good to everyone and his mercies extend to everything he does.

10 LORD, everything you have done will praise you, and your holy ones will bless you.

11 They will speak about the glory of your kingdom, and they will talk about your might,

12 in order to make known your mighty acts to mankind as well as the majestic splendour of your kingdom.

13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your authority endures from one generation to another.

14 God is faithful about everything he says and merciful in everything he does.
15 The LORD supports everyone who falls and raises up those who are bowed down.
16 Everyone's eyes are on you, as you give them their food in due time.
17 You open your hand continually and keep on satisfying the desire of every living thing.
18 The LORD is righteous in all of his ways and graciously loving in all of his activities.
19 The LORD remains near to all who call out to him, to everyone who calls out to him sincerely.
20 He fulfils the desire of those who fear him, hearing their cry and saving them.
21 The LORD preserves everyone who loves him, but he will destroy all of the wicked.
22 My mouth will praise the LORD, and all creatures will bless his holy name forever and ever.

Psalms 146

1 Hallelujah! Praise the LORD, my soul!
2 I will praise the LORD as long as I live, singing praises to my God while I exist.
3 Do not look to nobles, nor to mere human beings who cannot save.
4 When they stop breathing, they return to the ground; on that very day their plans evaporate!
5 Happy is the one whose help is the God of Jacob, whose hope is in the LORD his God,
6 maker of heaven and earth, the seas and everything in them, forever the guardian of truth,
7 who brings justice for the oppressed, and who gives food to the hungry. The LORD frees the prisoners;
8 the LORD gives sight to the blind. The LORD lifts up those who are weighed down. The LORD loves the righteous.
9 The LORD stands guard over the stranger; he supports both widows and orphans, but makes the path of the wicked slippery.
10 The LORD will reign forever, your God, Zion, for all generations! Hallelujah!

Psalms 147

1 Hallelujah! It is good to sing praise to our God, and it is fitting to sing glorious praise.
2 The LORD rebuilds Jerusalem; he gathers together the outcasts of Israel.
3 He heals the broken-hearted, binding up their injuries.
4 He keeps track of the number of stars, assigning names to all of them.
5 Our Lord is great, and rich in power; his understanding has no limitation.
6 The LORD supports the afflicted while he casts the wicked to the ground.
7 Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving, and compose music to our God with the lyre.
8 He shields the heavens with clouds, preparing rain for the earth and making grass grow on the hills.
9 He gives wild animals their food, including the young ravens when they cry.
10 He takes no delight in the strength of a horse, and gains no pleasure in the runner's swiftness.
11 But the LORD is pleased with those who fear him, with those who depend on his gracious love.
12 Glorify the LORD, Jerusalem! Praise your God, Zion!
13 For he has strengthened the bars of your gates, blessing your children within you.
14 He grants peace within your borders, satisfying you with the finest of wheat.
15 He sends out his command to the earth, making his word go forth quickly.
16 He supplies snow like wool, scattering frost like ashes.
17 He casts down his ice crystals like bread fragments. Who can endure his freezing cold?
18 He sends out his word and melts them. He makes his wind blow and the water flows.
19 He declares his words to Jacob, his statutes and decrees to Israel.

20 He has not dealt with any other nation like this; they never knew his decrees.
Hallelujah!

John 20

11 Meanwhile, Mary stood crying outside the tomb. As she cried, she bent over and looked into the tomb.

12 She saw two angels in white clothes who were sitting down, one at the head and the other at the foot of the place where Jesus' body had been lying.

13 They asked her, "Lady, why are you crying?" She told them, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I don't know where they have put him."

14 After she had said this, she turned around and noticed Jesus standing there, without realizing that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus asked her, "Dear lady, why are you crying? Who are you looking for?" Thinking he was the gardener, she told him, "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have put him, and I will take him away."

16 Jesus told her, "Mary!" She turned around and told him in Hebrew, "Rabbouni!" (which means "Teacher").

17 Jesus told her, "Don't hold on to me, because I have not yet ascended to the Father. But go to my brothers and tell them, 'I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.'"

18 So Mary Magdalene went and announced to the disciples, "I have seen the Lord!" She also told them what he had told her.

19 It was the evening of the first day of the week, and the doors of the house where the disciples had met were locked because they were afraid of the Jews. Jesus came and stood among them. He told them, "Peace be with you."

20 After saying this, he showed them his hands and his side, and when they saw the Lord the disciples were overjoyed.

21 Jesus told them again, "Peace be with you. Just as the Father has sent me, so I am sending you."

22 When he had said this, he breathed on them and told them, "Receive the Holy Spirit.

23 If you forgive people's sins, they are forgiven. If you retain people's sins, they are retained."

24 Thomas, one of the Twelve (called the Twin), wasn't with them when Jesus came.

25 So the other disciples kept telling him, "We have seen the Lord!" But he told them, "Unless I see the nail marks in his hands, put my finger into them, and put my hand into his side, I will never believe!"

26 A week later his disciples were again inside, and Thomas was with them. Even though the doors were shut, Jesus came, stood among them, and said, "Peace be with you."

27 Then he told Thomas, "Put your finger here, and look at my hands. Take your hand, and put it into my side. Stop doubting, but believe."

28 Thomas answered him, "My Lord and my God!"

29 Jesus told him, "Is it because you have seen me that you have believed? How blessed are those who have never seen me and yet have believed!"

30 Jesus performed many other signs in the presence of his disciples that are not recorded in this book.

31 But these have been recorded so that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and so that through believing you may have life in his name.

Psalm 148

- 1 Hallelujah! Praise the LORD from heaven; praise him in the highest places.
- 2 Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his armies!
- 3 Praise him, sun and moon; praise him, all you shining stars.
- 4 Praise him, you heaven of heavens, and you waters above the heavens.
- 5 Let them praise the name of the LORD, for he himself gave the command that they be created.
- 6 He set them in place to last forever and ever; he gave the command and will not rescind it.
- 7 Praise the LORD, you from the earth, you creatures of the sea and all you depths,
- 8 fire, hail, snow, fog, and wind storm that carry out his command,
- 9 mountains and every hill, fruit trees and cedars,
- 10 living creatures and livestock, insects and flying birds,
- 11 earthly kings and all peoples, nobles and all court officials of the earth,
- 12 young men and young women alike, along with older people and children.
- 13 Let them praise the name of the LORD, for his name alone is lifted up; his majesty transcends earth and heaven.
- 14 He has raised up a source of strength for his people, an object of praise for all of his holy ones, that is, for the people of Israel who are near him. Hallelujah!

Psalm 149

- 1 Hallelujah! Sing a new song to the LORD, praising him where the godly gather together.
- 2 May Israel rejoice in its Maker, and Zion's descendants in their King!
- 3 May they praise his name with dancing, chanting songs to him with tambourines and lyres.
- 4 For the LORD is pleased with his people; he beautifies the afflicted with salvation.
- 5 May those he loves be exalted, singing for joy on their couches.
- 6 Let high praises to God be heard in their throats, while they wield two-edged swords in their hands
- 7 as they bring retribution to nations and punishment to peoples,
- 8 binding their kings with chains, their officials with iron bands,
- 9 and executing the judgement written against them. This is honour for all the ones he loves. Hallelujah!

Psalm 150

- 1 Hallelujah! Praise God in his Holy Place. Praise him in his great expanse.
- 2 Praise him for his mighty works. Praise him according to his excellent greatness.
- 3 Praise him with trumpet sounding. Praise him with stringed instrument and harp.
- 4 Praise him with tambourine and dancing. Praise him with stringed and wind instruments.
- 5 Praise him with loud cymbals. Praise him with reverberating cymbals.
- 6 Let everyone who breathes praise the LORD.

Proverbs 1

- 1 The proverbs of David's son Solomon, king of Israel.
- 2 These proverbs are for gaining wisdom and discipline; for understanding words of insight;
- 3 for acquiring the discipline that produces wise behaviour, righteousness, justice, and upright living;
- 4 for giving prudence to the naïve, and knowledge and discretion to the young.
- 5 Let the wise listen and increase their learning; let the person of understanding receive guidance
- 6 in understanding proverbs, clever sayings, words of the wise, and their riddles.
- 7 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge, but fools despise wisdom and discipline.
- 8 My son, listen to your father's instruction, and do not let go of your mother's teaching.
- 9 They will be a graceful wreath for your head and a chain for your neck.
- 10 My son, if sinners entice you, do not consent.
- 11 If they say, "Come with us! Let's lie in wait for blood; let's ambush some innocent person for no reason at all.
- 12 Let's swallow them alive like Sheol, and whole like those who go down into the Pit,
- 13 We'll find all kinds of valuable wealth, and we'll fill our houses with spoil.
- 14 Throw your lot in with us, and all of us will have one purse."
- 15 My son, do not go along with them, and keep your feet away from their paths!
- 16 For they run toward evil; these enticers shed blood without hesitation.
- 17 Look, it is useless to spread a net in full view of all the birds,
- 18 but these people lie in wait for their own blood. They ambush only themselves.
- 19 Such is the way of all those who seek illicit gain — it takes away the lives of those who possess it.
- 20 Wisdom cries out in the street; she raises her voice in the public squares.
- 21 She calls out at the busiest part of the noisy streets, and at the entrance to the gates of the city she utters her words:
- 22 "You naïve ones, how long will you love naiveté? And how long will scoffers delight in scoffing or fools hate knowledge?"
- 23 Return to my correction! Look, I will pour out my spirit on you, and I will make my words known to you.
- 24 "Because I called out to you and you refused to respond — I appealed, but no one paid attention —
- 25 because you neglected all my advice and did not want my correction,
- 26 I will laugh at your calamity. I will mock when what you fear comes,
- 27 when what you dread comes like a storm, and your calamity comes on like a whirlwind, when distress and anguish come upon you.
- 28 "Then they will call out to me, but I will not answer; they will seek me diligently, but they will not find me.
- 29 "Because they hated knowledge and did not choose the fear of the LORD;
- 30 they did not want my advice, and they rejected all my correction.
- 31 They will eat the fruit of their way, and they will be filled with their own devices.
- 32 Indeed, the waywardness of the naïve will kill them, and the complacency of fools will destroy them.
- 33 "But the person who listens to me will live safely and will be secure from the fear of evil."

John 21

1 Later on, Jesus revealed himself again to the disciples at the Sea of Tiberias. This is what happened:

2 Simon Peter, Thomas (called the Twin), Nathaniel from Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two of his other disciples were together.

3 Simon Peter told them, "I'm going fishing." They all told him, "We'll go with you, too." So they went out and got into the boat but didn't catch a thing that night.

4 Just as dawn was breaking, Jesus stood on the shore. The disciples didn't realize it was Jesus.

5 Jesus asked them, "Children, you don't have any fish, do you?" They answered him, "No."

6 He told them, "Throw the net on the right hand side of the boat, and you'll catch some." So they threw it out and were unable to haul it in because it was so full of fish.

7 That disciple whom Jesus kept loving told Peter, "It's the Lord!" When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put his clothes back on, because he was practically naked, and jumped into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came in the boat, dragging the net full of fish. They were only about a hundred yards away from the shore.

9 When they arrived at the shore, they saw a charcoal fire with fish lying on it, and some bread.

10 Jesus told them, "Bring me some of the fish you've just caught."

11 So Simon Peter went aboard and dragged the net ashore. It was full of large fish — 153 of them. And although there were so many of them, the net was not torn.

12 Then Jesus told them, "Come, have breakfast." Now none of the disciples dared to ask him, "Who are you?", because they knew it was the Lord.

13 Jesus took the bread, gave it to them, and did the same with the fish.

14 This was now the third time that Jesus revealed himself to the disciples after he had been raised from the dead.

15 When they had finished breakfast, Jesus asked Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?" Peter told him, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you." Jesus told him, "Feed my lambs."

16 Then he asked him a second time, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" Peter told him, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you." Jesus told him, "Take care of my sheep."

17 He asked him a third time, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" Peter was deeply hurt that he had asked him a third time, "Do you love me?" So he told him, "Lord, you know everything. You know that I love you!" Jesus told him, "Feed my sheep."

18 "Truly, I tell you with certainty, when you were young, you would fasten your belt and go wherever you liked. But when you get old, you will stretch out your hands, and someone else will fasten your belt and take you where you don't want to go."

19 Now he said this to show by what kind of death he would glorify God. After saying this, Jesus told him, "Keep following me."

20 Peter turned around and noticed the disciple whom Jesus kept loving following them. He was the one who had put his head on Jesus' chest at the supper and had asked, "Lord, who is the one who is going to betray you?"

21 When Peter saw him, he said, "Lord, what about him?"

22 Jesus told him, "If it is my will for him to remain until I come back, how does that concern you? You must keep following me!"

23 So the rumour spread among the brothers that this disciple wasn't going to die. Yet Jesus didn't say to Peter that he wasn't going to die, but, "If it is my will for him to remain until I come back, how does that concern you?"

24 This is the disciple who is testifying to these things and has written them down. We know that his testimony is true.

25 Of course, Jesus also did many other things, and I suppose that if every one of them were written down the world couldn't contain the books that would be written.

Proverbs 2

- 1 My son, if you accept my words, and treasure my instructions —
- 2 making your ear attentive to wisdom, and turning your heart to understanding —
- 3 if, indeed, you call out for insight and raise your voice for understanding,
- 4 if you seek it like silver and search for it like hidden treasure,
- 5 then you will understand the fear of the LORD and learn to know God.
- 6 For the LORD gives wisdom, and from his mouth come knowledge and understanding.
- 7 He stores up sound wisdom for the upright and is a shield to those who walk in integrity —
- 8 guarding the paths of the just and protecting the way of his faithful ones.
- 9 Then you will understand what is right, just, and upright — every good path.
- 10 For wisdom will enter your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul.
- 11 Discretion will protect you; understanding will watch over you,
- 12 delivering you from the way of evil, from men who speak perverse things,
- 13 and from those who abandon the right path to travel along the ways of darkness;
- 14 who delight in doing evil, and rejoice in the perverseness of evil;
- 15 whose paths are crooked and who are devious in their ways,
- 16 delivering you from the adulteress, from the immoral woman with her seductive words,
- 17 someone who abandoned the companion of her youth and forgot the covenant of her God.
- 18 For her house leads down to death, and her paths down to the realm of the dead.
- 19 None who go to her return, nor do they reach the paths of life.
- 20 This is how you will walk in the way of good men and will keep to the paths of the righteous.
- 21 For the upright will live in the land, and people of integrity will remain in it.
- 22 But the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the treacherous will be uprooted from it.

Proverbs 3

- 1 My son, don't forget my instruction, and keep my commandments carefully in mind.
- 2 For they will add length to your days, years to your life, and abundant peace to you.
- 3 Do not let gracious love and truth leave you. Bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart,
- 4 and find favour and a good reputation with God and men.
- 5 Trust in the LORD with all your heart, and do not depend on your own understanding.
- 6 In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight.
- 7 Do not be wise in your own opinion. Fear the LORD and turn away from evil.
- 8 This will bring healing to your body, and refreshment to your bones.
- 9 Honour the LORD with your wealth and with the first of all your produce.
- 10 So your barns will be filled with abundance, and your vats will burst open with new wine.
- 11 My son, do not reject the LORD's discipline, and do not despise his correction,
- 12 because the LORD corrects the person he loves, just as a father corrects the son he delights in.
- 13 How joyful is the man who finds wisdom, and the man who gains understanding,
- 14 because her profit is better than the profit of silver, and her yield than fine gold.
- 15 She is more precious than rubies, and nothing you desire compares with her.
- 16 Long life is in her right hand, and in her left are riches and honour.
- 17 Her ways are pleasant ways, and all her paths are peaceful.

18 She is a tree of life for those who embrace her, and whoever clutches her tightly will be joyful.
19 By wisdom the LORD laid the earth's foundations, and by understanding he set the heavens in place.
20 By his knowledge the depths broke open, and the clouds drip with dew.
21 My son, do not let wisdom leave your sight. Carefully observe sound judgement and discernment, 22 and they will be life to you and a graceful ornament for your neck.
23 Then you will travel safely on your way, and your foot will not stumble.
24 When you sit down, you will not be afraid; when you lie down, your sleep will be pleasant.
25 Do not be afraid of sudden disaster, or the devastation that comes to the wicked.
26 Indeed, the LORD will be your confidence, and he will keep your foot from being caught.
27 Do not withhold good from those to whom it is due, when it is in your power to act.
28 Do not say to your neighbour, "Go, and come back. I will pay you tomorrow," when you have cash with you.
29 Do not plan to harm your neighbour, when he is living peacefully beside you.
30 Do not bring a lawsuit against a person for no reason, when he has done you no harm.
31 Do not envy a violent man, and do not emulate his lifestyle.
32 Indeed, a perverse man is utterly disgusting to the LORD, but he takes the upright into his confidence.
33 The LORD's curse is on the house of the wicked, but he blesses the dwelling of the righteous.
34 Though God scoffs at scoffers, he gives grace to the humble.
35 The wise will inherit honour, but he holds fools up for ridicule.

Proverbs 4

1 Listen, children, to your father's instruction, and pay attention in order to gain understanding.
2 I give you sound teaching, so do not abandon my instruction.
3 When I was a son to my father, not yet strong and an only son to my mother,
4 he taught me and told me, "Let your heart fully embrace what I have to say; keep my commandments and live!
5 "Get wisdom! Get understanding! Do not forget or turn aside from the words of my mouth!
6 "Do not abandon her, and she will protect you. Love her, and she will watch over you.

2 Timothy 1

1 From: Paul, an apostle of the Messiah Jesus by God's will in keeping with the promise of life that is in the Messiah Jesus.

2 To: Timothy, my dear child.

May grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and the Messiah Jesus our Lord be yours!

3 I constantly thank my God — whom I serve with a clear conscience, as my ancestors did — when I remember you in my prayers night and day,

4 recalling your tears and longing to see you so that I can be filled with joy.

5 I am reminded of your sincere faith, which first existed in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice, and I am convinced that this faith also exists in you.

6 For this reason, I am reminding you to fan into flames the gift of God that is within you through the laying on of my hands.

7 For God did not give us a spirit of timidity but one of power, love, and self-discipline.

8 Therefore, never be ashamed of the testimony about our Lord or of me, his prisoner. Instead, by God's power, join me in suffering for the sake of the gospel.

9 He saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our own accomplishments, but according to his own purpose and the grace that was given to us in the Messiah Jesus before time began.

10 Now, however, that grace has been revealed through the coming of our Saviour the Messiah Jesus, who has destroyed death and through the gospel has brought life and release from death into full view.

11 For the sake of this gospel I was appointed to be a preacher, an apostle, and a teacher of the gentiles.

12 That is why I suffer as I do. However, I am not ashamed, for I know the one in whom I have put my trust, and I'm convinced that he is able to protect what he has entrusted to me until the day that he comes.

13 Hold on to the pattern of healthy teachings that you have heard from me, along with the faith and love that are in the Messiah Jesus.

14 With the help of the Holy Spirit who lives in us, protect the good treasure that has been entrusted to you.

15 You know that everyone in Asia has abandoned me, including Phygelus and Hermogenes.

16 May the Lord grant mercy to the family of Onesiphorus, for he often took care of me and was not ashamed that I was a prisoner.

17 Instead, when he arrived in Rome he searched diligently for me and found me.

18 May the Lord grant that he finds mercy on the day he comes again. You know very well how much he assisted me in Ephesus.

Proverbs 4

- 7 "Wisdom is of utmost importance, therefore get wisdom, and with all your effort work to acquire understanding.
- 8 "Prize her and she will exalt you. Indeed, if you embrace her, she will honour you.
- 9 "She will place on your head a graceful garland; she will present to you a crown of beauty."
- 10 Listen, my son: accept my words, and you'll live a long, long time.
- 11 I have directed you in the way of wisdom, and I have led you along straight paths.
- 12 When you walk, your step will not be hindered, and when you run, you will not stumble.
- 13 Hold on to instruction, do not let it go! Guard wisdom, because she is your life!
- 14 Do not enter the path of the wicked, or go along the way of evil men.
- 15 Avoid it! Don't travel on it! Turn away from it, and pass on by.
- 16 For they cannot sleep unless they are doing evil, and they are robbed of their sleep unless they cause someone to stumble.
- 17 For they eat the bread of wickedness, and they drink the wine of violence.
- 18 The path of the righteous is like the light of dawn that grows brighter until the full light of day.
- 19 But the way of the wicked is like deep darkness, and they do not know what they are stumbling over.
- 20 My son, pay attention to my words, and listen closely to what I say.
- 21 Do not let them out of your sight; keep them within your heart.
- 22 For they are life to those who find them, and healing to their whole body.
- 23 Above everything else guard your heart, because from it flow the springs of life.
- 24 Never talk deceptively and don't keep company with people whose speech is corrupt.
- 25 Let your eyes look directly ahead; fix your gaze straight in front of you.
- 26 Carefully measure the paths for your feet, and all your ways will be established.
- 27 Do not turn to the right or to the left; turn your foot away from evil.

Proverbs 5

- 1 My son, pay attention to my wisdom, and listen closely to my insight,
- 2 so you may carefully practise discretion and your lips preserve knowledge.
- 3 For the lips of an adulteress drip honey, and her speech is smoother than oil.
- 4 But in the end she is as bitter as wormwood, and as sharp as a double-edged sword.
- 5 Her feet go down to death; her steps lead to Sheol.
- 6 You aren't thinking about where her life is headed; her steps wander, but you do not realize it.
- 7 Now, children, listen to me. Don't turn away from what I am saying.
- 8 Keep far away from her, and don't go near the entrance to her house,
- 9 so that you don't give your honour to others, and waste your best years,
- 10 so that strangers don't enrich themselves at your expense, and your work won't end up the possession of foreigners.
- 11 You will cry out in anguish when your end comes, when your flesh and body are consumed.
- 12 And you will say, "How I hated instruction, and my heart rejected correction.
- 13 I did not obey my teachers and did not listen to my instructors.
- 14 Now I am at the point of utter disaster in the assembly and in the congregation."
- 15 Drink water from your own cistern, and fresh water from your own well.
- 16 Should your springs flow outside, or streams of water in the street?
- 17 They should be for you alone and not for strangers who are with you.

- 18 Let your fountain be blessed and enjoy the wife of your youth.
19 Like a loving deer, a beautiful doe, let her breasts satisfy you all the time. Be constantly intoxicated by her love.
20 Why should you be intoxicated by an adulteress, my son, and embrace the bosom of a foreign woman?
21 Indeed, what a man does is always in the LORD's presence, and he weighs all his paths.
22 The wicked person's iniquities will capture him, and he will be held with the cords of his sin.
23 He will die for lack of discipline, and he goes astray because of his great folly.

Proverbs 6

- 1 My son, if you guarantee a loan for your neighbour, if you have agreed to a deal with a stranger,
2 trapped by your own words, and caught by your own words,
3 then do this, my son and deliver yourself, because you have come under your neighbour's control. Go, humble yourself! Plead passionately with your neighbour!
4 Don't allow yourself to sleep or even to close your eyes.
5 Deliver yourself like a gazelle from a hunter's hand, or like a bird from a fowler's hand.
6 Go to the ant, you lazy man! Observe its ways and become wise.
7 It has no commander, officer, or ruler
8 but prepares its provisions in the summer and gathers its food in the harvest.
9 How long will you lie down, lazy man? When will you get up from your sleep?
10 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest,
11 and your poverty will come on you like a bandit and your desperation like an armed man.
12 A worthless man, a wicked man, goes around with devious speech,
13 winking with his eyes, making signs with his feet, pointing with his fingers,
14 planning evil with a perverse mind, continually stirring up discord.
15 Therefore, disaster will overtake him suddenly. He will be broken in an instant, and he will never recover.
16 Here are six things that the LORD hates — seven, in fact, are detestable to him:
17 Arrogant eyes, a lying tongue and hands shedding innocent blood;
18 a heart crafting evil plans, feet running swiftly to wickedness,
19 a false witness snorting lies, and someone sowing quarrels between brothers.

2 Timothy 2

- 1 As for you, my child, be strong by the grace that is in the Messiah Jesus.
- 2 What you have heard from me through many witnesses entrust to faithful people who will be able to teach others as well.
- 3 Join me in suffering like a good soldier of the Messiah Jesus.
- 4 No one serving in the military gets mixed up in civilian matters, for his aim is to please his commanding officer.
- 5 Moreover, no one who is an athlete wins a prize unless he competes according to the rules.
- 6 Furthermore, it is the hard working farmer who should have the first share of the crops.
- 7 Think about what I am saying. The Lord will help you to understand all these things.
- 8 Meditate on Jesus, the Messiah, who was raised from the dead and is a descendant of David. This is the gospel I tell others.
- 9 Because of it I am experiencing trouble, even to the point of being chained like a criminal. However, God's word is not chained.
- 10 For that reason, I endure everything for the sake of those who have been chosen so that they, too, may receive the salvation that is in the Messiah Jesus, along with eternal glory.
- 11 This saying is trustworthy:
 - In dying with the Messiah, true life we gain.
- 12 Enduring, we with him will reign.
Who him denies, he will disclaim.
- 13 Our faith may fail, his never wanes —
That's who he is, he cannot change!
- 14 Remind others about these things, and warn them before God not to argue over words. Arguing does not do any good but only destroys those who are listening.
- 15 Do your best to present yourself to God as an approved worker who has nothing to be ashamed of, handling the word of truth with precision.
- 16 However, avoid pointless discussions. For people will become more and more ungodly,
- 17 and what they say will spread everywhere like gangrene. Hymenaeus and Philetus are like that.
- 18 They have abandoned the truth by claiming that the resurrection has already taken place, and so they destroy the faith of others.
- 19 However, God's solid foundation still stands. It has this inscription on it: "The Lord knows those who belong to him," and "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord must turn away from evil."
- 20 In a large house there are not only utensils made of gold and silver, but also those made of wood and clay. Some are for special use, while others are for ordinary use.
- 21 Therefore, if anyone stops associating with these people, he will become a special utensil, set apart for the owner's use, prepared for every good action.
- 22 Flee from youthful passions. Instead, pursue righteousness, faithfulness, love, and peace together with those who call on the Lord with a pure heart.
- 23 Do not have anything to do with foolish and stupid discussions, because you know they breed arguments.
- 24 A servant of the Lord must not argue. Instead, he must be kind to everyone, teachable, willing to suffer wrong,
- 25 and gentle when refuting opponents. After all, maybe God will allow them to repent and to come to a full knowledge of the truth,
- 26 so that they might escape from the devil's snare, even though they've been held captive by him to do his will.

Proverbs 6

20 Keep your father's commands, my son, and never forsake your mother's rules, 21 by binding them to your heart continually, fastening them around your neck.
22 During your travels wisdom will lead you; she will watch over you while you rest; and when you are startled from your sleep she will commune with you.
23 Because the command is a lamp and the Law a light, rebukes that discipline are a way of life —
24 to protect you from the evil woman, from the words of the seductive woman.
25 Do not focus on her beauty in your mind, nor allow her to take you prisoner with her flirting eyes,
26 because the price of a whore is a loaf of bread, and an adulterous woman stalks a man's precious life.
27 Can a man scoop fire into his bosom without burning his clothes?
28 Can a man walk on hot coals without scorching his feet?
29 So also is it with someone who has sex with his neighbour's wife; anyone touching her will not remain unpunished.
30 A thief isn't despised if he steals to meet his needs when he is hungry,
31 but when he is discovered, he must restore seven-fold, forfeiting the entire value of his house.
32 Whoever commits adultery with a woman is out of his mind; by doing so he corrupts his own soul.
33 He will receive a beating and dishonour, and his shame won't disappear,
34 because jealousy incites a strong man's rage, and he will show no mercy when it's time for revenge.
35 He will not consider any payment, nor will he be willing to accept it, no matter how large the bribe.

Proverbs 7

1 My son, guard what I say and treasure my commands.
2 Keep my commands and you'll live. Guard my teaching as you do your eyesight.
3 Strap them to your fingers, and engrave them on the tablet of your heart.
4 Say to wisdom, "You're my sister!" and call understanding your close relative,
5 so they can keep you from an adulterous woman, from the immoral woman with her seductive words.
6 For from a window in my house I peered through the lattice work,
7 and I noticed among the naïve — that is, I discerned among the youths — a senseless young man.
8 Proceeding down the street near her corner, he makes his way toward her house
9 at twilight, during the evening, even during the darkest part of the night.
10 Look! A woman makes her way to meet him, dressed as a prostitute and intending to entrap him.
11 She is brazen and defiant — her feet don't remain at home.
12 Now she is in the street, now in the plazas, she lurks near every corner.
13 So she grabs hold of him and kisses him, with a brazen face she speaks to him,
14 "I have given my peace offerings, and today I fulfilled my vows.
15 Therefore I've come out to meet you, I've looked just for you, and I found you!
16 I've decorated my bed with new coverings — embroidered linen from Egypt.
17 I've perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
18 Come, let's make love until dawn; let's comfort ourselves with love,
19 because my husband isn't home. He left on a long trip.

20 He took a fist full of cash and he'll return home in a month."
21 She leads him astray with great persuasion; with flattering lips she seduces him.
22 All of a sudden he follows her like an ox fit for slaughter or like a fool fit for a trap
23 until an arrow pierces his liver. As a bird darts into a snare, he doesn't realize his fatal decision.
24 So listen to me, my sons, and pay attention to what I have to say.
25 Don't be led astray by her lifestyle, and don't imitate her behaviour.
26 For many are the victims whom she has conquered, and many are her slain.
27 Her house leads to Sheol, descending to death's catacombs.

Proverbs 8

1 Isn't wisdom calling out; isn't understanding raising her voice?
2 On top of the highest places along the road she stands where the roads meet.
3 Beside the gates, at the city entrance — at the entrance to the portals she cries aloud:
4 "I'm calling to you, men! What I have to say pertains to all mankind!
5 Understand prudence, you naïve people; and gain an understanding heart, you foolish ones.
6 Listen, because I have noble things to say, and what I have to say will reveal what is right.
7 For my mouth speaks the truth — wickedness is detestable to me.
8 Everything I have to say is just; there isn't anything corrupt or perverse in my speech.
9 Everything I say is sensible to someone who understands, and correct to those who have acquired knowledge.
10 Grab hold of my instruction in lieu of money and knowledge instead of the finest gold,
11 because wisdom is better than precious gems and nothing you desire can compare to it."
12 "I, wisdom, am related to prudence. I know how to be discreet.
13 The fear of the LORD is to hate evil. Pride, arrogance, an evil lifestyle, and perverted speech I despise.
14 Counsel belongs to me, along with sound judgement. I am understanding. Power belongs to me.
15 Kings reign by me, and rulers dispense justice through me.
16 By me leaders rule, as do noble officials and all who govern justly.
17 I love those who love me, and those who seek me will find me.
18 Wealth and honour accompany me, as do enduring wealth and righteousness.
19 My fruit is better than gold, better than even refined gold, and my benefit surpasses the purest silver.
20 I walk on the way of righteousness, along paths that are just,
21 I bequeath wealth to those who love me, and I will fill their treasuries."

2 Timothy 3

- 1 You must realize, however, that in the last days difficult times will come.
- 2 People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, arrogant, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy,
- 3 unfeeling, uncooperative, slanderous, degenerate, brutal, hateful of what is good,
- 4 traitors, reckless, conceited, and lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God.
- 5 They will hold to an outward form of godliness but deny its power. Stay away from such people.
- 6 For some of these men go into homes and deceive foolish women who are burdened with sins and swayed by all kinds of desires.
- 7 These women are always studying but are never able to arrive at a full knowledge of the truth.
- 8 Just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these men oppose the truth. They are depraved in mind and their faith is a counterfeit.
- 9 But they will not get very far because, as in the case of those two men, their stupidity will be plain to everyone.
- 10 But you have observed my teaching, my way of life, my purpose, my faith, my patience, my love, my endurance,
- 11 and how I was persecuted and suffered in Antioch, Iconium, and Lystra. What persecutions I endured! Yet the Lord rescued me from all of them.
- 12 Indeed, all who want to live a godly life in union with the Messiah Jesus will be persecuted.
- 13 But evil people and impostors will go from bad to worse as they deceive others and are themselves deceived.
- 14 But as for you, continue in what you have learned and found to be true, because you know from whom you learned it.
- 15 From infancy you have known the Holy Scriptures that are able to give you the wisdom you need for salvation through faith in the Messiah Jesus.
- 16 All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness,
- 17 so that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good action.

Proverbs 8

22 "The LORD made me as he began his planning, before his ancient activity commenced.
23 From eternity I was appointed, from the beginning, from before there was land.
24 When there were no ocean depths, I brought them to birth at a time when there were no springs.
25 Before the mountains were shaped, before there were hills, I was bringing them to birth.
26 Even though he had not made the earth, nor the fields, nor the world's first grains of dust,
27 when he crafted the heavens, I was there — when he marked out a circle on the face of the deep,
28 when he made the clouds from above, when the springs of the depths were established,
29 when he set a boundary for the sea so the waters would not exceed his limits, when he marked out the foundations of the earth.
30 Then I was with him, his master craftsman — I was his delight daily, continuously rejoicing in his presence,
31 rejoicing in his inhabitable world and taking delight in mankind."
32 "So listen to me, children! Blessed are those who obey me.
33 Listen to instruction and be wise. Don't ignore it.
34 Blessed is the person who listens to me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at my doorways —
35 because those who find me find life and gain favour from the LORD.
36 But whoever sins against me destroys himself; everyone who hates me loves death."

Proverbs 9

1 Wisdom has built her house; she has hewn out her seven pillars.
2 She has prepared her food, she has spiced her wine, and she also has set her dining table.
3 She has sent out her young women, while calling out from the heights of the city,
4 "Let whoever is naïve, turn in here." To anyone lacking sense, she says,
5 "Come! Eat my food, and drink the wine that I have mixed.
6 Leave your naïve ways, and live. Walk in the path of understanding."
7 Whoever corrects a mocker invites only insult, and whoever rebukes the wicked will himself become stained.
8 Don't rebuke a mocker or he will hate you. Rebuke a wise person, and he will love you.
9 Counsel a wise man, and he will be wiser still; teach a righteous man, and he will add to his learning.
10 The fear of the LORD is where wisdom begins, and knowing holiness demonstrates understanding.
11 For because of me you will live a long life, and years will be added to your life.
12 If you are wise, your wisdom will assist you. If you mock, you alone will be held responsible.
13 The foolish woman is loud, undisciplined, and without knowledge.
14 She sits at the entrance of her house, on a seat high above the city.
15 She calls out to those passing by on the road, who are minding their own business,
16 "Whoever is naïve, turn in here!" And to anyone lacking sense, she says,
17 "Stolen waters are sweet, and food eaten in secret is delicious."
18 But he does not realize that the dead lurk there, and her invited guests wind up in the depths of Sheol.

Proverbs 10

- 1 The proverbs of Solomon. A wise son brings joy to his father, but a foolish son grieves his mother.
- 2 Nothing good comes from ill-gotten wealth, but righteousness delivers from death.
- 3 The LORD won't cause the righteous to hunger, but he will reject what the wicked crave.
- 4 Lazy hands bring poverty, but hard-working hands lead to wealth.
- 5 Whoever harvests during summer acts wisely, but the son who sleeps during harvest is disgraceful.
- 6 Blessings come upon the head of the righteous, but the words of the wicked conceal violence.
- 7 The reputation of the righteous leads to blessing, but the name of the wicked will rot.
- 8 The wise person accepts commands, but the chattering fool will be brought down.
- 9 Whoever walks in integrity lives prudently, but whoever perverts his way of life will be exposed.
- 10 Those who wink their eyes are trouble makers, and the mocking fool will be brought down.
- 11 What the righteous say is a flowing fountain, but what the wicked say conceals violence.
- 12 Hatred awakens contention, but love covers all transgressions.
- 13 Wisdom characterizes the speech of the discerning, but the rod is for the backs of those lacking discernment.
- 14 Those who are wise store up knowledge, but when the fool speaks, destruction is near.
- 15 The rich hide within the fortress that is their wealth, but the poor are dismayed due to their poverty.
- 16 Honourable wages lead to life; the salaries of the wicked, to retribution.
- 17 Whoever heeds correction is on the pathway to life, but someone who ignores exhortation goes astray.
- 18 Whoever conceals hatred is a deceitful liar, and whoever spreads slander is a fool.
- 19 Transgression is at work where people talk too much, but anyone who holds his tongue is prudent.
- 20 What the righteous person says is like precious silver; the thoughts of the wicked are compared to small things.
- 21 What the righteous person says nourishes many, but fools die because they lack discerning hearts.
- 22 The blessing of the LORD establishes wealth, and difficulty does not accompany it.
- 23 Just as the fool considers wickedness his joy, so is wisdom to the discerning man.
- 24 What the wicked fears will come about, but the longing of the righteous will be granted.
- 25 When the storm ends, the wicked vanish, but the righteous person is forever firm.
- 26 As vinegar is to the mouth and smoke to the eyes, so is the lazy person to those who send him.
- 27 Fearing the LORD prolongs life, but the wicked will not live long.
- 28 What the righteous hope for brings joy, but the expectation of the wicked dies.
- 29 To the upright, the way of the LORD is a place of safety but it's a place of ruin to those who practise evil.
- 30 The righteous will never be overthrown, but the wicked will never inhabit the land.
- 31 The words of the righteous overflow with wisdom, but the perverse tongue will be cut out.
- 32 Righteous lips know what is prudent, but the words of the wicked are perverse.

2 Timothy 4

- 1 In the presence of God and the Messiah Jesus, who is going to judge those who are living and those who are dead, and in view of his appearing and his kingdom, I solemnly appeal to you
- 2 to proclaim the message. Be ready to do this whether or not the time is convenient. Refute, warn, and encourage with the utmost patience when you teach.
- 3 For the time will come when people will not tolerate healthy doctrine, but with itching ears will surround themselves with teachers who cater to their people's own desires.
- 4 They will refuse to listen to the truth and will turn to myths.
- 5 But you must be clear-headed about everything. Endure suffering. Do the work of an evangelist. Devote yourself completely to your ministry.
- 6 I am already being poured out as an offering, and the time for my departure has come.
- 7 I have fought the good fight. I have completed the race. I have kept the faith.
- 8 The victor's crown of righteousness is now waiting for me, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give to me on the day that he comes, and not only to me but also to all who eagerly wait for his appearing.
- 9 Do your best to come to me soon,
- 10 because Demas, having fallen in love with this present world, has abandoned me and has gone to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, and Titus to Dalmatia.
- 11 Only Luke is with me. Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is useful in my ministry.
- 12 I have sent Tychicus to Ephesus.
- 13 When you come, bring the coat I left with Carpus in Troas, as well as the scrolls and especially the parchments.
- 14 Alexander the metalworker did me a great deal of harm. The Lord will pay him back for what he did.
- 15 You, too, must watch out for him, for he violently opposed our message.
- 16 At my first trial no one came to my defence. Everyone abandoned me. May it not be held against them!
- 17 However, the Lord stood by me and gave me strength so that through me the message might be fully proclaimed and all the gentiles could hear it. I was rescued out of a lion's mouth.
- 18 The Lord will rescue me from every evil attack and will take me safely to his heavenly kingdom. Glory belongs to him forever and ever! Amen.
- 19 Greet Prisca and Aquila and the family of Onesiphorus.
- 20 Erastus stayed in Corinth, and I left Trophimus in Miletus because he was sick.
- 21 Do your best to come to me before winter. Eubulus sends you greetings, as do Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brothers.
- 22 May the Lord be with your spirit. Grace be with all of you! Amen.

Proverbs 11

- 1 The LORD hates false scales, but he delights in accurate weights.
- 2 When pride appears, disgrace accompanies it, but humility is present with wisdom.
- 3 The integrity of the righteous guides them, but the hypocrisy of the treacherous destroys them.
- 4 Wealth won't help in the time of judgement, but righteousness will deliver from death.
- 5 The righteousness of the innocent creates a level path, but the wicked fall by their wickedness.
- 6 The righteousness of the upright delivers them, but the treacherous are trapped by their evil desires.
- 7 When a wicked person dies, his hope vanishes; and what he expected from his scheming comes to nothing.
- 8 The righteous person is delivered from trouble; it comes upon the wicked instead.
- 9 By what he says, the godless person can destroy his neighbour, but through knowledge the righteous escape.
- 10 The city rejoices when the righteous prosper, and when the wicked perish there is jubilation.
- 11 Through the blessing of the righteous a city is built up, but what the wicked say tears it down.
- 12 Whoever belittles his neighbour lacks sense, but the discerning man controls his comments.
- 13 Whoever spreads gossip betrays secrets, but the trustworthy person keeps a confidence.
- 14 A nation falls through a lack of guidance, but victory comes through the counsel of many.
- 15 Securing a loan for a stranger will bring suffering, but by refusing to do so, one remains safe.
- 16 A gracious woman attains honour, but ruthless men attain wealth.
- 17 A gracious man benefits himself, but the cruel person damages himself.
- 18 Evil people earn deceptive wages, but those who plant righteousness are truly rewarded.
- 19 Genuine righteousness leads to life, but whoever pursues evil will die.
- 20 Devious minds are abhorrent to the LORD, but those whose ways are innocent are his delight.
- 21 Be sure of this: the wicked will not go unpunished, but the descendants of the righteous will go free.
- 22 Like a gold ring in a pig's snout is a beautiful woman without discretion.
- 23 The desire of the righteous is to seek good, but the hope of the wicked results in wrath.
- 24 Those who give freely gain even more; others hold back what they owe, becoming even poorer.
- 25 A generous person will prosper, and anyone who gives water will receive a flood in return.
- 26 People will curse whoever withholds grain, but blessing will come to whoever is selling.
- 27 The person seeking good will find favour, but anyone who searches for evil — it will find him!
- 28 The person who trusts in his wealth will fall, but the righteous will flourish like green leaves.
- 29 Whoever troubles his household will inherit the wind, and the fool will be a servant to the wise.
- 30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and the one who wins people is wise.

31 If the righteous receive what they are due here on earth, how much more will the wicked and the sinner.

Proverbs 12

1 The person who loves correction loves knowledge, but anyone who hates a rebuke is stupid.

2 The good person will gain favour from the LORD, but the man who plots evil will be condemned by him.

3 A person doesn't gain security by wickedness, but the righteous won't be uprooted.

4 A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband, but a wife who puts him to shame is like bone cancer.

5 The plans of the righteous are just, but the advice of the wicked is deceitful.

6 The words of the wicked lead to bloodshed, but the speech of the upright delivers them.

7 After they're overthrown, the wicked won't be found, but the house of the righteous stands firm.

8 A man is praised because of his wise words, but the perverted mind will be despised.

9 It's better to be unimportant, yet have a servant, than to pretend to be important, but lack food.

10 The righteous person looks out for the welfare of his livestock, but even the compassion of the wicked is cruel.

11 Whoever tills his soil will have a lot to eat, but anyone who pursues fantasies lacks sense.

12 The wicked desires what evil people gain, but the foundation of the righteous is productive.

13 An evil man's sinful speech ensnares him, but the righteous person escapes from trouble.

14 By his fruitful speech a man can remain satisfied, and a man's handiwork will reward him.

15 The lifestyle of the fool is right in his own opinion, but wise is the man who listens to advice.

16 The anger of a fool becomes readily apparent, but the prudent person overlooks an insult.

17 The truth teller speaks what is right, but the false witness speaks what is deceitful.

18 Some speak rashly like the cutting of a sword, but what the wise say promotes healing.

19 A truthful saying is trusted forever, but the liar only for a moment.

20 Deceit is at home in the heart of those who plan evil, but those who promote peace rejoice.

21 No harm overwhelms the righteous, but the wicked overflow with trouble.

22 Deceitful speech is reprehensible to the LORD, but those who act faithfully are his delight.

23 A prudent man keeps what he knows to himself, but the hearts of fools shout forth their foolishness.

24 The diligent will take control, but the lazy will be put to forced labour.

25 A person's anxiety weighs down his heart, but an appropriate word is encouraging.

26 The righteous person is cautious with respect to his neighbour, but the lifestyle of the wicked leads them astray.

27 The lazy person does not roast what he has hunted, but diligence is one's most important possession.

28 In the pathway to righteousness there is life, and in that lifestyle there is no death.

Proverbs 13

- 1 A wise son heeds a father's correction, but a mocker does not listen to rebuke.
- 2 From the fruit of his words a man receives benefit, but the treacherous crave violence.
- 3 Anyone who guards his words protects his life; anyone who talks too much is ruined.
- 4 The lazy person craves, yet receives nothing, but the desires of the diligent are satisfied.

Titus 1

- 1 From: Paul, a servant of God, and also an apostle of Jesus the Messiah, to bring the faith to those chosen by God, along with full knowledge of the truth that leads to godliness,
- 2 which is based on the hope of eternal life that God, who cannot lie, promised before the world began.
- 3 At the right time he revealed his message through the proclamation that was entrusted to me by the command of God our Saviour.
- 4 To: Titus, a genuine child in the faith that we share.

May grace and peace from God the Father and the Messiah, Jesus our Saviour, be yours!

- 5 The reason I left you in Crete was to complete what still needed to be done and to appoint elders in every city, as I myself commanded you.
- 6 An elder must be blameless. He must be the husband of one wife and have children who are believers and who are not accused of having wild lifestyles or of being rebellious.
- 7 Because an overseer is God's servant manager, he must be blameless. He must not be arrogant or irritable. He must not drink too much, be a violent person, or make money in shameful ways.
- 8 Instead, he must be hospitable to strangers, must appreciate what is good, and be sensible, honest, moral, and self-controlled.
- 9 He must be devoted to the trustworthy message that agrees with what we teach, so that he may be able to encourage others with healthy doctrine and refute those who oppose it.
- 10 For there are many people who are rebellious, especially those who are converts from Judaism. They speak utter nonsense and deceive people.
- 11 They must be silenced, because they are the kind of people who ruin whole families by teaching what they should not teach in order to make money in a shameful way.
- 12 One of their very own prophets said,
 "Liars ever, men of Crete,
 Savage brutes that live to eat."
- 13 That statement is true. For this reason, refute them sharply so that they may become healthy in the faith
- 14 and not pay attention to Jewish myths or commands given by people who reject the truth.
- 15 Everything is clean to those who are clean, but nothing is clean to those who are corrupt and unbelieving. Indeed, their very way of thinking and their consciences have been corrupted.
- 16 They claim to know God, but they deny him by their actions. They are detestable, disobedient, and disqualified to do anything good.

Titus 2

- 1 But as for you, teach what is consistent with healthy doctrine.
- 2 Older men are to be sober, serious, sensible, and sound in faith, love, and endurance.
- 3 Likewise, older women are to show their reverence for God by their behaviour. They are not to be gossips or addicted to alcohol, but to be examples of goodness.
- 4 They should encourage the younger women to love their husbands, to love their children,
- 5 to be sensible and pure, to manage their households, to be kind, and to submit themselves to their husbands. Otherwise, the word of God may be discredited.
- 6 Likewise, encourage the younger men to be sensible.
- 7 Always set an example for others by doing good actions. Teach with integrity and dignity.
- 8 Use wholesome speech that cannot be condemned. Then any opponent will be ashamed because he cannot say anything bad about us.

22nd September

Proverbs 13

- 5 A righteous person hates deceit, but the wicked person is shameful and disgraceful.
- 6 Righteousness protects the blameless, but wickedness brings down the sinner.
- 7 One person pretends to be wealthy, but has nothing; another pretends to be poor, yet is rich.
- 8 The life of a wealthy man may be held for ransom, but whoever is poor receives no threats.
- 9 The light of the righteous shines, but the lamp of the wicked is extinguished.
- 10 Arrogance only brings quarrelling, but those receiving advice are wise.
- 11 Wealth gained dishonestly dwindles away, but whoever works diligently increases his prosperity.
- 12 Delayed hope makes the heart ill, but fulfilled longing is a tree of life.
- 13 Anyone who despises a word of advice will pay for it, but whoever heeds a command will be rewarded.
- 14 What the wise have to teach is a fountain of life and causes someone to avoid the snares of death.
- 15 Good understanding produces grace, but the lifestyle of the treacherous never changes.
- 16 Every sensible person acts from knowledge, but a fool demonstrates folly.
- 17 An evil messenger stumbles into trouble, but a faithful envoy brings healing.
- 18 Poverty and shame are for those who ignore correction, but whoever listens to instruction gains honour.
- 19 Fulfilled longing is sweet to the soul, but avoiding evil is detestable to the fool.
- 20 Whoever keeps company with the wise becomes wise, but the companion of fools suffers harm.
- 21 Disaster pursues the sinful, but good will reward the righteous.
- 22 A good person leaves an inheritance to his grandchildren, but the wealth of the wicked is reserved for the righteous.
- 23 The field of the poor may produce much food, but it can be swept away through injustice.
- 24 Whoever does not discipline his son hates him, but whoever loves him is diligent to correct him.
- 25 A righteous person eats to his heart's content, but the stomach of the wicked remains hungry.

Proverbs 14

- 1 Every wise woman builds up her household, but the foolish one tears it down with her own hands.
- 2 Someone whose conduct is upright fears the LORD, but whoever is devious in his ways despises him.
- 3 What a fool says brings a rod to his back, but the words of the wise protect them.
- 4 Where there are no oxen, the feeding trough is clean, but profits come through the strength of the ox.
- 5 A trustworthy witness does not deceive, but a false witness spews lies.
- 6 A mocker seeks wisdom and finds none, but learning comes easily to someone who understands.
- 7 Stay away from a foolish man, for you will not find competent advice.
- 8 The wisdom of the prudent helps him know how to live, but a fool's stupidity deceives him.
- 9 Fools make fun of guilt, but among the upright there are good intentions.
- 10 The heart knows its own bitterness — an outsider cannot share in its joy.

- 11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed, but the tent of the upright will flourish.
- 12 There is a pathway that seems right to a man, but in the end it's a road to death.
- 13 Even in laughter there may be heartache, and at the end of joy there may be grief.
- 14 The faithless one will pay for his behaviour, but a good man will be rewarded for his.
- 15 An unthinking person believes everything, but the prudent one thinks before acting.
- 16 The wise person fears and turns away from evil, but a fool is reckless and overconfident.
- 17 A quick tempered person does foolish things, and a devious man is hated.
- 18 The naïve inherit folly, but the careful are crowned with knowledge.
- 19 Evil men will bow down in the presence of good men and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.
- 20 The poor person is shunned by his neighbour, but many are the friends of the wealthy.
- 21 Whoever despises his neighbour sins, but whoever shows kindness to the poor will be happy.
- 22 Won't those who continually plot evil go astray? But gracious love and truth are for those who plan what is good.
- 23 In hard work there is always profit, but too much chattering leads to poverty.
- 24 The crown of the wise is their wealth, but the stupidity of fools is just that — stupidity!
- 25 A truthful witness saves lives, but the person who lies is deceitful.
- 26 Rock-solid security is found in the fear of the LORD, and within it one's children find refuge.
- 27 The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, enabling anyone to escape the snares of death.
- 28 A large population is a king's glory, but a shortage of people is a ruler's ruin.
- 29 Being slow to get angry compares to great understanding as being quick-tempered compares to stupidity.
- 30 A tranquil mind brings life to one's body, but jealousy causes one's bones to rot.
- 31 Whoever oppresses the poor defies their Creator, but whoever is kind to the needy honours them.
- 32 The wicked person is thrown down by his own wrongdoing, but the righteous person has a place of safety in death.
- 33 Wisdom is at rest in the mind of the discerning — even fools know this.
- 34 Righteousness makes a nation great, but sin diminishes any people.
- 35 The king approves the wise servant, but he is angry at anyone who acts shamefully.

Proverbs 15

- 1 A gentle response diverts anger, but a harsh statement incites fury.
- 2 The wise speak, presenting knowledge appropriately, but fools spout foolishness.
- 3 The eyes of the LORD are in every place, observing both the evil and the good.
- 4 A gentle statement is a tree of life, but perverted speech shatters the spirit.
- 5 A fool rejects his father's instructions, but anyone who respects reproof acts sensibly.
- 6 The righteous house is itself a great treasure, but within the revenue of the wicked calamity is at work.

Titus 2

9 Slaves are to submit to their masters in everything, aiming to please them and not argue with them

10 or steal from them. Instead, they are to show complete and perfect loyalty, so that in every way they may make the teaching about God our Saviour more attractive.

11 For the grace of God has appeared, bringing salvation to all people.

12 It trains us to renounce ungodly living and worldly passions so that we might live sensible, honest, and godly lives in the present age

13 as we wait for the blessed hope and glorious appearance of our great God and Saviour, Jesus the Messiah.

14 He gave himself for us to set us free from every wrong and to cleanse us so that we could be his special people who are enthusiastic about doing good deeds.

15 These are the things you should teach. Encourage and refute with full authority. Do not let anyone look down on you.

Titus 3

1 Remind believers to submit to rulers and authorities, to be obedient, and to be ready to do any honourable kind of work.

2 They are not to insult anyone or be argumentative. Instead, they are to be gentle and perfectly courteous to everyone.

3 After all, we ourselves were once foolish, disobedient, and misled. We were slaves to many kinds of lusts and pleasures, spending our days in malice and jealousy. We were despised, and we hated one another.

4 In grace our Saviour God appeared,
To make his love for mankind clear.

5 'Twas not for deeds that we had done,
But by his steadfast love alone,
He saved us through a second birth,
Renewed us by the Spirit's work,

6 And poured him out upon us, too,
Through Jesus the Messiah our Saviour true.

7 And so, made heirs by his own grace,
Eternal life we now embrace.

8 This saying is trustworthy. I want you to insist on these things, so that those who have put their faith in God may devote themselves to good actions. These things are good and helpful to other people.

9 But avoid foolish controversies, arguments about genealogies, quarrels, and fights about the Law. These things are useless and worthless.

10 Have nothing to do with a divisive person after you have warned him once or twice.

11 For you know that a person like this is corrupt and keeps on sinning, being self-condemned.

12 As soon as I send Artemas to you, or perhaps Tychicus, do your best to come to me at Nicopolis, for I have decided to spend the winter there.

13 Do all you can to send Zenas the expert in the Law and Apollos on their way, and see that they have everything they need.

14 Our own people should also learn to make good deeds a priority when urgent needs arise, so they won't be unproductive.

15 All who are with me send you greetings. Greet our fellow believers who love us. May grace be with all of you! Amen.

Proverbs 15

- 7 What the wise have to say disseminates knowledge, but it's not in the heart of fools to do so.
- 8 The sacrifice of the wicked is detestable to the LORD, but the prayer of the upright is his delight.
- 9 The lifestyle of the wicked is detestable to the LORD, but he loves those who ardently pursue righteousness.
- 10 Severe punishment awaits anyone who wanders off the path — anyone who despises reproof will die.
- 11 Since Sheol and Abaddon lie open in the LORD's presence, how much more the hearts of human beings!
- 12 The arrogant mocker never loves the one who corrects him; he will not inquire of the wise.
- 13 A happy heart enlightens the face, but a sad heart reflects a broken spirit.
- 14 A discerning mind seeks knowledge, but the mouth of fools feeds on stupidity.
- 15 The entire life of the afflicted seems disastrous, but a good heart feasts continually.
- 16 Better is a little accompanied by fear of the LORD than abundant wealth with turmoil.
- 17 A vegetarian meal served with love is better than a big, thick steak with a plateful of animosity.
- 18 The quickly angered man stirs up contention, but anyone who controls his temper calms a dispute.
- 19 The lifestyle of the lazy is like a thorny hedge, but the path taken by the upright is an open highway.
- 20 A wise son makes a father glad, but a foolish man despises his mother.
- 21 Stupidity is the delight of the senseless, but an understanding man walks uprightly.
- 22 Plans fail without advice, but with many counsellors they are confirmed.
- 23 An appropriate answer brings joy to a person, and a well-timed word is a good thing.
- 24 The way of life leads upward for the wise so he may avoid Sheol below.
- 25 The house of the proud the LORD will demolish, but he will protect the widow's boundary line.
- 26 To the LORD evil plans are detestable, but pleasant words are pure.
- 27 Those who are greedy for unjust gain bring trouble into their homes, but the person who hates bribes will live.
- 28 The mind of the righteous thinks before speaking, but the wicked person spews out evil.
- 29 The LORD is far away from the wicked, but he hears the prayers of the righteous.
- 30 Bright eyes encourage the heart; good news nourishes the body.
- 31 Whoever listens to a life-giving rebuke will be at home among the wise.
- 32 Whoever ignores instruction hates himself, but anyone who heeds reproof gains understanding.
- 33 The fear of the LORD teaches wisdom, and humility precedes honour.

Proverbs 16

- 1 People do the planning, but the end result is from the LORD.
- 2 Everything a person does seems pure in his own opinion, but the LORD weighs intentions.
- 3 Entrust your work to the LORD, and your planning will succeed.
- 4 The LORD made everything answerable to him, including the wicked at the time of trouble.
- 5 The LORD detests those who are proud; truly they will not go unpunished.

- 6 Iniquity is atoned for by gracious love and truth, and through fear of the LORD people turn from evil.
- 7 When a person's ways please the LORD, even his enemies will be at peace with him.
- 8 A little gain with righteousness is better than great income without justice.
- 9 A person plans his way, but the LORD directs his steps.
- 10 When a king is ready to speak officially, what he says should not err with respect to justice.
- 11 Honest scales and balances are from the LORD; he made all the weights in the bag.
- 12 Kings detest wrong-doing, for through righteousness the throne is established.
- 13 Kings take pleasure in righteous speech; they treasure a person who speaks what is upright.
- 14 The king's wrath results in a death sentence, but whoever is wise will appease him.
- 15 When a king is pleased, there is life, and his favour is like a cloud that brings spring rain.
- 16 How much better than gaining gold is the acquisition of wisdom, the attainment of wisdom better than silver!
- 17 The road of the upright circumvents evil, and whoever watches how he lives preserves his life.
- 18 Pride precedes destruction; an arrogant spirit appears before a fall.
- 19 Better to be humble among the poor, than to share what is stolen with the proud.
- 20 Whoever listens to a word of instruction prospers, and anyone who trusts in the LORD is blessed.
- 21 The wise-hearted person is told to be discerning, and pleasant speech promotes instruction.
- 22 Anyone who has understanding is a fountain of life, but foolishness brings punishment to fools.
- 23 A wise person's thoughts control his words, and his speech promotes instruction.
- 24 Pleasant words are honey from a honeycomb — sweet to the soul and healing for the body.
- 25 There is a road that seems right for a man to travel, but in the end it's the road to death.
- 26 The appetite of the labourer motivates him; indeed, his hunger drives him on.
- 27 A worthless person concocts evil gossip — his lips are like a burning fire.
- 28 A deceitful man stirs dissension, and anyone who gossips separates friends.
- 29 A violent man entices his companion and leads him on a path that is not good.
- 30 Whoever winks knowingly is plotting deceit; anyone who purses his lips is bent towards evil.
- 31 Grey hair is a crown of glory; it is obtained by following a righteous path.
- 32 Whoever controls his temper is better than a warrior, and anyone who has control of his spirit is better than someone who captures a city.
- 33 The die is cast into someone's lap, but the outcome is from the LORD.

Philemon

- 1 From: Paul, a prisoner of the Messiah Jesus, and Timothy our brother.
To: Philemon our dear friend and fellow worker,
- 2 to Apphia our sister, to Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church in your house.
- 3 May grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be yours!
- 4 I always thank my God when I mention you in my prayers,
- 5 because I keep hearing about your love for all the saints and the faith that you have in the Lord Jesus.
- 6 I pray that your partnership in the faith may become effective as you fully acknowledge every blessing that is ours in the Messiah.
- 7 For I have received considerable joy and encouragement from your love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed, brother, through you.
- 8 For this reason, although in the Messiah I have complete freedom to order you to do what is proper,
- 9 I prefer to make my appeal on the basis of love. I, Paul, as an old man and now a prisoner of the Messiah Jesus,
- 10 appeal to you on behalf of my child Onesimus, whose father I have become during my imprisonment.
- 11 Once he was useless to you, but now he is very useful both to you and to me.
- 12 As I send him back, it's like I'm coming along with him.
- 13 I wanted to keep him with me so that he could serve me in your place during my imprisonment for the gospel.
- 14 Yet I did not want to do anything without your consent, so that your good deed might not be something forced, but voluntary.
- 15 Perhaps this is why he was separated from you for a while, so that you could have him back forever,
- 16 no longer as a slave but better than a slave — as a dear brother, especially to me, but even more so to you, both as a person and as a believer.
- 17 So if you consider me a partner, welcome him as you would welcome me.
- 18 If he has wronged you in any way or owes you anything, charge it to my account.
- 19 I, Paul, am writing this with my own hand: I will repay it. (I will not mention to you that you owe me your very life).
- 20 Yes, brother, I desire this favour from you in the Lord. Refresh my heart in the Messiah!
- 21 Confident of your obedience, I am writing to you because I know that you will do even more than I ask.
- 22 Meanwhile, prepare a guest room for me, too, for I am hoping through your prayers to be returned to you.
- 23 Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in the Messiah Jesus, sends you greetings,
- 24 as do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, my fellow workers.
- 25 May the grace of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be with your spirit! Amen.

Proverbs 17

- 1 Dry crumbs in peace are better than a full meal with strife.
- 2 A prudent servant will rule in place of a disgraceful son and will share in the inheritance among brothers.
- 3 The crucible is for silver and the furnace for gold — but the LORD assays hearts.
- 4 Whoever practises evil pays attention to wicked speech, and the liar listens to malicious talk.
- 5 Whoever mocks the poor shows contempt for their maker, and whoever is happy about disaster will not go unpunished.
- 6 Grandchildren are the crown of the aged, and the pride of children is their parents.
- 7 Appropriate speech is inconsistent with the fool; how much more are deceitful statements with a prince!
- 8 A bribe works wonders in the eyes of its giver; wherever he turns he prospers.
- 9 Anyone who overlooks an offence promotes love, but someone who gossips separates close friends.
- 10 A rebuke is more effective with a man of understanding than a hundred lashes to a fool.
- 11 A rebellious person seeks evil; a cruel emissary will be sent to oppose him.
- 12 It's better to meet a mother bear who has lost her cubs than a fool in his stupidity.
- 13 The person who repays good with evil will never see evil leave his home.
- 14 Starting a quarrel is like spilling water — so drop the dispute before it escalates.
- 15 Exonerating the wicked and condemning the righteous are both detestable to the LORD.
- 16 What is this? A fool has enough money to buy wisdom, but is senseless?
- 17 A friend loves at all times, and a brother is there for times of trouble.
- 18 A man who lacks sense co-signs a loan, becoming a guarantor for his neighbour.
- 19 The person who loves transgression loves strife; the person who builds a high gate invites destruction.
- 20 The person whose mind is perverse does not find good, and anyone with perverted speech falls into trouble.
- 21 The man who fathers a fool does so to his sorrow — the father of a fool has no joy.
- 22 A joyful heart is good medicine, but a broken spirit drains one's strength.
- 23 The wicked man takes a bribe in secret in order to pervert the course of justice.
- 24 A person with understanding has wisdom as his objective, but a fool looks only to earthly goals.
- 25 A foolish son brings grief to his father and bitterness to his mother.
- 26 Furthermore, it isn't good to fine the righteous, or to beat an official because of his uprightness.
- 27 Whoever controls what he says is knowledgeable; anyone who has a calm spirit is a man of understanding.
- 28 Even a fool is thought to be wise when he remains silent; he is thought to be prudent when he keeps his mouth shut.

Proverbs 18

- 1 Whoever isolates himself pursues selfish ends; he resists all sound advice.
- 2 A fool finds no satisfaction in trying to understand, for he would rather express his own opinion.
- 3 When an evil person comes, contempt also comes, along with dishonour and disgrace.
- 4 The words a man says are as deep waters — a fountain of wisdom is an overflowing stream.

- 5 It's not good to be partial towards an evil person, thereby depriving the righteous of justice.
- 6 A fool's words brings strife, and his mouth invites fighting.
- 7 A fool's mouth is his unravelling, and his lips entrap himself.
- 8 The words of a gossip are like choice morsels as they descend to the innermost parts of the body.
- 9 Whoever is lazy regarding his work is also a brother to the master of destruction.
- 10 The name of the LORD is a strong tower; a righteous person rushes to it and is lifted up above the danger.
- 11 The wealth of a rich person is his fortified city; in his own imagination, it is like a high wall.
- 12 Before a man's downfall, his mind is arrogant, but humility precedes honour.
- 13 Whoever answers before listening is both foolish and shameful.
- 14 A man's spirit can sustain him during his illness, but who can bear a crushed spirit?
- 15 The mind of a discerning person gains knowledge, while the ears of wise people seek out knowledge.
- 16 A person's gift opens doors for him, bringing him access to important people.
- 17 The first to put forth his case seems right, until someone else steps forward and cross-examines him.
- 18 Casting dice settles a dispute, deciding between strong contenders.
- 19 An offended brother is more unyielding than a fortified city, and his disputes are like the bars of a fortress.
- 20 The positive words that a man speaks fill his stomach; he will be satisfied with what his lips produce.
- 21 The power of the tongue is life and death — those who love to talk will eat what it produces.
- 22 Whoever finds a wife finds what is good, and receives favour from the LORD.
- 23 The poor person pleads for mercy, but the wealthy man responds harshly.
- 24 A man with many friends can still be ruined, but a true friend sticks closer than a brother.

Proverbs 19

- 1 A poor man who walks blamelessly is better than a fool who speaks perversely.
- 2 Furthermore, it isn't good to be ignorant, and whoever rushes into things misses the mark.
- 3 A man's foolishness ruins his life, yet his heart rages against the LORD.
- 4 Wealth brings many friends, but a poor man is deserted by his friend.
- 5 A witness to lies will not go unpunished; the teller of falsehoods will not escape.
- 6 Many curry favour of an official; everyone is a friend of the gift giver.
- 7 All the relatives of a poor person shun him — how much more do his friends avoid him! Though he runs after them pleading, they aren't around.
- 8 Whoever obtains wisdom loves himself, and whoever treasures understanding will prosper.
- 9 A witness to lies will not go unpunished; the teller of falsehoods will perish.
- 10 It's not fitting for a fool to live in luxury; neither is it for a servant to rule over princes.
- 11 A person's discretion makes him slow to anger, and it is to his credit that he ignores an offence.
- 12 The king's anger is like the roaring of a lion, but his goodwill is like dew on the grass.

Hebrews 1

- 1 God, having spoken in former times in fragmentary and varied fashion to our forefathers by the prophets,
- 2 has in these last days spoken to us by a Son whom he appointed to be the heir of everything and through whom he also made the universe.
- 3 He is the reflection of God's glory and the exact likeness of his being, and he holds everything together by his powerful word. After he had provided a cleansing from sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Highest Majesty
- 4 and became as much superior to the angels as the name he has inherited is better than theirs.
- 5 For to which of the angels did God ever say, "You are my Son. Today I have become your Father"? Or again, "I will be his Father, and he will be my Son"?
- 6 And again, when he brings his firstborn into the world, he says, "Let all God's angels worship him."
- 7 Now about the angels he says, "He makes his angels winds, and his servants flames of fire."
- 8 But about the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, and the sceptre of your kingdom is a righteous sceptre.
- 9 You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness. That is why God, your God, anointed you rather than your companions with the oil of gladness."
- 10 And, "In the beginning, Lord, you laid the foundation of the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands.
- 11 They will come to an end, but you will remain forever. They will all wear out like clothes.
- 12 You will roll them up like a robe, and they will be changed like clothes. But you remain the same, and your life will never end."
- 13 But to which of the angels did he ever say, "Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet"?
- 14 All of them are spirits on a divine mission, sent to serve those who are about to inherit salvation, aren't they?

Hebrews 2

- 1 For this reason we must pay closer attention to the things we have heard, or we may drift away,
- 2 because if the message spoken by angels was reliable, and every violation and act of disobedience received its just punishment,
- 3 how will we escape if we neglect a salvation as great as this? It was first proclaimed by the Lord himself, and then it was confirmed to us by those who heard him,
- 4 while God added his testimony through signs, wonders, various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit distributed according to his will.

25th September

Proverbs 19

- 13 A father's ruin is a foolish son, and a wife's quarrelling is like dripping water that never stops.
- 14 A house and self-sufficiency are a father's inheritance, but from the LORD comes an insightful wife.
- 15 Laziness puts one to sleep, and an idle person will go hungry.
- 16 Whoever obeys a commandment keeps himself safe, but someone who is contemptuous in conduct will die.
- 17 Whoever is kind to the poor is lending to the LORD — the benefit of his gift will return to him in abundance.
- 18 Discipline your son while there is still hope — but don't set your heart on his destruction.
- 19 The person who has great anger must pay the consequences, because if you rescue him, you will have to do it again.
- 20 Listen to advice and accept discipline, and you'll be wise for the rest of your life.
- 21 Many plans occupy the mind of a man, but the LORD's purposes will prevail.
- 22 Human beings long for grace, and it's better to be poor than a man of deceit.
- 23 The fear of the LORD leads to life; whoever is satisfied with it will rest, untouched by evil.
- 24 The lazy person buries his hand in his dish and doesn't bother to bring it back to his mouth.
- 25 If you scourge a scoffer, the simple person may learn to be discreet; rebuke a discerning man and he will gain understanding.
- 26 Whoever mistreats his father and alienates his mother is a son who brings both shame and disrespect.
- 27 My son, if you stop listening to instruction, you will stray from the principles of knowledge.
- 28 A corrupt witness mocks justice, and the wicked person feeds on iniquity.
- 29 Condemnation is appropriate for mockers, just as beatings are for the backs of fools.

Proverbs 20

- 1 Wine causes mocking, and beer causes fights; everyone led astray by them lacks wisdom.
- 2 A king's anger is like a lion's roar; anyone who angers him forfeits his life.
- 3 Avoiding strife brings a man honour, but every fool is quarrelsome.
- 4 A lazy person doesn't plough in the proper season; he looks for a harvest, but there is nothing.
- 5 The intentions of a person's heart are deep waters, but a discerning person reveals them.
- 6 Many claim "I'm a loyal person!" but who can find someone who truly is?
- 7 The righteous person lives a life of integrity; happy are his children who follow him!
- 8 A king sits on a throne of justice, sifting out all sorts of evil with his glance.
- 9 Who can say, "My intentions are pure; I am clean from any sin?"
- 10 False weights and measures — the LORD surely detests both of them.
- 11 Even a child is known by his actions, whether his deeds are pure and right.
- 12 The ear that hears and the eye that sees — the LORD surely made them both.
- 13 Do not love sleep or you'll become poor, keep your eyes open and you'll have plenty of food.
- 14 "This is bad, bad," says whoever is buying — but then he brags as he walks away after the sale.

- 15 There is an abundance of gold and precious stones, but lips of knowledge are a rare jewel.
- 16 Take the garment of anyone who puts up collateral for a stranger; hold it in pledge if he does it for an unfamiliar woman.
- 17 Bread gained by deceit is sweet to a man, but later his mouth will be full of gravel.
- 18 Make plans by seeking advice; make war by obtaining guidance.
- 19 Whoever spreads gossip betrays confidences; so don't get involved with someone who talks too much.
- 20 Whoever curses his father or mother, his lamp will be extinguished in the deepest darkness.
- 21 An inheritance quickly obtained at the beginning will not be blessed at the end.
- 22 Don't say "I'll avenge that wrong!" Wait on the LORD and he will deliver you.
- 23 The LORD detests differing weights, and dishonest scales are not good.
- 24 A man's steps are directed by the LORD; how then can anyone understand his own way?
- 25 It is a trap for a person to declare quickly, "This is sacred," and only later to have second thoughts about the vows.
- 26 A wise king sifts the wicked, crushing them with the threshing wheel.
- 27 A person's spirit is the lamp of the LORD; it searches throughout one's innermost being.
- 28 Gracious love and truth preserve a king; through love his throne is made secure.
- 29 The glory of young men is their strength; and the splendour of elders is their grey hair.
- 30 Blows that wound clean away evil; such beatings cleanse the innermost being.

Proverbs 21

- 1 A king's heart is a water stream that the LORD controls; he directs it wherever he pleases.
- 2 Every man's lifestyle is proper in his own view, but the LORD weighs the heart.
- 3 To do what is right and just is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.
- 4 A proud heart and a haughty look is sin; they reveal wicked people.
- 5 Plans of the persistent surely lead to productivity, but all who are hasty will surely become poor.
- 6 A fortune gained by deceit is a fleeting vapour and a deadly snare.
- 7 Devastation caused by the wicked will drag them away because they refuse to do what is just.
- 8 The conduct of a guilty man is perverse, but the behaviour of the pure is upright.
- 9 It's better to live in a corner on the roof than to share a house with a contentious woman.
- 10 The soul of the wicked craves evil; he extends no mercy to his neighbour.
- 11 When a mocker is punished, the fool gains wisdom; but when the wise is instructed, he receives knowledge.
- 12 The righteous God considers the house of the wicked, bringing the wicked to ruin.
- 13 Whoever refuses to hear the cry of the poor will also cry himself, but he won't be answered.
- 14 Privately given gifts pacify wrath, and payments made secretly appease great anger.
- 15 Administering justice brings joy to the righteous, but terror to those who practise iniquity.
- 16 Whoever wanders from the path of understanding will end up where the dead are gathered.

Hebrews 2

5 For he did not put the coming world we are talking about under the control of angels.

6 Instead, someone has declared somewhere, "What is man that you should remember him, or the son of man that you should care for him?"

7 You made him a little lower than the angels, yet you crowned him with glory and honour
8 and put everything under his feet." Now when God put everything under him, he left nothing outside his control. However, at the present time we do not yet see everything put under him.

9 But we do see someone who was made a little lower than the angels. He is Jesus, who is crowned with glory and honour because he suffered death, so that by the grace of God he might experience death for everyone.

10 It was fitting that God, for whom and through whom everything exists, should make the pioneer of their salvation perfect through suffering as part of his plan to glorify many children,

11 because both the one who sanctifies and those who are being sanctified all have the same Father. That is why Jesus is not ashamed to call them brothers

12 when he says, "I will announce your name to my brothers. I will praise you within the congregation."

13 And again, "I will trust him." And again, "I am here with the children God has given me."

14 Therefore, since the children have flesh and blood, he himself also shared the same things, so that by his death he might destroy the one who has the power of death (that is, the devil)

15 and might free those who were slaves all their lives because they were terrified by death.

16 For it is clear that he did not come to help angels. No, he came to help Abraham's descendants,

17 thereby becoming like his brothers in every way, so that he could be a merciful and faithful high priest in service to God and could atone for the people's sins.

18 Because he himself suffered when he was tempted, he is able to help those who are being tempted.

Hebrews 3

1 Therefore, holy brothers, partners in a heavenly calling, keep your focus on Jesus, the apostle and high priest of our confession.

2 He was faithful to the one who appointed him, just as Moses was in all God's household,

3 because he is worthy of greater glory than Moses in the same way that the builder of a house has greater honour than the house itself.

4 After all, every house is built by someone, but God is the builder of everything.

5 Moses was faithful in all God's household as a servant who was to testify to what would be said later,

6 but the Messiah was faithful as the Son in charge of God's household, and we are his household if we hold on to our courage and the hope in which we rejoice.

Proverbs 21

- 17 Pleasure lovers become poor; loving wine and oil doesn't bring riches.
- 18 The wicked are ransom for the righteous, and the unfaithful for the upright.
- 19 It's better to live in the wilderness than to live with a contentious and irritable woman.
- 20 Precious treasures and oil are found where the wise live, but a foolish man devours them.
- 21 Whoever pursues righteousness and gracious love finds life, righteousness, and honour.
- 22 A wise man attacks the city of the mighty, bringing down the fortress in which they trust.
- 23 Whoever watches his mouth and tongue keeps himself from trouble.
- 24 The names "Proud," "Arrogant," and "Mocker" fit whoever acts with presumptuous conceit.
- 25 What the lazy person craves will kill him, because his hands refuse to work.
- 26 All day long he continues to crave, while the righteous person gives without holding back.
- 27 What the wicked person sacrifices is detestable — how much more when he offers it with vile motives!
- 28 A false witness will perish, but whoever listens will testify successfully.
- 29 The wicked man puts up a bold appearance, but the upright thinks about what he is doing.
- 30 No wisdom, insight, or counsel can prevail against the LORD.
- 31 The horse may be prepared for the day of battle, but to the LORD gives the victory.

Proverbs 22

- 1 A good reputation is more desirable than great wealth, and favourable acceptance more than silver and gold.
- 2 The rich and the poor have this in common — the LORD created both of them.
- 3 The prudent person sees trouble ahead and hides, but the naive continue on and suffer the consequences.
- 4 The reward of humility is the fear of the LORD, along with wealth, honour, and life.
- 5 Thorns and snares lie in the path of the perverse person, but whoever is cautious stays far away from them.
- 6 Train a child in the way appropriate for him, and when he becomes older, he will not turn from it.
- 7 The wealthy rule over the poor, and anyone who borrows is a slave to the lender.
- 8 Whoever sows wickedness reaps trouble, and the anger he uses for a weapon will be destroyed.
- 9 Whoever is generous will be blessed, for he shares his food with the poor.
- 10 Throw out the mocker and strife departs, too; furthermore, quarrels and discord will end.
- 11 Whoever loves purity and gracious speech will gain the king as his friend.
- 12 The LORD watches over anyone with knowledge, but he ruins the plans of the unfaithful.
- 13 The lazy person says, "There is a lion outside! I will be killed in the street!"
- 14 The mouth of an immoral woman is a deep pit; a man experiencing the LORD's wrath will fall into it.
- 15 A child's heart has a tendency to do wrong, but the rod of discipline removes it far away from him.
- 16 Whoever oppresses the poor to enrich himself and whoever gives gifts to the wealthy will yield only loss.
- 17 Pay attention and listen to the words of the wise, and apply your heart to my teaching,

18 for it is pleasant when you treasure them within you and have them ready on your lips.
19 As a result, your trust will be in the LORD, that's why I'm teaching you today, even you.
20 Have I not written for you 30 sayings containing counsel and knowledge,
21 to teach you true and reliable advice, so you can give truthful answers to those who sent you?
22 Don't rob the poor person because he is poor, and don't crush the helpless in court,
23 for the LORD will plead their case and ruin the lives of those who ruin them.
24 Don't make friends with a hot-tempered man, and do not associate with someone who is easily angered,
25 or you may learn his ways and find yourself caught in a trap.
26 Don't be one of those who make promises to guarantee loans for debts.
27 If you don't have the ability to pay, why should your very bed be taken from under you?
28 Don't remove an ancient boundary stone that was set up by your ancestors.
29 Do you see a man skilled in his work? He will work for kings, not unimportant people.

Proverbs 23

1 Whenever you sit down to dine with a ruler, carefully think about what is before you.
2 Put a knife to your own throat, if you have a big appetite.
3 Don't crave his delicacies, because the meal is deceptive.
4 Don't exhaust yourself acquiring wealth; be smart enough to stop.
5 When you fix your gaze on it, it's gone, for it sprouts wings for itself and flies to the sky like an eagle.
6 Don't consume food provided by a miserly person, and don't desire his delicacies,
7 for as he thinks within himself, so he is. "Eat and drink!" he'll say to you, but his heart won't be with you.
8 You'll vomit up what little you've eaten, and your compliments will have been wasted.
9 Don't speak when a fool is listening, because he'll despise your wise words.
10 Don't move ancient boundaries or invade fields belonging to orphans;
11 for strong is their Redeemer who will take up their case against you.
12 Learn diligently, and listen to words of knowledge.
13 Don't withhold discipline from a child; if you punish him with a rod, he won't die.
14 Punish him with a rod, and you will rescue his soul from Sheol.
15 My son, if your heart is wise, my own heart will greatly rejoice.
16 My innermost being will be glad when your lips speak what is right.
17 Never let yourself envy sinners; instead, remain in fear of the LORD every day, 18 for there is surely a future life, and what you hope for will not be cut off.

Hebrews 3

7 Therefore, as the Holy Spirit says, "Today, if you hear his voice,
8 do not harden your hearts as they did when they provoked me during the time of testing in the wilderness.
9 There your ancestors tested me, even though they had seen my actions
10 for 40 years. That is why I was indignant with that generation and said, 'They are always going astray in their hearts, and they have not known my ways.'
11 So in my anger I swore a solemn oath that they would never enter my rest."
12 See to it, my brothers, that no evil, unbelieving heart is found in any of you, as shown by your turning away from the living God.
13 Instead, continue to encourage one another every day, as long as it is called "Today," so that none of you may be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin,
14 because we are the Messiah's partners only if we hold on to our original confidence to the end.
15 As it is said, "Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts as they did when they provoked me."
16 Now who heard him and provoked him? Was it not all those who came out of Egypt led by Moses?
17 And with whom was he angry for 40 years? Was it not with those who sinned and whose bodies fell dead in the wilderness?
18 And to whom did he swear that they would never enter his rest? It was to those who disobeyed him, was it not?
19 So we see that they were unable to enter because of their unbelief.

Hebrews 4

1 Therefore, as long as the promise of entering his rest remains valid, let us be afraid! Otherwise, some of you will fail to reach it,
2 because we have had the good news told to us as well as to them. But the message they heard did not help them, because they were not united by faith with those who listened to it.
3 We who have believed are entering that rest, just as he has said, "So in my anger I swore a solemn oath that they would never enter my rest," even though his actions had been finished since the creation of the world.
4 Somewhere he has spoken about the seventh day as follows: "On the seventh day God rested from all his actions,"
5 and again in this passage, "They will never enter my rest."
6 Therefore, since it is still true that some will enter it, and since those who once heard the good news failed to enter it because of their disobedience,
7 he again fixes a definite day — "Today" — saying long afterward through David, as already quoted, "Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts."
8 For if Joshua had given them rest, he would not have spoken later about another day.

Proverbs 23

- 19 Listen, my son, and be wise, commit yourself to live God's way.
- 20 Don't associate with heavy drinkers or dine with gluttons,
- 21 because drunks and gluttons tend to become poor, and drowsiness will clothe them in rags.
- 22 Listen to the one who fathered you, and don't despise your mother in her old age.
- 23 Purchase truth, but don't sell it; store up wisdom, instruction, and understanding.
- 24 The father of a righteous person will greatly rejoice; whoever fathers a wise son will be glad because of him.
- 25 Let your father and mother rejoice; make the one who gave birth to you happy.
- 26 Give me your heart, my son, and keep your eyes fixed on my ways,
- 27 because a prostitute is a deep pit, and the adulterous woman a narrow well.
- 28 Surely she lies in wait like a bandit, increasing those who are faithless among mankind.
- 29 Who has woe? Who has grief? Who has contention? Who has complaints? Who has wounds without cause? Who has bloodshot eyes?
- 30 Those who linger over their wine, who consume mixed drinks.
- 31 Don't stare into red wine, when it sparkles in the cup and goes down smoothly.
- 32 Eventually it will bite like a snake and sting like a serpent.
- 33 Your eyes will see strange things, and with slurred words you'll speak what you really believe.
- 34 You will be like someone who lies down in the sea, or like someone who sleeps on top of a mast.
- 35 "They struck me," you will say, "but I never felt it. They beat me, but I never knew it. When will I wake up? I want another drink."

Proverbs 24

- 1 Don't be envious of wicked men or wish you were with them,
- 2 because they plan violence, and they are always talking about trouble.
- 3 By wisdom a house is built; it is made secure through understanding.
- 4 By knowledge its rooms are furnished with all sorts of expensive and beautiful goods.
- 5 A wise man is strong, and a knowledgeable man grows in strength.
- 6 For through wise counsel you will wage your war, and victory lies in an abundance of advisors.
- 7 Wisdom lies beyond reach of the fool; he has nothing to say in court.
- 8 The person who plans on doing evil will be called a schemer.
- 9 To devise folly is sin, and people detest a scoffer.
- 10 If you grow weary when times are troubled, your strength is limited.
- 11 Rescue those who are being led away to death, and save those who stumble toward slaughter.
- 12 If you say, "Look here, we didn't know about this," doesn't God, who examines motives, discern it? Doesn't the one who guards your soul know about it? Won't he repay each person according to what he has done?
- 13 My son, eat honey, because it's good for you; indeed, drippings from the honeycomb are sweet to your taste;
- 14 Keep in mind that wisdom is like that for your soul; if you find it, there will be a future for you, and what you hope for won't be cut short.
- 15 Don't lie in wait like an outlaw to attack where the righteous live;
- 16 for though a righteous man falls seven times, he will rise again, but the wicked stumble into calamity.
- 17 Don't rejoice when your enemy falls; don't let yourself be glad when he stumbles.

18 Otherwise the LORD will observe and disapprove, and he will turn his anger away from him.
19 Don't be anxious about those who practise evil, and don't be envious of the wicked.
20 For the wicked man has no future; the lamp of the wicked will be extinguished.
21 My son, fear both the LORD and the king, and don't keep company with rebels.
22 They will be destroyed suddenly, and who knows what kind of punishment will come from these two?
23 Here are some more proverbs from wise people: It isn't good to show partiality in judgement.
24 Whoever says to the wicked, "You're in the right," will be cursed by people and hated by nations.
25 But as for people who rebuke the wicked; a good blessing will fall upon them.
26 A kiss on the lips — that's what someone who gives an honest answer deserves.
27 First do your outside work, preparing your land for yourself. After that, build your house.
28 Don't testify against your neighbour without a cause, and don't lie when you speak.
29 Don't say, "I'll do to him like he did to me, I'll be sure to pay him back for what he did."
30 I went by the field belonging to a lazy man, by a vineyard belonging to a senseless person.
31 There it was, overgrown with thistles, the ground covered with thorns, its stone wall collapsed.
32 As I observed, I thought about it; I watched, and learned a lesson:
33 "A little sleep! A little slumber! A little folding of my hands to rest!"
34 Then your poverty will come upon you like a robber, your need like an armed bandit.

Proverbs 25

1 Here are some more proverbs by Solomon, which the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah, transcribed.
2 It is the glory of God to conceal something, but the glory of kings to ask about it.
3 Just as the heavens are high and earth is deep, so the heart of a king is unfathomable.
4 Purge the dross from the silver, and material for a vessel comes forth for the silversmith.
5 Purge the wicked from the king's presence, and his throne will be established in righteousness.
6 Don't magnify yourself in the presence of a king, and don't pretend to be in the company of famous men,
7 for it is better that it be told you, "Come up here," than for you to be placed lower in the presence of an official. What you've seen with your own eyes,
8 don't be in a hurry to argue in court. Otherwise, what will you do later on when your neighbour humiliates you?
9 Instead, take up the matter with your neighbour, and don't betray another person's confidence.
10 Otherwise, anyone who hears will make you ashamed, and your bad reputation will never leave you.
11 Like golden apples set in silver is a word spoken at the right time.
12 Like a gold earring and a necklace of pure gold is a wise reprover to a listening ear.

Hebrews 4

- 9 There remains, therefore, a Sabbath rest for the people of God,
10 because the one who enters God's rest has himself rested from his own actions, just as God did from his.
11 Let us, therefore, make every effort to enter that rest, so that no one may fail by following their example of disobedience.
12 For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any double-edged sword, piercing until it divides soul and spirit, joints and marrow, as it judges the thoughts and purposes of the heart.
13 No creature can hide from him, but everyone is exposed and helpless before the eyes of the one to whom we must give a word of explanation.
14 Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has gone to heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us live our lives consistent with our confession of faith.
15 For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses. Instead, we have one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet he never sinned.
16 So let us keep on coming boldly to the throne of grace, so that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.

Hebrews 5

- 1 For every high priest selected from among men is appointed to officiate on their behalf in matters relating to God, that is, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins.
2 He can deal gently with people who are ignorant and easily deceived, since he himself is subject to weakness.
3 For that reason he is obligated to offer sacrifices for his own sins as well as for those of the people.
4 No one takes this honour upon himself but he is called to it by God, just as Aaron was.
5 In the same way, the Messiah did not take upon himself the glory of being a high priest. No, it was God who said to him, "You are my Son. Today I have become your Father."
6 As he also says in another place, "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."
7 As a mortal man, he offered up prayers and appeals with loud cries and tears to the one who was able to save him from death, and he was heard because of his devotion to God.
8 Son though he was, he learned obedience through his sufferings
9 and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him,
10 having been designated by God to be a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.
11 We have much to say about this, but it is difficult to explain because you have become too lazy to understand.
12 In fact, though by now you should be teachers, you still need someone to teach you the basic truths of God's word. You have become people who need milk instead of solid food.
13 For everyone who lives on milk is still a baby and does not yet know the difference between right and wrong.
14 But solid food is for mature people, whose minds are trained by practice to distinguish good from evil.

Proverbs 25

- 13 Like cold snow during harvest time is a faithful messenger to those who send him; he refreshes his masters.
- 14 Like clouds and winds without rain is the man who brags about gifts he never gave.
- 15 Through patience a ruler may be persuaded; a gentle word can break a bone.
- 16 If you find some honey, eat only what you need. Take too much, and you'll vomit.
- 17 Seldom set foot in your neighbour's home; otherwise, he'll grow weary and hate you.
- 18 A club, a sword, and a sharp arrow — that's what a man is who lies about his neighbour.
- 19 A bad tooth and an unsteady foot — that's what confidence in an unreliable man is like in a time of trouble.
- 20 Taking your coat off when it's cold or pouring vinegar on soda — that's what singing songs does to a heavy heart.
- 21 If your enemy hungers, give him food to eat; and if he thirsts, give him water to drink.
- 22 For you'll be piling burning coals of shame on his head and the LORD will reward you.
- 23 The north wind brings rain, and a backbiting tongue an angry look.
- 24 It's better to live in a corner on the roof than in a house with a contentious woman.
- 25 Cold water to someone who is thirsty — that's what good news from a distant land is.
- 26 A muddied spring or a polluted well — that's what a righteous person is who compromises with the wicked.
- 27 To eat too much honey isn't good; and neither is it honourable to seek one's own glory.
- 28 Like a city with breached walls is a man without self-control.

Proverbs 26

- 1 Like snowfall in summer or rain at harvest time, so honour is inappropriate for a fool.
- 2 Like a fluttering sparrow or a swallow in flight, a curse without cause will not alight.
- 3 A whip is for the horses, a bridle is for the donkey, a rod is for the back of fools.
- 4 Don't answer a fool according to his foolishness, or you will be just like him.
- 5 Answer a fool according to his foolishness, or he will think himself to be wise.
- 6 Whoever sends a message by the hand of a fool cuts off his own feet and drinks violence.
- 7 Useless legs to the lame — that's what a proverb quoted by a fool is.
- 8 Tying a stone to a sling — that's what giving honour to a fool is.
- 9 A thorn in the hand of a drunkard — that's what a proverb quoted by a fool is.
- 10 An archer who shoots at anyone — is like someone who hires a fool or anyone who passes by.
- 11 A dog that returns to its vomit is like a fool who reverts to his folly.
- 12 Do you see a man who is wise in his own opinion? There's more hope for a fool than for him.
- 13 The lazy person claims, "There is a lion in the road! There's a lion in the streets!"
- 14 The door turns on its hinges — as does the lazy person on his bed.
- 15 The lazy person buries his hand in the dish, but he's too tired to bring it to his mouth again.
- 16 The lazy person is wiser in his own opinion than seven men who can give an appropriate response.
- 17 Picking up a dog by the ears — that's what someone is like who meddles in another's fight.
- 18 Like the maniac who shoots fiery darts and deadly arrows —
- 19 that's what someone is like who lies to his neighbour and then says, "I was joking, wasn't I?"

- 20 Without wood, the fire goes out. Without a gossip, contention stops.
- 21 Charcoal is to hot coals as wood is to fire; so also a quarrelsome man fuels strife.
- 22 The words of a gossip are like delicate morsels; they sink down deep within.
- 23 A clay vessel plated with a thin veneer of silver — that's what smooth lips with a wicked heart are.
- 24 Someone who hates hides behind his words, harbouring deceit within himself.
- 25 Though he speaks graciously, don't believe him, for there are seven detestable things in his heart.
- 26 Though malice disguises itself with deception, its evil will be exposed publicly.
- 27 Whoever digs a pit will fall into it, and the stone will come back on whoever starts it rolling.
- 28 A lying tongue hates its victims, and a flattering mouth causes ruin.

Proverbs 27

- 1 Never brag about the day to come, because you don't know what it might bring.
- 2 Let someone else praise you, not your own mouth; a stranger, and never your own lips.
- 3 Rocks are heavy, and sand is weighty, but a fool's provocation outweighs them both.
- 4 Wrath can be fierce and anger overwhelms but who can stand up to jealousy?
- 5 An open rebuke is better than unspoken love.
- 6 Wounds from someone who loves are trustworthy, but kisses from an enemy speak volumes.
- 7 The person who is full spurns honey, but to a hungry person even the bitter seems sweet.
- 8 Like a bird that strays from its nest is a man who wanders away from his home.
- 9 Ointments and perfume encourage the heart; in a similar way, a friend's advice is sweet to the soul.
- 10 Never abandon your friend nor your father's friend, and don't go to your brother's house in times of trouble. A neighbour who is near is better than a brother who lives far away.
- 11 Be wise, my son, and make me happy, so I can reply to anyone who insults me.
- 12 Those who are prudent see danger and take refuge, but the naïve continue on and suffer the consequences.
- 13 Take the coat of anyone who puts up security for a stranger; hold it in pledge if he co-signs for an immoral woman.
- 14 A friend's loud blessing early in the morning will be thought of as a curse.
- 15 A continual dripping on a rainy day and a contentious wife are alike.
- 16 Trying to keep her in check is like stopping a wind storm or grabbing oil with your right hand.
- 17 Iron sharpens iron; so a man sharpens a friend's character.
- 18 Whoever nurtures the fig tree will eat its fruit, and whoever obeys his master will be honoured.
- 19 Just as water reflects the face, so the heart reflects the person.

Hebrews 6

1 Therefore, leaving behind the elementary teachings about the Messiah, let us continue to be carried along to maturity, not laying again a foundation of repentance from dead actions, faith toward God,

2 instruction about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgement.

3 And this we will do, if God permits.

4 For it is impossible to keep on restoring to repentance time and again people who have once been enlightened, who have tasted the heavenly gift, who have become partners with the Holy Spirit,

5 who have tasted the goodness of God's word and the powers of the coming age,

6 and who have fallen away, as long as they continue to crucify the Son of God to their own detriment by exposing him to public ridicule.

7 For when the ground soaks up rain that often falls on it and continues producing vegetation useful to those for whom it is cultivated, it receives a blessing from God.

8 However, if it continues to produce thorns and thistles, it is worthless and in danger of being cursed, and in the end will be burned.

9 Even though we speak like this, dear friends, we are convinced of better things in your case, things that point to salvation.

10 For God is not so unjust as to forget your work and the love you have shown him as you have ministered to the saints and continue to minister to them.

11 But we want each of you to continue to be diligent to the very end, in order to give full assurance to your hope.

12 Then, instead of being lazy, you will imitate those who are inheriting the promises through faith and patience.

13 For when God made his promise to Abraham, he swore an oath by himself, since he had no one greater to swear by.

14 He said, "I will certainly bless you and give you many descendants."

15 And so he obtained what he had been promised, because he patiently waited for it.

16 For people swear by someone greater than themselves, and an oath given as confirmation puts an end to all argument.

17 In the same way, when God wanted to make the unchangeable character of his purpose perfectly clear to the heirs of his promise, he guaranteed it with an oath,

18 so that by these two unchangeable things, in which it is impossible for God to prove false, we who have taken refuge in him might be encouraged to seize the hope set before us.

19 That hope, firm and secure like an anchor for our souls, reaches behind the curtain

20 where Jesus, our forerunner, has gone on our behalf, having become a high priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Proverbs 27

- 20 Sheol and Abaddon are never satiated, and neither are human eyes.
- 21 As the crucible tests silver, and the furnace assays gold; so praise received tests a man.
- 22 Though you crush a fool in a mortar and pestle as someone might crush grain, his stupidity still won't leave him.
- 23 Keep well informed of the condition of your flocks and pay attention to your herds,
- 24 because riches don't endure forever, and crowns don't last from one generation to the next.
- 25 When the grass disappears, and new growth appears, the mountain spices will be harvested,
- 26 the lambs will supply your clothing, and your goats the price of a field.
- 27 You will have enough goat's milk to drink and to supply your household needs, as well as sustenance for your servant girls.

Proverbs 28

- 1 The wicked flee, though no one pursues, but the righteous are bold like a lion.
- 2 When a land transgresses, it gains a succession of leaders, but with an understanding and knowledgeable man, its stability endures.
- 3 A poor man who oppresses the weak is like a rainstorm that destroys all the crops.
- 4 Those who forsake the Law praise the wicked, but whoever keeps it fights them.
- 5 Evil men don't understand justice, but whoever seeks the LORD understands it all.
- 6 It's better to be poor and live a blameless life than to be rich but crooked in one's lifestyle.
- 7 Whoever keeps the Law is a discerning son, but whoever keeps company with gluttons brings shame to his father.
- 8 Whoever gains wealth by charging exorbitant interest collects it for someone who is kind to the poor.
- 9 If someone quits listening to the Law even his prayer is detestable.
- 10 Whoever misleads the upright along an evil way will himself fall into his own pit, but the blameless will inherit what is good.
- 11 The rich man may be wise in his own opinion; but a discerning, poor man sees through him.
- 12 When the righteous are victorious, there is great glory, but when the wicked arise, men hide themselves.
- 13 Whoever hides his transgressions will not succeed, but whoever confesses and forsakes them will find mercy.
- 14 Blessed is the man who always fears the LORD, but whoever hardens his heart will fall into disaster.
- 15 A roaring lion and a charging bear — that's what a wicked tyrant is over poor people.
- 16 A Commander-in-Chief who is a cruel oppressor lacks understanding, but whoever hates unjust gain will live longer.
- 17 A guilty man tormented by bloodshed will be a lifelong fugitive; let no one support him.
- 18 Whoever lives blamelessly will be delivered, but whoever is perverted will fall without warning.
- 19 Whoever works his farmland will have abundant food, but whoever chases fantasies will become very poor.
- 20 The faithful man will prosper with blessings, but whoever is in a hurry to get rich will not escape punishment.
- 21 To show partiality isn't good, yet for a piece of bread the valiant will transgress.

- 22 The miser is in a hurry to get wealthy, but he isn't aware that poverty will catch up with him.
- 23 Whoever rebukes a man will later on find more favour than someone who flatters with his words.
- 24 Whoever steals from his father or mother but claims, "It's no sin," is a companion to someone who demolishes.
- 25 An arrogant man stirs up dissension, but anyone who trusts in the LORD prospers.
- 26 Whoever trusts in himself is foolish, but whoever lives wisely will be kept safe.
- 27 Whoever gives to the poor will never lack, but whoever shuts his eyes to their poverty will be cursed.
- 28 When the wicked rise to power, people hide themselves, but when the wicked perish, the righteous increase.

Proverbs 29

- 1 After many rebukes, the stiff-necked man will be broken incurably, without any warning.
- 2 As the righteous grow powerful, people rejoice; but when the wicked rule, people groan.
- 3 The man who loves wisdom brings joy to his father, but anyone who consorts with immoral women squanders his wealth.
- 4 A king brings stability to a land through justice, but a man who takes bribes brings it to ruin.
- 5 A strong man who flatters his neighbour is setting a trap where he walks.
- 6 An evil man is trapped by transgression, but the righteous person sings and rejoices.
- 7 The righteous person is concerned about the poor; but the wicked don't understand what they need to know.
- 8 Scornful men enflame a city, but the wise defuse anger.
- 9 When a wise man has a dispute with a fool, the fool either rages or laughs without relief.
- 10 Bloodthirsty men hate the innocent person, but the upright show concern for his life.
- 11 The fool vents all his feelings, but the wise person keeps them to himself.
- 12 When a ruler is listening to lies, all of his officials tend to become wicked.
- 13 The poor man and the oppressor have this in common: the LORD gave them both eyes with which to see.
- 14 When a king faithfully administers justice to the poor, his throne will be established forever.
- 15 The rod and rebuke bestow wisdom, but an undisciplined child brings shame to his mother.
- 16 As the wicked grow powerful, transgression increases, but the righteous will observe their downfall.
- 17 Correct your son and he will comfort you; he will also delight your soul.
- 18 Without prophetic vision, people abandon restraint, but those who obey the Law are happy.
- 19 By mere words a servant will not be corrected; even though he understands, there will be no response.
- 20 Do you see a man who speaks hastily? There is more hope for a fool than for him.
- 21 If you pamper a servant from his childhood, later on he'll become ungrateful.
- 22 An angry man stirs up arguments, and a hot-tempered man causes many transgressions.
- 23 A person's pride will bring about his downfall, but the humble in spirit will gain honour.
- 24 A thief's accomplice hates himself; though testifying under oath, he reveals nothing.
- 25 Fearing any human being is a trap, but confiding in the LORD keeps anyone safe.
- 26 Many seek a ruler's favour, but justice for a man comes from the LORD.
- 27 The unjust man is detestable to the righteous, and whoever lives blamelessly is detestable to the wicked.

Hebrews 7

1 Now this man Melchizedek, king of Salem and priest of the Most High God, met Abraham and blessed him when he was returning from defeating the kings.

2 Abraham gave Melchizedek a tenth of everything. In the first place, his name means "king of righteousness," and then he is also king of Salem, that is, "king of peace."

3 He has no father, mother, or genealogy, no birth date recorded for him, nor a date of death. Like the Son of God, he continues to be a priest forever.

4 Just look at how great this man was! Even Abraham — the patriarch himself — gave him a tenth of what he had captured!

5 The descendants of Levi who accept the priesthood have a commandment in the Law to collect a tenth from the people, that is, from their own brothers, even though they are also descendants of Abraham.

6 But this man, whose descent is not traced from them, collected a tenth from Abraham and blessed the man who had received the promises.

7 It is beyond dispute that the less important person is blessed by the more important person.

8 Mortal men collect tithes, but we are informed by Scripture that Melchizedek keeps on living.

9 One might even say that Levi, who collects the tenth, paid the tenth through Abraham, 10 because Levi was still inside his ancestor when Melchizedek met him.

11 Now if perfection could have been attained through the Levitical priesthood — for on this basis the people received the Law — what further need would there be to speak of appointing another kind of priest according to the order of Melchizedek, not one according to the order of Aaron?

12 When a change in the priesthood takes place, there must also be a change in the Law. 13 For the person we are talking about belonged to a different tribe, and no one from that tribe has ever served at the altar.

14 Furthermore, it is obvious that our Lord was a descendant of Judah, and Moses said nothing about priests coming from that tribe.

15 This point is even more obvious in that another priest who is like Melchizedek has appeared 16 who was appointed to be a priest, not on the basis of a genealogical registry, but rather on the power of an indestructible life.

17 For it is declared about him, "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."

18 Indeed, because it was weak and ineffective, the former commandment has been annulled,

19 since the Law made nothing perfect, and a better hope is presented, by which we approach God.

20 Now none of this happened without an oath. Others became priests without any oath, 21 but Jesus became a priest with an oath when God told him, "The Lord has taken an oath and will not change his mind. You are a priest forever."

22 In this way, Jesus has become the guarantor of a better covenant.

23 There have been many priests, since each one of them had to stop serving in office when he died.

24 But because Jesus lives forever, he has a permanent priesthood.

25 Therefore, because he always lives to intercede for them, he is able to save completely those who come to God through him.

30th September

Proverbs 30

- 1 A discourse by the faithful collector. This is what this valiant man declared to the God with me, to the God with me, who then prevailed:
- 2 Surely I am beyond the senselessness of any man; I do not perceive things the way human beings do.
- 3 I never acquired wisdom, but I know what the Holy One knows.
- 4 Who has ascended to heaven, and then descended? Who has collected the wind in his hands? Who has wrapped up waters in a garment? Who has established all the farthest points of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son's name? Surely you know!
- 5 Everything God says is pure; he is a shield for those who take refuge in him.
- 6 Don't add to his words, or he will rebuke you, and you will be shown to be a liar.
- 7 God, I have asked you for two things — don't refuse me before I die —
- 8 Keep deception and lies far away from me, and give me neither poverty nor wealth. Feed me with food that I need for today,
- 9 so that I don't become overfed and deny you by saying, "Who is the LORD?" or so that I don't become poor and steal, and then misuse the name of my God.
- 10 Don't lie about a servant to his master, or that servant will curse you and you will pay for it.
- 11 Some people curse their fathers and won't bless their mothers.
- 12 Some people view themselves as pure, but haven't been cleansed from their own filth.
- 13 Some people — what an arrogant look they have! — raise their eyebrows haughtily.
- 14 Some people have swords for teeth and knives for fangs to devour the afflicted from the earth and the needy from among mankind.
- 15 The leech has two daughters: "Give" and "Give". Three things will never be satisfied; four will never say "Enough" —
- 16 The afterlife, the barren womb, earth that still demands water, and fire — they never say, "Enough".
- 17 The eye that mocks a father and looks with a disobedient attitude at a mother — the valley ravens will pluck it out; and vultures will eat it.
- 18 Three things cause wonder for me; four are beyond my understanding:
- 19 The way an eagle flies in the sky, the way of a serpent on a rock, the way of a ship on the high seas, and the way of a man with a young woman.
- 20 This is what an immoral woman is like: she eats, wipes her mouth, then says "I've done nothing wrong."
- 21 Under three things the earth trembles, under four it cannot remain steady:
- 22 Under a slave when he becomes a king, a fool when he is overfed,
- 23 an unloved woman when she finds a husband, and a servant girl who inherits from her mistress.
- 24 Four things on earth are small, but they are very, very wise:
- 25 Ants aren't a strong species, yet they prepare their food in the summer.
- 26 The rock badgers aren't a strong species either, yet they build their dens in the rocks.
- 27 Locusts have no king, but they all swarm in ranks.
- 28 Spiders can be caught by the hand, yet they're found in kings' palaces.
- 29 Three things are stately in procession, four which are stately in their gait:
- 30 The lion, mighty among the beasts, retreats before nothing.
- 31 The strutting rooster, as well as the goat, and a king with his army.
- 32 If you've foolishly exalted yourself or if you've plotted evil, put your hand over your mouth.
- 33 Just as whipping milk produces butter, and twisting the nose causes bleeding, so also stirring up anger produces contention.

Proverbs 31

- 1 The words of King Lemuel — a pronouncement with which his mother encouraged him.
- 2 No, my son! No, my son whom I conceived! No, my son to whom I gave birth!
- 3 Never devote all your energy to sex, or dedicate your life to destroying kings.
- 4 It is not for kings, Lemuel — Not for kings to drink wine or for rulers to desire liquor.
- 5 Otherwise, they may drink and forget what has been ordained, perverting justice for all the oppressed.
- 6 Give liquor to someone who is perishing, and wine to someone who is deeply depressed.
- 7 Let him drink, forget his poverty, and remember his troubles no more.
- 8 Speak for those who cannot speak; seek justice for all those on the verge of destruction.
- 9 Speak up, judge righteously, and defend the rights of the afflicted and oppressed.
- 10 Who can find a capable wife? Her value far exceeds the finest jewels.
- 11 Her husband has full confidence in her; as a result, he lacks nothing of value.
- 12 She will bring good to him — never evil — every day of her life.
- 13 She seeks out wool and flax, working with eager hands.
- 14 She is like a seagoing ship that brings her food from far away.
- 15 She rises while it is still night, preparing meals for her family and providing for her women servants.
- 16 She evaluates a field and purchases it; from the proceeds she plants a vineyard.
- 17 She clothes herself with fortitude, and fortifies her arms with strength.
- 18 She is confident that her profits are sufficient. Her lamp does not go out at night.
- 19 She works with her own hands on her clothes — her hands work the sewing spindle.
- 20 She reaches out to the poor, opening her hands to those in need.
- 21 She is unafraid of winter's effect on her household, because all of them are warmly clothed.
- 22 She creates her own bedding, using fine linen and violet cloth.
- 23 Her husband is well known; he sits among the leaders of the land.
- 24 She designs and sells linen garments, supplying accessories to clothiers.
- 25 Strength and dignity are her garments; she smiles about the future.
- 26 She speaks wisely, teaching with gracious love.
- 27 She looks discretely to the affairs of her household, and she is never lazy.
- 28 Her children stand up and encourage her, as does her husband, who praises her:
- 29 "Many women have done wonderful things," he says, "but you surpass all of them!"
- 30 Charm is deceitful and beauty fades; but a woman who fears the LORD will be praised.
- 31 Reward her for her work — let her actions result in public praise.

Hebrews 7

26 We need such a high priest — one who is holy, innocent, pure, set apart from sinners, exalted above the heavens.

27 He has no need to offer sacrifices every day like high priests do, first for his own sins and then for those of the people, since he did this once for all when he sacrificed himself.

28 For the Law appoints as high priests men who are weak, but the promised oath, which came after the Law, results in a Son who is eternally perfect.

Hebrews 8

1 Now the main point in what we are saying is this: we do have this kind of high priest, who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven

2 and who serves in the sanctuary, the true tent set up by the Lord and not by any human.

3 For every high priest is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices. Therefore, this high priest had to offer something, too.

4 Now if he were on earth, he would not even be a priest, because other men offer the gifts prescribed by the Law.

5 They serve in a sanctuary that is a copy, a shadow of the heavenly one. This is why Moses was warned when he was about to build the tent: "See to it that you make everything according to the pattern that was shown you on the mountain."

6 However, Jesus has now obtained a more superior ministry, since the covenant he mediates is founded on better promises.

7 If the first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no need to look for a second one,

8 but God found something wrong with his people when he said, "Look! The days are coming, declares the Lord, when I will establish a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.

9 It will not be like the covenant that I made with their ancestors at the time when I took them by the hand and brought them out of the land of Egypt. Because they did not remain loyal to my covenant, I ignored them, declares the Lord.

10 For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord: I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people.

11 Never again will everyone teach his neighbour or his brother by saying, 'Know the Lord,' because all of them will know me, from the least important to the most important.

12 For I will be merciful regarding their wrong deeds, and I will never again remember their sins."

13 In speaking of a "new" covenant, he has made the first one obsolete, and what is obsolete and aging will soon disappear.

Hebrews 9

1 Now even the first covenant had regulations for worship and an earthly sanctuary.

2 For a tent was set up, and in the first part were the lamp stand, the table, and the bread of the Presence. This was called the Holy Place.

3 Behind the second curtain was the part of the tent called the Most Holy Place,

4 which had the gold altar for incense and the Ark of the Covenant completely covered with gold. In it were the gold jar holding the manna, Aaron's staff that had budded, and the Tablets of the Covenant.

5 Above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the place of atonement. (We cannot discuss these things in detail now).

Ecclesiastes 1

- 1 The words of the Teacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem.
- 2 "Utterly pointless," says the Teacher. "Absolutely pointless; everything is pointless."
- 3 What does a man gain from all of the work that he undertakes on earth?
- 4 A generation goes, a generation comes, but the earth remains forever.
- 5 The sun rises, the sun sets, then rushes back to where it arose.
- 6 The wind blows continually — southward, then northward, constantly circulating — and the wind comes back again in its courses.
- 7 All the rivers flow toward the sea, but the sea is never full; then rivers return to the headwaters where they began.
- 8 Everything is wearisome, more than man is able to express. The eye is never satisfied by seeing, nor the ear by hearing.
- 9 Whatever has happened, will happen again; whatever has been done, will be done again. There is nothing new on earth.
- 10 Does anything exist about which someone might say, "Look at this! Is this new?" It happened ages ago; it existed before we did.
- 11 No one remembers those in the past, nor will they be remembered by those who come after them.
- 12 I, the Teacher, have been king over Israel in Jerusalem.
- 13 I dedicated myself to using wisdom for study and discovery of everything that is done under heaven. God uses terrible things so human beings will struggle with life.
- 14 I observed every activity done on earth. My conclusion: all of it is pointless — like chasing after the wind.
- 15 What is crooked cannot be made straight; what is not there cannot be counted.
- 16 I told myself, "I have become greater and wiser than anyone who ruled before me in Jerusalem — yes, I have acquired a great deal of wisdom and knowledge."
- 17 So I dedicated myself to learn about wisdom and knowledge, and about insanity and foolishness. And I discovered that this is also like chasing after the wind.
- 18 For with much wisdom there is much sorrow; the more someone adds to knowledge, the more someone adds to grief.

Ecclesiastes 2

- 1 I told myself, "I will test you with pleasure, so enjoy yourself." But this was pointless.
- 2 "Senseless," said I concerning laughter and pleasure, "How practical is this?"
- 3 I decided to indulge in wine, while still remaining committed to wisdom. I also tried to indulge in foolishness, just enough to determine whether it was good for human beings under heaven given the short time of their lives.
- 4 With respect to my extravagant works, I built houses for myself; I planted vineyards for myself.
- 5 I constructed gardens and orchards for myself, and within them I planted all kinds of fruit trees.
- 6 I built for myself water reservoirs to irrigate forests that produce trees.
- 7 I acquired male and female slaves, and had other slaves born in my house. I also acquired for myself increasing numbers of herds and flocks — more than anyone who had lived before me in Jerusalem.
- 8 I also accumulated silver, gold, and the wealth of kings and their kingdoms. I gathered around me both male and female singers, along with what delights a man — all sorts of mistresses.
- 9 So I became great, greater than anyone who had lived before me in Jerusalem. Throughout all of this, I remained wise.

10 Whenever I wanted something I had seen, I never refused that desire. Instead, I enjoyed everything I did, and this became the reward in what I had undertaken.

11 Then I examined all of my accomplishments that I had brought about by my own efforts, including the work that I had laboured so hard to complete — and it was all pointless, like chasing after the wind, and there was nothing to be gained on earth.

12 Next I turned to examine wisdom, insanity, and foolishness, because what can a person do who succeeds the king except what has already been accomplished?

13 I concluded that wisdom is more useful than foolishness, just as light is more useful than darkness.

14 The wise use their eyes, but the fool walks in darkness. I also perceived that the same outcome affects them all.

15 Then I told myself, "Whatever happens to the fool will happen also to me. Therefore what's the point in being so wise?" And I told myself that this also is pointless.

16 For neither the wise nor the fool will be long remembered, since in days to come everything will be forgotten. The wise man dies the same way as the fool, does he not?

17 So I hated life, because whatever is done on earth causes me trouble — it's all pointless, like chasing after the wind.

18 Then I despised everything I had worked for on earth, that is, the things that I will leave to the person who will succeed me.

19 And who knows whether he will be wise or foolish? Either way, he will take possession of everything that I have done on earth, especially where I have excelled. This also is pointless.

20 So I came to be in despair about everything I had accomplished on earth.

21 For sometimes people who strive to obtain wisdom, knowledge, and equity leave everything as an inheritance to a person who never worked for it. This, too, is pointless and greatly troublesome.

22 For what does a person gain from everything that he accomplishes and from his inner life struggles that he undergoes while working on earth?

23 Indeed, all of his days are filled with sorrow, and his struggles bring grief. In fact, his mind remains restless throughout the night. This is pointless, too!

24 The only worthwhile thing for a human being is to eat, drink, and enjoy life's goodness that he finds in what he accomplishes. This, I observed, is also from the hand of God himself, 25 for who can eat or enjoy life apart from him?

26 After all, to the person who is good in God's sight, he gives wisdom, knowledge, and joy, but to the sinner he gives the troublesome task of acquiring and accumulating in order to leave it to someone who is good in the sight of God. This also is pointless and chasing after the wind.

Ecclesiastes 3

1 There is a season for everything, and a time for every event under heaven:

2 a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to uproot what was planted;

3 a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to tear down, and a time to build up;

4 a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

5 a time to scatter stones, and a time to gather stones; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

6 a time to search, and a time to give up searching; a time to keep, and a time to discard;

7 a time to tear, and a time to mend; a time to be silent, and a time to speak;

8 a time to love, and a time to hate; a time for war, and a time for peace.

9 What benefit does the worker gain from what he undertakes?

10 I have observed the burdens placed by God on human beings in order to perfect them.

11 He made everything appropriate in its time. He also placed eternity within them — yet, no person can fully comprehend what God is doing from beginning to end.

12 I have concluded that the only worthwhile thing for them is to take pleasure in doing good in life;

13 moreover, every person should eat, drink, and enjoy the benefits of everything that he undertakes, since it is a gift from God.

14 I have concluded that everything that God undertakes will last for eternity — nothing can be added to it nor taken away from it — and that God acts this way so that people will fear him.

15 That which was, now is; and that which will be, already is; and God examines what has already taken place.

16 I also examined on earth: where the halls of justice were supposed to be, there was lawlessness; and where the righteous were supposed to be, there was lawlessness.

17 I told myself, "God will judge both the righteous and the wicked, because there is a time set to judge every event and every work."

18 "As for human beings," I told myself, "God puts them to the test, that they might see themselves as mere animals."

19 For what happens to people also happens to animals — a single event happens to them: just as someone dies, so does the other. In fact, they all breathe the same way, so that a human being has no superiority over an animal. All of this is pointless.

20 All of them go to one place: all of them originate from dust, and all of them return to dust.

21 Who knows whether the spirit of human beings ascends, and whether the spirit of animals descends to the earth?

22 I concluded that it is worthwhile for people to find joy in their accomplishments, because that is their inheritance, since who can see what will exist after them?

Hebrews 9

6 When everything had been arranged like this, the priests always went into the first part of the tent to perform their duties.

7 But only the high priest went into the second part, and then only once a year, and never without blood, which he offered for himself and for the sins committed by the people in ignorance.

8 The Holy Spirit was indicating by this that the way into the Most Holy Place had not yet been disclosed as long as the first part of the tent was still standing.

9 This illustration for today indicates that the gifts and sacrifices being offered could not clear the conscience of a worshipper,

10 since they deal only with food, drink, and various washings, which are required for the body until the time when things would be set right.

11 But when the Messiah came as a high priest of the good things that have come, he went through the greater and more perfect tent that was not made by human hands and that is not a part of this creation.

12 Not with the blood of goats and calves, but with his own blood he went into the Most Holy Place once for all and secured our eternal redemption.

13 For if the blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled on those who are unclean purifies them physically,

14 how much more will the blood of the Messiah, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from dead actions so that we may serve the living God!

15 This is why the Messiah is the mediator of a new covenant; so that those who are called may receive the eternal inheritance promised them, since a death has occurred that redeems them from the offences committed under the first covenant.

16 For where there is a will, the death of the one who made it must be established.

17 For a will is in force only when somebody has died, since it never takes effect as long as the one who made it is alive.

18 This is why even the first covenant was not put into effect without blood.

19 For after every commandment in the Law had been spoken to all the people by Moses, he took the blood of calves and goats, together with some water, scarlet wool, and branches of hyssop, and sprinkled the scroll and all the people,

20 saying, "This is the blood of the covenant that God ordained for you."

21 In the same way, he sprinkled with the blood both the tent and everything used in worship.

22 In fact, under the Law almost everything is cleansed with blood, and without the shedding of the blood there is no forgiveness.

23 Thus it was necessary for these earthly copies of the things in heaven to be cleansed by these sacrifices, but the heavenly things themselves are made clean with better sacrifices than these.

24 For the Messiah did not go into a sanctuary made by human hands that is merely a copy of the true one, but into heaven itself, to appear now in God's presence on our behalf.

25 Nor did he go into heaven to sacrifice himself again and again, the way the high priest goes into the Holy Place every year with blood that is not his own.

26 Then he would have had to suffer repeatedly since the creation of the world. But now, at the end of the ages, he has appeared once for all to remove sin by his sacrifice.

27 Indeed, just as people are destined to die once and after that to be judged,

28 so the Messiah was sacrificed once to take away the sins of many people. And he will appear a second time, not to deal with sin, but to bring salvation to those who eagerly wait for him.

2nd October

Ecclesiastes 4

- 1 Next I turned to consider all kinds of oppression that exists on earth. Look at the tears of the oppressed — there is no one to comfort them. Power is on the side of their oppressors; so they have no comforters.
- 2 So I commended the dead who had already died as being happier than the living who are still alive.
- 3 Better than both of them is someone who has not yet been born, because he hasn't experienced evil on earth.
- 4 Then I examined all sorts of work, including all kinds of excellent achievements that create envy in others. This also is pointless and chasing after the wind.
- 5 The fool crosses his arms and starves himself.
- 6 It's better to have one handful of tranquillity than to have two handfuls of trouble and to chase after the wind.
- 7 Then I turned to re-examine something else that is pointless on earth:
- 8 Consider someone who is alone, having neither son nor brother. There is no end to all of his work, and he is never satisfied with wealth. "So for whom do I work," he asks, "and deprive myself of pleasure?" This, too, is pointless and a terrible tragedy.
- 9 Two are better than one, because they have a good return for their labour.
- 10 If they stumble, the first will lift up his friend — but woe to anyone who is alone when he falls and there is no one to help him get up.
- 11 Again, if two lie close together, they will keep warm, but how can only one stay warm?
- 12 If someone attacks one of them, the two of them together will resist. Furthermore, the tri-braided cord is not soon broken.
- 13 A poor but wise youth is better than an old but foolish king who will no longer accept correction.
- 14 The former can come out of prison to reign, while the latter, even if born to kingship, may become poor.
- 15 I observed everyone who lives and walks on earth, along with the youth who will take the king's place.
- 16 There was no end to all of his subjects or to all of the people who had come before them. But those who come along afterward will not be happy with him. This is also pointless and a chasing after wind.

Ecclesiastes 5

- 1 Watch your step whenever you visit God's house, and come more ready to listen than to offer a fool's sacrifice, since fools never think they're doing evil.
- 2 Don't be impulsive with your mouth nor be in a hurry to talk in God's presence. Since God is in heaven and you're on earth, keep your speech short.
- 3 Too many worries lead to nightmares, and a fool is known from talking too much.
- 4 When you make a promise to God, don't fail to keep it, since he isn't pleased with fools. Keep what you promise —
- 5 it's better that you don't promise than that you do promise and not follow through.
- 6 Never let your mouth cause you to sin and don't proclaim in the presence of the angel, "My promise was a mistake," for why should God be angry at your excuse and destroy what you've undertaken?
- 7 In spite of many daydreams, pointless actions, and empty words, it is more important to fear God.
- 8 Don't be surprised when you see the poor oppressed and the violent perverting both justice and verdicts in a province, for one high official watches another, and there are ones higher still over them.

9 Also, the increase of the land belongs to everyone; the king himself is served by his field.

10 Whoever loves money will never have enough money. Whoever loves luxury will not be content with abundance. This also is pointless.

11 When possessions increase, so does the number of consumers; therefore what good are they to their owners, except to look at them?

12 Sweet is the sleep of a working man, whether he eats a little or a lot, but the excess wealth of the rich will not allow him to rest.

13 I have observed a painful tragedy on earth: Wealth hoarded by its owner harms him,
14 and that wealth is lost in troubled circumstances. Then a son is born, but there is nothing left for him.

15 Just as he came naked from his mother's womb, he will leave as naked as he came; he will receive no profit from his efforts — he cannot carry away even a handful.

16 This is also a painful tragedy: However a person comes, he also departs; so what does he gain as he labours after the wind?

17 Furthermore, all his days he lives in darkness with great sorrow, anger, and affliction.

18 Look! I observed that it is good and prudent to eat, drink, and enjoy all that is good of a person's work that he does on earth during the limited days of his life, which God gives him, for this is his allotment.

19 Furthermore, for every person to whom God has given wealth, riches, and the ability to enjoy them, to accept this allotment, and to rejoice in his work — this is a gift from God.

20 For he will not brood much over the days of his life, since God will keep him occupied with the joys of his heart.

Ecclesiastes 6

1 There exists another misfortune that I have observed on earth, and it is a heavy burden upon human beings:

2 a man to whom God gives wealth, riches, and honour, so that he lacks none of his heart's desires — but God does not give him the capability to enjoy them. Instead, a stranger consumes them. This is pointless and a grievous affliction.

3 A man might father a hundred children, and live for many years, so that the length of his life is long — but if his life does not overflow with goodness, and he doesn't receive a proper burial, I maintain that stillborn children are better off than he is,

4 because stillborn children arrive in pointlessness, leave in darkness, and their names are covered in darkness.

5 Furthermore, though they never saw the sun nor learned anything, they are more content than the other.

6 Even if he lives a thousand years twice over without experiencing the best — aren't all of them going to the same place?

7 Every person works for his own self-interests, but his desires remain unsatisfied.

8 For what advantage has the wise person over the fool? What advantage does the poor man have in knowing how to face life?

9 It is better to focus on what you can see than to meander after your self-interest; this also is pointless and a chasing after wind.

10 Whatever exists has been named already; people know what it means to be human — and a person cannot defeat one who is more powerful than he.

11 Because many words lead to pointlessness, how do people benefit from this?

12 Who knows what is best for people in this life, every day of their pointless lives that they pass through like a shadow? Who informs people on earth what will come along after them?

Ecclesiastes 7

- 1 A good name exceeds the value of fine perfume, and the day of someone's death exceeds the value of the day of his birth.
- 2 It's better to attend a funeral than to attend a banquet, for everyone dies eventually, and the living will take this to heart.
- 3 Sorrow is better than laughter, because the heart is made better through trouble.
- 4 For the wise person thinks carefully when in mourning, but fools focus their thoughts on pleasure.
- 5 It is better to listen to a wise person's rebuke than to listen to the praise of fools.
- 6 For as thorns burn to heat a pot, so also is the laughter of the fool — even this is pointless.
- 7 Unjust gain makes the wise foolish, and a bribe corrupts the heart.
- 8 The conclusion of something is better than its beginning, and a patient attitude is more valuable than a proud one.
- 9 Never be in a hurry to become internally angry, since anger settles down in the lap of fools.
- 10 Never ask "Why does the past seem so much better than now?" because this question does not come from wisdom.
- 11 Wise use of possessions is good; it brings benefit to the living.
- 12 Indeed, wisdom gives protection, just like money does, but it's better to know that wisdom gives life, to those who have mastered it.

Hebrews 10

- 1 For the Law, being only a reflection of the blessings to come and not their substance, can never make perfect those who come near by the same sacrifices repeatedly offered year after year.
- 2 Otherwise, would they not have stopped offering them, because the worshippers, cleansed once for all, would no longer be aware of any sins?
- 3 Instead, through those sacrifices there is a reminder of sins year after year,
- 4 for it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.
- 5 For this reason, the Scriptures say, when the Messiah was about to come into the world: "You did not want sacrifices and offerings, but you prepared a body for me.
- 6 In burnt offerings and sin offerings you never took delight.
- 7 Then I said, 'See, I have come to do your will, O God' In the volume of the scroll this is written about me."
- 8 In this passage he says, "You never wanted or took delight in sacrifices, offerings, burnt offerings, and sin offerings," which are offered according to the Law.
- 9 Then he says, "See, I have come to do your will." He takes away the first in order to establish the second.
- 10 By God's will we have been sanctified once and for all through the sacrifice of the body of Jesus, the Messiah.
- 11 Day after day every priest stands and repeatedly offers the same sacrifices that can never take away sins.
- 12 But when this priest had offered for all time one sacrifice for sins, "he sat down at the right hand of God."
- 13 Since that time, he has been waiting for his enemies to be made a footstool for his feet.
- 14 For by a single offering he has perfected for all time those who are being sanctified.
- 15 The Holy Spirit also assures us of this, for he said:
- 16 "This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, declares the Lord: I will put my laws in their hearts and will write them on their minds,
- 17 and I will never again remember their sins and their lawless deeds."
- 18 Now where there is forgiveness of these sins, there is no longer any offering for sin.

3rd October

Ecclesiastes 7

- 13 Consider the work of God: Who is able to straighten what he has bent?
- 14 When times are good, be joyful, when times are bad, consider this: God made the one as well as the other, so people won't seek anything outside of his best.
- 15 I have seen it all during my pointless life: both a righteous person who dies while he is righteous, and a wicked person who lives to an old age, while remaining wicked.
- 16 Do not be overly righteous, nor be overly wise. Why be self-destructive?
- 17 Do not excel at wickedness, nor be a fool. Why die before your time?
- 18 It is good for you to grab hold of this and not let go, because whoever fears God will escape all of these extremes.
- 19 Wisdom given as strength to a wise person is better than having ten powerful men in the city.
- 20 For there is not a single righteous man on earth who practises good and does not sin.
- 21 Don't listen to everything that is spoken — you may hear your servant cursing you,
- 22 since you also know how often you have cursed others.
- 23 I used my wisdom to test all of this. I said, "I want to be wise," but it was beyond me.
- 24 Whatever it is, it's far off and most profound. Who can attain it?
- 25 I committed myself to understand, to learn, to search for wisdom and explanations, and to understand both the evil that is foolishness and the stupidity that is delusion.
- 26 I discovered for myself a bitterness that surpasses that of death: the woman whose heart is full of snares and nets, whose hands are chains of bondage. Whoever pleases God will escape from her, but the transgressor will be trapped by her.
- 27 "Look at this," says the Teacher. "Linking one thing to another, I reached this conclusion:
- 28 Among the things I seek but have not found: one man among a thousand I did find, but I have not found one woman to be wise among all these.
- 29 I have discovered only this: God made human beings for righteousness, but they seek many alternatives."

Ecclesiastes 8

- 1 Who is really wise? Who knows how to interpret this saying: "A person's wisdom improves his appearance, softening a harsh countenance."
- 2 I advise doing what the king says, especially regarding an oath to God.
- 3 Don't be in a hurry to leave him, and don't persist in evil, for he does whatever he pleases.
- 4 Since a king's command is powerful, who is able to challenge him, asking, "What are you doing?"
- 5 Whoever obeys his commands will not experience harm, and the wise in heart will discern both the appropriate time and response.
- 6 Indeed, there is an appropriate time and a response for every circumstance, since human misery weighs heavily upon him.
- 7 For he has absolutely no knowledge what will happen, since who can declare to him when it will come about?
- 8 Just as no human being has control over the wind to restrain it, so also no human being has control over the day of his death. Just as no one is discharged during war, so wickedness will not release those who practise it.
- 9 I observed all this, and carefully considered everything that is undertaken on earth, especially the time when someone dominates another to his detriment.

10 So I watched the wicked being entombed. They used to come in and out of the Holy Place, but now they are forgotten in the city, where they used to work. This, too, is pointless.

11 Whenever a sentence for a crime is not carried out swiftly, the human mind becomes determined to commit evil.

12 Even though a sinner does what is wrong a hundred times and still survives, nevertheless I also know that things will go well for those who fear God, who fear in his presence.

13 But things will not go well for the wicked person: he will not lengthen his life like a shadow, since he has no fear before God.

14 Here is a pointless thing that happens on earth: A righteous man receives what happens to the wicked, and a wicked man receives what happens to the righteous. I concluded that this, too, is pointless.

15 So then I recommended enjoyment of life, because it is better on earth for a man to eat, drink, and be happy, since this will stay with him throughout his struggle all the days of his life, which God grants him on earth.

16 When I dedicated myself to experience wisdom and to observe what is undertaken on earth — even going without sleep day and night —

17 I saw all of it as the activity of God. Frankly, a human being cannot understand what happens on earth, because however hard a man works to discover it, he will not find out. Despite what he thinks he knows, he will not be able to figure it out.

Ecclesiastes 9

1 In light of all of this, I committed myself to explain it this way: the righteous and the wise, along with everything they do, are in the hands of God. Furthermore, as to love and hate, no human being knows everything concerning them.

2 Everyone shares the same experience: a single event affects the righteous, the wicked, the good, the clean, the unclean, whoever sacrifices, and whoever does not sacrifice. As it is with the good person, so also it is with the sinner; as it is with someone who takes an oath, so also it is with someone who fears taking an oath.

3 There is a tragedy that infects everything that happens on earth: a common event happens to everyone. In fact, the hearts of human beings are full of evil. Madness remains in their hearts while they live, and afterwards they join the dead.

4 "While someone is among the living, hope remains," because "it is better to be a living dog than to be a dead lion."

5 At least the living know they will die, but the dead know nothing; they no longer have a reward, since memory about them has been forgotten.

6 Furthermore, their love, their hate, and their envy have been long lost. Never again will they have a part in what happens on earth.

7 Go ahead and enjoy your meals as you eat. Drink your wine with a joyful attitude, because God already has approved your actions.

8 Always keep your garments white, and don't fail to anoint your head.

9 Find joy in living with your wife whom you love every day of your pointless life that God gave you on earth, because this is your life assignment and your work to do on earth.

10 Whatever the activity in which you engage, do it with all your ability, because there is no work, no planning, no learning, and no wisdom in the next world where you're going.

11 I considered and observed on earth the following: The race doesn't go to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, nor food to the wise, nor wealth to the smart, nor recognition to the skilled. Instead, timing and circumstances meet them all.

12 In addition, no human being knows his time: Like fish captured in a cruel net, or as birds caught in a snare, so also are human beings caught by bad timing that surprises them.

13 I also observed this example of wisdom on earth, and it seemed important to me:
14 There was a little city with few men in it. A great king came against it, surrounded it, and built massive siege ramps against it.
15 Now there was found within it a poor, but wise man. He delivered the city by his wisdom, but not one person remembered that poor man.
16 So I concluded, "Wisdom is better than strength. Nevertheless, the wisdom of the poor is rejected — his words are never heard."
17 The softly spoken words of the wise are to be heard rather than the shouts of a ruler of fools.
18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war, and a single sinner can destroy a lot of good.

Ecclesiastes 10

1 As dead flies cause the perfumer's ointment to stink, so also does a little foolishness to one's reputation of wisdom and honour.
2 A wise man's heart tends toward his right, but a fool's heart tends toward his left.
3 Furthermore, the way a fool lives shows he has no sense; he proclaims to everyone that he's a fool.
4 If your overseer gets angry at you, don't resign, because calmness pacifies great offences.
5 Here's another tragedy that I've observed on earth, a kind of error that comes from an overseer:
6 Foolishness is given great honour, while the prosperous sit in lowly places.
7 And I have observed servants riding on horses, while princes walk on the ground like servants.
8 Whoever digs a pit may fall into it, and whoever breaks through a wall may suffer a snake bite.
9 Someone who quarries stone might be injured; someone splitting logs can fall into danger.
10 If someone's axe is blunt — the edge isn't sharpened — then more strength will be needed. Putting wisdom to work will bring success.

Hebrews 10

19 Therefore, my brothers, since we have confidence to enter the sanctuary by the blood of Jesus,
20 the new and living way that he opened for us through the curtain (that is, through his flesh),
21 and since we have a great high priest over the household of God,
22 let us continue to come near with sincere hearts in the full assurance that faith provides, because our hearts have been sprinkled clean from a guilty conscience, and our bodies have been washed with pure water.
23 Let us continue to hold firmly to the hope that we confess without wavering, for the one who made the promise is faithful.
24 And let us continue to consider how to motivate one another to love and good deeds,
25 not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another even more as you see the day of the Lord coming nearer.
26 For if we choose to go on sinning after we have learned the full truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins,
27 but only a terrifying prospect of judgement and a raging fire that will consume the enemies of God.
28 Anyone who violates the Law of Moses dies without mercy "on the testimony of two or three witnesses."
29 How much more severe a punishment do you think that person deserves who tramples on God's Son, treats as common the blood of the covenant by which it was sanctified, and insults the Spirit of grace?
30 For we know the one who said, "Vengeance belongs to me; I will pay them back," and again, "The Lord will judge his people."
31 It is a terrifying thing to fall into the hands of the living God!
32 But you must continue to remember those earlier days, how after you were enlightened you endured a hard and painful struggle.
33 At times you were made a public spectacle by means of insults and persecutions, while at other times you associated with people who were treated this way.
34 For you sympathized with the prisoners and cheerfully submitted to the violent seizure of your property, because you know that you have a better and more permanent possession.
35 So don't lose your confidence, since it holds a great reward for you.
36 For you need endurance, so that after you have done God's will you can receive what he has promised.
37 For "in a very little while the one who is coming will return — he will not delay;
38 but my righteous one will live by faith, and if he turns back, my soul will take no pleasure in him."
39 Now, we do not belong to those who turn back and are destroyed, but to those who have faith and are saved.

Ecclesiastes 10

- 11 If a serpent strikes despite being charmed, there's no point in being a snake charmer.
- 12 The words spoken by the wise are gracious, but the lips of a fool will devour him.
- 13 He begins his speech with foolishness, and concludes it with evil madness.
- 14 The fool overflows with words, and no one can predict what will happen. As to what will happen after him, who can explain it?
- 15 The work of a fool so wears him out that he can't even find his way to town.
- 16 Woe to the land whose king is a youth and whose princes feast in the morning.
- 17 That land is blessed whose king is of noble birth, whose princes feast at the right time, for strength, and not to become drunk.
- 18 Through slothfulness the roof deteriorates, and a house leaks because of idleness.
- 19 Feasts are for laughter, wine makes life pleasant, and money speaks to everything.
- 20 Do not curse the king, even in your thoughts. Do not curse the rich, even in your bedroom. For a bird will fly by and tell what you say, or something with wings may talk about it.

Ecclesiastes 11

- 1 Spread your bread on the water — after a while you will find it.
- 2 Apportion what you have into seven, or even eight parts, because you don't know what disaster might befall the land.
- 3 If the clouds are full of rain, they will pour out on the earth; if a tree falls toward the south or the north, wherever it falls, there it will lie.
- 4 Whoever keeps staring at the wind won't sow; whoever daydreams won't reap.
- 5 Just as you do not understand the way of the spirit in the womb of a pregnant mother, so also you do not know what God is doing in everything he makes.
- 6 Sow your seed in the morning, and don't stop working until evening, since you don't know which of your endeavours will do well, whether this one or that, or even if both will do equally well.
- 7 How sweet is the daylight, and how pleasant it is for someone's eyes to behold the sunshine!
- 8 Even if a person lives many years, let him enjoy them all, recalling that there will be many days of darkness to come — all of which are pointless.
- 9 So enjoy yourself in your youth, young man, and be encouraged during your younger days. Live as you like, consistent with your world view, but keep in mind that God will bring you to account for everything.
- 10 Banish sorrow from your heart, and evil from your body, since both childhood and the prime of life are pointless.

Ecclesiastes 12

- 1 So remember your Creator during your youth! Otherwise, troublesome days will come and years will creep up on you when you'll say, "I find no pleasure in them,"
- 2 Otherwise, when the sun, daylight, moon, or stars turn dark, or when clouds fail to return after the rain —
- 3 when that day comes, the palace guards will tremble, strong men will stoop down, women grinders will cease because they are few, and the sight of those who peer through the lattice will grow dim.
- 4 The doors to the street will be shut when the sound of grinding decreases, when one wakes up at the song of a bird, and all of the singing women are silenced.

5 At that time they will fear climbing heights and dangers along the road while the almond tree will blossom, and the grasshopper is weighed down. Desire will cease, because the person goes to his eternal home, and mourners will gather in the marketplace.

6 When the silver cord is severed, the golden vessel is broken, the pitcher is shattered at the fountain, and the wheel is broken at the cistern,

7 then man's dust will go back to the earth, returning to what it was, and the spirit will return to the God who gave it.

8 "Utterly pointless," says the Teacher. "Everything is pointless."

9 Moreover, besides being wise himself, the Teacher taught people what he had learned by listening, making inquiries, and composing many proverbs.

10 The Teacher searched to find appropriate expressions, and what is written here is right and truthful.

11 Sayings from the wise are like cattle prods and well fastened nails; this masterful collection was given by one shepherd.

12 So learn from them, my son. There is no end to the crafting of many books, and too much study wearies the body.

13 Let the conclusion of all of these thoughts be heard: Fear God and obey his commandments, for this is what it means to be human.

14 For God will judge every deed, along with every secret, whether good or evil.

Song of Songs 1

Title

- 1 The Most Beautiful Song by Solomon.

The Loved One

- 2 Let him kiss me over and over again!
Your love is better than wine.
- 3 The fragrance of your perfumed oil is wonderful.
Your name is perfume poured out.
Therefore the young women love you.
- 4 Take me with you! Let's run away!
Let the king bring me into his private chambers.

The Young Women

The daughters of Jerusalem will rejoice and be happy for you.
We will value your love more than wine.
They love you appropriately.

The Loved One

- 5 The daughters of Jerusalem, I'm dark and lovely like the tents of Kedar, like the curtains of Solomon.
- 6 Don't stare at me because I'm dark;
the sun has tanned me.
My mother's sons were angry with me.
They made me the caretaker of the vineyards,
but I didn't take care of my own vineyard.
- 7 Tell me, you whom I love,
where do you graze your flock?
Where do you make your flock lie down at noon?
Why should I be considered a veiled woman beside the flocks of your companions?

The Lover

- 8 If you don't know, most beautiful of women, go out after the flock and graze your young goats beside the shepherd's tents.
- 9 My darling, I compare you to my mare among Pharaoh's chariots.
- 10 Your cheeks are lovely with ornaments,
your neck with strings of jewels.

The Young Women

- 11 We will make ornaments of gold for you, accented with silver.

The Loved One

- 12 While the king was sitting at his table, my perfume sent forth its fragrance.
- 13 My beloved is to me a pouch of myrrh that lies between my breasts all night.
- 14 My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blossoms in the vineyards of En-gedi.

The Lover

- 15 Look at you! You are beautiful, my darling.
Look at you! You are so beautiful.
Your eyes are doves.
- 16 Look at you! You are handsome, my beloved, truly lovely. How lush is our couch.

The Loved One

- 17 The beams of our house are cedar,
our rafters are pine.

Song of Songs 2

- 1 I'm a flower from Sharon,
a lily from the valleys.

The Lover

- 2 Like a lily among thorns,
so is my darling among the young women.

The Loved One

- 3 Like an apple tree among the trees of the forest,
so is my beloved among the young men.
In his shade I take delight and sit down, and his fruit is sweet to my taste.
- 4 He has brought me to the banquet hall,
and his banner over me is love.
- 5 Sustain me with raisin cakes,
refresh me with apples,
for I'm weak with love.
- 6 I wish that his left hand were under my head, and that his right hand were embracing me!
- 7 Swear to me, young women of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or by the does of the field,
that you won't awaken or arouse love
before its proper time!

- 8 The voice of my beloved!
Look, he's coming,
leaping over the mountains,
bounding over the hills.
- 9 My beloved is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Look, there he stands behind our wall,
looking through the windows,
gazing through the lattice.

The Lover

- 10 My beloved spoke to me,
"Get up, my darling, my beautiful one, and come on.
- 11 Look! Winter is past.
The rain is over and gone.
- 12 Blossoms have appeared in the land.
The season of songbirds has arrived, and cooing of turtledoves is heard in our land.
- 13 The fig tree has produced its fruit,
the grapevines have blossomed and exude their fragrance.
"Get up, my darling, my beautiful one, and come on.
- 14 My dove, in the hidden places of the rocks,
in the secret places of the cliffs,
show me your form, and let me hear your voice.
For your voice is pleasant, and your shape is lovely.
- 15 Catch the foxes for us,
the little foxes that destroy the vineyards,
our vineyards that are in bloom."

The Loved One

- 16 My beloved belongs to me and I belong to him.
He is the one who shepherds his flock among the lilies.
- 17 Until the day breaks and the shadows flee,
turn around, my beloved,
and be like a gazelle or a young stag
on the mountains of Bether.

Hebrews 11

1 Now faith is the assurance that what we hope for will come about and the certainty that what we cannot see exists.

2 By faith our ancestors won approval.

3 By faith we understand that time was created by the word of God, so that what is seen was made from things that are invisible.

4 By faith Abel offered to God a better sacrifice than Cain did, and by faith he was declared to be righteous, since God himself accepted his offerings. And by faith he continues to speak, even though he is dead.

5 By faith Enoch was taken away without experiencing death. He could not be found, because God had taken him away. For before he was taken, he won approval as one who pleased God.

6 Now without faith it is impossible to please God, for whoever comes to him must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who diligently search for him.

7 By faith Noah, when warned about things not yet seen, reverently prepared an ark to save his family, and by faith he condemned the world and inherited the righteousness that comes by faith.

8 By faith Abraham, when called to go to a place he would later receive as his inheritance, obeyed and went, even though he did not know where he was going.

9 By faith he made his home in the promised land like a stranger, living in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who also inherited the same promise,

10 because he was waiting for the city with permanent foundations, whose architect and builder is God.

11 By faith Sarah, even though she was old and barren, received the strength to conceive, because she was convinced that the one who had made the promise was faithful.

12 Abraham was as good as dead, yet from this one man came descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as countless as the sand on the seashore.

13 All these people died having faith. They did not receive the things that were promised, yet they saw them in the distant future and welcomed them, acknowledging that they were strangers and foreigners on earth.

14 For people who say such things make it clear that they are looking for a country of their own.

15 If they had been thinking about what they had left behind, they would have had an opportunity to go back.

16 Instead, they were longing for a better country, that is, a heavenly one. That is why God is not ashamed to be called their God, because he has prepared a city for them.

17 By faith Abraham, when he was tested, offered Isaac — he who had received the promises was about to offer his unique son in sacrifice,

18 about whom it had been said, "It is through Isaac that descendants will be named for you."

19 Abraham was certain that God could raise the dead, and figuratively speaking, he did get Isaac back in this way.

20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau in regard to their future.

21 By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed each of Joseph's sons "and worshipped while leaning on the top of his staff."

22 By faith Joseph, when his end was near, spoke about the exodus of the Israelites and gave them instructions about burying his bones.

Song of Songs 3

The Loved One

- 1 Night after night on my bed,
I sought the one I love;
I sought him, but didn't find him.
- 2 I'll get up and go all around the city,
throughout the streets, and in the squares.
I'll seek the one I love.
I sought him but didn't find him.
- 3 The watchmen who go all around the city found me.
I asked, "Have you seen the one I love?"
- 4 I had just passed them
when I found the one I love.
I held him and wouldn't let him go until I brought him to my mother's house, to the room of the one who conceived me.
- 5 Swear to me, young women of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or by the does of the field,
that you won't awaken or arouse love
before its proper time!

The Lover Arrives

- 6 What is this coming up from the desert
like columns of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and incense
from all the fragrant powders of the merchant?
- 7 Look! It's Solomon's sedan chair, with 60 of the best soldiers in Israel surrounding it.
- 8 All of them are wearing swords and are experienced in battle.
Each has his sword on his thigh,
ready for the terror of the night.
- 9 King Solomon made the sedan chair for himself from the trees of Lebanon.
- 10 He made its posts of silver,
its back of gold.
Its seat was purple,
and its interior was lovingly inlaid
by the young women of Jerusalem.
- 11 Come out, young women of Zion, and see King Solomon with the crown with which his mother crowned him on his wedding day - his day of great delight.

Song of Songs 4

The Lover

- 1 Look at you! You are beautiful, my darling.
Look at you! You are so beautiful.
Your eyes behind your veil are doves,

- your hair is like a flock of goats
coming down from Mt. Gilead.
- 2 Your teeth are like a flock of sheep about to be sheared, who are coming up from being washed.
All of them are twins,
not one has lost her young.
- 3 Your lips are like a scarlet thread,
and your mouth is lovely.
Behind your veil,
your temple is like a slice of pomegranate.
- 4 Your neck is like the tower of David,
built with rows of stones.
A thousand shields are hung upon it, all the shields of the warriors.
- 5 Your two breasts are like two fawns,
twins of a gazelle grazing among the lilies.
- 6 Until the day breaks and the shadows flee,
I'll go to the mountain of myrrh and to the hill of frankincense.
- 7 My darling, you are altogether beautiful and there is no blemish in you.
- 8 Come with me from Lebanon, my bride, come with me from Lebanon.
May you journey from the top of Amana, from the tops of Senir and Hermon,
from the dens of lions,
from the mountain lairs of leopards.
- 9 You have made my heart beat faster, my sister, my bride.
You have made my heart beat faster with one glance of your eyes, with one strand of your necklace.
- 10 How beautiful is your love, my sister, my bride.
How much better is your love than wine, and the fragrance of your perfume
than all kinds of spices.
- 11 Your lips drip honey, my bride;
milk and honey are under your tongue.
The scent of your garments is like the fragrance of Lebanon.
- 12 My sister, my bride, is a locked garden
a locked rock garden, a sealed up spring.
- 13 Your shoots are an orchard of pomegranates,
with choice fruit, henna with nard,
- 14 nard and saffron,
calamus and cinnamon,
with all the trees of frankincense,
along with myrrh and aloes, and all the finest spices.
- 15 You are a garden spring,
a well of fresh water, streams flowing from Lebanon.

The Loved One

- 16 Awake, north wind, and come, south wind.
Make my garden breathe out, let its fragrance flow.
Let my beloved come into his garden,
and let him eat its choice fruits.

Song of Songs 5

The Lover

- 1 I've come into my garden, my sister, my bride;
I've gathered my myrrh with my spices.
I've eaten my honeycomb with my honey.
I've drunk my wine with my milk.
Eat, friends!
Drink and become drunk with love.

The Loved One

- 2 I was asleep, but my heart was awake.
There's a sound! My beloved is knocking.

The Lover

"Open up for me, my sister, my darling,
my dove, my perfect one.
For my head is drenched with dew, my hair with the dampness of the night."

The Loved One

- 3 "I've taken off my clothes —
am I supposed to put them on again?
I've washed my feet —
am I supposed to get them dirty again?"
- 4 My beloved reached out his hand for the latch.
My feelings for him were aroused.
- 5 I got up to open the door,
and my hands dripped with myrrh,
my fingers with liquid myrrh,
on the handle of the lock.
- 6 I opened the door for my beloved,
but my beloved had turned away; he was gone!
My very life went out when he departed.
I searched for him,
but couldn't find him.
I called out to him,
but he didn't answer.
- 7 The watchmen making their rounds
through the city found me.
They beat me, they bruised me.
Those guarding the walls took my cloak from me.
- 8 I charge you, young women of Jerusalem,
"If you find my beloved, what are you to tell him?
Tell him that I'm weak with love."

The Young Women

- 9 What is so special about your beloved,
most beautiful of women?
What is so special about your beloved,
that you charge us like this?

The Loved One

- 10 My beloved is dazzling, with a dark and healthy complexion, outstanding among ten thousand.
- 11 His head is pure gold,
his hair is wavy, black like a raven.
- 12 His eyes are like doves
by streams of water,
bathed in milk,
mounted like jewels.
- 13 His cheeks are like beds of spices,
like towers of perfume.
His lips are lilies,
dripping with liquid myrrh.
- 14 His hands are rods of gold,
set with beryl.
His stomach is carved ivory,
inlaid with sapphires.
- 15 His legs are pillars of marble set on bases of pure gold.
His appearance is like Lebanon,
choice like its cedars.
- 16 His mouth is sweetness,
and all of him is desirable.
This is my beloved, this is my friend,
young women of Jerusalem!

Song of Songs 6

The Young Women

- 1 Where did your beloved go,
most beautiful of women?
Where did your beloved turn,
so we may look for him with you?

The Loved One

- 2 My beloved has gone down to his garden,
to the beds of spices,
to graze his flock in the gardens and gather lilies.
- 3 I belong to my beloved, and my beloved belongs to me.
He is the one who grazes his flock among the lilies.

The Lover

- 4 You are beautiful, my darling, like Tirzah, lovely like Jerusalem,
as awesome as an army with banners.

- 5 Turn your eyes from me,
for they excite me.
Your hair is like a flock of goats
coming down from Mt. Gilead.
- 6 Your teeth are like a flock of ewes that are coming up from being washed.
All of them are twins,
not one has lost her young.
- 7 Your temple behind your veil is like a slice of pomegranate.
- 8 There are sixty queens and eighty mistresses,
and too many young women to count,
- 9 but my dove, my perfect one, is unique.
She's unique to her mother,
she's pure to the one who gave birth to her.
Young women see her and call her blessed,
queens and mistresses praise her.

The Young Women

- 10 Who is this who appears like the dawn, beautiful as the moon,
bright as the sun,
awesome as an army with banners?

The Loved One

- 11 I went down to the walnut orchard, to look at the green sprouts in the valley,
to see whether the vine had budded,
whether the pomegranates had blossomed.
- 12 Before I knew it, I imagined myself among the chariots of my noble people.

The Young Women

- 13 Return, return, Shulammite, return, return, so we may look at you!

The Lover

Why should you look at the Shulammite, like you watch the dance of the two camps?

Song of Songs 7

- 1 How beautiful are your feet in sandals,
noble lady.
The curves of your thighs are like ornaments,
the work of a skilled artist's hands.
- 2 Your navel is a rounded goblet that never lacks mixed wine.
Your abdomen is a bundle of wheat,
enclosed by lilies.
- 3 Your two breasts are like two fawns,
twins of a gazelle.
- 4 Your neck is like a tower of ivory.
Your eyes are like the pools in Heshbon, beside the gate of Beth-rabbim.

- Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon, which faces Damascus.
- 5 Your head crowns you like Mount Carmel.
Your flowing locks are like purple, and a king could be captured in the dangling tresses.
- 6 How beautiful and lovely you are,
you are love with its exquisite delights.
- 7 Your stature is like a palm tree,
and your breasts are like clusters of fruit.
- 8 I told myself, "I'll go up the palm tree, and take hold of its fruit.
May your breasts be like clusters of the vine,
and the smell of your breath like apples.
- 9 May your mouth be like good wine.

The Loved One

- May it go down smoothly to my beloved, gliding gently over the lips of the sleeping ones.
- 10 I belong to my beloved,
and his desire is for me.
- 11 Come, my beloved.
Let us go out to the country,
let us spend the night in the villages.
- 12 Let us go early to the vineyards,
let us see whether the vine has budded,
whether the blossom has opened,
whether the pomegranates have bloomed.
There I'll give you my love.
- 13 The mandrakes give off their fragrance,
and over our doors are all the choice fruits,
both old and new,
that I've stored up for you, my beloved.

Hebrews 11

23 By faith Moses was hidden by his parents for three months after he was born, because they saw that he was a beautiful child and were not afraid of the king's order.

24 By faith Moses, when he had grown up, refused to be called a son of Pharaoh's daughter,

25 because he preferred being mistreated with God's people to enjoying the pleasures of sin for a short time.

26 He thought that being insulted for the sake of the Messiah was of greater value than the treasures of Egypt, because he was looking ahead to his reward.

27 By faith he left Egypt, without being afraid of the king's anger, and he persevered because he saw the one who is invisible.

28 By faith he established the Passover and the sprinkling of blood to keep the destroyer of the firstborn from touching the people.

29 By faith they went through the Red Sea as if it were dry land. When the Egyptians tried to do this, they were drowned.

30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell down after they had been encircled for seven days.

31 By faith Rahab the prostitute did not die with those who were disobedient, because she had welcomed the spies with a greeting of peace.

32 And what more should I say? For time would fail me to tell you about Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah, David, Samuel, and the prophets.

33 Through faith they conquered kingdoms, administered justice, received promises, shut the mouths of lions,

34 put out raging fires, escaped death by the sword, found strength in weakness, became powerful in battle, and routed foreign armies.

35 Women received their dead raised back to life. Other people were brutally tortured, but refused to be ransomed, so that they might gain a better resurrection.

36 Still others endured taunts and floggings, and even chains and imprisonment.

37 They were stoned to death, sawn in half, and killed with swords. They went around in sheepskins and goatskins. They were needy, oppressed, and mistreated.

38 The world wasn't worthy of them. They wandered in deserts and mountains, and from caves to holes in the ground.

39 All these people won approval for their faith but they did not receive what was promised,

40 since God had planned something better for us, so that they would not be perfected without us.

Hebrews 12

1 Therefore, having so vast a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, and throwing off everything that hinders us and especially the sin that so easily entangles us, let us keep running with endurance the race set before us,

2 fixing our attention on Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of the faith, who, in view of the joy set before him, endured the cross, disregarding its shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 Think about the one who endured such hostility from sinners, so that you may not become tired and give up.

Song of Songs 8

- 1 If only you were like a brother to me, like one who nursed at my mother's breasts.
If I found you outside I would kiss you,
and no one would view me with contempt.
- 2 I would lead you,
I would bring you to the house of my mother who used to teach me.
I would give you some spiced wine to drink,
from the juice of my pomegranates.
- 3 Let his left hand be under my head, and let his right hand embrace me.
- 4 Swear to me, young women of Jerusalem,
that you won't awaken or arouse love
before its proper time!

The Young Women

- 5 Who is this coming up from the desert, leaning on her beloved?

The Loved One

- Under the apple tree I awakened you.
There your mother had gone into labour with you;
there she went into labour and gave birth to you.
- 6 Set me like a seal over your heart,
like a seal on your arm.
For love is as strong as death,
passion as intense as Sheol.
The flames of love are flames of fire,
a blaze that comes from the LORD.
 - 7 Mighty bodies of water cannot extinguish love,
rivers cannot put it out.
If a man were to give all the wealth of his house for love,
he would surely be viewed with contempt.

The Loved One's Brothers

- 8 We have a little sister, and she has not yet reached maturity.
What will we do for our sister to prepare her for her engagement?
- 9 If she's a wall,
on her we will build a battlement of silver.
If she's a door,
we will enclose her with planks of cedar.

The Loved One

- 10 I was a wall and my breasts were like towers.
Then I became like one who finds peace in his eyes.
- 11 Solomon has a vineyard in Baal-hamon.
He entrusted the vineyard to caretakers -

each one is to bring 1,000 pieces of silver in exchange for its fruit.

- 12 My vineyard belongs to me and is at my disposal.
The 1,000 are for you, Solomon, and 200 are for those who take care of its fruit.

The Lover

- 13 You who sit in the gardens, companions are listening for your voice,
but let me hear it.

The Loved One

- 14 Come quickly, my beloved, and be like a gazelle or a young stag on the mountains of spices.

Isaiah 1

1 This is a record of the vision that Amoz's son Isaiah had about Judah and Jerusalem during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, and Ahaz, kings of Judah.

2 Listen, you heavens, and let the earth pay attention, because the LORD has spoken: "I reared children and brought them to adulthood, but then they rebelled against me.

3 The ox knows its owner, and the donkey its master's feeding trough, but Israel doesn't know, and my people don't understand.

4 "Oh, you sinful nation! You people burdened down by iniquity! You offspring of those who keep practising what is evil! You children who corrupt whatever they do! "They've abandoned the LORD; they've despised the Holy One of Israel; in their estrangement, they've walked away from me.

5 "Why will you still be struck down? Why will you continue to rebel? Your whole head is sick, and your whole heart is faint.

6 From the sole of your foot to the top of your head, there's no soundness evident — only bruises, sores, and festering wounds that haven't been cleaned out, bandaged, or treated with oil."

7 "Your country lies desolate; your cities have been incinerated. Before your very eyes, foreigners are devouring your land — they've brought devastation on it, while the land is overthrown by foreigners.

8 "The daughter of Zion is left abandoned, like a booth in a vineyard, like a hut in a cucumber field, or like a city under siege.

9 If the Lord of the Heavenly Armies hadn't left us a few survivors, we would be like Sodom; we would be like Gomorrah."

10 "Listen to what the LORD says, you rulers of Sodom, and pay attention to the teaching of our God, you people of Gomorrah!

11 "How do your voluminous sacrifices benefit me?" the LORD is asking. "I've had enough of burnt offerings of rams and the fat of well-fed beasts. I don't enjoy the blood of bulls, lambs, or goats.

12 "When you come to present yourselves in my presence, who has required you to trample on my courts?

13 Stop bringing useless offerings! Your incense is detestable to me, as are your New Moons, Sabbaths, and calling of convocations. I cannot stand iniquity within a solemn assembly.

14 As for your New Moons and your appointed festivals, I abhor them. They've become a burden to me; I've grown weary of carrying that burden.

15 When you spread out your hands in prayer, I'll hide my eyes from you. Even though you pray repeatedly, I won't listen. Your hands are full of blood, your fingers drenched with iniquity."

16 "Wash yourselves, and make yourselves clean; remove your evil behaviour from my presence; stop practising what is evil.

17 Learn to practise what is good; seek justice, alleviate oppression, defend orphans in court, and plead the widow's case.

18 "Please come, and let's reason together," implores the LORD. "Even though your sins are like scarlet, they'll be white like snow. Though they're like crimson, they'll become like wool.

19 If you're willing and obedient, you'll eat the best that the land produces;

20 but if you refuse and rebel, you'll be devoured by the sword, because the LORD has spoken."

21 "How the faithful city has become a whore, she who used to be filled with justice! Righteousness used to reside within her, but now only murderers live there.

22 Your silver has become dross, your best wine is diluted with water.

23 Your princes are rebels and companions of thieves. All of them are lovers of bribes and are runners after gifts. They don't bring justice to orphans, and the widow's case never comes up for review in their court."

24 Therefore this is what the Lord God of the Heavenly Armies, the one who is Israel's Mighty One, declares: "Now I'll get relief from his enemies and avenge myself on his foes.

25 When I turn my attention to you, I'll refine your dross as in a furnace. Let me remove all your alloy.

26 Let me restore your judges as at the first, and your counsellors as at the beginning. Afterward you'll be called 'The Righteous City' and 'The Faithful City of Zion'.

27 "Zion will be redeemed by justice, and her repentant ones by righteousness.

28 Rebels and sinners will be broken together, and those who forsake the LORD will be consumed.

29 They'll be ashamed of the oak trees that you desired; and you'll blush because of the gardens that you have chosen.

30 You'll be like an oak whose leaf is withering, like an unwatered garden.

31 Your strong one will be like tinder, and your work a spark; both of them will burn together, with no one to quench the flames that burn them."

Isaiah 2

1 The message that Amoz's son Isaiah received concerning Judah and Jerusalem:

2 "It will come about in the last days that the mountain that is the LORD's Temple will be established as the highest of mountains, and will be raised above the hills; all the nations will stream to it.

3 Many groups of people will come, commenting, "Come! Let's go up to the Temple of the God of Jacob, that they may teach us his ways. Then let's walk in his paths."

4 He will judge between the nations, and will render verdicts for the benefit of many.

"They will beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nations will not raise swords against nations, and they will not learn warfare anymore.

5 "You house of Jacob! Come! Let's live in the LORD's light.

6 For you have rejected your people, the house of Jacob, because they are filled with practices learned from the East and they are fortune-tellers like the Philistines. They cut deals with foreigners.

7 Their land is filled with silver and gold, and there is no end to their treasures; their land is filled with horses, and there is no end to their chariots.

8 Their land is filled with idols; they bow down to the work of their hands, to what their own fingers have made.

9 "So mankind is humbled, each human being is brought low, and you won't forgive."

10 "Go into the rocks! Hide in the dust to escape the terror of the LORD and to escape the glory of his majesty!

11 The haughty looks of mankind will be brought low, the lofty pride of human beings will be humbled, and the LORD alone will be exalted at that time.

12 "For the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has reserved a time to oppose all who are proud and haughty, and the self-exalting — they will be humbled.

13 He will take his stand against all the cedars of Lebanon, against the proud and self-exalting; and against all the oaks of Bashan;

14 against all the high mountains, and against all the lofty hills;

15 against every high tower, and against every fortified wall;

16 against all the ships from Tarshish, and against all their impressive watercraft.

17 "Humanity's haughtiness will be humbled, male arrogance will be brought low, and the LORD alone will be exalted in that day.

18 Their idols will utterly vanish.

19 "They will enter caverns in the rocks and holes in the ground, to escape the presence of the terror of the LORD, to escape the splendour of his majesty, when he arises to terrify the earth.

20 At that time mankind will throw their silver and gold idols that their fingers made as objects of worship to the moles and to the bats.

21 They will enter caverns in the rocks and clefts in the cliffs, to escape the terror of the LORD and to escape the splendour of his majesty, when he arises to terrorize the earth.

22 "Stop trusting in human beings, whose life breath is in their nostrils, for what are they really worth?"

Hebrews 12

4 In your struggle against sin you have not yet resisted to the point of shedding your blood.

5 You have forgotten the encouragement that is addressed to you as sons: "My son, do not think lightly of the Lord's discipline or give up when you are corrected by him.

6 For the Lord disciplines the one he loves, and he punishes every son he accepts."

7 What you endure disciplines you: God is treating you as sons. Is there a son whom his father does not discipline?

8 Now if you are without any discipline, in which all sons share, then you are illegitimate and not God's sons.

9 Furthermore, we had earthly fathers who disciplined us, and we respected them for it. We should submit even more to the Father of our spirits and live, shouldn't we?

10 For a short time they disciplined us as they thought best, but God does it for our good, so that we may share in his holiness.

11 No discipline seems pleasant at the time, but painful. Later on, however, for those who have been trained by it, it produces a harvest of righteousness and peace.

12 Therefore, strengthen your tired arms and your weak knees,

13 and straighten the paths of your life, so that your lameness may not become worse, but instead may be healed.

14 Pursue peace with everyone, as well as holiness, without which no one will see the Lord.

15 See to it that no one fails to obtain the grace of God and that no bitter root grows up and causes you trouble, or many of you will become defiled.

16 No one should be immoral or godless like Esau, who sold his birthright for a single meal.

17 For you know that afterwards, when he wanted to inherit the blessing, he was rejected because he could not find any opportunity to repent, even though he begged to repent with tears.

18 You have not come to something that can be touched, to a blazing fire, to darkness, to gloom,

19 to a trumpet's blast, or to a voice that made the hearers beg that not another word be spoken to them.

20 For they could not endure the command that was given: "If even an animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned to death."

21 Indeed, the sight was so terrifying that Moses said, "I am trembling with fear."

22 Instead, you have come to Mount Zion, to the city of the living God, to the heavenly Jerusalem, to tens of thousands of angels joyfully gathered together,

23 to the assembly of the firstborn who are enrolled in heaven, to a judge who is the God of all, to the spirits of righteous people who have been made perfect,

24 to Jesus, the mediator of a new covenant, and to the sprinkled blood that speaks a better message than Abel's.

25 See to it that you do not ignore the one who is speaking. For if the hearers did not escape when they ignored the one who warned them on earth, how much less will we escape if we turn away from the one who is from heaven!

26 At that time his voice shook the earth, but now he has promised, "Once more I will shake not only the earth but also heaven."

27 The expression "once more" signifies the removal of what can be shaken, that is, what he has made, so that what cannot be shaken may remain.

28 Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken, let us be thankful and worship God in reverence and fear in a way that pleases him.

29 For "our God is an all-consuming fire."

Isaiah 3

1 "Note this! The Lord God of the Heavenly Armies is taking away from Jerusalem and Judah everything that your society needs — all food supplies and all water supplies;
2 the mighty man and the warrior, the judge and the prophet, the fortune-teller and the elder,
3 the commander of fifty and the man of rank, the counsellor, the expert magician, and the medium.
4 "I will make boys their princes, and infants will rule over them.
5 People will oppress one another — It will be man against man and neighbour against neighbour. The young will be disrespectful to the old, and the worthless to the honourable.
6 "For a man will grab his brother in his own father's house, and say, 'You have a cloak, so you be our leader, and this heap of ruins will be under your rule!'
7 "But at that time he'll protest! He'll say, "I won't be your healer. I have neither food nor clothing in my house! You're not going to make me a leader of the people!"
8 "For Jerusalem has stumbled, and Judah has fallen, because what they say and do opposes the LORD; they keep defying him.
9 "The expressions on their faces give them away. They parade their sin around like Sodom; they don't even try to hide it. How horrible it will be for them, because they have brought disaster on themselves!"
10 "Tell the righteous that things will go well, because they will enjoy the fruit of their actions."
11 "How terrible it will be for the wicked! Disaster is headed their way, because what they did with their hand will be repaid to them."
12 "As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. My people, your leaders are misleading you — they're giving you confusing directions."
13 "The LORD is taking his place to argue his case; he's standing up to judge the peoples.
14 The LORD will go to court to oppose the elders and princes of his people: "You're the ones who have been devouring the vineyard, the plunder of the poor is in your own houses!
15 How dare you crush my people as you grind down the face of the poor?" declares the Lord God of the Heavenly Armies.
16 The LORD also says: "Because Zion's women are so haughty, and walk with outstretched necks, flirting with their eyes, prancing along as they walk, and making tinkling noises with their ankle bracelets,
17 therefore the LORD will afflict sores on the heads of Zion's women, and the LORD will expose their private parts.
18 "At that time, the LORD will take away the finery of the ankle bracelets, the headbands, crescents,
19 pendants, bracelets, veils;
20 headdresses, armlets, sashes, perfume boxes, charms;
21 signet rings, nose rings,
22 fine robes, capes, purses,
23 mirrors, linen garments, tiaras, and veils.
24 "And it will come about that instead of fragrance there will be a stench; instead of a belt, a rope; instead of well-set hair, baldness; instead of a fine robe, sackcloth; and instead of beauty, shame.
25 Your men will die violently, while your forces fall in battle
26 and her gates lament and mourn. Ravaged, she will sit on the ground."

Isaiah 4

- 1 "At that time, seven women will cling tightly to one man and will make him this offer: 'We'll provide our own bread. We'll provide our own clothes. Just let us marry you so we won't be stigmatized anymore.'"
- 2 "At that time, the LORD's branch will be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land will be the pride and glory of the survivors of Israel and Judah.
- 3 Whoever survives in Zion and whoever remains in Jerusalem will be called holy — everyone who has been appointed to survive in Jerusalem —
- 4 when the LORD will have washed away the filth of the women of Zion, cleaning up Jerusalem's guilt by a spirit of judgement and a spirit of tempest.
- 5 Then the LORD will create over the entire site of Mount Zion — including over those who assemble there — a cloud by day
- 6 and also to serve as a refuge and shelter from storms and rain."

Isaiah 5

- 1 I will sing for my beloved my love-song concerning his vineyard: "The one I love had a vineyard on a very fertile hill.
- 2 He ploughed its land and cleared it of stones. Then he planted it with the choicest vines, built a watchtower in the middle of it, and dug a wine vat in it; He expected it to produce good grapes, but it produced only wild ones."
- 3 "So now, you inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, judge, won't you please, between me and my vineyard.
- 4 What more could I do in my vineyard, that I haven't already done? When I expected it to produce good grapes, why did it yield wild ones?
- 5 "Now, let me tell you, won't you please, what I'm going to do to my vineyard. "I'm going to take away its protective hedge, and it will be devoured; I'll break down its wall, and it will be trampled.
- 6 I'll make it a wasteland, and it won't be pruned or cultivated. Instead, briars and thorns will grow up. I'll also issue commands to the clouds, that they drop no rain upon it."
- 7 For the vineyard of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are the garden in which he delights. He looked for justice, but saw only bloodshed; he searched for righteousness, but heard only an outcry!
- 8 "How terrible it will be for you who join house to house, who add field to field, until there is no more room, and you have settled yourselves alone in the middle of the land!"
- 9 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies has declared this so I could hear it: "Surely many houses will become desolate, great and beautiful houses, without occupants.
- 10 For ten acres of vineyard will produce only six gallons, and ten bushels of seed will produce only one bushel."
- 11 "How terrible it will be for those who rise at dawn in order to grab a stiff drink, for those who stay up late at night as wine inflames them!
- 12 They have the lyre and harp, the tambourine and flute, as well as wine at their feasts, but they don't respect what the LORD is doing, nor do they consider his actions.
- 13 Therefore my people go into exile because they lack understanding; my honoured men go hungry, and the crowd is parched with thirst.
- 14 Therefore Sheol's appetite has grown; it has opened its mouth beyond limit. Jerusalem's nobility and her multitudes will go there, along with her brawlers and whoever is revelling within her.
- 15 Humanity is brought low, and each one is humbled, while the eyes of the self-exalting are brought low.
- 16 But the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is exalted in justice, and the Holy God proves himself to be righteously holy.

17 Then the lambs will graze in their pasture; fatlings and foreigners will eat among the waste places of the rich."

18 "How terrible it will be for those who parade iniquity with cords of falsehood, who draw sin along as with a cart rope;

19 who say: 'Let God be quick, let him speed up his work so we may see it! Let it happen! let the plan of the Holy One of Israel draw near, so we may recognize it!'"

20 "How terrible it will be for those who call evil good and good evil, who substitute darkness for light and light for darkness, who substitute what is bitter for what is sweet and what is sweet for what is bitter!"

21 "How terrible it will be for those who are wise in their own opinion, and clever in their own reckoning!

22 "How terrible it will be for those who are heroes at drinking wine, and champions in mixing strong drink,

23 who acquit the guilty for a bribe, and deprive the innocent of justice!"

24 Therefore, as flames of fire devour straw, as dry grass collapses in flames, so their root will be rotten, and their blossom will blow away like dust, because they have rejected the instruction of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, and have despised the word of the Holy One of Israel.

25 Therefore the anger of the LORD burned against his people, so he stretched out his hands against them and afflicted them. The mountains quaked, and their corpses were like refuse in the middle of the streets. Throughout all of this, his anger has not turned away, and his hands are still stretched out to attack.

26 The LORD will signal for nations far away, whistling for them to come from the ends of the earth. Look how quickly and how swiftly they come!

27 No one is weary, no one stumbles, and no one slumbers or sleeps. No belt around their waists will come undone, nor will their sandal straps be broken.

28 Their arrows are sharp, all their bows ready for action. Their horses' hooves seem like flint, and their chariot wheels spin like a whirlwind.

29 With a roar like a lion, they snarl, and like young lions, they growl; they seize their prey and then carry it off, with no one to rescue.

30 They will roar over it at that time, like the sea waves roar. If one surveys the land, watch out! There's darkness and distress; even the daylight is darkened by its clouds.

Hebrews 13

- 1 Let brotherly love continue.
- 2 Stop neglecting to show hospitality to strangers, for by showing hospitality some have had angels as their guests without being aware of it.
- 3 Continue to remember those in prison as if you were in prison with them, as well as those who are mistreated, since they also are only mortal.
- 4 Let marriage be kept honourable in every way, and the marriage bed undefiled. For God will judge those who commit sexual sins, especially those who commit adultery.
- 5 Keep your lives free from the love of money, and be content with what you have, for God has said, "I will never leave you or abandon you."
- 6 Hence we can confidently say, "The Lord is my helper; I will not be afraid. What can anyone do to me?"
- 7 Remember your leaders, those who have spoken God's word to you. Think about the impact of their lives, and imitate their faith.
- 8 Jesus, the Messiah, is the same yesterday and today — and forever!
- 9 Stop being carried away by all kinds of unusual teachings, for it is good that the heart be strengthened by grace, not by food laws that have never helped those who follow them.
- 10 We have an altar, and those who serve in the tent have no right to eat at it.
- 11 For the bodies of animals, whose blood is taken into the sanctuary by the high priest as an offering for sin, are burned outside the camp.
- 12 That is why Jesus, in order to sanctify the people by his own blood, also suffered outside the city gate.
- 13 Therefore go to him outside the camp and endure the insults he endured.
- 14 For here we have no permanent city but are looking for the one that is coming.
- 15 Therefore, through him let us always bring God a sacrifice of praise, that is, the fruit of our lips that confess his name.
- 16 Do not neglect to do good and to be generous, for God is pleased with such sacrifices.
- 17 Continue to obey your leaders and to be submissive to them, for they watch over your souls as those who will have to give a word of explanation. By doing this, you will be letting them carry out their duties joyfully, and not with grief, for that would be harmful for you.
- 18 Pray for us, for we are sure that we have a clear conscience and desire to live honourably in every way.
- 19 I especially ask you to do this so that I may be brought back to you sooner.
- 20 Now may the God of peace, who by the blood of the eternal covenant brought back from the dead our Lord Jesus, the Great Shepherd of the sheep,
- 21 equip you with everything good to do his will, accomplishing in us what pleases him through Jesus, the Messiah. To him be glory forever and ever! Amen.
- 22 I urge you, brothers, to listen patiently to my encouraging message, for I have written you a short letter.
- 23 You should know that our brother Timothy has been set free. If he comes soon, he will be with me when I see you.
- 24 Greet all your leaders and all the saints. Those who are from Italy greet you.
- 25 May grace be with all of you!

Isaiah 6

- 1 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting upon his throne, high and exalted. The train of his robe filled the Temple.
- 2 The seraphim stood above him. Each had six wings: with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he was flying.
- 3 They kept on calling to each other: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of the Heavenly Armies! The whole earth is full of his glory!"
- 4 The foundations of the thresholds quaked at the sound of those who kept calling out, and the Temple was filled with smoke.
- 5 "How terrible it will be for me!" I cried, "because I am ruined! I'm a man with unclean lips, and I live among a people with unclean lips! And my eyes have seen the King, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies!"
- 6 Then one of the seraphim flew to me, carrying a burning coal in his hand that he had taken from the altar with tongs.
- 7 He touched my mouth and said, "Look! Now that this has touched your lips, your guilt is taken away, and your sins atoned for."
- 8 Then I heard the voice of the LORD as he was asking, "Whom will I send? Who will go for us?" "Here I am!" I replied. "Send me."
- 9 "Go!" he responded. "Tell this people: "'Keep on hearing, but do not understand; keep on seeing, but do not perceive.'
- 10 Dull the mind of this people, deafen their ears, and blind their eyes. By doing so, they won't see with their eyes, hear with their ears, understand with their minds, turn back, and be healed."
- 11 Then I asked, "For how long, LORD?" He replied: "Until cities lie waste, without inhabitants, and houses without people; and the land becomes utterly desolate.
- 12 Until the LORD removes people far away, and there are many empty places in the middle of the land.
- 13 Even though a tenth of its people remain in it, it will once again be burned, like a terebinth or an oak tree, the stump of which, though the tree has been felled, still contains holy seed."

Isaiah 7

- 1 During the reign of Jotham's son Ahaz, Uzziah's grandson, king of Judah, King Rezin of Aram and Remaliah's son Pekah, king of Israel, approached Jerusalem and waged war against it, but they could not mount an attack against it.
- 2 When it was reported to the house of David, "Aram has joined forces with Ephraim!" the heart of the people of Ahaz trembled like forest trees in a windstorm.
- 3 So the LORD told Isaiah, "Go out to meet Ahaz, you and your son Shear-jashub, at the end of the aqueduct of the Upper Pool that proceeds along the highway to Launderer's Field.
- 4 Tell him, 'Be careful, be calm, don't be afraid, and don't lose heart because of these two smouldering stumps of torches, that is, because of the fierce anger of Rezin, from Aram, and Remaliah's son.
- 5 Aram, Ephraim, and Remaliah's son have plotted this evil against you:
- 6 "Let's go attack Judah, let's terrorize it, and let's conquer it for ourselves. Then we'll install Tabeel's son as king!"
- 7 'But this is what the Lord God has to say: "'It won't take place. It won't ever happen.
- 8 Because Aram's head is Damascus, and Rezin is its king, within sixty-five years Ephraim will be shattered as a people.

9 Furthermore, Ephraim's head is Samaria, and Remaliah's son is its king. If all of you don't keep on believing, you'll never remain loyal."

10 Later on, the LORD spoke to Ahaz again:

11 "Ask a sign from the LORD your God. Make it as deep as Sheol or as high as heaven above."

12 But Ahaz replied, "I won't ask! I won't put the LORD to the test."

13 In reply, the LORD announced, "Please listen, you household of David. Is it such a minor thing for you to try the patience of men? Must you also try the patience of my God?

14 "Therefore the LORD himself will give you a sign. Watch! The young lady is conceiving a child, and will give birth to a son, and his name will be called Immanuel.

15 He'll eat cheese and honey, when he knows enough to reject what's wrong and choose what's right.

16 However, before the youth knows enough to reject what's wrong and choose what's right, the land whose two kings you dread will be devastated."

17 "The LORD will bring to you, to your people, and to your ancestor's house such a time as has never been since Ephraim broke away from Judah — the king of Assyria will come.

18 "At that time, the LORD will call for flies that will come from far away — from the headwaters of Egypt's rivers — and for bees that are in the land of Assyria.

19 They will all come and settle in the steep ravines, in the rocky crevices, in all the thorn bushes, and in all the pastures.

20 At that time, the LORD will hire a barber to come from beyond the Euphrates River — that is, the king of Assyria — and he will shave your heads, your leg hair, and your beards, too.

21 "At that time, a man will keep alive a heifer and two sheep,

22 and because of the abundance of milk that they give, he will have cheese to eat, since whoever remains in the land will be eating cheese and honey.

23 "At that time, every place where once there were a thousand vines worth a thousand shekels of silver, only briars and thorns will grow.

24 "People will come there armed with bows and arrows, because the entire land will be nothing but briars and thorns.

25 As for all the hills that used to be cultivated with a hoe, you won't go there, because you'll fear iron briars and thorns. Nevertheless, those hills will be reserved as a pasture where cattle will feed and where sheep will graze."

Isaiah 8

1 The LORD also told me, "Take a large tablet and write on it with a stylus pen, 'For Maher-shalal-hash-baz'.

2 Then I will call Uriah the priest and Jeberechiah's son Zechariah as reliable witnesses to testify on my behalf."

3 After this I was intimate with the prophetess and she conceived. Later, she bore a son, and then the LORD told me, "Call him 'Maher-shalal-hash-baz,'

4 for before the young lad knows how to call out to his father or mother, the wealth of Damascus and the plunder of Samaria will be carried off by the king of Assyria."

5 The LORD spoke to me again:

6 "Because this people have rejected the gently-flowing waters of Shiloah, and because they keep rejoicing in Rezin and Remaliah's son,

7 watch out! The LORD God is about to bring the flood waters of the Euphrates River against them, mighty and strong. "It's the king of Assyria and all of his arrogance! He will rise over all of the river's channels and run over all of its banks.

8 He will sweep on into Judah, overflowing as he passes through, like flood waters reaching up to a person's neck. His outstretched wings will flow as wide as your land, O Immanuel!"

9 "Band together, you peoples, but be shattered! Listen, all you distant countries! Strap on your armour, but be shattered.

10 Take counsel together, but it will all be for nothing; go ahead and talk, but it will all be for nothing, for God is with us."

11 For this is what the LORD spoke to me, as his forceful hand was resting on me, and as he was warning me not to live the way this people were living:

12 "Don't call conspiracy everything that this people calls conspiracy, and don't fear what they fear, or live in terror.

13 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies — he's the one you are to regard as holy. Let him be the one whom you fear, and let him be the one before whom you stand in terror!

14 Then he will be a sanctuary, but for both houses of Israel he'll also be a stone with which someone strikes himself, a rock one stumbles over, a trap and a snare to those who live in Jerusalem.

15 Many will stumble on them; They'll fall and be broken; They'll be snared and captured.

16 "Bind up the testimony, and seal up the teaching among my disciples.

17 I'll wait for the LORD, who is hiding his face from the house of Jacob, and I'll put my trust in him.

18 Watch out! I and the children whom the LORD has given me are a sign and a wonder in Israel from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, who resides on Mount Zion."

19 "So when they advise you, 'Ask the mediums your questions, and quiz the spiritists who chirp and mutter,' shouldn't a people instead be consulting their God — and not the dead — on behalf of those who are living

20 for instruction and for testimony? Surely they are speaking like this because the truth hasn't dawned on them.

21 "They'll pass through the land, while greatly distressed and hungry. When they are hungry, they'll become enraged, and they'll curse their king and their god. They'll turn their faces upwards, 22 or they'll look toward the earth, but they'll see only distress and darkness, the gloom that comes from anguish, and then they'll be thrown into total darkness."

James 1

1 From: James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.
To: The twelve tribes in the Dispersion.

Greetings.

- 2 Consider it pure joy, my brothers, when you are involved in various trials,
- 3 because you know that the testing of your faith produces endurance.
- 4 But you must let endurance have its full effect, so that you may be mature and complete, lacking nothing.
- 5 Now if any of you lacks wisdom, he should ask God, who gives to everyone generously without a rebuke, and it will be given to him.
- 6 But he must ask in faith, without any doubts, for the one who has doubts is like a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed by the wind.
- 7 Such a person should not expect to receive anything from the Lord.
- 8 He is a double-minded man, unstable in all he undertakes.
- 9 A brother of humble means should rejoice in his having been exalted,
- 10 and a rich person in his having been humbled, because he will fade away like a wild flower.
- 11 For the sun comes up with its scorching heat and dries up the grass. The flower in it drops off, and its beauty is gone. That is how the rich person will fade away in his pursuits.
- 12 How blessed is the man who endures temptation! When he has passed the test, he will receive the victor's crown of life that God has promised to those who keep on loving him.
- 13 When someone is tempted, he should not say, "I am being tempted by God," because God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone.
- 14 Instead, each person is tempted by his own desire, being lured and trapped by it.
- 15 When that desire becomes pregnant, it gives birth to sin; and when that sin grows up, it gives birth to death.
- 16 Do not be deceived, my dear brothers.
- 17 Every generous act of giving and every perfect gift is from above and comes down from the Father who made the heavenly lights, in whom there is no inconsistency or shifting shadow.
- 18 In accordance with his will he made us his children by the word of truth, so that we might become the most important of his creatures.
- 19 You must understand this, my dear brothers. Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to get angry.
- 20 For human anger does not produce the righteousness that God desires.
- 21 Therefore, rid yourselves of everything impure and every expression of wickedness, and with a gentle spirit welcome the word planted in you that can save your souls.
- 22 Keep on being obedient to the word, and not merely being hearers who deceive themselves.
- 23 For if anyone hears the word but is not obedient to it, he is like a man who looks at himself in a mirror
- 24 and studies himself carefully, and then goes off and immediately forgets what he looks like.
- 25 But the one who looks at the perfect law of freedom and remains committed to it — thereby demonstrating that he is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of what that law requires — will be blessed in what he does.

Isaiah 9

1 But there will be no gloom for her who was in distress. Formerly, he brought contempt to the region of Zebulun and the region of Naphtali, but in the future he will have made glorious the way of the sea, the territory beyond the Jordan — Galilee of the nations.

2 The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light; for those living in a land of deep darkness, a light has shined upon them.

3 You have increased the nation; you have increased its joy; they rejoice in your presence as they rejoice at the harvest, as they are glad when they're dividing the spoils of war.

4 Now as to the yoke that has been his burden, and the bar laid on his shoulder — the rod of his oppressor — you have broken it as on the day of Midian.

5 For every boot of the tramping soldier in battle tumult and every garment rolled in blood will be used for burning as fuel for a fire.

6 For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government will be upon his shoulder, and his name is called Wonderful Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

7 Of the growth of his government and peace there will be no end. He will rule over his kingdom, sitting on the throne of David, to establish it and to uphold it with justice and righteousness from this time onward and forevermore. The zeal of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will accomplish this.

8 "The LORD has sent a plague against Jacob, and it will fall on Israel;

9 and all of the people were evil — Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria — saying proudly with arrogant hearts:

10 'The bricks have fallen, but we will build with dressed stones; the sycamore trees have been cut down, but we will replace them with cedars.'

11 But the LORD has raised adversaries from Rezin against him, and he stirs up his enemies —

12 Arameans from the east and Philistines from the west — and they devour Israel with open mouths! "Yet for all this, his anger has not turned away, and his hand is still stretched out, ready to strike."

13 "But the people have not returned to rely on him who struck them, nor have they sought the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

14 So the LORD has cut off from Israel head and tail, palm branch and reed in a single day —

15 the elder and the dignitary is the head, and the prophet who teaches lies is the tail.

16 For those who guide this people have been leading them astray, and those who are guided by them are swallowed up.

17 Therefore the Lord does not have pity on their young men, and has no compassion on their orphans and widows, because each of them was godless and an evildoer, and every mouth spoke folly. "Yet for all this, his anger has not turned away, and his hand is still stretched out, ready to strike."

18 "For wickedness has burned like a blaze that consumes briars and thorns; it sets thickets of the forest on fire, and skyward they swirl in a column of smoke.

19 From the wrath of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies the land has been scorched, and the people have become like fuel for the fire; no one will spare his neighbour.

20 They cut meat on the right, but they're still hungry, and they devour also on the left, but they're not satisfied; each devours the flesh of his own children.

21 Manasseh devours Ephraim, and Ephraim devours Manasseh; together they are against Judah. "Yet for all this, his anger has not turned away, and his hand is still stretched out, ready to strike."

Isaiah 10

1 "How terrible it will be for the one who enacts unjust decrees, for those who write oppressive laws that they have prescribed,
2 to deprive the needy of justice, and to rob the poor of my people of their rights, so that widows may become their spoil and so that they may plunder orphans!
3 What will you do on the day of Judgement, in the calamity that will come from far away? To whom will you run for help, and where will you leave your wealth,
4 so you won't have to crouch among those in chains or fall among the slain? "Yet for all this, his anger has not turned away, and his hand is still stretched out, ready to strike."
5 "How terrible it will be for Assyria, the rod of my anger! The club is in their hands!
6 I'm sending my fury against a godless nation, and I'll command him against the people with whom I'm angry to seize loot and snatch plunder, and to trample them down like mud in the streets.
7 But this is not what he intends, and this is not what he thinks in his mind; but it is in his mind to destroy, and to cut down many nations.
8 "Because this is what he is saying: 'My commanders are all kings, are they not?
9 Isn't Calno like Carchemish? Isn't Hamath like Arpad? Isn't Samaria like Damascus?
10 As my hand has reached to the idolatrous kingdoms whose carved images were greater than those of Jerusalem and Samaria,
11 will I not deal with Jerusalem and her idols as I have dealt with Samaria and her images?'"
12 For the Lord has finished all his work against Mount Zion and against Jerusalem; he will punish the speech that comes from that wilful heart of Assyria's king and the haughty look in his eyes.
13 He keeps bragging: "I've done it by the strength of my hand, and by my wisdom, because I'm so clever. I removed the boundaries of peoples, and plundered their treasures; like a bull I brought down those who sat on thrones.
14 My hand has found, as if in a nest, the wealth of the peoples; and as one gathers eggs that have been abandoned, so I have gathered all the inhabitants of the earth. Nothing moved a wing, opened its mouth, or chirped.
15 "Does the axe exalt itself over the one who swings it, or does the saw magnify itself in opposition to the one who wields it? As if a rod were to wield those who lift it, or as if a club were to brandish the one who is not wood!
16 Therefore the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies will send a wasting disease among Assyria's sturdy warriors, and under its glory a conflagration will be kindled, like a blazing bonfire.
17 "The light of Israel will become a fire, and its Holy One a flame, and it will burn and consume Assyria's thorns and briers in a single day.
18 The splendour of its forest and its fruitful land the LORD will destroy — both soul and body — and Assyria will be as when a dying man wastes away.
19 What survives of the trees in his forest will be so few that a child can count them."
20 At that time, the remnant of Israel and the survivors of the house of Jacob will no longer rely on the one who struck them down, but will truly rely on the LORD, the Holy One of Israel.
21 A remnant will return — a remnant of Jacob — to the Mighty God.
22 For even if your people of Israel number as many as the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will return. Overwhelming, righteous destruction is decreed,
23 because the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies will bring about destruction, as has been decreed, throughout the entire region.

24 Therefore this is what the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies says: "My people, you who live in Zion, don't be afraid of the Assyrians, of the rod that beats you, who lift up their club against you as the Egyptians did.

25 In just a little while, my fury will come to an end, and my anger then will be directed to their destruction.

26 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies will brandish a whip against them, as when he struck Midian at the rock of Oreb; and as his staff was stretched out over the sea, so he will lift it up as he did in Egypt.

27 At that time, his burden will depart from your shoulder and his yoke from your neck. Indeed, the yoke will be broken, because you've become obese."

28 "The Assyrian commander has come upon Aiath and has passed through Migron; he stores his supplies at Michmash.

29 He has crossed over by the pass; his overnight lodging is at Geba. Ramah trembles; Gibeah of Saul has fled.

30 Cry aloud, you daughter of Gallim! Pay attention, Laish! Poor Anathoth!

31 Marmenah is in flight; the inhabitants of Gebim take cover.

32 This very day he will halt at Nob; he will shake his fists at the mountain that is the Daughter of Zion, at Jerusalem's hill.

33 Behold, the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies will lop off its boughs with terrifying power; the tallest in height will be cut down, and the lofty will be brought low.

34 He will cut down the thickets of the forest with an axe, and Lebanon will fall by the Majestic One."

Isaiah 11

1 "A shoot will come out from the stump of Jesse, and a branch will bear fruit from his roots.

2 The Spirit of the LORD will rest upon him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and power, the Spirit of knowledge and fear of the LORD.

3 His delight will be in the fear of the LORD. He won't judge by what his eyes see, nor decide disputes by what his ears hear,

4 but with righteousness he will judge the needy, and decide with equity for earth's poor. He will strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and the wicked will be killed with the breath of his lips.

5 Righteousness will be the sash around his loins, and faithfulness the belt around his waist."

6 "The wolf will live with the lamb; the leopard will lie down with the young goat. The calf and the lion will graze together, and a little child will lead them.

7 The cow and the bear will graze, and their young will lie down together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox.

8 The nursing child will play over the hole of the cobra, and the weaned child will put his hand on vipers' dens.

9 They will neither harm nor destroy on my holy mountain; for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea."

James 1

26 If anyone thinks that he is religious and does not bridle his tongue, but instead deceives himself, his religion is worthless.

27 A religion that is pure and stainless according to God the Father is this: to take care of orphans and widows who are suffering, and to keep oneself unstained by the world.

James 2

1 My brothers, do not let your faith in our glorious Lord Jesus, the Messiah, be tainted by favouritism.

2 Suppose a man wearing gold rings and fine clothes comes into your assembly, and a poor man in dirty clothes also comes in.

3 If you give special attention to the man wearing fine clothes and say, "Please take this seat," but you say to the poor man, "Stand over there" or "Sit on the floor at my feet,"

4 then you will have made false distinctions among yourselves and will have judged from evil motives, will you not?

5 Listen, my dear brothers! God has chosen the poor in the world to become rich in faith and to be heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who keep on loving him, has he not?

6 But you have humiliated the man who is poor. Are not rich people the ones who oppress you and drag you into court?

7 Are not they the ones who blaspheme the noble Name by which you have been called?

8 Nevertheless, you are doing the right thing if you obey the royal Law in keeping with the Scripture, "You must love your neighbour as yourself."

9 But if you show partiality, you are committing sin and will be convicted by the Law as violators.

10 For whoever keeps the whole Law but fails in one point is guilty of breaking all of it.

11 For the one who said, "Never commit adultery," also said, "Never murder." Now if you do not commit adultery, but you murder, you become a violator of the Law.

12 You must make it your habit to speak and act like people who are going to be judged by the law of liberty.

13 For the one who has shown no mercy will be judged without mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgement.

14 What good does it do, my brothers, if someone claims to have faith but does not prove it with actions? This kind of faith cannot save him, can it?

15 Suppose a brother or sister does not have any clothes or daily food

16 and one of you tells them, "Go in peace! Stay warm and eat heartily." If you do not provide for their bodily needs, what good does it do?

17 In the same way, faith by itself, if it does not prove itself with actions, is dead.

Isaiah 11

10 At that time, as to the root of Jesse, who will be standing as a banner for the peoples, the nations will rally to him, and his resting place is glorious.

11 At that time, the LORD will reach out his hand yet a second time to recover the remnant that is left of his people, from Assyria, from Lower Egypt, from Upper Egypt, from Cush, from Elam, from Shinar, from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea.

12 He will raise a banner for the nations and will assemble the dispersed of Israel; he will gather the scattered people of Judah from the corners of the earth.

13 Ephraim's jealousy will vanish, and those who are hostile to Judah will be eliminated; Ephraim will no longer be jealous of Judah, and Judah will not be hostile to Ephraim.

14 But they will swoop down on the slopes of the Philistines to the west, and they will plunder the people to the east. They'll lay their hands on Edom and Moab, and the Ammonites will be subject to them.

15 The LORD will totally destroy the gulf of the Sea of Egypt. He will sweep his hand over the Euphrates River with a violent wind, breaking it up into seven streams, and making a way for people to cross on foot.

16 And there will be a highway for the remnant that is left of his people out of Assyria, as there was for Israel when they came up from the land of Egypt.

Isaiah 12

1 At that time, you will say: "I will praise you, LORD, for although you were angry with me, your anger has turned away, and you have comforted me.

2 "Look! God — yes God — is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid. For the LORD is my strength and my song, and he has become my salvation."

3 You will draw water joyfully from the wells of salvation. And you will say at that time:

4 "Give thanks to the LORD; call on his name. Make known his actions among the nations. Proclaim that his name is exalted.

5 "Sing praises to the LORD, because he has acted gloriously, being made known in all the world.

6 Shout aloud, and sing for joy, you who live in Zion, because great in your midst is the Holy One of Israel."

Isaiah 13

1 A message that Amoz's son Isaiah received about Babylon:

2 "Raise a banner on a bare hilltop! Cry out loud to them! Give a wave of the hand, signalling for them to enter the gates of the nobles.

3 I myself have commanded my consecrated ones; I have also summoned my warriors, those who rejoice in my triumph, to carry out my angry judgements.

4 "Listen! There's a noise on the mountains like that of a great multitude! Listen! There's an uproar among the kingdoms, like that of nations massing together! The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is mustering an army for battle.

5 They're coming from a faraway land, from the distant horizon — the LORD and the weapons of his anger — to destroy the entire land."

6 Wail out loud, because the Day of the LORD is near. It will come like destruction from the Almighty!

7 Because of this, every hand will go limp, and every man's courage will melt.

8 They will be terrified; pain and anguish will seize them; they'll writhe like a woman in labour. They'll look aghast at one another; and their faces will be ablaze with fear.

9 Watch out! The Day of the LORD is coming — cruel, with wrath and fierce anger — to turn the entire inhabited earth into a desolation and to annihilate sinners from it.

10 For the stars of the heavens and their constellations won't shine their light; the sun will be dark when it rises, and the moon won't shine its light.
11 I'll punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; I'll put an end to the pomposity of the arrogant, and overthrow the insolence of tyrants.
12 I'll make people scarcer than pure gold, and mankind rarer than gold from Ophir.
13 Therefore I'll make the heavens tremble. The earth will shake from its place at the wrath of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, at the time of his burning anger.
14 They will be like a hunted gazelle, or like sheep with no one to gather them, each will turn to his own people, and each will flee to his own land.
15 Whoever is captured will be thrust through, and whoever is caught will fall dead, killed by the sword.
16 Their infants will be dashed to pieces before their eyes, and their houses will be looted, and their wives slept with.
17 Watch out! I'm stirring up the Medes against them, who care nothing for silver and take no delight in gold.
18 Their bows will dash the young men to pieces; they'll show no pity on those not yet born, and their eyes will not spare children.
19 Babylon, that jewel of kingdoms, the splendour and pride of the Chaldeans, will be like Sodom and Gomorrah, when God overthrew them —
20 It will never be inhabited or lived in through all generations; no Bedouin will pitch his tent there; no shepherds will make their flocks lie down there.
21 But desert beasts will lie down there, and their houses will be full of howling creatures; there owls will dwell, and goat-demons will dance there.
22 Hyenas will howl in its strongholds, and jackals will make their dens in its citadels. Its time is close at hand, and its days will not be extended any further.

Isaiah 14

1 However, the LORD will have compassion on Jacob and will once again choose Israel. He will settle them in their own land, and foreigners will join them, affiliating themselves with the house of Jacob.
2 Many nations will take them and bring them to their land and their own place. The house of Israel will put those nations to conscripted labour in the LORD's land. They will take captive those who were their captors, and will rule continually over those who oppressed them.
3 At that time, when the LORD gives you rest from your suffering, turmoil, and the cruel bondage which they forced you to serve,
4 you will lift up this song of mockery against the king of Babylon: "How the oppressor has come to an end! How the attacker has ceased!
5 The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked, the sceptre of rulers,
6 that struck down peoples in anger with unceasing blows, that oppressed nations in fury with relentless persecution.
7 The entire earth is at rest and peace; its inhabitants break into song.
8 Even the cypresses rejoice over you, as do the cedars of Lebanon, saying, 'Now that you've been laid low, no woodcutter comes up against us.'
9 "The afterlife below is all astir to meet you when you arrive; it rouses up the spirits of the dead to greet you — everyone who used to be world leaders. It has raised up from their thrones all who used to be kings of the nations.
10 In answer, all of them will tell you, 'You've also become as weak as we are! You have become just like us!'
11 Your pomp has been brought down to Sheol, along with the noise of your harps. Maggots are spread out beneath you, and worms are your covering."

12 "How you have fallen from heaven, Day Star, son of the Dawn! How you have been thrown down to earth, you who laid low the nation!

13 You said in your heart, 'I'll ascend to heaven, above the stars of God. I'll erect my throne; I'll sit on the Mount of Assembly in the far reaches of the north;

14 I'll ascend above the tops of the clouds; I'll make myself like the Most High.'

15 But you are brought down to join the dead, to the far reaches of the Pit.

16 "Those who see you will stare at you. They will wonder about you: 'Is this the man who made the earth tremble, who made kingdoms quake,

17 who made the world like a desert, who destroyed its cities, who would not open the jails for his prisoners?'

18 All the kings of the nations lie in state, each in his own tomb.

19 But you are cast away from your grave, like a repulsive branch, your clothing is the slain, those pierced by the sword; those who go down to the Pit. Like a dead body trampled underfoot,

20 you will not be united with them in burial, for you have destroyed your land, you have slain your people. People will never mention the descendants of those who practise evil again!

21 Prepare a massacre for his sons because of the guilt of their forefathers! They are not to rise and inherit the earth, and cover the surface of the world with cities."

22 "I will rise up against them," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and I will eliminate from Babylon her name and survivors, her offspring and descendants," declares the LORD.

23 "And I'm going to make it a possession of the hedgehog — pools of water — and I'll sweep with the broom of destruction," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

24 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies has sworn: "Surely as I have planned, that's what she will become; and just as I have determined, so will it remain —

25 to crush the Assyrian in my land, and on my mountains I will trample him down. His yoke will turn away from you, and his burden from your shoulders."

26 "This is what I've planned for the whole earth, and this is the hand that is stretched out over all the nations.

27 For the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has planned, and who can thwart him? His hand is stretched out, and who can turn it back?"

James 2

18 But someone may say, "You have faith, and I have actions." Show me your faith without any actions, and I will show you my faith by my actions.

19 You believe that there is one God. That's fine! Even the demons believe that and tremble with fear.

20 Do you want proof, you foolish person, that faith without actions is worthless?

21 Our ancestor Abraham was justified by his actions when he offered his son Isaac on the altar, wasn't he?

22 You see that his faith worked together with what he did, and by his actions his faith was made complete.

23 And so the Scripture was fulfilled that says, "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness." And so he was called God's friend.

24 You observe that a person is justified through actions and not through faith alone.

25 Likewise, Rahab the prostitute was justified through actions when she welcomed the messengers and sent them away on a different road, wasn't she?

26 For just as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without actions is also dead.

James 3

1 Not many of you should become teachers, my brothers, because you know that we who teach will be judged more severely than others.

2 For all of us make many mistakes. If someone does not make any mistakes when he speaks, he is perfect and able to control his whole body.

3 Now if we put bits into horses' mouths to make them obey us, we can guide their whole bodies as well.

4 And look at ships! They are so big that it takes strong winds to drive them, yet they are steered by a tiny rudder wherever the helmsman directs.

5 In the same way, the tongue is a small part of the body, yet it can boast of great achievements. A huge forest can be set on fire by a little flame.

6 The tongue is a fire, a world of evil. Placed among the parts of our bodies, the tongue contaminates the whole body and sets on fire the course of life, and is itself set on fire by hell.

7 For all kinds of animals, birds, reptiles, and sea creatures can be or have been tamed by humans,

8 but no one can tame the tongue. It is an uncontrollable evil filled with deadly poison.

9 With it we bless the Lord and Father, and with it we curse those who are made in God's likeness.

10 From the same mouth come blessing and cursing. It should not be like this, my brothers!

11 A spring cannot pour both fresh and brackish water from the same opening, can it?

12 My brothers, a fig tree cannot produce olives, nor a grapevine figs, can it? Neither can a salt spring produce fresh water.

Isaiah 14

28 In the year that King Ahaz died this message came:

29 "Don't rejoice, all of you Philistines, that the rod that struck you is broken, because from the snake's root a viper will spring up, and its offspring will be a darting, poisonous serpent.

30 The firstborn of the poor will find pasture, and the needy will lie down in safety; but I'll kill your root by famine, and I'll execute your survivors.

31 Wail, you gate! Cry out, you city! Melt away, all you Philistines! For smoke comes from the north, and there's no one to take measure in its festivals.

32 How will they answer the messengers of the nation? "The LORD has founded Zion, and in it the afflicted among his people will find refuge."

Isaiah 15

1 A message concerning Moab: "For Ir in Moab is destroyed in a night, and Moab is ruined! Because Ir in Moab is destroyed in a single night, Moab is ruined!

2 He has gone up to the temple, and to Dibon, to the high places to weep; over Nebo and over Medeba Moab wails. His head is completely bald, and every beard is shaved off.

3 In its streets they wear sackcloth; on its rooftops and in its squares everyone wails and falls down weeping.

4 Heshbon and Elealeh cry out, their voices are heard as far as Jahaz; therefore the loins of Moab cry aloud; its heart quakes for itself.

5 My heart cries out over Moab; her fugitives flee as far as Zoar, as far as Eglath-shelishiyah. For at the ascent to Luhith they go up weeping; on the road to Horonaim they raise a cry of destruction.

6 The Nimrim waters are desolate; the grass is withered, its vegetation gone; there is no foliage left.

7 Therefore the wealth they have acquired and what they have stored up — they carry them away over the Arab Wadi.

8 For the cry has gone out along the border of Moab; her wailing reaches as far as Eglaim, her wailing reaches as far as Beer-elim.

9 The Dibon streams are full of blood; but I will bring upon Dibon even more — a lion will pounce upon those of Moab who escape, upon those who remain in the land."

Isaiah 16

1 "Send a lamb to the ruler of the land, from Selah, by way of the desert, to the mountain of the Daughter of Zion.

2 Like fluttering birds, like an abandoned nest, so are the daughters of Moab at the fords of the Arnon River.

3 "Give us advice; reach a decision! Cast your shadow as if night had come at high noon. Shelter the fugitives, And don't betray a single refugee.

4 Let the fugitives from Moab settle among you; be a shelter to them from the destroyer. When the oppressor comes to an end, and destruction has ceased, and the marauder has vanished from the land,

5 then a throne will be established in gracious love, and there will sit in faithfulness — in the Tent of David — one who judges, seeks justice, and is swift to do what is right."

6 "We've heard about Moab's pride — so very proud he became! — his arrogance, his pride, and his insolence; therefore he is alone.

7 Therefore, let Moab not wail, let everyone wail for Moab. Lament and grieve deeply for the ruined remains of Kir-hareseth.

8 For the fields of Heshbon wither, as well as the vines of Sibmah. The rulers of the nations have struck down its choicest vines, which once reached Jazer and pushed to the desert. Its shoots spread out and passed over the sea."

9 "Therefore I weep with the tears of Jazer for the vines of Sibmah. I drench you with my tears, O Heshbon and Elealeh — for the shouts of joy over your summer fruit and your grain harvest have ended.

10 Joy and gladness are taken away from the orchards, in the vineyards people will sing no songs, and no cheers are raised. No vintner treads out wine in the presses, because I've put an end to the shouting.

11 Therefore my insides moan like a lyre for Moab, and my very soul for Kir-hareseth.

12 When Moab appears, when he arrives upon the high place and comes to his sanctuary to pray, he will not prevail."

13 This was the message that the LORD spoke concerning Moab in the past.

14 But now the LORD has spoken again: "Within three years, like the years of a contract worker, Moab's glory will be brought into contempt, in spite of all its great multitude, and its survivors will be very few and of no importance."

Isaiah 17

1 A message about Damascus: "Look! Damascus will cease to be a city. Instead, it will become a pile of ruins.

2 The cities of Oraru will be deserted — they will be devoted to herds that will lie at rest, and terrorism will be no more.

3 The fortress will disappear from Ephraim, and royal authority from Damascus; the survivors from Aram will be like the glory of the Israelis," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

4 "At that time, Jacob's glory will have become weakened, and his strong flesh will turn gaunt;

5 it will be as if harvesters gather standing grain, reaping the ears by hand, or it will be as if grain is harvested in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Nevertheless, gleanings will remain in Israel, as when an olive tree is beaten — two or three ripe olives left in the topmost branches, four or five left among the branches of a fruit-filled tree," declares the LORD God of Israel.

7 At that time, men will look upon their Maker, and their eyes will honour the Holy One of Israel.

8 They will not look upon the altars, the products that their own fingers have made, and they will have no regard for Asherah poles or incense altars.

9 "At that time, their fortified cities that they abandoned because of the Israelis will be like desolate places of the forests and hilltops — there will be desolation.

10 For you have forgotten the God of your salvation and have not remembered the Rock that is your strength. Therefore even though you plant delightful plants, sowing them with imported vine-seedlings,

11 at the time that you plant them, carefully making them grow, the very morning you make your seed to sprout, your harvest will be ruined in a time of grief and unbearable pain."

12 "How terrible it will be for many peoples, who rage like the roaring sea! Oh, how the uproar of nations is like the sound of rushing, mighty water — How they roar!

13 The nations roar like the rushing of many waters, but the LORD will rebuke them, and they will run far away, chased like chaff blown down from the mountains or like thick dust that rolls along, blown along by a wind storm.

14 When the evening arrives, watch out — sudden terror! By morning they will be there no longer! So it will be for those who plunder us and what will happen to those who rob us."

Isaiah 18

1 Woe to the land of whirring wings that is beyond the rivers of Cush,
2 which sends envoys by the sea, in papyrus boats over the water! Go, swift messengers, to a tall, smooth-skinned nation, to a people feared far and wide, a nation that metes out punishment and oppresses, whose land the rivers divide.
3 All you inhabitants of the world, you who live on the earth, when a banner is raised on the mountains, you'll see it. When a trumpet sounds, you'll hear it!
4 For this is what the LORD told me: "I will remain quiet and watch in my dwelling place like dazzling heat in sunshine, like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest."
5 For before the harvest, when the season of budding is over, and sour grapes ripen into mature grapes, he cuts off the shoots with pruning knives, clearing away the spreading branches as he lops them off.
6 And they will all be left for birds of prey that live on the mountains and for wild animals.
Birds of prey will pass the summer feeding on them, and all the wild animals will pass the winter feeding on them.
7 At that time tribute will be brought to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies from a tall and smooth-skinned people, from a people feared far and wide, a nation that metes out punishment and oppresses, whose land the rivers divide, to Mount Zion, the place that bears the name of the LORD.

Isaiah 19

1 A message about Egypt: "Watch out! The LORD rides on a swift cloud, and is coming to Egypt. The idols of Egypt tremble before him, and the hearts of the Egyptians melt within them.
2 I will stir up Egyptians against Egyptians, and everyone will fight against his brother, everyone against his neighbour, city against city, kingdom against kingdom.
3 The spirits of the Egyptians within them will be drained of courage, and I will bring their plans to nothing. They will consult idols and spirits of the dead, and mediums and spiritists.
4 I will hand the Egyptians over to the power of a cruel master, and a fierce king will rule over them," declares the Lord God of the Heavenly Armies.
5 "The water sources of the Nile will be dried up, and the river will become dry and parched.
6 The canals will stink, and the tributaries of Egypt will dwindle and dry up. Reeds and rushes will wither away.
7 And the bulrushes along the Nile, along the mouth of the Nile, will wither away. All the sown fields of the Nile will become parched, and they will be blown away; there will be nothing left.
8 The fishermen will groan, and all who cast hooks into the Nile will lament; those who spread nets upon the water will become weaker and weaker.
9 The workers in combed flax and the weavers of white linen will be in despair.
10 Egypt's workers in cloth will be crushed, and all who work for wages will be sick at heart."
11 Zoan's princes are nothing but fools; the wisest advisors of Pharaoh give stupid advice.
How can you say to Pharaoh, "I'm a descendant of wise men, a descendant of ancient kings"?
12 Where are your wise men now? Let them tell you, let them make known what the LORD has planned against Egypt.
13 The princes of Zoan have become fools, and the princes of Memphis deluded; the leaders of its tribes have led Egypt astray.
14 The LORD has mixed within them a spirit of confusion; so they make Egypt stagger in all that it does, like a drunkard staggers around in his vomit.

15 As a result, there will be nothing for Egypt that head or tail, palm branch or reed, can do.

James 3

13 Who among you is wise and understanding? Let him show by his noble conduct that his actions are done humbly and wisely.

14 But if you have bitter jealousy and rivalry in your hearts, stop boasting and slandering the truth.

15 That kind of wisdom does not come from above. No, it is worldly, self-centred, and demonic.

16 For wherever jealousy and rivalry exist, there is disorder and every kind of evil.

17 However, the wisdom that comes from above is first of all pure, then peace-loving, gentle, willing to yield, full of compassion and good deeds, and without a trace of partiality or hypocrisy.

18 And a harvest of righteousness is grown from the seed of peace planted by peacemakers.

James 4

1 Where do those fights and quarrels among you come from? They come from your selfish desires that are at war in your bodies, don't they?

2 You want something but do not get it, so you commit murder. You covet something but cannot obtain it, so you quarrel and fight. You do not get things because you do not ask for them!

3 You ask for something but do not get it because you ask for it for the wrong reason — for your own pleasure.

4 You adulterers! Don't you know that friendship with the world means hostility with God? So whoever wants to be a friend of this world is an enemy of God.

5 Or do you think the Scripture means nothing when it says that the Spirit that God caused to live in us jealously yearns for us?

6 But he gives all the more grace. And so he says, "God opposes the arrogant but gives grace to the humble."

7 Therefore, submit yourselves to God. Resist the devil, and he will run away from you.

8 Come close to God, and he will come close to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners, and purify your hearts, you double-minded.

9 Be miserable, mourn, and cry. Let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your joy into gloom.

10 Humble yourselves in the Lord's presence, and he will exalt you.

11 Do not criticize each other, brothers. Whoever makes it his habit to criticize his brother or to judge his brother is judging the Law and condemning the Law. But if you condemn the Law, you are not a practitioner of the Law but its judge.

12 There is only one Lawgiver and Judge — the one who can save and destroy. So who are you to judge your neighbour?

13 Now listen, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we will go to such and such a town, stay there a year, conduct business, and make money."

14 You do not know what tomorrow will bring. What is your life? You are a mist that appears for a little while and then vanishes.

15 Instead you should say, "If the Lord wants us to, we will live — and do this or that."

16 But you boast about your proud intentions. All such boasting is evil.

17 Therefore, anyone who knows what is right but fails to do it is guilty of sin.

Isaiah 19

16 At that time, the Egyptians will be like women — they will shudder and be afraid before the uplifted hand of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, when he brandishes his hand against her.

17 And the land of Judah will become a terror to the Egyptians. Everyone to whom it is mentioned will be afraid, because of the uplifted hand of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies that is turning in their direction.

18 At that time, there will be five cities in the land of Egypt that speak the language of Canaan and swear allegiance to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. One of them will be called the City of the Sun.

19 At that time, there will be an altar to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies in the heart of the land of Egypt, and a monument to the LORD at its border.

20 It will be a sign and a witness to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies in the land of Egypt; when they cry out to the LORD because of their oppressors, he will send them a saviour, and he will come down and rescue them.

21 So the LORD will make himself known to the Egyptians, and the Egyptians will acknowledge the LORD. At that time, they will worship with sacrifices and offerings, and they will make vows to the LORD and carry them out.

22 The LORD will strike Egypt with a plague, striking but then healing. Then they will turn to the LORD, and he will respond to their pleas and heal them.

23 At that time, there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will come into Egypt, and the Egyptians into Assyria, and they will worship with the Assyrians.

24 At that time, Israel will be in a triple alliance with Egypt and Assyria; they will be a blessing in the midst of the earth.

25 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies has blessed them, saying, "Blessed be Egypt my people, Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my inheritance."

Isaiah 20

1 In the year that the supreme commander, sent by Sargon the king of Assyria, came to Ashdod, attacked it, and captured it —

2 at that time the LORD spoke through Amoz's son Isaiah: "Go loosen the sackcloth that's around your waist, and take your sandals off your feet." So that's what he did: he went around naked and barefoot.

3 Then the LORD said, "Just as my servant Isaiah has walked around naked and barefoot for three years as a sign and a warning for Egypt and Ethiopia,

4 so the king of Assyria will lead away the Egyptian captives and exiles from Cush, both the young and the old, naked and barefoot — with even their buttocks uncovered — to the shame of Egypt.

5 Then they will be dismayed and put to shame because of Cush, their hope, and Egypt, their jewel.

6 At that time, the inhabitants of this coastland will say, 'See, this is what has happened to those on whom we counted and relied for help and deliverance from the king of Assyria! How, then, can we escape?'"

Isaiah 21

1 A message concerning the pasture by the Sea. "Like whirlwinds in the Negev sweep on, it comes from the desert, from a distant land.

2 A dire vision has been announced to me: the traitor betrays, and the plunderer takes loot. Get up, Elam! Attack, Media! I am putting a stop to all the groaning she has caused.

3 Therefore my body is racked with pain; pangs have seized me, like the pangs of a woman in labour; I am so upset that I cannot hear; I am so frightened that I cannot see while I'm reeling around.

4 And as for my heart, horror has terrified me; the twilight I longed for has started to make me tremble.

5 They set the tables; they spread the carpets; they eat, they drink! Get up, you officers! Oil the shields!"

6 For this is what the LORD told me: "Go post a lookout. Have him report what he sees.

7 When he sees chariots, each man with a pair of horses, riders on donkeys or riders on camels, let him pay attention, full attention."

8 Then the lookout shouted: "Upon a watchtower I stand, O Lord, continually by day, and I am stationed at my post throughout the night.

9 Look! Here come riders, each man with a pair of horses!" They're shouting out the answer: "Babylon has fallen, has fallen, and they have shattered all the images of her gods on the ground!

10 O my downtrodden people, my wall! I'll tell you what I have heard from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel."

11 A message concerning Dumah. "Someone is calling to me from Seir: 'Watchman, what is left of the night? Watchman, what is left of the night?'

12 The watchman replies: 'Morning is coming, but also the night. If you want to ask, then ask; come back again.'"

13 A message concerning Arabia. "You will camp in the thickets in Arabia, you caravans of the Dedanites.

14 Bring water for the thirsty, you who live in the land of Tema. Meet the fugitive with bread,

15 For he has fled from swords, from the drawn sword, from the bent bow, and from the heat of battle."

16 For this is what the LORD is saying to me: "Within three years, according to the years of a contract worker, the pomp of Kedar will come to an end.

17 And there will be few archers, those who are descendants of Kedar, who survive, because the LORD, the God of Israel, has spoken."

Isaiah 22

1 A message concerning the Valley of Vision. "What troubles you, now that you've all gone up to the rooftops,

2 you who are full of commotion, you passionate city, you rollicking town? Your slain weren't killed by the sword, nor are they dead in battle.

3 All your leaders have fled together; she is captured without using bows. All of you who were caught were captured together, although they had fled while the enemy was still far away.

4 Therefore I said: "Look away from me; and let me weep bitter tears; don't try to console me over the destruction of the daughter of my people."

5 For to the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies belongs the day of tumult, trampling, and confusion in the Valley of Vision, and the pulling down of his Temple on its mountain.

6 Elam takes up the quiver with chariots and cavalry, while Kir unsheathes the shield.

7 And it will come about that your choicest valleys will be filled with chariots, and horsemen will take their positions at the gates.

8 He has uncovered the defences of Judah." At that time, you looked at the arsenal of the Palace of the Forest,

9 and saw that there were many breaches in the City of David. So you stored up water from the Lower Pool,

10 counted the houses of Jerusalem, tore down certain houses to strengthen the wall,

11 and built a reservoir between the walls to store water from the Old Pool. But you did not look at the One who did it, nor did you see the One who planned it long ago.

12 On that day the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies called for weeping and mourning, for shaving heads and wearing sackcloth.

13 But look! There is joy and festivity, slaughtering of cattle and killing of sheep, eating meat and drinking wine. "Let us eat and drink, you say, because we die tomorrow."

14 "Nevertheless, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has revealed himself to my hearing: "Surely because of you this iniquity will not be forgiven you until you die," says the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies."

15 This is what the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Come, go to this steward, to Shebna who is in charge of the household, and ask him:

16 'What are you doing here, and who are your relatives here that you could carve out a grave for yourself here — cutting out a tomb at the choicest location, chiselling out a resting place for yourself out of solid rock?

17 Look out! The LORD is about to hurl you away violently, my strong fellow! He will fold you up completely, 18 rolling you up tightly like a ball and throwing you into a large country. There you will die, and there your splendid chariots will lie. You're a disgrace to your master's house!

19 I will depose you from your office, ousting you from your position.

20 "At that time, I'll call for my servant, Hilkiyah's son Eliakim,

21 and I'll clothe him with your robe and fasten your sash around him. I'll transfer your authority to him, and he'll be a father to those who live in Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.

22 "I'll place on his shoulder the key to the house of David — what he opens, no one will shut, and what he shuts, no one will open.

23 I'll set him like a peg into a secure place; he will become a throne of honour to his father's house.

24 The entire reputation of his father's house will hang on him: its offspring and offshoots — all its smaller vessels, from the cups to all the jars.

25 At that time," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "the peg that was driven into a secure place will give way; it will be sheared and will fall, and the load hanging on it will be cut down." The LORD has spoken.

Isaiah 23

1 A message concerning Tyre. "Wail, you ships of Tarshish, for Tyre is destroyed and is without house or harbour! From the land of Cyprus it was revealed to them.

2 "Be silent, you inhabitants of the coast, you merchants of Sidon, whose messengers crossed over the sea,

3 and were on mighty waters. Her revenue was the grain of Shihor, the harvest of the Nile; and she became the marketplace of nations.

4 Be ashamed, Sidon, because the sea has spoken, the fortress of the sea: I have neither been in labour nor given birth, I have neither reared young men nor brought up young women."

5 When the news reaches Egypt, they will be in anguish at the report about Tyre.

James 5

- 1 Now listen, you rich people! Cry and moan over the miseries that are overtaking you.
- 2 Your riches are rotten, your clothes have been eaten by moths,
- 3 your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be used as evidence against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have stored up treasures in these last days.
- 4 Look! The wages that you kept back from the workers who harvested your fields are shouting out against you, and the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of the Heavenly Armies.
- 5 You have lived in luxury and pleasure on earth. You have fattened yourselves for the day of slaughter.
- 6 You have condemned and murdered the one who is righteous, even though he did not rebel against you.
- 7 So be patient, brothers, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious crop from his land, being patient with it until it receives the fall and the spring rains.
- 8 You, too, must be patient. Strengthen your hearts, because the coming of the Lord is near.
- 9 Do not complain about each other, brothers, or you will be condemned. Look! The Judge is standing at the door!
- 10 As an example of suffering and patience, brothers, take the prophets, who spoke in the name of the Lord.
- 11 We consider those who endured to be blessed. You have heard about Job's endurance and have seen the purpose of the Lord — that the Lord is compassionate and merciful.
- 12 Above all, brothers, do not swear oaths by heaven, by earth, or by any other object. Instead, let your "Yes" mean yes and your "No" mean no! Otherwise, you may fall under condemnation.
- 13 Is anyone among you suffering? He should keep on praying. Is anyone cheerful? He should keep reciting psalms.
- 14 Is anyone among you sick? He should call for the elders of the church, and they should pray for him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord.
- 15 And the prayer offered in faith will save the person who is sick. The Lord will raise him up, and if he has committed any sins, he will be forgiven.
- 16 Therefore, make it your habit to confess your sins to one another and to pray for one another, so that you may be healed. The prayer of a righteous person is powerful and effective.
- 17 Elijah was a person just like us, and he prayed earnestly for it not to rain, and rain never came to the land for three years and six months.
- 18 Then he prayed again, and the skies poured out rain, and the ground produced its crops.
- 19 My brothers, if one of you wanders away from the truth and somebody brings him back,
- 20 you may be sure that whoever brings a sinner back from his wrong path will save his soul from death and cover a multitude of sins.

13th October

Isaiah 23

- 6 "You who are crossing over to Tarshish — Wail, you inhabitants of the coast!
- 7 Is this your exciting city, that was founded long ago, whose feet carried her to settle in far-off lands?
- 8 Who has planned this against Tyre, that bestower of crowns, whose merchants were princes, whose traders were the most renowned on earth?
- 9 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies has planned it — to neutralize all the hubris of grandeur, to discredit all the renowned men of earth.
- 10 "Cultivate your land like the Nile, you daughter of Tarshish; for there is no longer a harbour.
- 11 He has stretched out his hand over the sea; he has made kingdoms tremble. The LORD has issued orders concerning Canaan to destroy its strongholds.
- 12 And he said: 'You will revel no longer, you virgin daughter of Sidon, now crushed. Get up, cross over to Cyprus — but even there you will find no rest.'"
- 13 "Look at the land of the Chaldeans! This is a people that no longer exist; Assyria destined her for desert creatures. They raised up her siege towers, they stripped her fortresses bare and turned her into a ruin.
- 14 Wail, you ships of Tarshish, because your stronghold is destroyed!"
- 15 It will happen at that time that Tyre will be forgotten for 70 years, the span of a king's life. Then, at the end of those 70 years, it will turn out for Tyre as in the prostitute's song:
- 16 "Take a harp; walk around the city, you forgotten whore! Make sweet melody; sing many songs, and perhaps you'll be remembered."
- 17 At the end of 70 years, the LORD will deal with Tyre, at which time she'll return to her courtesan's trade, and prostitute herself with the kingdoms of the world on the surface of the earth.
- 18 Nevertheless, her profits and her earnings will be dedicated to the LORD; they will not be stored up or hoarded — but her profits will go to those who live in the LORD's presence, for abundant food and choice clothing.

Isaiah 24

- 1 "Watch out! The LORD is about to depopulate the land and devastate it; he will turn it upside down and scatter its inhabitants.
- 2 It will be the same for the lay people as for priests, the same for servants as for their masters, for female servants as for their mistresses, for buyers as for sellers, for lenders as for borrowers, and for creditors as for debtors.
- 3 The earth will be utterly depopulated and completely laid waste — for the LORD has spoken this message.
- 4 "The earth dries up and withers; the world languishes and fades away; heaven fades away, along with the earth.
- 5 The earth lies defiled beneath its inhabitants; because they have transgressed the laws, violated the statutes, and broken the everlasting covenant.
- 6 Therefore the curse keeps on consuming, and its inhabitants are declared guilty. Furthermore, the inhabitants of earth are ablaze, and few people are left.
- 7 The new wine evaporates; the vine and the oil dry up; all the merry-makers groan.
- 8 "The celebrations of the tambourine have ended, the noise of the jubilant has stopped, and the mirth that the harp produces has ended.
- 9 No longer do they drink wine accompanied by singing; even beer tastes bitter to those who drink it.
- 10 The chaotic city lies broken down; every house is closed up so that no one can enter them.

11 There is an outcry in the streets over wine; all cheer turns to gloom; the fun times of the earth are banished.
12 Desolation remains in the city whose gates lie battered into ruins.
13 So it will be on the earth and among the nations — as when an olive tree is beaten, or as gleanings when the grape harvest has ended."
14 "They raise their voices; they shout for joy; from the west they shout aloud over the LORD's majesty.
15 Therefore, you in the east, give glory to the LORD! You in the coastlands of the sea, give glory to the name of the LORD God of Israel!
16 From the ends of the earth we hear songs of praise: 'Glory to the Righteous One!' "But I say, 'I am pining away, I'm pining away. How terrible things are for me! For treacherous people betray — treacherous people are betraying with treachery!'"
17 "Terror and pit and snare are coming in your direction, you inhabitants of the earth!
18 Whoever flees at the sound of terror will fall into a pit, and whoever climbs out of the pit will be caught in a snare. For the windows of judgement from above are opened, and the foundations of the earth are shaken.
19 The earth is utterly shattered, the earth is split apart, the earth is violently shaken.
20 The earth reels to and fro like a drunkard; it sways like a hut; its transgression lies so heavy upon it, that it falls, never to rise again.
21 "And it will come about at that time, the LORD will punish the armies of the exalted ones in the heavens, and the rulers of the earth on earth.
22 They will be herded together into the Pit; they will be shut up in prison, and after many days they will be punished.
23 Then the moon will be embarrassed and the sun ashamed, for the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will reign on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem; and in the presence of its elders there will be glory."

Isaiah 25

1 LORD, you are my God; I will exalt you and praise your name, for you have done marvellous things, plans made long ago in faithfulness and truth.
2 For you have made the city a heap of rubble, the fortified city into a ruin; the foreigners' citadel is no longer a city — it will never be rebuilt!
3 Therefore strong peoples will glorify you; cities of ruthless nations will revere you.
4 For you have been a stronghold for the poor, a stronghold for the needy in distress, a shelter from the storm and a shade from the heat — for the blistering attack from the ruthless is like a rainstorm beating against a wall,
5 and the noise of foreigners is like the heat of the desert. Just as you subdue heat by the shade of clouds, so the victory songs of violent men will be stilled.
6 "On this mountain, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will prepare for all peoples a banquet of rich food, a banquet of well-aged wines — rich food full of marrow, and refined wines of the finest vintage
7 And on this mountain, he will swallow up the burial shroud that enfolds all peoples, the veil that is spread over all nations —
8 he has swallowed up death forever! Then the Lord GOD will wipe away the tears from all faces, and he will take away the disgrace of his people from the entire earth." for the LORD has spoken.
9 "And you will say at that time, 'Look! It's the LORD! This is our God! We waited for him, and he saved us. This is the LORD! We waited for him, so let us rejoice, and we will be glad that he has saved us.'
10 For the LORD's power will rest on this mountain, but the Moabites will be trodden down beneath him, just as straw is trodden down in the slime of a manure pit.

11 They will spread out their hands in the thick of it, just as swimmers spread out their hands to swim, but the LORD will bring down their pride, together with the cleverness of their hands.

12 He brings down the high fortifications of your walls and lays them low; he will raze them to the ground, right down to the dust.

Isaiah 26

1 At that time, people will sing this song in the land of Judah: "We have a strong city; God crafts victory, its walls and ramparts.

2 Open your gates, so the righteous nation that safeguards its faith may enter.

3 You will keep perfectly peaceful the one whose mind remains focused on you, because he remains in you.

4 "Trust in the LORD forever, for in the LORD God you have an everlasting rock.

5 For he has made drunk the inhabitants of the height, the lofty city. He lays it low to the ground casting it down to the dust,

6 by the feet of the oppressed who trample it, by the footsteps of the needy.

7 "The path of the righteous is level; O Upright One, you make safe the way of justice.

8 Yes, LORD, in the path of your judgements we wait; your name and your Law are the soul's desire.

9 My soul yearns for you in the night; my spirit within me searches for you. For when your judgements come upon the earth, the world's inhabitants learn righteousness.

10 If favour is shown to the wicked, they don't learn righteousness; even in a land of uprightness they act perversely and do not perceive the majesty of the LORD.

11 "LORD, your hand is lifted up, but they do not see it. And let them see your zeal for your people and be put to shame — yes, let the fire reserved for your enemies consume them!

12 LORD, you will decide peace for us, for you have indeed accomplished all our achievements for us.

13 O LORD our God, other lords besides you have ruled over us, but through you alone we acknowledge your name.

14 The dead won't live, and the departed spirits won't rise — to that end, you punished and destroyed them, then locked away all memory of them.

15 "But you have enlarged the nation, LORD; you have enlarged the nation. You have gained honour; you have extended all the borders of the land.

16 LORD, they came to you in distress; they poured out their secret prayer when your chastenings were afflicting them.

17 Just as a pregnant woman writhes and cries out during her labour when she is about to give birth, so were we because of you, LORD.

18 We were pregnant, writhing in pain, but we gave birth only to wind. We have not won your victory on earth, nor have the inhabitants of the world been born."

19 "But your dead will live; their bodies will rise. Those who live in the dust will wake up and shout for joy! For your dew is like the dew of dawn, and the earth will give birth to the dead.

20 Come, my people, enter your rooms and shut your doors behind you. Hide yourselves for a little while until the fury has passed by.

21 For see, the LORD is coming from his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their sins; the earth will reveal the blood that has been shed on it, and will no longer conceal its slain."

1 Peter 1

1 From: Peter, an apostle of Jesus, the Messiah.

To: The exiles of the Dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,
2 the people chosen according to the foreknowledge of God the Father through the sanctifying action of the Spirit to be obedient to Jesus, the Messiah, and to be sprinkled with his blood.

May grace and peace be yours in abundance!

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah! Because of his great mercy he has granted us a new birth, resulting in an immortal hope through the resurrection of Jesus, the Messiah, from the dead

4 and to an inheritance kept in heaven for you that can't be destroyed, corrupted, or changed.

5 Through faith you are being protected by God's power for a salvation that is ready to be revealed at the end of this era.

6 You greatly rejoice in this, even though you have to suffer various kinds of trial for a little while,

7 so that your genuine faith, which is more valuable than gold that perishes when tested by fire, may result in praise, glory, and honour when Jesus, the Messiah, is revealed.

8 Though you have not seen him, you love him. And even though you do not see him now, you believe in him and rejoice with an indescribable and glorious joy, 9 because you are receiving the goal of your faith, the salvation of your souls.

10 Even the prophets, who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours, carefully researched and investigated this salvation.

11 They tried to find out what era or specific time the Spirit of the Messiah in them kept referring to when he predicted the sufferings of the Messiah and the glories that would follow.

12 It was revealed to them that they were not serving themselves but you in regard to the things that have now been announced to you by those who brought you the good news through the Holy Spirit sent from heaven. These are things that even the angels desire to look into.

13 Therefore, prepare your minds for action, keep a clear head, and set your hope completely on the grace to be given you when Jesus, the Messiah, is revealed.

14 As obedient children, do not be shaped by the desires that used to influence you when you were ignorant.

15 Instead, be holy in every aspect of your life, just as the one who called you is holy.

16 For it is written, "You must be holy, because I am holy."

17 If you call "Father" the one who judges everyone impartially according to what they have done, you must live in reverent fear as long as you are strangers in a strange land.

18 For you know that it was not with perishable things like silver or gold that you have been ransomed from the worthless way of life handed down to you by your ancestors,

19 but with the precious blood of the Messiah, like that of a lamb without blemish or defect.

20 On the one hand, he was foreknown before the creation of the world, but on the other hand, he was revealed at the end of time for your sake.

21 Through him you believe in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 Now that you have obeyed the truth and have purified your souls to love your brothers sincerely, you must love one another intensely and with a pure heart.

23 For you have been born again, not by a seed that perishes but by one that cannot perish — by the living and everlasting word of God.

24 For "All human life is like grass, and all its glory is like a flower in the grass. The grass dries up and the flower drops off, 25 but the word of the Lord lasts forever." Now this word is the good news that was announced to you.

14th October

Isaiah 27

- 1 At that time, with his fierce, mighty, and powerful sword, the LORD will punish the gliding serpent Leviathan — the coiling serpent Leviathan — and he will kill the dragon that's in the sea.
- 2 At that time, "A fermenting vineyard — sing about it!
- 3 I, the LORD, watch over it And I water it continually. I guard it night and day so no one can harm it.
- 4 I am not angry. If only the vineyard could give me briers and thorns to battle, I would march against it, and I would burn it all up.
- 5 Or else let it lay claim to my protection; let it make peace with me, yes, let it make peace with me."
- 6 In times to come, Jacob will take root, and Israel will blossom, sprout shoots, and fill the whole world with fruit.
- 7 Has the LORD struck them down, just as he struck down those who struck them? Or have they been killed, just as their killers were killed?
- 8 Measure by measure, in their exile you contended with them; with his fierce blast he removed them, as on a day when the east wind blows.
- 9 By this, then, Jacob's guilt will be atoned for, and this will be the full harvest that comes from the removal of his sin: when he makes all the altar stones like pulverized chalkstones, no Asherah poles or incense altars will be left standing.
- 10 For the fortified city stands desolate, a settlement abandoned and forsaken like the desert; calves graze there, and there they lie down and strip bare its branches.
- 11 When its branches are dry, they are broken off, and women come and kindle fires with them, since this is a people who show no consideration. That is why the One who made them shows them no compassion; the One who created them shows them no mercy.
- 12 At that time, the LORD will winnow grain from the Euphrates River channel to the Wadi of Egypt, and you will be gathered in one by one, O people of Israel.
- 13 Furthermore, at that time, a great trumpet will be sounded, and those who were perishing in the land of Assyria and those who had been expelled to the land of Egypt will come and worship the LORD on his holy mountain at Jerusalem.

Isaiah 28

- 1 How terrible it will be for that arrogant garland — the drunks of Ephraim! How terrible it will be for that fading flower of his glorious beauty, which sits on the heads of people bloated with food, of people overcome with wine!
- 2 Look! The LORD has one who is mighty and strong, like a hailstorm and destructive tempest, like a storm of mighty, overflowing water — and he will give rest to the land.
- 3 With hands and feet, that proud garland — those drunks of Ephraim — will be trampled.
- 4 And that fading flower, his glorious beauty, which sits on the heads of people bloated with food, will be like an early fig before summer — whenever someone sees it, he swallows it as soon as it's in his hand.
- 5 At that time, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will become a glorious crown, a beautiful diadem for the remnant of his people,
- 6 and a spirit of justice to the one who sits in judgement, a source of strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.
- 7 These people also stagger from wine and reel from strong drink. Priests and prophets stagger from strong drink; they're drunk from wine; they reel from strong drink, waver when seeing visions, and stumble when rendering decisions.
- 8 For all the tables are covered in vomit and filth, with no clean space left.

9 To whom will he teach knowledge, and to whom will he explain the message? To children just weaned from milk? To those just taken from the breast?

10 For it is: "Do this and do that, do this and do that, Line upon line, line upon line, a little here, a little there."

11 Very well, then, by strange lips and foreign tongues the LORD will speak to this people

12 to whom he said, "This is the resting place, so give rest to the weary" and "This is the place of repose" — but they would not listen.

13 So, then, the message from the LORD to them will become: "Do this and do that, do this and do that, line upon line, line upon line, a little here, a little there," so that they will go, but fall backward, and be injured, snared, and captured.

14 "Therefore hear the message from the LORD, you scoffers who rule this people that are in Jerusalem.

15 Because you said: 'We have entered into a covenant with death, and we have an agreement with Sheol, so when the overwhelming scourge makes its choice, it cannot reach us, since we have made lies our refuge and have concealed ourselves inside falsehood'

16 therefore this is what the LORD God says: "Look! I am laying a foundation stone in Zion, a tested stone, a precious cornerstone for a sure foundation: Whoever believes firmly will not act hastily.

17 And I will make justice the measuring line, and righteousness the plumb line; hail will sweep away your refuge of lies, and floods will overflow your hiding place.

18 "Then your covenant with death will be annulled, and your agreement with Sheol will not stand; when the overwhelming scourge sweeps by, you will be trampled by it.

19 As often as it sweeps through, it will carry you away, for it will sweep by morning after morning in the day; but understanding this message will bring sheer terror at night,

20 because the bed is too short to stretch out on, and its blankets too narrow to wrap around oneself!

21 For the LORD will stand upon Mount Perazim, he will rouse himself in the Valley of Gibeon; to carry out his work — his strange deed, and to perform his task — his alien task!

22 But as for you, don't start mocking, or your chains will become tighter; for I have heard from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies about destruction, and it is decreed against the whole land.

23 "Pay attention! Listen to what I have to say; Pay attention, and hear my speech.

24 Does he who ploughs for sowing plough all the time? Does he keep on breaking up and harrowing his field?

25 When he has levelled its surface, he scatters caraway and sows cumin, doesn't he? He plants wheat in rows, barley in its designated place, and feed for livestock around its borders, doesn't he?

26 His God instructs him regarding the correct way, directing him how to plant.

27 For caraway is not threshed with a sharp sledge, nor is a cart wheel rolled over cumin. Instead, caraway is winnowed with a stick, and cumin with a rod.

28 It must be ground; one cannot keep threshing it forever. Even if he drives his cart and horses over it, he cannot crush it.

29 This insight also comes from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, who is distinguished in practical advice and magnificent in sound wisdom."

Isaiah 29

1 "How terrible it will be for you, Aruel, Aruel, the city where David encamped! Year after year, let your festivals run their cycle.

2 Then I'll besiege Aruel, and there will be sorrow and mourning; she will become to me like an altar fireplace.

3 Then I'll encamp against you like David, and I'll lay siege to you with towers, raise siege works against you,
4 and you will be brought down. You will speak from the ground, and your speech will mumble from the dust. Your voice will come ghostlike from the ground, and your speech will whisper from the dust.
5 "But the hordes of your enemies will become like fine dust, and the hordes of tyrants like flying chaff. Then suddenly, in an instant,
6 you will be visited by the LORD of the Heavenly Armies — with thunder, an earthquake, and great noise, with a windstorm, a tempest, and flames from a devouring fire.
7 Then the hordes of all the nations that fight against Ariel, all that attack her and her fortification and besiege her, will become like a dream, with its visions in the night —
8 as when a hungry man dreams — he eats, but wakes up still hungry; or when a thirsty man dreams — he drinks, but wakes up faint, with his thirst unquenched. So will it be with the hordes of all the nations that fight against Mount Zion.
9 "Act stupid! Be astonished! Act blind, and be blind! Be drunk, but not from wine; stagger around, but not from strong drink.
10 For the LORD has poured out upon you a spirit of deep sleep — he has closed your eyes, you prophets, he has covered your heads, you seers!"
11 "And this entire vision has become for you like the words of a sealed book. When people give it to someone who can read, and say, 'Read this, please,' he answers, 'I cannot, because it is sealed.'
12 Or when they give the book to someone who cannot read, and say, 'Read this, please,' he answers, 'I don't know how to read.'"
13 Then the Lord said: "Because these people draw near with their mouths and honour me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me, worship of me has become merely like rules taught by human beings.
14 Therefore, watch out! "As for me, I will once again do amazing things with this people, wonder upon wonder. The wisdom of their wise men will perish, and the insights of their discerning men will stay hidden."
15 "How terrible it will be for you who go to great depths to hide your plans from the LORD, you whose deeds have been done in the dark, and who say, 'Who can see us? Who has recognized us?'
16 He has turned the tables on you — as if the potter were thought to be like heat. Can what is made say of the one who made it, 'He did not make me?' Or can what is formed say of the ones who formed it, 'He has no skill?'
17 "In a very little while, will not Lebanon be turned into a garden of fruit, and the garden of fruit seem like a forest?
18 On that day the deaf will hear the words of a scroll, and out of gloom and darkness the eyes of the blind will see.
19 The humble will again experience joy in the LORD, and the poorest people will rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.
20 For the ruthless will vanish, and mockers will disappear, and all who have an eye for evil will be cut down —
21 those who make a person appear to be the offender in a lawsuit, who set a trap for someone who is making his defence in court, and push aside the innocent with specious arguments.
22 "Therefore, this is what the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, says concerning the house of Jacob: 'No longer will Jacob be ashamed; no longer will his face grow pale.
23 For when he sees in his midst his children, the work of my hands, they will keep my name holy; they will sanctify the Holy One of Jacob and stand in awe of the God of Israel.
24 Moreover, those who go astray in spirit will gain understanding, and those who complain will accept instruction.'"

1 Peter 2

1 Therefore, rid yourselves of every kind of evil and deception, hypocrisy, jealousy, and every kind of slander.

2 Like new-born babies, thirst for the pure milk of the word so that by it you may grow in your salvation.

3 Surely you have tasted that the Lord is good!

4 As you come to him, the living stone who was rejected by people but was chosen and precious in God's sight,

5 you, too, as living stones, are building yourselves up into a spiritual house and a holy priesthood, so that you may offer spiritual sacrifices that are acceptable to God through Jesus, the Messiah.

6 This is why it says in Scripture: "Look! I am laying a chosen, precious cornerstone in Zion. The one who believes in him will never be ashamed."

7 Therefore he is precious to you who believe, but to those who do not believe, "The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone,

8 a stone they stumble over and a rock they trip on." They keep on stumbling because they disobey the word, as they were destined to do.

9 But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people to be his very own and to proclaim the wonderful deeds of the one who called you out of darkness into his marvellous light.

10 Once you were not a people, but now you are the people of God. Once you had not received mercy, but now you have received mercy.

11 Dear friends, I urge you as aliens and exiles to keep on abstaining from the desires of the flesh that wage war against the soul.

12 Continue to live such upright lives among the gentiles that, when they slander you as practitioners of evil, they may see your good actions and glorify God when he visits them.

13 For the Lord's sake submit yourselves to every human authority: whether to the king as supreme,

14 or to governors who are sent by him to punish those who do wrong and to praise those who do right.

15 For it is God's will that by doing right you should silence the ignorant talk of foolish people.

16 Live like free people, and do not use your freedom as an excuse for doing evil. Instead, be God's servants.

17 honour everyone. Keep on loving the community of believers, fearing God, and honouring the king.

18 You household servants must submit yourselves to your masters out of respect, not only to those who are kind and fair, but also to those who are unjust.

19 For it is a fine thing if, when moved by your conscience to please God, you suffer patiently when wronged.

20 What good does it do if, when you sin, you patiently receive punishment for it? But if you suffer for doing good and receive it patiently, you have God's approval.

21 This is, in fact, what you were called to do, because: The Messiah also suffered for you and left an example for you to follow in his steps.

22 "He never sinned, and he never told a lie."

23 When he was insulted, he did not retaliate. When he suffered, he did not threaten. It was his habit to commit the matter to the one who judges fairly.

24 "He himself bore our sins" in his body on the tree, so that we might die to those sins and live righteously. "By his wounds you have been healed."

25 You were "like sheep that kept going astray," but now you have returned to the shepherd and overseer of your souls.

Isaiah 30

1 "Oh, you stubborn children," declares the LORD, "who carry out plans — but they are not mine, and who make alliances — but not by my Spirit, piling sin upon sin.

2 They set out to go down to Egypt, without asking my advice; taking refuge in Pharaoh's protection, and seeking shelter in Egypt's shadow.

3 But Pharaoh's protection will become your shame, and sheltering in Egypt's shadow your longing.

4 And it will turn out that his officials are at Zoan, and his envoys will reach Hanes.

5 There is only loathsome destruction through a people that cannot benefit them, who bring neither help nor profit, but only shame and disgrace."

6 An oracle about the animals of the Negev: "Through a land of trouble, dryness, and distress, of lionesses and roaring lions, where there is no water, a land of vipers and darting snakes, he carries their riches on donkeys' backs, and their treasures on the humps of camels, to a nation that cannot benefit them,

7 to Egypt, which gives help that is worthless and useless. Therefore I call her 'Rahab, who just sits still.'"

8 "Go now, and write it down on a tablet in their presence, inscribing it in a book, so that for times to come it may be an everlasting witness.

9 For they are a rebellious people, deceitful children, children unwilling to hear the LORD's instruction.

10 They say to the seers, 'Don't see visions,' and to the prophets, 'Don't give us visions of what is right! Instead, tell us welcome things, prophesy illusions,

11 get out of the way, turn aside from the path, and stop confronting us with the Holy One of Israel."

12 Therefore, this is what the Holy One of Israel says: "Because you reject this message, and put your trust in oppression and enjoy it, and since you rely on it,

13 therefore, for you this sin will become like a breach in a high wall that is about to collapse, bulging out, and whose crash comes suddenly — in an instant.

14 Its breaking will be like when potters' vessels are broken, shattered so ruthlessly that among its fragments not even a broken sliver will be found for taking fire from a hearth or scooping water out of a cistern."

15 For this is what the LORD GOD, the Holy One of Israel, says: "In repentance and rest you will be saved; in staying calm and trusting will be your strength. But you refused.

16 Instead, you said, 'No! We'll escape on horses!' Therefore, you'll flee away. And you said, 'We'll ride off on swift steeds!' Therefore your pursuers will be swift.

17 A thousand will flee at the threat of one; and run away, pursued by five, until you are left like a flagpole on a mountaintop, like a banner on a hill."

18 "Nevertheless, the LORD will wait so he can be gracious to you; and thus he will rise up to show you mercy. For the LORD is a God of justice. How blessed are all those who wait for him."

19 Indeed, you people who live in Zion and in Jerusalem, you will weep no more. How gracious the LORD will be to you at the sound of your cry! As soon as he hears it, he will answer you.

20 And although the LORD gives you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, your teachers won't hide themselves anymore, but your own eyes will see your teachers.

21 And whether you turn to the right or turn to the left, your ears will hear a message behind you: "This is the way, walk in it."

22 Then you will defile your carved idols that are overlaid with silver and your images plated with gold. You'll throw them away like disgusting objects and say to them, "Away with you!"

23 He will also provide rain for your seed that you sow in the ground, and the food that comes from the ground will be rich and abundant. At that time, your cattle will graze in broad meadows,
24 and oxen and donkeys that work the ground will eat seasoned fodder that workers will winnow with shovels and forks.
25 And on every lofty mountain and every high hill there will be brooks and canals running with water on the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall.
26 Moreover, the light of the moon will be like the light of the sun, and the sun's light will be seven times brighter, like the light of seven full days, when the LORD binds up the bruises of his people and heals the wounds inflicted by his blow.
27 See, the name of the LORD comes from far away, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke; his lips are full of fury, and his tongue is like a devouring fire.
28 His breath is like an overflowing torrent, and it rises right up to the neck, to shake the nations in the sieve of destruction, and to place in the jaws of the peoples a bit that leads them astray.
29 You will have songs as on nights when people celebrate a holy festival, and gladness of heart, as when they set out with flutes to go to the LORD's mountain, to the Rock of Israel.
30 And the LORD will make heard — yes, he will make heard — his majestic voice, and make his arm seen descending in raging anger and in a flame of consuming fire, with a cloudburst, thunderstorm and hailstones.
31 Indeed, the Assyrians will be shattered at the LORD's voice, when he strikes them with his sceptre.
32 And every stroke of his punishing rod that the LORD brings down on them will be to the sound of tambourines and harps, as he fights against her in battle with a brandished arm.
33 For the Fire Pit has long been prepared; truly it is for the king; it will indeed be made ready. And its pyre will be deep and wide, with abundant fire and wood. Like a stream of burning sulphur, the breath of the LORD will set it ablaze.

Isaiah 31

1 "How terrible it will be for those who go down to Egypt for help, who rely on horses, who trust in the chariot, because there are so many, and in charioteers, because they are so strong — but do not look to the Holy One of Israel or seek the LORD!
2 Yet he is also wise and can bring disaster; he does not take back his words, but will rise up against the house of those who practise evil and against anyone who assists people who work iniquity.
3 The Egyptians are men, not God, and their horses are physical, not spirit. When the LORD stretches out his hand, anyone who assists will stumble, and the one who is helped will fall; and they will all perish together."
4 For this is what the LORD told me: "Just as a lion or a young lion growls over his objects of prey — even when a whole band of shepherds is called out against it, it is not alarmed at their shouting or disturbed by their clamour — so the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will come down to do battle on Mount Zion and on its hill.
5 Like birds hovering overhead, so the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will protect Jerusalem; he will shield and deliver it; and he will pass over and bring it to safety.
6 Turn back to him, yes to him whom your people have so greatly betrayed, you people of Israel.
7 For at that time, everyone will throw away their idols of silver and their idols of gold that your hands have sinfully made for yourselves.
8 "Then Assyria will fall by a sword that is not from human beings only — a sword not wielded by mortal beings will devour them. They will flee from the sword, and their young men will be put to forced labour.

9 Their stronghold will vanish by reason of terror, and their commanders will be filled with alarm because of the battle standard," declares the LORD, whose fire is in Zion and whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

Isaiah 32

1 "Look, a king will reign in righteousness, and rulers will rule with justice.

2 Each one will be like a shelter from the wind and a hiding place from storms, like streams of water in the desert, in the shadow of a great rock in an exhausted land.

3 Then the eyes of those who can see won't turn away, and the ears of those who can hear will listen.

4 The hearts of reckless people will understand sound judgement, and the tongues of those who stammer will be ready to speak clearly.

5 People will no longer call a fool noble, nor will a bad person be declared honourable.

6 For fools utter contempt, and their minds plot wrong things: practising ungodliness, spreading lies about the LORD, leaving the pangs of hungry people unsatisfied, and depriving thirsty people of drink.

7 Furthermore, the crimes of bad people are evil; and they devise wicked schemes, destroying the poor with lying words, even when needy people plead a just cause.

8 But those who are decent plan noble things, and by noble deeds they stand."

9 "As for you ladies of leisure — Get up and listen to my voice! You daughters who feel so complacent — hear what I have to say!

10 In little more than a year, you complacent women will shudder; for the grape harvest will fail, and the fruit harvest will not come.

11 So tremble, you ladies of leisure! Shudder, you daughters who feel so complacent! Strip down and make yourselves naked down to the waist! Then wrap yourself in sackcloth and beat your breasts.

12 For people will be beating their breasts in mourning over the pleasant fields, over the fruitful vines, 13 and over the land of my people overgrown with thorns and briers — yes, over all the houses of merriment and over this city of revelry.

14 "For the palace will be abandoned, the noisy city deserted; the citadel and watchtower will become barren wastes forever, the delight of wild donkeys, and a pasture for flocks,

15 until the Spirit from on high is poured upon us, and the desert becomes a fertile field, and the fertile field seems like a forest."

16 "Then justice will live in the wilderness, and righteousness will dwell in the fertile field.

17 The effect of righteousness will be peace, and the result of righteousness will be quietness and confidence forever.

18 My people will live in peaceful dwellings, in secure homes and in undisturbed resting places.

19 But it will hail when the forest comes down, and the wood will be levelled completely.

20 How happy you will be, sowing your seed beside every stream, and letting your cattle and donkeys range freely!"

1 Peter 3

- 1 In a similar way, you wives must submit yourselves to your husbands so that, even if some of them refuse to obey the word, they may be won over without a word through your conduct as wives
- 2 when they see your pure and reverent lives.
- 3 Your beauty should not be an external one, consisting of braided hair or the wearing of gold ornaments and dresses.
- 4 Instead, it should be the inner disposition of the heart, consisting in the imperishable quality of a gentle and quiet spirit, which God values greatly.
- 5 After all, this is how holy women who set their hope on God used to make themselves beautiful in the past. They submitted themselves to their husbands,
- 6 just as Sarah obeyed Abraham and called him lord. You have become her daughters by doing good and by not letting anything terrify you.
- 7 In a similar way, you husbands must live with your wives in an understanding manner, as with a most delicate partner. Honour them as heirs with you of the gracious gift of life, so that nothing may interfere with your prayers.
- 8 Finally, all of you must live in harmony, be sympathetic, love as brothers, and be compassionate and humble.
- 9 Do not pay others back evil for evil or insult for insult. Instead, keep blessing them, because you were called to inherit a blessing.
- 10 "For the person who wants to love life and see good days must keep his tongue from evil and his lips from speaking deceit.
- 11 He must turn away from evil and do good. He must seek peace and pursue it.
- 12 For the Lord watches the righteous, and he pays attention to their prayers. But the Lord opposes those who do wrong."
- 13 Who will harm you if you are devoted to doing what is good?
- 14 But even if you should suffer for doing what is right, you are blessed. "Never be afraid of their threats, and never get upset.
- 15 Instead, exalt the Messiah" as Lord in your lives. Always be prepared to give a defence to everyone who asks you to explain the hope you have.
- 16 But do this gently and respectfully, keeping a clear conscience, so that those who speak evil of your good conduct in the Messiah will be ashamed of slandering you.
- 17 After all, if it is the will of God, it is better to suffer for doing right than for doing wrong.
- 18 For the Messiah also suffered for sins once for all, an innocent person for the guilty, so that he could bring you to God. He was put to death in a mortal body but was brought to life by the Spirit,
- 19 in which he went and made a proclamation to those imprisoned spirits
- 20 who disobeyed long ago in the days of Noah, when God waited patiently while the ark was being built. In it a few, that is, eight persons, were saved by water.
- 21 Baptism, which is symbolized by that water, now saves you also, not by removing dirt from the body, but by asking God for a clear conscience based on the resurrection of Jesus, the Messiah,
- 22 who has gone to heaven and is at the right hand of God, where angels, authorities, and powers have been made subject to him.

Isaiah 33

- 1 "How terrible it will be for you, destroyer, you who have not been destroyed yourself! And how terrible it will be for you, traitor, one whom people have not betrayed! When you have sunk so low in destroying others, you will be destroyed; and when you have finished betraying, they will betray you."
- 2 "LORD, be gracious to us; we long for you; and be our strength every morning, our salvation in times of trouble.
- 3 At the thunder of your voice, the peoples flee; at your silence, the nations scatter.
- 4 Your plunder is gathered as when grasshoppers gather; just like locusts pounce, people have pounced on it.
- 5 "The LORD is exalted, for he lives on high; he has filled Zion with justice and righteousness.
- 6 He will be a sure foundation for your times, abundance and salvation, wisdom and knowledge — the fear of the LORD is Zion's treasure."
- 7 "Listen! Their brave men cry out in the streets; the envoys of peace weep bitterly.
- 8 The highways are deserted; travellers have quit the road. The enemy has broken treaties; he despises their witnesses, and respects no one.
- 9 The land mourns and wastes away; Lebanon feels ashamed and withers. Sharon is like a desert; Bashan and Carmel shake off their leaves."
- 10 "Now I'll rise up," the LORD has said, "now I'll exalt myself; now I'll be lifted up.
- 11 You conceive dried grass, you give birth to stubble; your breath is a fire that will consume you.
- 12 And the peoples will be burned as if to ashes; like cut thorn bushes, they will be set ablaze.
- 13 "Those who are far away have heard what I've done; and those that are near have acknowledged my power.
- 14 The sinners in Zion are terrified; trembling grips the godless: "Who among us can live with the consuming fire? Who among us can live with everlasting flames?"
- 15 The one who walks righteously and has spoken sincere words, who rejects gain from extortion and waves his hand, rejecting bribes, who blocks his ears from hearing plots of murder and shuts his eyes against seeing evil —
- 16 this is the one who will live on the heights; his refuge will be a mountain fortress. His food will be supplied, and his water will be guaranteed.
- 17 "Your eyes will see the king in his elegance, and will view a land that stretches afar.
- 18 Your mind will ponder at that time of terror: 'Where is the king's accountant? Where is the one who weighed the revenue? Where is the officer who supervises the towers?'
- 19 No longer will you see those arrogant people, those people with their obscure speech you cannot comprehend, stammering in a language you cannot understand.
- 20 "Look at Zion, city of our festivals! Your eyes will see Jerusalem, an undisturbed abode, an immovable tent; its stakes will never be pulled up, nor will any of its ropes be broken.
- 21 But there the LORD in majesty will be for us our source of broad rivers and streams, where no galley with oars can go, where no stately ship can sail.
- 22 For the LORD is our judge, and the LORD is our lawgiver; and the LORD is our king, and it is he who will save us.
- 23 "Your rigging hangs loose; it cannot reliably hold the mast in its place, and the sail cannot spread out. Then an abundance of spoils will be divided — even the lame will carry off plunder.
- 24 And no one living there will say, 'I am ill.' The people living there will have their sins forgiven."

Isaiah 34

- 1 "Come near, you nations, to listen, and pay attention, you peoples! Let the earth hear, and all that fills it; the world, and all that comes out of it.
- 2 For the LORD is angry against all the nations, and furious against all their armies. He has doomed them to destruction, and given them up to be slaughtered.
- 3 Their slain will be thrown out; and as for their dead bodies — their stench will ascend; the mountains will be soaked with their blood.
- 4 The valleys will be split, all the stars in the heavens will fall down, and the skies will be rolled up like a scroll. All their starry host will fade away like leaves withering on a vine, or fruit withering on a fig tree.
- 5 For my sword will be seen in the heavens. Look! It descends in judgement on Edom, on the people I have doomed to destruction.
- 6 The LORD has a sword bathed in blood; it's covered with fat, with the blood of lambs and goats, and with fat from the kidneys of rams."
- 7 Wild oxen will fall together with them — young steers and mighty bulls. Their land will be drenched with blood, and their soil will be swollen with fat.
- 8 For the LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of recompense for Zion's cause.
- 9 Edom's streams will be turned into burning sulphur, and its dust into sulphur; its land will become pitch.
- 10 It will burn night and day, and will never be extinguished. Its smoke will rise from generation to generation, and it will lie desolate forever and ever. And no one will pass through it.
- 11 "But hawks and hedgehogs will possess it; owls and ravens will nest in it. God will stretch out over it a measuring line, and chaos, and plumb lines of emptiness, and its nobles.
- 12 They will name it "No Kingdom There," and all its princes will come to nothing.
- 13 Thorns will grow over its palaces, nettles and brambles its fortresses. It will become a haunt for jackals, a home for ostriches.
- 14 And desert creatures will meet with hyenas, and goat-demons will call out to each other. There also Liliths will settle, and find for themselves a resting place.
- 15 Owls will nest there, lay eggs, hatch them, and care for their young under the shadow of their wings; yes, indeed, vultures will gather there, each one with its mate."
- 16 "Study and read from the book of the LORD: And not one will be missing, each will not long for its mate. For it is the mouth of the LORD that has issued the order, and it is his Spirit that has gathered them.
- 17 It is he who has allotted their portions, and his hand has divided it for them with a measuring line forever. They will possess it forever; from generation to generation they will live in it."

Isaiah 35

- 1 "The desert and the dry land will rejoice; the desert will celebrate and blossom. Like crocuses,
- 2 it will burst into bloom, and rejoice with gladness and shouts of joy. The glory of Lebanon will be given to it, the splendour of Carmel and Sharon. They will see the glory of the LORD, the splendour of our God.
- 3 Strengthen the feeble hands, and support the stumbling knees.
- 4 Say to those with anxious hearts, 'Be strong, do not be afraid! Here is your God — he will bring vengeance, he will bring divine retribution, and he will save you.'
- 5 "Then the eyes of the blind will be opened, and the ears of the deaf unblocked;
- 6 then the lame will leap like deer, and the tongues of speechless people will sing for joy. Yes, waters will gush forth in the wilderness, and streams will run through the desert;

7 the burning sands will become a pool, and the thirsty ground fountains of water. In the haunts of jackals there will be a verdant resting place with reeds and rushes."
8 "A highway will be there, yes there, and people will call it 'The Holy Way'. As for unclean people, they will not journey on it, but it will be for whomever is travelling on that Way — not even fools will get lost.
9 No lions will be there — no, nor will any ferocious beasts get up on it, and they will not be found there. "But the redeemed will walk there,
10 and the LORD's ransomed ones will return and enter Zion with singing. Everlasting joy will rest upon their heads, gladness and joy will overtake them, and sorrow and mourning will flee away."

Isaiah 36

1 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, King Sennacherib of Assyria attacked all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them.
2 Then the king of Assyria sent his field commander, along with a very large army, from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. When the field commander stopped at the aqueduct at the Upper Pool on the road to Laundryman's Field,
3 Hilkiyah's son Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the secretary, and Asaph's son Joah, the recorder, went out to him.
4 The field commander told them: "Tell Hezekiah, king of Judah, 'This is what the mighty king, the king of Assyria, has to say: What is this "guarantee" that makes you yourself rely on it?
5 Do you really think that guarantees alone can withstand strategy and military strength? On whom are you now depending, that you're rebelling against me?
6 Take note: you're relying on Egypt, that splintered reed of a staff, which pierces the palm of anyone who leans on it. This is what Pharaoh king of Egypt is like to everybody who depends on him!
7 But if you all say to me, "We are depending on the LORD our God" — isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, while he kept on telling Judah and Jerusalem, 'You are to worship in front of this altar in Jerusalem'?
8 Come now, all of you, make a bet with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses, if you can furnish riders for them!
9 How, then, can you repulse even one officer from the least of my master's officials, when you are depending for yourselves on Egypt for chariots and horsemen?
10 One other thing: have I really marched against this country to destroy it apart from the LORD's direction? The LORD himself ordered me, 'March against this country to destroy it.'"
11 Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah replied to him, "Please speak with your servants — with us — in Aramaic, since we understand it. Don't speak to us in Hebrew where the people sitting on the wall can hear."
12 But the field commander asked, "Was it only to all of you and to your master that my master sent me to speak these things? Wasn't it also to the men sitting on the wall — who, like you, will have to eat their own excrement and drink their own urine?"

1 Peter 4

1 Therefore, since the Messiah suffered in a mortal body, you, too, must arm yourselves with the same determination, because the person who has suffered in a mortal body has stopped sinning,

2 so that he can live the rest of his mortal life guided, not by human desires, but by the will of God.

3 For you spent enough time in the past doing what the gentiles like to do, living in sensuality, sinful desires, drunkenness, wild celebrations, drinking parties, and detestable idolatry.

4 They insult you now because they are surprised that you are no longer joining them in the same excesses of wild living.

5 They will give an account to the one who is ready to judge the living and the dead.

6 Indeed, this is why the gospel was proclaimed even to those who have died, so that they could be judged in their mortal flesh like all humans and live in the spiritual realm like God.

7 Because everything will soon come to an end, be sensible and clear-headed, so you can pray.

8 Above all, continue to love each other deeply, because love covers a multitude of sins.

9 Show hospitality to one another without complaining.

10 As good servant managers of God's grace in its various forms, serve one another with the gift each of you has received.

11 Whoever speaks must speak God's words. Whoever serves must serve with the strength that God supplies, so that in every way God may be glorified through Jesus, the Messiah. Glory and power belong to him forever and ever! Amen.

12 Dear friends, do not be surprised by the fiery ordeal that is taking place among you to test you, as though something strange were happening to you.

13 Instead, because you are participating in the sufferings of the Messiah, keep on rejoicing, so that you may be glad and shout for joy when his glory is revealed.

14 If you are insulted because of the name of the Messiah, you are blessed, for the glorious Spirit of God is resting on you.

15 Of course, none of you should suffer for being a murderer, thief, criminal, or troublemaker.

16 But if you suffer for being a Christian, do not feel ashamed, but glorify God with that name.

17 For the time has come for judgement to begin with the household of God. And if it begins with us, what will be the outcome for those who refuse to obey the gospel of God?

18 "If it is hard for the righteous person to be saved, what will happen to the ungodly and sinful person?"

19 So then, those who suffer according to God's will should entrust their souls to their faithful Creator and continue to do what is good.

Isaiah 36

13 Then the commander stood up and shouted out loud in Hebrew: "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria!

14 This is what the king of Assyria says: 'Don't let Hezekiah deceive you — for he cannot save you!

15 Don't let Hezekiah persuade you to rely on the LORD when he says, "The LORD will really deliver us!" and "This city will never be handed over to the king of Assyria!"

16 Don't listen to Hezekiah, because this is what the king of Assyria says: 'Make your peace with me and come out to me. Then everyone will eat from his own vine and from his own fig tree, and everyone will drink water from his own cistern,

17 until I come and take you away to a land like your own land — to a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards.'

18 Be careful not to let Hezekiah mislead you when he says, "The LORD will save us." Has any god of any nation ever delivered his country from the king of Assyria?

19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Have they saved Samaria from me?

20 Who among all the gods of these countries has delivered their land from me? How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from me?"

21 But the people remained silent and didn't respond to him with so much as a single word, because the king had commanded, "Don't answer him."

22 Then Hilkiyah's son Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the secretary, and Asaph's son Joah, the recorder, approached Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and let him know what the field commander had said.

Isaiah 37

1 As soon as Hezekiah the king heard this, he tore his clothes, dressed himself in sackcloth, and went into the LORD's Temple.

2 Then he sent Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, Shebna the secretary, and the senior priests, all wearing sackcloth, to Amoz's son, the prophet Isaiah.

3 "Here is what Hezekiah says," they told him. "This day is a day of trouble, rebuke, and disgrace, as when children come to the point of birth and there is no energy to deliver them.

4 Perhaps the LORD your God will hear the words of the field commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, sent to mock the living God, and perhaps he will rebuke the words that the LORD your God has heard. So lift up a prayer for the remnant that still survives in this city."

5 That's why King Hezekiah's officials came to Isaiah.

6 "Here is what to tell your master," Isaiah told them. "This is what the LORD says: 'Don't be afraid of the words you've heard — those words with which the underlings of the king of Assyria have insulted me.

7 Watch this! I'm going to place an attitude within him, so that when he hears a certain report, he'll return to his own country. Then I'll have him cut down by the sword in his own land."

8 So the field commander returned and found the king of Assyria fighting against Libnah, since he had heard that the king of Assyria had left Lachish.

9 Now King Sennacherib had received this report concerning King Tirhakah of Cush: "He has marched out to fight against you." When he heard it, he returned and sent messengers to Hezekiah:

10 "Say this to Hezekiah king of Judah: 'Don't let your God on whom you depend deceive you when he says, "Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria."

11 Surely you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all countries, dooming them to destruction. So do you think you will be saved?

12 Did the gods of the nations that were destroyed by my ancestors save them — the nations of Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the people of Eden, who were in Tel-assar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of the city of Sepharvaim, or of Hena, or of Ivvah, or of Samaria?"

14 Hezekiah received the letters from the messengers, and read them. Then he went up to the LORD's Temple and spread the letters in front of the LORD.

15 Hezekiah prayed to the LORD:

16 "O LORD of the Heavenly Armies, God of Israel, enthroned above the cherubim, you alone are the God of all the kingdoms of the earth. You made heaven and earth.

17 Extend your ear, LORD, and listen! Open your eyes, LORD, and look! Listen to all the words Sennacherib has sent to mock the living God.

18 It is true, LORD, that Assyrian kings have devastated all these countries,

19 and have thrown their gods into the fire — but they are not gods, but rather the products of human hands, mere wood and stone. So the Assyrians destroyed them.

20 So now, LORD our God, save us from his oppressive hand, so that all kingdoms on earth may know that you alone, O LORD, are God."

21 Then Amoz's son Isaiah sent this message to Hezekiah: "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says, to whom you prayed concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria.

22 This is the message that the LORD has spoken in opposition to him: "'The Virgin Daughter of Zion despises and mocks you; the Daughter of Jerusalem — she tosses her head behind you as you flee.

23 Whom have you insulted and reviled? Against whom have you raised your voice and lifted your eyes in pride? Against the Holy One of Israel!

24 By your messengers you have insulted the LORD, and you have said, "With my many chariots I have climbed the heights of mountains, the utmost heights of Lebanon. I cut down its tallest cedars, the choicest of its pines; I reached its remotest heights, the most verdant of its forests.

25 I myself dug wells and drank foreign waters; with the soles of my feet I dried up all the streams of Egypt."

26 "'Didn't you hear how in the distant past I decided to do it, how I planned from days of old? Now I've made it happen — that fortified cities become devastated, besieged heaps.

27 Their inhabitants are devoid of power, and are terrified and put to shame. They've become like plants in the field, like green shoots, like grass on rooftops, scorched by the east wind.

28 "'I know when you rise up and when you sit down, your comings and goings — and how you've become enraged at me.

29 Your insolence has reached my ears, so I'll put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth, and I'll make you turn back on the road by which you came.

30 "And this will be your sign, Hezekiah: Eat this year what grows on its own, and in the second year what springs from that. But in the third year sow, reap, plant vineyards, and eat their fruit.

31 Then the ones belonging to the house of Judah who have escaped will gather, and those who are found will take root downward and bear fruit upward.

32 For a remnant will come out of Zion, and a band of survivors from Jerusalem. The zeal of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will accomplish this.

33 "Therefore this what the LORD says concerning the king of Assyria: 'He won't enter this city, build up a siege ramp against it, shoot an arrow here, or threaten it with a shield.

34 By the same way that he came, he will return; he won't enter this city,' declares the LORD,

35 'because I will defend this city and deliver it, for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David!'"

36 After this, the angel of the LORD went out and put to death 185,000 men in the Assyrian camp. When Hezekiah's army awakened in the morning — there were all the dead bodies!

37 King Sennacherib broke camp, retreated, returned home to Nineveh, and remained there.

38 Later, while he was worshipping in the house of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer cut him down with swords and escaped to the land of Ararat. Then Sennacherib's son Esar-haddon reigned in his place.

Isaiah 38

1 During that time, Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. Then Amoz's son Isaiah the prophet came to him and told him, "This is what the LORD says: 'Put your house in order, because you are going to die. You won't recover.'"

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD.

3 "Please, LORD," he said, "Remember how I have walked before you faithfully and with a true heart, and I have done what pleases you." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4 Then this message from the LORD came to Isaiah:

5 "Go tell Hezekiah, 'This is what the LORD God of your ancestor David has to say: "I've heard your prayer and I've seen your tears; so I will add fifteen years to your life.

6 I'll save you and this city from the king of Assyria, and I'll defend this city, for my own sake and for my servant David's sake.

7 This is the LORD's sign to you that the LORD will carry out this thing he has promised:

8 Watch! I will make the shadow on the steps of the upper dial of Ahaz that marks the sun go ten steps backwards.'"" Then the sunlight turned back on the dial the ten steps by which it had gone down.

9 A composition by King Hezekiah of Judah, following his illness and recovery:

10 I said, "Must I leave in the prime of my life? Must I be consigned to the control of Sheol? Bitter are my years!"

11 I said, "I won't see the LORD in the land of the living; and I'll no longer observe human beings among the denizens of the grave.

12 My house has been plucked up and vanishes from me like a shepherd's tent; like a weaver, I've taken account of my life, and he cuts me off from the loom — day and night you make an end of me.

13 I've been swept bare until morning; just like a lion, he breaks all my bones — day and night you make an end of me.

14 Like a swallow or a crane I chirp, I moan like a dove. My eyes look weakly upward. O Lord, I am oppressed, so stand up for me!

1 Peter 5

- 1 Therefore, as a fellow elder, a witness of the Messiah's sufferings, and one who shares in the glory to be revealed, I appeal to the elders among you:
- 2 Be shepherds of God's flock that is among you, watching over it, not because you must but because you want to, and not greedily but eagerly, as God desires.
- 3 Do not lord it over the people entrusted to you, but be examples to the flock.
- 4 Then, when the Chief Shepherd appears, you will receive the victor's crown of glory that will never fade away.
- 5 In a similar way, you young people must submit to the elders. All of you must clothe yourselves with humility for the sake of each other, because: "God opposes the arrogant, but gives grace to the humble."
- 6 Therefore, humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, so that at the proper time he may exalt you.
- 7 Throw all your worry on him, because he cares for you.
- 8 Be clear-minded and alert. Your opponent, the devil, is prowling around like a roaring lion, looking for someone to devour.
- 9 Resist him and be firm in the faith, because you know that your brothers throughout the world are undergoing the same kinds of suffering.
- 10 After you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace, who called you by the Messiah Jesus to his eternal glory, will restore you, establish you, strengthen you, and support you.
- 11 Power belongs to him forever and ever! Amen.
- 12 Through Silvanus, whom I regard as a faithful brother, I have written this short letter to encourage you and to testify that this is to be the true grace of God in which you are to stand firm!
- 13 Your sister church in Babylon, chosen along with you, sends you greetings, as does Mark, whom I regard as a son.
- 14 Greet one another with a loving kiss. Peace be to all of you who are in the Messiah!

Isaiah 38

15 What can I say, so I tell myself, since he has done this to me? I will walk slowly all my years because of my soul's anguish.

16 "My Lord is against them, yet they live, and among all of them who live is his spirit. Now you have restored me to health, so let me live!

17 Yes, it was for my own good that I suffered extreme anguish. But in love you have held back my life from the Pit in which it has been confined; you have tossed all my sins behind your back.

18 For Sheol cannot thank you, death cannot sing your praise; and those who go down to the Pit cannot hope for your faithfulness.

19 The living — yes the living — they thank you, just as I am doing today; fathers will tell their children about your faithfulness.

20 The LORD will save me, and we will play my music on strings all the days of our lives in the LORD's Temple.

21 Now Isaiah had said, "Let them prepare a poultice of figs and apply it to the boil, so that he may recover."

22 Hezekiah also had asked, "What will be the sign for me to go up to the LORD's Temple?"

Isaiah 39

1 At that time Merodach-baladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, when he heard he had been sick and had survived.

2 Hezekiah was delighted with them, and showed them everything in his treasure-houses — the silver, the gold, the spices, the precious oils, his entire armoury, and everything found in his treasuries. There was nothing in his palace or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

3 Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What did these men have to say? And from where did they come to you?" Hezekiah replied, "From a distant land — they came to me from Babylon."

4 "What did they see in your palace?" he asked. "They saw everything in my palace," Hezekiah replied. "There is nothing in my treasuries that I did not show them."

5 Then Isaiah told Hezekiah, "Listen to this message from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies:

6 'The days are surely coming when everything in your palace and all that your ancestors have stored up to this day will be carried off to Babylon. They will come in, and nothing will be left,' says the LORD.

7 'Then some of your own sons, who will come from your loins, whom you will father, will be taken away to become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.'

8 "The message from the LORD that you have spoken is good," Hezekiah replied to Isaiah, since he was thinking, ". . . at least there will be peace and security in my lifetime."

Isaiah 40

1 "Comfort! Yes, comfort my people," says your God.

2 "Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her heavy service has been completed, that her penalty has been paid, that she has received from the LORD's hand double for all her sins."

3 A voice cries out: 'In the wilderness prepare the way for the LORD; and in the desert a straight highway for our God.'

4 Every valley will be lifted up, and every mountain and hill will be lowered; the rough ground will become level, and the mountain ridges made a plain.

5 Then the glory of the LORD will be revealed, and all humanity will see it at once; for the mouth of the LORD has spoken."

6 A voice says, "Cry out!" So I asked, "What am I to cry out?" "All humanity is grass, and all its loyalty is like the flowers of the field.

7 Grass withers and flowers fade away when the LORD's breath blows on them; surely the people are like grass.

8 Grass withers and flowers fade away, when the LORD's breath blows on them, but the word of our God will stand forever. "

9 "Climb up a high mountain, you messenger of good news to Zion! Lift up your voice with strength, you messenger to Jerusalem! Lift it up! Don't be afraid! Say to the towns of Judah, 'Here is your God!'

10 Look! The Lord GOD comes with strength, and his arm rules for him. Look! His reward is with him, and his payment accompanies him.

11 Like a shepherd, he tends his flock. He gathers the lambs in his arms, carries them close to his heart, and gently leads the mother sheep."

12 "Who has measured the waters of the sea in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens by the width of his hand? Who has enclosed the dust of the earth in a measuring bowl, or weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance?

13 Who has fathomed the Spirit of the LORD, or as his counsellor has taught him?

14 With whom did he consult to enlighten and instruct him on the path of justice? Or who taught him knowledge and showed him the way of wisdom?

15 "Look! The nations are like a drop in a bucket, and are reckoned as dust on the scales. Look! He even lifts up the islands like powder!

16 Lebanon would not provide enough fuel, nor are its animals enough for a burnt offering.

17 All the nations are as nothing before him — they are reckoned by him as nothing and chaos.

18 "To whom, then, will you compare me, the One who is God? Or to what image will you liken me?

19 To an idol? A craftsman makes the image, and a goldsmith overlays it with gold and casts silver chains.

20 To the impoverished person? He prepares an offering — wood that won't rot — Or to the one who chooses a skilled craftsman and seeks to erect an idol that won't topple?"

21 "You know, don't you? You have heard, haven't you? Hasn't it been told you from the beginning? Haven't you understood from the foundations of the earth?

22 He's the one who sits above the disk of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers. He's the one who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to live in,

23 who brings princes to nothing, and makes void the rulers of the earth.

24 No sooner are they planted, no sooner are they sown, no sooner have their stems taken root in the earth, than he blows on them, and they wither, and the tempest sweeps them away like stubble.

25 "To whom, then, will you compare me, and to whom should I be equal?" asks the Holy One.

26 "Lift your eyes up to heaven and see who created all these — the one who leads out their vast array of stars by number, calling them all by name — because of his great might and his powerful strength — and not one is missing."

27 "Jacob, why do you say — and Israel, why do you complain — 'My predicament is hidden from the LORD, and my cause is ignored by my God.'?

28 Don't you know? Haven't you heard? The LORD is the eternal God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not grow tired or weary; and his understanding cannot be fathomed.

29 He's the one who gives might to the faint, renewing strength for the powerless.

30 Even boys grow tired and weary, and young men collapse and fall,

31 but those who keep waiting for the LORD will renew their strength. Then they'll soar on wings like eagles; they'll run and not grow weary; they'll walk and not grow tired."

Isaiah 41

1 "Be silent before me, you coastlands, and let the people renew their strength! Let them come forward, then let them speak together — let's draw near for a ruling.

2 Who has aroused victory from the east, and has summoned it to his service, and has handed over nations to him? Who brings down kings, and turns them into dust with his sword, into windblown stubble with his bow?

3 And who pursues them and moves on unscathed by a path that his feet don't know?

4 Who has performed and carried this out, calling the generations from the beginning? I, the LORD — the first and will be with the last — I am the One!"

5 "The coastlands have looked and are afraid; the ends of the earth have drawn near together and come forward.

6 Each helps his neighbour, saying to each other, 'Be strong!'

7 The craftsman encourages the goldsmith, and the hammersmith encourages the one who strikes the anvil. He says about the welding, 'It's good!' and he reinforces it with nails so that it won't topple."

8 "But as for you, Israel, my servant, Jacob, whom I've chosen, the offspring of my friend Abraham —

9 you whom I encouraged from the ends of the earth and called from its farthest corners, and told you, 'You're my servant, I've chosen you and haven't cast you aside.'

10 Don't be afraid, because I'm with you; don't be anxious, because I am your God. I keep on strengthening you; I'm truly helping you. I'm surely upholding you with my victorious right hand."

11 "Look! All who are enraged at you will be put to shame and disgraced; those who contend with you will all die.

12 Those who quarrel with you will be as nothing; those who fight you like nothing at all!"

13 "For I am the LORD your God, who takes hold of your right hand, who says to you, 'Don't be afraid. I'll help you.

14 Don't be afraid, you little worm Jacob, and you insects of Israel! I myself will help you,' declares the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel."

15 "See, I'm making you into a new, sharp, and multi-tooth threshing sledge. You'll thresh and crush the mountains, and make the hills like chaff.

16 You'll winnow them, and the wind will lift them up, and a tempest will blow them away. Then you'll rejoice in the LORD, and you'll make your boast in the Holy One of Israel."

2 Peter 1

1 From: Simeon Peter, a servant and apostle of Jesus, the Messiah.

To: Those who have received faith that is as valuable as ours through the righteousness of our God and saviour, Jesus the Messiah.

2 May grace and peace be yours in abundance through full knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord!

3 His divine power has given us everything we need for life and godliness through the full knowledge of the one who called us by his own glory and excellence.

4 Through these he has given us his precious and wonderful promises, so that through them you may participate in the divine nature, seeing that you have escaped the corruption that is in the world caused by evil desires.

5 For this very reason, you must make every effort to supplement your faith with moral character, your moral character with knowledge,

6 your knowledge with self-control, your self-control with endurance, your endurance with godliness,

7 your godliness with brotherly kindness, and your brotherly kindness with love.

8 For if you possess these qualities, and if they continue to increase among you, they will keep you from being ineffective and unproductive in attaining a full knowledge of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

9 For the person who lacks these qualities is blind and short-sighted, and has forgotten the cleansing that he has received from his past sins.

10 So then, my brothers, be all the more eager to make your calling and election certain, for if you keep on doing this you will never fail.

11 For in this way you will be generously granted entry into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and saviour Jesus, the Messiah.

12 Therefore, I intend to keep on reminding you about these things, even though you already know them and are firmly established in the truth that you now have.

13 Yet I think it is right to refresh your memory as long as I am living in this bodily tent,

14 because I know that the removal of my bodily tent will come soon, as indeed our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, has shown me.

15 And I will make every effort to see that you will always remember these things after I am gone.

16 When we told you about the power and coming of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah, we did not follow any clever myths. Rather, we were eyewitnesses of his majesty.

17 For he received honour and glory from God the Father when these words from the Majestic Glory were spoken about him: "This is my Son, whom I love. I am pleased with him."

18 We ourselves heard this voice that came from heaven when we were with him on the holy mountain.

19 Therefore we regard the message of the prophets as confirmed beyond doubt, and you will do well to pay attention to it, as to a lamp that is shining in a gloomy place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts.

20 First of all, you must understand this: No prophecy in Scripture is a matter of one's own interpretation,

21 because no prophecy ever originated through a human decision. Instead, men spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit.

Isaiah 41

17 "As for the poor, the needy, those seeking water — when there is none and their tongues are parched from thirst — I, the LORD, will answer them. I, the God of Israel, won't abandon them.

18 I'll open up rivers on the barren heights, and fountains in the midst of the valleys. I'll turn the desert into a pool of water, and the parched land into springs of water.

19 I'll put cedar trees in the wilderness, along with acacia, myrtle, and olive trees. I'll plant cypresses in the desert — box trees, and pine trees together —

20 all so that people may see and recognize, perceive, consider, and comprehend at the same time, that the hand of the LORD has done this, and that the Holy One of Israel has created it."

21 "Put forward your case!" says the LORD. "Submit your arguments!" says Jacob's King.

22 Let them approach and ask us, 'What will happen? As to the former things, what were they? Tell us, so that we may consider them and know. Or the latter things or the things to come — let us hear.

23 Tell us what the future holds, so we may know that you are gods! Yes, do something good or something bad, so we may hear and gaze at it together."

24 "Look! You and your work are less than nothing; whoever finds you pleasing is disgusting."

25 "You are stirring up one from the north, and they are coming from the rising of the sun; and he will be called by his name. Rulers will arrive like mud; just like a potter, he will trample the clay.

26 Who told of this from the beginning, so we could know, or beforehand, so we could ask, 'Is it right?' Indeed, no one told of this, no one made an announcement, and no one heard your words:

27 First, to Zion: "There is slumber." And to Jerusalem: "I'll send a messenger with good news."

28 But when I look, there is no one — among them there's no one to give counsel, no one to give an answer when I ask them.

29 See, none of them exist, and their deeds are nothing. Their metal images are only wind and confusion."

Isaiah 42

1 "Here is my servant, whom I support, my chosen one, in whom I delight. I've placed my Spirit upon him; and he'll deliver his justice throughout the world.

2 He won't shout, or raise his voice, or make it heard in the street.

3 A crushed reed he will not break, and a fading candle he won't snuff out. He'll bring forth justice for the truth.

4 And he won't grow faint or be crushed until he establishes justice on the mainland, and the coastlands take ownership of his Law."

5 This is what God says — the God who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and its produce, who gives breath to the people on it and life to those who walk in it:

6 "I've called you in righteousness. I'll take hold of your hand. I'll preserve you and appoint you as a covenant to the people, as a light for the nations,

7 to open blind eyes and to bring out those who are bound from their cells, and those sitting in darkness from prison.

8 I, the LORD, am the one, and I won't give my name and glory to another, nor my praise to idols.

9 See, the former things have taken place, and I'm announcing the new things — before they spring into being I'm telling you about them.”

10 Sing to the LORD a new song, and his praise from the ends of the earth, you who sail down the sea and by everything in it, you coastlands and their inhabitants.

11 Let the desert cry out, its towns and the villages where Kedar lives; and let those who live in Sela sing for joy. Let them shout aloud from the mountaintops.

12 Let them give glory to the LORD, and declare his praise in the islands.

13 The LORD marches out like a warrior; he stirs up his rage like a man of war; he makes his anger heard; he shouts aloud; he declares his mastery over his enemies:

14 "I have certainly stayed silent for a long time; I've kept still and held myself back. Now, like a woman giving birth, I'll cry out. All of a sudden I'll gasp and pant.

15 I'll devastate the mountains and hills, and dry up all their vegetation; I'll turn rivers into islands, and dry up the ponds.

16 I'll help the blind walk, even on a road they do not know; I'll guide them in directions they do not know. I'll turn the dark places into light in front of them, and the rough places into level ground. These are the things I will do, and I won't abandon them.

17 Those who trust in carved idols will turn back and be completely disappointed, along with those who say to metal images, 'You are our gods.'"

18 "Listen, you deaf people, and look up, you blind people, so you may see!

19 Who is blind except my servant, or deaf like my messenger I am sending? Who is blind like the one committed to me, or blind like the LORD's servant?

20 You've seen many things, but you pay no attention. His ears are open, but he doesn't listen.

21 The LORD was pleased, for the sake of his vindication, that he should magnify his Law and make it glorious.

22 But this is a people who have been robbed and plundered, all of them trapped in pits or hidden away in prisons. They have become prey, with no one to rescue them; they have been made loot, with no one to say, 'Send them back!'

23 "Who among you will listen, and pay attention, and listen for the time to come?"

24 "Who handed Jacob over to looters, and Israel to robbers? Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned? After all, they weren't willing to walk in his ways, and they wouldn't obey his instruction, 25 so he drenched him with the heat that is his anger, the violence of war. It enveloped him in flames, but still he had no insight. It burned him up, but he didn't take it to heart."

Isaiah 43

1 But now this is what the LORD says, the one who created you, Jacob, the one who formed you, Israel: "Do not be afraid, because I've redeemed you. I've called you by name; you are mine.

2 When you pass through the waters, I'll be with you; and through the rivers, they won't sweep over you. When you walk through fire you won't be scorched, and the flame won't set you ablaze.

3 "I am the LORD your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Redeemer. And I've given Egypt as your ransom, Cush and the people of Seba in exchange for you.

4 Since you're precious in my sight and honoured, and because I love you, I'm giving up people in your place, and nations in exchange for your life."

5 "Don't be afraid, for I am with you; I'll bring your children from the east, and gather you from the west.

6 I'll say to the north, 'Give them up!' and to the south, 'Don't keep them back!' Bring my sons from far away and my daughters from the ends of the earth —

7 everyone who is called by my name, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made.

8 "Bring out the people who are blind, yet still have eyes, who are deaf, yet still have ears!
9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the peoples be assembled. "Who is there among them who can declare this, or announce the former things? Let them produce their witnesses to prove them right, and let them proclaim so people will say, 'It's true.'
10 "You are my witnesses," declares the LORD, "and my servant whom I have chosen, so that you may know and trust me and understand that I am the One. Before me no God was formed, nor will there be one after me.
11 I, yes I, am the LORD, and apart from me there is no saviour.
12 I've revealed and saved and proclaimed, when there was no foreign god among you — and you are my witnesses," declares the LORD.
13 "I am God; also from ancient days I am the one. And there is no one who can deliver out of my hand; when I act, who can reverse it?"
14 This is what the LORD says, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: "For your sake I will send to Babylon, and bring them all down as fugitives. Now as for the Babylonians, their ringing cry will become lamentation.
15 I am the LORD, your Holy One, Creator of Israel, and your King."
16 This is what the LORD says — who makes a way through the sea, a path through the mighty waters,
17 who brings out chariots and horsemen, and armies and warriors at the same time. They lie there, never to rise again, extinguished, snuffed out like a candle:
18 "Don't remember the former things; don't dwell on things past.
19 Watch! I'm about to carry out something new! And now it's springing up — don't you recognize it? I'm making a way in the wilderness and paths in the desert.
20 Wild animals, jackals, and owls will honour me because I provide water in the desert and streams in the wilderness to give drink to my people, my chosen ones,
21 the people whom I formed for myself and so that they may speak my praise."
22 "And yet you didn't call upon me, Jacob; indeed, you are tired of me, Israel!
23 You haven't brought me your sheep for a burnt-offering, nor have you honoured me with your sacrifices, nor have you made meal offerings for me — yet I have not tired you about incense!
24 You haven't bought me sweet cane with money, nor have you satisfied me with the fat of your sacrifices. You have only burdened me with your sins and made me tired with your iniquities.
25 "I, I am the one who blots out your transgression for my own sake, and I'll remember your sins no more.
26 Recount the brief! Let's argue the matter together; Present your case, so that you may be proved right.
27 Your first ancestor sinned, and your mediators rebelled against me.
28 So I'll disgrace the leaders of the Temple, and I'll consign Jacob to total destruction and Israel to contempt.

2 Peter 2

1 Now there were false prophets among the people, just as there also will be false teachers among you, who will secretly introduce destructive heresies and even deny the Master who bought them, bringing swift destruction on themselves.

2 Many people will follow their immoral ways, and because of them the way of truth will be maligned.

3 In their greed they will exploit you with deceptive words. The ancient verdict against them is still in force, and their destruction is not delayed.

4 For if God did not spare angels when they sinned, but threw them into the lowest hell and imprisoned them in chains of deepest darkness, holding them for judgement;

5 and if he did not spare the ancient world but protected Noah, a righteous preacher, along with seven others when he brought the flood on the world of ungodly people;

6 and if he condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah and destroyed them by burning them to ashes, making them an example to ungodly people of what is going to happen to them;

7 and if he rescued Lot, a righteous man who was greatly distressed by the immoral conduct of lawless people —

8 for as long as that righteous man lived among them, day after day he was being tortured in his righteous soul by what he saw and heard in their lawless actions —

9 then the Lord knows how to rescue godly people from their trials and to hold unrighteous people for punishment on the day of judgement,

10 especially those who satisfy their flesh by indulging in its passions and who despise authority. Being bold and arrogant, they are not afraid to slander glorious beings.

11 Yet even angels, although they are greater in strength and power, do not bring a slanderous accusation against them from the Lord.

12 These people, like irrational animals, are mere creatures of instinct that are born to be caught and killed. They insult what they don't understand, and like animals they, too, will be destroyed,

13 suffering harm as punishment for their wrongdoing. They take pleasure in wild parties in broad daylight. They are stains and blemishes, revelling in their deceitful pleasures while they eat with you.

14 With eyes full of adultery, they cannot get enough of sin. They seduce unsteady souls and have had their hearts expertly trained in greed. They are doomed to a curse.

15 They have left the straight path and wandered off to follow the path of Bosor's son Balaam, who loved the reward he got for doing wrong.

16 But he was rebuked for his offence. A donkey that normally cannot talk spoke with a human voice and restrained the prophet's insanity.

17 These men are dried-up springs, mere clouds driven by a storm. Gloomy darkness is reserved for them.

18 By talking high-sounding nonsense and using sinful cravings of the flesh, they entice people who have just escaped from those who live in error.

19 Promising them freedom, they themselves are slaves to depravity, for a person is a slave to whatever conquers him.

20 For if, after escaping the world's corruptions through a full knowledge of our Lord and saviour Jesus, the Messiah, they are again entangled and conquered by those corruptions, then their last condition is worse than their former one.

21 It would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness than to know it and turn their backs on the holy commandment that was committed to them.

22 The proverb is true that describes what has happened to them: "A dog returns to its vomit," and "A pig that is washed goes back to wallow in the mud."

Isaiah 44

- 1 "But now listen, Jacob my servant and Israel whom I have chosen:
- 2 This what the LORD says, the one who made you, formed you from the womb, and who will help you: "Don't be afraid, Jacob my servant, and Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.
- 3 For I'll pour water upon thirsty ground and streams on parched land. So will I pour my Spirit upon your offspring, and my blessing upon your descendants.
- 4 They'll spring up as among the green grass, like willows by flowing streams.
- 5 One will say, 'I belong to the LORD,' and another will call himself by the name of Jacob; still another will have written on his hand, 'the LORD's,' and will adopt the name of Israel."
- 6 This is what the LORD says, the King of Israel and its Redeemer — the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name — : "I am the first and I am the last, and apart from me there is no God.
- 7 Who is like me? Let him proclaim and declare it, and lay it out for himself — since he made an ancient people. And let him speak future events; let them tell him what will happen.
- 8 Don't tremble, and don't be afraid. Didn't I tell you and announce it long ago? You are my witnesses. Is there any God besides me? There is no other Rock — I don't know of any."
- 9 Now, all the forming of images means nothing, and the things they treasure are worthless. Their own witnesses cannot see, and they know nothing. So they will be put to shame.
- 10 Who would shape a god or cast an image that profits nothing?
- 11 To be sure, all who associate with it will be put to shame; and as for the craftsmen, they are only human. Let them all gather together and take their stand. Then let them be terrified — they will be humiliated together.
- 12 The blacksmith prepares a tool and works in the coals, then fashions an idol with hammers, working by the strength of his arm. He even becomes hungry and loses his strength; he drinks no water and grows faint.
- 13 The carpenter measures it with a line; he traces its shape with a stylus, then fashions it with planes and shapes it with a compass. He makes the idol like a human figure, with human beauty, to be at home in a shrine.
- 14 He cuts down cedars, or chooses a cypress tree or an oak, and lets it grow strong among the trees of the forest. Or he plants a cedar, and the rain makes it grow.
- 15 He divides it up for people to burn. Taking part of it, he warms himself, makes a fire, and bakes bread. Or perhaps he constructs a god and worships it. He makes it an idol and bows down to it.
- 16 Half the wood he burns in the fire, and over that half he places meat so he can eat. He sits by its coals, warms himself, and says, "Ah! I am warm in front of the fire."
- 17 And the rest of it he makes into a god. To blocks of wood he bows down, worships, prays to it, and says, "Save me, since you are my god."
- 18 They don't realize; they don't understand, because their eyes are plastered over so they cannot see, and their minds, too, so they cannot understand.
- 19 No one stops to think. No one has the knowledge or understanding to think — yes to think! — "Half of it I burned in the fire. I even baked bread on its coals, and I roasted meat and ate it. And am I about to make detestable things from what is left? Am I about to bow down to blocks of wood?"
- 20 He tends ashes. A deceived mind has lead him astray. It cannot be his life, nor can he say, "There's a lie in my right hand."
- 21 "Remember these things, Jacob, Israel, for you are my servant. I have formed you; you are a servant to me. Israel, you must not mislead me.

22 I've wiped away your transgressions like a cloud and your sins like mist. Return to me; because I've redeemed you.

23 "Shout for joy, you heavens, for the LORD has done it! Shout aloud, you depths of the earth! Burst out with singing, you mountains, you forest, and all your trees! For the LORD has redeemed Jacob and will display his glory in Israel.

24 "This is what the LORD says, your Redeemer and the one who formed you in the womb: "I am the LORD who has made everything, who alone stretched out the heavens, who spread out the earth — Who was with me at that time? — ,

25 who frustrates the omens of idle talkers, and drives diviners mad, who turns back the wise, and makes their knowledge foolish;

26 who carries out the words of his servants, and fulfils the predictions of his messengers, who says of Jerusalem, 'It will be inhabited,' and of Judah's cities, 'They will be rebuilt,' and of her ruins, 'I'll raise them up';

27 who says to the watery deep, 'Be dry; I will dry up your rivers',

28 who says about Cyrus, 'He's my shepherd, and he'll carry out everything that I please: He'll say of Jerusalem, "Let it be rebuilt," and of my Temple, "Let its foundations be laid again.'""

Isaiah 45

1 This is what the LORD says to his anointed, Cyrus, whose right hand I have grasped to subdue nations before him, as I strip kings of their armour, to open doors before him and gates that cannot keep closed:

2 "I myself will go before you, and he will make the mountains level; I'll shatter bronze doors and cut through iron bars.

3 I'll give you concealed treasures and riches hidden in secret places, so that you'll know that it is I, the LORD, the God of Israel, who calls you by name.

4 For the sake of Jacob my servant, Israel my chosen, I've called you, and he has established you with a name, although you have not acknowledged me.

5 I am the LORD, and there is no other besides me: and there are no gods. I'm strengthening you, although you have not acknowledged me,

6 so that from the sun's rising to the west people may know that there is none besides me. "I am the LORD, and there is no other."

7 "I form light and create darkness, I make goodness and create disaster. I am the LORD, who does all these things.

8 "Shout, you skies above, and you clouds, and let righteousness stream down. I am the one who says to the earth, 'Let salvation blossom, and let righteousness sprout forth.'

9 "Woe to the one who quarrels with his makers, a mere potsherd with the potsherds of the earth! Woe to the one who says to the one forming him, 'What are you making?' or 'Your work has no human hands?'

10 Woe to the one who says to his father, 'What are you begetting?' or to a woman, 'To what are you giving birth?'

11 This is what the Lord says, the Creator of the signs: "Question me about my children? Or give me orders about the work of my hands?

12 I myself made the earth and personally created humankind upon it. My own hands stretched out the skies; I marshalled all their starry hosts."

13 "I have aroused him in righteousness, and I'll make all his pathways smooth. It is he who will rebuild my city and set my exiles free, but not for a price nor reward, " says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

14 This is what the LORD says: "The wealth of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, those Sabians, men of great heights. They'll come over to you and will be yours; They'll trudge behind you — coming over in chains, they'll bow down to you. They'll plead with you, 'Surely God is in you; and there is no other God at all.'"

15 "Truly you are a God who hides himself, O God of Israel, the saviour.
16 All of them will be put to shame — indeed, disgraced! The makers of idols will go off in disgrace together.
17 But Israel will be saved by the LORD with everlasting salvation; you won't be put to shame or disgraced ever again."
18 For this is what the LORD says, who created the heavens — he is God, and the one who formed the earth and made it, and he is the one who established it; he didn't create it for chaos, but formed it to be inhabited — "I am the LORD and there is no other.
19 I didn't speak in secret, from somewhere in a land of darkness; I didn't say to Jacob's descendants, 'Seek me in chaos.' I, the LORD, speak truth, declaring what is right.
20 "Gather together and come; draw near and enter, you fugitives from the nations. Those who carry around their wooden idols know nothing, nor do those who keep praying to a god that cannot save.
21 Explain and present a case! Yes, let them take counsel together. Who announced this long ago, who declared it from the distant past? Was it not I, the LORD? And there is no other God besides me, a righteous God and saviour; and there is none besides me.
22 Turn to me and be saved, all you ends of the earth. For I am God, and there is no other.
23 By myself I have sworn — from my mouth has gone out integrity, a promise that won't be revoked: 'To me every knee will bow, and every tongue will swear. '
24 One will say of me, 'Only in the LORD are victories and might.' All who raged against him will come to him and will be put to shame.
25 In the LORD all the descendants of Israel will triumph and make their boast."

Isaiah 46

1 "Bel bows down, Nebo stoops low. Their idols are on beasts, on livestock. Your loads are more burdensome than their reports.
2 They stoop, they bow down together, and they are not able to rescue the burden, but they themselves go off into captivity.
3 "Listen to me, house of Jacob, and all you remnant of the house of Israel, who have been upheld from before your birth, and who have been carried from the womb.
4 Even until your old age, I am the one, and I'll carry you even until your grey hairs come. It is I who have created, and I who will carry, and it is I who will bear and save.
5 "To whom will you compare me, count me equal, or liken me, so that I may be compared?
6 Those who pour out gold in a purse, weigh silver in a balance, hire a goldsmith in order to make a god, and then they bow down and even worship it.
7 And they lift it on their shoulders, carry it, set it up in its place, and there it stands. It cannot move from that spot. One may even call to it, but it cannot answer nor save him from his distress.
8 "Remember this, and stand firm; take it again to heart, you rebels.
9 Remember the former things from long ago, Because I am God, and there is no one else; I am God, and there is none like me.
10 I declare from the beginning things to follow, and from ancient times things that have not yet been done; saying, 'My purpose will stand, and he will accomplish everything that I please.'
11 I am calling a bird of prey from the east, and from a far country a man with his purpose. Indeed, I've spoken; I will certainly make it happen; I've planned it; and I will certainly carry it out.
12 "Listen to me, you hard-hearted, you who are far removed from righteousness:
13 My righteousness is brought near and it's not far off, and my salvation won't delay. I'll grant salvation in Zion, and to Israel, my glory."

2 Peter 3

- 1 Dear friends, this is now the second of two letters I am writing to you, in which I have been trying to stimulate your pure minds by reminding you
- 2 to recall the words spoken in the past by the holy prophets and the commandment of our Lord and saviour spoken through your apostles.
- 3 First of all you must understand this: In the last days mockers will come and, following their own desires, will ridicule us
- 4 by saying, "What happened to the Messiah's promise to return? Ever since our ancestors died, everything continues as it did from the beginning of creation."
- 5 But they deliberately ignore the fact that long ago the heavens existed and the earth was formed by God's word out of water and with water,
- 6 by which the world at that time was deluged with water and destroyed.
- 7 Now by that same word, the present heavens and earth have been reserved for fire and are being kept for the day when ungodly people will be judged and destroyed.
- 8 Don't forget this fact, dear friends: With the Lord a single day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a single day.
- 9 The Lord is not slow about his promise, as some people understand slowness, but is being patient with you. He does not want anyone to perish, but wants everyone to repent.
- 10 But the Day of the Lord will come like a thief. On that day the heavens will disappear with a roaring sound, the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything done on it will be exposed.
- 11 Since everything will be destroyed in this way, think of the kind of holy and godly people you ought to be
- 12 as you look forward to and hasten the coming of the day of God, when the heavens will be set ablaze and dissolved and the elements will melt with fire.
- 13 But in keeping with his promise, we are looking forward to new heavens and a new earth, where righteousness is at home.
- 14 So then, dear friends, since you are looking forward to this, make every effort to have the Lord find you at peace and without spot or fault.
- 15 Think of our Lord's patience as facilitating salvation, just as our dear brother Paul also wrote to you according to the wisdom given him.
- 16 He speaks about this subject in all his letters. Some things in them are hard to understand, which ignorant and unstable people distort, leading to their own destruction, as they do the rest of the Scriptures.
- 17 And so, dear friends, since you already know these things, continually be on your guard not to be carried away by the deception of lawless people. Otherwise, you may fall from your secure position.
- 18 Instead, continue to grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and saviour Jesus, the Messiah. Glory belongs to him both now and on that eternal day! Amen.

Isaiah 47

- 1 "Come down and sit in the dust, Virgin Daughter of Babylon. Sit on the ground without a chair, Daughter of the Chaldeans! For no longer will they call you tender and attractive.
- 2 Take millstones and grind flour. Remove your veil, strip off your robes, bare your legs, and wade through the rivers.
- 3 Your nakedness will be exposed, and your disgrace will also be seen. I'll take vengeance, and I will spare no mortal.
- 4 "Our Redeemer — the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name — is the Holy One of Israel.
- 5 "Sit silent, and enter into the darkness, you daughter of the Chaldeans; for no more will they call you Queen of Kingdoms.
- 6 I was angry with my people, and I desecrated my heritage, and gave them into your control. You showed them no mercy; even on the aged you laid your yoke most heavily.
- 7 You said, 'I will always continue — Queen forever!' You didn't take these things into your thinking, nor did you think about their consequences.
- 8 "Now hear this, you wanton creature, lounging with no cares, and saying to herself: 'I am the one, and there will be none besides me; I won't live as a widow, nor will I see the loss of children.'
- 9 Both of these things will overtake you suddenly on a single day: loss of children and widowhood. They will come upon you in full measure, despite the multitude of your incantations and the great power of your spells."
- 10 "You trusted in your own knowledge. You said, 'No one sees me.' Your wisdom and knowledge have misled you. You said in your heart, 'I am the one, and there will be none besides me.'
- 11 "But disaster will come upon you, and you will not know how to charm it away. A calamity will befall you that you will not be able to ward off; and devastation will come upon you suddenly, and you won't anticipate it.
- 12 "But stand up now with your spells and your many incantations, at which you have laboured from your childhood until today,
- 13 according to your multiple schemes. Let them stand up now — those who conjure the heavens and gaze at the stars, predicting at the new moons — and save you from what is about to happen to them.
- 14 "See, they are just like stubble; fire burns them up. They could not even save themselves from the power of the flame. There will be no coals for warming oneself, no fire to sit by.
- 15 So will they be to you — those with whom you toiled and did business since your childhood — they wander about, each in his own direction; there is not one who can save you.

Isaiah 48

- 1 "Listen to this, house of Jacob, you who are called by the name of Israel, and who have come forth from Judah's loins; you who swear oaths in the name of the LORD and invoke the God of Israel — but not in truth, nor in good faith.
- 2 For they name themselves after the holy city, and rely on the God of Israel — the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name.
- 3 I foretold the former things long ago; it went forth from my mouth, and I disclosed them; Suddenly, I acted, and they came to pass.
- 4 Because I knew that you are obstinate, and because your neck is an iron sinew, and your forehead is bronze,

5 I told you these things long ago; I announced them to you before they happened so that you couldn't say, 'My idol did them; my carved image or metal idol ordained them.'

6 "You have heard — now look at them all! How can you not admit them? From now on, I'll make you hear new things, hidden things that you have not known.

7 They are created now, and not long ago; you didn't hear them before today, so you cannot say, 'Yes, I knew them.'

8 And neither had you heard, nor did you understand, nor did you open your ear long ago. Indeed, I knew that you would act very deceitfully, and they would call you a rebel from birth.

9 I defer my anger for my name's sake, and as my first act I'm restraining it for you, so as not to cut you off.

10 Look, I have refined you, but not like silver; I have purified you in the furnace of affliction.

11 For my own sake — Yes, for my own sake! — I'm doing it; indeed, how can I be profaned? Furthermore, I won't give my glory to another."

12 "Listen to these things, Jacob, and Israel, whom I have called. I am the One: I am the first, I am even the last.

13 Moreover, my hands laid the earth's foundation, and my right hand spread out the heavens. I call out to them, and they stand up together.

14 Let all of them come together and listen: Who is there among them that could declare these things? "The LORD loves me, and he will accomplish my purpose against Babylon; his arm will be against the Chaldeans.

15 I — Yes, I! — have spoken; indeed, I've called and I've brought him, and he will make his path successful.

16 Draw near to me, and listen to this: 'From the beginning I haven't spoken in secret; at the time it happened, I was there.' And now the LORD God, and his Spirit, has sent me.

17 "This is what the LORD says, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: "I am the LORD your God, who teaches you how to succeed, who directs you in the path by which you should go.

18 Now if only you had paid attention to my commandments! Then your peace would have been like a river, and your success like the waves of the sea.

19 Your descendants would've been like the sand, and your offspring like its numberless grains. Their name wouldn't have been cut off or annihilated out of my reach.

20 "Go out from Babylon, flee from the Chaldeans! With happy shouts, announce and proclaim this to the ends of the earth: Say, 'The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob!'

21 They didn't thirst when he led him through the desolate places. He made water gush from a rock for them; he split open the rock, and water gushed out.

22 "But there is no peace," says the LORD, "for the wicked."

Isaiah 49

1 "Listen to me, you coastlands! Pay attention, you people from far away! The LORD called me from the womb; while I was still in my mother's body, he pronounced my name.

2 He made my mouth like a sharp sword; he hid me in the shadow of his hands. He made me like a polished arrow and hid me away in his quivers.

3 He said to me: 'You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will glorify myself.'

4 "I said: 'I've laboured for nothing. I've exhausted my strength on futility and on emptiness.' Yet surely my recompense is with the LORD, and my reward is with my God.

5 "And now, says the LORD, who formed you from the womb as his servant to bring Jacob back to him so that Israel might be gathered to him — and I am honoured in the LORD's sight and my God has been my help —

6 he says: "It is too small a thing for you to be my servant, to raise up the tribes of Israel and bring back those of Jacob I have preserved. I'll also make you as a light to the nations, to be my salvation to the ends of the earth.

7 "This is what my LORD says — the LORD your Redeemer, O Israel, and his Holy One — to one despised by people, to those abhorred as a nation, to the servant of rulers: "Kings see and arise, and princes will bow down, because of the LORD who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel, the one who has chosen you."

8 "This is what the LORD says: "I'll answer you in a time of favour, and on a day of salvation I'll help you. I have watched over you, and given you as a covenant for the people, to restore the land, to reassign the inheritances that have been devastated;

9 saying to captives, 'Come out!' and to those who are in darkness, 'Be free!' "They will feed on all the mountains, and their pasture will be on all the barren hills.

10 They won't hunger or thirst, nor will the desert heat or sun beat upon them; for the one who has compassion on them will drive them and guide them alongside springs of water.

11 I'll turn all my mountains into a road, and my highways will be raised up.

12 "Watch! They'll come from far away — some from the north and from the west, and others from the Aswan region."

13 Shout with joy, you heavens, and rock with glee, you earth! Break out in song, you mountains! The LORD is comforting his people and will have compassion on his afflicted ones.

14 "But Zion said, 'The LORD has abandoned me, and my God has forgotten me.'

15 "Can a woman forget her nursing child, or have no compassion for the child of her womb? Even these mothers may forget; But as for me, I'll never forget you!

16 Look! I've inscribed you on the palms of my hands, and your walls are forever before me.

17 Your builders are working faster than your destroyers, and those who devastated you go away from you.

18 Lift up your eyes and look around — they have all gathered together and are coming to you. "As surely as I live," says the LORD, you will clothe yourself with all of them like ornaments, and tie them on like a bride.

19 Indeed, your ruins, your desolate places, and your devastated land will now be too crowded for your inhabitants, while those who swallowed you up will be far away.

20 "The children who are grieving at present will yet say in your hearing, 'This place is too crowded for me; make room for me, so I may have a place to live.'

21 Then you'll ask in your heart, 'Who bore these children for me, although I was childless and barren, and an exile and cast aside? Who brought these up? Look! For my part I was left all alone; but as for these, where have they come from?'

22 "For this is what the LORD says, 'Watch! I'll lift up my hand to the nations and raise my banner to the peoples. They will bring your sons in their arms, and your daughters will be carried on their shoulders.'

23 "Oh, yes! Kings will be your foster fathers, and their queens will be your nursing mothers. They will bow to you with their faces to the ground, and lick the dust from your feet. Then you will know that I am the LORD; those who hope in me will not be disappointed.

24 "Can they seize plunder from warriors, or can the captives of tyrants be rescued?

25 But this is what the LORD says: "He will seize even the warriors' plunder, and the captives of tyrants will be rescued. I myself will quarrel with those who have a quarrel with you, and I myself will save your children.

26 "I'll make those who mistreat you eat their own flesh, and they will get drunk on their own blood, as with new wine." Then all mankind will know that I am the LORD your saviour and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob."

Acts 1

1 In my first book, Theophilus, I wrote about everything Jesus did and taught from the beginning,

2 up to the day when he was taken up to heaven after giving orders by the Holy Spirit to the apostles he had chosen.

3 After he had suffered, he had shown himself alive to them by many convincing proofs, appearing to them during a period of 40 days and telling them about the kingdom of God.

4 While he was meeting with them, he ordered them, "Don't leave Jerusalem. Instead, wait for what the Father has promised, about which you heard me speak.

5 For John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit a few days from now."

6 Now those who had gathered together began to ask Jesus, "Lord, is this the time when you will restore the kingdom to Israel?"

7 He answered them, "It is not for you to know what times or periods the Father has fixed by his own authority.

8 But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."

9 After saying this, Jesus was taken up while those who had gathered together were watching, and a cloud took him out of their sight.

10 While he was going and they were gazing up toward heaven, two men in white robes stood right beside them.

11 They asked, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking up toward heaven? This same Jesus, who has been taken up from you into heaven, will come back in the same way you saw him go up into heaven."

12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day's journey away.

13 When they came into the city, these men went to the upstairs room where they had been staying: Peter and John, James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot, and Judas the son of James.

14 With one mind all of them kept devoting themselves to prayer, along with the women, including Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.

15 At that time Peter got up among the brothers (there were about 120 people present) and said,

16 "Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke long ago through the voice of David about Judas, who was the guide for those who arrested Jesus,

17 because he was one of our number and was appointed to share in this ministry."

18 (Now this man bought a field with the money he got for his crime. Falling on his face, he burst open in the middle, and all his intestines gushed out.

19 This became known to all the residents of Jerusalem, so that this field is called in their language Hakeldama, that is, "The Field of Blood").

20 "For in the Book of Psalms it is written, 'Let his estate be desolate, and let no one live on it,' and 'Let someone else take over his office,'

21 who was one of the men associated with us all the time the Lord Jesus came and went among us,

22 beginning when he was baptized by John until the day he was taken up from us.

Therefore, someone like this must become a witness with us to his resurrection."

23 So they nominated two men — Joseph called Barsabbas, who also was called Justus, and Matthias.

24 Then they prayed, "Lord, you know the hearts of all people. Show us which one of these two men you have chosen

25 to serve in this office of apostle, from which Judas left to go to his own place."

26 So they drew lots for them, and when the lot fell on Matthias, he was enrolled with the eleven apostles.

Isaiah 50

- 1 This is what the LORD says: "Where is your mother's certificate of divorce with which I sent her away? Or to which of my creditors did I sell you? Look! It's because of your sins that you were sold, and because of your transgressions that your mother was sent away.
- 2 Why is it that when I came, no one was there? Why was there no answer when I called? Was my arm too short to redeem you? Do I lack the strength to rescue you? Look! By my mere rebuke I dry up the sea, I turn rivers into a desert. Their fish stink for lack of water and die of thirst.
- 3 I clothe the skies with darkness and make sackcloth their covering."
- 4 "The LORD God has given me a learned tongue, so that I may know how to sustain the weary with words. And morning after morning he awakens, and he awakens my ear to listen like those who are being taught.
- 5 My Lord God has opened my ears, and I did not rebel; I did not shrink back.
- 6 I gave my back to those who beat me and my cheeks to those who pulled out my beard. I did not turn away my face from insults and spitting.
- 7 For the Lord God helps me, so I won't be disgraced. Therefore I've made my face like flint, and I know that I won't be put to shame.
- 8 The one who vindicates me is near. Who, then, will bring a charge against me? Let's face each other! Who has a case against me? Let him confront me!
- 9 See! It is the Lord God who will help me. Who is it that will declare me guilty? See! They will all wear out like a garment; moths will eat them up.
- 10 Who among you fears the LORD, obeying the voice of his servant, who among you walks in darkness and have no light? Let him trust in the name of the LORD, and rely upon his God.
- 11 Look! All those who light a fire, who surround yourselves with flaming torches — walk by the light of your fire, and by the torches that you have set ablaze! This is what you will receive from my hand: you will lie down in torment.

Isaiah 51

- 1 "Listen to me, you who pursue righteousness, you who seek the LORD! Look to the rock from which you were cut, to the quarry from which you were hewn.
- 2 Look to Abraham your father, and to Sarah who gave you birth. For when he was only one person I called him, but I made him fruitful and made him many.
- 3 For the LORD will have compassion on Zion, have compassion on all her ruins. He will make her wilderness like Eden, and her deserts like the garden of the LORD. Joy and gladness will be found in her, thanksgiving, and the sound of singing. Sorrow and sighing will flee away.
- 4 "Pay attention to me, my people! Listen to me, my nation! For instruction will go out from me, and my justice will become a light for the nations. I will quickly bring
- 5 my deliverance near; my salvation is on the way. His arm will bring justice to the nations; the coastlands will hope for him, and they will wait for his arm.
- 6 "Lift up your eyes, you heavens and look to the earth beneath; and see who created these. Its inhabitants will die just like this; but my salvation will be forever, and my deliverance will never fail.
- 7 Listen to me, you who know righteousness, you people who have my instruction in their hearts. Don't fear the insults of mortals, and don't be dismayed at their hateful words.
- 8 For moths will eat them up just like a garment, and worms will devour them like wool; but my deliverance will last forever, and my salvation to all generations.

9 "Awake! Awake! Clothe yourself with strength, you arm of the LORD! Awake, as in days gone by, as in generations of long ago. Was it not you who split apart Rehob, who pierced that sea monster through?

10 Was it not you who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep, who made a road in the depths of the sea so that the redeemed could cross over?"

11 "The scattered ones of the LORD will return, and they will enter Zion with singing. Everlasting joy will be upon their heads; they will attain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing will flee away.

12 "I — yes, I — am the one who comforts you. Who are you, that you are so afraid of humans who will die, descendants of mere men, who have been made like grass?

13 As a result, you have forgotten the LORD who made you, who stretched out the heavens and laid the earth's foundations, and you live in constant fear every day because of the oppressor's fury, since he's ready to destroy. Now where is the oppressor's fury?

14 Distress will quickly be set free. He won't die in the Pit, nor will he lack food."

15 "For I am the LORD your God, who churns up the sea, so that its waves roar, 'The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name.'

16 I have put my words in your mouth and have covered you with the shadow of my hand, so that I could plant the heavens and lay the earth's foundations, to say to Zion, 'You are my people.'

17 "Awake, Awake! Stand up, Jerusalem, you who have drunk from the LORD's hand from the cup that is his anger. You have drunk to the dregs the cup that makes you stagger, and have drained it.

18 There is no one to guide you out of all the children she bore, no one to take her by the hand out of all the children she brought up.

19 "These twin things have come upon you (who can feel sorry for you?): ruin and destruction, famine and the sword — who can console you?

20 Your children have fainted. They lie at the head of every street, like antelope caught in a trap, filled with the anger of the LORD and the rebuke of your God.

21 Now listen to this, you afflicted one, made drunk, but not with wine:

22 This is what your LORD, the LORD, says, your God, who defends his people's cause: "See, I have taken from your hand the cup that made you stagger. And you will never again drink to the dregs the cup that is my anger.

23 But I will put it into the hands of those who tormented and oppressed you, those who said to you, 'Lie down, so we can step over you,' so that you had to make your back like the ground, and like a street for them to walk over."

Isaiah 52

1 Awake, awake! Clothe yourself with strength, O Zion! Put on your beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city, for the uncircumcised and the unclean won't enter you.

2 Shake yourself from the dust and arise, and sit on your throne, O Jerusalem! Loosen the bonds from your neck, O captive daughter of Zion.

3 For this is what the LORD says: "You were sold for nothing, and you'll be redeemed without money."

4 For this is what the LORD says: "My people went down long ago into Egypt to live there; the Assyrian, too, has oppressed them without cause.

5 "Now therefore, what am I doing here," asks the LORD, "seeing that my people are taken away without cause? Those who rule over them are deluded," says the LORD, "and continually, all the day long, my name is blasphemed.

6 Therefore my people will know my name; in that day they'll know that it is I who speaks, 'Here I am!'

7 "How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of the one who brings news of peace, who announces good things, who announces salvation, who says to Zion, 'Your God reigns!'

8 Listen! Your watchmen lift up their voices, together they sing for joy; for they will see in plain sight the return of the LORD to Zion with compassion.
9 "Break forth together into singing, you ruins of Jerusalem; for the LORD has comforted his people, and he has redeemed Jerusalem.
10 The LORD has bared his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth will see the salvation of our God.
11 "Depart! Depart! Go out from there; touch no unclean thing; go out from the midst of her; purify yourselves, you who carry the vessels of the LORD.
12 For you won't go out in haste, nor will you go in flight; for the LORD will go before you; and the God of Israel will be your rear guard. He is called the God of all the earth."
13 "Look! My servant will prosper, and he will be exalted and lifted up, and will be very high.
14 Just as many were astonished at you — so was he marred in his appearance, more than any human, and his form beyond that of human semblance —
15 so will he startle many nations. Kings will shut their mouths at him; for what had not been told them they will see, and what they had not heard they will understand.

Isaiah 53

1 "Who has believed our message, and to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?
2 For he grew up before him like a tender plant, and like a root out of a dry ground; he had no form and he had no majesty that we should look at him, and there is no attractiveness that we should desire him.
3 "He was despised and rejected by others, and a man of sorrows, intimately familiar with suffering; and like one from whom people hide their faces; and we despised him and did not value him.
4 "Surely he has borne our sufferings and carried our sorrows; yet we considered him stricken, and struck down by God, and afflicted.
5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, and he was crushed for our iniquities, and the punishment that made us whole was upon him, and by his bruises we are healed.
6 All we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned, each of us, to his own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all.
7 He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet he didn't open his mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, as a sheep that before its shearers is silent, so he did not open his mouth.
8 "From detention and judgement he was taken away — and who can even think about his descendants? For he was cut off from the land of the living, he was stricken for the transgression of my people.
9 Then they made his grave with the wicked, and with rich people in his death, although he had committed no violence, nor was there any deceit in his mouth."
10 "Yet the LORD was willing to crush him, and he made him suffer. Although you make his soul an offering for sin, He will see his offspring, and he will prolong his days, and the will of the LORD will triumph in his hand.
11 Out of the suffering of his soul he will see light and find satisfaction. And through his knowledge his servant, the righteous one, will make many righteous, and he will bear their iniquities.
12 Therefore I will allot him a portion with the great, and he will divide the spoils with the strong; because he poured out his life to death, and was numbered with the transgressors; yet he carried the sins of many, and made intercession for their transgressions."

Acts 2

- 1 When the day of Pentecost was being celebrated, all of them were together in one place.
- 2 Suddenly, a sound like the roar of a mighty windstorm came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting.
- 3 They saw tongues like flames of fire that separated, and one rested on each of them.
- 4 All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other languages as the Spirit gave them that ability.
- 5 Now devout Jews from every nation were living in Jerusalem.
- 6 When that sound came, a crowd quickly gathered, startled because each one heard the disciples speaking in his own language.
- 7 Stunned and amazed, they asked, "All of these people who are speaking are Galileans, aren't they?"
- 8 So how is it that each one of us hears them speaking in his own native language:
- 9 Parthians, Medes, Elamites, residents of Mesopotamia, Judea, Cappadocia, Pontus, Asia,
- 10 Phrygia, Pamphylia, Egypt, the district of Libya near Cyrene, Jewish and proselyte visitors from Rome,
- 11 Cretans, and Arabs, listening to them talk in our own languages about the great deeds of God?"
- 12 All of them continued to be stunned and puzzled, and they kept asking one another, "What can this mean?"
- 13 But others kept saying in derision, "They're drunk on sweet wine!"
- 14 Then Peter stood up among the eleven apostles and raised his voice to address them: "Men of Judea and everyone living in Jerusalem! You must understand something, so pay close attention to my words.
- 15 These men are not drunk as you suppose, for it's only nine o'clock in the morning.
- 16 Rather, this is what was spoken through the prophet Joel:
- 17 'In the last days, God says, I will pour out my Spirit on everyone. Your sons and your daughters will prophesy, your young men will see visions, and your old men will dream dreams.
- 18 In those days I will even pour out my Spirit on my slaves, men and women alike, and they will prophesy.
- 19 I will display wonders in the sky above and signs on the earth below: blood, fire, and clouds of smoke.
- 20 The sun will become dark, and the moon turn to blood, before the coming of the great and glorious Day of the Lord.
- 21 Then whoever calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.'

Isaiah 54

- 1 "Sing, you barren woman, even the one who never bore a child! Burst into song and shout for joy, even you who were never in labour! For the children of the desolate woman will be more than the children of her that is married," says the LORD.
- 2 "Enlarge the location of your tent, let the curtains of your dwellings be stretched wide, and don't hold back. Lengthen your cords; strengthen your stakes.
- 3 For you will spread out to the right hand and to the left, and your descendants will possess the nations and will populate the deserted towns.
- 4 "Don't be afraid, because you won't be ashamed; don't fear shame, for you won't be humiliated — because you will forget the disgrace of your youth, and the reproach of your widowhood you will remember no more.
- 5 For your Maker is your husband; the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name, and the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer; he is called the God of the whole earth.
- 6 For the LORD has called you back like a wife deserted and grieved in spirit, like the wife of a man's youth when she is cast off," says the LORD your God.
- 7 "For a brief moment I abandoned you; but I'll gather you with great compassion.
- 8 I hid my face from you for a moment in a surge of anger, but I will have compassion on you with my everlasting gracious love," says the LORD your Redeemer.
- 9 "For this is like the waters of Noah to me, when I swore that the waters of Noah would never again spread over the earth; so have I sworn that I won't be angry with you again and that I won't rebuke you.
- 10 For the mountains may collapse and the hills may reel, but my gracious love will not depart from you, neither will my covenant of peace totter," says the LORD, who has compassion on you.
- 11 "O afflicted one, passed back and forth, and not comforted, Look! I am about to set your stones in antimony, and lay your foundations with sapphires.
- 12 And I'll make your battlements of rubies, and your gates of jewels, and all your walls of precious stones.
- 13 Then all your children will be taught by the LORD, and great will be your children's prosperity.
- 14 "In righteousness you'll be established; you will be far from tyranny, for you won't be afraid, and from terror, for it won't come near you.
- 15 Watch! If anyone does attack you, it will not be from me; whoever may attack you will fall because of you.
- 16 Look! It is I who have created the blacksmith who fans coals in the fire, and produces a weapon for his purpose. It is I who have created the ravager to wreak havoc;
- 17 no weapon that is forged against you will be effective. This is the heritage of the LORD's servants, and their righteousness from me," says the LORD.

Isaiah 55

- 1 "Come, everyone who is thirsty, come to the waters! Also, you that have no money, come, buy, and eat! Come! Buy wine and milk without money and without price.
- 2 Why spend your money on what is not bread, and your labour on what does not satisfy? Listen carefully to me, and eat what is good, and let your soul delight itself in rich food.
- 3 Pay attention to me, come to me; and listen, so that you may live; then I'll make an everlasting covenant with you, as promised by my faithful, sure love for David.
- 4 "Look! I have made him a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander of the peoples.

5 "Look! You will call a nation that you do not know, and a nation that does not know you will run to you, because of the LORD your God, even the Holy One of Israel, for he has glorified you."
6 "Seek the LORD while he may be found, call upon him while he is near.
7 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous person his thoughts. Let him return to the LORD, So he'll have mercy upon him, and to our God, for he'll pardon abundantly.
8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways," declares the LORD.
9 "For just as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.
10 "For just as the rain and snow come down from heaven, and do not return there without watering the earth, making it bring forth and sprout, yielding seed for the sower and bread for eating,
11 so will my message be that goes out of my mouth — it won't return to me empty. Instead, it will accomplish what I desire, and achieve the purpose for which I sent it.
12 "For you will go out in joy, and come back with peace; the mountains and the hills will burst into song before you, and all the trees in the fields will clap their hands.
13 Instead of thorn bushes, pine trees will grow, and instead of briars, myrtles will grow; and they will be a sign for the LORD, and an everlasting name that will not be cut off."

Isaiah 56

1 For this is what the LORD says: "Maintain justice, and do what is right, for soon my salvation will come, and soon my deliverance will be revealed.
2 Blessed is the one who does this, and the person that holds it fast, who observes the Sabbath without profaning it, and restrains his hands from practising any evil.
3 "Let no foreigner who has joined himself to the LORD say: 'The LORD will surely exclude me from his people.' Furthermore, let no eunuch say, 'Look! I am just a dry tree.'
4 For this is what the LORD says: "To the eunuchs who observe my Sabbaths, who choose the things that please me, and who hold fast my covenant —
5 to them I will give in my house and within my walls a monument and a name better than sons and daughters. I will give them an everlasting name that will not be cut off.
6 "Also, the foreigners who join themselves to the LORD, to minister to him, to love the name of the LORD, to be his servants, and to bless the LORD's name, observing the Sabbath without profaning it, and who hold fast my covenant —
7 these I will bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my house of prayer. Their burnt-offerings and their sacrifices will rise up to be accepted on my altar; for my house will be called a house of prayer for everyone."
8 This is what the Lord God says, the one who gathers the outcasts of Israel: "I'll gather still others to them besides those already gathered.
9 "All you wild animals, come and devour — even all of you wild animals.
10 His watchmen are blind; they are all without knowledge. They are all dumb dogs — they cannot bark. They keep on dreaming and lying around, and they're lovers of sleep!
11 Meanwhile, the dogs have a mighty appetite — they can never get enough. And as for them, they are the shepherds who lack understanding; they have all turned to their own way, each one to his gain, each and every one.
12 "'Come!' they say, 'let's have some wine, and let's fill ourselves with strong drink! Then, tomorrow will be like today, or even much better!'"

Isaiah 57

1 "Also the righteous are perishing, but no one takes it to heart; devout people are taken away, while no one understands that the righteous person is taken away from calamity.
2 Then he enters into peace, and they'll rest on his couches, each one living righteously.

3 "But as for you, come here, you children of a sorceress, you offspring of adulterers and prostitutes!

4 Whom are you mocking? And against whom do you make a wide mouth and stick out your tongue? Are you not children of transgression, the offspring of lies,

5 you who burn with lust among the oaks, under every spreading tree, who slaughter your children in the ravines, under the clefts of the rocks?

6 "Among the smooth stones of the ravines is your portion — there they are as your lot. To them you have poured out drink offerings; you have brought grain offerings. Should I be lenient over such things?

7 "You have made your bed on a high and lofty mountain, and you went up to offer sacrifice there.

8 Behind the doors and the doorposts you have set up your pagan sign." For in deserting me you have uncovered your bed — you have climbed up into it and have opened it wide. And you have made a pact for yourself with them; you have loved their bed, you have looked on their private parts.

9 You went to Molech with olive oil and increased your perfumes; you sent your ambassadors far away, you sent them down even to Sheol itself!

10 You grew tired with your many wanderings, but you wouldn't say: 'It is hopeless.' You found new strength for your desire, and so you did not falter.

11 "Whom did you so dread — and while you feared me — that you lied, and you did not remember me, and did not lay to heart these things? Haven't I remained silent for a long time, and still you don't fear me?"

12 "I will denounce your righteousness and your works, for your collections of idols will not benefit you.

13 When you cry out, let your collection deliver you! The wind will carry them all off, and a mere breath will sweep them all away."

14 And one has said: 'Build up! Build up the road! Prepare the highway! Remove every obstacle from my people's way.'

15 "For this is what the high and lofty One says, who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: "He lives in the height and in holiness, and also with the one who is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite.

16 For I won't accuse forever, nor will I always be angry; for then the human spirit would grow faint before me — even the souls that I have created.

17 Because of his wicked greed I was angry, so I punished him; and I hid my face, and was angry — but he kept turning back to his stubborn will.

18 I've seen his ways, yet I will heal him, and restore for him comfort to him and for those who mourn for him

19 when I create the fruit of the lips: Peace to the one who is far away or near," says the LORD, "and I'll heal him.

20 But the wicked are tossed like the sea; for it is not able to keep still, and its waters toss up mire and mud.

21 "Yet there is no peace," says my God, "for the wicked."

Acts 2

22 "Fellow Israelis, listen to these words: Jesus from Nazareth was a man authenticated to you by God through miracles, wonders, and signs that God performed through him among you, as you yourselves know.

23 After he was arrested according to the predetermined plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified this very man and killed him by the hands of lawless men.

24 But God raised him up and put an end to suffering of death, since it was impossible for him to be held by it.

25 For David says about him, 'I always keep my eyes on the Lord, for he is at my right hand so that I cannot be shaken.

26 That is why my heart is glad and my tongue rejoices, yes, even my body still rests securely in hope.

27 For you will not abandon my soul to Hades or allow your Holy One to experience decay.

28 You have made the ways of life known to me, and you will fill me with gladness in your presence.'

29 "Brothers, I can tell you confidently that the patriarch David died and was buried, and that his tomb is among us to this day.

30 Therefore, since he was a prophet and knew that God had promised him with an oath to put one of his descendants on his throne,

31 he looked ahead and spoke about the resurrection of the Messiah: 'He was not abandoned to Hades, and his flesh did not experience decay.'

32 "It was this very Jesus whom God raised, and of that we are all witnesses.

33 He has been exalted to the right hand of God, has received from the Father the promised Holy Spirit, and has caused you to experience what you are seeing and hearing.

34 For David did not go up to heaven, but he said, 'The Lord told my Lord, "Sit at my right hand,

35 until I make your enemies your footstool.'"

36 "Therefore, let all the people of Israel understand beyond a doubt that God made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Messiah!"

37 When the crowd that had gathered heard this, they were pierced to the heart. They asked Peter and the other apostles, "Brothers, what should we do?"

38 Peter answered them, "Every one of you must repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus the Messiah for the forgiveness of your sins. Then you will receive the Holy Spirit as a gift.

39 For this promise belongs to you and your children, as well as to all those who are distant, whom the Lord our God may call to himself."

Isaiah 58

- 1 "Shout aloud! Don't hold back! Lift up your voice like a trumpet! Declare to my people their rebellions, and to the house of Jacob their sins.
- 2 They seek me day after day, and are eager to know my ways, as if they were a nation that practises righteousness and has not forsaken the justice of their God. "They ask me to reveal just decisions; they are eager to draw near to God.
- 3 'Why have we fasted?' they ask, "But you do not see? Why have we humbled ourselves, but you take no notice?"
- 4 "Look! You fast only for quarrelling, and for fighting, and for hitting with wicked fists. You cannot fast as you do today and have your voice heard on high.
- 5 "Is this the kind of fast that I have chosen, merely a day for a person to humble himself? Is it merely for bowing down one's head like a bulrush, for lying on sackcloth and ashes? Is this what you call a fast, an acceptable day to the LORD?
- 6 Isn't this the fast that I have been choosing: to loose the bonds of injustice, and to untie the cords of the yoke, and to let the oppressed go free, and to break every yoke?
- 7 Isn't it to share your bread with the hungry, and to bring the homeless poor into your house; when you see the naked, to cover him with clothing, and not to raise yourself up from your own flesh and blood?"
- 8 "Then your light will break forth like the dawn, and your healing will spring up quickly; and your vindication will go before you, and the glory of the LORD will guard your back.
- 9 Then you'll call, and the LORD will answer; you'll cry for help, and he'll respond, 'Here I am.'
- 10 "If you do away with the yoke among you, and pointing fingers and malicious talk; if you pour yourself out for the hungry and satisfy the needs of afflicted souls, then your light will rise in darkness, and your night will be like noonday.
- 11 And the LORD will guide you continuously, and satisfy your soul in parched places, and they will strengthen your bones; and you'll be like a watered garden, like a spring of water, whose waters never fail.
- 12 And your people will rebuild the ancient ruins; You'll raise up the age-old foundations, and people will call you 'Repairer of Broken Walls,' 'Restorer of Streets to Live In.'
- 13 "If you keep your feet from trampling the Sabbath, from pursuing your own interests on my holy day, if you call the Sabbath a delight and the LORD's holy day honourable; and if you honour it by not going your own ways and seeking your own pleasure or speaking merely idle words,
- 14 then you will take delight in the LORD, and he will make you ride upon the heights of the earth; and he will make you feast on the inheritance of your ancestor Jacob, your father. "Yes! The mouth of the LORD has spoken."

Isaiah 59

- 1 "See, the LORD's hand is not too short to save, nor are his ears too dull to hear.
- 2 Instead, your iniquities have been barriers between you and your God, and your sins have concealed his face from you so that he won't listen.
- 3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your tongue mutters wickedness.
- 4 No one brings a lawsuit fairly, and no one goes to law honestly; they have relied on empty arguments and they tell lies; they conceive trouble and give birth to iniquity.
- 5 They hatch adders' eggs and weave a spider's web; whoever eats their eggs dies, and any crushed egg hatches out futility.
- 6 Their cobwebs cannot become clothing, they cannot cover themselves with what they make. Their deeds are deeds of iniquity, and acts of violence fill their hands.

7 Their feet rush to evil, and they are quick to shed innocent blood. Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; ruin, destruction, and violence are in their paths.
8 The pathway of peace they do not know, and there is no justice in their courses. They have made their roads crooked; no one who walks in them will know peace."
9 "So justice is far from us, and righteousness does not reach us. We wait for light, but look — there is darkness; we wait for brightness, but we walk in deep darkness.
10 Let's grope along the wall like the blind; let us grope like those who have no eyes. We stumble at midday as if it were twilight, in desolate places like dead people.
11 We all growl like bears; we sigh mournfully like doves. We look for justice, but there is none, and for deliverance, but it's far from us.
12 "For our transgressions before you are many, and our sins testify against us; for our transgressions are with us, and as for our iniquities, we acknowledge them:
13 they've rebelled in treachery against the LORD, and are turning away from following our God; and they've spoken oppression and revolt, and are conceiving lying words from the heart.
14 I'll drive back justice, and righteousness stands at a distance; for truth has fallen in the public square, and honesty cannot enter.
15 Truth is missing, and whoever turns away from evil becomes a prey."
16 He saw that there was no one, and was appalled that there was no one to intervene; so his own arm brought him victory, and his righteous acts upheld him.
17 He put on righteousness like a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head; he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped himself in fury like a cloak.
18 So he will repay according to their action: Anger to his enemies, retribution to his foes; to the coastlands he will render their due.
19 So people will fear the name of the LORD from the west, and his glories from the rising of the sun; for he will come as a pent-up stream that the breath of the LORD drives along.
20 "And a Redeemer will come to Zion, to those in Jacob who turn from transgression," says the LORD.
21 "As for me, this is my covenant with them," says the LORD. "And my Spirit that is upon you, and my words that I have put in your mouth, won't depart from your mouth, or from the mouths of your children, or from the mouths of your children's children, from now on and forever."

Isaiah 60

1 "Arise, shine! For your light has come; the glory of the LORD has risen upon you.
2 For look! Darkness will cover the earth and thick darkness is over the people, but the LORD will arise upon you, and his glory will appear over you.
3 Nations will come to your light, and kings before your dawn.
4 "Lift up your eyes and look around: They all gather together, they come to you; your sons will come from far away, and your daughters will be carried on the hip."
5 Then you will look and be radiant; your heart will swell with joy, because the abundance of the seas will be diverted to you, and the riches of the nations will come to you.
6 Throngs of camels will blanket you: the young camels of Midian and Ephu; all those from Shebu will come. They'll carry gold and frankincense, and proclaim the praise of the LORD.
7 All Kedar's flocks will be gathered to you, the rams of Nebaioth will serve you. and they'll come up with acceptance upon my altar, and I'll glorify my glorious house."
8 "Who are these that fly like clouds, and like doves to their windows?
9 For the coastlands will look to me, with the ships of Tarshish in the lead, to bring my children from far away, their silver and gold with them, to the name of the LORD your God, and to the Holy One of Israel, because he has glorified you.
10 "Foreigners will rebuild your walls, and their kings will serve you. Though in my anger I struck you down, in my favour I have shown you mercy.

11 Your gates will always stand open by day or night, and they will not be shut, so that nations will bring you their wealth, with their kings led in procession.

12 For the nation or kingdom that will not serve you will perish; those nations will be utterly ruined.

13 "He has given you the glory of Lebanon, and it will come to you, the cypress, and the plane tree, and the pine, to adorn the place of my sanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious.

14 "All the descendants of those who oppressed you will come bending low before you, and all those who despised you will bow down at your feet. They'll call you 'The City of the LORD,' 'Zion of the Holy One of Israel.'"

15 "Although you have been forsaken and despised, with no one travelling through, I will make you the everlasting pride, the joy of all generations.

16 You'll suck the milk of nations, You'll suck the breasts of kings. Then you will realize that I, the LORD, am your saviour and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 "Instead of bronze, I'll bring gold, and instead of iron, I'll bring silver; instead of wood, bronze, and instead of stones, iron. I'll appoint peace as your supervisor and righteousness as your taskmaster.

18 Then violence will no longer be heard in your land, nor devastation or destruction within your borders; but you'll call your walls 'Salvation', and your gates 'Praise'.

19 "The sun will no longer be your light by day, nor for brightness will the moon shine on you by night — for the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your God will be your glory.

20 Your sun won't set, nor will your moon withdraw itself — for the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your days of mourning will end.

21 Then your people will all be righteous; They'll possess the land forever. They are the shoot that the LORD planted, the works of his hands, so that I might be glorified.

22 The least of them will become a thousand, and the smallest one a mighty nation. "I am the LORD; When the time is right, I will do this swiftly."

Acts 2

40 Using many different expressions, Peter continued to testify and to plead with them, saying, "Be saved from this corrupt generation!"

41 So those who welcomed his message were baptized. That day about 3,000 people were added to their number.

42 The believers continued to devote themselves to what the apostles were teaching, to fellowship, to the breaking of bread, and to times of prayer.

43 A sense of fear came over everyone, and many wonders and signs were being done by the apostles.

44 All the believers were united and shared everything with one another.

45 They made it their practice to sell their possessions and goods and to distribute the proceeds to anyone who was in need.

46 United in purpose, they went to the Temple every day, ate at each other's homes, and shared their food with glad and humble hearts.

47 They were praising God and enjoying the good will of all the people. Every day the Lord was adding to their number those who were being saved.

Acts 3

1 One afternoon, Peter and John were on their way to the Temple for the three o'clock prayer time.

2 Now a man who had been crippled from birth was being carried in. Every day people would lay him at what was called the Beautiful Gate so that he could beg from those who were going into the Temple.

3 When he saw that Peter and John were about to go into the Temple, he asked them to give him something.

4 Peter, along with John, looked him straight in the eye and said, "Look at us!"

5 So the man watched them closely, expecting to get something from them.

6 However, Peter said, "I don't have any silver or gold, but I'll give you what I do have. In the name of Jesus the Messiah from Nazareth, walk!"

7 Then Peter took hold of his right hand and began to help him up. Immediately his feet and ankles became strong,

8 and he sprang to his feet, stood up, and began to walk. Then he went with them into the Temple, walking, jumping, and praising God.

9 When all the people saw him walking and praising God,

10 they knew that he was the man who used to sit and beg at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple, and they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

11 While he was holding on to Peter and John, all the people came running to them in what was called "Solomon's Colonnade". They were dumbfounded.

12 When Peter saw this, he told the people: "Fellow Israelis, why are you wondering about this, and why are you staring at us as if by our own power or godliness we made him walk?"

13 The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob — the God of our ancestors — has glorified his servant Jesus, whom you betrayed and rejected in the presence of Pilate, even though he had decided to let him go.

Isaiah 61

1 "The Spirit of the LORD is upon me, because the LORD has anointed me; he has sent me to bring good news to the oppressed and to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim freedom for the captives, and release from darkness for the prisoners;

2 to proclaim the year of the LORD's favour, the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all who mourn;

3 to provide for those who grieve in Zion — to bestow on them a crown of beauty instead of ashes, the oil of gladness instead of mourning, a mantle of praise instead of a spirit of despair." "Then people will call them "Oaks of Righteousness", "The Planting of the LORD", in order to display his splendour.

4 They will rebuild the ancient ruins; they will restore the places long devastated; they will build again the ruined cities, they will build again the places devastated for many generations.

5 Strangers will stand and feed your flocks, and foreigners will work your land and dress your vines.

6 But as for you, you will be called priests of the LORD, and you will be named ministers of our God. You will feed on the wealth of the nations, and you will boast about their riches.

7 Instead of your shame you will receive double, and instead of disgrace people will shout with joy over your inheritance; therefore you will inherit a double portion in their land; everlasting joy will be yours."

8 "For I, the LORD, love justice, and I hate robbery and iniquity; I will faithfully present your reward and make an everlasting covenant with you.

9 Your offspring will be known among the nations, and your descendants among the people. All who see them will acknowledge them, that they are an offspring the LORD has blessed."

10 "I will heartily rejoice in the LORD, my soul will delight in my God; for he has wrapped me in garments of salvation; he has arrayed me in a robe of righteousness, just like a bridegroom, like a priest with a garland, and like a bride adorns herself with her jewels.

11 For just as the soil brings forth its shoots, and as a garden makes what is sown within it spring up, so the LORD God will make righteousness and praise spring up before all the nations for Zion's sake."

Isaiah 62

1 "And I won't remain silent, and for Jerusalem's sake I won't stay quiet, until her vindication shines out like brightness, and her salvation like a burning torch.

2 The nations will see your vindication, and all the kings your glory; and people will call you by a new name that the mouth of the LORD will bestow.

3 You will be a crown of splendour in the LORD's hand, and a royal diadem in the hand of your God.

4 And you'll no longer be called 'Deserted,' and your land will no longer be called 'Desolate'; but people will call you 'Hephzibah,' and your land 'Beulah' — for the LORD will take delight in you, and your land will be married."

5 "For just as a young man marries a maiden, so your sons will marry you; and just as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride, so your God will rejoice will over you.

6 "Upon your walls, Jerusalem, I have posted watchmen; all day and all night they won't remain silent. You who make mention of the LORD, take no rest,

7 and give him no rest until he prepares, establishes and makes Jerusalem a song of praise throughout the earth.

8 "The LORD has sworn by his right hand and by his mighty arm: 'I will never again give your grain as food for your enemies; never again will foreigners drink your new wine for which you have toiled;
9 but surely those who harvest it will eat it and praise the name of the LORD, and those who gather it will drink it in the courts of my sanctuary,' says your God."
10 "Pass through the gates! prepare the way for the people! Build up! Build up the highway! Clear it of stumbling stones, speak among the peoples.
11 Here is the LORD! Proclaim to the ends of the earth, say to the inhabitants of Zion: 'See, your salvation is coming! See, his reward is with him, and his recompenses are before him.'
12 People will call them, 'The Holy People,' 'The Redeemed of the LORD'; and they will call you, 'Sought After,' 'The City Not Deserted.'"

Isaiah 63

1 "Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah, in garments stained crimson? Who is this, robed in such splendour, marching in his great might? It is I, speaking in vindication, mighty to save.
2 "Why is your clothing red, and your garments like those worn by the ones who tread in the winepress?
3 "I have trodden the winepress alone, and from my people no one was with me, I trampled them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath; their lifeblood spattered on my garments, and I stained all my clothing.
4 "For the day of vengeance was in my heart, and the year for my redeeming work had come.
5 I looked, but there was no helper, I was appalled that there was no one to give support; so my own arm brought me victory, and as for my wrath, it supported me.
6 I trampled people in my anger; in my wrath I made them drunk and I poured out their lifeblood on the ground."
7 I will recount the gracious deeds of the LORD, the praiseworthy acts of the LORD, according to all the LORD has done for us — yes, the great goodness to the house of Israel that he has granted them according to his mercy, according to the abundance of his gracious love.
8 For he said, "Surely they are my people, children who won't act falsely." And so he became their saviour.
9 In all their distress he wasn't distressed, but the angel of his presence saved them; in his acts of love and in his acts of pity he redeemed them; he carried them and lifted them up all the days of old.
10 Yet they rebelled and grieved his Holy Spirit; so he changed and became their enemy, and he himself fought against them.
11 Then they remembered the days of old, of Moses his servant. Where is the one who brought up out of the sea the shepherds of his flock? Where is the one who put his Holy Spirit among them,
12 and who made his glorious arm march at Moses' right hand, who divided the waters in front of them to win an everlasting name,
13 who led them through the depths? Like a horse in the open desert, they did not stumble;
14 like cattle that go down into the valley, the Spirit of the LORD gave them rest. For you led your people, to win for yourself a glorious name.
15 Look down from heaven, and see from your holy and glorious dwelling. Where are your zeal and your might? Where are the yearning of your heart and your compassion? They are held back from me.

16 But you are our Father, even Abraham does not know us and Israel has not acknowledged us; you are he, O LORD, our Father, from long ago, 'Our Redeemer' is your name.

17 Why, LORD, do you make us wander from your ways and harden our hearts, so that we do not fear you? Turn back for the sake of your servants, for the sake of the tribes that are your heritage.

18 Your holy people took possession for a little while, but now our enemies have trampled down your sanctuary.

19 For a long time we have been those you do not rule, those who are not called by your name.

Isaiah 64

1 If only you would tear open the heavens and come down, so that the mountains would quake at your presence —

2 just as fire sets twigs ablaze and the fire causes water to boil — to make known your name to your enemies, yes, to your enemies before you, so that the nations might quake at your presence!

3 When you did awesome deeds that we expected, you came down, and the mountains shuddered before you.

4 Since ancient times no one has heard, and no ear has perceived, and no eye has seen any God besides you, who acts on behalf of those who wait for him.

5 You come to the aid of those who gladly do what's right, To those who remember you in your ways. See, you were angry, and we sinned against them for a long time, but we will be saved.

6 All of us have become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous acts are like a filthy rag; we all shrivel up like a leaf, and like the wind, our iniquities sweep us away.

7 There is no one who calls on your name or rouses himself to take hold of you; for you have hidden your face from us, and have given us into the control of our iniquity.

8 But as for you, O LORD, you are our Father; and we are clay, and you are our potter; we are all the work of your hands.

9 Don't be angry beyond measure, LORD, and don't remember our iniquity for a season. Please look now, we are all your people.

10 Your holy cities have become a desert; Zion has become like a desert, Jerusalem a desolation.

11 Our holy Temple and our splendour, where our ancestors praised you, have become a conflagration of fire, and all our dearest places have become ruins.

12 LORD, after all this, can you hold yourself back? Can you keep silent and punish us so severely?

Acts 3

14 You rejected the Holy and Righteous One and asked to have a murderer released to you,

15 and you killed the source of life, whom God raised from the dead. We are witnesses to that.

16 It is his name — that is, by faith in his name — that has healed this man whom you see and know. Yes, the faith that comes through Jesus has given him this perfect health in the presence of all of you.

17 "And now, brothers, I know that you acted in ignorance like your leaders.

18 This is how God fulfilled what he had predicted through the voice of all the prophets — that his Messiah would suffer.

19 Therefore, repent and turn to him to have your sins blotted out,

20 so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord and so that he may send you Jesus, whom he appointed long ago to be the Messiah.

21 He must remain in heaven until the time of universal restitution, which God announced long ago through the voice of his holy prophets.

22 In fact, Moses said, 'The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your brothers. You must listen to everything he tells you.

23 Any person who will not listen to that prophet will be utterly destroyed from among the people.'

24 "Indeed, all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and those who followed him, also announced these days.

25 You are the descendants of the prophets and the heirs of the covenant that God made with your ancestors when he told Abraham, 'Through your descendant all the families of the earth will be blessed.'

26 When God raised up his servant, he sent him first to you to bless you by turning every one of you from your evil ways."

Acts 4

1 While they were speaking to the people, the priests, the commander of the Temple guards, and the Sadducees came to them.

2 They were greatly disturbed that Peter and John were teaching the people and announcing that Jesus had been resurrected from the dead.

3 So they arrested them and placed them in custody until the next day, since it was already evening.

4 But many of those who heard their message believed, and the men grew to number about 5,000.

5 The next day their rulers, elders, and scribes met in Jerusalem

6 with Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and the rest of the high priest's family.

7 They made Peter and John stand in front of them and began asking, "By what power or by what name did you do this?"

Isaiah 65

- 1 "I let myself be sought by those who didn't ask for me; I let myself be found by those who didn't seek me. I said, 'Here I am! Here I am!' to a nation that didn't call on my name.
- 2 I held out my hands all day long to a disobedient people, who walk in a way that isn't good, following their own inclinations —
- 3 a people who continually provoke me to my face; they keep sacrificing in gardens and waving their hands over stone altars;
- 4 who sit among graves, and spend the night in secret places; who eat pigs' meat, with the broth of detestable things in their pots;
- 5 who say, 'Keep to yourself!' 'Don't touch me!' and 'I am too holy for you!' "Such people are smoke in my nostrils, a fire that keeps burning all day long.
- 6 Watch out! It stands written before me: 'I won't keep silent, but I will pay back in full; I'll indeed repay into their laps
- 7 both your iniquities and your ancestors' iniquities together," says the LORD. "Because they offered incense on the mountains and insulted me on hills, I'll measure into their laps full payment for their earlier actions."
- 8 This is what the LORD says: "Just as new wine is found in the cluster, and people have said, 'Don't destroy it, for there is a gift in it,' so I'll act for my servants' sake, by not destroying them all.
- 9 I'll bring forth descendants from Jacob, and from Judah they will inherit my mountains; my chosen people will inherit it, and my servants will live there.
- 10 Sharon will become a pasture for flocks, and the Valley of Achor a fold for herds, for my people who have sought me.
- 11 But as for you who forsake the LORD, who forget my holy mountain, who spread a table for Fortune and fill drink offerings for Destiny,
- 12 I'll consign you to the sword, and all of you will bend down for the slaughter — because when I called, you didn't answer, when I spoke, you didn't listen; but you did what was evil in my sight, and chose what I took no pleasure in."
- 13 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: "See, my servants will eat, but you'll go hungry; my servants will drink, but you'll go thirsty; my servants will rejoice, but you'll be put to shame.
- 14 My servants will sing in gladness of heart, but you'll cry for help from anguish of heart, and you'll howl from brokenness of spirit.
- 15 You'll leave your name to my chosen ones as a curse, and the Lord God will put you to death permanently.
- 16 Then whoever takes an oath by the God of faithfulness, and whoever takes an oath in the land, will swear by the God of faithfulness, because the former troubles are forgotten and are hidden from my eyes.
- 17 Take notice! I'm about to create new heavens and a new earth; the former things won't be remembered, nor will they come to mind.
- 18 But be glad and rejoice forever in what I am creating, for I am about to create Jerusalem as a joy, and its people as a delight.
- 19 I'll rejoice over Jerusalem, and take delight in my people; no longer will the sound of weeping be heard in it, nor the cry of distress.
- 20 "And there will no longer be in it a young boy who lives only a few days, or an old person who does not live out his days; for one who dies at a hundred years will be thought a mere youth, and one who falls short of a hundred years will be considered accursed.
- 21 People will build houses and live in them; They'll plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

22 They won't build for others to inhabit; they won't plant for others to eat — for like the lifetime of a tree, so will the lifetime of my people be, and my chosen ones will long enjoy the work of their hands.

23 They won't toil in vain nor bear children doomed to misfortune, for they will be offspring blessed by the LORD, they and their descendants with them.

24 Before they call, I will answer, while they are still speaking, I'll hear.

25 "The wolf and the lamb will feed together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox; but as for the serpent — its food will be dust! They won't harm or destroy on my entire holy mountain," says the LORD.

Isaiah 66

1 This is what the LORD says: "Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. Where is the house that you would build for me, and where will my resting place be?

2 All these things my hand has made, and so all these things came into being," declares the LORD. "But this is the one to whom I will look favourably: to the one who is humble and contrite in spirit, and who trembles at my message.

3 "Whoever slaughters an ox is just like one who kills a human being; whoever sacrifices a lamb is just like one who breaks a dog's neck; whoever makes a grain offering is just like one who offers pig's blood; and whoever makes a memorial offering of frankincense is just like one who blesses an idol. Yes, these have chosen their own ways, and they take delight in their contaminated actions.

4 Therefore I, too, will choose harsh treatment for them, and will bring upon them what they dread. For when I called, no one answered; when I spoke, they didn't listen; but they did what I consider to be evil, and chose what doesn't please me."

5 "Hear this message from the LORD, you who tremble at his words: "Your own brothers who hate you and exclude you because of my name have said: 'Let the LORD be glorified; he will see your joy,' yet it is they who will be put to shame.

6 "Listen to that uproar in the city! Listen to that noise from the Temple! It is the sound of the LORD paying back retribution to his enemies!

7 "Before she goes into labour she gives birth; before her pains come upon her she has delivered a son.

8 Who has ever heard of such a thing? And who ever sees such things? Can a country be born in a single day, or can a nation be brought forth in a single moment? Yet no sooner was Zion in labour than she delivered her children.

9 Am I to open the womb and not deliver?" asks the LORD. "And when I bring to delivery, am I to close the womb?" asks your God.

10 "Rejoice with Jerusalem, and be happy for her, all you who love her; rejoice with her in gladness, all you who mourn over her,

11 so that you may nurse and be satisfied at her consoling breasts, and so that you may drink deeply and take delight from her glorious bosom."

12 This is what the LORD says: "See, I will extend prosperity to her like a river, and the wealth of nations like a flooding stream; and you will nurse, and you will be carried on her hip, and bounced upon her knees.

13 Like a child whom his mother comforts, so I will comfort you; and you will be comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when you look, your hearts will rejoice and your bodies will flourish like grass; and it will be made known that the LORD's hand is with his servants, but his fury is with his enemies.

15 "Take notice! The LORD will come with fire, and his chariot will be like a whirlwind, to pay back his anger — yes, his anger! — in fury, and his menacing rebukes in flames of fire.

16 For with fire and with his sword the LORD will proceed to judgement on all humanity, and those slain by the LORD will be many."

17 "Those who consecrate and purify themselves to enter the groves, following the one at the centre of those who eat the meat of pigs, disgusting things, and rats, are all alike," says the LORD.

18 "But as for me, I know their actions and their thoughts. Come and gather all nations and languages, and they will come and see my glory.

19 "I will put up signs among them, and from them I will send survivors to the nations — to Tarshish, Libya, and Lydia, (who draw the bow), to Tubal and Greece, to the far off coastlands that have not heard of my fame or seen my glory. Then they will proclaim my glory among the nations.

20 They will bring all — yes, all! — of your kindred from all the nations to my holy mountain Jerusalem as an offering to the LORD — on horses, in chariots, in wagons, and on mules — yes, even on mules! — and on camels," says the LORD, "just as the Israelis bring a grain offering in a clean vessel to the LORD's house.

21 Then I will also select some of them for myself as priests and as Levites," says the LORD.

22 "For as the new heavens and the new earth that I am about to make will endure before me," says the LORD, "so will your descendants and your name endure.

23 And from New Moon to New Moon, and from Sabbath to Sabbath, all humanity will come to worship before me," says the LORD.

24 "Then they will go out and look upon the dead bodies of the people who rebelled against me. For their worm will not die, nor will their fire be extinguished, and they will remain an object of revulsion to all humanity."

Jeremiah 1

1 The words of Hilkiyah's son Jeremiah, who was one of the priests at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin.

2 This message from the LORD came to him during the thirteenth year of the reign of Ammon's son Josiah, the king of Judah,

3 and during the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, the king of Judah, and continued until the exile of Jerusalem in the fifth month, at the end of the eleventh year of the reign of Josiah's son Zedekiah, the king of Judah.

4 This message from the LORD came to me:

5 "I knew you before I formed you in the womb; I set you apart for me before you were born; I appointed you to be a prophet to the nations."

6 I replied, "Ah, LORD God! Look, I don't know how to speak, because I'm only a young man."

7 Then the LORD told me, "Don't say, 'I'm only a young man,' for you will go everywhere I send you, and you will speak everything I command you.

8 Don't be afraid of them, because I am with you to deliver you," declares the LORD.

9 The LORD stretched out his hand, touched my mouth, and then told me, "Look, I've put my words in your mouth.

10 See, today I've appointed you to prophesy about nations and kingdoms, to pull up and tear down, to destroy and overthrow, to build and to plant."

11 This message from the LORD came to me, asking, "What do you see, Jeremiah?" I replied, "I see an almond branch."

12 The LORD told me, "You have observed well, because I'm watching over my message, to make sure it comes about."

13 This message from the LORD came to me a second time: "What do you see?" I replied, "I see a boiling pot, and its mouth is tilted away from the north."

14 Then the LORD told me, "From the north disaster will pour out on all who live in the land,

15 because I'm about to summon all the families and kingdoms from the north," declares the LORD. "They'll come and each one will set up his seat at the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, against all of its surrounding walls, and against all of the towns of Judah.

16 "I'll pronounce my judgements against them because of all their wickedness. They have forsaken me, they have burned incense to other gods, and they have bowed down in worship to the works of their own hands."

17 "As for you, get ready! Stand up and tell them everything that I've commanded you. Don't be frightened as you face them, or I'll frighten you right in front of them.

18 "As for me, today I'm making you a fortified city, an iron pillar, and a bronze wall against the whole land — against the kings of Judah, against its princes, against its priests, and against the people of the land.

19 They'll fight against you, but they won't prevail against you, because I am with you," declares the LORD, "to deliver you."

Acts 4

8 Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, told them, "Rulers and elders of the people!
9 If we are being questioned today for a good deed done for someone who was sick or to learn how this man was healed,
10 you and all the people of Israel must understand that this man stands healthy before you because of the name of Jesus from Nazareth, whom you crucified but God raised from the dead.
11 He is 'the stone that was rejected by you builders, which has become the cornerstone.'
12 There is no salvation by anyone else, for there is no other name under heaven given among people by which we must be saved."
13 Now when the Jewish leaders saw the boldness of Peter and John and found out that they were uneducated and ordinary men, they were amazed and realized that they had been with Jesus.
14 And seeing the man who was healed standing with them, they could not say anything against them.
15 So they ordered them to leave the Council and began to discuss the matter among themselves.
16 They said, "What should we do with these men? For it's obvious to everybody living in Jerusalem that an unmistakable sign has been done by them, and we cannot deny it.
17 But to keep it from spreading any further among the people, let us warn them never again to speak to anyone in this name."
18 So they called Peter and John back in and ordered them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus.
19 But Peter and John answered them, "You must decide whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than God, 20 for we cannot stop talking about what we've seen and heard."
21 So they threatened Peter and John even more and then let them go. They couldn't find any way to punish them, because all the people were praising God for what had happened.
22 For the man on whom this sign of healing had been performed was more than 40 years old.
23 After they were released, Peter and John went to their fellow believers and told them everything the high priests and the elders had said.
24 When they heard this, they all raised their voices to God and said, "Master, you made heaven and earth, the sea, and everything in them.
25 You said by the Holy Spirit through the voice of our ancestor, your servant David, 'Why do the gentiles rage, and the people devise useless plots?
26 The kings of the earth take their stand, and rulers meet together against the Lord and against his Messiah.'
27 For in this city both Herod and Pontius Pilate actually met together with the gentiles and the people of Israel to oppose your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed,
28 to carry out everything that your hand and will had predetermined to take place.
29 Lord, pay attention to their threats now, and allow your servants to speak your word boldly
30 as you stretch out your hand to heal and to perform signs and wonders through the name of your holy servant Jesus."
31 When they had prayed, the place where they were meeting was shaken, and all of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and continued to speak messages from God boldly.

Jeremiah 2

- 1 This message from the LORD came to me:
- 2 "Go and announce to Jerusalem: 'This is what the LORD says: "I remember the loyal devotion of your youth, your love as a bride. You followed me in the desert, in a land that was not planted.
- 3 Israel was consecrated to the LORD, she was the first fruits of his produce. All who devoured her became guilty and disaster came on them," declares the LORD."
- 4 Listen to this message from the LORD, you descendants of Jacob and all the families of the descendants of Israel.
- 5 This is what the LORD says: "What did your ancestors find wrong with me that they left me, and pursued worthless things, and so they became worthless?
- 6 "They didn't ask, 'Where is the LORD who brought us up from the land of Egypt, who led us through the wilderness, through the land of desert and pits, through the land of dryness and deep darkness, a land that people don't pass through, and where no one lives?'
- 7 "I brought you into the fruitful land to eat its fruit and its good things. But you came in, defiled my land, and made my inheritance into an abomination.
- 8 "The priests didn't say, 'Where is the LORD?' and those handling the Law didn't know me. The rulers transgressed against me, the prophets prophesied by Baal, and they followed that which does not profit.
- 9 "Therefore I'll again accuse you," declares the LORD, "and I'll accuse your grandchildren."
- 10 "Indeed, go over to the coasts of Cyprus and see, send to Kedar and pay very close attention. See if there has ever been such a thing as this!
- 11 Has a nation ever changed gods when they aren't even gods? But my people have exchanged their glory for that which does not profit.
- 12 Heavens, be appalled at this, be shocked, be utterly devastated," declares the LORD.
- 13 "Indeed, my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living water, and they have dug cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that cannot hold water."
- 14 "Is Israel a slave, or was he born a servant? Why then has he become plunder?
- 15 Young lions roar at him, they cry out loudly. They have made his land into a wasteland, and his cities are destroyed so they are without inhabitants.
- 16 Also, people from Memphis and Tahpanhes have broken your skull.
- 17 You have done this to yourselves, have you not, by forsaking the LORD your God, when he is the one who led you on the way?
- 18 Now, what are you doing on the road to Egypt, to drink the waters of the Nile? And what are you doing on the road to Assyria, to drink the waters of the Euphrates?
- 19 Your wickedness will be punished, and you will be corrected due to your acts of apostasy. Know and see that it's evil and bitter for you to forsake the LORD your God, but the fear of me is not in you," declares the Lord God of the Heavenly Armies.
- 20 "For long ago I broke your yoke and tore off your bonds, But you said, 'I won't serve you!' Instead, on every high hill and under every green tree, you bend down to commit fornication.
- 21 I planted you myself as a choice vine, from the very best seed. How did you turn against me into a degenerate and foreign vine?
- 22 Though you wash yourself with lye and use much soap, the stain of your guilt is still before me," declares the Lord God.
- 23 "How can you say, 'I'm not defiled. I haven't gone after the Baals'? Look at what you've done in the valley. Know what you have done. You are a swift young camel galloping aimlessly;

24 a wild donkey accustomed to the desert, sniffing the wind in her passion. When she's in heat, who can turn her away? None of the males who pursue her need to tire themselves out, for in her month they'll find her."

25 "Don't run until your feet are bare and your throat is dry. But you say, 'It's hopeless! Because I love foreign gods, I'll go after them!'"

26 "As a thief is disgraced when he's caught, so the house of Israel is disgraced — they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets,

27 who say to a tree, 'You are my father,' and to a stone, 'You gave birth to me.' They have turned their back to me, but not their faces. In the time of their trouble, they'll say, 'Rise up! Deliver us!'"

28 "But where are your gods that you made for yourselves? Let them rise up, if they can deliver you in the time of your trouble. You have as many gods as you have towns, Judah.

29 Why do you contend with me? You have rebelled against me," declares the LORD.

30 "I've punished your children with no results, they have accepted no discipline. Your sword has devoured your prophets like a destroying lion."

31 "You, generation, pay attention to this message from the LORD! Am I the desert to Israel, or a land of gloom? Why do my people say, 'We're free to roam? We won't come to you anymore.'

32 Will a young woman forget her wedding ornaments, or a bride her attire? But my people have forgotten me days without number.

33 How well you perfect your techniques for seeking love. Therefore you can teach even the most immoral women your techniques.

34 On your skirts is found the lifeblood of the innocent poor, even though you didn't catch them breaking in. Yet despite all these things,

35 you say, 'I'm innocent. Surely his anger has turned away from me.'" "I'm about to bring charges against you because you say, 'I haven't sinned.'

36 Why do you go about changing your mind so much? You will also be disappointed by Egypt, just as you were disappointed by Assyria.

37 You will also go out from this place with your hands over your heads. For the LORD has rejected those in whom you trust, and you won't prosper through them."

Jeremiah 3

1 "When a man divorces his wife, she leaves him and becomes another man's wife, will the first husband return to her again? The land would be deeply polluted, would it not? Since you have committed fornication with many lovers, would you now return to me?" declares the LORD.

2 "Look up to the barren heights and see. Is there any place where you have not been ravished? You have sat beside the road, waiting for them like a nomad in the desert. And you have polluted the land with your fornication and your wickedness.

3 This is why the rain has been withheld and there are no spring showers. Yet you have a harlot's look and you refused to be ashamed.

4 Have you not just called out to me, 'My father, you are the friend of my youth —

5 will he hold on to his anger forever, will he persist in his wrath to the end?' Look, you have spoken and done evil things, and you have succeeded in it."

6 In the time of King Josiah the LORD told me, "Have you seen what unfaithful Israel did? She went up on every high hill and under every green tree, and she committed fornication there.

7 I thought, 'After she has done all these things, she will return to me.' But she didn't return, and her treacherous sister Judah saw this.

8 I saw that even though I had sent unfaithful Israel away for all her adulteries and had given her a divorce decree, her treacherous sister Judah didn't fear, and she, too, committed adultery.

9 She took her fornication so lightly that she polluted the land and committed adultery with stones and trees.

10 Yet in all this her treacherous sister Judah didn't return to me with her whole heart, but rather deceptively," declares the LORD.

11 Then the LORD told me, "Unfaithful Israel has shown herself more righteous than treacherous Judah.

12 Go, proclaim these words to the north, and say, 'Return, unfaithful Israel,' declares the LORD. 'I won't look on you in anger, for I am gracious,' declares the LORD. 'I won't remain angry forever.

13 'Only acknowledge your iniquity, that you have rebelled against the LORD your God, and have scattered your favours to strangers under every green tree. But you haven't obeyed me,' declares the LORD.

14 "Return, unfaithful people," declares the LORD, "for I am your husband. I'll take you, one from a city and two from a family, and I'll bring you to Zion.

15 I'll give you shepherds after my own heart, and they'll shepherd you with knowledge and good sense."

16 "And in those days when you increase in numbers and multiply in the land," declares the LORD, "people will no longer say, 'The Ark of the Covenant of the LORD,' and it won't come to mind, and they won't remember it or miss it, nor will it be made again.

17 At that time people will call Jerusalem "The Throne of the LORD," and all the nations will be gathered to it, to the name of the LORD, to Jerusalem. They'll no longer stubbornly follow their own evil desires.

18 In those days the house of Judah will walk with the house of Israel, and together they'll come to the land that I gave your ancestors as an inheritance."

19 "I said, 'How I wanted to treat you like children, and give you a pleasant land, the most beautiful inheritance of the nations.' I said, 'You will call me, my father, and won't turn back from following me.'

20 Instead, like an unfaithful wife leaves her husband, so you have been unfaithful to me, house of Israel," declares the LORD.

21 "A voice is heard on the barren heights, the weeping and pleading of the children of Israel because they have perverted their way. They have forgotten the LORD their God."

22 "Turn back, unfaithful people, and I'll heal your unfaithfulness."

23 Truly the hills are a deception, and the mountains are confusion. Truly, in the LORD our God is Israel's salvation."

24 Since our youth the false gods have consumed the products of our ancestors' hard work, their sheep and their cattle, their sons and their daughters.

25 "Let us lie down in our shame, and let our humiliation cover us, because both we and our ancestors have sinned against the LORD our God from our youth until this present time. We haven't obeyed the LORD our God."

Acts 4

32 Now all the believers were one in heart and soul, and nobody called any of his possessions his own. Instead, they shared everything they owned.

33 With great power the apostles continued to testify to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and abundant grace was on them all.

34 For none of them needed anything, because everyone who had land or houses would sell them and bring the money received for the things sold

35 and lay it at the apostles' feet. Then it was distributed to anyone who needed it.

36 One man, Joseph, a descendant of Levi and a native of Cyprus, who was named Barnabas by the apostles (the name means "a son of encouragement"), 37 sold a field that belonged to him and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

Acts 5

1 But a man named Ananias, with the consent of his wife Sapphira, sold some property.

2 With his wife's full knowledge he kept back some of the money for himself and brought the remainder and laid it at the apostles' feet.

3 Peter asked, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart so that you should lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back some of the money you got for the land?

4 As long as it remained unsold, wasn't it your own? And after it was sold, wasn't the money at your disposal? So how could you have thought of doing what you did? You didn't lie only to men, but also to God!"

5 When Ananias heard these words, he fell down and died. And great fear seized everyone who heard about it.

6 The young men got up, wrapped him up, carried him outside, and buried him.

7 After an interval of about three hours, Ananias' wife came in, not knowing what had happened.

8 So Peter asked her, "Tell me, did you sell the land for that price?" She answered, "Yes, that was the price."

9 "How could you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord?" Peter asked her. "Listen! The feet of the men who buried your husband are at the door, and these men will carry you outside as well."

10 She instantly fell down at Peter's feet and died. When the young men came in, they found her dead. So they carried her out and buried her next to her husband.

11 And great fear seized the whole church and everyone else who heard about this.

12 Now many signs and wonders were being performed by the apostles among the people, who were gathered together in Solomon's Colonnade.

13 None of the others dared join them, although the rest of the people continued to hold them in high regard.

14 Nevertheless, believers were being added to the Lord in increasing numbers — both men and women.

15 As a result, people kept carrying their sick into the streets and placing them on stretchers and mats so that at least Peter's shadow might fall on some of them as he went by.

16 Even from the towns around Jerusalem crowds continued coming in to bring their sick and those who were troubled by unclean spirits, and all of them were healed.

Jeremiah 4

- 1 "Israel, if you return to me," declares the LORD, "Return to me, remove your detestable idols from my presence, and don't waver.
- 2 If you swear, 'as surely as the LORD lives,' in truth, in justice, and in righteousness, then nations will be blessed by him, and in him they will boast."
- 3 For this is what the LORD says to the men of Judah and Jerusalem, "Break up your unploughed ground, and don't sow among thorns.
- 4 Circumcise yourselves to the LORD and remove the foreskin of your heart, you men of Judah and residents of Jerusalem, or else my wrath will break out like fire and burn with no one to put it out, because of your evil deeds."
- 5 Declare in Judah, make known in Jerusalem, by saying, "Blow the trumpet in the land, cry out, and say, 'Gather together and let's go to the fortified cities!'
- 6 Raise a standard in the direction of Zion. Flee! Don't stand around! For I'm bringing calamity from the north, along with great destruction.
- 7 A lion has gone up from his thicket, and a destroyer of nations has set out. He has left his place to make your land a waste. Your cities will be ruined, and without inhabitants.
- 8 So, put on sackcloth, mourn and wail, because the burning anger of the LORD has not turned away from us."
- 9 "On that day," declares the LORD, "the courage of the king and the leaders will fail. The priests will be appalled and the prophets astounded."
- 10 Then I replied, "Ah, Lord God, you have completely deceived this people and Jerusalem when you said, 'You will have peace,' while the sword is at their throat!"
- 11 At that time, it will be told this people and to Jerusalem, "A scorching wind from the barren heights in the desert is coming toward my people, and it's not for winnowing or cleansing.
- 12 A wind too strong for that is coming at my bidding. Now I'm judging them as I speak."
- 13 Look, he comes up like clouds, and his chariots are like a whirlwind. His horses are as swift as eagles. Woe to us — we're destroyed!
- 14 Jerusalem, wash your evil from your heart so that you may be delivered. How long will you harbour evil schemes within you?
- 15 For a voice announces from Dan and declares disaster from Mount Ephraim.
- 16 "Tell the nations, 'Here they come!' Proclaim to Jerusalem, 'The besieging forces are coming from a distant land. They cry out against the cities of Judah.
- 17 They have surrounded her like those guarding a field because they have rebelled against me,'" declares the LORD.
- 18 "Your lifestyles and your actions have brought these things on you. This is your calamity — it is indeed bitter, for it has reached your heart!"
- 19 "My anguish, my anguish! I writhe in pain. Oh, the aching of my heart! My heart pounds within me; I cannot keep silent. For I hear the sound of the trumpet, the alarm for war.
- 20 Disaster upon disaster is proclaimed, for the entire land is devastated. Suddenly my tent is destroyed, in a moment my curtains.
- 21 How long will I see the battle standard and hear the sound of the trumpet?
- 22 "For my people are foolish, they don't know me. They're stupid children, they have no understanding. They're skilled at doing evil, but how to do good, they don't know."
- 23 I looked at the earth, and it was formless and void, at the heavens, and there was no light there.
- 24 I looked at the mountains; they were quaking, and all the hills moved back and forth.
- 25 I looked, and no people were there. All the birds of the sky had gone.

26 I looked, and the fruitful land had become a desert. All its towns were broken down because of the LORD, because of his burning anger.

27 For this is what the LORD says: "The entire land will be devastated, but I won't completely destroy it.

28 Because of this, the land will mourn, and the heavens above will be dark. Because I have spoken and decided, I won't turn back from doing it."

29 At the sound of the horseman and the archer the entire city flees. Its residents go into the thickets and climb among the rocks. Every city is abandoned, and no one lives in them.

30 You are ruined! What are you doing dressing in scarlet, putting on golden ornaments, and highlighting your eyes with makeup? You are making yourself beautiful in vain. Your lovers reject you — they're out to kill you.

31 I heard a cry like that of a woman in labour, anguish like one giving birth to her first born, the cry of the daughter of Zion gasping for air, stretching out her hand: "Woe is me! I'm about to faint in front of killers!"

Jeremiah 5

1 Wander through the streets of Jerusalem. Look and investigate; search through her squares and see whether you find anyone — even one person there — doing justice and seeking truth. Then I'll forgive them.

2 Although they say, 'As surely as the LORD lives,' still they are swearing falsely."

3 LORD, don't your eyes look for truth? You struck them, but they didn't flinch. You brought them to an end, but they refused to receive discipline. They made their faces harder than stone, and they refused to repent.

4 Then I said, "These are only the poor, they're foolish, for they don't know the LORD's way, the requirement of their God.

5 Let me go to the leaders and speak to them. For they know the LORD's way, the requirement of their God."

6 Therefore a lion from the forest will attack them, a wolf from the desert will devastate them. A leopard is watching their towns, and everyone who goes out of them will be torn to pieces. For their transgressions are many, and their apostasies numerous.

7 Why should I forgive you? Your sons have forsaken me, and you have sworn by those who aren't gods. When I gave them enough food to satisfy them, they committed adultery and marched to the prostitute's house.

8 They were well-fed, lusty stallions, each one neighing after his neighbour's wife.

9 "Should I not punish them for these things?" asks the LORD, "And on a nation like this, should I not seek retribution?"

10 "Go through her rows of vines and destroy them, but don't completely destroy them. Strip away her branches, because they aren't the LORD's.

11 For both the house of Israel and the house of Judah have been utterly unfaithful to me," declares the LORD.

12 They have lied about the LORD by saying, 'He wouldn't do that! Disaster won't come on us. We won't see sword and famine.

13 The prophets are nothing but wind, and the word is not in them. So may the disaster happen to them!

14 Therefore, this is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies says: "Because you people have said this, my words in your mouth will become a fire and these people the wood. The fire will destroy them.

15 People of Israel, I'm now bringing a nation from far away to attack you," declares the LORD. "It is an enduring nation, an ancient nation, a nation whose language you don't know. And you won't understand what they say.

16 Their quiver is like an open grave, and all of them are powerful warriors.

17 "They'll devour your harvest and your food. They'll devour your sons and your daughters. They'll devour your vines and your fig trees. With their swords they'll batter down your fortified cities in which you trust.

18 "Yet even in those days," declares the LORD, "I won't destroy you completely.

19 When the people ask, 'Why has the LORD our God done all this to us?' you are to say to them, 'Just as you have forsaken me and served foreign gods in your land, so you will serve strangers in a land that is not yours.'"

20 "Declare this to the descendants of Jacob, and proclaim it in Judah:

21 'Hear this, you foolish and stupid people: They have eyes, but don't see; they have ears, but don't hear.

22 'You don't fear me, do you?' declares the LORD. 'You don't tremble before me, do you? I'm the one who put the sand as a boundary for the sea, a perpetual barrier that it cannot cross. Though the waves toss, they cannot prevail against it, though they roar, they cannot cross it.

23 But these people have stubborn and rebellious hearts. They have turned aside and have gone away.

24 They don't say to themselves, "Let's fear the LORD our God, who gives rain in its season, both the autumn and the spring rain. He sets aside for us the weeks appointed for the harvest."

25 'Your iniquities have turned these things away, and your sins have held back from you what is good.

26 "Evil men are found among my people. They lie in wait like someone who traps birds. They set a trap, but they do so to catch people.

27 'Like a cage full of birds, so their houses are filled with treachery. This is how they have become prominent and rich,

28 and have grown fat and sleek. There is no limit to their evil deeds. They don't argue the case of the orphan to secure justice. They don't defend the rights of the poor.

29 'Should I not punish them for this?,' asks the LORD, 'Should I not avenge myself on a nation like this?'

30 "An appalling and horrible thing has happened in the land.

31 "The prophets prophesy falsely, the priests rule by their own authority, and my people love it this way. But what will you do in the end?

Acts 5

17 Then the high priest and all those from the sect of the Sadducees who were with him were filled with jealousy. So they went out, 18 arrested the apostles, and put them in the city jail.

19 But at night the angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and led them out. The angel told them,

20 "Go, stand in the Temple, and keep on telling the people the whole message about this life they can have."

21 After the apostles heard this, they went into the Temple at daybreak and began to teach. The high priest and those who were with him arrived, called the Council and all the elders of Israel together, and sent word to the prison to have the men brought in.

22 When the Temple police got there, they did not find them in the prison. They came back and reported,

23 "We found the prison securely locked and the guards standing at the doors, but when we opened them, we found no one inside."

24 When the commander of the Temple guards and the high priests heard these words, they were utterly at a loss as to what could have happened to them.

25 Then someone came and told them, "Look! The men you put in prison are standing in the Temple and teaching the people!"

26 So the commander of the Temple guards went with his men to bring them back without force, because they were afraid of being stoned to death by the people.

27 When they brought them back, they made them stand before the Council, and the high priest began to question them.

28 He said, "We gave you strict orders not to teach in his name, didn't we? Yet you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching and are determined to bring this man's blood on us!"

29 But Peter and the apostles answered, "We must obey God rather than men.

30 The God of our ancestors raised Jesus to life after you killed him by hanging him on a tree.

31 God has exalted to his right hand this very man as our Leader and saviour in order to extend repentance and forgiveness of sins to Israel.

32 We are witnesses of these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who keep on obeying him."

33 When the Council heard this, they became furious and wanted to kill them.

34 But a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a teacher of the Law who was respected by all the people, stood up in the Council and ordered the men to be taken outside for a little while.

35 Then he told them, "Fellow Israelis, consider carefully what you propose to do to these men.

36 For in the recent past Theudas appeared, claiming that he was important, and about 400 men joined him. He was killed, and all his followers were dispersed and disappeared.

37 After that man, at the time of the census, Judas the Galilean appeared and got people to follow him. He, too, died, and all his followers were scattered.

38 "I'm telling you to keep away from these men for now. Leave them alone, because if this plan or movement is of human origin, it will fail.

39 However, if it is from God, you won't be able to stop them, and you may even discover that you are fighting against God!" So they were convinced by him.

40 After calling in the apostles and beating them, they again ordered them to stop speaking in the name of Jesus and let them go.

41 They left the Council, rejoicing to have been considered worthy to suffer dishonour for the sake of the Name.

42 Every day in the Temple and from house to house they kept teaching and proclaiming that Jesus is the Messiah.

Jeremiah 6

- 1 "Flee to safety, you people of Benjamin, leave Jerusalem. Sound the trumpet in Tekoa, and raise a signal over Beth-haccerem! For calamity and terrible destruction are turning toward you from the north.
- 2 I'll destroy the lovely and delicate Daughter of Zion.
- 3 "Shepherds and their flocks will come against her. They'll pitch their tents all around her, and every one will tend his flock in his own place.
- 4 Prepare for war against her. Get ready, let's attack at noon! How terrible for us that the day is coming to an end, and that the evening shadows are lengthening.
- 5 Get ready, let's attack at night, and destroy her fortresses."
- 6 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Cut down trees and set up siege works against Jerusalem. It is the city to be judged, and there is oppression throughout the entire city.
- 7 As a well keeps its waters fresh, so the city keeps her wickedness fresh. Violence and destruction are heard in her, sickness and wounds are always before me.
- 8 "Be warned, Jerusalem, or I'll be alienated from you. I'll make you desolate, a land not inhabited."
- 9 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Let them glean the remnant of Israel as thoroughly as they would the vine. Pass your hand over them like grape gatherers over the branches.
- 10 To whom will I speak and give a warning so they'll listen? Look, their ears are closed, and they cannot hear. Look, this message from the LORD is contemptible to them; they don't delight in it.
- 11 I'm full of the wrath of the LORD, and I'm tired of holding it back. Pour it out on the children in the street and on the groups of young men gathered together. Indeed, both husband and wife will be caught in it, the old and the very old.
- 12 "Their houses will be turned over to others — their fields and wives together — when I stretch out my hand against those who live in the land," declares the LORD.
- 13 Indeed, from the least important to the most important, they're all greedy for dishonest gain. From prophet to priest, they all act deceitfully.
- 14 They treated my people's wound superficially, telling them, 'Peace, peace,' but there is no peace.
- 15 Were they ashamed because they did what was repugnant to God? They were not ashamed at all — they don't even know how to blush! Therefore they'll fall with those who fall. When I punish them, they'll be brought down," says the LORD.
- 16 This is what the LORD says: "Stand beside the roads and watch. Ask for the ancient paths, where the good way is. Walk in it and find rest for yourselves. But they said, 'We won't walk in it!'
- 17 I appointed watchmen over you. Listen for the sound of the trumpet. But they said, 'We won't listen!'
- 18 Therefore, hear, nations, and know, congregation, what will happen to them.
- 19 Listen, earth! I'm about to bring calamity on this people, on the fruit of their plans, because they didn't listen to my words and they rejected my instruction.
- 20 What good is frankincense that comes from Sheba to me, or sweet cane from a distant country? Your burnt offerings aren't acceptable, nor are your sacrifices pleasing to me."
- 21 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: "I'm about to put stumbling blocks in front of this people, and fathers and sons will stumble over them together. The neighbour and his friends will perish."
- 22 This is what the LORD says: "Look, people are coming from a northern country. A great nation is stirring from the ends of the earth.

23 They grab bow and spear; they're cruel and show no mercy. Their sound roars like the sea as they ride on horses, deployed like men ready for battle against you, daughter of Zion."

24 We have heard the news about it, and our hands are limp. Distress has seized us like a woman in labour.

25 Don't go out into the field, and don't travel on the road, because the enemy has a sword, and terror is on every side.

26 Daughter of my people, put on sackcloth and roll in ashes. Mourn with bitter wailing, as one mourns at the death of an only son. For the destroyer will come on us suddenly.

27 "I've made you an assayer of my people, as well as a fortress. You know how to test their way."

28 All of them are very rebellious, going around as slanderers. They're bronze and iron, and all of them are corrupt.

29 The bellows blow fiercely to consume the lead with the fire. The assayer keeps on refining, but the impurities aren't separated out.

30 They're called reject silver, because the LORD has rejected them.

Jeremiah 7

1 The message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 "Stand at the gate of the LORD's Temple and proclaim this message there. Say, 'Listen to this message from the LORD, all you people of Judah who come through these gates to worship the LORD.'"

3 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Change your ways and your deeds, and I'll let you live in this place.

4 Don't trust deceptive words like these, and say, 'The Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD,'

5 but rather, truly change your ways and your deeds. If you truly practise justice between each person and his neighbour,

6 and if you don't oppress the alien, the orphan, and the widow, and don't shed an innocent person's blood in this place, and if you don't follow other gods to your own harm,

7 then I'll let you dwell in this land, the land that I gave to your ancestors forever and ever.

8 "Look, you're trusting in deceptive words that cannot benefit.

9 Will you steal, murder, commit adultery, swear by false gods, burn incense to Baal, follow other gods that you don't know,

10 and then come to stand before me in this house that is called by my name and say, 'We're delivered' so you can continue to do all these things that are repugnant to God?

11 Has this house that is called by my name become a hideout for bandits in your eyes? Look, I'm watching," declares the LORD.

12 "Go to my place that was in Shiloh, where I first caused my name to dwell. See what I did to it because of the evil of my people Israel.

13 Now, because you have done all these things," declares the LORD, "I spoke to you over and over again, but you didn't listen. I called to you, but you didn't answer.

14 Just as I did to Shiloh, I'll do to the house in which you trust and which is called by my name, the place that I gave to you and your ancestors.

15 I'll cast you out of my sight, just as I cast out all your brothers, all the descendants of Ephraim.

16 "As for you, don't pray on behalf of this people, don't cry or offer a petition for them, and don't plead with me, for I won't listen to you.

17 Don't you see what they're doing in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

18 The children gather wood, the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead dough to make cakes for the Queen of Heaven, and they pour out liquid offerings to other gods in order to provoke me.

19 Are they provoking me?" asks the LORD. "Is it not themselves, and to their own shame?"

20 Therefore, this is what the Lord GOD says: "I'm about to pour out my anger and my wrath on this place, on people and animals, on the trees of the field, and on the fruit of the ground. It will burn, and it won't be put out."

21 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices and eat the meat.

22 Indeed, when I brought your ancestors out of the land of Egypt, I didn't speak or command them about burnt offering and sacrifice,

23 but I did give them this command: Obey me and I'll be your God, and you will be my people. Walk in all the ways that I command you so it will go well for you.

24 But they didn't listen, nor did they pay attention. They pursued their own plans, stubbornly following their own evil desires. They went backward and not forward.

25 From the day your ancestors left the land of Egypt to this present time, I've sent all my servants, the prophets, to you, again and again.

26 But they didn't listen to me, and they didn't pay attention. They stiffened their necks, and they did more evil than their ancestors.

27 "You will tell them all these things, but they won't listen to you. You will call out to them, but they won't answer you.

28 You will say to them, 'This is the nation that wouldn't listen to the voice of the LORD its God and wouldn't accept correction. Truth has perished; it has been eliminated from their discussions.

29 "Cut off your hair and throw it away; let your lamentations rise on the barren heights, because the LORD has rejected and abandoned the generation that is subject to his wrath.

30 "For the people of Judah have done evil in my eyes," declares the LORD. "They have put their detestable idols in the house that is called by my name in order to defile it.

31 They have built high places at Topheth in the Valley of Ben-hinnom to burn their sons and daughters in the fire. I didn't command this, and it never entered my mind!

32 "Therefore, the time is near," declares the LORD, "when it will no longer be called Topheth or the Valley of Ben-hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter. They'll bury in Topheth because there is no other place to do it.

33 The dead bodies of these people will be food for the birds of the sky and for the animals of the land, and no one will disturb them.

34 In the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem I'll bring an end to the sound of gladness and rejoicing, to the sounds of the bridegroom and bride, for the land will become a wasteland."

Acts 6

1 In those days, as the number of the disciples was growing larger and larger, a complaint was made by the Hellenistic Jews against the Hebraic Jews that their widows were being neglected in the daily distribution of food.

2 So the Twelve called the whole group of disciples together and said, "It is not desirable for us to neglect messages from God in order to wait on tables.

3 Therefore, brothers, appoint seven men among you who have a good reputation, who are full of the Spirit and wisdom, and we will put them in charge of this work.

4 Then we will devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word."

5 This suggestion pleased the whole group. So they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and the Holy Spirit, Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicolaus, a gentile convert to Judaism from Antioch.

6 They had these men stand before the apostles, who prayed and laid their hands on them.

7 So the word of God continued to spread, and the number of disciples in Jerusalem continued to grow rapidly. Even a large number of priests became obedient to the faith.

8 Now Stephen, full of grace and power, was performing great wonders and signs among the people.

9 But some men who belonged to the Synagogue of the Freedmen (as it was called), as well as some Cyrenians, Alexandrians, and men from Cilicia and Asia, stood up and began to debate with Stephen.

10 But they could neither refute the wisdom nor withstand the Spirit by which he kept speaking.

11 So they secretly got some men to say, "We have heard him speaking blasphemous words against Moses and God."

12 They stirred up the people, the elders, and the scribes. Then they rushed at Stephen, grabbed him, and brought him before the Council.

13 They had false witnesses stand up and say, "This man never stops saying things against this Holy Place and against the Law.

14 For we have heard him say that this Jesus from Nazareth will destroy this place and change the customs that Moses handed down to us."

15 Then everyone who was seated in the Council glared at him and saw that his face was like the face of an angel.

Jeremiah 8

1 "At that time," declares the LORD, "the bones of the king of Judah, the bones of his officials, the bones of the priests, the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the residents of Jerusalem will be removed from their graves.

2 They'll be spread out to the sun, the moon, and all the stars of the heavens, which they loved and served, and which they followed, consulted, and worshipped. Their bones won't be collected, nor will they be buried. They'll be like dung on the surface of the ground.

3 "In all the places where the people remain, where I've banished them, death will be chosen over life by all the remnant that remains of this evil family," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

4 "You are to say to them, 'This is what the LORD says: Will a person fall down and then not get up? Will someone turn away and then not turn back again?

5 Why has this people turned away? Why does Jerusalem continue in apostasy? They hold on to deceit and refuse to repent.

6 I've listened and I've heard, and what they say is not right. No one repents of his evil and says, 'What have I done?' They all turn to their own course like a horse racing into battle.

7 Even the stork in the sky knows its seasons, and the dove, the swallow, and the crane observe the time for migration. But my people don't know the requirements of the LORD.

8 How can you say, 'We're wise, and the Law of the LORD is with us,' when, in fact, the deceitful pen of the scribe has made it into something that deceives.

9 The wise men will be put to shame. They'll be dismayed and taken captive. Look, they have rejected the message from the LORD! So what kind of wisdom do they have?

10 Therefore, I'll give their wives to others, and their fields to new owners. Indeed, from the least important to the most important, they're all greedy for dishonest gain. From prophet to priest, they all act deceitfully.

11 They have treated my people's wound superficially, telling them, 'Peace, peace, when there is no peace.'

12 Are they ashamed because they have done what is repugnant to God? They weren't ashamed at all; they don't even know how to blush! Therefore they'll fall with those who fall. When I punish them, they'll be brought down," says the LORD.

13 "I would have gathered them," declares the LORD, "but there were no grapes on the vine, and no figs on the fig tree, and their leaves were withered. What I've given them has been taken away.'""

14 Why are we sitting here? Join together! Let's go to the fortified cities and perish there! For the LORD our God has condemned us to perish and given us poisoned water to drink, because we have sinned against him.

15 We waited for peace, but no good has come, for a time of healing, but instead there was terror.

16 "The snorting of their horses is heard from Dan. At the neighing of their stallions, the whole earth quakes. They're coming to devour the land and all it contains, the city and all who live in it.

17 Look, I'll send snakes among you, vipers that cannot be charmed, and they'll bite you,"

18 Incurable sorrow has overwhelmed me, my heart is sick within me.

19 Listen, my people's cry from a distant land. 'Is the LORD no longer in Zion? Is her king no longer there?'

20 The harvest is past, the summer has ended, and we haven't been delivered.

21 Because my people are crushed, I'm crushed. I mourn, and dismay overwhelms me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there? So why is there no healing for my people?

Jeremiah 9

1 "Oh, that my head were a spring of water, and my eyes a fountain of tears, for then I would cry day and night for those of my people who have been killed.

2 Oh, that I had a lodging place for travellers in the desert, so that I could leave my people and go away from them. For all of them are adulterers, a band of traitors.

3 They use their tongues like a bow. Lies rather than truth fly throughout the land. They progress from one evil to another, and they don't know me," declares the LORD.

4 "Beware of your neighbours, and don't trust any of your relatives. For all of your relatives act deceitfully, and every friend goes around as a slanderer.

5 People deceive their friends, and they don't tell the truth. They have taught their tongues to tell lies. They exhaust themselves practising evil.

6 You yourself live in the midst of deception, and because they are deceived they do not know me," declares the LORD.

7 Therefore, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Look, I'm about to refine and test them. Because they're my people, what else can I do?

8 Their tongue is a deadly arrow that speaks deceit. With his mouth a person says, 'Peace,' to his friend, but inwardly he sets a trap for him.

9 Should I not punish them for these things?," asks the LORD, "and should I not avenge myself on a nation like this?"

10 I'll weep and mourn for the mountains, and lament for the desert pastures, because they are desolate and no one passes through them. They don't hear the lowing of the cattle. Both the birds of the sky and the animals have fled. They're gone!

11 "I'll make Jerusalem a heap of ruins, a refuge for jackals. I'll make the towns of Judah desolate, without inhabitants."

12 Who is the wise person who understands this, and to whom has the LORD spoken so that he may declare it? Why is the land destroyed, ruined like the desert, without anyone passing through it?

13 The LORD said, "It is because they have forsaken my Law that I gave them. They didn't obey me and didn't live according to it.

14 Instead, they followed their rebellious hearts and the Baals, as their ancestors taught them."

15 Therefore, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Look, I'll make these people eat wormwood and drink poisoned water.

16 I'll scatter them among nations that neither they nor their ancestors have known, and I'll pursue them with the sword until I've finished them off."

17 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Think about what I'm saying! Indeed, call out the professional mourners! Send for the best of them to come.

18 Let them hurry and lament for us. Let tears run down from our eyes, and let our eyelids flow with water.

19 For a sound of mourning is heard from Zion: 'How we're ruined! Our shame is very great, because we have left the land, because our houses are torn down.'"

20 "Now, you women, hear the message from the LORD; listen to what he has to say! Teach your daughters how to mourn, let every woman teach her friend how to lament.

21 For death comes up through our windows; it has come into our palaces to eliminate children from the streets and young men from the town squares.

22 Speak! 'This is what the LORD says: "The corpses of people will fall like dung on the surface of the field, and like a row of cut grain behind the harvester when there is no one to gather it.'"

23 This is what the LORD says: "The wise man is not to boast in his wisdom; the strong man is not to boast in his strength; and the rich man is not to boast in his riches.

24 Rather, let the one who boasts, boast in this: that he understands and knows me, for I am the LORD who acts with gracious love, justice, and righteousness in the land. I delight in these things," declares the LORD.

25 "Look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll punish all who are circumcised only in the flesh:

26 Egypt, Judah, Edom, the people of Ammon, Moab, all those who live in the desert and shave the corners of their beard; indeed all the other nations that are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel that is uncircumcised of heart."

Jeremiah 10

1 Hear the message that the LORD has spoken to you, house of Israel.

2 This is what the LORD says: "Don't learn the way of the nations, and don't be terrified by signs in the heavens, though the nations are terrified of them.

3 For the practices of the people are worthless. Indeed, a tree is cut down from the forest; it's the work of the hands of a craftsman with an axe.

4 They decorate it with silver and gold. They secure it with nails and hammers so it won't totter.

5 Their idols are like scarecrows in a cucumber field. They can't speak! They must always be carried because they can't walk! Don't be afraid of them because they can do no harm, nor can they do any good."

6 There is no one like you, LORD. You are great, and your name is great and powerful.

7 Who wouldn't fear you, king of the nations? This is what you deserve! Indeed, among all the wise men of the nations, and throughout all their kingdoms, there is no one like you!

8 Everyone is stupid and senseless. They follow worthless instruction from a piece of wood!

9 Beaten silver is brought from Tarshish, and gold from Uphaz. The idols are the work of a craftsman and of the hands of a goldsmith. Their clothing is violet and purple. The idols are all the work of skilled craftsmen.

10 The LORD is the true God; he's the living God and the everlasting king. At his wrath the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure his indignation.

11 Tell this to them: "The gods who didn't make the heavens and the earth will perish from the earth and from these heavens."

12 The LORD is the one who made the world by his power, who established the earth by his wisdom and stretched out the heavens by his understanding.

13 When his voice sounds there is thunder from the waters of heaven, and he makes clouds rise up from the ends of the earth. He makes lightning for the rain and brings wind out of his storehouses.

14 Everyone is stupid and without knowledge. Every goldsmith is put to shame by his idols, for his images are false. There is no life in them.

15 They're worthless, a work of mockery, and when the time of punishment comes, they'll perish.

16 The Portion of Jacob is not like these. He made everything, and Israel is the tribe of his inheritance. The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name.

Acts 7

- 1 Then the high priest asked, "Is this true?"
- 2 Stephen replied: "Listen, brothers and fathers! "The glorious God appeared to our ancestor Abraham while he was in Mesopotamia before he settled in Haran.
- 3 God told him, 'Leave your country and your relatives and go to the land I will show you.'
- 4 So he left the country of the Chaldeans and settled in Haran. Then after the death of his father, God had him move to this country where you now live.
- 5 God gave him no property here, not even a foot of land, yet he promised to give it to him and to his descendants after him as a permanent possession, even though he had no child.
- 6 "This is what God promised: His descendants would be strangers in a foreign country, and its people would enslave them and oppress them for 400 years.
- 7 'But I will punish the nation they serve,' said God, 'and afterwards they will leave and worship me in this place.'
- 8 Later, God gave Abraham the covenant of circumcision. Later, he fathered Isaac and circumcised him on the eighth day. Then Isaac fathered Jacob, and Jacob fathered the twelve patriarchs.
- 9 "Joseph's brothers became jealous of him and sold Joseph as a slave in Egypt. However, God was with him
- 10 and rescued him from all his troubles. He granted him favour and wisdom before Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who appointed him ruler of Egypt and of his whole household.
- 11 "But a famine spread throughout Egypt and Canaan, and with it great suffering, and our ancestors couldn't find any food.
- 12 But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent our ancestors on their first trip.
- 13 On their second trip, Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and Joseph introduced his family to Pharaoh.
- 14 Then Joseph invited his father Jacob and all his relatives to come to him in Egypt — 75 persons in all.
- 15 So Jacob went down to Egypt. Then he and our ancestors died.
- 16 They were brought back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that Abraham had bought at a high price from Hamor's descendants in Shechem.
- 17 "Now as the time approached for the fulfilment of the promise that God had made to Abraham, the people's population increased a great deal in Egypt.
- 18 Eventually, a different king who had not known Joseph became ruler of Egypt.
- 19 By shrewdly scheming against our people, he oppressed our ancestors and forced them to abandon their infants to the elements, so that they wouldn't live.
- 20 "At this time Moses was born. He was beautiful in the sight of God, and for three months he was cared for in his father's house.
- 21 When he was placed outside, Pharaoh's daughter adopted him and brought him up as her own son.
- 22 So Moses learned all the wisdom of the Egyptians and became a great man, both in words and in deeds.
- 23 "When he was 40 years old, he decided to visit his brothers, the descendants of Israel.
- 24 When he saw one of them being mistreated, he defended him and avenged the man who was being mistreated by killing the Egyptian.
- 25 He supposed that his brothers would understand that God was using him to rescue them, but they didn't understand.

Jeremiah 10

- 17 You who live under siege, Gather up your bundle from the ground.
- 18 For this is what the LORD says: "I'm going to throw out the inhabitants of the land at this time, and I'll bring distress on them so they'll experience it."
- 19 Woe is me because of my injury. My wound is severe. I said, "Truly this is my sickness, and I must bear it.
- 20 My tent is destroyed, and all my tent cords are broken. My sons have gone away from me, they no longer live. There is no one to pitch my tent again and set up my curtains.
- 21 Because the shepherds are stupid and don't seek the LORD, therefore they don't prosper and their flock is scattered.
- 22 The sound of a report, it's coming now! There is a great commotion from a land in the north to make the towns of Judah desolate, a refuge for jackals."
- 23 LORD, I know that a person's life is not his to control, nor does a person establish his way in life.
- 24 LORD, correct me, but with justice, not with anger. Otherwise, you'll bring me to nothing.
- 25 Pour out your anger on the nations that don't acknowledge you, and on the families that don't call on your name. For they have devoured Jacob; they have devoured and consumed him; they have devastated his habitation.

Jeremiah 11

- 1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD:
- 2 "Listen to the words of this covenant, and convey them to the people of Judah and the residents of Jerusalem.
- 3 You are to say to them, 'This is what the LORD God of Israel says: "Cursed is the person who does not listen to the words of this covenant
- 4 which I commanded to your ancestors on the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace. I said, 'Obey me and do everything that I commanded you. Then you will be my people and I'll be your God.'
- 5 As a result, I'll fulfil the oath that I made with your ancestors to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, just as is the case today.'"" Then I answered, "So be it, LORD."
- 6 The LORD told me, "Proclaim all these words in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. You are to say, 'Listen to the words of this covenant and do them.
- 7 For I've diligently warned your ancestors from the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt until now, regularly warning them, saying, "Obey me!"
- 8 But they would not listen or turn their ear, and each of them stubbornly followed his own evil desires. So I brought on them all the consequences of this covenant that I commanded them to fulfil, but they did not."
- 9 The LORD told me, "Conspiracy has been found among the people of Judah and the residents of Jerusalem.
- 10 They have turned back to the iniquities of their ancestors of old who refused to listen to my words. They followed other gods to serve them. The house of Israel and the house of Judah broke my covenant which I made with their ancestors."
- 11 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: "I'm about to bring disaster on them from which they won't be able to escape. They'll cry out to me, but I won't listen to them.
- 12 The towns of Judah and the residents of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn incense, but they'll be no help at all to them in the time of their disaster.
- 13 Judah, you have as many gods as you have towns, and you have set up as many altars to the shameful idols as there are streets in Jerusalem. You burn incense to Baal on these altars.

14 "Jeremiah, don't pray for this people and don't cry or pray for them. I won't listen when they cry out to me because of their disaster.

15 "What right does my beloved have in my house, when she has carried out many evil schemes? Can sacrificial flesh turn disaster away from you, so you can rejoice?"

16 The LORD once called you a green olive tree, with beautiful shape and fruit. With a great roaring sound, he has set fire to it and its branches will be destroyed.

17 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies who planted you has called for disaster on you because of the evil of the house of Israel and the house of Judah, which have provoked me by burning incense to Baal."

18 The LORD made it known to me, and so I understood. Then you showed me their malicious deeds.

19 I was like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter. I didn't know that they had devised schemes against me. They told themselves, "Let's destroy the tree with its fruit. Let's eliminate him from the land of the living, so his name won't be remembered again."

20 LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the righteous judge, the one who tests feelings and the heart, let me see your vengeance on them, for I've committed my cause to you.

21 Therefore, this is what the LORD says about the men of Anathoth who seek to kill you, all the while threatening you, "Don't prophesy in the name of the LORD so you won't die by our hand!"

22 Therefore, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "I'm about to punish them. The young men will die by the sword. Their sons and daughters will die by famine.

23 Not one of them will be left, for I'll bring disaster on the men of Anathoth when I punish them."

Jeremiah 12

1 You are righteous, LORD, even when I bring a complaint to you. But I want to discuss justice with you. Why does the way of the wicked prosper, while all who are treacherous are at ease?

2 You plant them and they take root, they grow and bear fruit. "You are near to us," they say with their mouths, but the truth is that you're far from their hearts.

3 You know me, LORD. You see me and test my thoughts toward you. Pull the wicked out like sheep for slaughter; set them apart for the day of butchering.

4 How long will the land mourn and the vegetation of every field dry up? Because of the wickedness of those who live in it, animals and birds are swept away. For they say, "He does not see our future."

5 Indeed, if you run with others on foot, and they tire you out, how can you compete with horses? You are secure in a land at peace, but how will you do in the thicket of the Jordan?

6 Indeed, even your brothers and your father's family conspire against you. Even they cry out after you loudly. Don't believe them, even though they speak friendly words to you.

7 I'll forsake my house, I'll abandon my inheritance. I'll give the beloved of my heart into the hand of her enemies.

8 My inheritance has become like a lion in the forest to me. She roars at me; therefore, I hate her.

9 Is my inheritance like a speckled bird of prey to me? Are the other birds of prey all around her coming against her? Go, gather all the wild animals and bring them to devour it.

10 Many shepherds will destroy my vineyard. They'll trample down my portion. They'll turn my pleasant portion into a desolate desert.

11 They'll make it into a desolate place, and, desolate, it will cry out in mourning to me. The whole land will be desolate because no one takes it to heart.

12 On all the barren heights in the desert destroyers will come. Indeed, a sword of the LORD will devour from one end of the land to the other. There will be no peace for any person.

13 They have sown wheat, but they have harvested thorns. They have tired themselves out, but they don't show a profit. Now be disappointed about your harvest because of the fierce anger of the LORD.

14 This is what the LORD says about all the wicked neighbours who strike out against the land I've given to my people Israel as their inheritance. "I'm about to uproot them from their land, and I'll uproot the house of Judah from among them.

15 After I've uprooted them I'll again have compassion on them. I'll return each one of them to his inheritance, and each one to his own land.

16 If they have learned the ways of my people well, to swear by my name: 'As surely as the LORD lives,' just as they once taught my people to swear by Baal, then they'll be built up among my people.

17 But if they don't listen, then I'll completely uproot that nation and destroy it," declares the LORD.

Jeremiah 13

1 This is what the LORD told me: "Go and buy a linen belt for yourself, and put it around your waist. But don't let it get wet."

2 So I bought the belt according to the LORD's instruction, and put it around my waist.

3 Then this message from the LORD came to me a second time:

4 Take the belt that you bought and that is around your waist. Get up and go to the Euphrates, and hide it there in a crevice in the rock."

5 So I went and hid it at the Euphrates, just as the LORD had commanded me.

6 After a long time, the LORD told me, "Arise, go to the Euphrates, and get the belt that I commanded you to hide there."

7 I went to the Euphrates and dug it up. I got the belt from the place where I had hidden it. The belt was ruined! It was not good for anything.

8 Then this message from the LORD came to me:

9 "This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way I'll ruin the pride of Judah and the pride of Jerusalem.

10 This evil people that refuses to listen to my words, that stubbornly pursues their own desires, and that follows other gods to serve and worship them, will be like this belt that is not good for anything.

11 For just as the belt clings tightly to a person's waist, so I've made all the people of Israel and all the people of Judah cling tightly to me,' declares the LORD. 'I did this so that they would be my people, name, praise, and glory. But they wouldn't listen.'

12 "This is what you're to tell them: 'This is what the LORD God of Israel says: "Every wineskin is to be filled with wine.'" When they say to you, 'Don't we know very well that every wineskin is to be filled with wine?'

13 then say to them, 'This is what the LORD says: "I'm about to make all the inhabitants of this land drunk — the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all the residents of Jerusalem.

14 I'll smash them against each other, even fathers against their sons," declares the LORD. "I'll have no pity, mercy, or compassion when I destroy them.'"

Acts 7

26 The next day he presented himself to some of them while they were fighting and tried to reconcile them. He said, 'Men, you are brothers. Why should you be hurting another?'

27 "But the man who was harming his neighbour pushed Moses away and said, 'Who made you ruler and judge over us?'

28 You don't want to kill me like you killed the Egyptian yesterday, do you?'

29 Because of this, Moses fled and lived as a foreigner in the land of Midian. There he had two sons.

30 "After 40 years had passed, an angel appeared to him in the flames of a burning bush in the desert near Mount Sinai.

31 When Moses saw it, he was amazed at the sight, and when he approached the bush to look at it, the voice of the Lord said,

32 'I am the God of your ancestors — the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.' Moses became terrified and didn't dare to look.

33 Then the Lord told him, 'Remove your sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy ground.

34 I have surely seen the oppression of my people in Egypt and have heard their groans, and I have come down to rescue them. Now come, I will send you to Egypt.'

35 "This same Moses — whom they rejected by saying 'Who made you ruler and judge?' — was the man whom God sent to be both their ruler and deliverer with the help of the angel who had appeared to him in the bush.

36 It was he who led them out, performing wonders and signs in Egypt, at the Red Sea, and in the wilderness for 40 years.

37 It was this Moses who told the Israelis, 'God will raise up a prophet for you from among your own brothers, just as he did me.'

38 This Moses is the one who was in the assembly in the wilderness with the angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai and to our ancestors. He received living truths to give to us, 39 but our ancestors refused to obey him. Instead, they rejected him and wished to return to Egypt.

40 They told Aaron, 'Make gods for us who will lead us. This Moses who led us out of the land of Egypt — we don't know what happened to him!'

41 "At that time they even made a calf to be their idol, offered a sacrifice to it, and delighted in what they had made with their hands.

42 So God turned away from them and gave them over to worship the heavenly bodies. As it is written in the book of the Prophets: 'O house of Israel, you didn't offer me slaughtered animals and sacrifices those 40 years in the wilderness, did you?'

43 You even took along the tent of Moloch, the star of your god Rephan, and the images you made in order to worship them. So I will take you into exile as far as Babylon.'

44 "Our ancestors had the Tent of Testimony in the wilderness constructed, just as the one who spoke to Moses directed him to make it according to the pattern he had seen.

45 Our ancestors brought it here with Joshua when they replaced the nations that God drove out in front of our ancestors, and it was here until the time of David.

46 He found favour with God and asked to design a dwelling for the house of Jacob, 47 but it was Solomon who built a house for him.

48 However, the Most High does not live in buildings made by human hands. As the prophet says,

49 "'Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. What kind of house can you build for me,' declares the Lord, 'or what place is there in which I can rest?'

50 It was my hand that made all these things, wasn't it?'"

Jeremiah 13

15 Listen and pay attention! Don't be proud, for the LORD has spoken.

16 Give glory to the LORD your God before he brings darkness, before your feet stumble on the mountains at twilight. You hope for light, but he turns it into deep darkness. He changes it into heavy gloom.

17 If you don't listen, I'll cry secretly because of your pride. My eyes will cry bitterly, flowing tears, because the LORD's flock has been taken captive.

18 Say to the king and the queen mother, "Come take a lowly seat, because your beautiful crowns have fallen off your heads."

19 The towns in the Negev will be closed up, and there will be no one to open them. All Judah will be taken into exile and be completely exiled.

20 "Look up and see those who are coming from the north. Where is the flock that was given to you — your beautiful sheep?

21 What will you say when the LORD appoints over you as your head those whom you taught to be your allies? Pain will seize you like that seizing a woman about to give birth, will it not?

22 When you say to yourselves, 'Why have all these things happened to me?' It's because of the extent of your iniquity that your skirt has been lifted up, and your heels have suffered violence.

23 Can an Ethiopian change his skin, or a leopard his spots? Then you who are trained to do evil will also be able to do good.

24 I'll scatter them like chaff blown away by a desert wind.

25 "This is your fate, the portion I've measured out for you," declares the LORD, "because you have forgotten me and have trusted in false gods.

26 I'll also pull your skirt up over your face, so your shame will be seen,

27 I've seen your detestable behaviour: your adulteries, your passionate neighing, your lewd immorality on the hills in the field. How terrible it will be for you, Jerusalem! You are unclean. How much longer will this go on?"

Jeremiah 14

1 This is this message from the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the drought:

2 "Judah mourns, and her gates languish. The people mourn for the land, and the cry of Jerusalem goes up.

3 Their nobles send their young people for water. They go to the cisterns, but they find no water. They return with their vessels empty. They're disappointed and dismayed, and they cover their heads in shame.

4 The ground is cracked, because there has been no rain in the land. The farmers are disappointed, and they cover their heads in shame.

5 Even the doe in the field gives birth and then abandons her young because there is no grass.

6 Wild donkeys stand on the barren hills. They pant for air like jackals. Their eyesight fails because there is no vegetation."

7 LORD, even though our iniquities testify against us, do something for the sake of your name. Indeed, our apostasies are many, and we have sinned against you.

8 Hope of Israel, its deliverer in time of trouble, why are you like a stranger in the land, like a traveller who sets up his tent for a night?

9 Why are you like a man taken by surprise, like a strong man who can't deliver? You are among us, LORD, and your name is the one by which we're called. Don't abandon us!

10 This is what the LORD says to these people: "Yes, they do love to wander, and they haven't restrained their feet. So the LORD won't accept them now. He will remember their iniquity and punish their sin."

11 Then the LORD told me, "Don't pray for the welfare of these people.

12 Although they fast, I won't listen to their cry, and although they offer burnt offerings and grain offerings, I won't accept them. Instead, I'll put an end to them with the sword, with famine, and with a plague."

13 Then I said, "Ah, Lord God, look! The prophets are saying to them, 'You won't see the sword and you won't experience famine. Rather, I'll give you lasting peace in this place.'"

14 Then the LORD told me, "The prophets are prophesying lies in my name. I didn't send them, I didn't command them, and I didn't speak to them. They're proclaiming to you false visions, worthless predictions, and the delusions of their own minds.

15 Therefore, this is what the LORD says about the false prophets who prophesy in my name, 'There will be no sword and famine in this land' (though I haven't sent them): 'By the sword and by famine these prophets will be finished off!

16 The people to whom they have prophesied will be thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword. There will be no one to bury them, their wives, their sons, or their daughters. I'll pour out on them the judgement they deserve."

17 "And deliver this message to them: 'Let tears run down my face, night and day, and don't let them stop, because my virgin daughter — my people — will be broken with a powerful blow, with a severe wound.

18 If I go out into the field, I see those slain by the sword! If I go into the city, I see the ravages of the famine! Indeed, both prophet and priest ply their trade in the land, but they don't know anything."

19 Have you completely rejected Judah? Do you despise Zion? Why have you struck us, so that there is no healing for us? We hoped for peace, but no good came, for a time of healing, but there was only terror.

20 We acknowledge, LORD, our wickedness, the guilt of our ancestors. Indeed, we have sinned against you.

21 For the sake of your name don't despise us. Don't dishonour your glorious throne. Remember, don't break your covenant with us!

22 Can any of the worthless gods of the nations make it rain? Can the heavens themselves bring forth showers? Aren't you the one who does this, LORD our God? So we hope in you, for you are the one who does all these things.

Jeremiah 15

1 Then the LORD told me, "Even if Moses and Samuel were standing before me, I wouldn't be favourably disposed toward this people. Send them out of my presence! Let them go!

2 "When they say to you, 'Where can we go?', say to them, 'This is what the LORD says: "Those destined for death, to death will go; those destined for the sword, to the sword will go; and those destined for captivity, to captivity will go.

3 "I'll appoint four kinds of judgement for them," declares the LORD: "the sword to kill, the dogs to drag off, the birds of the sky to devour, and the animals of the land to destroy.

4 I'll make them a horrifying sight to all the kingdoms of the earth because of what Hezekiah's son Manasseh, king of Judah, did in Jerusalem.

5 "Who will have pity on you, Jerusalem, and who will grieve for you? Who will go out of his way to ask about your welfare?

6 You have deserted me," declares the LORD. "You keep going backward. I'll reach out my hand and destroy you. I'm tired of showing compassion.

7 I'll winnow them with a winnowing fork in the gates of the land. I'll make them childless. I'll destroy my people, for they didn't change their ways.

8 I'll make their widows more numerous than the sand of the sea. At noontime I'll send a destroyer against the mother of a young man. I'll cause terror and anguish to come to her unexpectedly.

9 "The woman who gave birth to seven will grow faint, her life will expire. Her sun will set while it's still day. She will be disgraced and humiliated. I'll kill the rest of them with swords in the presence of their enemies," declares the LORD.

10 How terrible for me, my mother, that you gave birth to me, a man of strife and contention for the whole land! I've neither lent nor borrowed, yet everyone curses me.

11 The LORD said, "Have I not set you free for a good purpose? Have I not intervened for you with your enemies in times of trouble and times of distress?"

12 "Can anyone break iron — iron from the north — or bronze?"

13 "I'll give away your wealth and your treasures as plunder, for free, because of all your sins throughout your territory.

14 I'll make you serve your enemies in a land you don't know, for my anger has started a fire that will burn against you."

15 You are aware — LORD, remember me, pay attention to me, and vindicate me in front of those who pursue me. You are patient — don't take me away. Know that I suffer insult because of you!

16 Your words were found, and I consumed them. Your words were joy and my heart's delight, because I bear your name, LORD God of the Heavenly Armies.

17 I didn't sit in the company of those who have fun, and I didn't rejoice. Because of your hand on me, I sat alone, for you filled me with indignation.

18 Why is my pain unending and my wound incurable, refusing to be healed?

19 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: "If you repent, I'll take you back and you will stand before me. If you speak what is worthwhile, instead of what is worthless, then you will be my spokesman. People will turn to you, but you aren't to turn to them.

20 I'll make you a fortified wall of bronze to this people. They'll fight against you, but they won't prevail against you, for I am with you to save you and deliver you,"

21 So I'll deliver you from the hand of the wicked, and redeem you from the grasp of the ruthless."

Jeremiah 16

1 This message from the LORD came to me:

2 "You are not to take a wife, nor are you to have sons or daughters in this place."

3 For this is what the LORD says about the sons and daughters who are born in this place, about their mothers who give birth to them, and about their fathers who father them in this land:

4 "They'll die of deadly diseases. People won't mourn for them, nor will they be buried. They'll be dung on the surface of the ground, and they'll come to an end with the sword and with famine. Their dead bodies will be food for the birds of the sky and the animals of the land."

5 For this is what the LORD says: "Don't go to a house where there is mourning, don't go to lament, nor to express sorrow to them. For I've taken my peace away from this people," declares the LORD, "as well as gracious love and compassion.

6 Both the most and the least important people will die in this land, and they won't be buried. People won't mourn for them. They won't cut themselves, nor will they shave their heads for them.

7 They won't break bread for the mourner to be consoled for the dead. They won't give anyone the cup of consolation to drink for his father or mother.

8 Don't go to a banquet to sit with people to eat and drink."

9 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "In this place I'm about to bring an end to the sounds of happiness and rejoicing, the sounds of the bridegroom and the bride. I'll do it in front of your eyes and in your time.

Acts 7

51 "You stubborn people with uncircumcised hearts and ears! You are always opposing the Holy Spirit, just as your ancestors used to do.

52 Which of the prophets did your ancestors fail to persecute? They killed those who predicted the coming of the Righteous One, and now you have become his betrayers and murderers.

53 You received the Law as ordained by angels, and yet you haven't obeyed it!"

54 While they were listening to these things, they became more and more furious and began to grind their teeth at him.

55 But Stephen, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked straight into heaven and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at the right hand of God.

56 He said, "Look! I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!"

57 But they shouted out loud, stopped listening, and together they all rushed at him, 58 ran him outside of the city, and began to stone him to death. Meanwhile, the witnesses laid their coats at the feet of a young man named Saul.

59 As they continued to stone Stephen, he kept praying, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit!"

60 Then he knelt down and cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, don't hold this sin against them!" After he had said this, he died.

Acts 8

1 Now Saul heartily approved of putting Stephen to death. That day a severe persecution broke out against the church in Jerusalem, and everyone except for the apostles was scattered throughout the countryside of Judea and Samaria.

2 Devout men buried Stephen as they mourned loudly for him.

3 But Saul kept trying to destroy the church. Going into one house after another, he began dragging off men and women and throwing them in prison.

4 Now those who were scattered went from place to place preaching the word.

5 Philip went down to the city of Samaria and began to preach the Messiah to the people.

6 The crowds, hearing his message and seeing the signs that he was doing, paid close attention to what was said by Philip.

7 Unclean spirits screamed with a loud voice as they came out of the many people they had possessed, and many paralyzed and lame people were healed.

8 As a result, there was great rejoicing in that city.

9 Now in that city there was a man named Simon. He was practising occult arts and thrilling the people of Samaria, claiming to be someone great.

10 Everyone from the least to the greatest paid close attention to him, saying, "This is what we call the great power of God!"

11 They paid careful attention to him because he had thrilled them for a long time with his occult performances.

12 But when Philip proclaimed the good news about the kingdom of God and about the name of Jesus the Messiah, men and women believed and were baptized.

13 Even Simon believed, and after he was baptized he became devoted to Philip. He was amazed to see the signs and great miracles that were happening.

Jeremiah 16

10 "When you speak all these words to this people, they'll say to you, 'Why has the LORD pronounced all this disaster against us? What is our iniquity, and what is the sin that we have committed against the LORD our God?'

11 Then say to them, 'It is because your ancestors abandoned me,' declares the LORD. 'They followed other gods, served them, worshipped them, abandoned me, and didn't keep my Law.

12 You have done even more evil than your ancestors, and each one of you is stubbornly following his own evil desires, refusing to listen to me.

13 I'll throw you out of this land into a land neither you nor your ancestors have known. There you will serve other gods day and night, and I'll show you no favour.'

14 "Therefore, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when it will no longer be said, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought up the Israelis from the land of Egypt.'

15 Rather it will be said, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelis up from the land of the north and from all the lands to which the LORD had banished them.' I'll bring them back to their land, which I gave to their ancestors.

16 "I'm about to send many fishermen, declares the LORD, and they'll catch them. Afterwards, I'll send for many hunters and they'll hunt for them on every mountain and hill and in the crevices of the rocks.

17 For I am watching all their ways; they are not hidden from my sight. Their iniquity is not concealed from my eyes.

18 First I'll repay them double for their iniquity and their sin, because they have polluted my land with the dead bodies of their detestable images, and they have filled my inheritance with their abominations."

19 LORD, my strength and my stronghold, my refuge in a time of difficulty, to you the nations will come, and from the ends of the earth they'll say, "Surely our ancestors inherited deception, things that are worthless, and in which there is no profit."

20 Can a person make a god for himself? They are not gods!

21 Therefore, I'm about to make them understand; this time I'll make them understand my power and strength, so they'll understand that my name is the LORD.

Jeremiah 17

1 The sin of Judah is engraved with an iron stylus. It is inscribed with a diamond point on the tablet of their heart and on the horns of their altars.

2 When their sons remember, they remember their altars and their Asherah poles beside green trees on the high hills.

3 My mountain in the field, your wealth and your treasures I'll give as spoil; along with your high places as the price of your sin throughout your territory.

4 You will let go of your inheritance which I gave you, and I'll make you serve your enemies in a land that you don't know. For with my anger you have started a fire that will burn forever.

5 This is what the LORD says: "Cursed is the person who trusts in mankind, who makes flesh his strength, and whose heart turns away from the LORD.

6 He will be like a bush in the desert, and he won't see when good comes. He will dwell in parched places in the wilderness, a land of salt, without inhabitants.

7 Blessed is the person who trusts in the LORD, making the LORD his trust.

8 He will be like a tree planted by the water that sends out its roots by a stream. He won't fear when the heat comes, and his leaves will be green. In a year of drought he won't be concerned, nor will he stop producing fruit."

9 "The heart is more deceitful than anything. It is incurable — who can know it?

10 I am the LORD who searches the heart, who tests the inner depths to give to each person according to what he deserves, according to the fruit of his deeds.

11 As a partridge gathers together eggs that it didn't lay, so is a person who amasses wealth unjustly. In the middle of his life it will leave him, and in the end he will prove to be a fool.

12 A glorious throne exalted from the beginning is the place of our sanctuary.

13 LORD, you are the hope of Israel; all who forsake you will be put to shame. Those who turn aside from you will be written in the dust, because they have forsaken the LORD, the spring of living water.

14 Heal me, LORD, and I'll be healed; deliver me, and I'll be delivered, because you are my praise.

15 Look, they're saying to me, "Where is the message from the LORD? Let it come about!"

16 I haven't run away from being your shepherd, and I haven't longed for the day of sickness. You know what comes out from my lips, it's open before you.

17 Don't be a terror to me. You are my refuge in a day of trouble.

18 Let those who pursue me be put to shame, but don't put me to shame. Let them be terrified, but don't let me be terrified. Bring the day of judgement on them, and destroy them with double destruction!

19 The LORD told me, "Go, stand in the gate of the people, where the kings of Judah come in and go out, and in the other gates of Jerusalem as well.

20 Say to them, 'Kings of Judah, all Judah, and all the residents of Jerusalem entering these gates, hear this message from the LORD.

21 This is what the LORD says: "Be careful! On the Sabbath day, don't carry any load or bring anything through the gates of Jerusalem.

22 Don't bring any load out of your houses on the Sabbath day, nor are you to do any work. You are to consecrate the Sabbath day, just as I commanded your ancestors.

23 But they didn't listen, nor did they pay attention. They were determined not to listen and not to accept instruction.

24 If you listen to me carefully," declares the LORD, "and don't bring a load through the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, and you consecrate the Sabbath day and don't do any work on it,

25 then kings and princes, sitting on the throne of David will come through the gates of this city. They, their princes, the men of Judah, and the residents of Jerusalem will come riding in chariots and on horses, and this city will be inhabited forever.

26 They'll come from the cities of Judah, from the places around Jerusalem, from the territory of Benjamin, from the Shephelah, from the hill country, and from the Negev, bringing burnt offerings, sacrifices, grain offerings, and incense, and bringing thanksgiving offerings to the LORD's Temple.

27 But if you don't listen to me, to consecrate the Sabbath day and not carry any load as you enter the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I'll start a fire in its gates. It will consume the palaces of Jerusalem and won't be extinguished.'"

Jeremiah 18

1 The message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 "Arise and go down to the potter's house, and there I'll allow you to hear my words."

3 So I went down to the potter's house, and there he was doing work at the potter's wheel.

4 But the vessel he was working on with the clay was ruined in the potter's hand. So he remade it into another vessel that seemed appropriate to him.

5 Then this message from the LORD came to me:

6 "Israel, can't I deal with you like this potter?" declares the LORD. "Look, Israel, like clay in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand."

7 At one moment I may speak about a nation or a kingdom to uproot it, pull it down, or destroy it.

8 But if that nation about which I spoke turns from its evil way, I'll change my mind about the disaster that I had planned for it.

9 At another moment I may speak about a nation or kingdom to build it or plant it.

10 But if that nation does evil in my eyes by not obeying me, I'll change my mind about the good that I said I would bring on it.

11 "Now say to the people of Judah and to the residents of Jerusalem, 'This is what the LORD says: "Look, I'm designing a disaster just for you, and I'm making plans against you. Each one of you must repent from his evil way. Make your ways and deeds right.'"

12 But they'll say, 'It's useless! We will follow our plans and each of us will pursue his own evil desires.'

13 "Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'Ask the nations. Who has ever heard of anything like this? You have done a most horrible thing, virgin Israel.

14 Does the snow of Lebanon ever vanish from its rocky slopes? Or does the cold water from a foreign land ever cease to flow?

15 Yet my people have forgotten me, and they burn incense to worthless idols that make them stumble in their journey on the ancient paths. They walk on trails, on a way that is not built up.

16 They make their land into a desolate place, an object of lasting scorn. All who pass by will be appalled and will shake their heads.

17 'Like the east wind, I'll scatter them before the enemy. I'll show them my back and not my face, on the day of their downfall.'"

18 Then they said, "Come, let's make up a plot against Jeremiah. After all, the priest's instruction, the wise man's counsel, and the prophet's message won't be destroyed. So let's verbally attack him. Pay no attention to anything he says!"

19 LORD, pay attention to me. Listen to the voice of my accusers!

20 Should good be repaid with evil? Yet they have dug a pit to take my life. Remember! I stood before you and spoke good on their behalf in order to turn your wrath away from them.

21 Therefore, make their children undergo famine, and deliver them over to death in time of war. May their women be childless widows! May their men be slaughtered! May their young men be slain by the sword in battle!

22 Let a cry be heard from their houses because you have brought a raiding party against them suddenly. For they have dug a pit to capture me and have set traps for my feet.

23 But you, LORD, know all their plots to kill me. Don't forgive their iniquity, and don't erase their sin from your sight. Let them stumble before you. When it's time for you to be angry, act against them!

Acts 8

14 Now when the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaritans had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them.

15 They went down and prayed for them to receive the Holy Spirit.

16 Before this he had not come on any of them. They had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then Peter and John laid their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

18 Now when Simon saw that the Spirit was given through the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money

19 and said, "Give me this power too, so that when I lay my hands on someone, he will receive the Holy Spirit."

20 But Peter told him, "May your money perish with you because you thought you could obtain God's free gift with money!

21 You have no part or share in what we're saying, because your heart isn't right with God.

22 So repent of this wickedness of yours, and pray to the Lord that, if possible, your heart's intent may be forgiven you.

23 For I see that you're being poisoned by bitterness and you're a prisoner of wickedness!"

24 Simon answered, "Both of you pray to the Lord for me that none of the things you have said will happen to me."

25 After they had given their testimony and spoken the word of the Lord, they started back to Jerusalem, continuing to proclaim the good news in many Samaritan villages.

26 Now an angel of the Lord told Philip, "Get up and go south on the road that leads from Jerusalem to Gaza. This is a deserted road."

27 So he got up and went. Now there was an Ethiopian eunuch, who was a member of the court of Candace, queen of the Ethiopians. He was in charge of all her treasures and had come up to Jerusalem to worship.

28 Now he was returning home, seated in his chariot, and reading from the prophet Isaiah.

29 The Spirit told Philip, "Approach that chariot and stay near it."

30 So Philip ran up to it and heard him reading the prophet Isaiah out loud. Philip asked, "Do you understand what you're reading?"

31 The man replied, "How can I unless someone guides me?" So he invited Philip to get in and sit with him.

32 This was the passage of Scripture he was reading: "Like a sheep he was led away to be slaughtered, and like a lamb is silent before its shearer, so he does not open his mouth.

33 In his humiliation, justice was denied him. Who can describe his descendants? For his life is taken away from the earth."

34 The eunuch asked Philip, "I ask you, who is the prophet talking about? Himself? Or someone else?"

35 Then Philip began to speak, and, starting from this Scripture, he told him the good news about Jesus.

36 As they were going along the road, they came to some water. The eunuch said, "Look, there's some water. What keeps me from being baptized?"

38 So he ordered the chariot to stop, and Philip and the eunuch both went down into the water, and Philip baptized him.

39 When they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord snatched Philip away. The eunuch went on his way rejoicing and did not see Philip again.

40 But Philip found himself at Azotus. As he was passing through that region, he kept proclaiming the good news in all the towns until he came to Caesarea.

Jeremiah 19

- 1 This is what the LORD says: "Go and buy a potter's clay jug. Take along some of the elders of the people and some of the elders of the priests.
- 2 Go out to the Valley of Hinnom at the entrance to the Potsherd Gate, and there proclaim the words that I'm telling you.
- 3 "You are to say, 'Hear this message from the LORD, you kings of Judah and residents of Jerusalem! "'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "I'm about to bring a disaster on this place that will make the ears of all who hear about it tingle.
- 4 For they have forsaken me and have treated this place as foreign. In it they have burned incense to other gods that neither they, their ancestors, nor the kings of Judah knew. They have also filled this place with the blood of innocent people.
- 5 They built the high places for Baal to burn their children in the fire as a burnt offering to Baal — something I didn't command, didn't say, nor did it ever enter my mind!
- 6 ""Therefore, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when this place will no longer be called Topheth, or the Valley of Hinnom, but rather the Valley of Slaughter.
- 7 I'll shatter the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, and I'll make them fall by the sword before their enemies and at the hands of those seeking their lives. I'll give their dead bodies as food to the birds of the sky and to the animals of the land.
- 8 I'll make this city into a desolate place and an object of scorn. All who pass by it will be astonished and will scoff because of all its wounds.
- 9 I'll cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and daughters, and people will eat the flesh of their neighbours in the siege and in the distress to which their enemies and those seeking their lives will subject them.""
- 10 "Then you are to break the jug in front of the men who have come with you,
- 11 and say to them, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "In this same way I'll break this people and this city, just as someone breaks a potter's vessel which he then cannot put back together again. They'll bury corpses in Topheth until there is no more room to bury anyone.
- 12 This is what I'll do to this place and its residents," declares the LORD, "making this city like Topheth.
- 13 The houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah will be polluted like Topheth, as will be all the houses on whose roofs people burned incense to all the host of heaven and poured out liquid offerings to other gods.""
- 14 Then Jeremiah went from Topheth where the LORD had sent him to prophesy. He stood in the courtyard of the LORD's Temple, saying to all the people,
- 15 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'I'm about to bring on this city and all its towns all the disaster that I declared against it because they were determined not to obey my message.'"

Jeremiah 20

- 1 When the priest Pashhur, Immer's son, who was the officer in charge of the LORD's Temple heard Jeremiah prophesying these words,
- 2 Pashhur struck Jeremiah the prophet and put him in the stocks that were at the upper Benjamin Gate of the Temple.
- 3 The next day Pashhur released Jeremiah from the stocks, and Jeremiah told him, "The LORD has not named you Pashhur, but rather Magor-missaviv.
- 4 For this is what the LORD says: 'Look, I'm going to make you a terror to yourself and to all your loved ones. They'll fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes will see it. I'll give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon. He will take them into exile to Babylon, and he will execute them with swords.

5 I'll turn over all the wealth of this city, all its possessions, all its valuables, and all the treasures of the kings of Judah right into the hands of their enemies, and they'll plunder them, capture them, and take them to Babylon.

6 You, Pashhur, and all those living in your house will go into captivity. You will go to Babylon and there you will die. There you and all your loved ones to whom you have falsely prophesied will be buried."

7 You deceived me, LORD, and I've been deceived. You overpowered me, and you prevailed. I've become a laughing stock all day long, and everyone mocks me.

8 Indeed, as often as I speak, I cry out, and shout, "Violence and destruction!" For this message from the LORD has caused me constant reproach and derision.

9 When I say, "I won't remember the LORD, nor will I speak in his name anymore, then there is this burning fire in my heart. It is bound up in my bones, I grow weary of trying to hold it in, and I cannot do it!

10 Indeed, I hear many people whispering, "Terror on every side. Denounce him, let's denounce him!" All my close friends watch my steps and say, "Perhaps he will be deceived, and we can prevail against him and take vengeance on him."

11 But the LORD is with me like a fearsome warrior. Therefore, those who pursue me will stumble and won't prevail. They'll be put to great shame, when they don't succeed. Their everlasting disgrace won't be forgotten.

12 LORD of the Heavenly Armies, who tests the righteous, who sees the inner motives and the heart, let me see you take vengeance on them, for I've committed my case to you.

13 Sing to the LORD, give praise to the LORD! For he saves the life of the poor from the hand of the wicked.

14 Let the day on which I was born be cursed. Don't let the day on which my mother gave birth to me be blessed.

15 Cursed is the person who brought the good news to my father, "A baby boy has been born to you," making him very happy.

16 May that man be like the cities that the LORD overthrew without compassion. Let him hear a cry in the morning, and a battle cry at noon, 17 because he didn't kill me in the womb, so that my mother would have been my grave and her womb forever pregnant.

18 Why did I ever come out of the womb to see trouble and sorrow, and to finish my life living in shame?

Jeremiah 21

1 The message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah sent to him Malchijah's son Pashhur and Maaseiah's son Zephaniah the priest:

2 Please inquire of the LORD on our behalf, for Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon is fighting against us. Perhaps the LORD will do some of his miraculous acts for us, and Nebuchadnezzar will depart from us."

3 Jeremiah told them, "This is what you are to say to Zedekiah,

4 'This is what the LORD God of Israel says: "I'm about to turn against you the weapons of war that are in your hands and with which you are fighting the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans who are besieging you outside the walls. I'll gather them into the centre of this city.

5 Because of my anger, wrath, and great fury, I'll fight against you myself with an outstretched hand and a strong arm.

6 I'll strike down the residents of this city, both people and animals, and they'll die from a terrible plague.

7 Afterwards," declares the LORD, "I'll give King Zedekiah of Judah, his officials, and the people — those who are left in this city from the plague, the sword, and the famine — into the control of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, right into the hand of their enemies and the hand of those who want to kill them. He'll execute them with swords and won't pity them. He won't spare them, nor will he have compassion on them."

8 "You are to say to this people, 'This is what the LORD says: "I'm about to set before you the way of life and the way of death."

9 Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, by famine, and by the plague. But whoever goes out and surrenders to the Chaldeans who are besieging you will live. He will save his life as a spoil of war.

10 Indeed, I'm firmly decided — I'm sending calamity to this city, not good," declares the LORD. "It will be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will set it on fire."

11 "To the house of the king of Judah say, 'Hear this message from the LORD.

12 This is what the LORD says, house of David: "Judge appropriately every morning, and deliver those who have been robbed from the oppressor, so my anger does not break out like fire and burn with no one to put it out because of your evil deeds.

13 "Look, I'm against you, city dwelling in the valley, rock of the plain," declares the LORD, "those of you who say, 'Who can come down against us and who can enter our habitations?'

14 But I'll punish you according to what you have done," declares the LORD. "I'll start a fire in her forest, and it will consume everything around her."

Jeremiah 22

1 This is what the LORD says: "Go down to the house of the king of Judah and tell him this:

2 'Listen to this message from the LORD, king of Judah, you who sit on the throne of David — you, your officials, and your people who enter these gates.

3 This is what the LORD says: "Uphold justice and righteousness. Deliver from their oppressor those who have been robbed. Don't mistreat or do violence to the alien, the orphan, or the widow, or shed the blood of innocent people in this place.

4 Rather, carefully obey this message, and then kings sitting for David on his throne and riding in chariots and on horses will enter the gates of this house. The king will enter along with his officials and his people.

5 But if you don't listen to these words, I swear," declares the LORD, "that this house will become a ruin."

6 For this is what the LORD says about the house of the king of Judah, "You are like Gilead to me, like the summit of Lebanon. Yet I'll surely make you a desert, towns where no one lives.

7 I'll appoint people to destroy you, men with their weapons. They'll cut down some of your choice cedars and throw them into the fire.

8 "Many nations will pass by this city and say to one another, 'Why did the LORD do this to this great city?'

9 Then people will respond, 'It is because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God and have bowed down to other gods and served them.'

10 "Don't cry for the dead or grieve for them. Weep bitterly for the one going away, because he won't return again nor see the land of his birth.

11 "For this is what the LORD says about Josiah's son Shallum, king of Judah, who reigned in place of his father Josiah: 'He went out from this place and won't return to it again.

12 He will die in the place where they exiled him, and he won't ever see this land again."

13 "How terrible for him who builds his house without righteousness, and its upper rooms without justice, who makes his neighbour work for nothing, and does not pay him his wage.

14 "How terrible for him who says, 'I'll build a large house for myself with spacious upper rooms, who cuts out windows for it, panelling it with cedar and painting it red.'

15 "Are you a king because you try to outdo everyone with cedar? Your father ate and drank and upheld justice and righteousness, did he not? And then it went well for him.

16 He judged the case of the poor and needy. And then it went well for him. Isn't this what it means to know me?

17 But your eyes and heart are on nothing but your dishonest gain, shedding the blood of innocent people, and practising oppression and extortion.

Acts 9

1 Meanwhile, still spewing death threats against the Lord's disciples, Saul went to the high priest.

2 He asked him for letters to take with him to the synagogues in Damascus, so that if he found any men or women belonging to the Way, he might bring them in chains to Jerusalem.

3 As Saul travelled along and was approaching Damascus, a light from heaven suddenly flashed around him.

4 He dropped to the ground and heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?"

5 He asked, "Who are you, Lord?" The voice said, "I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.

6 Now get up, go into the city, and you will be told what you are to do."

7 Meanwhile, the men who were travelling with Saul were standing speechless, for they heard the voice but didn't see anyone.

8 When Saul got up off the ground, he couldn't see anything, even though his eyes were open. So his companions took him by the hand and led him into Damascus.

9 For three days he couldn't see, and he didn't eat or drink anything.

10 Now in Damascus there was a disciple named Ananias. The Lord told him in a vision, "Ananias!" He answered, "Here I am, Lord."

11 The Lord told him, "Get up, go to the street called Straight, and in the home of Judas look for a man from Tarsus named Saul. At this very moment he is praying.

12 He has seen in a vision a man named Ananias come in and lay his hands on him so he would see again."

13 But Ananias answered, "Lord, I have heard many people tell how much evil this man has done to your saints in Jerusalem.

14 He is here with authority from the high priests to put in chains all who call on your name."

15 But the Lord told him, "Go, since he is my chosen instrument to carry my name to the gentiles, to their kings, and to the descendants of Israel.

16 For I am going to show him how much he must suffer for my name's sake."

17 So Ananias left and went to that house. He laid his hands on Saul and said, "Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus, who appeared to you on the road as you were travelling, has sent me so that you may see again and be filled with the Holy Spirit."

18 All at once something like scales fell from Saul's eyes, and he could see again. He got up and was baptized,

19 and after eating some food, he felt strong again. For several days he stayed with the disciples in Damascus.

Jeremiah 22

18 Therefore, this is what the LORD says about Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah, "They won't lament for him with these words: 'How terrible, my brother, How terrible, my sister!' They won't lament for him with these words: 'How terrible, lord, How terrible, your majesty!'"

19 "He will receive a donkey's burial, dragged out and thrown outside the gates of Jerusalem."

20 Go up to Lebanon and cry out, to Bashan and lift up your voice. Cry out from Abarim, for all your lovers have been crushed.

21 I spoke to you when you were secure, but you said, "I won't listen!" This has been your way since your youth, for you haven't obeyed me.

22 The wind will shepherd all your shepherds, and your lovers will go into exile. Indeed, you will then be ashamed and humiliated because of all your wickedness.

23 You who live in Lebanon, who build your nest in the cedars, how you will groan when pains come upon you, pain like that of a woman giving birth.

24 "As certainly as I'm alive and living," declares the LORD, "even if Jehoiakim's son King Jehoiachin of Judah were a signet ring on my right hand, I would pull you off

25 and give you to those who are trying to kill you, whom you fear — that is, to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and the Chaldeans.

26 I'll hurl you and the mother who gave birth to you into another land where you were not born, and there you will die.

27 As for the land to which you want to return, you won't return there!

28 "Is this man Jehoiachin a despised and shattered jar, a vessel no one wants? Why were he and his descendants hurled away, thrown into a land that they didn't know?

29 Land, land, land, listen to this message from the LORD!

30 This is what the LORD says: 'Write this man off as childless, a man who does not prosper in his lifetime. None of his descendants will succeed in sitting on the throne of David, or ever ruling in Judah again.'

Jeremiah 23

1 "How terrible for the shepherds who are destroying and scattering the sheep of my pasture!" declares the LORD.

2 Therefore, this is what the LORD God of Israel says about the shepherds who are shepherding my people, "You have scattered my flock and driven them away. You haven't taken care of them, and now I'm about to take care of you because of your evil deeds," declares the LORD.

3 "I'll gather the remnant of my flock from all the countries where I've driven them, and bring them back to their pasture where they'll be fruitful and increase in numbers.

4 I'll raise up shepherds over them, and they'll shepherd them. My flock will no longer be afraid or terrified, and none will be missing," declares the LORD.

5 "The time is coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll raise up a righteous branch for David. He will be a king who rules wisely, and he will administer justice and righteousness in the land.

6 In his time Judah will be delivered and Israel will dwell in safety. This is the name by which he will be known: 'The LORD Our Righteousness.'

7 "Therefore, the time is coming," declares the LORD, "when people will no longer say, 'As surely as the LORD lives who brought up the Israelis from the land of Egypt,'

8 but they'll say, 'As surely as the LORD lives who brought the descendants of the Israelis from the land of the north and from all the lands where I had driven them and brought them into the land.' Then they'll live in their own land."

9 Concerning the prophets: My heart is broken within me, and all my bones shake. I'm like a drunk man, like a person overcome with wine, because of the LORD, and because of his holy words.

10 Indeed, the land is full of adulterers. Indeed, the land mourns because of the curse; the pastures of the wilderness have dried up. The adulterers' lifestyles are evil, and they use their strength for what is not right.

11 Indeed, both priest and prophet are ungodly. Even in my house I find evil," declares the LORD.

12 Therefore their way will be slippery. They'll be driven out into the darkness, where they'll fall. For I'll bring disaster on them, the year of their judgement," declares the LORD.

13 "Among the prophets of Samaria I saw a disgusting thing, for they prophesied by Baal and led my people Israel astray.

14 Among the prophets of Jerusalem I saw a horrible thing, for they commit adultery and live a lie. They strengthen the hands of those who do evil, so that no one repents of his evil. All of them are like Sodom to me, and her residents like Gomorrah."

15 Therefore, this is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies says about the prophets, "I'm about to make them eat wormwood and drink poisoned water, because godlessness has spread from the prophets of Jerusalem throughout the land."

16 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Don't listen to the words of the prophets who are prophesying to you; they're giving you false hopes. They declare visions from their own minds — they don't come from the LORD!

17 They keep on saying to those who despise me, 'The LORD has said, "You will have peace.'" To all who stubbornly follow their own desires they say, 'Disaster won't come upon you.'

18 But who has stood in the LORD's council to see and hear his message? Who has paid attention to his message and obeyed it?

19 Look, the storm of the LORD's wrath has gone forth, a whirling tempest, and it will swirl down around the head of the wicked.

20 The LORD's anger won't turn back until he has accomplished what he intended to do. In the future you will clearly understand it.

21 I didn't send these prophets, but they ran anyway. I didn't speak to them, but they prophesied.

22 If they had stood in my council and had delivered my words to my people, then they would have turned them back from their evil way, from their evil deeds."

23 "Am I a God who is near," declares the LORD, "rather than a God who is far away?

24 If a person hides himself in secret places, will I not see him?" declares the LORD. "I fill the heavens and the earth, do I not?" declares the LORD.

25 "I've heard what the prophets who prophesy lies in my name have said: 'I had a dream; I had a dream.'

26 How long will this go on? Is there anything in the hearts of the prophets who prophesy lies, and who prophesy from the deceit that is in their hearts?

27 With their dreams that they relate to one another, they plan to make my people forget my name just as their ancestors forgot my name by embracing Baal.

28 Let the prophet who has a dream relate the dream, but let whoever receives my message speak my message truthfully. What does straw have in common with wheat?" declares the LORD.

29 "My message is like fire or like a hammer that shatters rock, is it not?" declares the LORD.

30 "Therefore, look, I'm against the prophets," declares the LORD, "who steal my words from each other.

31 Look, I'm against the prophets," declares the LORD, "who use their tongues to issue a declaration.

32 Look, I'm against those who prophesy based on false dreams," declares the LORD, "and relate them and lead my people astray with their lies and their recklessness. I didn't send them; I didn't command them, and they provide no benefit at all to these people," declares the LORD.

33 "Jeremiah, when these people, the prophet, or a priest ask you, 'What is the oracle of the LORD?' say to them, 'You are the burden, and I'll cast you out,'" declares the LORD.

34 "As for the prophet, the priest, or the people who say, 'I have an oracle of the LORD,' I'll judge that person and his household.

35 This is what you should say to one another and among yourselves, 'What has the LORD answered?' or 'What has the LORD said?'

36 But you are to no longer mention the oracle of the LORD, because the oracle is only for the person to whom the LORD gives his message, and you have overturned the words of the living God, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, our God.

37 This is what you should say to the prophet, 'What has the LORD answered?' or 'What has the LORD said?'

38 Since you're saying, 'We have an oracle of the LORD,' therefore this is what the LORD says: He will answer your message with this message, 'Burden of the LORD,' and I'll send you away with these words: 'Don't say, "Oracle of the LORD.'"

39 Therefore I'll surely forget you and cast you and the city I gave you and your ancestors out of my presence.

40 I'll bring on you everlasting reproach and everlasting humiliation that won't ever be forgotten."

Jeremiah 24

1 After Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had taken Jehoiakim's son Jeconiah, king of Judah, along with the officials of Judah, the craftsmen, and the smiths from Jerusalem into exile, and had brought them to Babylon, the LORD showed me two baskets of figs placed right in front of the Temple of the LORD.

2 One basket contained very good figs like the first figs that ripen on the tree. The other basket contained very bad figs that were too bad to be eaten.

3 The LORD told me, "What do you see?" I replied, "Figs. The good figs are very good, and the bad figs are very bad. They're too bad to be eaten."

4 Then this message from the LORD came to me:

5 "This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'Like these good figs, so I'll regard as good the exiles of Judah whom I sent from this place to the land of the Chaldeans.

6 I'll look at them with good intentions, and I'll bring them back to this land. I'll build them up. I won't tear them down; I'll plant them and not rip them up.

7 I'll give them the ability to know me, for I am the LORD. They will be my people, and I will be their God when they return to me with all their heart.

8 'Like the bad figs that are too bad to be eaten — for this is what the LORD says — so I'll give up on Zedekiah king of Judah, along with his officials, the remnant of Jerusalem that is left in this land, and those living in the land of Egypt.

9 I'll make them into a horrifying sight to all the kingdoms of the earth; into a cause for contempt, into a byword, into a taunt, and into a curse in all the places to which I drive them.

10 I'll send the sword, famine, and plague against them until they're completely destroyed from the land which I gave them and their ancestors."

Acts 9

20 He immediately started to preach about Jesus in the synagogues, saying, "This is the Son of God."

21 Everyone who heard him was astonished and said, "This is the man who harassed those who were calling on Jesus' name in Jerusalem, isn't it? Didn't he come here to bring them in chains to the high priests?"

22 But Saul grew more and more persuasive, and continued to confound the Jews who lived in Damascus by proving that this man was the Messiah.

23 After several days had gone by, the Jews plotted to murder Saul,

24 but their plot became known to him. They were even watching the gates day and night to murder him,

25 but his disciples took him one night and let him down through the city wall by lowering him in a basket.

26 When Saul arrived in Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples, but they all were afraid of him because they wouldn't believe he was a disciple.

27 Barnabas, however, introduced Saul to the apostles, telling them how on the road Saul had seen the Lord, who had spoken to him, and how courageously he had spoken in the name of Jesus in Damascus.

28 So he freely circulated among them in Jerusalem, speaking courageously in the name of the Lord.

29 He kept talking and arguing with the Hellenistic Jews, but they were bent on murdering him.

30 When the brothers found out about the plot, they took him down to Caesarea and sent him away to Tarsus.

31 So the church throughout Judea, Galilee, and Samaria enjoyed peace. As it continued to be built up and to live in the fear of the Lord, it kept increasing in numbers through the encouragement of the Holy Spirit.

32 Now when Peter was going around among all of the disciples, he also visited the saints living in Lydda.

33 There he found a man named Aeneas who was paralyzed and had been bedridden for eight years.

34 Peter told him, "Aeneas, Jesus the Messiah is healing you. Get up and put away your mat!" At once he got up,

35 and all the people who lived in Lydda and Sharon saw him and turned to the Lord.

36 In Joppa there was a disciple named Tabitha, which in Greek is Dorcas. She was known for her good actions and acts of charity that she was always doing.

37 At that time she got sick and died. After they had washed her, they laid her in an upstairs room.

38 Since Lydda was near Joppa, the disciples heard that Peter was there and sent two men to him and begged him, "Come here quickly!"

39 So Peter got up and went with them. When he arrived, they took him upstairs. All the widows gathered around Peter, crying and showing him all the shirts and coats Dorcas had made while she was still with them.

40 Peter made them all go outside. After kneeling down, he prayed, turned to the body, and said, "Tabitha, get up!" She opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, she sat up.

41 He extended his hand and helped her get up. Then he called the saints, including the widows, and gave her back to them alive.

42 What happened became known throughout Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.

43 Meanwhile, Peter stayed in Joppa for several days with Simon, a leatherworker.

Jeremiah 25

1 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah. (This was also the first year of the reign of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon).

2 This is what Jeremiah the prophet told all the people of Judah and all the residents of Jerusalem:

3 "From the thirteenth year of the reign of Ammon's son Josiah, the king of Judah, until the present time, for 23 years this message from the LORD has come to me, and I've spoken to you again and again, but you haven't listened.

4 Again and again, the LORD sent all his servants, the prophets, to you, but you wouldn't listen or even turn your ears in my direction to hear.

5 They said, 'Turn, each one of you, from your evil habits and evil deeds, and live in the land that the LORD gave to you and your ancestors forever and ever.

6 Don't follow other gods to serve and worship them. Don't provoke me with the idols you make with your hands, and I won't bring disaster on you.'

7 But you didn't listen to me," declares the LORD, "so as to provoke me with the idols you make with your hands to your own harm.

8 "Therefore, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Because you haven't listened to my message,

9 I'm now sending for all the tribes from the north, declares the LORD, and for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. I'll bring them against this land, against its inhabitants, and against all these surrounding nations. I'll utterly destroy them and make them an object of horror and scorn, and an everlasting desolation.

10 I'll destroy the sounds of gladness and rejoicing from them, the sounds of the bridegroom and the bride, the sound of the hand mill and also the light of the lamp.

11 This entire land will be a desolation and a waste, and these nations will serve the king of Babylon for seventy years.

12 'Then when the seventy years have passed, I'll judge the king of Babylon and that nation, declares the LORD, I'll judge the land of the Chaldeans for their iniquity and I'll make it a desolation forever.

13 I'll bring on that land all the things I spoke against it, all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah prophesied about the nations.

14 Indeed many nations and great kings will make slaves even of them, and I'll repay them according to their deeds, according to what they have done.'"

15 For this is what the LORD God of Israel says to me, "Take this cup of the wine of burning anger from my hand and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it.

16 They'll drink, stagger, and act like madmen because of the sword I'm sending among them."

17 So I took the cup from the LORD's hand, and I made all the nations to whom the LORD sent me drink it:

18 Jerusalem, the cities of Judah, its kings and officials to make them into a ruin, an object of horror and scorn, and a curse, as it is this day;

19 Pharaoh, king of Egypt, his officials, his princes, and all his people;

20 all the various people; all the kings of the land of Uz, all the kings of the land of the Philistines, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and what remains of Ashdod;

21 Edom, Moab, and the people of Ammon;

22 all the kings of Tyre, all the kings of Sidon, and all the kings of the coast lands that are beyond the sea;

23 Dedan, Tema, Buz, and those who shave the corners of their beards;

24 all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the various people who live in the desert;

25 all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of Media;
 26 all the kings of the north near and far, one after another, and all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth. The king of Sheshak will drink after all the others.
 27 "You are to say to them, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Drink, get drunk, and vomit! Fall down and don't get up because of the sword I'm sending among you.'"
 28 And if they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink it, say to them, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "You will surely drink it!
 29 Look, I'm beginning to bring disaster on the city that is called by my name, and do you actually think you will avoid punishment? You won't avoid punishment because I'm summoning the sword against all those who live in the land," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.'
 30 You are to prophesy all these things against them, and you are to say to them, 'The LORD roars from his high place, from his holy dwelling he lifts his voice. He roars loudly against his flock, and against all who live on the earth; he shouts like those treading grapes.
 31 A tumult reaches to the ends of the earth because the LORD is bringing an indictment against the nations. He judges all flesh. He has given the wicked over to the sword,' declares the LORD."
 32 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Look, disaster is going from nation to nation, a great storm is being stirred up from the most distant parts of the earth."
 33 Those slain by the LORD on that day will extend from one end of the earth to the other. They won't be mourned for or gathered up or buried. They'll be like dung on the surface of the ground.
 34 "Scream, you shepherds! Cry out! Roll in the dust, you leaders of the flock! Indeed, the time for your slaughter and your dispersion has arrived, and you will break like a choice vessel.
 35 Flight will be impossible for the shepherds, as will be escape for the leaders of the flock.
 36 A sound — it's the cry of the shepherds and the scream of the leaders of the flock — because the LORD is destroying their pastures.
 37 The peaceful meadows are silent because of the LORD's fierce anger.
 38 Like a lion, he has left his den. Indeed, their land has become a waste because of the anger of the oppressor and because of the LORD's fierce anger."

Jeremiah 26

1 In the beginning of the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah, this message came from the LORD:
 2 "This is what the LORD says: 'Stand in the courtyard of the LORD's Temple and tell those from all the cities of Judah who are coming to worship at the LORD's Temple everything that I've commanded you to say to them. Don't leave out a word!
 3 Perhaps they'll listen, and each of them will repent from his evil way. Then I'll change my mind about the disaster I'm planning to bring on them because of their evil deeds.
 4 Say to them, "This is what the LORD says: 'If you don't listen to me to follow my Law which I've set before you,
 5 and listen to the words of my servants, the prophets, whom I've sent to you over and over — but you wouldn't listen —
 6 then I'll make this house like Shiloh and make this city into a curse to all the nations of the earth.'""
 7 The priests, the prophets, and all the people listened as Jeremiah spoke these words at the LORD's Temple.

8 As soon as Jeremiah finished saying everything that the LORD had commanded him to say to all the people, the priests, the prophets, and all the people seized him, telling him as they did: "You must certainly die!"

9 Why have you prophesied in the name of the LORD that this house will be like Shiloh, and this city will be without an inhabitant?" Then all the people gathered around Jeremiah at the LORD's Temple.

10 When the Judean officials heard all these things, they came up from the king's house to the LORD's Temple and sat in the doorway of the New Gate of the LORD's Temple.

11 The priests and prophets told the officials and to all the people, "A death sentence for this man, because he prophesied against this city, as you heard with your own ears!"

12 Then Jeremiah spoke to all the officials and to all the people: "The LORD has sent me to prophesy all the things you heard against this house and against this city.

13 Now, change your habits and your deeds and obey the LORD your God, and the LORD will change his mind about the disaster that he told you about.

14 Look, I'm in your hands, so do with me what you think is good and right.

15 But know for certain that if you kill me, you will bring innocent blood on yourselves and on this city and its residents because the LORD really did send me to you to say all these things for you to hear."

16 The officials and all the people told the priests and the prophets, "No death sentence for this man because he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

17 Some of the elders of the land got up and told all the assembled people,

18 "Micah of Moresheth prophesied during the reign of Hezekiah king of Judah to all the people of Judah, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Zion will be a ploughed field, and Jerusalem a ruin. The Temple Mount will be a wooded hill.'"

19 "Did Hezekiah king of Judah or anyone in Judah kill him? Didn't he fear the LORD and seek the LORD's favour, and so the LORD changed his mind about the disaster that he had spoken to them about. We're bringing great disaster on ourselves.

20 There was also a man named Uriah, Shemaiah's son from Kiriath-jearim, who prophesied in the LORD's name. He prophesied about this city and this land in words similar to those of Jeremiah.

21 King Jehoiakim, all his troops, and all the officials heard his words, and the king sought to kill him. Uriah heard about this and was afraid, so he fled and went to Egypt.

22 King Jehoiakim sent men to Egypt. He sent Achbor's son Elnathan, along with a contingent of men into Egypt.

23 They brought Uriah out of Egypt and brought him to King Jehoiakim, who killed him with a sword. Then they threw his body into a common grave."

24 Yet because Shaphan's son Ahikam supported Jeremiah, he was not handed over to the people for them to kill.

Acts 10

- 1 Now in Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a centurion in what was known as the Italian Regiment.
- 2 He was a devout man who feared God, as did everyone in his home. He gave many gifts to the poor among the people and always prayed to God.
- 3 One day about three in the afternoon he had a vision and clearly saw an angel of God coming to him and saying to him, "Cornelius!"
- 4 He stared at the angel in terror and asked, "What is it, Lord?" The angel answered him, "Your prayers and your gifts to the poor have arisen as a reminder to God.
- 5 Send men now to Joppa and summon Simon, who is called Peter.
- 6 He is a guest of Simon, a leatherworker, whose house is by the sea."
- 7 When the angel who had spoken to him had gone, Cornelius summoned two of his household servants and a devout soldier, one of those who served him regularly.
- 8 He explained everything to them and sent them to Joppa.
- 9 Around noon the next day, while they were on their way and coming close to the town, Peter went up on the roof to pray.
- 10 He became very hungry and wanted to eat, and while the food was being prepared, he fell into a trance
- 11 and saw heaven open and something like a large linen sheet coming down, being lowered by its four corners to the ground.
- 12 In it were all kinds of four-footed animals, reptiles, and birds of the air.
- 13 Then a voice told him, "Get up, Peter! Kill something and eat it."
- 14 But Peter said, "Absolutely not, Lord, for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean!"
- 15 Again the voice came to him a second time, "You must stop calling unclean what God has made clean."
- 16 This happened three times. Then the sheet was quickly taken back into heaven.

Jeremiah 27

- 1 At the beginning of the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah, this message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:
- 2 this is what the LORD says to me: "Make restraints and yokes for yourself and put them on your neck.
- 3 Then send messengers to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the Ammonites, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon through the envoys who come to Jerusalem to king Zedekiah of Judah.
- 4 Give them this order for their masters: 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says, and this is what you are to say to your masters,
- 5 By my great power and outstretched arm I made the earth, mankind, and the animals that are on the face of the earth, and I give it to whomever I see fit.
- 6 Now I've given all these lands to my servant, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and I've even given him the wild animals to serve him.
- 7 All the nations will serve him, his son, and his grandson until his country's time also comes, and then many nations and great kings will use him as a slave.
- 8 If a nation and kingdom does not serve him — King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon — and does not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I'll judge that nation with the sword, with famine, and with plague," declares the LORD, "until I've completely destroyed it by his hand.
- 9 You aren't to listen to your prophets, your diviners, your dreamers, your soothsayers, and your sorcerers who say to you, 'Don't serve the king of Babylon.'
- 10 They're prophesying a lie to you in order to remove you far away from your land. I'll drive you out and you will perish.
- 11 But I'll let the nation that brings its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serves him remain in its own land," declares the LORD, "and they'll work it and remain in it."
- 12 I spoke to Zedekiah king of Judah using words like these: "Bring your neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon. Serve him and his people, and you will live!
- 13 Why should you and your people die by the sword, by famine, and by plague as the LORD has decreed about the nation that does not serve the king of Babylon?
- 14 Don't listen to the words of the prophets who say to you, 'You won't serve the king of Babylon. Indeed, they're prophesying a lie to you.
- 15 For I didn't send them," declares the LORD, "and they're falsely prophesying in my name, so I will drive both you and the prophets who prophesy to you out of the land."
- 16 Then I spoke to the priests and all this people: "This is what the LORD says: 'Don't listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you: "The vessels from the Temple are about to be returned from Babylon very soon now.'" Indeed, they're prophesying a lie to you.
- 17 Don't listen to them! Serve the king of Babylon and you'll live. Why should this city become a ruin?
- 18 If they're prophets, and if they have a message from the LORD, let them plead with the LORD of the Heavenly Armies so that the utensils that remain in the LORD's Temple, in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem might not be taken to Babylon.
- 19 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says about the pillars, the bronze sea, the stands, and the rest of the vessels that remain in this city
- 20 that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon didn't take when he took Jehoiakim's son Jeconiah, king of Judah, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem from Jerusalem into exile to Babylon —
- 21 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says about the vessels that remain in the LORD's Temple, in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem,

22 "They'll go into Babylon and there they'll remain until the time I take note of them," declares the LORD. "Then I'll bring them up and return them to this place.""

Jeremiah 28

1 In that same year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year and the fifth month, Azzur's son Hananiah, the prophet from Gibeon, told me at the LORD's Temple in front of the priests and all the people,

2 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'I've broken the yoke of the king of Babylon,

3 and within two years I'll bring back to this place all the vessels of the LORD's Temple that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took from this place and carried to Babylon.

4 I'll bring back Jehoiakim's son Jeconiah, king of Judah, and all the exiles of Judah who went to Babylon to this place,' declares the LORD, 'for I'll break the yoke of the king of Babylon.'"

5 The prophet Jeremiah spoke to the prophet Hananiah in front of the priests and all the people who were standing in the LORD's Temple.

6 The prophet Jeremiah said, "May the LORD truly do this thing! May the LORD fulfil the words that you prophesied to bring back the vessels of the LORD's Temple and all the exiles from Babylon to this place.

7 But please listen to what I'm saying in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people.

8 The prophets who came before us from ancient times prophesied war, famine, and plague against many lands and great kingdoms.

9 When a prophet prophesies peace, and what the prophet speaks comes about, he will be known as the prophet whom the LORD has truly sent."

10 Then the prophet Hananiah took the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet and broke it.

11 Hananiah, in front of all the people, said, "This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way, within two years, I'll break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all the nations.'" Then Jeremiah the prophet went on his way.

12 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah after the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet:

13 "Go and say to Hananiah, 'This is what the LORD says: "You have broken wooden yokes, but you have made iron yokes in their place."

14 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "I've put an iron yoke on the necks of all these nations to serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. They'll serve him, and I've even given the wild animals to him.'"

15 The prophet Jeremiah told the prophet Hananiah, "Listen, Hananiah! The LORD didn't send you, and you are causing these people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'I'm about to remove you from the face of the earth. This year you will die because you have preached rebellion against the LORD.'"

17 So the prophet Hananiah died in the seventh month of that year.

Jeremiah 29

1 These are the words of the letter that the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to the remaining elders among the exiles, to the priests, to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had taken into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon,

2 after King Jeconiah, the queen mother, the palace officials, the officials of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen, and the smiths left Jerusalem.

3 The letter was sent by Shaphan's son Elasah and by Hilkiyah's son Gemariah, whom King Zedekiah of Judah sent to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in Babylon, and it said,

4 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says to all the exiles who were taken from Jerusalem into exile to Babylon,

5 'Build houses and live in them. Plant gardens and eat their produce.
6 Take wives and father sons and daughters. Take wives for your sons and give your daughters in marriage, so they may have sons and daughters. Increase in numbers there, don't decrease.
7 Seek the welfare of the city to which I've exiled you and pray to the LORD for it, for your welfare depends on its welfare.'
8 "For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'Don't let the prophets and diviners who are among you deceive you, and don't listen to them when they tell you their dreams.
9 Indeed, they're prophesying lies to you in my name. I didn't send them," declares the LORD.
10 "For this is what the LORD says: 'When Babylon's seventy years are completed, I'll take note of you and will fulfil my good promises to you by bringing you back to this place.
11 For I know the plans that I have for you,' declares the LORD, 'plans for well-being, and not for calamity, in order to give you a future and a hope.
12 When you call out to me and come and pray to me, I'll hear you.
13 You will seek me and find me when you search for me with all your heart.
14 I'll be found by you,' declares the LORD, 'and I'll restore your security and gather you from all the nations and all the places to which I've driven you,' declares the LORD. 'I'll bring you back to the place from which I sent you into exile.'
15 "Indeed, you have said, 'The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon.'
16 "But this is what the LORD says about the king who sits on David's throne, and about the people who live in this city — your brothers who didn't go with you into exile:
17 This is what the LORD says: 'I'm about to send the sword, famine, and plague on them, and I'll make them like rotten figs that cannot be eaten because they're so bad.
18 I'll pursue them with the sword, with famine, and with plague, and I'll make them a horrifying sight to all the kingdoms of the earth. I'll make them a curse, an object of horror, and scorn, and a desolation in all the nations to which I've driven them,
19 because they didn't listen to my words,' declares the LORD. 'When I sent my servants, the prophets, to you again and again, you didn't listen,' declares the LORD.
20 "Now, all you exiles whom I sent from Jerusalem to Babylon, listen to this message from the LORD!
21 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says about Kolaiah's son Ahab and Maaseiah's son Zedekiah, who are prophesying lies to you in my name, 'I'm about to give them into the domination of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will kill them before your eyes.
22 What happens to them will be the basis for a curse for all the Judean exiles who are in Babylon. People will say, "May the LORD make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the LORD roasted in the fire,
23 because they did something stupid in Israel. They committed adultery with their neighbours' wives, and in my name they spoke lies that I didn't command them. I'm the one who knows, and I'm a witness," declares the LORD.'"

Acts 10

17 While Peter was still at a loss to know what the vision he had seen could mean, the men sent by Cornelius asked for Simon's house and went to the gate.

18 They called out and asked if Simon who was called Peter was staying there.

19 Peter was still thinking about the vision when the Spirit told him, "Look! Three men are looking for you.

20 Get up, go downstairs, and don't hesitate to go with them, for I have sent them."

21 So Peter went to the men and said, "I'm the man you're looking for. Why are you here?"

22 The men replied, "Cornelius, a centurion and an upright and God-fearing man who is respected by the whole Jewish nation, was instructed by a holy angel to send for you to come to his home to hear what you have to say."

23 So Peter welcomed them as his guests. The next day he got up and went with them, and some of the brothers from Joppa went along with him.

24 The next day they arrived in Caesarea. Cornelius was expecting them and had called his relatives and close friends together.

25 When Peter was about to enter, Cornelius met him, bowed down at his feet, and began to worship him.

26 But Peter made him get up, saying, "Stand up! I, too, am only a man."

27 As Peter talked with him, he went in and found that many people had gathered.

28 He told them, "You understand how wrong it is for a Jew to associate or visit with a gentile. But God has shown me that I should stop calling anyone common or unclean, 29 and that is why I didn't hesitate when I was sent for. Now may I ask why you sent for me?"

30 Cornelius replied, "Four days ago at this very hour, three o'clock in the afternoon, I was praying in my home. All at once a man in radiant clothes stood in front of me

31 and said, 'Cornelius, your prayer has been heard. God has remembered your gifts to the poor

32 so send messengers to Joppa and summon Simon, who is called Peter, to come to you. He is a guest in the home of Simon, a leatherworker, by the sea.'

33 So I sent for you immediately, and it was good of you to come. All of us are here now in the presence of God to listen to everything the Lord has ordered you to say."

Jeremiah 29

24 You are to say to Shemaiah of Nehelam:

25 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'Because you sent letters in your own name to all the people who are in Jerusalem, to Maaseiah's son Zephaniah the priest and to all the priests:

26 "The LORD made you a priest instead of Jehoiada the priest to serve in the LORD's Temple as an official against every crazy prophet, and to put him in stocks and restraints.

27 And now, why didn't you rebuke Jeremiah from Anathoth who prophesies to you?

28 So he sent a message to us in Babylon: 'The exile will be long, so build houses and live in them. Plant gardens and eat their produce.'""

29 Then Zephaniah the priest read this letter to Jeremiah the prophet,

30 and this message from the LORD came to Jeremiah:

31 "Send a message to all the exiles: 'This is what the LORD says about Shemaiah from Nehelam, "Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, even though I didn't send him, and has made you trust a lie,"

32 therefore, this is what the LORD says: "I'm about to judge Shemaiah from Nehelam along with his descendants. He won't have anyone related to him living among these people. Nor will he see the good that I'll do for my people, declares the LORD, "because he advocated rebellion against the LORD.'"

Jeremiah 30

1 This message from the LORD that came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 "This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'Write all the words that I've spoken to you in a book.

3 Indeed, the time will come,' declares the LORD, 'when I'll restore the security of my people Israel and Judah,' says the LORD. 'I'll bring them back to the land that I gave to their ancestors, and they'll possess it.'"

4 These are the words that the LORD spoke about Israel and Judah:

5 "Indeed, this is what the LORD says: 'We have heard a sound of terror and of fear, and there is no peace.

6 Ask about this and think about it — Can a man give birth to a child? Why then do I see every strong man with his hands on his thighs like a woman giving birth, and all their faces have turned pale?

7 Oh how terrible! That time will be worse than any like it. It will be a time of trouble for Jacob, but he will be rescued from it.

8 'On that day,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, 'I'll break the yoke from your neck and will tear off your restraints. Foreigners will no longer make you serve them.

9 'Rather, they will serve the LORD their God and David their king, whom I will raise up for them.

10 'My servant Jacob, don't be afraid,' declares the LORD, 'and Israel, don't be dismayed. For I'll deliver you from a distant place and your descendants from the land of their captivity. Jacob will return. He will be undisturbed and secure, and no one will cause him to fear.

11 For I'll be with you to save you,' declares the LORD. For I'll put an end to all the nations where I scattered you; but I won't make an end of you. I'll discipline you justly, but I certainly won't leave you unpunished.'

12 "For this is what the LORD says: 'Your injury won't heal, your wound is severe.

13 There is no one to plead your cause. There is no medicine for your sore, no healing for you.

14 All your lovers have forgotten you; they don't seek you. Indeed, I've struck you down with the blow of an enemy, with the punishment of a cruel foe because your wickedness is great, and your sins are numerous.

15 Why do you cry out because of your injury? Your wound won't heal. Because your wickedness is severe, and your sins are numerous I've done all these things to you.

16 In addition, all who devour you will be devoured, and all your oppressors — all of them — will go into captivity. Those who plunder you will become plunder, and all who spoil you will become spoil.

17 Indeed, I'll bring you healing, and I'll heal you of your wounds,' declares the LORD, because they have called you an outcast and have said, "It is Zion, no one cares for her!"

18 "This is what the LORD says: 'I'm going to restore the fortunes of the tents of Jacob and have compassion on his dwellings. A city will be rebuilt on its ruins and a palace will sit on its rightful place.

19 Thanksgiving and the sounds of laughter will come out of them. I'll cause them to increase in numbers and not decrease. I'll honour them and not make them insignificant.

20 Their children will be as they were before, and their congregation will be established before me. I'll punish all who oppress them.

21 Their leader will be one of their own, and their ruler will come from among them. I'll bring him near, and he will approach me, for who would otherwise dare to approach me?' declares the LORD.

22 'You will be my people, and I'll be your God.'

23 Look, the storm of the LORD! His wrath has gone forth, a twisting storm. It will swirl around the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce anger of the LORD won't turn back until he has accomplished and established the plan of his heart. In the days to come, you will understand this.

Jeremiah 31

1 "At that time," declares the LORD, "I'll be the God of all the families of Israel, and they will be my people."

2 This is what the LORD says: "The people who survived the sword, found favour in the desert while Israel was seeking rest.

3 The LORD appeared to Israel from far away and said, "I've loved you with an everlasting love, therefore I've drawn you with gracious love.

4 I'll again build you, and you will be rebuilt, Virgin Israel! You will again take up your tambourines and go out to dance with those who are filled with joy.

5 You will again plant vineyards on the hills of Samaria where planters had planted and defiled the fruit.

6 For there will be a day when the watchmen will call out on the hills of Ephraim, 'Arise, let's go up to Zion to the LORD our God.'

7 For this is what the LORD says: "Cry out with joy for Jacob and shout for the chief among the nations. Announce, give praise, and say, 'Lord, save your people, the remnant of Israel.'

8 Look, I'm bringing them from the northern region, and I'll gather them from the farthest parts of the earth. among them will be the blind and the lame, together with the pregnant woman and the woman in labour. A large group will return here.

9 They'll come crying, and I'll lead them as they pray for mercy. I'll make them walk by streams of water, along a straight path on which they won't stumble. For I am Israel's father, and Ephraim is my firstborn."

10 Nations, listen to this message from the LORD, and declare it in the distant coastlands. Say, "The one who scattered Israel will gather him and keep him as a shepherd keeps his flock."

11 For the LORD will deliver Jacob and redeem him from the hand of one stronger than he.

12 They'll come and cry out with joy on the heights of Zion. They'll be radiant over the LORD's goodness, over the grain, the new wine, the fresh oil, and over the young of the flocks and herds. Their lives will be like a well-watered garden. They'll never again grow faint.

13 The virgins will rejoice with dancing together with young men and old men. For I'll turn their mourning into joy, and I'll comfort them and give them gladness instead of sorrow.

14 I'll give the priests abundant provisions, and my people will be satisfied with my goodness," declares the LORD.

15 This is what the LORD says: "A voice is heard in Ramah, lamentation and bitter crying. Rachel is crying, and she refuses to be comforted for her children, because they are no longer alive."

16 This is what the LORD says: "Restrain your voice from crying, and your eyes from tears, for there is a reward for your work," declares the LORD. "They'll return from the enemy's land.

17 There is hope for your future," declares the LORD. "Your children will return to their own territory."

18 "I've certainly heard Ephraim shuddering with grief as they said, 'You have disciplined me, and I'm disciplined like an untrained calf. Restore me, and let me return, for you are the LORD my God.

19 Indeed, after I turned away, then I repented. And after I came to understand, I slapped my forehead. I was both ashamed and humiliated because I bear the disgrace of my youth."

20 "Is Ephraim my dear son? Is he a darling child? Indeed, as often as I've spoken about him, I surely still remember him. Therefore I deeply yearn for him. I'll surely have great compassion on him," declares the LORD.

21 Set up markers for yourselves. Erect signposts for yourselves. Pay attention to the highway, to the road you travelled. Return, virgin Israel, return to these cities of yours.

22 How long will you go this way and that, rebellious daughter? Indeed, the LORD will create a new thing on the earth; a woman will protect a man.

23 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "They'll again speak this message in the land of Judah and its towns when I restore their fortunes: 'The LORD bless you, righteous dwelling, holy mountain.'

24 Judah and all its towns will live together in the land, along with farmers and those who follow the flock.

25 I'll provide abundance for those who are weary, and fill all who are faint."

26 Then I awoke and looked around, and I had had a pleasant sleep.

27 "Look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah using people and animals as seed.

28 Just as I've watched over them to pull up, tear down, overthrow, destroy, and bring disaster, so I'll watch over them to build and to plant," declares the LORD.

29 "In those days people will no longer say, 'The fathers have eaten sour grapes, but the children's teeth have been set on edge.'

30 Instead, each person will die for his own iniquity. Everyone who eats sour grapes will have his own teeth set on edge."

Acts 10

34 Then Peter began to speak: "Now I understand that God shows no partiality.
35 Indeed, whoever fears him and does what is right is acceptable to him in any nation.
36 He has sent his word to the descendants of Israel and brought them the good news of peace through Jesus the Messiah. This man is the Lord of everyone.
37 You know what happened throughout Judea, beginning in Galilee after the baptism that John preached.
38 God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power, and because God was with him, he went around doing good and healing everyone who was oppressed by the devil.
39 We are witnesses of everything Jesus did in the land of the Jews, including Jerusalem.
"They hung him on a tree and killed him,
40 but God raised him on the third day and allowed him to appear —
41 not to all the people, but to us who were chosen by God to be witnesses and who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead.
42 He also ordered us to preach to the people and to testify solemnly that this is the one appointed by God to be the judge of the living and the dead.
43 All the prophets testify to this: everyone who believes in Jesus receives forgiveness of sins through his name."
44 While Peter was still making this statement, the Holy Spirit fell on all the people who were listening to his message.
45 Then the circumcised believers who had come with Peter were amazed that the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out on the gentiles, too.
46 For they heard them speaking in tongues and praising God. Then Peter said,
47 "No one can stop us from using water to baptize these people who have received the Holy Spirit in the same way that we did, can they?"
48 So Peter ordered them to be baptized in the name of Jesus the Messiah. Then they asked him to stay there for several days.

Acts 11

1 Now the apostles and the brothers who were in Judea heard that the gentiles had also accepted the word of God.
2 But when Peter went up to Jerusalem, those who emphasized circumcision disagreed with him.
3 They said, "You went to uncircumcised men and ate with them!"
4 Then Peter began to explain to them point by point what had happened. He said,
5 "I was in the town of Joppa praying when in a trance I saw a vision: Something like a large linen sheet descended down from heaven, lowered by its four corners, and it came right down to me.
6 When I examined it closely, I saw four-footed animals of the earth, wild animals, reptiles, and birds of the air.
7 I also heard a voice telling me, 'Get up, Peter! Kill something and eat it.'
8 But I replied, 'Absolutely not, Lord, for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth!'
9 Then the voice from heaven answered a second time, 'You must stop calling common what God has made clean!'
10 This happened three times. Then everything was pulled back up to heaven.

Jeremiah 31

31 "Look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

32 It won't be like the covenant I made with their ancestors on the day I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt. They broke my covenant, although I was a husband to them," declares the LORD.

33 Rather, this is the covenant that I'll make with the house of Israel after those days," declares the LORD. "I'll put my Law within them and will write it on their hearts. I'll be their God and they will be my people.

34 No longer will a person teach his neighbour or his relative: 'Know the LORD.' Instead, they'll all know me, from the least to the greatest of them," declares the LORD. "Indeed, I'll forgive their iniquity, and I'll remember their sin no more."

35 This is what the LORD says, who gives the sun for light by day, the laws that govern the moon and stars for light by night, and who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar. The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name:

36 "If these laws cease to function in my presence," declares the LORD, "then the descendants of Israel will cease to be a nation in my presence for all time!"

37 This is what the LORD says: "If the heavens could be measured above, or the foundations of the earth be searched out below, then I also would reject all the descendants of Israel because of everything they have done," declares the LORD.

38 "Look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when the city of the LORD will be rebuilt from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate.

39 A measuring line will go straight out from there to the hill of Gareb, and then it will turn to Goah.

40 The whole valley of dead bodies and ashes and all the fields as far as the Brook Kidron to the corner of the Horse Gate toward the east will be holy to the LORD. It won't be uprooted or overthrown again, forever."

Jeremiah 32

1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah. It was the eighteenth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar.

2 The army of the king of Babylon was then besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was confined in the courtyard of the guard at the palace of the king of Judah

3 where Zedekiah had confined him. Zedekiah had said, "Why did you prophesy and say these things? You said, 'This is what the LORD says: "I'm about to give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will capture it.

4 Zedekiah king of Judah won't escape from the Chaldeans, for he has surely been given over to the king of Babylon. He will speak to him face to face and look at him eye to eye.

5 The king of Babylon will take Zedekiah to Babylon and there he will stay until I judge him," declares the LORD. If you fight against the Chaldeans, you won't succeed.'"

6 Jeremiah replied, "This message from the LORD came to me:

7 'Look, Hanamel, your cousin, is coming to you and will say, "Buy my field in Anathoth for yourself, because the right of redemption to buy it belongs to you.'"

8 Then my cousin Hanamel came to me in the courtyard of the guard just as the LORD had said, and he told me, 'Please buy my field in Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin because you have the right to possess it, and the right to redeem it belongs to you. Buy it for yourself.' So I knew that this was a message from the LORD.

9 "Then I bought the field in Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel. I weighed out the silver for him — seventeen shekels of silver.

10 I signed the deed and sealed it. I called in witnesses and used scales to weigh out the silver.

11 Then I took the deed of purchase — both the sealed one with the terms and conditions and the open one —

12 and I gave the deed of purchase to Neriah's son Baruch, the grandson of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel, in the presence of the witnesses who signed the deed of purchase, and in the presence of all the Judeans sitting in the courtyard of the guard.

13 In their presence, I instructed Baruch as follows:

14 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Take these deeds — both this sealed deed of purchase and this open deed — and put them in a clay pot so they'll last for a long time."

15 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Houses, fields, and vineyards will again be bought in this land."

16 "After I had given the deed of purchase to Neriah's son Baruch, I prayed to the LORD:

17 'LORD! Look, you made the heavens and the earth with your great power and your outstretched arm. Nothing is too difficult for you!

18 You, the great God, the mighty one, show gracious love to thousands and repay the parents' iniquity to their children after them. The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name.

19 You are great in regards to your purposes and mighty in regards to your works. Your eyes are open to everything that people do, and will reward each one according to their ways and just as their actions deserve.

20 You are the one who performed signs and wonders in the land of Egypt and continue to do so until this day, both in Israel and among the rest of humanity. You made a reputation for yourself that continues to this day.

21 By your strong hand and outstretched arm, and with great terror, you brought your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders.

22 And you gave them this land which you had promised their ancestors that you would give them — a land flowing with milk and honey.

23 They came and took possession of it, but they didn't obey you or walk according to your Law. They didn't do what you commanded them to do, so you caused all this calamity to happen to them.

24 Look, the siege ramps have reached the city to take it. Because of the sword, famine, and plague, the city has been given over to the Chaldeans who are fighting against it. What you said has happened, and you are watching it occur!

25 Lord, you have told me, "Buy the field for yourself with money and call in witnesses," even though the city is being given over to the Chaldeans."

26 Then this message from the LORD came to Jeremiah:

27 "Look, I am the LORD, the God who rules over all flesh. Is anything too difficult for me?"

28 Therefore, this is what the LORD says: "I'm about to give this city into the hands of the Chaldeans and Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and he will capture it.

29 The Chaldeans who are fighting against this city will come, set this city on fire, and burn it along with the houses on whose roofs incense was burned to Baal and liquid offerings were poured out to other gods in order to provoke me.

30 Indeed, the Israelis and Judeans have been doing only evil in my presence since their youth. Indeed, the Israelis have done nothing but provoke me by what they have made with their hands," declares the LORD.

31 "Indeed, this city has provoked me to anger and wrath from the day they built it until now, and so I'll remove it from my sight

32 because of all the evil that the Israelis and Judeans have done to provoke me. They, their kings, their officials, their priests, their prophets, the people of Judah, and those living in Jerusalem have done these things.

33 They have turned their backs to me rather than their faces. Even though I taught them, teaching them again and again, they didn't listen to accept correction.

34 They put their detestable idols in the house that is called by my name and defiled it.

35 They built the high places of Baal that are in the Hinnom Valley in order to sacrifice their sons and daughters to Molech — something that I didn't command, nor did it ever enter my mind for them to require this utterly repugnant thing — and lead Judah into sin."

36 "Now therefore, says the LORD God of Israel concerning this city about which you are saying, 'It is being given into the hand of the king of Babylon by sword, famine, and plague.'

37 I'm about to gather my people from all the lands where I've driven them in my anger, wrath, and great indignation. I'll bring them back to this place and let them live in safety.

38 They'll be my people, and I'll be their God.

39 I'll give them one heart and one lifestyle so they'll fear me always for their own good and for the good of their descendants after them.

40 I'll make an everlasting covenant with them that I won't turn away from doing good for them. I'll put the fear of me in their hearts so they won't turn away from me.

41 I'll rejoice over them to do good for them, and I'll faithfully plant them in this land with all my heart and soul.

42 "Indeed, this is what the LORD says: 'Just as I'm bringing all this great disaster on this people, so I'll bring on them all the good things that I'm promising concerning them.

43 Fields will be bought in this land about which you will say, "It is a desolate place without people or animals. It is given into the hands of the Chaldeans."

44 People will buy fields for money, sign deeds, seal them, and call witnesses in the land of Benjamin, in the areas around Jerusalem, in the towns of Judah, the towns of the hill country, the towns of the Shephelah, and the towns of the Negev, for I'll restore their fortunes,' declares the LORD."

Jeremiah 33

1 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah a second time while he was still confined in the courtyard of the guard:

2 "This is what the LORD says who made the earth, the LORD who formed it in order to establish it — whose name is the LORD —

3 'Call to me and I'll answer you, and will tell you about great and hidden things that you don't know.'

4 For this is what the LORD God of Israel says about the houses of this city and the houses of the kings of Judah that were torn down to defend against the siege ramps and the sword,

5 'The Chaldeans are coming to fight and to fill those houses with the dead bodies of the people that I've struck down in my anger and wrath, for I've hidden my face from this city because of all their wickedness.

6 'Look, I'll bring restoration and healing to it, and I'll heal them. I'll reveal to them an abundance of peace and faithfulness.

7 I'll restore the security of Judah and Israel and rebuild them as they were at first.

8 I'll cleanse them from all their sin that they have committed against me, and I'll forgive all their sins that they committed against me and by which they rebelled against me.

9 Jerusalem will be for me a name of joy, praise, and glory to all the nations of the earth that hear about all the good that I'm doing for them. They'll fear and tremble because of all the good and because of all the peace that I'm bringing to Jerusalem.'

Acts 11

11 "At that very moment three men arrived at the house where we were staying. They had been sent to me from Caesarea.

12 The Spirit told me to go with them without hesitating. These six brothers went with me, too, and we entered the house of the man from Caesarea.

13 Then he told us how he had seen an angel standing in his home and saying, 'Send messengers to Joppa and summon Simon, who is called Peter.

14 He will discuss with you how you and your entire household will be saved.'

15 "When I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them just as he was first given to us.

16 Then I remembered what the Lord had said: 'John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.'

17 Now if God gave them the same gift that he gave us when we believed in the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, who was I to try to stop God?"

18 When they heard this, they calmed down, and praised God, saying, "So God has given repentance that leads to life even to gentiles."

19 Now the people who were scattered by the persecution that started because of Stephen went as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, speaking the word to no one except Jews.

20 But among them were some men from Cyprus and Cyrene, who came to Antioch and began proclaiming the Lord Jesus even to the Hellenistic Jews.

21 The hand of the Lord was with them, and a large number of people believed and turned to the Lord.

22 When the church in Jerusalem heard this news, they sent Barnabas all the way to Antioch.

23 When he arrived, he rejoiced to see what the grace of God had done, and with hearty determination he kept encouraging all of them to remain faithful to the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and faith. And so a large number of people was brought to the Lord.

25 Then Barnabas left for Tarsus to look for Saul.

26 When he found him, he brought him to Antioch, and for a whole year they were guests of the church and taught many people. It was in Antioch that the disciples were first called Christians.

27 At that time some prophets from Jerusalem came down to Antioch.

28 One of them named Agabus got up and predicted by the Spirit that there would be a severe famine all over the world. This happened during the reign of Claudius.

29 So all of the disciples decided they would send a contribution to the brothers living in Judea, as they were able,

30 by sending it through Barnabas and Saul to the elders.

Jeremiah 33

10 "This is what the LORD says: 'You are saying about this place, "It is a ruin without people and without animals.'" Yet in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem which are desolate places without inhabitants and without animals, there will again be heard
11 the sounds of rejoicing and gladness, the sounds of the bridegroom and the bride, and the sounds of those saying, 'Give thanks to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, for the LORD is good, and his gracious love lasts forever,' as they bring thanksgiving offerings to the LORD's Temple. For I'll restore the fortunes of the land as they were at first," declares the LORD.
12 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'In this place that is now a ruin without people or animals, and in all its towns there will again be pasture for shepherds resting their flocks.
13 In the towns of the hill country, in the towns of the Shephelah, in the towns of the Negev, in the territory of Benjamin, in the areas around Jerusalem, and in the towns of Judah flocks will again pass under the hands of the one who counts them,' says the LORD."
14 "'Look, the time is coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I'll fulfil the good promise that I spoke concerning the house of Israel and Judah.
15 In those days and at that time I'll cause a righteous Branch to spring up for David, and he will uphold justice and righteousness in the land.
16 At that time Judah will be delivered and Jerusalem will dwell in safety. And this is the name people will call it, "The LORD is Our Righteousness."
17 For this is what the LORD says: 'David will never be without a man sitting on the throne of the house of Israel,
18 nor will the Levitical priests be without a man offering up burnt offerings, bringing in grain offerings, and offering sacrifices continually before me."
19 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah:
20 "This is what the LORD says: 'If you could break my covenant with the day and night so that day and night wouldn't occur at the proper time,
21 then my covenant with my servant David might also be broken so that he wouldn't have a son sitting on his throne, and so also with my servants the Levitical priests.
22 As the heavenly bodies cannot be counted, and the sands of the sea cannot be measured, so I'll multiply the descendants of my servant David and the descendants of Levi who serve me."
23 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah:
24 "Haven't you noticed what these people have been saying? — 'The LORD rejected the two families that he had chosen!' They have contempt for my people and no longer consider them a nation.
25 This is what the LORD says: 'If I had not established my covenant for day and night and the laws that govern the heavens and earth,
26 then I might reject the descendants of Jacob and my servant David by not taking some of his descendants as rulers over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Indeed, I'll restore their fortunes, and I'll have compassion on them.'"

Jeremiah 34

1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD while Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, all his army, all the kingdoms of the earth that were under his authority, along with all the people were fighting against Jerusalem and all its towns:
2 This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah. Say to him, "This is what the LORD says: 'Look, I'm giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will set it on fire.

3 You won't escape from him. You will certainly be captured and given into his control. You will see the king of Babylon eye to eye, he will speak to you face to face, and you will go to Babylon.'"

4 Yet, hear this message from the LORD, Zedekiah king of Judah. This is what the LORD says to you, 'You won't die by the sword.

5 You will die peacefully, and as they burned fires for your ancestors, the former kings who were before you, so they'll burn fires for you, wailing, "Oh how terrible, your majesty!" For I've spoken the message," declares the LORD.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet spoke all of this in Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah,

7 while the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah that were left, namely Lachish and Azekah. (They were the only fortified cities that remained among the cities of Judah).

8 This is this message from the LORD that came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people in Jerusalem proclaiming release for them.

9 Each person was to set free his male and female slaves who were Hebrews, so that no Jewish person would enslave his brother.

10 All the officials and all the people who had entered into the covenant agreed that each would set his male and female slaves free so that they would not enslave them any longer. They obeyed and they released them.

11 But afterward they turned around and took back the male and female slaves that they had set free, and they forced them to become male and female slaves.

12 Then this message from the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

13 "This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'I made a covenant with your ancestors on the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. I told them:

14 "At the end of seven years, each of you is to set free your fellow Hebrew who has sold himself to you and has served you for six years. You are to send him out from you with no further obligation.'" But your ancestors didn't obey me or pay attention.

15 You recently repented and did what was right in my eyes by proclaiming release for one another, and you made a covenant before me in the house that is called by my name.

16 But then you turned around and profaned my name when each of you took back his male and female slaves whom you had set free according to their desire, and you forced them to become male and female slaves.'"

17 "Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'You haven't obeyed me by each of you proclaiming a release for your brothers and neighbours. Now I'm going to proclaim a release for you,' declares the LORD, 'a release to the sword, to plague, and to famine, and I'll make you a horrifying sight to all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 I'll give over the men who transgressed my covenant, who haven't fulfilled the terms of the covenant that they made before me when they cut the calf in two and passed between its parts —

19 the officials of Judah, the officials of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, the priests, and all the people of the land who passed between the parts of the calf.

20 I'll give them to their enemies who are seeking to kill them, and their dead bodies will be food for the birds of the sky and the animals of the land.

21 I'll give Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his officials into the domination of their enemies, to those who are seeking to kill them, and to the army of the king of Babylon that is coming against them.

22 Look, I'm in command of them, declares the LORD, and I'll bring them back to this city. They'll capture it and burn it with fire, and I'll turn the towns of Judah into desolate places without inhabitants.'"

Jeremiah 35

1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD during the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah:

2 "Go to the house of the Rechabites and speak to them. Bring them into the LORD's Temple, to one of the offices, and offer them wine to drink.

3 So I took Jeremiah's son Jaazaniah (a descendant of Habazziniah), his brothers, all his sons, and the whole family of the Rechabites.

4 I brought them to the LORD's Temple to the office of the descendants of Igdaliah's son Hanan, the man of God, which was next to the office of the officials, and which was above the office of Shallum's son Maaseiah, the keeper of the threshold.

5 I put containers full of wine and cups in front of the members of the Rechabite clan and told them, "Drink the wine!"

6 But they said, "We won't drink wine, because our ancestor, Rechab's son Jonadab commanded us: 'You and your descendants are never to drink wine!'

7 You aren't to build houses, you aren't to sow seeds, and you aren't to plant vineyards, or own them. Instead, you are to live in tents all your lives, so you will enjoy a long life in the land where you reside.'

8 We have obeyed everything that our ancestor, Rechab's son Jonadab, commanded us. So we, our wives, our sons, and our daughters have drunk no wine all our lives,

9 and have built no houses to live in. We don't have vineyards, fields, or seed.

10 We have lived in tents. We have obeyed and have done everything that our ancestor Jonadab commanded us.

11 Now when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against the land, we said, 'Come on! Let's go to Jerusalem because of the army of the Chaldeans and the army of Aram. And now we're living in Jerusalem.'"

12 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah:

13 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says: 'Go and say to the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "Will you not accept correction by listening to what I say?" declares the LORD.

14 "But what Rechab's son Jonadab commanded his sons about not drinking wine is observed, and they haven't drunk wine until this day. Indeed, they obey the commands of their ancestor. But I've spoken to you again and again, and you haven't obeyed me.

15 I've sent you all my servants, the prophets, sending them again and again. I've said, 'Each of you turn from his evil behaviour and make your deeds right. Don't follow other gods to serve them. Then you will remain in the land that I gave to you and to your ancestors. But you haven't paid attention and you haven't obeyed me.

16 Indeed the descendants of Rechab's son Jonadab have carried out the command of their ancestor that he gave them, but this people has not obeyed me.

17 Therefore, this is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says: 'Look, I'm bringing on Judah and all the residents of Jerusalem all the disaster that I pronounced against them, because I spoke to them, but they didn't listen, and I called out to them, but they didn't answer.'"

18 Then Jeremiah told the house of the Rechabites, "This is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says: 'Because you obeyed the commandment of your ancestor Jonadab, have observed all his commandments, and have done everything that he commanded you,'

19 therefore, this is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says: 'Rechab's son Jonadab won't lack a descendant who serves me always.'"

Jeremiah 36

1 In the fourth year of the reign of Josiah's son King Jehoiakim of Judah, this message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 "Take a scroll and write on it all the words that I've spoken to you about Israel, about Judah, and about all the nations, since I first spoke to you in the time of Josiah until the present time.

3 Perhaps the house of Judah will hear about all the calamity that I'm planning to bring on them, and so each of them will turn from his wicked way and I'll forgive their iniquities and sins."

4 Jeremiah summoned Neriah's son Baruch and at Jeremiah's dictation, Baruch wrote on the scroll all the words of the LORD that he had spoken to him.

5 Jeremiah instructed Baruch, "I'm confined and can't go to the LORD's Temple.

6 You go and read the words of the LORD that you wrote at my dictation from the scroll. Read them to the people at the LORD's Temple on the fast day. Also read them to all the people of Judah who are coming from their towns.

7 Perhaps their pleas for help will come to the LORD's attention, and each of them will turn from his evil lifestyle in light of the great anger and wrath that the LORD has declared against this people."

8 So Neriah's son Baruch did just as Jeremiah the prophet instructed him, reading the words of the LORD from the scroll at the LORD's Temple.

Acts 12

- 1 About that time, Herod arrested some people who belonged to the church and mistreated them.
- 2 He even had James the brother of John killed with a sword.
- 3 When he saw how this was agreeable to the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter, too. This happened during the Festival of Unleavened Bread.
- 4 When he arrested Peter, Herod put him in prison and turned him over to four squads of soldiers to guard him, planning to bring him out to the people after Passover season.
- 5 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer to God for him was being offered by the assembly.
- 6 That very night, before Herod was going to bring him out, Peter, bound with two chains, was sleeping between two soldiers, and guards in front of the door were watching the prisoners.
- 7 Suddenly an angel of the Lord appeared and a light shone in the cell. He tapped Peter on his side, woke him up, and said, "Get up quickly!" His chains fell from his wrists.
- 8 Then the angel told him, "Tuck in your shirt and put on your sandals!" He did this. Then the angel told him, "Put on your coat and follow me!"
- 9 So Peter went out and began to follow him, not realizing that what was being done by the angel was real; he thought he was seeing a vision.
- 10 They passed the first guard, then the second, and came to the iron gate that led into the city. It opened by itself for them, and they went outside and proceeded one block when the angel suddenly left him.
- 11 Then Peter came to himself and said, "Now I'm sure that the Lord has sent his angel and rescued me from Herod and from everything the Jewish people were expecting!"
- 12 When Peter realized what had happened, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of John who was also called Mark, where a large number of people had gathered and were praying.
- 13 When he knocked at the outer gate, a servant-girl named Rhoda came to answer it.
- 14 On recognizing Peter's voice, she was so overjoyed that she didn't open the gate but ran back inside and announced that Peter was standing at the gate.
- 15 The other people told her, "You're out of your mind!" But she kept insisting that it was so. Then they said, "It's his angel."
- 16 Meanwhile, Peter kept on knocking and knocking. When they opened the gate, they saw him and were amazed.
- 17 He motioned to them with his hand to be quiet, and then he told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. He added, "Tell this to James and the brothers." Then he left and went somewhere else.
- 18 When morning came, there was a great commotion among the soldiers as to what had become of Peter.
- 19 Herod searched for him but didn't find him, so he questioned the guards and ordered them to be executed. Then he left Judea, went down to Caesarea, and stayed there for a while.
- 20 Now Herod had been in a violent quarrel with the people of Tyre and Sidon. So they came to him as a group. After they had won over Blastus, who oversaw security for the king's sleeping quarters, they asked for a peace agreement because their country depended on the king's country for food.
- 21 Therefore, at a set time Herod put on his royal robes, sat down on the royal seat, and made a speech to them.
- 22 The people kept shouting, "This is the voice of a god, not of a man!"
- 23 Immediately the angel of the Lord struck him down because he did not give glory to God, and he was eaten by worms and died.

24 But the word of God continued to grow and spread.

25 When Barnabas and Saul had fulfilled their mission, they returned to Jerusalem, bringing with them John who was also called Mark.

10th November

Jeremiah 36

9 In the ninth month of the fifth year of the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah, a fast was proclaimed in the LORD's presence in Jerusalem for all the people of Jerusalem, as well as all the people who were coming from the towns of Judah.

10 Baruch read the words of Jeremiah from the scroll to all the people at the LORD's Temple. He did this from the office of Shaphan's son Gemariah the scribe, in the upper court at the entrance of the New Gate of the LORD's Temple.

11 When Gemariah's son Micaiah, the grandson of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the scroll,

12 he went down to the palace, to the scribe's office, where all the officials were sitting. Elishama the scribe, Shemaiah's son Delaiah, Achbor's son Elnathan, Shaphan's son Gemariah, Hananiah's son Zedekiah, and all the other officials were there.

13 Micaiah told them all the things that he had heard when Baruch read from the scroll to the people.

14 Then all the officials sent Nethaniah's son Jehudi, (who was also the grandson of Shelemiah and Cushi's great-grandson), to Baruch, who said, "Take the scroll that you read to the people and come." Neriah's son Baruch took the scroll with him and went to them.

15 They told him, "Please sit down and read it to us." So Baruch read it to them.

16 When they heard all the words, they turned to one another in fear, saying to Baruch, "We must report all these things to the king."

17 Then they asked Baruch, "Please tell us how you wrote all the words. Did Jeremiah dictate them all?"

18 Baruch answered them, "Yes, Jeremiah dictated all these words to me, and I wrote them in the scroll with ink."

19 Then the officials told Baruch, "Go, hide yourself, both you and Jeremiah, and don't let anyone know where you are."

20 The officials went to the king in the courtyard, but they deposited the scroll in the office of Elishama the scribe. Then they reported everything written on the scroll to the king.

21 The king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and he took it from the office of Elishama the scribe. Jehudi read it to the king and to all the officials who were standing beside the king.

22 The king was sitting in the winter palace in the ninth month and a stove was burning in front of him.

23 As Jehudi would read three or four columns, the king would cut it with a scribe's knife and throw it into the fire which was in the stove, until all the scroll was burned in the fire in the stove.

24 The king and all his officials who were listening to these words were not afraid, nor did they tear their garments.

25 Even though Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah urged the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them.

26 The king ordered his son Jerahmeel, Azriel's son Seraiah, and Abdeel's son Shelemiah to get Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet, but the LORD had hidden them.

27 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah after the king burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah's dictation:

28 "Go back, take another scroll and write on it all the original words which were on the scroll that Jehoiakim, king of Judah, burned.

29 Concerning Jehoiakim, king of Judah, you are to say, 'This is what the LORD says: "You burned this scroll, all the while saying, 'Why did you write on it that the king of Babylon will definitely come, destroy this land, and eliminate both people and animals from it?"'

30 Therefore, this is what the LORD says concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah, 'He will have no one to sit on the throne of David, and his corpse will be thrown out to rot during the heat of the day and the frost of the night.

31 I'll punish him, his descendants, and his officials for their iniquity. I'll bring on them, on the residents of Jerusalem, and on the men of Judah all the calamity about which I've warned them, but they would not listen."

32 Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Neriah's son Baruch the scribe. He wrote on it, at Jeremiah's dictation, all the words of the book that Jehoiakim king of Judah burned in the fire. He also added to them many similar words.

Jeremiah 37

1 Josiah's son King Zedekiah reigned in place of Jehoiakim's son Coniah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had made king of the land of Judah.

2 But neither he nor his officials nor the people of the land listened to the words of the LORD that were spoken by Jeremiah the prophet.

3 King Zedekiah sent Shelemiah's son Jehucal and Maaseiah's son Zephaniah the priest to Jeremiah the prophet, asking him, "Please pray to the LORD our God for us."

4 Now Jeremiah was still going in and out among the people since he had not yet been put in prison.

5 Pharaoh's army had come out of Egypt, and when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard the report about them, they withdrew from Jerusalem.

6 Then this message from the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet:

7 "This is what the LORD God of Israel says: 'This is what you are to say to the king of Judah who sent you to me to inquire of me, "Look, Pharaoh's army that has come to help will go back to its own land of Egypt,

8 and then the Chaldeans will come back to fight against this city, to capture it, and burn it with fire.'"

9 This is what the LORD says: "Don't deceive yourselves by saying, 'The Chaldeans will surely go away from us,' for they won't go.

10 Indeed, even if you defeated the entire Chaldean army that is fighting against you, and they had only wounded men left in their tents, they would get up and burn this city with fire.'"

11 When the Chaldean army was leaving Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army,

12 Jeremiah left Jerusalem to go to the territory of Benjamin to take possession of his property there among the people.

13 He was in the Gate of Benjamin, and chief officer Irijah, Shelemiah's son and the grandson of Hananiah, was there. He arrested Jeremiah the prophet, accusing him: "You are going over to the Chaldeans!"

14 Jeremiah said, "It's a lie! I'm not going over to the Chaldeans." But Irijah would not listen to him, and he arrested Jeremiah and brought him to the officials.

15 The officials were angry with Jeremiah and beat him. They put him in jail in the house of Jonathan the scribe because they had made it into a prison.

16 So Jeremiah came into the cells in the dungeon and remained there for a long time.

17 Then King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah and received him. The king questioned him secretly in his house: "Is there a message from the LORD?" Jeremiah said, "There is," and then he said, "You will be given into the hand of the king of Babylon."

18 Then Jeremiah asked King Zedekiah, "What offence have I committed against you, your officials, or these people that you have put me in prison?

19 Where are your prophets who prophesied to you, telling you: 'The king of Babylon won't come against you or against this land'?

20 Now, please listen, your majesty, and pay attention to what I'm asking you. Don't make me go back to the house of Jonathan the scribe, so I don't die there."

21 So King Zedekiah gave the order, and they assigned Jeremiah to the courtyard of the guard. Each day they gave him a loaf of bread from the bakers' street until all the bread in the city was gone. So Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

Jeremiah 38

1 Mattan's son Shephatiah, Pashhur's son Gedaliah, Shelemiah's son Jucal, and Malchijah's son Pashhur heard the words that Jeremiah was speaking to all the people:

2 "This is what the LORD says: 'Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, by famine, and by the plague, but the one who goes over to the Chaldeans will live. His life will be spared, and he will live.'

3 "This is what the LORD says: 'This city will surely be given to the army of the king of Babylon, and he will capture it.'

4 Then the officials told the king, "Let this man be put to death because he's undermining the efforts of the soldiers who remain in this city and that of all the people by speaking words like these to them. Indeed, this man is not seeking the well-being of this people, but rather their harm."

5 King Zedekiah said, "Look, he's in your hands, and the king can do nothing to you."

6 So they threw Jeremiah into a cistern that belonged to the king's son Malchijah and was located in the courtyard of the guard. When they let Jeremiah down with ropes, because there was no water in the cistern — only mud — Jeremiah sank into the mud.

7 Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, a eunuch in the king's house, heard that Jeremiah had been put in the cistern. The king was sitting in the Benjamin Gate,

8 so Ebed-melech went out of the palace and spoke to the king:

9 "Your majesty, these men have acted wickedly in all they have done to the prophet Jeremiah by throwing him into the cistern. He will die where he is because of the famine since there is no more bread in the city."

10 Then the king ordered Ebed-melech the Ethiopian: "Thirty men are at your disposal. Take them with you and bring up Jeremiah the prophet from the cistern before he dies."

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him and went to the palace, underneath the storeroom. He took worn out rags and worn out clothes from there, and using ropes he lowered them down to Jeremiah in the cistern.

12 Ebed-melech the Ethiopian told Jeremiah, "Put the worn out rags and clothes under your armpits under the ropes," and Jeremiah did as he said.

13 They pulled Jeremiah with the ropes and brought him up from the cistern, but Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

14 King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet and had him brought to him at the third entrance to the LORD's Temple. The king told Jeremiah, "I'm going to ask you something, and don't hide anything from me."

15 Jeremiah told Zedekiah, "When I tell you, you will surely put me to death, won't you? And when I give you advice, you don't listen to me."

16 Then King Zedekiah, in secret, swore an oath to Jeremiah: "As surely as the LORD lives, who gave us this life to live, I won't have you put to death, nor will I hand you over to these men who are seeking to kill you."

17 So Jeremiah told Zedekiah, "This is what the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'If you will immediately surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, then you will live, and this city won't be burned with fire. Both you and your family will live.

18 But if you don't surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, then this city will be given to the Chaldeans, and they'll burn it with fire. You won't escape from their hands.'"

Acts 13

1 Now Barnabas, Simeon called Niger, Lucius from Cyrene, Manaen, who grew up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul were prophets and teachers in the church at Antioch.

2 While they were worshipping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, "Set Barnabas and Saul apart for me to do the work for which I called them."

3 Then they fasted and prayed, laid their hands on them, and let them go.

4 After they had been sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went to Seleucia and from there sailed to Cyprus.

5 Arriving in Salamis, they began to preach God's word in the Jewish synagogues. They also had John to help them.

6 They went through the whole island as far as Paphos, where they found a Jewish occult practitioner and false prophet named Bar-jesus.

7 He was associated with the proconsul Sergius Paulus, who was an intelligent man. He sent for Barnabas and Saul because he wanted to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the occult practitioner (that is the meaning of his name) continued to oppose them and tried to turn the proconsul away from the faith.

9 But Saul, also known as Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked him straight in the eye

10 and said, "You are full of every form of deception and trickery, you son of the devil, you enemy of all that is right! You will never stop perverting the straight ways of the Lord, will you?"

11 The Lord is against you now, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a while!" At that moment a dark mist came over him, and he went around looking for someone to lead him by the hand.

12 When the proconsul saw what had happened, he believed, for he was astonished at the Lord's teaching.

13 Then Paul and his men set sail from Paphos and arrived in Perga in Pamphylia. But John left them and went back to Jerusalem.

14 They left Perga and arrived in Antioch in Pisidia. On the Sabbath day they went into the synagogue and sat down.

15 After the reading of the Law and the Prophets, the synagogue leaders asked them, "Brothers, if you have any message of encouragement for the people, you may speak."

16 Then Paul stood up, motioned with his hand, and said: "Men of Israel and you who fear God, listen!"

17 The God of this people Israel chose our ancestors and made them a great people during their stay in the land of Egypt, and with a public display of power he led them out of there.

18 After he had put up with them for 40 years in the wilderness,

19 he destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan. Then God gave their land to the Israelites as an inheritance 20 for about 450 years. "After that, he gave them judges until the time of the prophet Samuel.

Jeremiah 38

19 Then King Zedekiah told Jeremiah, "I'm afraid of the Judeans who have gone over to the Chaldeans. The Chaldeans may turn me over to them, and they may treat me harshly."

20 Jeremiah said, "They won't turn you over. Obey the LORD in what I'm telling you, and it will go well for you and you will live.

21 But if you refuse to surrender, this is what the LORD has shown me:

22 Look, all the women who are left in the house of the king of Judah will be brought out to the officers of the king of Babylon, and will say, 'These friends of yours have misled you and overcome you. Your feet have sunk down into the mire, but they have turned away.'

23 "They'll bring all your women and children out to the Chaldeans, and you won't escape from their hand. Indeed, you will be seized by the hand of the king of Babylon, and this city will be burned with fire."

24 Then Zedekiah told Jeremiah, "Don't let anyone know about these words and you won't die.

25 If the officials hear that I've spoken with you, and they come to you and say, 'Tell us what you told the king, and what the king told you; don't hide it from us, and we won't put you to death,'

26 then you are to say to them, 'I was presenting my request to the king that I not be taken back to the house of Jonathan to die there.'"

27 When all the officials came to Jeremiah and questioned him, he replied to them exactly as the king had ordered him. So they stopped speaking with him because the conversation had not been overheard.

28 Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard until the day Jerusalem was captured.

Jeremiah 39

1 This is how Jerusalem was captured: In the tenth month of the ninth year of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came to Jerusalem and laid siege to it.

2 On the ninth day of the fourth month, in the eleventh year of the reign of Zedekiah, the wall of the city was breached.

3 All the officials of the king of Babylon came and sat in the Middle Gate, including Nergal-sarri-usur, governor of Sinmagir, Nabu-sarrussu-ukin the high official, Nergal-sarri-user, the chief official, and all the rest of the officials of the king of Babylon.

4 When Zedekiah king of Judah and all the soldiers saw them, they fled and went out of the city at night through the king's garden through the gate between the two walls. Then he went out on the road toward the Arabah.

5 The Chaldean army pursued them and overtook Zedekiah on the plains of Jericho. When they seized him they brought him to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he passed judgement on him.

6 At Riblah, the king of Babylon executed Zedekiah's sons right before his eyes. He also executed all the nobles of Judah.

7 Then he put out Zedekiah's eyes and bound him with bronze fetters to take him to Babylon.

8 The Chaldeans burned the palace and the houses of the people with fire, and they broke down the walls of Jerusalem.

9 Nebuzaradan, the captain of the Babylonian guard, took into exile in Babylon the rest of the people who remained in the city, those who had deserted to Nebuchadnezzar, and the rest of the people who remained.

10 Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left in the land of Judah some of the poor people who did not have anything, and he gave them vineyards and fields on that day.

11 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon gave orders concerning Jeremiah through Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard:

12 "Take him, look after him, and don't do anything to harm him. Rather, do for him whatever he tells you."

13 So Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, Nebushazban, the high official, Nergal-sarezer, the chief official, and all the officials of the king of Babylon sent for Jeremiah.

14 They sent for Jeremiah and took him from the courtyard of the guard. They handed him over to Ahikam's son Gedaliah, the grandson of Shaphan, to take him home. So he remained among the people.

15 This message from the LORD came to Jeremiah while he was confined in the courtyard of the guard:

16 "Go and speak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian: 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Look, I'm going to fulfil my promise against this city for disaster rather than for good, and on that day it will happen before your eyes.

17 But I'll deliver you on that day," declares the LORD. "You won't be given into the hands of the men you fear.

18 For I'll surely deliver you, and you won't fall by the sword. Your life will be spared because you trusted me," declares the LORD."

Jeremiah 40

1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had released him from Ramah, when he was bound in chains, along with all the exiles from Jerusalem and Judah who were being taken into exile in Babylon.

2 The captain of the guard took Jeremiah and told him, "The LORD your God has predicted this disaster on this place.

3 And now the LORD has brought it about and has done just as he said. Because you people sinned against the LORD and didn't obey him, this has happened to you.

4 Now, look, I've freed you today from the chains that were on your hands. If you want to come with me to Babylon, come, and I'll look after you. But if you don't want to come with me to Babylon, don't. Look, the whole land lies before you, so go wherever it seems good and right for you to go."

5 When he still did not respond, Nebuzaradan said, "Return to Ahikam's son Gedaliah, whom the king of Babylon has appointed over the cities of Judah, and remain with him among the people — or go wherever it seems right for you to go." Then the captain of the guard gave him an allowance of food and a gift and sent him off.

6 Jeremiah came to Ahikam's son Gedaliah at Mizpah, and he remained with him among the people who were left in the land.

7 All the leaders of the forces who were in the field along with their men heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Ahikam's son Gedaliah over the men, women, children, and the poor of the land who had not been taken into exile in Babylon.

8 Those who came to Gedaliah at Mizpah included Nethaniah's son Ishmael, Jonathan, Kareah's son Jonathan, Tanhumeth's son Seraiah, Ephai's sons from Netophah; and Jezaniah, the son of a man from Maacah. They came along with their men.

9 Ahikam's son Gedaliah, the grandson of Shaphan, swore an oath to them and their men: "Don't be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Remain in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and things will go well for you.

10 As for me, I'll remain at Mizpah to represent you before the Chaldeans who come to us. As for you, gather wine, summer fruit, and oil. Put it in your containers and live in your cities that you have taken over."

11 All the Judeans who were in Moab, those with the people in Ammon, those in Edom, and those in all the other countries also heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant for Judah and that he had appointed Ahikam's son Gedaliah, the grandson of Shaphan, over them.

12 So all the Judeans returned from all the countries where they had been scattered. They came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, and they gathered wine and summer fruit in great abundance.

13 Kareah's son Jonathan and all leaders of the forces who were in the field came to Gedaliah at Mizpah.

14 They told him, "Are you aware that Baalis, the king of the people of Ammon, has sent Nethaniah's son Ishmael to take your life?" But Ahikam's son Gedaliah did not believe them.

15 Then Kareah's son Jonathan spoke privately to Gedaliah at Mizpah: "Let me go kill Nethaniah's son Ishmael, and no one will know. Why should he take your life? Otherwise all the Judeans who have gathered around you will be scattered, and the remnant of Judah will perish."

16 Ahikam's son Gedaliah replied to Kareah's son Jonathan, "Don't do this! You're lying about Ishmael!"

Jeremiah 41

1 In the seventh month, Nethaniah's son Ishmael, the grandson of Elishama, a member of the royal family and one of the chief officers of the king, came to Ahikam's son Gedaliah at Mizpah, along with ten men. While they were dining together there at Mizpah,

2 Nethaniah's son Ishmael and the ten men with him got up and killed Ahikam's son Gedaliah, the grandson of Shaphan, with swords and killed the man whom the king of Babylon had appointed over the land.

3 Ishmael also struck down all the Judeans who were with him (that is, with Gedaliah) at Mizpah, along with the Chaldean soldiers who were found there.

4 Now on the day after Gedaliah was killed, when as yet no one knew about it,

5 eighty men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria came with their beards shaved, their clothes torn, and their bodies slashed. They had grain offerings and incense with them to present at the LORD's Temple.

6 Nethaniah's son Ishmael went out from Mizpah to meet them, crying as he went. As he met them he told them, "Come meet with Ahikam's son Gedaliah."

7 When they reached the middle of the city, Nethaniah's son Ishmael and the men who were with him slaughtered them and threw them into a cistern.

8 Ten men who were among them told Ishmael, "Don't kill us because we have stores of wheat, barley, oil, and honey hidden in the field. So Ishmael stopped and did not kill them or their companions.

9 Ishmael threw the bodies of the men he killed on account of Gedaliah into the cistern that King Asa had made for protection against King Baasha of Israel. That is the same one Nethaniah's son Ishmael filled with those he killed.

10 Then Ishmael took captive all the rest of the people who were in Mizpah, including the king's daughters and all the rest of the people in Mizpah over whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had appointed Ahikam's son Gedaliah. Nethaniah's son Ishmael took them captive and then set out to cross over to the Ammonites.

11 Kareah's son Jonathan and all the military leaders who were with him heard about all the terrible things that Nethaniah's son Ishmael had done.

12 So they took all the men and went to fight Nethaniah's son Ishmael, and they found him at the large pool that is at Gibeon.

13 When all the people who were with Ishmael saw Kareah's son Jonathan and all the military leaders who were with him, they were glad.

14 All the people whom Ishmael had taken captive from Mizpah turned around and went back to Kareah's son Jonathan.

15 But Nethaniah's son Ishmael and eight other men escaped from Jonathan and went to the Ammonites.

16 Kareah's son Jonathan and all the military leaders who were with him took all the rest of the people from Mizpah whom he had rescued from Nethaniah's son Ishmael after he had killed Ahikam's son Gedaliah, including the young men, the soldiers, women, children, and eunuchs whom he had rescued from Gibeon.

17 They travelled and then stopped at Geruth Chimham near Bethlehem on their way to Egypt

18 because of the Chaldeans. They were afraid of the Chaldeans because Nethaniah's son Ishmael had killed Ahikam's son Gedaliah, whom the king of Babylon had appointed over the land.

Acts 13

21 When they demanded a king, God gave them Kish's son Saul, from the tribe of Benjamin, for 40 years.

22 Then God removed Saul and made David their king, about whom he testified, 'I have found that David, the son of Jesse, is a man after my own heart, who will carry out all my wishes.'

23 It was from this man's descendants that God, as he promised, brought to Israel a saviour, who is Jesus.

24 Before Jesus' appearance, John had already preached a baptism of repentance to all the people in Israel.

25 When John was finishing his work, he said, 'Who do you think I am? I am not the Messiah. No, but he is coming after me, and I am not worthy to untie the sandals on his feet.'

26 "My brothers, descendants of Abraham's family, and those among you who fear God, it is to us that the message of this salvation has been sent.

27 For the people who live in Jerusalem and their leaders, not knowing who Jesus was, condemned him and so fulfilled the words of the prophets that are read every Sabbath.

28 Although they found no reason to sentence him to death, they asked Pilate to have him executed.

29 When they had finished doing everything that was written about him, they took him down from the tree and placed him in a tomb.

30 But God raised him from the dead,

31 and for many days he appeared to those who had come with him to Jerusalem from Galilee. These are now his witnesses to the people.

32 We are telling you the good news: What God promised our ancestors

33 he has fulfilled for us, their descendants, by raising Jesus. As it is written in the second Psalm, 'You are my Son. Today I have become your Father.'

34 God raised him from the dead, never to experience decay, as he said, 'I will give you the holy promises made to David.'

35 In another Psalm he says, 'You will not let your Holy One experience decay.'

36 For David, after he had served God's purpose in his own generation, died and was buried with his ancestors, and so he experienced decay.

37 However, the man whom God raised did not experience decay.

38 "Therefore, brothers, you must understand that through him the forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you,

39 and that everyone who believes in him is justified and freed from everything that kept you from being justified by the Law of Moses.

40 So be careful that what the prophets said does not happen to you:

41 'Look, you mockers! Be amazed and die! For I am performing an action in your days, one that you would not believe even if someone told you!'"

Jeremiah 42

- 1 Then all the military leaders, Kareah's son Jonathan, Hoshai's son Jezeiah, and all the people from the least to the greatest approached Jeremiah.
- 2 They told Jeremiah the prophet, "Please listen to what we have to ask of you. Pray to the LORD your God for us and for all these survivors. Indeed, only a few of us remain out of many, as you can see.
- 3 Pray that the LORD your God may inform us as to how we should live and what we should do."
- 4 Jeremiah the prophet told them, "I've heard, and I'm going to pray to the LORD your God just as you have requested. Whatever the LORD answers, I'll tell you. I won't withhold anything from you."
- 5 Then they told Jeremiah, "May the LORD be a true and faithful witness against us if we don't do everything that the LORD your God tells us through you.
- 6 Whether it seems good or bad, we will obey the LORD our God to whom we send you, so it may go well for us. Indeed, we will obey the LORD our God."
- 7 At the end of ten days a message from the LORD came to Jeremiah.
- 8 So he called Kareah's son Jonathan, all the military leaders who were with him, and all the people from the least to the greatest.
- 9 He told them, "This is what the LORD God of Israel says, to whom you sent me to take your request:
- 10 'If you will just remain in this land, I'll build you up and not pull you down. I'll plant you and not uproot you, for I'm sorry about the disaster I've brought on you.
- 11 Don't be afraid of the king of Babylon as you have been. Don't fear him,' declares the LORD, 'because I am with you to save you and deliver you from his control.
- 12 I'll show you compassion, so he will have compassion on you and return you to your land.
- 13 But if you disobey the LORD your God by saying, "We won't stay in this land,"
- 14 and you also say, "No, but we will go to the land of Egypt where we won't see war or hear the sound of the trumpet or hunger for bread, and there we will stay,"
- 15 then hear this message from the LORD, remnant of Judah. This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "If you are really determined to go into Egypt, and you go there to settle,
- 16 the sword that you fear will overtake you there in the land of Egypt. The famine that you dread will pursue you into Egypt, and there you will die.
- 17 All the people who are determined to go into Egypt to settle there will die by the sword, by famine, and by the plague. No one will survive the disaster that I'll bring on them."
- 18 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'Just as my anger and my wrath were poured out on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so my wrath will be poured out on you when you enter Egypt. You will be a curse and an object of horror, ridicule, and scorn, and you will never again see this place.'
- 19 The LORD has told you, remnant of Judah, 'Don't go to Egypt!' So be fully aware that I've warned you, today,
- 20 that you have deceived yourselves. Indeed, you yourselves sent me to the LORD your God, saying 'Pray to the LORD your God for us, and whatever the LORD our God tells us we will do.'
- 21 I've told you today, but you haven't obeyed the LORD your God in all that he sent me to tell you.
- 22 Now, be fully aware that you will die by the sword, by famine, and by plague in the place where you want to settle."

Jeremiah 43

1 When Jeremiah had finished telling all the people all the words that the LORD their God had sent him to tell them — that is, all these words —

2 Hoshaiah's son Azariah, Kareah's son Johanan, and all the arrogant men told Jeremiah, "You're lying! The LORD our God didn't send you to say, 'Don't go to Egypt to settle there.'"

3 Indeed, Neriah's son Baruch is inciting you against us in order to give us into the hands of the Chaldeans, to kill us, or to take us into exile to Babylon.

4 So Kareah's son Johanan, all the military leaders, and all the people did not obey the instructions given by the LORD to remain in the land of Judah.

5 Kareah's son Johanan and all the military leaders took the entire remnant of Judah that had returned from all the nations where they had been scattered to settle in the land of Judah —

6 the young men, the women, the children, the daughters of the king, and everyone whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Ahikam's son Gedaliah, the grandson of Shaphan, along with Jeremiah the prophet and Neriah's son Baruch.

7 So they went into the land of Egypt, because they did not obey the LORD, and they travelled as far as Tahpanhes.

8 Then this message from the LORD came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes:

9 "Take large stones in your hands, and, in the sight of the men of Judah, bury them in the mortar of the brickwork at the entrance of Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes.

10 Then say to them, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "I'm going to send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. I'll take him and set his throne over these stones that I've buried, and he will spread his canopy over them.

11 He will come and attack the land of Egypt — those meant for death will be put to death, those meant for captivity will be taken captive, and those meant for the sword will be put to the sword.

12 He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt. He will burn their idols and take them captive. He will wrap himself with the land of Egypt like a shepherd wraps himself with a garment, and then he will leave from there in peace.

13 He will shatter the pillars of Heliopolis in the land of Egypt and will burn the temples of the gods of Egypt with fire.'"

Jeremiah 44

1 This is the message that came to Jeremiah for all the Judeans who were living in the land of Egypt, who were living in Migdol, Tahpanhes, Memphis, and in the land of Pathros, saying,

2 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'You have seen the disaster that I brought on Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah. Look, they're in ruins today, with no one living in them,

3 because of the wickedness that they did, provoking me to anger by continuing to offer sacrifices and worship other gods that neither they nor you nor your ancestors had known.

4 Yet I sent all my servants the prophets to you again and again, saying, "Don't do this repulsive thing that I hate."

5 But they didn't listen or pay attention by turning from their wickedness and not offering sacrifices to other gods.

6 My wrath and my anger were poured out, and they burned in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem so that they have become a ruin and a desolate place, as is the case today.

7 'Now, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Why are you doing great harm to yourselves so as to cut off from Judah, man and woman, child and infant from you, leaving yourselves without a remnant?"

8 And why have you provoked me to anger by the works of your hands, by offering sacrifices to other gods in the land of Egypt where you have come to settle so that you cut yourselves off and become an object of ridicule and scorn among all the nations of the earth?

9 Have you forgotten the evil deeds of your ancestors, the evil deeds of the kings of Judah, the evil deeds of their wives, your evil deeds, and the evil deeds of your wives, that they did in the land of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem?

10 To this day they haven't humbled themselves, they haven't shown reverence for the LORD, and they haven't lived according to my Law and my statutes that I set before them and before their ancestors."

11 Therefore, this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "Look, I've determined to bring disaster on you and to cut off all Judah.

12 I'll take the remnant of Judah that determined to go to the land of Egypt to settle there, and all of them will come to an end in the land of Egypt. They'll fall by the sword, and they'll come to an end by famine. They'll become a curse, an object of horror, ridicule, and scorn.

13 I'll punish those who live in the land of Egypt just as I punished Jerusalem — with the sword, with famine, and with plague.

14 Of the remnant of Judah that came into the land of Egypt to settle there, no one will escape or survive to return to the land of Judah where they long to return and live. Indeed, they won't return, except for some refugees.

15 Then all the men who knew that their wives were offering sacrifices to other gods and all the women who were standing by — a large group, including all the people who were living in the land of Egypt in Pathros — answered Jeremiah:

16 "As for the message that you reported to us in the name of the LORD, we won't listen to you!

17 Rather, we will keep doing everything that we said we would by offering sacrifices to the Queen of Heaven and by pouring out liquid offerings to her just as we, our ancestors, our kings, and our leaders did in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem. Then we had plenty of bread, things went well for us, and we didn't experience disaster.

18 From the time we stopped offering sacrifices to the Queen of Heaven and pouring out liquid offerings to her, we have lacked everything, and we have been consumed by the sword and famine.

19 Indeed, we are going to continue offering sacrifices to the Queen of Heaven and pouring out liquid offerings to her. And do you think we have made cakes to represent her or poured out liquid offerings for her without our husbands' approval?"

20 Then Jeremiah spoke a message to all the people, to the young men, to the women, and to all the people who were answering him:

21 "As for the sacrifices that you, your ancestors, your kings, your officials, and the people of the land offered in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, the LORD remembered them, did he not? And they came to his attention, did they not?

22 The LORD could no longer bear it because of your evil deeds and the repulsive things that you did. So your land has become a ruin and an object of horror and ridicule without an inhabitant, as is the case today.

23 Because you offered sacrifices and sinned against the LORD, you didn't obey the LORD and didn't live according to his Law, his statutes, or his testimonies; therefore, this disaster has happened to you, as is the case today."

24 Then Jeremiah told all the people and all the women, "All you people of Judah who are in the land of Egypt, listen to this message from the LORD!

25 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'You and your wives have spoken with your mouths and acted with your hands: "We will certainly carry through on the vows that we vowed to offer sacrifices to the Queen of Heaven and pour out liquid offerings to her!" Go ahead, carry through on your vows, and diligently do what you vowed!

26 But listen to this message from the LORD, all you people of Judah who are living in the land of Egypt. 'Look, I've sworn by my great name', says the LORD, 'my name will no longer be invoked by the mouth of any person in the entire land of Egypt, as he says, "As surely as the Lord God lives. . ."'

27 'Look, I'm watching over them to bring disaster rather than good. Every person of Judah in the land of Egypt will be brought to an end by the sword and by famine until they're completely gone.

28 The ones who escape the sword will return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah, few in number. Then all the remnant of Judah who have come into the land of Egypt to settle will know whose message will stand, mine or theirs.

29 This will be a sign to you,' declares the LORD, 'that I'll punish you in this place so that you may know that my words concerning disaster against you will surely stand.'

30 This is what the LORD says: 'Look, I'm going to give Pharaoh Hophra, king of Egypt, into the hands of his enemies and into the hands of those seeking his life, just as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who was seeking his life.

Acts 13

42 As Paul and Barnabas were leaving, the people kept urging them to tell them the same things the next Sabbath.

43 When the meeting of the synagogue broke up, many Jews and devout converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas, who kept talking to them and urging them to continue in the grace of God.

44 The next Sabbath almost the whole town gathered to hear the word of the Lord.

45 But when the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy and began to object to the statements made by Paul and even to abuse him.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas boldly declared, "We had to speak God's word to you first, but since you reject it and consider yourselves unworthy of eternal life, we are now going to turn to the gentiles.

47 For that is what the Lord ordered us to do: 'I have made you a light to the gentiles to be the means of salvation to the very ends of the earth.'"

48 When the gentiles heard this, they began rejoicing and glorifying the word of the Lord. Meanwhile, all who had been destined to eternal life believed,

49 and the word of the Lord began to spread throughout the whole region.

50 But the Jews stirred up devout women of high social standing and the officials in the city, started a persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and drove them out of their territory.

51 So Paul and Barnabas shook the dust off their feet in protest against them and went to Iconium.

52 Meanwhile, the disciples continued to be full of joy and the Holy Spirit.

Acts 14

1 In Iconium, Paul and Barnabas went into the Jewish synagogue and spoke in such a way that a great number of both Jews and Greeks believed.

2 But the Jews who refused to believe stirred up the gentiles and poisoned their minds against the brothers.

3 They stayed there a considerable time and continued to speak boldly for the Lord, who kept affirming his word of grace and granting signs and wonders to be done by them.

4 But the people of the city were divided. Some were with the Jews, while others were with the apostles.

5 Now when an attempt was made by both gentiles and Jews, along with their authorities, to mistreat and stone them,

6 Paul and Barnabas found out about it and fled to the Lycaonian towns of Lystra and Derbe and to the surrounding territory.

7 There they kept telling the good news.

8 Now in Lystra there was a man sitting down who couldn't use his feet. He had been crippled from birth and had never walked.

9 He was listening to Paul as he spoke. Paul watched him closely, and when he saw that he had faith to be healed,

10 he said in a loud voice, "Stand up straight on your feet!" Then the man jumped up and began to walk.

Jeremiah 45

1 This is the message that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to Neriah's son Baruch, when in the fourth year of the reign of Josiah's son King Jehoiakim of Judah had, at Jeremiah's dictation, written these words in a scroll:

2 "This is what the LORD God of Israel says to you, Baruch:

3 'You have said, "How terrible for me, for the LORD has added sorrow to my pain. I'm weary with my groaning, and I haven't found rest.'"

4 Say this to him: 'This is what the LORD says: "Look! What I've built I'm about to tear down, and what I've planted I'm about to pull up — and this will involve the entire land.'"

5 Are you seeking great things for yourself? Don't seek them. Indeed, I'm about to bring disaster on all flesh,' declares the LORD, 'but your life will be spared wherever you go.'"

Jeremiah 46

1 This is this message from the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the nations.

2 To Egypt: Concerning the army of Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt, which was by the Euphrates River at Carchemish and which King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon defeated in the fourth year of the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah.

3 "Prepare buckler and shield, and advance into the battle!

4 Harness the horses! Riders, mount up! Take your positions with your helmets! Polish lances, and put on armour!

5 Why am I seeing this? They're terrified, they have turned back. Their warriors are crushed, and they take flight. They don't look back. Terror is on every side," declares the LORD.

6 "The swift cannot flee, nor can the strong escape. In the north, beside the Euphrates River, they stumble and fall.

7 Who is this rising like the Nile, like rivers whose waters surge?

8 Egypt is rising like the Nile, like rivers whose waters surge. He says, 'I'll rise and cover the land. I'll destroy city and its inhabitants.'

9 Horses, get up! Chariots, drive furiously! Let the warriors go forward, Ethiopia and Put who carry shields, and the Lydians who handle and bend the bow.

10 That day belongs to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. It is a day of vengeance to take vengeance on his foes. The sword will devour and be satisfied, and will drink its fill of their blood. For the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies will hold a sacrifice in the land of the north, by the Euphrates river.

11 Go up to Gilead and get balm, virgin daughter of Egypt! In vain you multiply remedies, but there is no healing for you.

12 The nations have heard of your disgrace, and your cry of distress fills the earth. Indeed, one warrior stumbles over another, and both of them fall down together."

13 This is the message that the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet about the coming of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon to conquer the land of Egypt.

14 "Announce in Egypt, proclaim in Migdol. Proclaim also in Memphis and Tahpanhes. Say, 'Take your positions and be ready, for the sword will devour all around you.'

15 Why are your warriors prostrate? They don't stand because the LORD has brought them down.

16 They repeatedly stumble and fall. They say to each other, 'Get up! Let's go back to our people and to the land of our birth, away from the oppressor's sword.'

17 There they'll cry out, 'Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is just a big noise. He has let the appointed time pass by.'

18 As certainly as I'm alive and living," declares the King, whose name is the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. Indeed, one will come like Tabor among the mountains and like Carmel by the sea.

19 Prepare your baggage for exile, daughter living in Egypt, for Memphis will become a desolate place. It will become a ruin without inhabitant.

20 Egypt is a beautiful calf, but a horsefly from the north is surely coming.

21 Even the mercenary troops in her ranks are like a fattened calf. They too will turn around, and will flee together. They won't stand, for the day of their disaster is coming on them, the time of their punishment.

22 Her cry will be like that of a fleeing serpent when they come in strength. They're coming to her with axes like woodcutters.

23 They'll cut down her forest, though it's impenetrable," declares the LORD, "for they're more numerous than locusts, and there are too many of them to count.

24 The daughter of Egypt will be put to shame, she will be given into the hands of the people from the north."

25 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel says, "Look, I'm going to punish Amon of Thebes, Pharaoh, Egypt, its gods and its kings, Pharaoh, and those who trust in him.

26 I'll give them to those who are seeking their lives and to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and his officers. Then afterwards, Egypt will be inhabited as in times past," declares the LORD.

27 "As for you, my servant Jacob, don't be afraid, and Israel, don't be dismayed. For I'll deliver you from a distant place, and your descendants from the land of their captivity. Jacob will return. He will be undisturbed and secure, and no one will cause him to fear.

28 "As for you, my servant Jacob, don't be afraid, and Israel, don't be dismayed," declares the LORD, "for I am with you. Indeed, I'll make an end of all the nations where I scattered you; but I won't make an end of you! I'll discipline you justly, but I'll certainly not leave you unpunished."

Jeremiah 47

1 This is this message from the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines, before Pharaoh conquered Gaza.

2 This is what the LORD says: "Look, waters are rising from the north, and they'll become an overflowing river. They'll overflow the land and all that fills it — the city and those that live in it. People will cry out, and all those living in the land will wail.

3 At the sound of the galloping hooves of his horses, at the rumbling of his chariots, the clatter of his wheels, fathers won't turn back for their children because their hands are weak,

4 for the day is coming to destroy all the Philistines, to cut off from Tyre and Sidon every helper who remains. For the LORD is destroying the Philistines, the remnant of the coastlands of Caphtor.

5 Baldness is coming to Gaza. Ashkelon is silenced. Remnant of their valley, how long will you gash yourself?

6 Ah, sword of the LORD, how long before you are quiet? Put yourself into your scabbard, be at rest, be silent!

7 How can it be quiet, when the LORD has ordered disaster to come to Ashkelon and the seashore? That's where he has assigned it."

Jeremiah 48

1 To Moab: This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "How terrible for Nebo, for it's laid waste. Kiriathaim is put to shame, it's captured. The fortress is put to shame, it's shattered.

2 The pride of Moab is no more. In Heshbon they plotted evil against her: 'Come and let's eliminate her as a nation.' Madmen will also be silenced, and the sword will pursue you.

3 The sound of crying will come from Horonaim, devastation and great destruction.

4 Moab will be destroyed; her little ones will cry out.

5 Indeed, at the ascent of Luhith people will go up with bitter weeping. At the descent of Horonaim the anguished cries over the destruction will be heard.

6 Flee, save your lives, and you will be like a wild donkey in the desert.

7 But, because you trust in your deeds and your riches, you will also be captured. Chemosh will go out into exile, along with his priests and officials.

8 A destroyer will come to every town and no town will escape. The valley will be ruined and the plateau destroyed." This is what the LORD has said!

9 Put salt on Moab for she will surely fall. Her towns will become desolate places, without any inhabitants in them.

10 Cursed is the one who is slack in doing the Lord's work. Cursed is the one who holds back his sword from shedding blood.

11 Moab has been at ease from his youth. He has been undisturbed like wine on its dregs and not poured from vessel to vessel. He has not gone into exile. Therefore, his flavour has remained, and his aroma has not changed.

12 "Therefore, look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll send those who tip over vessels to him, and they'll tip him over. They'll empty his vessels and shatter his jars.

13 Moab will be ashamed because of Chemosh just as the house of Israel was ashamed because of Bethel, their confidence.

14 "How can you say, 'We're strong warriors, and soldiers ready for battle'?

15 Moab will be destroyed, and the enemy will come up against her cities. Her finest young men will go down to slaughter," declares the King, whose name is the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

16 Moab's disaster is near at hand, and his calamity is coming very quickly.

17 Mourn for him, all who live around him, and all who know his name. Say, 'Oh how the mighty rod is broken, the glorious staff.

18 Come down from glory, and sit on parched ground, O woman who lives in Dibon, for the destroyer of Moab will come up against you to destroy you. He will destroy your strongholds.

19 Stand by the road and keep watch, O woman who lives in Aroer. Ask the man who flees and the woman who escapes. Say, 'What happened'?

20 Moab will be put to shame, for it will be destroyed. Wail and cry out. Announce by the Arnon that Moab is destroyed.

21 Judgement has come to the plateau: to Holon and Jahzah, and against Mephaath,

22 Dibon, Nebo, and Beth-diblathaim,

23 against Kiriathaim, Beth-gamul, and Beth-meon,

24 against Kerioth, Bozrah, and all the towns in the land of Moab, both far and near.

25 The strength of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken," declares the LORD.

Acts 14

11 When the crowds saw what Paul had done, they shouted in the Lycaonian language, "The gods have become like men and have come down to us!"

12 They began to call Barnabas Zeus, and Paul Hermes, because he was the main speaker.

13 The priest of the temple of Zeus, which was just outside the city, brought bulls and garlands to the gates. He and the crowds wanted to offer sacrifices.

14 But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they tore their clothes and rushed out into the crowd, shouting,

15 "Men, why are you doing this? We are merely human beings with natures like yours. We are telling you the good news so you'll turn from these worthless things to the living God, who made heaven and earth, the sea, and everything in them.

16 In past generations he allowed all the nations to go their own ways,

17 yet he has not abandoned his witness: he continues to do good, to give you rain from heaven, to give you fruitful seasons, to fill you with food and your hearts with joy."

18 Even by saying this, it was all Paul and Barnabas could do to keep the crowds from offering sacrifices to them.

19 But some Jews came from Antioch and Iconium and won over the crowds by persuasion. They stoned Paul and dragged him out of the town, thinking he was dead.

20 But the disciples formed a circle around him, and he got up and went back to town. The next day he went on with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 As they were proclaiming the good news in that city, they disciplined a large number of people. Then they went back to Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch,

22 strengthening the disciples and encouraging them to continue in the faith, saying, "We must endure many hardships to get into the kingdom of God."

23 Paul and Barnabas appointed elders for them in each church, and with prayer and fasting they entrusted them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

24 Then they passed through Pisidia and came to Pamphylia.

25 They spoke the word in Perga and went down to Attalia.

26 From there they sailed back to Antioch, where they had been entrusted to the grace of God for the work they had completed.

27 When they arrived, they called the church together and told them everything that God had done with them and how he had opened a door so that gentiles would believe.

28 Then they spent a long time with the disciples.

Acts 15

1 Then some men came down from Judea and started to teach the brothers, "Unless you are circumcised according to the Law of Moses, you can't be saved."

2 Paul and Barnabas had quite a dispute and argument with them. So Paul and Barnabas and some of the others were appointed to go up to Jerusalem to confer with the apostles and elders about this question.

3 They were sent on their way by the church, and as they were going through Phoenicia and Samaria they told of the conversion of the gentiles and brought great joy to all the brothers.

4 When they arrived in Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the church, the apostles, and the elders, and they reported everything that God had done through them.

5 But some believers from the party of the Pharisees stood up and said, "The gentiles must be circumcised and ordered to keep the Law of Moses."

6 So the apostles and the elders met to look into this claim.

Jeremiah 48

26 Make him drunk for he has exalted himself against the LORD. Moab will wallow in his vomit, and he will be the object of mocking.

27 Wasn't Israel an object of mocking for you? Wasn't he treated like a thief, so that whenever you spoke about him you shook your head in contempt?

28 Abandon the cities, and live on the cliffs, you inhabitants of Moab. Be like a dove that builds a nest by the mouth of a cave.

29 We have heard about Moab's pride — he's very proud — his haughtiness, his arrogance, his insolence, and his conceit.

30 I know his gall," declares the LORD, "and it's futile; the boasting that they do is futile.

31 Therefore, I'll wail for Moab, and for the whole of Moab I'll cry out, for the men of Kirheres I'll moan.

32 More than the weeping for Jazer, I'll weep for you, vine of Sibmah. Your branches spread out to the sea, and reached as far as the Sea of Jazer. On your summer fruit and grapes the destroyer will fall.

33 Gladness and rejoicing will be taken away from the fruitful land. From the land of Moab I'll cause the wine in the wine presses to stop flowing. The workers won't tread the grapes with a loud shout. There will be no shout!

34 "From the cry of Heshbon, to Elealeh, to Jahaz they have lifted up their voice. From Zoar to Horonaim and to Eglath-shelishiyah, even the waters of Nimrim will become a desolate place.

35 In Moab," declares the LORD, "I'll put an end to the one who offers a burnt offering on the high place and to the one who burns incense to his gods.

36 Therefore my heart wails for Moab like flutes and my heart wails for the men of Kirheres like flutes. Therefore they'll lose the abundance they produced.

37 Indeed every head will be bald and every beard cut short. There will be gashes on all the hands and sackcloth on the loins.

38 On all the housetops of Moab and in the streets there will be nothing but mourning, for I'll break Moab like a vessel that no one wants," declares the LORD.

39 "How it will be shattered! How they'll wail! How Moab will turn his back in shame! Moab will be an object of ridicule and terror to all those around him."

40 For this is what the LORD says: "Look, like an eagle one will fly swiftly and spread his wings against Moab.

41 The towns will be captured and the strongholds seized. On that day the hearts of the warriors of Moab will be like the heart of a woman in labour.

42 Moab will be destroyed as a nation because he exalted himself against the LORD.

43 Terror, pit, and trap will be used against you who live in Moab," declares the LORD.

44 "The one who flees from the terror will fall into a pit. And the one who comes up out of the pit will be caught in a trap. For I'll bring upon her, that is upon Moab, the time of her punishment," declares the LORD.

45 "The fugitives will stand without strength in the shadow of Heshbon, for fire will go out from Heshbon and a flame from the middle of Sihon. It will devour the forehead of Moab and the heads of the rebellious people.

46 How terrible for you, Moab! The people of Chemosh will perish. Indeed, your sons will be taken into captivity, and your daughters as well.

47 But I'll restore the fortunes of Moab in the latter days," declares the LORD. This concludes the judgement on Moab.

Jeremiah 49

1 To the people of Ammon: This is what the LORD says: "Does Israel have no sons? Does he have no heir? Why then has Milcom taken possession of Gad, and his people settled in its towns?

2 Therefore, look, the time is coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll cause a battle cry to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites. It will become a desolate mound, and its towns will be burned with fire. Israel will take possession of those who possessed him," says the LORD.

3 "Wail, Heshbon, because Ai is destroyed. Cry out, daughters of Rabbah, put on sackcloth and lament. Run back and forth inside the walls, for Milcom is going into exile along with his priests and his princes.

4 Why do you boast in your valleys? Your valley is flowing away, faithless daughter, who trusted in her treasures, saying, 'Who will come against me?'

5 Look, I'm bringing terror on you from all around you," declares the Lord GOD of the Heavenly Armies. "You will be driven out, fleeing recklessly, and there will be no one to gather the fugitives.

6 But afterwards I'll restore the fortunes of the people of Ammon," declares the LORD.

7 To Edom: This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Is there no longer wisdom in Teman? Has counsel perished among the prudent? Is their wisdom gone?

8 Flee, turn around! Go to a remote place to stay, residents of Dedan! For I'll bring Esau's disaster on him at the time when I punish him.

9 If the grape harvesters came to you, would they not leave gleanings? If thieves came at night, they would destroy only until they had enough.

10 But I'll strip Esau bare. I'll uncover his hiding places so he cannot conceal himself. His offspring, his relatives, and his neighbours will be destroyed, and he will no longer exist.

11 Leave your orphans. I'll keep them alive. Let your widows trust in me."

12 For this is what the LORD says: "Look, those who don't deserve to drink the cup will surely drink it, and will you actually go unpunished? You won't go unpunished! You will certainly drink it!

13 Indeed, I've sworn by myself," declares the LORD, "that Bozrah will become an object of horror and scorn, a waste, and an object of ridicule. All her towns will become perpetual ruins."

14 I've heard a message from the LORD, and a messenger has been sent among the nations: "Gather together and come up against her, and rise up to fight.

15 Indeed, I'll make you the least of the nations, despised among men.

16 The terror you cause and the pride of your heart have deceived you. You who live in hidden places in the rocks, who hold on to the heights of the hill, although you make your nest high like the eagle, I'll bring you down from there," declares the LORD.

17 "Edom will become an object of horror. Everyone who passes by her will be horrified and will scoff because of all her wounds.

18 Just like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighbours," says the LORD, "no one will live there. No human being will reside in it.

19 Look, like a lion comes up from the thicket of the Jordan to a pasture that grows year round, so I'll drive them away from her in an instant, and I'll appoint whomever is chosen over her. Indeed, who is like me? Who gives me counsel? Who is the shepherd who will stand against me?"

20 Therefore, hear the plan that the LORD has made against Edom, and the strategy that he devised against the inhabitants of Teman. Surely he will drag the little ones of the flock away. Surely their pasture will be desolate because of them.

21 The earth will quake at the sound of their fall. A cry — it's her voice — is heard at the Red Sea.

22 Look, he will rise up and fly swiftly like an eagle. He will spread his wings against Bozrah, and on that day the hearts of the warriors of Edom will be like the heart of a woman in labour.

23 To Damascus: "Hamath and Arpad will be humiliated. Their courage melts because they have heard bad news. There is anxiety like the sea that cannot be calmed.

24 Damascus will become weak. She will turn to flee, but panic will seize her. Distress and anguish will take hold of her like that of a woman giving birth.

25 Why is the famous city, the joyful town, not abandoned?

26 Therefore her young men will fall in her streets, and all her soldiers will be silenced on that day, declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

27 I'll kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, and it will devour the strongholds of Ben-hadad."

28 To Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor that King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon destroyed: This is what the LORD says: "Arise, go against Kedar! Plunder the people of the east!

29 Take their tents and their flocks, their tent curtains and all their goods. Take their camels away from them. Cry out against them, 'Terror is all around!'

30 Flee! Run away quickly! Go to a remote place to stay, residents of Hazor," declares the LORD. For King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon has formed a plan and devised a strategy against them."

31 "Arise, go up against a nation at ease, living securely," declares the LORD, "without gates or bars, living alone.

32 Their camels will become booty, their many herds will become spoil. I'll scatter to the winds those who shave the corners of their beards, and I'll bring disaster on them from every side," declares the LORD.

33 "Hazor will become a dwelling place for jackals, a perpetual wasteland. No one will live there; no human being will reside in it.

34 This is what came as a message from the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet about Elam at the beginning of the reign of King Zedekiah of Judah:

35 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Look, I'm going to break the bow of Elam, the finest of their troops.

36 I'll bring the four winds against Elam from the four corners of the heavens, and I'll scatter them to all these winds. There will be no nation to which the exiles from Elam won't go.

37 I'll terrify Elam before their enemies and before those who seek to kill them. I'll bring on them disaster and become fiercely angry at them," declares the LORD. I'll send the sword after them, until I've made an end of them.

38 I'll put my throne in Elam, and destroy the king and the officials there," declares the LORD.

39 "But in the latter days I'll restore the fortunes of Elam," declares the LORD.

Acts 15

7 After a lengthy debate, Peter stood up and told them, "Brothers, you know that in the early days God chose me to be the one among you through whom the gentiles would hear the message of the gospel and believe.

8 God, who knows everyone's heart, showed them he approved by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as he did to us.

9 He made no distinction between them and us, because of their faith-cleansed hearts.

10 So why do you test God by putting on the disciples' neck a yoke that neither our ancestors nor we could carry?

11 We certainly believe that it is through the grace of the Lord Jesus, the Messiah, that we are saved, just as they are."

12 The whole crowd was silent as they listened to Barnabas and Paul tell about all the signs and wonders that God had done through them among the gentiles.

13 After Paul and Barnabas had finished speaking, James responded, "Brothers, listen to me:

14 Simeon has explained how God first showed his concern for the gentiles by taking from among them a people for his name.

15 This agrees with the words of the prophets. As it is written,

16 "After this, I will come back and set up David's fallen tent again. I will restore its ruined places and set it up again

17 so that the rest of the people may search for the Lord, including all the gentiles who are called by my name," declares the Lord. 'He is the one who has been doing these things that have been known from long ago.'

19 Therefore, I have decided that we should not trouble these gentiles who are turning to God.

20 Instead, we should write to them to keep away from things polluted by idols, from sexual immorality, from anything strangled, and from blood.

21 After all, Moses has had people to proclaim him in every city for generations, and on every Sabbath his books are read aloud in the synagogues."

22 Then the apostles, the elders, and the whole church decided to choose some of their men to send with Paul and Barnabas to Antioch. These were Judas, who was called Barsabbas, and Silas, who were leaders among the brothers.

23 They wrote this letter for them to deliver:

"From: The apostles and the elders, your brothers

To: Their gentile brothers in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia.

Greetings.

24 We have heard that some men, coming from us without instructions from us, have said things to trouble you and have unsettled you.

25 So we have unanimously decided to choose men and send them to you with our dear Barnabas and Paul,

26 who have risked their lives for the sake of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas to tell you the same things by word of mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us not to place on you any burden but these essential requirements:

29 to keep away from food sacrificed to idols, from blood, from anything strangled, and from sexual immorality. If you avoid these things, you will do well.

Goodbye."

Jeremiah 50

- 1 This is the message that the LORD spoke through the prophet Jeremiah about Babylon, the land of the Chaldeans.
- 2 "Declare and proclaim among the nations. Lift up a banner and proclaim. Don't conceal anything. Say, 'Babylon will be captured. Bel will be disgraced, and Marduk will be destroyed. Her idols will be disgraced, and her filthy images will be destroyed.'
- 3 For a nation from the north will go up against her. It will make her land into an object of horror, and no one will live in it. Both people and animals will wander off, and they'll leave.
- 4 In those days, and at that time," declares the LORD, "the people of Israel will come together with the people of Judah. They'll be weeping as they travel along, and they'll be seeking the LORD their God.
- 5 They'll ask the way to Zion, turning their faces in that direction. They'll come and join themselves to the LORD in an everlasting covenant that won't be forgotten.
- 6 My people have become lost sheep. Their shepherds have led them astray, turning them toward the mountains. They go from mountain to hill. They have forgotten their resting place.
- 7 All who find them devour them, but their enemies say, 'We're not guilty, because they have sinned against the LORD, the habitation of righteousness, the LORD, the hope of their ancestors.'
- 8 Move away from the middle of Babylon, and go out of the land of the Chaldeans. Be like male goats at the head of the flock.
- 9 Indeed, I'm going to stir up and bring against Babylon a great company of nations from the land of the north. They'll deploy for battle against her, and from there she will be captured. Their arrows will be like a skilled warrior; they won't miss their targets.
- 10 The Chaldeans will become plunder, and all who plunder them will get more than enough," declares the LORD.
- 11 "Though you rejoice, though you exult, you plunderers of my inheritance, though you skip around like a heifer in the grass and neigh like stallions,
- 12 Your mother will be greatly devastated, she who gave birth to you will be ashamed. She will become the least of the nations, a wilderness, a dry land, and a desert.
- 13 Because of the anger of the LORD she won't be inhabited, but will be utterly devastated. Everyone who passes by Babylon will be horrified and will scoff because of all her wounds.
- 14 Deploy the troops all around Babylon. All who bend the bow, shoot at her and spare no arrows, for she has sinned against the LORD.
- 15 Raise a battle cry against her on every side. She has surrendered, her pillars have fallen, her walls are thrown down. For this is the vengeance of the LORD. Take vengeance on her; as she has done, do to her.
- 16 Eliminate from Babylon the one who plants seeds and the one who uses the sickle at harvest time. Because of the oppressor's sword, let each one turn toward his own people and flee to his own land.
- 17 "Israel is a scattered flock, driven out by lions. The first to devour him was the king of Assyria, and then afterward King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon gnawed his bones.
- 18 Therefore this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: 'Look, I'm about to judge the king of Babylon and his land, just as I've judged the king of Assyria.
- 19 I'll bring Israel back to his pasture. He will graze on Carmel, on Bashan, on Mt. Ephraim, and on Gilead — his hunger will be satisfied.
- 20 In those days and at that time,' declares the LORD, 'the iniquity of Israel will be searched for, but there will be none; and the sin of Judah, but none will be found, because I'll pardon those I leave as a remnant.'"

21 "Go up against the land of Merathaim and the inhabitants of Pekod. Kill them with swords, and completely destroy them," declares the LORD, "and do everything that I've commanded you.

22 The noise of battle is in the land, and great destruction.

23 How the hammer of all the earth is cut off and broken! How Babylon has become a horror among the nations!

24 I'll set a trap for you, and you will be caught, Babylon, but you don't realize it. You will be found and also seized, because you challenged the LORD!"

25 The LORD will open his armoury, and bring out the weapons of his anger. Indeed, a work of the Lord God of the Heavenly Armies will be in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 "Come to her from afar. Open up her barns. Pile her up like heaps of grain, and completely destroy her. Don't leave any survivors.

27 "Put all her bulls to the sword, let them go down to the slaughter. How terrible for them because their day has come, the time of their judgement.

28 "The sound of fugitives and refugees will come from the land of Babylon to declare in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God, vengeance for his Temple.

29 "Summon many to Babylon, all those who bend the bow. Camp all around her, let no one escape. Repay her according to her deeds. Do to her just as she has done. For she has behaved arrogantly against the Lord, against the Holy One of Israel.

30 Therefore, her warriors will fall in her streets, and all her soldiers will be silenced on that day," declares the LORD.

31 Look, I'm against you, arrogant one," declares the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies. "Indeed your day is coming, the time of your judgement.

32 The arrogant one will stumble and fall, and there will be no one to lift him up. I'll set fire to his cities, and it will devour everything around him."

33 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "The people of Israel are oppressed, along with the people of Judah. All their captors have held on to them and refused to let them go.

34 Their Redeemer is strong, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name. He will vigorously plead their case in order to bring rest to the earth, but turmoil to the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 A sword against the Chaldeans," declares the LORD, "and against the inhabitants of Babylon, against her officials and her wise men.

36 A sword against the diviners. They'll be made fools. A sword against her warriors. They'll be shattered.

37 A sword against her horses, against her chariots, and against all the foreign troops in her midst. They'll become women. A sword against her treasures. They'll be plundered.

38 A drought against her waters. They'll dry up. For it's a land of idols, and they go mad over their terrifying images.

39 Therefore the desert creatures along with hyenas will live there. They'll live in it with ostriches, but people won't live in it again. They won't inhabit it from generation to generation.

40 Just as when God overthrew Sodom, Gomorrah, and their neighbours," declares the LORD, "so also no one will live there. No human being will reside in it."

41 "Look, people are coming from the north. A great nation and many kings will be stirred up from the ends of the earth.

42 They grab bow and spear. They're cruel and show no mercy. Their sound roars like the sea, as they ride on horses deployed like men ready for battle against you, daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon has heard the news about them, and his hands hang limp. Distress has seized him, like a woman in labour.

44 "Look, like a lion comes up from the thicket of the Jordan to a pasture that grows year round, so I'll drive them away from her in an instant, and I'll appoint whomever is chosen over her. Indeed, who is like me? Who gives me counsel? Who is the shepherd who will stand against me?"

45 Therefore, hear the plan that the LORD has made against Babylon, and the strategy that he devised against the land of the Chaldeans. Surely they'll drag the little ones of the flock away. Surely their pasture will be desolate because of them.

46 At the shout that Babylon has been seized, the earth will be shaken, and the cry will be heard among the nations.

Jeremiah 51

1 This is what the LORD says: "Look, I'm going to stir up a destroying wind against Babylon and the inhabitants of Leb-kamai.

2 I'll send foreigners to Babylon, and they'll winnow her, and devastate her land. They'll come against her from every side on the day of her disaster.

3 Don't let the archer bend the bow; don't let him rise up in his armour. Don't spare her young men. Completely destroy her entire army.

4 The slain will fall in the land of Chaldea, pierced through in her streets.

5 Indeed, Israel and Judah haven't been abandoned by their God, by the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, although their land is full of guilt against the Holy One of Israel."

6 Flee from Babylon, and each of you, escape with your life! Don't be destroyed because of her guilt, for it's time for the LORD's vengeance. He is paying back what is due to her.

7 Babylon was a golden cup in the LORD's hand, making the whole earth drunk. The nations drank her wine, therefore the nations have gone mad.

8 Suddenly Babylon fell down and was shattered. Wail for her! Bring balm for her wound, perhaps she will be healed.

9 We tried to heal Babylon, but she wouldn't be healed. Leave her, and let each of us go to his own country. For her judgement has reached to the heavens, and is lifted up to the sky.

10 The LORD will vindicate us. Come! Let us declare the work of the LORD our God in Zion.

11 Sharpen the arrows, fill the quivers! The LORD has stirred up the spirit of the kings of the Medes — he has decided to destroy Babylon. Indeed, it's the LORD's vengeance, vengeance for his Temple.

12 Lift up the battle standard against Babylon's walls. Strengthen the guard; post watchmen. Set men in position for an ambush. For the LORD will both plan and carry out what he has declared against the inhabitants of Babylon.

13 You who live beside many waters, rich in treasures, your end has come, your life thread is cut.

14 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies has sworn by himself: "I'll surely fill you with soldiers like a swarm of locusts, and they'll sing songs of victory over you."

Acts 15

30 So the men were sent on their way and arrived in Antioch. They gathered the congregation together and delivered the letter.

31 When the people read it, they were pleased with how the letter encouraged them.

32 Then Judas and Silas, who were also prophets, said a lot to encourage and strengthen the brothers.

33 After staying there for some time, they were sent back with a greeting from the brothers to those who had sent them.

35 Both Paul and Barnabas remained in Antioch to teach and proclaim the word of the Lord, as did many others.

36 A few days later, Paul told Barnabas, "Let's go back and visit the brothers in every town where we proclaimed the word of the Lord and see how they're doing."
37 Barnabas wanted to take along John, who was called Mark,
38 but Paul did not think it was right to take along the man who had deserted them in Pamphylia and who had not gone with them into the work.
39 The disagreement was so sharp that they parted ways. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus,
40 while Paul chose Silas and left after the brothers had entrusted him to the grace of the Lord.
41 He went through Syria and Cilicia and strengthened the churches.

Acts 16

1 Paul also went to Derbe and Lystra, where there was a disciple named Timothy, the son of a believing Jewish wife whose husband was a Greek.
2 Timothy was highly regarded by the brothers in Lystra and Iconium.
3 Paul wanted this man to go with him, so he took him and had him circumcised because of the Jews who lived in that region, because everyone knew that Timothy's father was a Greek.
4 As they went from town to town, they delivered the decisions reached by the apostles and elders in Jerusalem for them to obey.
5 So the churches continued to be strengthened in the faith and to increase in numbers every day.
6 Because they had been prevented by the Holy Spirit from speaking the word in Asia, Paul and Timothy went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia.
7 They went as far as Mysia and tried to enter Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not permit them,
8 so they bypassed Mysia and went down to Troas.

Jeremiah 51

15 He made the earth by his power. He established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding he spread out the heavens.

16 When his voice sounds, there is thunder from the waters of heaven, and he makes clouds rise up from the ends of the earth. He makes lightning for the rain and brings wind out of his storehouses.

17 Everyone is stupid and without knowledge. Every goldsmith is put to shame by his own idols, for his images are false, and there is no life in them.

18 They're worthless, a work of mockery, and when the time of punishment comes, they'll perish.

19 The Portion of Jacob is not like these. He made everything, including the tribe of his inheritance. The LORD of the Heavenly Armies is his name.

20 "You are my war-club and weapons of war. I'll smash nations with you and destroy kingdoms with you.

21 I'll smash the horse and its rider with you. I'll smash the chariot and its rider with you.

22 I'll smash man and woman with you. I'll smash old man and young boy with you. I'll smash young man and young woman with you.

23 I'll smash the shepherd and his flock with you. I'll smash the farmer and his team of oxen with you. I'll smash governors and officials with you.

24 "Before your eyes I'll repay Babylon and all the inhabitants of Chaldea for all the evil that they did in Zion," declares the LORD.

25 "Look, I'm against you, destroying mountain, who destroys the whole earth," declares the LORD. "I'll stretch out my hand against you and roll you down from the crags. And I'll make you a burned-out mountain.

26 They won't get a cornerstone or a foundation stone from you, because you will be a wasteland forever," declares the LORD.

27 Lift up a battle standard in the land. Blow a trumpet among the nations. Consecrate the nations against her. Summon the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz against her. Appoint a commander against her, bring up horses like bristling locusts.

28 Consecrate the nations against her, the kings of the Medes, their governors, their prefects, and every land under their domination.

29 The land quakes and writhes because the LORD's purposes against Babylon stand firm, to make the land of Babylon a waste without inhabitants.

30 The warriors of Babylon have stopped fighting. They stay in their strongholds; their strength is dried up; they have become like women. Her buildings are set on fire; the bars of her gates are broken.

31 One runner runs to meet another runner, and one messenger to meet another messenger, to tell the king of Babylon that his city has been seized from one end to the other.

32 The fords have been captured, and the marshes burned with fire. The soldiers are terrified.

33 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, says: "The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing floor at the time when it's pounded down. In just a little while, the time of her harvest will come."

34 "King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon has devoured me and crushed me. He set me down like an empty vessel. He swallowed me like a monster, and filled his belly with my delicacies. Then he washed me away.

35 May the violence done to me and my flesh be on Babylon," says the inhabitant of Zion. "May my blood be on the inhabitants of Chaldea," says Jerusalem.

36 Therefore this is what the LORD says: "Look, I'm going to argue your case and take vengeance for you. I'll dry up her sea and make her fountain dry.

37 Babylon will become a heap of ruins, a refuge for jackals, a desolate place and an object of scorn.

38 They'll roar together like young lions; they'll growl like lion cubs.

39 When they're excited I'll serve them their banquet, and make them drunk until they're merry. They'll sleep forever and won't wake up," declares the LORD.

40 "I'll bring them down like lambs for the slaughter, like rams with male goats."

41 "How Sheshak will be captured, and the prince of all the earth seized. How Babylon will become an object of horror among the nations!

42 The sea will come up against Babylon, and she will be covered by wave upon wave.

43 Her cities will become an object of horror, a dry land and a desert, a land in which no one lives, and through which no human being passes.

44 I'll punish Bel in Babylon, and I'll make what he has swallowed come out of his mouth. The nations will no longer stream to him. Even the wall of Babylon will fall.

45 "Come out of her, my people, flee for your lives from the LORD's anger!

46 And now, so your heart does not grow faint, and so you don't become frightened because of the rumours that are heard in the land — a rumour comes one year and then after it another rumour comes the next year about violence in the land and one ruler against another ruler.

47 Therefore, look, days are coming when I'll punish the idols of Babylon. Her entire land will be put to shame, and all her slain will fall in her midst.

48 Then the heavens and the earth and all that are in them will shout for joy about Babylon because the destroyers will come out of the north against her," declares the LORD.

49 "So Babylon will fall because of the slain of Israel, even as the slain of all the earth have fallen because of Babylon.

50 Go, you who escaped the sword! Don't stand around! Remember the LORD from far away, and let Jerusalem come to your mind.

51 We have been put to shame because we have heard insults. Disgrace has covered our faces because foreigners have come into the Holy Places of the LORD's house.

52 "Therefore, look, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I'll punish her idols, and throughout her land the wounded will groan.

53 "Though Babylon should reach up to the heavens and fortify her high fortresses, from me destroyers will come to her," declares the LORD.

54 The sound of a cry is coming from Babylon, great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans.

55 For the LORD is destroying Babylon, and he will make the loud sounds from her disappear. Their waves will roar like many waters, the noise of their voices will sound forth.

56 Indeed, the destroyer is coming against her, against Babylon. Her warriors are captured, and her bows are broken. For the LORD is a God of recompense, and he will repay in full.

57 I'll make their leaders, their wise men, their governors, their deputies, and their warriors drunk so that they sleep forever and don't wake up," declares the King whose name is the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

58 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "The broad wall of Babylon will be completely levelled, and its high gate set on fire. and so the peoples toil for nothing, and the nations weary themselves only for fire."

59 This is the message that Jeremiah the prophet delivered to Neriah's son Seraiah, the grandson of Mahseiah, when he went with King Zedekiah of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. Seraiah was the quartermaster.

60 Jeremiah wrote on a single scroll all the disasters that would come on Babylon, all these things that were written about Babylon.

61 Jeremiah told Seraiah, "When you come to Babylon, see that you read all these words, 62 and say, 'LORD, you have declared about this place that you would destroy it so that there wouldn't be an inhabitant in it, neither human nor animal, because it will be a wasteland forever.'

63 When you finish reading this scroll, tie a rock around it and throw it into the middle of the Euphrates.

64 Then say, 'Babylon will sink like this and won't rise from the disaster that I'm bringing on her. Her people will be exhausted.'" This concludes the writings of Jeremiah.

Jeremiah 52

1 Zedekiah was 21 years old when he began to rule, and he ruled for 11 years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 Zedekiah had done evil in the LORD's sight, just as Jehoiakim had done.

3 Because Jerusalem and Judah had angered the Lord, he cast them out of his presence. Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon,

4 and in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came against Jerusalem with all his army. He encamped near it and set up siege works all around it.

5 The city was under siege until the eleventh year of the reign of King Zedekiah.

6 By the ninth day of the fourth month the famine became so severe that there was no food for the people of the land.

7 The wall of the city was broken through, and all the soldiers fled, leaving the city at night through the gate between the two walls next to the king's garden, even though the Chaldeans were all around the city. They went in the direction of the Arabah.

8 The Chaldean army went after the king, overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and all his troops were scattered from him.

9 They captured the king and brought him to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, where the king of Babylon passed judgement on him.

10 The king of Babylon killed Zedekiah's sons before his eyes, and he also killed all the Judean officials at Riblah.

11 He blinded Zedekiah and bound him in bronze shackles. Then the king of Babylon took him to Babylon and put him in prison until he died.

12 In the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month — it was the nineteenth year of the reign of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon — Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard who served the king of Babylon, entered Jerusalem.

13 He burned the LORD's Temple, the king's house, and all the houses in Jerusalem. He also burned every public building with fire.

14 All the Chaldean troops who were with the captain of the bodyguard tore down all the walls around Jerusalem.

15 Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard carried into exile some of the poorest of the people, the rest of the people left in the city, the deserters who had defected to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the craftsmen.

16 But Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard left some of the poorest people of the land to be vinedressers and farmers.

Acts 16

9 During the night Paul had a vision. A man from Macedonia was standing there and pleading with him, "Come over to Macedonia and help us!"

10 As soon as he had seen the vision, we immediately looked for a way to go to Macedonia, because we were convinced that God had called us to tell the people there the good news.

11 Sailing from Troas, we went straight to Samothrace, the next day to Neapolis,

12 and from there to Philippi, an important city of the district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. We were in this city for several days.

13 On the Sabbath day we went out of the city gate and walked along the river, where we thought there was a place of prayer. We sat down and began talking to the women who had gathered there.

14 A woman named Lydia, from the city of Thyatira, a dealer in purple goods, was listening to us. She was a worshipper of God, and the Lord opened her heart to listen carefully to what was being said by Paul.

15 When she and her family were baptized, she urged us, "If you are convinced that I am a believer in the Lord, come and stay at my home." And she continued to insist that we do so.

16 Once, as we were going to the place of prayer, we met a slave girl who had a spirit of fortune-telling and who had brought her owners a great deal of money by predicting the future.

17 She would follow Paul and us and shout, "These men are servants of the Most High God and are proclaiming to you a way of salvation!"

18 She kept doing this for many days until Paul became annoyed, turned to her and told the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus the Messiah to come out of her!" And it came out that very moment.

19 When her owners realized that their hope of making money was gone, they grabbed Paul and Silas and dragged them before the authorities in the public square.

20 They brought them before the magistrates and said, "These men are stirring up a lot of trouble in our city. They are Jews

21 and are advocating customs that we are not allowed to accept or practise as Romans."

22 The crowd joined in the attack against them. Then the magistrates had Paul and Silas stripped of their clothes and ordered them beaten with rods.

23 After giving them a severe beating, they threw them in jail and ordered the jailer to keep them under tight security.

24 Having received these orders, he put them into the inner cell and fastened their feet in leg irons.

Jeremiah 52

17 The Chaldeans broke in pieces the bronze pillars that were in the LORD's Temple and the stands and the bronze sea that were in the LORD's Temple, and they carried all the bronze to Babylon.

18 They took away the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the basins, the pans, and all the bronze utensils that were used in the temple service.

19 The captain of the bodyguard took away the bowls, the fire pans, the basins, the pots, the lamp stands, the pans, and the bowls for libations, both those made of gold and those made of silver.

20 There was too much bronze to weigh in the two pillars, the one sea, the twelve bronze oxen that were under the sea, and the stands which king Solomon had made for the LORD's Temple.

21 Each of the pillars was eighteen feet high and its circumference eighteen feet. It was hollow and about three inches thick.

22 On each pillar was a capital of bronze. And the height of each capital was seven and a half feet. Latticework and pomegranates, all of bronze, were all around the capital. And the second pillar was like this, including the pomegranates.

23 There were 96 pomegranates open to view. In all, there were 100 pomegranates all around the latticework.

24 The captain of the bodyguard arrested Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the next ranking priest, and the three guards of the gate.

25 From the city he arrested one of the officers who had been in charge of the troops, seven men from the king's personal advisors who were found in the city, the secretary of the commander of the army who mustered the people of the land, and 60 men of the people of the land who were found inside the city.

26 Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard arrested them and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah.

27 The king of Babylon struck them down and killed them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah went into exile from the land.

28 These are the people Nebuchadnezzar took into exile: in the seventh year, 3,023 Judeans;

29 in Nebuchadnezzar's eighteenth year, 832 people from Jerusalem;

30 in Nebuchadnezzar's twenty-third year, Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard took 745 people from Judah into exile. All the people taken into exile numbered 4,600.

31 In the first year of his reign, King Evil-merodach of Babylon, showed favour to King Jehoiachin of Judah by releasing him from prison on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month in the thirty-seventh year of the exile of King Jehoiachin of Judah.

32 He spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat above the seats of the other kings who were in Babylon with him.

33 Jehoiachin changed his prison clothes and regularly dined with the king as long as he lived.

34 As for his allowance, a regular allowance was given him daily by the king of Babylon as long as he lived, until the day of his death.

Lamentations 1

1 How lonely she lies, the city that thronged with people! Like a widow she has become, this great one among nations! The princess among provinces has become a vassal.

2 Bitterly she cries in the night, as tears stream down her cheeks. No one consoles her of all her friends. All her neighbours have betrayed her; they have become her enemies.

3 Judah has gone into exile to escape affliction and servitude. She that sat among the nations, has found no rest. All her pursuers overtook her amid narrow passes.

4 The roads that lead to Zion are in mourning, because no one travels to the festivals. All her gates are desolate; her priests are moaning. Her young women are grieving, and she is bitter.

5 Her adversaries dominate her, her enemies prosper. For the LORD has made her suffer because of her many transgressions. Her children have gone away, taken into captivity in the presence of the enemy.

6 Fled from cherished Zion are all that were her splendour. Her princes have become like deer that cannot find their feeding grounds. They flee with strength exhausted from their pursuers.

7 Jerusalem remembers her time of affliction and misery; all her valued belongings of days gone by, when her people fell into enemy hands, with no one to help her, and her enemies stared at her, mocking her downfall.

8 Jerusalem sinned greatly, and she became unclean. All who honoured her now despise her, because they saw her naked. She herself groans and turns her face away.

9 Uncleaness has soiled her skirts, and she gave no thought to what would follow. She fell in such a startling way, with no one to comfort her. Look, LORD, upon my affliction, because my enemy is boasting.

10 The adversary seized in his hands everything she valued. She watched the nations enter her sanctuary; those you forbade to enter your place of meeting.

11 All her people groaned as they searched for food. They traded their valuables in order to eat, to keep themselves alive. Look, LORD, and see how I have become dishonoured.

12 May it not befall you, all who pass along the road! Look and see: Is there any grief like my grief dealt out to me, by which the LORD afflicted me in the time of his fierce wrath?

13 He sent fire from on high, making it penetrate my bones. He stretched out a net at my feet, forcing me to turn back. He made me desolate; I'm fainting all day long.

14 The yoke of my sins was bound on, fastened together by his hand. They settled on my neck; he caused my strength to fail. The LORD placed me in the power of those I cannot resist.

15 He rejected all the valiant men — the LORD, in my midst. He set a time to meet with me to crush my young warriors. The LORD has trampled, as in a winepress, the fair virgin that is Judah.

16 Because of all this, I weep; my eyes stream with tears because far from me is the comforter of my soul. My children are sorrowful, because the enemy has won.

17 Zion spreads out her hands; no one is there to comfort her. The LORD has issued an order against Jacob, that all who are around him are to be his enemies; Jerusalem has become unclean among them.

18 The LORD is in the right, but I rebelled against his commands. Listen, please, all you people, and look at my pain — my young men and women have gone into captivity.

19 I called out to my lovers, but they deceived me. My priests and my elders have died within the city while looking for something to eat to keep themselves alive.

20 Look, LORD, how distressed I am; all my insides are churning. My heart is troubled within me, because I vigorously rebelled. Outside the sword brings loss of life, while at home death rules.

21 People heard how I groan, with no one to comfort me. All my adversaries have heard about my troubles; they rejoice that you have caused them. Bring on the day you have promised, so my adversaries will become like me.

22 May all of their wickedness come to your attention, and deal with them as you have done with me because of all my transgressions. For I am constantly groaning, and my heart is faint.

Lamentations 2

1 How the Lord in his wrath shamed cherished Zion! He cast down from heaven to earth the glory of Israel, He did not remember his footstool in the time of his anger.

2 The Lord swallowed up without pity all of Jacob's habitations. In his wrath he tore down the strongholds of fair Judah. He cast to the ground in dishonour both her kingdom and its rulers.

3 In his fierce wrath he cut off all the strength of Israel. He withdrew his protection as the enemy approached. He burned Jacob like a blazing fire consumes everything around it.

4 He bent his bow against us as would an enemy, his right hand cocked as would an adversary. He has killed everyone in whom we took pride; in the tent of cherished Zion he poured out his anger like fire.

5 The Lord has become like an enemy — he has devoured Israel. He has devoured all of her palaces, destroying her fortresses. He filled cherished Judah with mourning and lament.

6 He ploughed under his Temple like a garden, spoiling his tent. The LORD abolished in Zion both festivals and Sabbaths. In his fierce wrath he despised both king and priest.

7 The Lord rejected his altar, disavowing his sanctuary. He gave up her palace walls to the control of the enemy. They shouted in the LORD's Temple, as though they were attending a day of celebration.

8 The LORD planned to destroy the walls of cherished Zion. He measured them with his line. He did not withhold his hand from destruction. He made both ramparts and defensive walls mourn; they languish together.

9 Jerusalem's gates collapsed to the ground; he destroyed and broke the bars of her gates. Both king and prince have gone into captivity. There is no instruction, and the prophets receive no vision from the LORD.

10 The leaders of cherished Zion sit silently on the ground; they throw dust on their heads and dress in mourning clothes. The young women of Jerusalem bow their heads in sorrow.

11 My eyes are worn out from crying, my insides are churning, My emotions pour out in grief because my people are destroyed — Children and infants faint in the streets of the city.

12 They ask their mothers "Is there anything to eat or drink?" They faint in the streets of the city like wounded men. Their life ebbs away while they lie on their mother's bosom.

13 What can be said about you? To what should you be compared, fair Jerusalem? To what may I liken you, so I may comfort you, fair one of Zion? Indeed, your wound is as deep as the sea — who can heal you?

14 Your prophets look on your behalf; they see false and deceptive visions. They did not expose your sins in order to restore what had been captured. Instead, they crafted oracles for you that are false and misleading.

15 Everyone who passes by on the road shake their fists at you. They hiss and shake their heads at cherished Jerusalem: "Is this the city men used to call 'The Perfection of Beauty,' and 'The Joy of the Entire Earth'?"

16 All of your enemies insult you with gaping mouths. They hiss and grind their teeth while saying, "We have devoured her completely. Yes, this is the day that we anticipated! We found it at last; we have seen it!"

17 The LORD did what he planned. He carried out his threat. Just as he commanded long ago, he has torn down without pity; He let the enemy boast about you and has exalted the power of your enemies.

18 Cry out from your heart to the Lord, wall of fair Zion! Let your tears run down like a river day and night. Allow yourself no rest, and don't stop crying.

19 Get up and cry aloud in the night, at the beginning of every hour. Pour out your heart like water in the presence of the Lord! Lift up your hands toward him for the lives of your children, who are fainting away at every street corner.

20 Look, LORD, and take note: To whom have you done this? Should women eat their offspring, the children they have cuddled? Should priests and prophets be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord?

21 Young men and the aged lie on the ground in the streets; my young women and young men have fallen by the sword. You killed them in your anger, slaughtering them without pity.

22 You have invited those who terrorize me to come around, as if today were a festival. No one has escaped or survived the time of the LORD's anger. My enemy has finished off those whom I cuddled and raised.

Acts 16

25 Around midnight, Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the other prisoners were listening to them.

26 Suddenly, there was an earthquake so violent that the foundations of the prison were shaken. All the doors immediately flew open, and everyone's chains were unfastened.

27 When the jailer woke up and saw the prison doors wide open, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, since he thought the prisoners had escaped.

28 But Paul shouted in a loud voice, "Don't hurt yourself, because we are all here!"

29 The jailer asked for torches and rushed inside. Trembling as he knelt in front of Paul and Silas,

30 he took them outside and asked, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"

31 They answered, "Believe on the Lord Jesus, and you and your family will be saved."

32 Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and everyone in his home.

33 At that hour of the night he took them and washed their wounds. Then he and his entire family were baptized immediately.

34 He brought Paul and Silas upstairs into his house and set food before them. He was thrilled, as was his household, to believe in God.

35 When day came, the magistrates sent guards, who commanded, "Release those men."

36 The jailer reported these words to Paul, and added, "The magistrates have sent word to release you. So come out now and go in peace."

37 But Paul told the guards, "The magistrates have had us beaten publicly without a trial and have thrown us into jail, even though we are Roman citizens. Now are they going to throw us out secretly? Certainly not! Have them come and escort us out."

38 The guards reported these words to the magistrates, and they became afraid when they heard that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens.

39 So the magistrates came, apologized to them, and escorted them out. Then they asked them to leave the city.

40 Leaving the jail, Paul and Silas went to Lydia's house. They saw the brothers, encouraged them, and then left.

Acts 17

1 Paul and Silas travelled through Amphipolis and Apollonia and came to Thessalonica, where there was a Jewish synagogue.

2 As usual, Paul entered there and on three Sabbaths discussed the Scriptures with them.

3 He explained and showed them that the Messiah had to suffer and rise from the dead: "This very Jesus whom I proclaim to you is the Messiah."

4 Some of them were persuaded and began to be associated with Paul and Silas, especially a large crowd of devout Greeks and the wives of many prominent men.

5 But the Jews became jealous, and they took some contemptible characters who used to hang out in the public square, formed a mob, and started a riot in the city. They attacked Jason's home and searched it for Paul and Silas in order to bring them out to the people.

6 When they didn't find them, they dragged Jason and some other brothers before the city officials and shouted, "These fellows who have turned the world upside down have come here, too,

7 and Jason has welcomed them as his guests. All of them oppose the emperor's decrees by saying that there is another king — Jesus!"

8 The crowd and the city officials were upset when they heard this,

9 but after they had gotten a bond from Jason and the others they let them go.

Lamentations 3

- 1 I am a man familiar with affliction — under the rod of God's anger.
- 2 He has led me — brought me into darkness, not into light.
- 3 He truly turned his hand against me, again and again, all day long.
- 4 He made my flesh and skin prematurely old; he broke my bones.
- 5 He laid siege against me, surrounding me with bitterness and suffering.
- 6 He has forced me to live in darkness, like those who are long dead.
- 7 He has walled me in so I cannot escape; he placed heavy chains on me.
- 8 Indeed, when I cry out, calling for help, he shuts out my prayer.
- 9 He impeded my way with blocks of stone, making my paths uneven.
- 10 He is like a bear that lies in wait for me, a lion in hiding.
- 11 He forced me off my path, tearing me to pieces and making me desolate.
- 12 He bent his bow, aiming at me with his arrow.
- 13 He caused his war arrows to pierce my vital organs.
- 14 I have become a laughingstock to all my people, the object of their taunts throughout the day.
- 15 He has filled me with bitterness, making me drink wormwood.
- 16 He broke my teeth on gravel, covering me with dust.
- 17 You have removed peace from my life; I have forgotten what prosperity is.
- 18 So I say, "My strength is gone as is my hope in the LORD."
- 19 Remember my affliction and homelessness — wormwood and gall!
- 20 My mind keeps reflecting on it, and I become depressed.
- 21 This is what comes to mind, and therefore I have hope:
- 22 Because of the LORD's gracious love we are not consumed, since his compassions never end.
- 23 They are new every morning — great is your faithfulness!
- 24 "The LORD is all I have," says my soul, "Therefore I will trust in him."
- 25 The LORD is good to those who wait for him, to the person who searches for him.
- 26 It is good to hope and wait patiently for the LORD's salvation.
- 27 It is good when a young man carries the yoke of discipline in his youth.
- 28 He is to sit apart and remain silent, because the LORD has laid it upon him.
- 29 Let him fall face down in the dust, so there may yet be hope.
- 30 He will endure being slapped in the face, bringing him public disgrace.
- 31 Indeed, the Lord will not always reject us —
- 32 though he causes grief, his compassion abounds according to his gracious love.
- 33 For he does not deliberately hurt or grieve human beings.
- 34 When any of the prisoners of the earth are crushed underfoot,
- 35 when a person's rights are perverted in defiance of the Most High.
- 36 When a man is thwarted in his appeal does the Lord condone it?
- 37 Who can command, and it happens, without the Lord having ordered it?
- 38 Do not both good and evil things proceed from the mouth of the Most High?
- 39 Why should anyone living complain, any mortal, about being punished for sin?
- 40 Let us examine our lifestyles, putting them to the test, and turn back to the LORD.
- 41 Let us lift up our hearts and our hands to God in heaven.
- 42 As for us, we have sinned and rebelled; but you have not pardoned us.
- 43 Clothing yourself with anger, you pursued us. You killed without pity,
- 44 You covered yourself with a cloud that prayer cannot pierce.
- 45 You have reduced us to scum and garbage among the nations.
- 46 All our enemies jeer at us with gaping mouths.
- 47 Panic and pitfalls beset us, along with devastation and ruin.

48 My eyes run with rivers of tears over the destruction of my cherished people.
49 My tears pour down ceaselessly; I am far from relief
50 until the LORD bends down to see from heaven.
51 What I see grieves my soul because of all the young women of my city.
52 My enemies hunted me like a bird, viciously and without justification.
53 They dumped me alive into a pit, sealing me in with stone.
54 Water closed over my head, and I said, "I'm a dead man."
55 I called on your name, LORD, from the depths of the Pit,
56 You heard my voice — don't close your ear to my sighs and cries.
57 You drew near when I called out to you. You said, "Stop being afraid"
58 Lord, you have defended my cause; you have redeemed my life.
59 LORD, you observed how I have been wronged; now make your ruling in my case.
60 You examined their plans for vengeance, all of their plots against me.
61 LORD, you listened to their insults — all their plots against me,
62 the whisperings of my opponents, their scheming against me all day long.
63 Watch! Whether they sit down or stand up, they mock me with their songs.
64 Pay them back, LORD, according to their actions.
65 Give them an anguished heart; may your curse be upon them!
66 Pursue them in your anger and destroy them from under the LORD's heaven.

Acts 17

10 That night the brothers immediately sent Paul and Silas away to Berea. When they arrived, they went into the Jewish synagogue.

11 These people were more receptive than those in Thessalonica. They were very willing to receive the message, and every day they carefully examined the Scriptures to see if those things were so.

12 Many of them believed, including a large number of prominent Greek women and men.

13 But when the Jews in Thessalonica found out that the word of God had been proclaimed by Paul also in Berea, they went there to upset and incite the crowds.

14 Then the brothers immediately sent Paul away to the coast, but Silas and Timothy stayed there.

15 The men who escorted Paul took him all the way to Athens and, after receiving instructions to have Silas and Timothy join him as soon as possible, they left.

16 While Paul was waiting for them in Athens, his spirit was deeply disturbed to see the city full of idols.

17 So he began holding discussions in the synagogue with the Jews and other worshippers, as well as every day in the public square with anyone who happened to be there.

18 Some Epicurean and Stoic philosophers also debated with him. Some asked, "What is this blabbermouth trying to say?" while others said, "He seems to be preaching about foreign gods." This was because Paul was telling the good news about Jesus and the resurrection.

19 Then they took him, brought him before the Areopagus, and asked, "May we know what this new teaching of yours is?"

20 It sounds rather strange to our ears, and we would like to know what it means."

21 Now all the Athenians and the foreigners living there used to spend their time doing nothing else other than listening to the latest ideas or repeating them.

22 So Paul stood up in front of the Areopagus and said, "Men of Athens, I see that you are very religious in every way.

23 For as I was walking around and looking closely at the objects you worship, I even found an altar with this written on it: 'To an unknown god.' So I am telling you about the unknown object you worship.

24 The God who made the world and everything in it is the Lord of heaven and earth. He doesn't live in shrines made by human hands,

25 and he isn't served by people as if he needed anything. He himself gives everyone life, breath, and everything else.

26 From one man he made every nation of humanity to live all over the earth, fixing the seasons of the year and the national boundaries within which they live,

27 so that they might look for God, somehow reach for him, and find him. Of course, he is never far from any one of us.

28 For we live, move, and exist because of him, as some of your own poets have said: 'For we are his children, too.'

29 So if we are God's children, we shouldn't think that the divine being is like gold, silver, or stone, or is an image carved by humans using their own imagination and skill.

30 Though God has overlooked those times of ignorance, he now commands everyone everywhere to repent,

31 because he has set a day when he is going to judge the world with justice through a man whom he has appointed. He has given proof of this to everyone by raising him from the dead."

32 When they heard about a resurrection of the dead, some began joking about it, while others said, "We will hear you again about this."

33 And so Paul left the meeting.

34 Some men joined him and became believers. With them were Dionysius, who was a member of the Areopagus, a woman named Damaris, and some others along with them.

Lamentations 4

- 1 How tarnished the gold has become, the finest gold debased! Sacred stones have been scattered at every street corner.
- 2 Though the precious people of Zion were like fine gold, how they are valued like clay vessels, the handiwork of a potter!
- 3 Even wild animals nurse, suckling their young; but the women of my people are cruel, like ostriches in the wilderness.
- 4 The nursing child's tongue cleaves to its palate from thirst. Young children beg for bread, but no one gives them any.
- 5 Those who enjoyed delicacies lie desolate in the streets. Those who were reared wearing purple scavenge in piles of trash.
- 6 The guilt of my cherished people surpasses the sin of Sodom, which was overthrown in a moment, without a hand to help her.
- 7 Her princes were purer than snow, whiter than milk. Their bodies were more ruddy than rubies, their beards like the colour of precious stones.
- 8 Now their faces are blacker than coal; they are unrecognized in the streets. Their skin clings to their bones; it has become dry like a stick.
- 9 Those who die by the sword are better off than those who die from starvation, who slowly waste away like those pierced through for lack of food from the fields.
- 10 With their own hands, compassionate women boil their own children — they become their food — when my beloved people were destroyed.
- 11 The LORD has exhausted his wrath, pouring out his fierce anger. He kindled a fire in Zion, consuming its foundations.
- 12 None of the kings of the earth would have believed, nor the world's inhabitants, that the adversary and the enemy could have breached the gates of Jerusalem.
- 13 Due to the sins committed by her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests who shed in her midst, the blood of the righteous,
- 14 people stagger around in the streets like the blind, defiled by blood unclean so that no one is able to touch their clothing.
- 15 "Go away! Unclean!" they shouted at them. "Go away! Go away! Don't touch!" When they fled away and wandered, those among the nations decreed, "They cannot live here!"
- 16 The LORD himself separated them; he will do nothing more for them. They did not respect their own priests; they did not honour their elders.
- 17 Our eyes failed, searching in vain for hope; we kept watching and looking for a nation that would not help.
- 18 Our steps were closely stalked, so we couldn't travel on our own streets. Our end is near, our days are over; indeed, our end has come.
- 19 Our pursuers were swifter than soaring eagles; they pursued us over the mountains, lying in wait for us in the wilderness.
- 20 The LORD's anointed, the breath of our life, was captured in their pits. About him we had said, "Under his protection we will survive among the nations."
- 21 Celebrate and rejoice, you women of Edom, who live in the land of Uz. But to you the cup also will pass — you will become drunk and stripped naked.
- 22 The punishment for your sin is complete, you women of Zion, and God will no longer exile you. He will punish your iniquity, you women of Edom, and he will expose your sins.

Lamentations 5

- 1 LORD, remember what has happened to us. Pay attention, and look at our shame!
- 2 Our inheritance has been turned over to strangers, and our homes to foreigners.
- 3 We are now orphans — without fathers — and our mothers are like widows.

- 4 We pay to drink our own water, and our own wood is sold to us at high price.
- 5 Our pursuers breathe down our necks; we are weary, but there is no rest for us.
- 6 We made a deal with the Egyptians and the Assyrians for the price of food.
- 7 Our ancestors sinned and no longer exist yet we continue to bear the consequences of their sin.
- 8 Slaves rule over us, and no one delivers us from their control.
- 9 We risk our lives to obtain our food, facing death in the desert.
- 10 Our skin blisters as from an oven, due to ravaging blasts of the famine.
- 11 They have raped women in Zion, young women in the towns of Judah.
- 12 Princes they have hung by their hands; elders they have disrespected.
- 13 Our young men must grind grain with a millstone; our youths stumble under the weight of wood.
- 14 Our elders have ceased ruling at the gate; our young men have abandoned their music.
- 15 The joy of our hearts has ceased, and our dancing has turned into dirges.
- 16 The crown has fallen from our head — woe to us, because we have sinned!
- 17 This is why our hearts faint, and why our eyes grow dim:
- 18 Because Mount Zion is desolate; foxes roam around it.
- 19 You, LORD, are forever — your throne endures from generation to generation.
- 20 So why have you completely forgotten us, forsaking us for so long?
- 21 Restore us to yourself, LORD, so that we may return. Renew our days as before,
- 22 unless you have utterly rejected us and are angry with us without limit.

Ezekiel 1

1 On the fifth day of the fourth month of the thirtieth year of the exile to Babylon, while I was among the captives on the bank of the Chebar River, heaven opened up and I saw visions from God.

2 On the fifth day of the month in the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's imprisonment in exile,
3 a message from the LORD came directly to Buzi's son Ezekiel, the priest, by the Chebar River in the land of the Chaldeans. The hand of the LORD rested upon him there.

4 I was amazed to see a wind storm blow in from the north, consisting of a massive cloud and fire that was flashing back and forth, surrounded by bright light. From deep within the cloud something was shining that appeared to have a colour like bronze that had been placed in fire until it glowed.

5 Deep inside it, the likenesses of four living beings were visible. Their appearances were similar to human forms,

6 except that they each had four faces, four pairs of wings,

7 and straight legs. Their feet resembled calves' hooves, but they gleamed like polished bronze.

8 From under their wings there were human hands on their four sides. Now as to their four faces and four pairs of wings,

9 their pairs of wings overlapped each other. They moved in straight directions without turning their faces around as they moved.

10 The form of their faces was human, but each of the four also had the face of a lion to the right, the face of an ox to the left, and the face of an eagle behind them.

11 That's what their faces were like. Their wings spread out above and around them, one pair overlapping another, with one pair covering themselves.

12 Each moved in straight directions. Wherever they decided to go, they went without turning themselves.

13 Now, in the midst of the living beings there was something that appeared to glow like coals kindled by a fire, like torches that moved back and forth between the living beings. The fire was dazzling, and lightning flashed from the fire.

14 The living beings moved around, in appearance resembling lightning.

15 As I observed the living beings, I noticed one wheel on the earth beside each being — that is, for the four of them.

16 Their wheels and their construction details looked like gold-coloured beryl. Each wheel was identical in form to the others, and they appeared to have been constructed and designed as if one wheel were within another.

17 Whenever the four moved, no matter which of four directions, they moved without turning around.

18 Their wheel rims were ornate and terrifying. They were full of eyes that surrounded the four of them.

19 Whenever the living beings moved, the wheels moved, too. Whenever the living beings rose from the earth, the wheels rose also.

20 Whatever direction these spirits went, the wheels would be lifted up along with them, because the wheels were alive.

21 They moved around whenever they wanted to move around, and they stood still whenever they wanted to stand still; and whenever they rose from the earth, the wheels remained close beside them, because the wheels were also alive.

Acts 18

- 1 After this, Paul left Athens and went to Corinth.
- 2 There he found a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus, who had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla because Claudius had ordered all the Jews to leave Rome. Paul went to visit them,
- 3 and because they had the same trade he stayed with them. They worked together because they were tentmakers by trade.
- 4 Every Sabbath he would speak in the synagogue, trying to persuade both Jews and Greeks.
- 5 But when Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul devoted himself entirely to the word as he emphatically assured the Jews that Jesus is the Messiah.
- 6 But when they began to oppose him and insult him, he shook out his clothes in protest and told them, "Your blood be on your own heads! I am innocent. From now on I will go to the gentiles".
- 7 Then he left that place and went to the home of a man named Titius Justus, who worshipped God and whose house was next door to the synagogue.
- 8 Now Crispus, the leader of the synagogue, believed in the Lord, along with his whole family. Many Corinthians who heard Paul also believed and were baptized.
- 9 One night the Lord told Paul in a vision, "Stop being afraid to speak out! Don't remain silent!
- 10 For I am with you, and no one will lay a hand on you or harm you, because I have many people in this city."
- 11 So Paul lived there for a year and a half and continued to teach the word of God among the people there.
- 12 While Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews gathered together, attacked Paul, and brought him before the judge's seat.
- 13 They said, "This man is persuading people to worship God in ways that are contrary to the Law."
- 14 Paul was about to speak when Gallio admonished the Jews, "If there were some misdemeanour or crime involved, it would be reasonable to put up with you Jews.
- 15 But since it is a question about words, names, and your own Law, you will have to take care of that yourselves. I refuse to be a judge in these matters."
- 16 So he drove them away from the judge's seat.
- 17 Then all of them took Sosthenes, the synagogue leader, and began beating him in front of the judge's seat. But Gallio paid no attention to any of this.
- 18 After staying there for quite a while longer, Paul said goodbye to the brothers and sailed for Syria, accompanied by Priscilla and Aquila. He had his hair cut in Cenchrea, since he was under a vow.
- 19 When they arrived in Ephesus, he left Priscilla and Aquila there. Then he went into the synagogue and had a discussion with the Jews.
- 20 They asked him to stay longer, but he refused.
- 21 As he told them goodbye, he said, "I will come back to you again if it is God's will." Then he set sail from Ephesus.
- 22 When he arrived in Caesarea, he went up to Jerusalem, greeted the church there, and then returned to Antioch.
- 23 After spending some time there, he departed and went from place to place through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

Ezekiel 1

22 There was spread out over the heads of the living beings what looked like a canopy, in outward appearance resembling ice,

23 and underneath the canopy, their wings spread out straight over their heads toward each other. They each also had two wings with which they covered themselves, one wing covering its body on one side and one wing covering itself on the other side.

24 I also heard the sound of their wings, like the sound of roaring water, like the voice of the Almighty, or like a boisterous crowd within an army camp. Whenever they stopped flying, they lowered their wings.

25 A sound came from above the canopy that was spread out over their heads. Whenever they stood still, they lowered their wings.

26 From above the canopy, that was spread out over their heads there appeared to be something resembling a throne, resembling sapphire in form.

27 I noticed that from what appeared to look like his waist upward there was something that looked like metal that glowed as if it were immersed in fire. Below this there was something resembling fire, with a radiant light surrounding him.

28 The appearance of the radiant light resembled that of a rainbow shining in a cloud on a rainy day. This was what the appearance of the form of the glory of the LORD resembled. When I saw all of this, I fell flat on my face. Then I heard a voice speaking.

Ezekiel 2

1 "Son of Man," the LORD said, "get up on your feet. I want to talk to you."

2 Even while he was speaking to me, the Spirit entered me, set me on my feet, and I listened to the voice that had been speaking to me.

3 "Son of Man, I'm sending you to that rebellious people, the Israelis, who have rebelled against me the same way their ancestors did. And they're still rebels to this very day!

4 They're stubborn and strong willed. I'm sending you to them to tell them what the LORD says.

5 Whether this rebellious group listens to you or not, at least they'll realize that a prophet had appeared in their midst!

6 "Now as for you, Son of Man, never be afraid of them or of anything they have to say, because being with them will be like settling down to live among briars, thorn bushes, and scorpions! Don't be afraid of anything they have to say, and don't be awed by their appearance, since they are a rebellious group.

7 You are to tell them whatever I have to say to them, whether they listen or not, since they are rebellious."

8 "Son of Man, you are to listen to what I tell you. You are never to be rebellious like they are: a rebellious group. "Now, open your mouth and eat what I'm giving you. . ."

9 As I watched, all of a sudden there was a hand being stretched out in my direction! And there was a scroll

10 being unrolled right in front of me! Written on both sides were lamentations, mourning, and cries of grief.

Ezekiel 3

1 Then he told me, "Son of Man, eat! Eat what you see — this scroll — and then go talk to the house of Israel."

2 So I opened my mouth and he fed me the scroll.

3 Then he told me, "Son of Man, fill your stomach and digest this scroll that I'm giving you." So I ate it, and it was like sweet honey in my mouth.

4 Then he told me, "Son of Man, go to the house of Israel and tell them what I have to say to them,

5 because you're not going to a people whose speech you cannot understand or whose language is difficult to speak. Instead, you're going to the house of Israel.

6 This isn't a large group of people whose speech is unintelligible to you or whose language is difficult for you to comprehend. Frankly, if I had sent you to that kind of people, they would certainly have listened to you!

7 But the house of Israel won't listen to you, since they weren't willing to listen to me. That's because the entire house of Israel is hard-headed and hard-hearted.

8 So pay attention! I'm going to make you just as obstinate and unyielding as they are.

9 I'm making you harder than flint — like diamond! So you are not to fear them or be intimidated by how they look at you, since they're a rebellious group."

10 Next, he told me, "Son of Man, take to heart every word that I'm telling you. Listen carefully,

11 then go immediately to the exiles; that is, to your people's descendants, and tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says. . .' whether they listen or not."

12 Then the Spirit lifted me up and I heard a great earthquake behind me and the glory of the LORD arose from his place,

13 accompanied by the sound of the wings of the living creatures gently touching each other and with the sound of the wheels emanating from the front, accompanied by a great earthquake.

14 Then the Spirit lifted me up and carried me away. I went bitterly with an angry attitude as the hand of the LORD rested on me.

15 I came to the exiles at Tel-aviv by the Chebar River and sat down among them for seven days, appalled.

16 At the end of the seven days, this message from the LORD came to me:

17 "Son of Man," he said, "I've appointed you to be a watchman over the house of Israel. Therefore when you hear a message that comes from me, you are to warn them for me.

18 "So when I say to a wicked person, 'You're about to die,' if you don't warn or instruct that wicked person that his behaviour is wicked so he can live, that wicked person will die in his sin, but I'll hold you responsible for his death.

19 If you warn the wicked person, and he doesn't repent of his wickedness or of his wicked behaviour, he'll die in his sin, but you will have saved your own life."

20 "When a righteous man abandons his righteousness to practise unrighteousness, I'll set a stumbling block before him. He'll die. If you don't warn him, he'll die in his sin and the righteous deeds that he had practised won't be remembered, but you'll be held responsible for his death.

21 If you warn the righteous person, so that he doesn't commit sin, then he'll live, since he had been warned. And you will have saved your life."

22 The hand of the LORD was upon me, and he told me, "Get up, and go to the valley and, I'll speak with you there."

23 So I got up, went to the valley, and there was the glory of the LORD, standing there just like I had seen at the Kibar River. So I fell on my face.

24 The Spirit entered me, rested on me, caused me to stand on my feet, and then he spoke to me. This is what he had to say: "Go barricade yourself in your house.

25 Now pay attention! They're going to bind you with ropes, tying you up right in their midst, so you won't be able to circulate freely among them.

26 Meanwhile, I'll make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth so that you'll be mute and unable to reprove them, since they're a rebellious group.

27 But when I speak with you, I'll open your mouth so you can say to them, 'This is what the Lord God says: "As for those who will listen, 'Let them listen,' but as for those who refuse, 'Let them refuse,' since they're a rebellious group.'"

Ezekiel 4

1 "And now Son of Man, you are to take a brick, set it in front of you, and inscribe on it the outline of the city — that is, Jerusalem.

2 You are to lay siege against it, build a rampart around it, set a bulwark against it, encircle it with a berm, set up camps against it, and place battering rams around it.

3 Then you are to take a flat, iron plate and set it up as an iron wall between you and the city. "Next, you are to turn toward it, oppose it, and place it under siege, because you are to lay siege to it. All of this will serve as a sign to the house of Israel.

4 "Now as for you, you are to sleep on your left side, symbolically bearing the punishment of the house of Israel while you're counting the days you'll be sleeping on your left side to bear symbolically the punishment for their sin.

5 I've assigned you to sleep this way for 390 days, representing the years they've been sinning, as you bear symbolically the punishment of the house of Israel.

6 When you have completed this, you are to sleep on your right side, symbolically bearing the iniquity of Judah for 40 days. Each day that I've assigned to you represents one year.

7 After this, you are to turn toward the rampart of Jerusalem and oppose it with your bare arms, because I'm going to prophesy about it.

8 Look! I'll tie you up so that you're unable to turn from one side to the other until you've completed your siege."

9 "Furthermore, you are to take some wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt, and mix them together in one container. Then you are to make bread from these grains sufficient to supply you through the time during which you'll be sleeping on your side. You are to eat it for 390 days.

10 The food that you'll be eating is to consist of eight ounce portions for each day, consumed at regular intervals.

11 You are to measure a pint and a half of water each time you drink it.

12 You are to eat it as barley cakes and bake it right in front of them, using dried human dung for cooking fuel."

13 Then the LORD said, "This is how the Israelis will be eating unclean food among the nations, where I'll be sending them."

14 "Now, Lord God," I replied, "I've never been defiled, ever since I was young until now. I haven't eaten an animal that died on its own or was torn by beasts, and no unclean meat has ever entered my mouth!"

15 "Okay," he responded. "I'll allow you to substitute cow's dung for human dung. Cook your food over that."

16 He also told me, "Son of Man, look! I'm about to disrupt the source of bread in Jerusalem. As a result, they'll ration bread by weight while their terror continues to grow and they'll ration drinking water while their horror continues to mount!

17 Indeed, they'll need bread and water, but everyone will be panic-stricken as they waste away in their iniquity."

Acts 18

24 Meanwhile, a Jew named Apollos arrived in Ephesus. He was a native of Alexandria, an eloquent man, and well versed in the Scriptures.

25 He had been instructed in the Lord's way, and with spiritual fervour he kept speaking and teaching accurately about Jesus, although he knew only about John's baptism.

26 He began to speak boldly in the synagogue, but when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him home and explained God's way to him more accurately.

27 When Apollos wanted to cross over to Achaia, the brothers wrote to the disciples there, urging them to welcome him. On his arrival he greatly helped those who, through God's grace, had believed.

28 He successfully refuted the Jews in public and proved by the Scriptures that Jesus is the Messiah.

Acts 19

1 It was while Apollos was in Corinth that Paul passed through the inland districts and came to Ephesus. He found a few disciples there

2 and asked them, "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" They answered him, "No, we haven't even heard that there is a Holy Spirit."

3 He then asked, "Then into what were you baptized?" They answered, "Into John's baptism."

4 Then Paul said, "John baptized when they repented, telling the people to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, in Jesus."

5 On hearing this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 When Paul laid his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they began to speak in tongues and to prophesy.

7 There were about twelve men in all.

8 He went into the synagogue and spoke there boldly for three months, holding discussions and persuading those who heard him about the kingdom of God.

9 But when some people became stubborn, refused to believe, and slandered the Way in front of the people, Paul left them, taking his disciples away with him, and held daily discussions in the lecture hall of Tyrannus.

10 This went on for two years, so that all who lived in Asia, Jews and Greeks alike, heard the word of the Lord.

11 God continued to do extraordinary miracles through Paul.

12 When handkerchiefs and aprons that had touched his skin were taken to the sick, their diseases left them and evil spirits went out of them.

13 Then some Jews who went around trying to drive out demons attempted to use the name of the Lord Jesus on those who had evil spirits, saying, "I command you by that Jesus whom Paul preaches!"

14 Seven sons of a Jewish high priest named Sceva were doing this.

15 But the evil spirit told them, "Jesus I know, and I am getting acquainted with Paul, but who are you?"

16 Then the man with the evil spirit jumped on them, got the better of them, and so violently overpowered all of them that they fled out of the house naked and bruised.

17 When this became known to everyone living in Ephesus, Jews and Greeks alike, they all became terrified, and the name of the Lord Jesus began to be held in high honour.

Ezekiel 5

1 "Now as for you, Son of Man, you are to go and find a sharp sword and use it like a barber's razor. You are to cut your hair and beard. Then you are to take a weighing scale and divide your shaved hair into three parts.

2 You are to burn a third of it in the middle of the city when you've finished your siege. Next, you are to take another third of it and beat it with your sword. Last, you are to scatter the remaining third to the wind, after which I'll unsheathe my sword and pursue them.

3 You are to preserve a few strands of hair and hide them in the folds of your garment.

4 Then you are to take a few strands, throw them in the fire, and incinerate them. A fire will proceed to the house of Israel from there."

5 "This is what the Lord God says, 'This is Jerusalem. I placed her in the centre of nations, with many nations surrounding her.

6 But she rebelled against my ordinances and my statutes. She practised more evil than all the nations and territories around her. They rejected my ordinances and didn't live by my statutes.'

7 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'Because you're more disrespectful than the nations that surround you, you didn't follow my statutes or follow my ordinances. You didn't even follow the ordinances of the surrounding nations!'

8 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'Watch out! I — that's right, even I — am against you. I'll carry out my sentence among you right in front of the nations.

9 In fact, I'm going to do what I've never done before and what I'll never again do, because of all of your loathsome behaviour:

10 Fathers will eat their children in your midst. After this, your sons will eat their fathers as I carry out my sentence against you and scatter your survivors to the winds!'

11 "Therefore, as sure as I live," declares the Lord God, "because you've defiled my sanctuary with every loathsome thing and every abomination, I'll restrain myself, and I'll show neither pity nor compassion.

12 A third of you will die by pestilence, starving because of the famine in your midst. Another third will die violently by the violence of war around you. The final third I'll scatter to the wind as I unsheathe my sword to pursue them.

13 "Only then will I stop being angry — my burning in anger. Then they'll know that I've spoken out in my arduous anger. Only then will my burning anger against them be exhausted.

14 I'm also going to turn you into a waste and an object of insult among the nations that surround you and in front of every person who passes by.

15 As a result, Jerusalem will become an insult, an object of taunt, an example of chastisement, and a useless waste to all the nations that surround you when I carry out my sentence against you in my anger, my burning rage, and my burning rebukes. I, the Lord, have spoken it.

16 I'll send arrows of severe famine in their direction, meant for destruction, which I'll shoot, intending to destroy them. I'll make you have more and more famines that will attack you, and I'll disrupt your source of food.

17 "I'll send famine and wild beasts against you that will rob you of your children. Pestilence and bloodshed will devastate you when I'll declare war on you. I, the Lord, have spoken."

Ezekiel 6

- 1 The LORD continued with his message to me.
- 2 "Son of Man," he said, "turn your face to oppose the mountains of Israel and prophesy against them.
- 3 Tell the mountains of Israel to listen as the Lord GOD speaks. This is what the Lord GOD has to say to the mountains, hills, streams, and the valleys: 'Look! I'm about to bring my sword against you. I'm going to destroy your high places.
- 4 Your altars will become desolate and your sun pillars will be shattered. I'll throw your slain down right in front of your idols.
- 5 I'll place the corpses of the Israelis in front of their idols. I'll scatter your bones around your altar.
- 6 In all the places where you live, the cities will be desolate. The high places will also be desolate so that your altars will be laid waste, bearing the punishment appropriate to them. Your idols will be shattered, your sun pillars will be hewn down, and your works will be obliterated.
- 7 The fatally wounded among you will fall, and at that time you'll know that I am the LORD.
- 8 I'll leave a remnant among you — those who will escape the sword when I'll have scattered you throughout the earth.
- 9 Your survivors will remember me among the nations where they'll be taken captives. I've been crushed by their unfaithful hearts that have turned against me.
- 10 Then they'll know that I am the LORD. I didn't declare this evil that's intended for them without a reason."
- 11 This is what the Lord GOD says: "Clap your hands and stamp your feet! Say, 'Oh, no!' Because of all the detestable evil that has come from Israel's house, they'll fall by the sword, famine, and pestilence.
- 12 The one who lives far away will die by pestilence and the one who is near will die violently. The survivors and their surveillance details will die by famine as I exhaust my rage against them.
- 13 You'll learn that I am the LORD, when the fatally wounded will be among their idols, around their altars, on every hill, on top of the mountains, under every luxuriant tree, and under all the full-grown foliage — every place where they've offered fragrant aromas to all their idols.
- 14 I'll stretch out my hands to strike them and send devastation to the land, from the wilderness of Diblah, throughout all their dwelling places. Then they'll know that I am the LORD.

Ezekiel 7

- 1 This message from the LORD arrived for me.
- 2 "Son of Man, this is what Lord GOD says to the land of Israel: "It's over! All four corners of the land are out of time!
- 3 "Your time is up! I'm sending my anger against you to judge you according to how you live your lives; and I'm going to pay you back with the consequences of all your detestable practices.
- 4 I won't be showing pity on you and I won't be showing compassion. I'm going to turn your own lifestyles against you while your detestable practices remain among you. Then you'll learn that I am the LORD."
- 5 This is what the Lord GOD says: "It's one evil event after another! "Look out! It's coming!
- 6 "The end is coming! "The end is here! "And it's looking in your direction! "Look out! It's arrived!
- 7 "Your doom has come to you, you who live in the land. The time has arrived, and the day of confusion is near. There will be no shouts of joy on the mountains.

8 "Very soon now, I'll pour out my burning anger on you. I'll complete expressing my anger at you, judge you according to your behaviour, and repay you for all your detestable practices.

9 I won't be showing pity or compassion. I'll repay you according to your behaviour while your detestable practices remain among you. And you'll know that I, the LORD, have been attacking you.

10 "Look out! The day! "Look out! It's coming! "Doom has blossomed. "Arrogance has sprouted!

11 "Violence has matured into a branch that is wicked. No one will survive from that vast crowd, from their wealthy people, or from the famous among them.

12 "The time has come! "The day has arrived. Don't let the buyer rejoice, nor the seller lament, because wrath is coming to attack the entire multitude.

13 The seller won't regain what he has sold while the crowd remains alive, because the vision concerning the entire multitude won't be annulled. No person will be able to survive because of the sin in his life.

14 "They've sounded the alarm, and everyone is prepared, but no one is marching for battle, since I'm angry at the entire multitude.

15 The sword lurks outside, but pestilence and famine are on the prowl inside the house. Whoever is in the field will die by violence, while famine and pestilence will devour those in the city.

16 Fugitives will escape to the mountains like doves fleeing through the valleys, all of them moaning because of their own iniquity.

17 Every hand will be limp. Every knee will glisten with sweat."

18 "They'll clothe themselves with sackcloth, terror will overcome them, shame will cover their faces, and baldness will spread over their entire heads.

19 They'll fling their silver into the streets, and their gold will be cast away as impure. Their silver and gold won't be able to deliver them during the time of the LORD's wrath. They won't be able to satisfy their appetites or fill their stomachs, because their iniquity has tripped them up.

20 "As for his beautiful ornament, he set it up in majesty, but they made detestable images and loathsome idols. Therefore I'll give them something loathsome —

21 I'll give it as plunder into the control of strangers and as the spoils of war to the wicked who will invade the land to profane it.

22 I'll turn my face away from them so that they'll defile my treasured place. Robbers will enter and profane it!

23 "Forge a chain, because the land is full of bloody judgement and the city is filled with violence.

24 Therefore I'm bringing the worst of the nations, who will take possession of their houses. I'll cause the pride of the mighty to cease, and their sanctuaries will be profaned.

25 "When destruction comes, they'll seek peace, but there will be none to be found.

26 Disaster upon disaster will come, followed by rumour after rumour. They'll seek an oracle from the prophet, but the Law will be gone from the priests, and counsel from the elders.

27 "The king will mourn, the prince will be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people of the land will tremble. I'll deal with them according to their behaviour and I will judge them by how they've judged. Then they'll learn that I am the LORD."

Ezekiel 8

1 In the sixth year, on the fifth day of the sixth month, I had just sat down in my house, with the elders of Judah seated in front of me. All of a sudden, the hand of the Lord God touched me

2 and I saw a likeness comparable to the appearance of a man. From his thighs downward there was the appearance of fire, and from his waist upward, there was the appearance of brightness that looked like brass.

3 The form of a hand reached out and took me by the hair of my head. Then the Spirit lifted me up between the earth and sky, brought me toward Jerusalem, and in visions that came from God took me through the doors of the inner gate that faced north, where an image that provoked God's jealous anger had been erected.

4 All of a sudden, the glory of the God of Israel was there! It looked like what I had seen back in the valley.

Acts 19

18 Many who became believers kept coming to confess and talk about what they had been doing.

19 Moreover, many people who had practised occult arts gathered their books and burned them in front of everybody. They estimated their value and found them to have been worth 50,000 silver coins.

20 In that way the word of the Lord kept spreading and triumphing.

21 After these things had happened, Paul decided to go through Macedonia and Achaia and then to go on to Jerusalem, saying, "After I have gone there, I must also see Rome."

22 Then he sent two of his helpers, Timothy and Erastus, to Macedonia, while he himself stayed in Asia a while longer.

23 Now about that time a great commotion broke out concerning the Way.

24 By making silver shrines of Artemis, a silversmith named Demetrius provided a large income for skilled workers.

25 He called a meeting of these men and others who were engaged in similar trades and said, "Men, you well know that we get a good income from this business.

26 You also see and hear that, not only in Ephesus, but almost all over Asia, this man Paul has won over and taken away a large crowd by telling them that gods made by human hands are not gods at all.

27 There is a danger not only that our business will lose its reputation but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis will be brought into disrepute and that she will be robbed of her majesty that brought all Asia and the world to worship her."

28 When they heard this, they became furious and began to shout, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

29 The city was filled with confusion, and the people rushed into the theatre together, dragging with them Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's fellow travellers from Macedonia.

30 Paul wanted to go into the crowd, but the disciples wouldn't let him.

31 Even some officials of the province of Asia who were his friends sent him a message urging him not to risk his life in the theatre.

32 Meanwhile, some were shouting one thing and some another, since the crowd was confused, and most of them didn't know why they were meeting.

33 Some of the crowd concluded it was because of Alexander, since the Jews had pushed him to the front. So Alexander motioned for silence and tried to make a defence before the people.

34 But when they found out that he was a Jew, they all started to shout in unison for about two hours, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

35 When the city recorder had quieted the crowd, he said, "Men of Ephesus, who in the world doesn't know that this city of Ephesus is the keeper of the temple of the great Artemis and of the statue that fell down from heaven?

36 Since these things cannot be denied, you must be quiet and not do anything reckless.

37 For you have brought these men here, although they neither rob temples nor blaspheme our goddess.

38 So if Demetrius and his workers have a charge against anyone, the courts are open and there are proconsuls. They should accuse one another there.

39 But if you want anything else, it must be settled in the regular assembly,

40 because we are in danger of being charged with rioting today, and there is no good reason we can give to justify this commotion."

41 After saying this, he dismissed the assembly.

Ezekiel 8

5 Then he told me, "Son of Man, look up toward the north." So I looked off toward the north. Suddenly, off toward the north, facing the gate that led to the altar, the image that provoked God's jealousy was standing near the entrance.

6 Then the Spirit told me, "Son of Man, don't you see what they're doing? The house of Israel practises awful, detestable things here, so I'm going far away from my sanctuary. But you're about to see things even more detestable than these."

7 Then the Spirit brought me to the entrance of the court. As I watched, all of a sudden, there was a hole in the wall!

8 Then he told me, "Son of Man, dig through the wall!" So I dug into the wall. That's when I uncovered an entrance!

9 Then he told me, "Go on through that entrance, so you may see the wicked, detestable things that they're committing here."

10 So I entered, looked around, and there was every form of crawling thing, loathsome animals, and all kinds of idols from the house of Israel carved all around the wall.

11 I saw 70 men from the elders of the house of Israel standing among them, including Shaphan's son Jaazaniah. Each man held a censer in his hand. As the scent of the cloud of incense ascended,

12 the Spirit asked me, "Do you see, Son of Man, what the elders of Israel's house are doing in secret, each in the chamber of his own carved idol? They keep saying, 'God doesn't see us. The LORD has abandoned the land.'"

13 Then the Spirit told me, "You're about to see even more detestable practices that they're doing!"

14 Then he brought me to the entrance of the gate to the LORD's Temple, which faced the north. That's where I saw women seated, weeping for Tammuz.

15 Then he asked me, "Do you see this, Son of Man? You're about to see even more detestable practices than these. "

16 Then he brought me to the inner court of the LORD's Temple. There, at the entrance to the LORD's Temple, between the porch and the altar, were 25 men, with their backs toward the LORD's Temple and facing the east, prostrating themselves to the sun.

17 "Do you see this, Son of Man?" he asked me. "Is it an insignificant thing for Judah's house to commit the detestable things that they're doing here? They've filled the land with violence and turned away from me, causing me to become angry again. Look how they're sniffing with their noses!

18 I'm going to deal with them in rage and anger. I'll show neither pity nor compassion. They'll cry loudly directly in my ears, but I won't listen to them."

Ezekiel 9

1 Then the Spirit shouted right in my ears with a loud voice! "Come forward," he said, "you executioners of the city, and bring your weapon of destruction in your hand!"

2 All of a sudden, I noticed six men approaching from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north. Each of them held a destructive weapon in his hand. Among them there was one man, clothed in linen, who was equipped with a writing set at his side. They went in and presented themselves beside the bronze altar.

3 Then the glory that is Israel's God arose from the cherubim on which he had been seated and settled on the threshold of the Temple. He called out to the man dressed in linen who wore the writing case at his side.

4 The LORD told him, "Go throughout the city of Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of everyone who sighs and moans over all of the loathsome things that are happening in it."

5 As I continued to listen, he also told the others, "Follow him through the city and start killing. Don't spare anyone you see, and don't show pity of any kind.
6 You are to execute old men, young men, young women, little children, and women. But don't touch anyone who has been marked. Begin at my Holy Place!" And so they started with the elders who were standing in front of the Temple.
7 "Desecrate my Temple," he told them, "and fill its courtyard with the dead!" So they went out and began striking down people throughout the city.
8 While they were out carrying out the executions, I was left alone. So I fell on my face and cried out, "O Lord GOD, are you going to destroy all of the survivors of Israel when you pour out your anger on Jerusalem?"
9 "The house of Israel and Judah is guilty — and theirs is a stubborn guilt, at that!" he replied to me. "The land is filled with blood, and the city overflows with injustice, because they keep saying, 'The LORD has abandoned the land,' and 'The LORD isn't watching.'
10 "So as for me, I'm not going to show pity, and I won't look in their direction with mercy. I'm repaying them for what they have done."
11 Then I noticed the man dressed in linen who wore the writing case by his side as he brought back this message: "I've done as you have commanded me."

Ezekiel 10

1 As I continued to watch, there on the expanse above the heads of the cherubim was a massive sapphire stone that resembled a throne in form and appearance.
2 The LORD spoke to the man who was clothed in white linen, telling him, "Go between the whirling wheels, under the cherubim, and fill your hands with burning coals from among the cherubim. Then scatter them over the city." So he entered as I watched.
3 Now the cherubim were standing on the south side of the entrance to the Temple, when the man entered and a cloud filled the inner court.
4 The glory of the LORD rose above the cherub and moved to the threshold of the Temple. A cloud filled the Temple and the court was filled with the brilliance of the LORD's glory.
5 The sound of the wings of the cherubim, reminiscent of the voice of the Sovereign God when he speaks, could be heard as far as the outer court.
6 He issued this order to the man who was clothed in white linen. "Take fire from within the whirling wheels, among the cherubim." So he went and stood beside the wheels.
7 Then a cherub stretched out his hand to the fire, which was among the cherubim, took some of the fire, and placed it in the hands of the one clothed in white linen, who took it and left.
8 There appeared to be human hands under the wings of the cherubim.
9 As I continued to watch, I observed four wheels beside the cherubim, one wheel beside each cherub. The wheels resembled beryl stone.
10 In appearance, the four wheels looked like they consisted of a wheel within a wheel.
11 Whenever they moved, they proceeded without turning around as they moved, but they followed in the direction where their head was facing, without looking around as they moved.
12 Their entire bodies, backs, hands, and wings were filled with eyes around, including each of their four wheels
13 The wheels whose sound I was hearing were called "the whirling wheels".
14 Each had four faces. The first one was the face of a cherub, the second the face of a man, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.
15 The cherubim arose. These were the same beings that I had seen at the Kebar River.
16 When the cherubim moved, the wheels went alongside them. But when the cherubim started to ascend, beating their wings to rise above the earth, the wheels beside them didn't turn.

17 When they stood still, the wheels stood still. When they rose up, the wheels rose up, too, because they were alive.

18 Then the glory of the LORD moved away from the threshold of the Temple and stood over the cherubim.

19 The cherubim lifted their wings and rose above the earth while I watched. They went out, along with their wheels, and stood at the entrance to the east gate of the LORD's Temple as the glory of Israel's God remained above, covering them.

20 These were the living beings that I had seen under the God of Israel on the bank of the Kebar River. I knew that they were cherubim.

21 Each one had four faces. Each one had four wings, and the form of human hands could be seen under their wings.

22 As to the likeness of their faces, they were like what I had seen on the bank of the Kebar River. They each moved straight ahead.

Ezekiel 11

1 The Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the east facing gate of the LORD's Temple. At the entrance of the gate I saw 25 men. Included among them were Azzur's son Jaazaniah and Benaiah's son Pelatiah, who were princes of the people.

2 Then he told me, "Son of Man, these men are plotting evil and are giving wicked advice in this city.

3 They keep saying, 'The right time to build families hasn't yet arrived. The city is the pot and we are the meat.'

4 Therefore you are to prophesy against them. Prophesy, Son of Man!"

5 Just then the Spirit of the LORD took control of me and told me, "You are to say, 'This is what the LORD says: "You've said, O house of Israel, that I know what goes through your mind.

6 You've increased the number of fatally wounded in this city and you've filled your streets with the dead.'

7 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says, 'The corpses that you've laid out in your midst are the meat, and this city is the cooking pot. But you'll be taken out from the middle of it.

8 You've feared the sword, but I'm bringing violent death in your direction,' declares the Lord God.

9 I'm bringing you out from the middle of it and I'm going to deliver you into the hands of strangers, because I'm going to carry out my sentence against you.

10 You're going to die violently, and I'll judge you as far as the borders of Israel. Then you'll learn that I am the LORD.

11 "'This city won't be your cooking pot and neither will you be the meat in it, because I'm going to judge you as far as the borders of Israel.

12 Then you'll learn that I am the LORD, because you didn't live by my statutes or obey my ordinances. Instead, you obeyed the ordinances of the nations around you.'"

13 While I was prophesying, Benaiah's son Pelatiah died, so I fell on my face and cried out with a loud voice. "Ah, Lord God," I said, "are you going to put an end to the survivors within Israel?"

Acts 20

- 1 When the uproar was over, Paul sent for the disciples and encouraged them. Then he said goodbye to them and left to go to Macedonia.
- 2 He went through those regions and encouraged the people with everything he had to say. Then he went to Greece
- 3 and stayed there for three months. When he was about to sail for Syria, a plot was initiated against him by the Jews, so he decided to go back through Macedonia.
- 4 He was accompanied by Sopater (the son of Pyrrhus) from Berea, Aristarchus and Secundus from Thessalonica, Gaius from Derbe, Timothy, and Tychicus and Trophimus from Asia.
- 5 These men went on ahead and were waiting for us in Troas.
- 6 After the Feast of Unleavened Bread, we sailed from Philippi, and days later we joined them in Troas and stayed there for seven days.
- 7 On the first day of the week, when we had met to break bread, Paul began to address the people. Since he intended to leave the next day, he went on speaking until midnight.
- 8 Now there were many lamps in the upstairs room where we were meeting.
- 9 A young man named Eutychus, who was sitting in a window, began to sink off into a deep sleep as Paul kept speaking longer and longer. Overcome by sleep, he fell down from the third floor and was picked up dead.
- 10 But Paul went down, bent over him, took him into his arms, and said, "Stop being alarmed, because he's still alive."
- 11 Then he went back upstairs, broke bread, and ate. He talked with them for a long time, until dawn, and then left.
- 12 They took the young man away alive and were greatly relieved.
- 13 We proceeded to the ship and sailed for Assos, where we intended to pick up Paul. He had arranged it this way, since he had planned to travel there on foot.
- 14 When he met us in Assos, we took him on board and went to Mitylene.
- 15 We sailed from there and on the following day arrived off Chios. The next day we crossed over to Samos and stayed at Trogyllium. The day after that we came to Miletus.
- 16 Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus to avoid spending time in Asia, as he was in a hurry to get to Jerusalem for the day of Pentecost, if that was possible.
- 17 From Miletus he sent messengers to Ephesus to ask the elders of the church to meet with him.

Ezekiel 11

14 Then this message came to me from the LORD:

15 "Son of Man, your brothers, your other relatives, your fellow exiles, and the entire house of Israel are the people to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, 'They've abandoned the LORD. This land was given to us for an inheritance.'

16 "Therefore you are to say, 'This is what the Lord God says, 'Although I've removed them far away to live among the nations, and although I've scattered them throughout the earth, yet I've continued to be their sanctuary, even for the short time that they will be living in the lands to which they've gone.'

17 "Therefore you are to say, 'This is what the Lord God says, "I'm going to gather you from among the nations, assembling you from the lands among which you have been dispersed. I'll give you the land of Israel.

18 When they return from there and cast away all of their loathsome things and detestable practices,

19 then I'll give them a united heart, placing a new spirit within them. I'll remove their stubborn heart and give them a heart that's sensitive to me.

20 When they live by my statutes and keep my ordinances by observing them, then they'll be my people and I will be their God.

21 But to those whose hearts delight in loathsome things and detestable practices, I'll bring the consequences of their behaviour crashing down on their own heads," declares the Lord God."

22 Then the cherubim arose, with their wheels alongside, and the glory of Israel's God remained above and over them.

23 The glory of the LORD went up from the middle of the city and stood on the mountain, east of the city.

24 Then in a vision from the Spirit of God, the Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the exiles in Chaldea. At that point, the vision that I had been observing ended.

25 Later, I spoke to the exiles concerning everything the LORD had spoken that I had witnessed.

Ezekiel 12

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, you live in a rebellious house that has eyes to see, but they can't see, and ears to hear, but they can't hear, since they're a rebellious house.

3 "So now, Son of Man, you are to prepare your luggage for a trip into exile, and then you are to leave during the daytime so they see you leaving. Leave from your place to another while they're watching. Then perhaps they'll realize that they're a rebellious house.

4 "Bring out your luggage, like you're packing to go into exile, and do this during the daytime while they're watching you. Later that evening, leave while they're watching you like someone heading into exile.

5 While they continue to watch, dig a hole for yourself in the wall and enter through it.

6 "While they're watching, carry your luggage on your shoulder and go out in total darkness. Cover your face so that you won't see the land, because I'm using you as a sign to Israel's house."

7 I did just as I was commanded. I brought out the luggage as if it were luggage for exile. I did this during the day. Then in the evening I dug a hole in the wall with my hand and brought the luggage out in total darkness and carried it out on my shoulder while they were watching.

8 The next morning, this message came to me from the LORD:

9 "Son of Man, didn't the house of Israel, that rebellious house, ask you, 'What are you doing?'

10 Answer them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "This oracle concerns the prince of Jerusalem and the whole of Israel's house that is in their midst.

11 Tell them, 'I'm a sign for you. Just as I enacted it, it's going to happen to them. They'll go into exile and captivity.

12 Then the prince, who will be one of them, will carry his luggage on his shoulder in the dark and will go out. They'll dig a hole in the wall for him to go through. His face will be covered so that he won't be able to see the land with his eyes.

13 But I'll throw my net over him. As a result, he'll be captured with my net, and with it I'll bring him to Babel, the land of the Chaldeans. He won't see it, though he'll die there.

14 I'll scatter every attendant who surrounds him, along with his entire army, to every wind. When I unsheathe my sword to pursue them,

15 they'll learn that I am the LORD, when I've dispersed them among the nations and scattered them throughout the earth."

16 But I'll preserve a few people out of the violent death, famine, and pestilence, so they can recount their detestable practices among the nations when they'll go there. Then they'll know that I am the LORD.

17 This message came to me from the LORD:

18 "Son of Man, eat your bread with trembling and drink your water with quivering and anxiety.

19 Then tell the people of the land, 'This is what the LORD says to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to Israel's land: They'll eat their food in anxiety and drink their water in trepidation, because their land will be desolate in its entirety due to all the violence committed by all who live in it.

20 The towns that are inhabited will lie in ruins, because the land will be devastated. Then they'll learn that I am the LORD.'"

21 Later, this message came to me from the LORD:

22 "Son of Man, what's this proverb you have concerning Israel's land that says, 'The days pass slowly and every vision ends in nothing.'?

23 Therefore you are to tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "I'm about to put an end to use of this proverb in Israel. It will never be used again as a proverb in Israel. Instead, tell them that the days are drawing near when every vision will be fulfilled.

24 There will no longer be worthless visions and flattering divinations in the midst of Israel's house.

25 Because I am the LORD, I'll speak and the message that I communicate will be accomplished without delay. While you continue to be a rebellious house, I'll speak the message and then fulfil it," declares the Lord God.

26 Later, this message came to me from the LORD:

27 "Son of Man, pay attention! The house of Israel keeps on saying, 'The vision that he's talking about concerns the distant future. He's prophesying concerning times that are far in the future!'

28 Therefore tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "None of my messages will be delayed any longer. Any message that I speak will be fulfilled," declares the Lord God.'"

Ezekiel 13

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel, who even now are prophesying, and tell those prophets that keep on prophesying according to what they wish would happen, 'Listen to what the LORD says.'"

3 "This is what the Lord God says, 'How terrible it will be for the false prophets who walk according to their own wrong inclinations and see nothing.

4 Israel, your prophets have become like foxes among ruins.
5 You didn't go up to repair the breaches in the walls and you didn't build the walls so Israel's house would be able to endure battle on the Day of the LORD.
6 Instead, they crafted false prophecies and divination. "They say, '. . . declares the LORD,' even though the LORD didn't send them. And they hope for the fulfilment of their message.
7 You've crafted a false prophesy and spoken deceptive divination, haven't you? But then you say, '. . . declares the LORD,' although I haven't spoken a single word.
8 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says, 'Because you've spoken falsehood and deceptions, I am therefore opposing you,' declares the Lord GOD.
9 My hand will oppose the prophets who see false visions and speak deceptive divinations. They won't be included with the council of my people, nor will they be entered into the registry of Israel's house or enter Israel's land. Then you'll know that I am the Lord GOD,
10 because they've truly caused my people to stray saying, 'Peace,' but there's no peace."
11 Tell those who coat it with whitewash that it will fall. It will be washed off by the rain. Great hailstones will fall and a stormy wind will strip it off.
12 Look! When the wall collapses, won't it be said of you, 'Where's the coat of paint that you spread all over the wall?'
13 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says, 'In my burning anger, I'll rip it open with a windstorm. In my anger, I'll rinse it off with rain, and put an end to it with a hailstorm in my destructive rage.
14 I'll tear down the wall that you've smeared with whitewash, level it to the ground, and tear out its foundation. Then it will collapse — and you'll perish with it! Then you'll know that I am the LORD.
15 ""That's how I'll vent my anger on the wall and on the ones who coated it with whitewash. And I'll say to you, "The wall is gone and so are those who coated it."
16 The prophets of Israel prophesied about Jerusalem and saw visions of peace concerning her, yet there's no peace," declares the Lord GOD.
17 "And now, Son of Man, turn toward and oppose the women of your people who prophesy according to their own wrong inclinations and prophesy against them.
18 Tell them, 'This is what the Lord GOD says, "How terrible it will be for those women who sew magical bracelets on all their wrists and make one-size-fits-all headbands, in order to entrap their souls. Will you hunt for the souls of my people and remain alive?
19 You've profaned me among my people for a handful of barley and a morsel of bread. You're causing people to die who shouldn't have to die, and you're causing people to live who shouldn't survive, when you deceive my people who tend to listen to lies.'"
20 "Therefore, this is what the Lord GOD says, 'Watch out! I'm opposing your amulets with which you hunt souls as one would swat at a flying insect. I'll tear them off your arms and then deliver those people, whom you've hunted like birds.
21 I'll also tear off your headbands and deliver my people from your grip so that they won't be under your control anymore. Then you'll know that I am the LORD.'
22 "Because you've dismayed the heart of the righteous — whom I never intended to dismay — with lies, and because you've encouraged the wicked so that he wouldn't abandon his evil behaviour and by doing so live,
23 you'll no longer see false visions or again practise divination, because I'm going to deliver my people from your power. Then you'll know that I am the LORD."

Acts 20

18 When they came to him, he told them, "You know how I lived among you the entire time from the first day I set foot in Asia.

19 I served the Lord with all humility, with tears, and with trials that came to me through the plots of the Jews.

20 I never shrank from telling you anything that would help you nor from teaching you publicly and from house to house.

21 I testified to both Jews and Greeks about repentance to God and faith in our Lord Jesus.

22 "And now, compelled by the Spirit, I am on my way to Jerusalem, not knowing what will happen to me there,

23 except that in town after town the Holy Spirit assures me that imprisonment and suffering are waiting for me.

24 But I don't place any value on my life, if only I can finish my race and the ministry that I received from the Lord Jesus of testifying to the gospel of God's grace.

25 "Now I know that none of you among whom I travelled preaching about the kingdom will ever see my face again.

26 I therefore declare to you today that I am not responsible for the blood of any of you, 27 for I never shrank from telling you the whole plan of God.

28 Pay attention to yourselves and to the entire flock over which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers to be shepherds of God's church, which he acquired with his own blood.

29 I know that when I'm gone savage wolves will come among you and not spare the flock.

30 Indeed, some of your own men will arise and distort the truth in order to lure the disciples into following them.

31 So be alert! Remember that for three years, night and day, I never stopped tearfully warning each of you.

32 "I am now entrusting you to God and to the message of his grace, which is able to build you up and secure for you an inheritance among all who are sanctified.

33 I never desired anyone's silver, gold, or clothes.

34 You yourselves know that I worked with my own hands to support myself and those who were with me.

35 In every way I showed you that by working hard like this we should help the weak and remember the words that the Lord Jesus himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

36 When Paul had said this, he knelt down and prayed with all of them.

37 All of them cried and cried as they put their arms around Paul and kissed him affectionately.

38 They were especially sorrowful because of what he had said — that they would never see his face again. Then they took him to the ship.

24th November

Ezekiel 14

- 1 Later, some men from the elders of Israel came to visit me. After they had sat down in my presence,
- 2 this message came to me from the LORD.
- 3 "Son of Man, these men have taken idols into their hearts. They've placed the stumbling block that is their own iniquity right in front of their faces. Should I be consulted by them at all?
- 4 Therefore, speak up and tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "Every person from Israel's house who follows his idols and sets the stumbling block that is his own sin in front of his face, and then consults a prophet, I the LORD will answer him according to how many idols he embraces.
- 5 I'll do this in order to capture the hearts of Israel's house who have become alienated from me due to all of their idols.'"
- 6 "Therefore you are to tell Israel's house, 'This is what the Lord God says, "Turn away! Turn away from your idols, and abandon your detestable practices!
- 7 For when a native Israeli or a resident alien abandons me to set up idols in his heart behind my back, and then places the stumbling block of his iniquity right in front of his own face, then approaches a prophet to inquire of me on behalf of his own self-interest, I, the LORD will answer him myself.
- 8 I'm determined to oppose that person and make him an example. Proverbs will be written about him when I eliminate him from my people. Then you'll know that I am the LORD.
- 9 "Now as to the prophet, if through deceit he delivers a message, I the LORD have deceived that prophet! I'll reach out in opposition to him and exterminate him from among my people Israel.
- 10 They'll bear the consequences of their guilt, and the prophet will be just as guilty as the one who seeks that prophet's guidance.
- 11 Then Israel's house won't wander away from me again, nor will they defile themselves again with all their transgressions. They'll become my people and I'll be their God," declares the Lord God.
- 12 This message came to me from the LORD:
- 13 "Son of Man, when a nation sins against me by a treacherous act, I'll reach out to oppose it, destroying its source of food, by sending famine against it, and by destroying both people and beast within it.
- 14 Though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job lived in that land, they would only save their own lives on account of their righteousness," declares the Lord God.
- 15 "If I were to make wild animals pass throughout the land, so that they kill its residents and it were to become desolate because no one will travel through it due to those wild animals,
- 16 then even though these three men were in it, as I live," says the Lord God, "they wouldn't be able to deliver even their sons or daughters. They would only save themselves, but the land would become desolate.
- 17 "Or if I were to bring war to that land and say, 'Hey, sword! Pass throughout the land so I can destroy both man and beasts in it,'
- 18 though these three men lived there, as I live," declares the Lord God, "they couldn't deliver their own sons and daughters. They would only save themselves.
- 19 "Or if I were to send a pestilence against that land and pour out my anger in it with bloodshed, destroying both man and beast in it, 20 even though Noah, Daniel, and Job were among them, as I live" says the Lord God, "they couldn't save their own sons or daughters. They would only save their own souls due to their own righteousness."

21 "This is what the Lord God says, 'I'm sending four of my most destructive judgements — military invasion, famine, wild animals, and pestilence — into Jerusalem to destroy both human beings and livestock in it.

22 But look! There will be a remnant who escapes, a few sons and daughters to be brought out. Look! They'll come out to you and you'll see how they've lived and what they've done, and you'll be comforted concerning the catastrophe that I brought on Jerusalem, including everything that I brought against her.

23 They'll comfort you when you see how they've lived and what they've done, because you'll know for certain that I haven't done anything that I've done against them without any reason,'" declares the Lord God.

Ezekiel 15

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, how does wood from a vine compare to a branch taken from any of the trees in the forest?

3 Is wood ever taken from it to make anything practical? Can it even be made into a peg to hang something on?

4 After all, it's useful only for kindling a fire, isn't it? And once you've burnt up the ends and charred through the middle of it, is it useful for anything else?

5 If it was useless before it was burned, now that it's been burned and charred through, it's even more useless!

6 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'Just as the wood from a grape vine is removed from the forest and used for kindling fires, I'm giving the inhabitants of Jerusalem over

7 to punishment. They may have escaped one fire, but the coming fire will burn them up completely, and they will know that I am the LORD, when I set myself in opposition to them

8 and dedicate the land to desolation because of their unfaithful unbelief,' declares the Lord God."

Ezekiel 16

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, make known to Israel her detestable practices.

3 You are to declare, 'This is what the Lord God says to Jerusalem: "Your birth place was the territory that belonged to the Canaanites. Your father was an Ammonite and your mother was a Hittite.

4 Now as to your birth, on the day you were born your umbilical cord wasn't cut. You weren't washed with water to clean you, and nobody rubbed you with salt. And it's certain that you weren't wrapped in strips of cloth.

5 Nobody pitied you to do any of these things for you, and nobody showed you any compassion. You were tossed outside on the ground, because you were detested from the day you were born.

6 ""When I passed by you, I saw you kicking around, covered in your own blood. That's when I told you, 'Live!' — while you were wallowing in your blood. I commanded you to live, even as you lay there in your own blood.

7 I made you increase like sprouting grain in the field. As a result, you multiplied greatly. Eventually, you reached the age when young women start wearing jewellery. Your breasts were formed, your hair had grown, but you were still bare and naked.""

8 "When I passed by you again, I looked at you, and noticed that it was your proper time for love. I spread my cloak over you to cover your nakedness. I made a solemn promise to you and entered into a covenant with you," declares the Lord God. "You belong to me.

9 I bathed you with water, rinsed your own blood from you, and anointed you with oil.

10 Then I covered you with embroidered clothing, clothed your feet with leather sandals, wrapped you with fine linen, and dressed you in silk.

11 I adorned you with jewels, placing bracelets on your hand and necklaces on your neck.

12 I put a ring in your nose, earrings in your ears, and a crown encrusted with jewels on your head.

13 You were adorned with gold, silver, clothing of fine linen, silk, and embroidery. You ate food made from finest flour, honey, and olive oil. You were exceedingly beautiful, attaining royal status.

14 Your fame spread throughout the nations because of your beauty. You were perfectly beautiful due to my splendour with which I endowed you," declares the Lord God.

15 "But you trusted in your beauty. You did what whores do, as a result of your fame. You passed out your sexual favours to anyone who passed by, giving yourself to anyone.

16 You took some of your clothes and made gaily-coloured high places and prostituted yourself all around them — something which had never happened before nor will ever happen again.

17 "You also took your fine jewellery — including my gold and my silver that I had given you. Then you made for yourself male images and had sex with them!

18 You took your embroidered gowns and made clothes to cover them. Then you offered my olive oil and incense to them.

19 "Not only that, you took the food I gave you — my fine flour, olive oil, and honey with which I fed you, and you offered them to those gods in order to appease them. That's exactly what happened," says the Lord God.

20 "Then you took your sons and daughters whom you bore for me and sacrificed them for your idols to eat. As though your prostitutions were an insignificant thing, 21 you also slaughtered my sons and offered them to idols, incinerating them in fire.

22 Throughout all of your detestable practices and immorality, you never did remember your earlier life when you were bare, naked, and wallowing in your own blood."

23 "How terrible! How terrible it will be for all of your wickedness!" declares the Lord God.

24 "You built raised mounds and high places for yourself on every plaza.

25 At every street corner you made your beauty abhorrent when you made yourself available for sex to anyone who was passing by. By doing this, you kept on committing more and more immorality.

26 Then you committed immorality with your neighbours, the Egyptians, with perverted lust, and by doing so you fornicated even more, provoking me to anger.

27 "Therefore, look out! I've reached out to oppose you. I withdrew your rations and delivered you to those Philistine women who hate you. Even they were embarrassed at your wicked ways!

28 You committed immorality with the Assyrians, because you still weren't satisfied. You committed immorality with them, but you still weren't satisfied.

29 You committed even more immorality with that land of the merchants, the Chaldeans. But you weren't satisfied even with these!

30 "How weak is your heart," declares the Lord God, "when you committed all of these deeds, the acts of an imperious whore!

31 When you built your mound on every street corner and constructed your high place at every plaza, you weren't like a common prostitute, in that you've insulted the wages of a prostitute

32 who commits adultery, preferring a stranger over her husband!

33 "All prostitutes receive gifts, but you give your gifts to all your lovers, then you bribe them to come to you from everywhere to get your sexual favours!

34 You're different from other women when you commit immorality — no one can match you in that! After all, you pay fees, but no fee is given to you. You're certainly different!"

Acts 21

1 When we had torn ourselves away from those brothers, we sailed straight to Cos, and the next day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara.

2 There we found a ship going across to Phoenicia, so we went aboard and sailed on.

3 We came in sight of Cyprus, and leaving it on our left we sailed on to Syria and landed at Tyre because the ship was to unload its cargo there.

4 So we located some disciples and stayed there for seven days. Through the Spirit they kept telling Paul not to go to Jerusalem,

5 but when our time there came to an end, we left and proceeded on our journey. All of them with their wives and children accompanied us out of the city. We knelt on the beach, prayed,

6 and said goodbye to each other. Then we re-boarded the ship, and they went back home.

7 When we completed our voyage from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, greeted the brothers there, and stayed with them for one day.

8 The next day we left and came to Caesarea. We went to the home of Philip the evangelist, one of the Seven, and stayed with him.

9 He had four unmarried daughters who could prophesy.

10 After we had been there for a number of days, a prophet named Agabus arrived from Judea.

11 He came to us, took Paul's belt, and tied his own feet and hands with it. Then he said, "The Holy Spirit says, 'This is how the Jews in Jerusalem will tie up the man who owns this belt. Then they will hand him over to the gentiles.'"

12 When we heard this, we and the people who lived there begged Paul not to go up to Jerusalem.

13 At this Paul replied, "What do you mean by crying and breaking my heart? I'm ready not only to be tied up in Jerusalem but even to die for the name of the Lord Jesus!"

14 When he could not be persuaded otherwise, we remained silent except to say, "May the Lord's will be done."

15 When our time there ended, we got ready to go up to Jerusalem.

16 Some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us. They took us to the home of Mnason to be his guests. He was from Cyprus and had been an early disciple.

17 When we arrived in Jerusalem, the brothers there welcomed us warmly.

18 The next day Paul went with us to visit James, and all the elders were present.

19 After greeting them, Paul related one by one the things that God had done among the gentiles through his ministry.

20 When they heard about it, they praised God and told him, "You see, brother, how many thousands of believers there are among the Jews, and all of them are zealous for the Law.

21 But they have been told about you — that you teach all the Jews living among the gentiles to forsake the Law of Moses, and that you tell them not to circumcise their children or observe the customs.

22 What is to be done? They will certainly hear that you have come.

23 So do what we tell you. We have four men who are under a vow.

24 Take these men, go through the purification ceremony with them, and pay their expenses to shave their heads. Then everyone will know that there is nothing in what they have been told about you, but that you are carefully observing and keeping the Law.

25 As for the gentiles who have become believers, we have sent a letter with our decision that they should keep away from food that has been sacrificed to idols, from blood, from anything strangled, and from sexual immorality."

Ezekiel 16

35 "Therefore listen to this message from the LORD, you whore!

36 This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Because your lust has been poured out and your nakedness has been uncovered by your acts of fornication with your lovers, and because of all your detestable idols and the blood of your sons, whom you offered to them,

37 therefore, watch out! I'm about to gather all your lovers from whom you've received your pleasure, everyone whom you've loved, and those whom you've hated. I'll gather them together to oppose you from every side, and they'll uncover your nakedness in their presence. Then they'll see you completely naked.

38 I'll judge you with the same standards by which I issue verdicts against a woman who commits adultery and murder. I'll avenge the blood you've shed with impassioned wrath.

39 "I'll also deliver you into their control, and they'll break down your mounds, tear down your high places, strip off your clothes, remove your fine jewels, and then they'll leave you stark naked!

40 They'll bring a mob against you to stone you to death and cut you into pieces with their swords.

41 Then they'll burn your houses and carry out my sentence against you in the sight of many women. "That's how I'll make you stop your prostitution so you won't pay any prostitute's fees anymore.

42 I'll stop being angry with you, and I'll cease being jealous. I'll be calm and not be indignant anymore.

43 Because you didn't remember the time when you were young, but instead you provoked me to anger because of all these things, watch out! I'm going to bring your behaviour back to haunt you!" declares the Lord GOD. "Didn't you do this wicked thing, in addition to all your other detestable practices?"

44 "Now, everyone who likes proverbs will quote this proverb about you, 'Like mother, like daughter.'

45 You're the daughter of your mother, who loathed her husband and children. You're the sister of your sisters, who loathed their husbands and children. "Your mother was a Hittite and your father was an Amorite.

46 Your elder sister was Samaria. She and her daughters lived in the north, while your younger sister who lived in the south with her daughters was Sodom.

47 It wasn't just that you lived like they did and committed their detestable practices, but in just a little while your behaviour led you to become more corrupt than they were!"

48 "As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "your sister Sodom and her daughters didn't do what you and your daughters have done.

49 Look! This was the sin of your sister Sodom and her daughters: Pride, too much food, undisturbed peace, and failure to help the poor and needy.

50 In their arrogance, they committed detestable practices in my presence, so when I saw it, I removed them.

51 Samaria didn't commit half of your sins — you practised more detestable deeds than they did! You've caused your sister to be more righteous than you, because of the detestable practices that you've committed.

52 So now, bear your own shame as you mediate for your sisters. The sins that you've committed are more detestable than theirs. That makes them more righteous than you. Indeed, be ashamed and bear your reproach, because you've made your sisters to be more righteous than you."

53 "I'll bring them back from their captivity — that is, from the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, along with the captivity of Samaria and her daughters and the captivity of your captives among them.

54 But you'll continue to bear your own reproach and be humiliated for everything that you've done. You'll be a comfort to them.

55 Your sister Sodom and her daughters will be restored to their former status. Samaria and her daughters will be restored to their former status. Then you and your daughters will be restored to your former status.

56 "When you were being so arrogant, you never once mentioned your sister Sodom
57 before your wickedness was revealed. Now you've become an object of derision to the inhabitants of Aram and its neighbours, including the Philistines — all those around you who despise you.

58 You are to bear the punishment of your wickedness and detestable practices," declares the LORD, 59 "since the Lord God says, 'I'll deal with you according to what you've done, when you despised your oath by breaking the covenant.

60 "'Meanwhile, as for me, I'll remember my covenant with you from when you were young, because I'll establish an eternal covenant with you.

61 Then you'll remember your behaviour and be ashamed when you greet your sisters — your elder sister and your younger sister. I'll give them to you as daughters, but not on account of my covenant with you.

62 I'll establish my covenant with you, and then you'll know that I am the LORD.

63 Then you will remember, be ashamed, and you won't open your mouth anymore due to humiliation when I will have made atonement for you for everything that you've done,' declares the Lord God."

Ezekiel 17

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, compose a riddle and relate a parable to Israel's house.

3 Tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "A massive eagle with gigantic wings, long pinions, and full, multi-coloured plumage came to Lebanon and took away the top of the cedar.

4 He plucked off the top of its shoot, brought it to a land of merchants, and set it down in a city full of traders.

5 Then the eagle took a seed from the land and planted it in fertile ground. He planted it like a willow tree next to abundant waters.

6 It flourished and became a low, spreading vine. Its branches turned toward him, and its roots spread under him to become a vine that put out shoots and spread out its branches.

7 "All of a sudden, there was another eagle with gigantic wings and thick plumage. The vine stretched its roots hungrily toward him and spread its branches out to him in order to be watered on the terraces where it was planted.

8 It was transplanted into good soil near abundant water, and it produced branches and bore fruit, becoming a magnificent vine."

9 "Tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says, "Will it prosper? Won't he pull up its roots, and strip it bare so all its fresh foliage dries up? It won't be by great strength or by a great army that it will be uprooted.

10 Look! Because it's a transplanted vine, won't it wither when the east wind hits it? It will surely wither in the terraces where it had started to sprout.'"

11 This message came to me from the LORD:

12 "Tell my rebellious house, 'Don't you know what these things mean? Look! The king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, captured her king and princes, and took them with him to Babylon.

13 Then he took one of the royal descendants, made a covenant with him, and put him under an oath of loyalty, taking the leaders of the land captive

14 in order to humiliate the kingdom so it wouldn't be able to return to power, but would still be able to continue as long as he keeps his covenant.

15 But he rebelled against the king of Babylon by sending his messengers to Egypt to obtain horses and a large army. Will he succeed? Or will the one who did this escape? Will he break the covenant, but still be delivered?"

16 "As long as I live," declares the Lord God, "in Babylon, that place where the king has enthroned him, whose oath he despised so as to break his covenant, he'll die with him.

17 Pharaoh, with his massive army and large battalions won't protect him when mounds and siege walls are built to destroy many people.

18 He despised the oath he had made and broke the covenant. Look! Because he willingly submitted, yet he has done all these things, he won't escape.

19 "Therefore, this is what the Lord God says, 'As long as I live, because he despised my oath and broke my covenant, he's going to suffer the consequences.

20 I'll spread my net over him so that he'll be caught in my snare. I'll bring him to Babylon and carry out my sentence there because of his treachery toward me.

21 The fugitives of his troops will die by the sword, and the survivors will be scattered to the four winds. Then you'll know that I, the Lord, have spoken."

22 "This is what the Lord God says, 'I'm also going to take a shoot from the top of a cedar and plant it. I'll pluck off its delicate twigs and transplant it on a high and lofty mountain.

23 I'll transplant it on Israel's land, and it will grow branches, bear fruit, and become a majestic cedar. All sorts of birds will rest under it, and they'll settle down in the shade of its branches.

24 Then all the trees of the fields will know that I, the Lord, bring down the lofty tree and exalt the lowly tree. I dry up the green tree and cause the dry tree to bud. I the Lord have spoken this, and I will fulfil it."

Ezekiel 18

1 This message came to me from the Lord:

2 "Why do you cite this proverb when you talk about Israel's land: 'The fathers eat sour grapes but it's their children's teeth that have become numb.'

3 As long as I live," declares the Lord, "you won't use this proverb about Israel anymore.

4 Look! Every living soul belongs to me — the father's as well as the son's. So pay attention! The person who keeps on sinning is going to die."

5 "If a person is righteous, and practises what's lawful and right,

6 if he doesn't eat at mountain shrines, and doesn't look to the idols that have been erected in Israel's house, if he doesn't defile his neighbour's wife or approach a woman during her time of menstrual separation,

7 if he doesn't oppress anyone, but instead returns the debtor's security for his debt, if he doesn't rob anyone, but instead shares his food with the hungry and gives clothes to those who are naked,

8 if he doesn't lend with usury or exact interest, but instead refuses to participate in what is unjust, if he administers true justice between people,

9 if he lives his life consistent with my statutes and keeps my ordinances by practising what's true, then he's righteous and will certainly live," declares the Lord God.

10 "Now suppose that person produces a son who's violent, a murderer, and practises any of these things,

11 even though the father hasn't done any of these things. The son who eats at mountain shrines, defiles his neighbour's wife,

12 oppresses the afflicted and the poor, robs others, doesn't return security for a debt, looks to idols, does detestable things,

13 loans with usury, and exacts interest, will he live? He certainly will not! He has done all these detestable practices. He will certainly die, and his guilt will be his own fault."

Acts 21

26 Then Paul took those men and the next day purified himself with them. Then he went into the Temple to announce the time when their days of purification would end and when the sacrifice would be offered for each of them.

27 When the seven days were almost over, the Jews from Asia, seeing Paul in the Temple, stirred up a large crowd. They grabbed Paul,

28 yelling, "Men of Israel, help! This is the man who teaches everyone everywhere to turn against our people, the Law, and this place. More than that, he has even brought Greeks into the Temple and desecrated this Holy Place."

29 For they had earlier seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him and assumed that Paul had taken him into the Temple.

30 The whole city was in chaos. The people rushed together, grabbed Paul, dragged him out of the Temple, and at once the doors were sealed shut.

31 The crowd was trying to kill Paul when a report reached the tribune of the cohort that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.

32 Immediately the tribune took some soldiers and officers and ran down to the crowd. When the people saw the tribune and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul.

33 Then the tribune came up, grabbed Paul, and ordered him to be tied up with two chains. He then asked who Paul was and what he had done.

34 Some of the crowd shouted this and some that. Since the tribune couldn't learn the facts due to the confusion, he ordered Paul to be taken into the barracks.

35 When Paul got to the steps, he had to be carried by the soldiers because the mob had become so violent.

36 The crowd of people kept following him and shouting, "Kill him!"

37 Just as Paul was about to be taken into the barracks, he asked the tribune, "May I say something to you?" The tribune asked, "Oh, do you speak Greek?"

38 You're not the Egyptian who started a revolt some time ago and led 4,000 assassins into the desert, are you?"

39 Paul replied, "I am a Jew from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no insignificant city. Please let me speak to the people."

40 The tribune gave him permission, and Paul, standing on the steps, motioned for the people to be silent. When everyone had quietened down, he spoke to them in the Hebrew language:

Acts 22

1 "Brothers and fathers, listen to the defence that I am now making before you."

2 When they heard him speaking to them in Hebrew, they became even more quiet, and he continued:

3 "I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia but raised in this city and educated at the feet of Gamaliel in the strict ways of our ancestral Law. I am as zealous for God as all of you are today.

4 I persecuted this Way, even executing people, and kept tying up both men and women and putting them in prison,

5 as the high priest and the whole council of elders can testify about me. From them I also received letters to the brothers in Damascus, and I was going there to tie up those who were there and bring them back to Jerusalem to be punished.

Ezekiel 18

14 "Now suppose that he produced a son who practised all of his father's sins, but then that son began to fear me and stopped doing all of these things.

15 That is, suppose he doesn't eat at the mountain shrines, doesn't look to the idols of Israel's house, doesn't defile his neighbour's wife,

16 doesn't oppress anyone, doesn't take possession of a debtor's pledge, or doesn't steal, but instead shares his food with the hungry, gives clothes to those who are naked,

17 doesn't refuse to help the afflicted, or refuses to loan with usury or exact interest, but instead follows my ordinances and lives his life consistent with my statutes. He won't die because of his father's sin, will he? No! He'll certainly live.

18 As for his father, watch out! If he wrongfully oppressed or robbed his brother and did what wasn't good among his people, he'll die because of his own sin."

19 "Yet you keep asking, 'Why wouldn't the son bear the punishment of his father's sin?' Because the son has done what was lawful and right, and has kept all my statutes and obeyed them, he's certainly going to live.

20 The soul who sins dies. The son won't bear the punishment of his father's sin and the father won't bear the punishment of his son's sin. The righteous deeds of that righteous person will be attributed to him, while the wicked deeds of the wicked person will be charged against him.

21 But if the wicked person turns from all his sins, which he did and keeps my statutes, then he'll live. He won't die.

22 None of the transgressions that he had committed will be held against him. Because of the righteous deeds that he had done, he'll live.

23 "I don't take delight in the death of the wicked, do I?" asks the Lord God. "Shouldn't I rather delight when he turns from his wicked ways and lives?

24 But when the righteous person abandons his righteous deeds and commits evil, detestable practices, as wicked people do, he won't live, will he? None of the righteous acts that he had done will be remembered. He'll die in his treacherous unfaithfulness and sins that he had committed."

25 "Yet you keep saying, 'The LORD isn't being consistent with his standards.' Pay attention, you house of Israel: Is my behaviour really inconsistent with my standards? Isn't it your behaviour that isn't just?

26 "When a righteous person turns from his righteous deeds and does evil, he'll die because of that evil. He'll die because of his unrighteous acts that he committed.

27 When a wicked person quits his wicked behaviour and does what's just and right, he'll be enabled to live.

28 Because he reconsidered his transgression and turned away from everything that he had been doing, he'll certainly live and not die.

29 Yet Israel's house keeps saying, 'The LORD isn't being consistent with his standards.' Is it my behaviour that's inconsistent with my standards? Is it not your behaviour that's inconsistent with my standards?"

30 "Therefore, Israel, I'm going to judge you according to the behaviour of each and every one of you," declares the Lord God. "So repent and turn from all your sins so that sin won't keep on being a stumbling block for you.

31 Stop your transgressing — the deeds by which you've rebelled — and then make for yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. Why should you die, you house of Israel?

32 I don't take pleasure in the death of anyone who dies," declares the LORD. "So repent, so you may live!"

Ezekiel 19

- 1 "Now as for you, publish this mourning psalm about Israel's leaders.
- 2 Tell them: 'What a lioness your mother was among lions! She reared her cubs in the midst of fierce young males.
- 3 She raised one cub in particular, teaching that fierce lion to become a hunter-prowler — to eat human beings.
- 4 The nations heard about him. He had become caught in their trap. They brought him with hooks to the land of Egypt.
- 5 When she learned that her plans had been frustrated and that her hopes were dashed, she took another of her cubs and turned him into a fierce lion.
- 6 He prowled around among the lions, became a strong, young lion, and learned to become a hunter-prowler — to eat human beings.
- 7 He raped the women, devastating their towns. The land was made desolate, and all the while the land was filled with the sound of his roaring.
- 8 The surrounding nations attacked. They tossed their net over him, and he was caught in their trap.
- 9 They imprisoned him in a cage with hooks and brought him to the king of Babel. Then they placed him in their dungeon where his voice would no longer be heard on the mountains of Israel.
- 10 'Your mother was like a vine entwining a pomegranate, planted by water, full of fruit, and full of branches because it had been watered generously.
- 11 Strong were its boughs, suitable for use in the sceptre of a ruler. It reached to the clouds, noticeable because of its height and its abundant branches.
- 12 Yet in anger it was uprooted and cast down to the earth. An east wind desiccated its fruit; its strong branches broke off and withered, and a fire consumed them.
- 13 Now it is planted in the desert, in a dry and thirsty land!
- 14 Fire had burned through its branches, consuming its shoots and fruits. No strong branches remain in it, and there is no sceptre to rule!' "This is a lamentation, and it is to be used in mourning."

Ezekiel 20

- 1 In the seventh year, on the tenth day of the fifth month, men came from the elders of Israel to seek the LORD. They sat down in front of me.
- 2 "Son of Man," the LORD told me,
- 3 "Tell the elders of Israel, 'This is what the Lord GOD asks, "Did you come to inquire of me? As long as I live, I won't let myself be sought by you," declares the Lord GOD.'
- 4 "Will you judge them? Son of Man, will you indeed judge them? Teach them about the detestable things that their ancestors did.
- 5 Tell them, 'This is what the Lord GOD says, "The day I chose Israel, when I made my commitment to the descendants of Jacob's house, I revealed myself to them in the land of Egypt and I made my promise to them with the words 'I am the LORD your God.'
- 6 That day I promised to bring them out of the land of Egypt to the land that I had explored for them — a land flowing with milk and honey. It's the most beautiful of all lands.
- 7 Then I told them, 'Each of you are to abandon your detestable practices. You are not to defile yourselves with Egypt's idols. I am the LORD your God.'"
- 8 "But they rebelled against me and weren't willing to obey me. None of them abandoned their detestable practices or their Egyptian idols. So I said, 'I'll pour out my anger on them, extending my fury in the middle of the land of Egypt.'
- 9 I did this so my reputation might not be tarnished among the nations where they were living, among whom I made myself known in their presence when I brought them out of the land of Egypt.

10 I brought them out of the land of Egypt to bring them to the wilderness
11 where I gave them my statutes and revealed my ordinances to them, which if a person observes, he'll live by them.
12 Also, I instituted my Sabbath for them as a sign between me and them, so they would know that I am the LORD, who has set them apart."
13 "But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness. They didn't live by my statutes. They despised my ordinances, which if a person observes, he'll live by them. They greatly profaned my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my anger on them and bring them to an end in the wilderness.
14 I did this so my reputation wouldn't be tarnished among the nations in whose presence I had brought them out.
15 "Moreover, I solemnly swore to them in the wilderness that I wouldn't bring them to the land that I had given them — a land flowing with milk and honey, the most beautiful of all lands —
16 because they kept on rejecting my ordinances. They didn't live life consistent with my statutes, they profaned my Sabbaths, and their hearts followed their idols.
17 Even then, I looked on them with compassion and didn't completely destroy them in the wilderness.
18 I told their children in the wilderness, 'You are not to follow the statutes of your ancestors, observe their ordinances, or be defiled by their idols.
19 I am the LORD your God. You are to follow my statutes, observe my ordinances, and keep them.
20 You are to make my Sabbaths holy, and you are to let them serve as a sign between you and me, so that you may know that I am the LORD your God."
21 "But they rebelled against me. They didn't live according to my statutes, observe my ordinances, or practise them, by which a person will live. They also kept profaning my Sabbaths. So I said that I was going to pour out my anger on them and in my anger I'm going to bring about a complete end to them in the wilderness.
22 But I withdrew my decision so my reputation wouldn't be tarnished among the nations before whose eyes I brought them out.
23 "Furthermore, I solemnly swore in the wilderness to disperse them among the nations and scatter them to other lands
24 because they didn't observe my ordinances. Instead, they rejected my statutes, profaned my Sabbaths, and worshipped their ancestors' idols.
25 So I gave them statutes that weren't good and ordinances by which they could not live.
26 I made them unclean because of their offerings, so they made all their firstborn to pass through the fire, so that I could make them astonished. Then they'll know that I am the LORD."
27 "Therefore, Son of Man, you are to speak to the children of Israel and tell them, "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Your ancestors also blasphemed me in their treacherous behaviour against me.
28 I brought them to the land that I had promised to give them. But whenever they saw any high hill and or any leafy tree, they slaughtered their sacrifices there and presented their offerings that provoked my anger. There they presented their pleasing aromas and poured out their drink offering.
29 So I asked them, "What is the high place to which you're going?" That's why the name of the place has been called Bamah to this day."
30 "Therefore you are to say to Israel's house, "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Will you defile yourselves like your ancestors did by acting as a prostitute, consistent with their horrible deeds?

31 When you present your gifts and make your sons pass through the fire, you continue to defile yourselves with your idols to this day. Should I be inquired of by you, you house of Israel? As I live,' declares the LORD, 'I certainly won't be inquired of by you.'

32 The thing that you're imagining is never going to happen, since you're thinking, 'We'll be like the nations, like the clans of other lands who serve gods made from wood and stone.'"

Acts 22

6 "But while I was on my way and approaching Damascus about noon, a bright light from heaven suddenly flashed around me.

7 I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul! Saul! Why are you persecuting me?'

8 "I answered, 'Who are you, Lord?'" He told me, 'I am Jesus from Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.'

9 The men who were with me saw the light but didn't understand the voice of the one who was speaking to me.

10 "Then I asked, 'What am I to do, Lord?' "The Lord told me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there you will be told everything you are destined to do.'

11 Since I could not see because of the brightness of the light, the men who were with me took me by the hand and led me into Damascus.

12 "A certain Ananias, who was a devout man with respect to the Law and who was highly regarded by all the Jews living there,

13 came to me. He stood beside me and said, 'Brother Saul, receive your sight!' At that moment I could see him.

14 "Then he said, 'The God of our ancestors has chosen you to know his will, to see the Righteous One, and to hear his own voice, 15 because you will be his witness to all people of what you have seen and heard.

16 What are you waiting for now? Get up, be baptized, and have your sins washed away as you call on his name.'

17 "Then I returned to Jerusalem. While I was praying in the Temple, I fell into a trance

18 and saw the Lord saying to me, 'Hurry up and get out of Jerusalem at once, because the people won't accept your testimony about me.'

19 "I said, 'Lord, they themselves know that in every synagogue I kept imprisoning and beating those who believe in you.

20 Even when the blood of your witness Stephen was being shed, I was standing there approving it and guarding the coats of those who were killing him.'

21 "Then he told me, 'Go, because I will send you far away to the gentiles.'"

22 Up to this point they listened to him, but then they began to shout, "Away with such a fellow from the earth! He's not fit to go on living!"

23 While they were yelling, tossing their coats around, and throwing dirt into the air,

24 the tribune ordered Paul to be taken into the barracks and told the soldiers to beat and question him in order to find out why the people were yelling at him like this.

25 But when they had tied him up with the straps, Paul asked the centurion who was standing there, "Is it legal for you to whip a Roman citizen who hasn't been condemned?"

26 When the centurion heard this, he went to the tribune and told him, "What are you doing? This man is a Roman citizen!"

Ezekiel 20

33 "As I live," declares the Lord God, "with my powerful hand and outstretched arm, along with my wrath poured out, I'll reign as king over you.

34 I'll bring you out from the peoples and gather you from the lands where you were scattered. With a powerful hand, with an outstretched arm, and with wrath poured out

35 I'll bring you into the wilderness of the nations. I'll judge you right there, face to face.

36 Just as I judged your ancestors in the wilderness in the land of Egypt, so I'll judge you," declares the Lord.

37 "I'll cause you to pass under the rod until I will have brought you into the bond of the covenant.

38 I'll eliminate the rebels among you, along with those who are transgressing against me. I'll bring them out of the land where you've lived, but they won't be able to enter the land of Israel. Then you'll know that I am the Lord."

39 "And now, you house of Israel, this is what the Lord God says, 'Go ahead and serve your idols, both now and later, but later you'll listen to me, and you won't profane my sacred name again by your offerings and idols.

40 For on my holy mountain, on Israel's high mountains," declares the Lord God, "the whole of Israel's house — all of it — will serve me there in the land. I'll accept them there. And there I'll demand your offerings, the first fruits of your portions of all your sacred things.

41 "When I will have brought you from among the people and have gathered you from the lands where you were scattered, I'll accept you as a pleasing aroma. I'll reveal my holiness among you, and the entire world will see it.

42 Then you'll know that I, the Lord, brought you to the land of Israel, to the land that I promised to give to your ancestors.

43 You'll remember all your practices and evil actions by which you've become defiled. You'll loathe yourselves because of all the evil things you've done.

44 Then you'll know that I am the Lord, when I will have dealt with you for the benefit of my own reputation and not according to your evil attitudes or corrupt practices, you house of Israel," declares the Lord God."

45 This message came to me from the Lord:

46 "Son of Man, turn to the south and oppose it, talking toward the south.

47 Prophecy against the forest of the Negev, 'Listen to this message from the Lord. This is what the Lord God says: 'Look out! I'm about to ignite a fire and set it against you. It will devour every tree — whether green or dry — that lives in you. This powerful flame will not be extinguishable, and the entire surface from south to north will be scorched by it.

48 Then everyone will see that I, the Lord, have kindled it, because it won't be extinguished."

49 Then I said, "O Lord God! They're saying about me, 'Isn't he one to propound parables?'"

Ezekiel 21

1 This message came to me from the Lord:

2 "Son of Man, look toward Jerusalem, preach against its sanctuaries, and prophecy against Israel's land.

3 Declare to Israel, 'This is what the Lord says: "Watch out! I'm against you! I'm going to unsheathe my sword to kill both the righteous and the wicked among you.

4 Since I'm going to kill both the righteous and the wicked among you, I'll be unsheathing my sword against everyone from south to north.

5 Then everyone will know that I am the LORD, who unsheathed my sword, and who won't have to unsheathe it again."

6 "And now, Son of Man, you are to start groaning until you're sick to your stomach. You are to groan bitterly right in front of them.

7 When they'll ask you, 'Why are you groaning?' you are to say, 'Because of the news that just arrived. Every heart will melt with fear, every hand will grow limp, every spirit will grow faint, and every knee will glisten with sweat.' Look! It has come and it will be fulfilled," declares the Lord GOD.

8 This message came to me from the LORD:

9 "Son of Man, prophesy and say, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: 'A sword! A sword is being sharpened. It's also being polished.

10 It's being sharpened for slaughter, and being polished to gleam like lightning.' "We shouldn't be rejoicing, should we, while my Son's sceptre, the sword, is despising every tree?

11 "It's intended to be polished so it can be grasped in the hand. The sword is sharpened. It's polished for placement into the hand of the executioner.

12 "Cry and wail, you Son of Man! It's headed against my people. It's also against all the princes of Israel, who have been tossed to the sword, along with my people. So it's time to grieve like you mean it,

13 because testing is sure to come. "In putting the sword to the test along with the sceptre, it won't keep on rejecting, will it?" declares the Lord God."

14 "Now, Son of Man, prophesy as you strike your hands together. Let the sword that fatally wounds be doubled and tripled. That great, slaughtering sword closes in on them. I've set in place a slaughtering sword at the entrance to all their gates, 15 so that their hearts melt and the number of those who stumble increase. I've set in place a slaughtering sword at the entrance to all their gates. Oh, no! It's made like lightning. It's drawn to slaughter.

16 Be sharp! Attack on the right, or parry to your left, wherever you point your sword.

17 I will also clap my hands; then my anger will subside. I, the LORD have spoken it."

18 This message came to me from the LORD:

19 "Now, Son of Man, demarcate two pathways by which the sword of Babylon's king will arrive in the land. Both pathways will lead from a single land. "Make a sign, carving it out and installing it at the junction on the way to the city.

20 Set it to point one way for bringing the sword against Rabbah, the descendants of Ammon, and the other way against Judah and fortified Jerusalem.

21 "Meanwhile, Babylon's king is standing at the fork of the road, where he can head in either of two directions, and that's where he is practising divination. Shaking his arrows, he's asking questions of his teraphim while he examines livers.

22 On his right hand he is divining against Jerusalem, preparing to set up battering rams, preparing for the slaughter, getting ready to sound the alarm for battle, setting the battering rams in place at the gates, building siege mounds, and erecting a siege wall.

23 In their view, it will seem to be a false prophecy, but because they swore allegiance, he'll make them remember their guilt as he takes them captive."

24 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says: 'Because you remembered your sins when your transgressions were uncovered, your sins are visibly evident in everything you've done. And since you've remembered them, you'll be taken captive.'

25 "So now, you dishonoured and wicked prince of Israel, whose day has come in this time of final punishment,

26 This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Remove your turban! Take off your crown! Things aren't going to remain as they used to be. What is lowly will be exalted, and what is lofty will be brought low.

27 A ruin! A ruin! I'm bringing about ruin!' But this also will not happen until he who has authority over it arrives, because I'll give it to him."

28 And now Son of Man, prophesy to the Ammonites that this is what the Lord God says to the Ammonites about their approaching humiliation: "A sword! A sword is being drawn for slaughter. It's polished to flash like lightning.

29 When they see empty visions about you while they're divining lies for you, to lay you on the necks of the wicked, who are fatally wounded, whose days have come, their time for punishment.

30 Return it to its scabbard. "At the place where you were formed, in the land of your origin, there is where I'll judge you.

31 I'm going to pour out my indignation all over you. I'll blow my fierce wrath against you and deliver you into the control of brutal men who are skilled at destruction.

32 You'll be fuel for the conflagration. Your blood will be spilled throughout the land. You won't be remembered anymore, now that I, the LORD, have spoken."

Ezekiel 22

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Now, Son of Man, will you truly judge that blood-stained city? Then make her aware of all of her detestable practices.

3 "You are to say, 'This is what the Lord God says: "The city keeps on shedding blood within her, hastening her time to be judged. She crafts idols that defile her.

4 "You're guilty because of the blood that you've shed. You were defiled by the idols that you've made. You've caused your judgement day to draw near and have even come to the end of your life. Therefore, I've made you an object of derision among the nations and to other lands.

5 Those who are both near and far away from you will scoff at you, because your reputation will be infamous and full of turmoil.

6 "Watch out! Each of the princes of Israel has misused his authority to shed blood.

7 They've treated mothers and fathers among you with contempt. They've oppressed the foreigner among you. They've maltreated the orphan and the widow among you.

8 "You have despised my sacred things and profaned my Sabbaths.

9 Slandorous men live among you, intent on shedding blood. They've eaten at the top of mountain shrines. They've crafted plans to do evil things among you.

10 They've revealed the nakedness of their father in your midst. They've humiliated those among you who were unclean due to their impurity.

11 One of you commits detestable practices with his neighbour's wife. Another sexually defiles his daughter-in-law. Another humiliates his sister, his own father's daughter.

12 They take bribes among you to shed blood. You've taken usury and exacted interest. You've gained control over your neighbour through extortion. And you've forgotten me," declares the Lord God.

13 "Watch out! I'm vehemently angry about the unjust gains that you've earned, and about the blood that has been shed among you.

14 Can your heart stand up to this? Can your hands remain strong when I deal with you? I, the LORD, have spoken and will fulfil this.

15 I'm going to disperse you among the nations and scatter you to other lands. I'm going to put an end to your uncleanness.

16 When you've been defiled in the sight of the nations, then you'll know that I am the LORD."

Acts 22

27 So the tribune went and asked Paul, "Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?" "Yes," he said.
28 Then the tribune replied, "I paid a lot of money for this citizenship of mine." Paul said, "But I was born a citizen."
29 Immediately those who were about to examine him stepped back, and the tribune was afraid when he found out that Paul was a Roman citizen and that he had tied him up.
30 The next day, since the Tribune wanted to find out exactly what Paul was being accused of by the Jews, he released him and ordered the high priests and the entire Council to meet. Then he brought Paul down and had him stand before them.

Acts 23

1 Paul looked straight at the Council and said, "Brothers, with a clear conscience I have done my duty before God up to this very day."
2 Then the high priest Ananias ordered the men standing near him to strike him on the mouth.
3 At this Paul told him, "God will strike you, you whitewashed wall! How can you sit there and judge me according to the Law and yet in violation of the Law order me to be struck?"
4 The men standing near him asked, "Do you mean to insult God's high priest?"
5 Paul answered, "I didn't realize, brothers, that he is the high priest. After all, it is written, 'You must not speak evil about a ruler of your people.'"
6 When Paul saw that some of them were Sadducees and others were Pharisees, he shouted in the Council, "Brothers, I am a Pharisee and a descendant of Pharisees. I am on trial concerning the hope that the dead will be resurrected."
7 After he said that, an angry quarrel broke out between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the assembly was divided,
8 because the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection and that there is no such thing as an angel or spirit, but the Pharisees believe in all those things.
9 There was a great deal of shouting until some of the scribes who belonged to the party of the Pharisees stood up and argued forcefully, "We find nothing wrong with this man. What if a spirit or an angel has spoken to him?"
10 The quarrel was becoming violent, and the tribune was afraid that they would tear Paul to pieces. So he ordered the soldiers to go down, take him away from them by force, and bring him into the barracks.
11 That night the Lord stood near Paul and said, "Have courage! For just as you have testified about me in Jerusalem, you must testify in Rome, too."
12 In the morning, the Jews formed a conspiracy and took an oath not to eat or drink anything before they had killed Paul.
13 More than 40 men formed this conspiracy.
14 They went to the high priests and elders and said, "We have taken a solemn oath not to taste any food before we have killed Paul."
15 Now then, you and the Council must notify the tribune to bring him down to you on the pretext that you want to look into his case more carefully, but before he arrives we'll be ready to kill him."
16 But the son of Paul's sister heard about the ambush, so he came and got into the barracks and told Paul.
17 Then Paul called one of the centurions and said, "Take this young man to the tribune, because he has something to tell him."

Ezekiel 22

17 This message came to me from the LORD:

18 "Son of Man, Israel has become like dross to me. All of them are like remnants of bronze, tin, iron, and lead in a furnace — the dross left over from smelting silver.

19 Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says, 'Because all of you have become dross, watch out! I'm going to gather all of you at the centre of Jerusalem,

20 just like a smelter gathers all the silver, bronze, lead, and tin to the centre of a furnace and injects fire in order to melt it, I'm going to gather you in my anger and rage, make you settle down — and then I'm going to melt you down.

21 Indeed, I'm going to gather you together and exhale the fire of my fury, and then you'll be melted from the inside out

22 like melting silver at the centre of a furnace. When you've been melted from the centre out, then you'll know that I am the LORD. I'll pour out my anger on you."

23 This message came to me from the LORD;

24 "Son of Man, tell her, 'You're a land that hasn't been purified, one that hasn't been rained on in the day of indignation.

25 There's a conspiracy of prophets within her, and like a roaring lion tearing its prey, they've devoured people, and confiscated treasures, and taken precious things. They've added to the population of widows within her.

26 Her priests have violated my Law and profaned my sacred things. They didn't differentiate between what's sacred and what's common. They didn't instruct others to discern clean from unclean things. They refused to keep my Sabbaths. "'I'm constantly being profaned among them.

27 Her princes within her are like wolves tearing their prey apart. They shed blood, destroying souls, and make unjust gain.

28 "'Her prophets whitewashed all of these things through false visions and lying divinations. They kept on saying, "This is what the Lord GOD says. . .", when the LORD has not spoken.

29 The people of the land were vigorously oppressive and took possession of plunder by violence. They've afflicted the poor and the needy and unjustly treated the foreigner.

30 I sought for a man among them to build the wall and stand in the breach in my presence on behalf of the land so that it won't be destroyed, but I found no one,

31 so I poured my indignation over them. With my fierce anger, I've consumed them. I brought the consequences of their behaviour upon them,' declares the Lord GOD."

Ezekiel 23

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, here are two sisters who are daughters from the same mother.

3 They committed sexual immorality in Egypt. They did this in their youth. There, their breasts were caressed. Their virgin breasts were fondled.

4 The older one was named Oholah and her sister was named Oholibah. They belonged to me and gave birth to sons and daughters. Now as to their real identities, Oholah refers to Samaria and Oholibah to Jerusalem."

5 "Oholah committed sexual immorality while she belonged to me. She lusted for Assyria's warriors,

6 who were clothed in blue — including governors and commanders. All of them were desirable young men — horsemen mounted on horses.

7 She bestowed her sexual favours on them — all of them, the best of the Assyrians — and with whomever she lusted for. "She defiled herself with all their idols.

8 She never abandoned the immorality that she practised in Egypt during her youth, where they laid down with her and fondled her virgin breasts, lavishing her with all kinds of favours.

9 Therefore, I turned her over to the control of her lovers, that is, into the control of the Assyrians for whom she lusted.

10 They stripped her naked, took away her sons and daughters, and executed her with a sword. She became an object of ridicule among other nations when they punished her."

11 "Her sister Oholibah saw this, but she was more corrupt in her lust and sexual immorality than her sister had been in her own sexual immorality.

12 She lusted after the Assyrians — governors, commanders, warriors clothed in gorgeous attire, cavalry mounted on their horses — all of them desirable young men.

13 I saw that she was defiled, because the two of them both were on the same path.

14 "She became even more sexually immoral when she saw the images of the Chaldean men who had been carved in red on their walls.

15 Girded with waistbands around their loins, with flowing turbans on their heads, all of them looked like chariot officers, similar to the Babylonians from Chaldea, where they had been born.

16 "She lusted after them when she saw them, so she sent messengers to summon them from Chaldea.

17 The Babylonians came to her love nest and defiled her with their sexual immorality. As a result, she was defiled by them. Even so, she turned away from them in disgust.

18 She displayed her immorality publicly and stripped herself naked, so I turned away in disgust from her, just as I had turned away in disgust from her sister.

19 "Nevertheless, she became even more sexually immoral, even reminiscing about when she was young, when she kept on practising sexual immorality in the land of Egypt.

20 She lusted after her paramours, whose genitals are like those of donkeys, and whose emissions are like those of horses.

21 Think about the wickedness that you practised when you were young, when the Egyptians fondled your breasts, the breasts of your youth."

22 "Therefore, Oholibah, this is what the Lord God says: 'Look! I'm about to stir up your lovers against you, the ones from whom you've turned away in disgust. I'm going to bring them against you from every direction —

23 the Babylonians, all the Chaldeans, Pekod, Shoa, Koa, and all of the Assyrians with them. They're all desirable young men, governors, commanders, chariot officers, and famous men, all of them mounted on horses.

24 "'They'll invade you with weapons, chariots, wagons, and a vast army. They'll set themselves in place to attack you from every direction with large shields, small shields, and helmets. I'll turn over judgement to them, and they'll punish you according to their own standards.

25 I'll expend my jealousy on you so they'll deal with you in anger. They'll cut off your noses and your ears. Your survivors will die violently. They'll take your sons and daughters away from you, but your survivors will be incinerated.

26 They'll strip off your clothes and confiscate your jewellery.

27 That's how I'll put an end to your obscene conduct and sexual immorality that you kept on practising since the day you left the land of Egypt so that you won't look in Egypt's direction or even remember it anymore.'

28 "This is what the Lord God says, 'I'm about to turn you over to the control of those you hate, to the control of those from whom you turned away in disgust.

29 They'll deal with you with hatred. They'll take away your productivity, leaving you naked and defenceless, so that the nakedness of your sexual immorality will be uncovered — your licentious sexual immorality.

30 These things will happen to you because of your sexual immorality that was patterned after what the nations do. You've been defiled by their idols.

31 You took the path of your sister, so I'll place her cup in your hand."

32 "This is what the Lord God says: 'You'll drink from your sister's cup, which is both large and deep. You'll become a laughing stock and an object of derision, since the cup is so full!

33 You'll be filled with drunkenness and grief. The cup that belongs to your sister Samaria is filled with horror and devastation,

34 but you'll drink from it and drain it completely. As for the vessel, you'll break it to pieces and you'll tear at your breasts, for I've spoken,' declares the Lord God."

35 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'Because you abandoned me and threw me behind your back, you will bear the consequences of your obscene conduct and sexual immorality."

36 Then the Lord spoke to me. "Son of Man, speak out in judgement of both Oholah and Oholibah. Make their detestable practices widely known, 37 because they've committed adultery, and blood covers their hands. They've also committed adultery with their idols, making their sons born to me to pass through the fire as an offering to them.

38 "They've also done this to me: They defiled my sanctuary and profaned my Sabbaths, all at the same time!

39 When they killed their sons as offerings to their idols, they brought them to my sanctuary and defiled it. Look what they've done with my Temple!

40 "In addition, they sent messengers for men to come from afar. When they arrived, you bathed yourself for them, painted your eyes, adorned yourself with jewellery,

41 then sat down on an elegant bed. A table was arranged in front of it, on which you set out my incense and oil.

42 The sound of a carefree multitude accompanied her. Men from a multitude of peoples were coming — including Sabaeans from the wilderness, adorned with bracelets on their hands and beautiful crowns on their heads.

43 "After she had worn herself out by her adulterous behaviour, I asked her, 'Will they continue with their sexual immorality and with their prostitution?'

44 They've gone to her, like men do, to have sex with a prostitute. They had sex with Oholah and Oholibah, those licentious women.

45 Righteous men will judge them with punishments fit for adulterers and for those who shed blood, because they're adulterers with blood on their hands."

46 This is what the Lord God says: "Bring an army against them and deliver them over to terror and plunder.

47 Then the army will stone them with stones and cut them to pieces with their swords. They'll kill their sons and daughters and incinerate their houses.

48 I'll cause obscene conduct to stop throughout the land, because all the women will be admonished not to practise their obscene conduct.

49 You'll receive the consequences for your obscene conduct and bear the punishment for your sins of idolatry. Then you'll know that I am the Lord God."

Acts 23

18 So the centurion took him, brought him to the tribune, and said, "The prisoner Paul called me and asked me to bring this young man to you. He has something to tell you."

19 The tribune took him by the hand, stepped aside to be alone with him, and asked, "What have you got to tell me?"

20 He answered, "The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul down to the Council tomorrow as though they were going to examine his case more carefully.

21 Don't believe them, because more than 40 of them are planning to ambush him. They have taken an oath not to eat or drink before they have killed him. They are ready now, just waiting for your consent."

22 The tribune dismissed the young man and ordered him not to tell anyone that he had notified him.

23 Then he summoned two centurions and ordered, "Get 200 soldiers ready to leave for Caesarea at nine o'clock tonight, along with 70 mounted soldiers and 200 soldiers with spears.

24 Provide a mount for Paul to ride, and take him safely to Governor Felix."

25 He wrote a letter with this message:

26 "From: Claudius Lysias,

To: Governor Felix,

Greetings, Your Excellency:

27 This man had been seized by the Jews and was about to be killed by them when I went with the guard and rescued him, having learned that he was a Roman citizen.

28 I wanted to know the exact charge they were making against him, so I had him brought before their Council.

29 I found that, although he was charged with questions about their Law, there was no charge against him deserving death or imprisonment.

30 Since a plot against the man has been reported to me, I am at once sending him to you and have also ordered his accusers to present their charges against him before you."

31 So the soldiers, in keeping with their orders, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 The next day they let the horsemen ride with Paul while they returned to their barracks.

33 When these men came to Caesarea, they delivered the letter to the governor and handed Paul over to him.

34 After reading the letter, the governor asked which province Paul was from. On learning that he was from Cilicia, 35 he said, "I will hear your case when your accusers arrive." Then he ordered Paul to be kept in custody in Herod's palace.

Ezekiel 24

1 In the ninth year, in the tenth month, and on the tenth day of the month, this message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, write down the name of this day, this very day. The king of Babylon has laid siege to Jerusalem on this very day.

3 So compose a parable for the rebellious house. Tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says: "Prepare your pot for boiling! Set it in place. Fill it up with water, too.

4 Gather together the best pieces of meat on it — including the thighs and the shoulders — and fill it with the choicest bones.

5 Take the best bones from the flock, pile wood under the pot for the bones, bring it to a boil, and then cook the bones in it.'"

6 "This is what the Lord God says: 'How terrible it is for that blood-filled city, to the pot whose rust remains in it, whose rust won't come off. Empty it one piece at a time. Don't let a lot fall on it.

7 Her blood was in it. She poured it out onto bare rock. She didn't pour it out on the ground, intending to cover it with dirt.

8 In order to stir up my anger and in order to take vengeance, I set the blood on a bare rock so that it cannot be covered.'

9 Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'How terrible it is for that blood-filled city — I'm also going to add to my pile of kindling.

10 Pile up the wood! Make the fire burn hot. Boil the meat! Mix the seasonings. Burn those bones to a crisp!

11 Make the pot stand empty on the coals until its bronze glows red, its rust can be scoured off, and its dross completely removed.

12 The pot wearies me, but its thick rust won't come off, even with fire.

13 There is wickedness in your obscene conduct. Even though I've cleansed you, your uncleanness cannot be washed away. You cannot be cleansed again until my rage against you has subsided.'

14 I, the LORD have spoken. It will happen, because I'm going to do it. I won't hold back, have compassion, or change my mind. They'll judge you according to your ways and deeds,' declares the Lord God."

15 This message came to me from the LORD:

16 "Son of Man, pay attention! I'm about to take away your most precious treasure with a single, fatal stroke, but you are not to mourn, weep, nor even let tears well up in your eyes.

17 You are to weep in silence, but you are not to mourn the dead. You're to keep your turban on your head and your sandals on your feet. You are not to cover your mouth or eat what your comforters bring to you."

18 So I spoke to the people in the morning, and my wife died that evening. The next morning, I did as I had been commanded.

19 Then the people told me, "Are you going to explain what these things that you're doing should mean to us?"

20 So I responded, "This message came to me from the LORD:

21 'Tell the house of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: "Look! I'm about to profane my sanctuary, the source of your proud strength, the desire of your eyes, and the object of your affection. Your sons and daughters, whom you've left behind, will die by the sword.

22 That's why you will soon be doing what I've just done. You are not to cover your mouth or eat what your comforters bring to you.

23 Your turbans will be on your heads and your sandals will be on your feet. You won't mourn or weep. Instead, you'll waste away in your sins. Every one of you will groan to his relative.

24 That's how Ezekiel will be an example for you. You'll be doing exactly what he has done. When it happens, then you'll know that I am the Lord God."

25 "And now, Son of Man, on the day that I take their strength, joy, and glory from them, those whom they love to watch, the focus of their affection — their sons and daughters —
26 at that time, a fugitive will come to you and will bring you the news.

27 Your mouth will freely speak to the fugitive. You won't be silent any longer. You'll be a sign to them. Then they'll know that I am the Lord."

Ezekiel 25

1 This message came to me from the Lord:

2 "Son of Man, turn your attention to the descendants of Ammon and rebuke them.

3 Tell the Ammonites: 'Listen to a message from the Lord God! This is what the Lord God says: Because you have said, "Aha!" about my sanctuary when it was desecrated, about the land of Israel when it became desolate, and about the households of Judah when they went into exile,

4 therefore you'd better look out! I'm going to turn you over to men from the East, who will dominate you. You will become their property. They will set up military encampments and permanent places in which to live among you, and then they'll eat your fruit and drink your milk.

5 I will turn Rabbah into a pasture for camels, and Ammon will become a resting place for flocks of sheep. That's how they'll learn that I am the Lord."

6 "This is what the Lord God says: 'Because you've applauded, stamped your feet, and rejoiced with all sorts of malice in your heart against the land of Israel,

7 therefore you'd better watch out! I'm raising a clenched fist in your direction! I'm about to feed you to the surrounding nations as war plunder. I'm going to eliminate you as a nation and kill off those of you who survive to live in other countries. I'm going to destroy you, and that's how you'll learn that I am the Lord."

8 "This is what the Lord God says: 'Because Moab and Seir are claiming, "Judah's citizens are just like every other nation,"

9 therefore you'd better watch out! I'm going to tear open Moab's flanks, starting with its frontier cities — the very glory of the nation! — including Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I'm going to turn these cities over to men from the East, who will dominate you. You will become their property. As a result, Ammon will be forgotten as a nation.

11 I'm also going to punish Moab, and that's how they'll learn that I am the Lord."

12 "This is what the Lord God says: 'Because Edom has made it their practice to seek extraordinary vengeance against Judah's citizens, and by doing so has incurred extraordinary guilt by taking revenge against them,'

13 therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'I'm going to raise my clenched fist in Edom's direction and eliminate every single human being and animal from Edom! I'm going to turn everything into a wasteland, starting with Teman, and Dedan will fall by violence!

14 'I'm going to inundate Edom with my retribution, using my people Israel to carry it out! They'll deliver my anger, acting as an agent of my fury. Edom will come to know my vengeance,' declares the Lord God."

15 "This is what the Lord God says: 'Because Philistia has made it their practice to carry out retribution, accompanied by extraordinary malice in their personal vendettas — vendettas that spring from their everlasting hostility —

16 this is what the Lord GOD says: "Look out! I'm raising my clenched fist in Philistia's direction. I'm going to execute the Cherethites and destroy what's left of the coastline of the Mediterranean Sea.

17 I'll take vengeance on them, punishing them severely in my anger. They'll know that I am the LORD when I take my vengeance on them.'""

Ezekiel 26

1 During the eleventh year, on the first day of the month of our captivity, this message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, because Tyre has been saying about Jerusalem, "The international gateway is broken down, but it's wide open to me! I will be replenished, now that it lies in ruins!

3 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says: 'Watch out! I'm coming to get you, Tyre! I'm about to bring many nations to attack you. They'll come in wave after wave, like the advancing tide,

4 and will destroy the city walls of Tyre. After they break down her fortified towers, I'll scrape away the city's debris, right down to the bare bedrock,

5 and it will become a place where nets will be spread out right in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea. Because I have declared this to happen,' declares the Lord GOD, 'Tyre will be treated as the spoils of war by the invading nations.

6 Furthermore, her citizens who live on the mainland will be executed with swords. That's how they'll learn that I am the LORD.'"

7 " This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Watch out! I'm about to bring from the north King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, that king of kings. He'll come with horses, chariots, cavalry, and a vast army.

8 He'll execute your citizens who live on the mainland with swords. He'll build siege engines to attack you. Then he'll construct siege ramps against you and build huge shields to protect themselves against you.

9 'He'll direct the blows of his battering rams against your walls and will breach your fortified towers with axes.

10 There will be so many horses that the dust raised by them will cover you completely. The walls of your city will tremble from the noise of Nebuchadnezzar's cavalry, wagons, and chariots when they enter through the gates of your city, as men enter a city that has been breached.

11 'Their horses will trample all the public places as he executes your inhabitants with swords. The most fortified of your pillars will be torn to the ground.

12 They will plunder your riches and loot your businesses. They'll tear down your walls and demolish your luxurious homes. They'll grab the stones, wood, and rubble from the destruction and dump it all into the Mediterranean Sea.

13 'I'll silence the noise of your songs and the music of your harps won't be heard anymore.

14 I'll turn you into bare rock, and your city will become a place to spread nets. You will never be built again, because I the LORD have decreed this,' declares the Lord GOD."

15 "This is what the Lord GOD says to Tyre: 'When your wounded citizens groan while the slaughter takes place among you, the people who live in the coastlands will tremble in terror as they hear about your fall, will they not?

16 That's when all the kings of the seafaring nations will abandon their thrones, strip off their fancy clothes, and collapse trembling on the ground. They'll be so frightened as they observe what has happened to you that they'll be unable to stop trembling. They will be utterly appalled at you!

17 They'll sing this mourning song for you: "How lost you are, you inhabited city, that was built in the middle of the sea! How famous you were! How strong on the sea! She and her inhabitants inflicted terror to everyone who lived within her.'"

18 'Now the coastland inhabitants will tremble on the day that you fall. The coastland inhabitants, who make their living from the sea, will be terrified when you pass away!'"

19 "This is what the Lord God says: 'When I turn your city into a ghost town, when I flood you with deep water that covers you completely,

20 I'll make sure that you go straight to the Pit, into the lowest part of the earth, where you'll be with people who lived in ancient times. You'll keep company there with the dead, who have gone into the Pit. As a result, your city won't be inhabited. Meanwhile, I will display my glory in the land of the living.

21 I'm going to send terrifying calamity in your direction, and you won't exist any longer. You might be sought after, but you'll never be found again,' declares the Lord God."

Acts 24

1 Five days later, the high priest Ananias arrived with certain elders and Tertullus, an attorney, and they summarized their case against Paul before the governor.

2 When Paul had been summoned, Tertullus opened the prosecution by saying: "Your Excellency Felix, since we are enjoying lasting peace because of you, and since reforms for this nation are being brought about through your foresight,

3 we always and everywhere acknowledge it with profound gratitude.

4 But so as not to detain you any further, I beg you to hear us briefly with your customary graciousness.

5 For we have found this man a perfect pest and an agitator among all Jews throughout the world. He is a ringleader in the sect of the Nazarenes

6 and even tried to profane the Temple, but we arrested him.

8 By examining him for yourself, you will be able to find out from him everything of which we accuse him."

9 The Jews supported his accusations by asserting that these things were true.

10 When the governor motioned for Paul to speak, he replied: "Since I know that you have been a judge over this nation for many years, I am pleased to present my defence.

11 You can verify for yourself that I went up to worship in Jerusalem no more than twelve days ago.

12 They never found me debating with anyone in the Temple or stirring up a crowd in the synagogues or throughout the city,

13 and they cannot prove to you the charges they are now bringing against me.

14 However, I admit to you that in accordance with the Way, which they call a heresy, I worship the God of our ancestors and believe in everything written in the Law and the Prophets.

15 I have the same hope in God that they themselves cherish — that there is to be a resurrection of the righteous and the wicked.

16 Therefore, I always do my best to have a clear conscience before God and people.

17 After many years I have come back to my people to bring gifts for the poor and to offer sacrifices.

18 They found me in the Temple doing these things just as I had completed the purification ceremony. No crowd or noisy mob was present.

19 But some Jews from Asia were there, and they should be here before you to accuse me if they have anything against me.

20 Otherwise, these men themselves should tell what wrong they found when I stood before the Council —

21 unless it is for the one thing I shouted as I stood among them: 'It is for the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial before you today.'"

22 Felix was rather well informed about the Way, and so he adjourned the trial with the comment, "When Tribune Lysias arrives, I will decide your case."

23 He ordered the centurion to guard Paul but to let him have some freedom and not to keep any of his friends from caring for his needs.

Ezekiel 27

- 1 This message came to me from the LORD:
- 2 "Son of Man, compose a mourning song for Tyre.
- 3 Tell Tyre, who lives at the gateway to the Mediterranean Sea, who serves as the international merchant to many coastal districts: 'This is what the Lord God says: 'Tyre, you've been claiming, "I am beauty perfected."
- 4 'You've set your national boundary in international waters. Your builders made you downright beautiful!'"
- 5 "'They brought in a ship made with pine planking from Senir, configured with a mast carved from a cedar from Lebanon,
- 6 equipped with oars made from oaks from Bashan, with ivory-inlaid cypress wood decking imported from the coastlands of Cyprus,
- 7 with sails made with embroidered Egyptian linen, festooned with blue banners, and with your sun shades made with purple cloth from Cyprus.
- 8 Your sailors were conscripted from Sidon and Arvad, and your officers served aboard as pilots.
- 9 The wise men and elders from Gebal accompanied you, serving as ship's carpenters. All the maritime navies and their seaman also accompanied you to assist you in doing business internationally."
- 10 "'Soldiers from Persia, Lud, and Libya, served in your army. They were your mighty soldiers. Their helmets and shields adorned your barracks walls, and they won battle decorations for you.
- 11 Mercenaries from Arvad and Helech stood guard duty on your walls, while brave men manned your towers. They hung their shields all around your walls — just the right touch to perfect your interior decorating!'"
- 12 "'Tarshish was your business partner because of your phenomenal wealth. They traded silver, iron, tin, and lead for your merchandise.
- 13 Greece, Tubal, and Meshech bartered with you, exchanging slaves and bronze vessels for your wares.
- 14 Beth-togarmah traded horses, war horses, and mules in exchange for what you had to sell.
- 15 Men from the low country south of Edom and many of the coastlands were your markets for ivory tusks and ebony that they brought to trade with you.
- 16 'Aram was one of your customers because you had so much merchandise. They paid by trading turquoise, purple yarn, embroidered goods, Egyptian linen, coral, and rubies.
- 17 The territories of Judah and Israel were your clients, too. They traded wheat from their distribution centres, baked goods, honey, oil, and ointments for your merchandise.
- 18 'Because you have so much to sell and are so rich, Damascus has been your trading partner, exchanging wine from Helbon, unbleached wool,
- 19 and casks of wine from Izal for your wrought iron, cassia wood, and aromatic reeds.
- 20 'Dedan traded with you, exchanging riding blankets.
- 21 Arabia, including all the princes of Kedar, came to you, shopping for lambs, rams, and goats.
- 22 Traders from Sheba and Raamah paid for the best of what you had to offer with all types of spices, precious stones, and gold.
- 23 'Haran, Canneh, Eden, merchants from Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad did business with you,
- 24 trading garments made into the finest blue and embroidered mantels, and also multi-coloured carpets, ropes, and other merchandise.
- 25 Ocean-going fleets carried your merchandise.

26 But your rowers have brought you into dangerous waters. The east wind has broken you in the heart of the ocean!

27 Your wealth, your products, your merchandise, your sailors, your pilots, your tailors, your salesmen, all your mercenaries with you — your entire company with you — will fall into the midst of the sea on the day when you're overthrown!

28 When your ships' captains cry out, the pasturelands along the coast will cry out!

29 Everyone who handles an oar will abandon ship, they'll head straight for dry land,

30 and they will cry so loud you won't be able to make yourself heard! How bitterly they'll cry! They'll throw dust on their heads and wallow in ashes.

31 They'll shave their heads bald because of you. They'll dress themselves in sackcloth and weep for you with deep bitterness of heart, with the most pitiful of mourning.

32 In the depth of their despair they'll compose a lament for you. This is what they'll say: 'Who is like Tyre? Who is so silent in the midst of the sea?

33 Your merchandise went out over the oceans to satisfy many nations; with the abundance of your wealth you enriched the kings of the earth.'

34 But now it's your time to be wrecked at the bottom of the sea! Your products and your workers have sunk, and so have you!

35 Everyone who lives by the sea is appalled at your destruction. Their leaders are terrified — their faces reflect their fears!

36 Traders circulate among the people, hissing at you. What a horror you've become! Now you will cease to exist forever and ever!

Ezekiel 28

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, tell Tyre's Commander-in-Chief, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Because your heart is arrogant, and because you keep saying, 'I have taken my seat, I am a god, seated in God's seat right in the middle of the sea,' "and because you're a man, and not a god, even though you pretend that you have a god-like heart. . .

3 Look! You're wiser than Daniel, aren't you? No secret is too mysterious for you!

4 Your wisdom and understanding brought you phenomenal wealth. You've brought gold and silver into your treasuries.

5 By your great wisdom, by your skills in trading you have amassed wealth for yourself and your heart has become arrogant because of your wealth.'"

6 'Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says: "Because you've made your heart like that of God

7 Therefore, look! I'm bringing foreigners in your direction, the most terrifying of nations! They will direct their violence against the grandeur that you've created by your wisdom.

8 They'll send you down to the Pit, and you'll die defiled in the depths of the sea.

9 Is that when you'll say "I'm God" to the face of those who will be killing you? After all, you're a man, and have never been a god, especially when you're under the control of those who will defile you!

10 You will die a death fit for the uncircumcised at the hand of foreigners." 'for I have said it will be so,' declares the LORD."

11 Another message came to me from the LORD, and this is what it said:

12 " Son of Man, start singing this lamentation for the king of Tyre. Tell him, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "You served as my model, my example of complete wisdom and perfect beauty.

13 You used to be in Eden — God's paradise! You wore precious stones for clothing: ruby, topaz, diamond, beryl, onyx, jasper, sapphire, turquoise, and carbuncle. Your settings were crafted in gold, along with your engravings. On the day of your creation they had been prepared!

14 "You were the anointed cherub; having been set in place on the holy mountain of God, you walked in the midst of fiery stones.

15 You were blameless in your behaviour from the day you were created until wickedness was discovered in you.

16 Since your vast business dealings filled you with violent intent from top to bottom, you sinned, so I cast you away as defiled from the mountain of God. I destroyed you, you guardian cherub, from the midst of the fiery stones.

17 Your heart grew arrogant because of your beauty; you annihilated your own wisdom because of your splendour. Then I threw you to the ground in the presence of kings, giving them a good look at you!

18 By all of your iniquity and unrighteous businesses you defiled your sanctuaries, so I'm going to bring out fire from within you and burn you to ashes on the earth before the whole watching world!

19 Everyone who knows you throughout all the nations will be appalled at your calamity and you will no longer exist forever.'""

20 Another message came to me from the LORD, who had this to say:

21 " Son of Man, turn your attention to Sidon and prophesy against her.

22 Tell her: 'Pay attention to me, Sidon! I'm against you, and I'm going to glorify myself right in your midst.' They'll learn that I am the LORD when I carry out these punishments and manifest my holiness in her midst.

23 I'm going to send disease into that city and blood into her streets. People will drop dead in her midst from the violence done to her from every side. Then they'll learn that I am the Lord God.'"

24 " The house of Israel will never again suffer from painful briars and sharp thorn bushes that surround them on every side, and they will learn that I am the LORD.

25 This is what the Lord God says: 'When I gather the house of Israel from the nations to which I've scattered them, I will show them my holiness before the watching world, and they will live on the land that I gave to my servant Jacob.

26 They will live in safety in the land, building houses and planting vineyards. They'll live in safety while I judge everyone who maligns them among those who surround them. At that time they'll learn that I am the LORD their God.'"

Acts 24

24 Some days later, Felix arrived with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish. He sent for Paul and listened to him talk about faith in Jesus the Messiah.

25 As Paul talked about righteousness, self-control, and the coming judgement, Felix became afraid and said, "For the present you may go. When I get a chance, I will send for you again."

26 At the same time he was hoping to receive a bribe from Paul, and so he would send for him frequently to talk with him.

27 After two years had passed, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. Since Felix wanted to do the Jews a favour, he left Paul in prison.

Acts 25

1 Three days after Festus had arrived in the province, he went up from Caesarea to Jerusalem.

2 The high priests and Jewish leaders informed him of their charges against Paul, urging
3 and asking Festus to have Paul brought to Jerusalem as a favour. They were laying an ambush to kill him on the road.

4 Festus replied that Paul was being kept in custody at Caesarea and that he himself would be going there soon.

5 "Therefore," he said, "have your authorities come down with me and present their charges against him there, if there is anything wrong with the man."

6 Festus stayed with them no more than eight or ten days and then went down to Caesarea. The next day he sat on the judge's seat and ordered Paul brought in.

7 When Paul arrived, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem surrounded him and began bringing a number of serious charges against him that they couldn't prove.

8 Paul said in his defence, "I have done nothing wrong against the Law of the Jews, or of the Temple, or of the emperor."

9 Then Festus, wanting to do the Jews a favour, asked Paul, "Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem to be tried there before me on these charges?"

10 But Paul said, "I am standing before the emperor's judgement seat where I ought to be tried. I haven't done anything wrong to the Jews, as you know very well.

11 If I am guilty and have done something that deserves death, I am willing to die. But if there is nothing to their charges against me, no one can hand me over to them as a favour. I appeal to the emperor!"

12 Festus talked it over with the council and then answered, "To the emperor you have appealed; to the emperor you will go!"

13 After several days had passed, King Agrippa and Bernice came to Caesarea to welcome Festus.

14 Since they were staying there for several days, Festus laid Paul's case before the king. He said, "There is a man here who was left in prison by Felix.

15 When I went to Jerusalem, the high priests and the Jewish elders informed me about him and asked me to condemn him.

16 I answered them that it was not the Roman custom to sentence a man to be punished until the accused met his accusers face to face and had an opportunity to defend himself against the charge.

17 "So they came here with me, and the next day without any delay I sat down in the judge's seat and ordered the man to be brought in.

18 When his accusers stood up, they didn't accuse him of any of the crimes I was expecting.

19 Instead, they had several arguments with him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus who had died but whom Paul kept claiming was alive.

20 I was puzzled how I should investigate such matters, so I asked if he would like to go to Jerusalem and be tried there for these things.

21 But Paul appealed his case and asked to be held in prison until the decision of his Majesty. So I ordered him to be held in custody until I could send him to the emperor.”

Ezekiel 29

1 In the tenth year, on the twelfth day of the tenth month, a message came to me from the LORD, who had this to say:

2 " Son of Man, turn your attention to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and prophesy against him and the entire nation of Egypt.

3 Tell him that this is what the Lord God says: 'Watch out! I'm coming to get you, Pharaoh, king of Egypt! You big monster! You lie in wait in the middle of your waterways and say "My waterways belong to me! I made them for myself!"

4 'So I'm going to plant a hook in your jaw and make the fish in your waterways grab hold of your scales. I'll bring you up out of the middle of your waterways, along with all of the fish from your waterways that cling to your scales,

5 Then I'll fling you out into the desert, you and all those fish in your waterways. You'll fall out in the open fields; you'll never be reunited. I'm giving you to the wild beasts of the earth and to the birds of the sky, and they will dine on you!

6 'Then everyone living in Egypt will know that I am the LORD, because they have been an unreliable ally to the house of Israel.

7 When they reached out to you for support, you tore their hands and dislocated all of their shoulders. When they tried to lean on you, they couldn't control their own bowels.'

8 'Therefore this is what the Lord God says: "Look out! I'm bringing violent death in your direction! I'm going to kill every person and animal,

9 and the land of Egypt will be turned into a desolate ruin. Then you will know that I am the LORD. "Because Egypt said, 'The Nile is mine. I made it!'

10 therefore watch out! I'm coming to get you! I'm going to attack your waterways, and then I'm going to make the land of Egypt a total wasteland from the Aswan fortress to the border of Ethiopia!

11 Neither man nor beast will walk through that area. It won't even be inhabited for 40 years.

12 I'll see to it that Egypt becomes a devastated land in the midst of devastated lands. Her cities deep inside her territories will be laid waste and desolate for 40 years. I will scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse them throughout the land.

13 " Because this is what the LORD says: 'At the end of 40 years I'll gather the Egyptians from the people among whom they have been scattered.

14 I'll restore the economy of Egypt and return them to the land of Pathros, from which they originated, and there they will remain an insignificant kingdom,

15 the least significant of kingdoms. It will never again dominate other nations. I will make them so small that they will never again rule any nation.

16 Egypt will never again be a source of confidence to the nation of Israel. Instead, Egypt will serve as a reminder of when they sinned by turning to Egypt for help. Then they'll know that I am the Lord God."

17 On the first day of the first month of the twenty-seventh year of our captivity, a message from the LORD came to me. It had this to say:

18 "Son of Man, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon made his army work very hard to attack Tyre. They tore their hair out and rubbed their shoulders raw! Despite all of that work trying to capture Tyre, neither he nor his army got paid from Tyre for all that!

19 Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'I'm going to give the land of Egypt to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. He's going to carry off her wealth, confiscate her war implements, and use it all to pay wages for his army!

20 I've given him the land of Egypt as a reward for attacking Tyre for me," declares the Lord God.

21 " When that day comes about, I'll strengthen Israel's military might, and I will give you an audience in their midst. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

Ezekiel 30

1 Another message came to me from the LORD, who had this to say:

2 "Son of Man, here's what you are to prophesy and announce, 'This is what the Lord God says: "Wail out loud! Oh no! The day!

3 "For comes now the day — comes now the Day of the LORD, the day of clouds! The time of the gentiles is fulfilled!

4 War will come to Egypt, and Ethiopia will be in anguish when the slain fall in Egypt, when her wealth is carried off, and her foundations are demolished."

5 "Ethiopia, Libya, descendants of Lud, all those who have mixed themselves, and Libya — along with everyone in the land of Israel who is in league with them — will die violently.

6 "This is what the LORD says: 'Those who are supporting Egypt will fall; her majestic strength that she brought from the Aswan fortress will collapse by the sword that invades her,' declares the Lord God.

7 "They'll remain desolate among desolate lands, their cities will be named among those that are ruined.

8 They will know that I am the LORD when I kindle my fire in Egypt and all who help her are crushed.'

9 "When that happens, couriers will go out in ships to terrify Ethiopia in its complacency. Anguish will visit them as it will visit Egypt. Watch out! It's coming!

10 "This is what the LORD says: 'I'm putting an end to that gang from Egypt, and I'm going to use Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to do it!

11 He and his ruthless army with him will be brought to destroy the land. They'll draw their swords and attack Egypt, filling the land with the dead!

12 I'll dry up their waterways, and evil men will sell off the land. I'm going to make that land desolate, along with everything that's in it, and I'm going to use foreigners to do it. I, the LORD have spoken!'

13 "This is what the Lord God says: 'I will destroy the idols and put an end to the images that come from Memphis. There will no longer be a prince from the land of Egypt, and I will terrify the land of Egypt.

14 I'm going to turn Pathros into a desolation, set fire to Zoan, and judge Thebes.

15 I'll pour out my anger on Sin, Egypt's strong fortress, and I'll eliminate the gangs in Thebes.

16 I'll set fire to Egypt, and Aswan will writhe in agony. Thebes will be demolished, and Memphis will face daily distress.

17 The young men of On and Pi-beseth will die violently, and their cities will be taken captive.

18 It will be a dark day for Tahpanhes when I break the yokes of Egypt. That's when her arrogant power will come to an end. She'll be covered by a cloud, and her citizens will go into captivity.

19 I will judge Egypt, and they will learn that I am the LORD."

20 On the seventh day of the first month of the eleventh year of our captivity, a message came to me from the LORD. It had this to say:

21 "Son of Man, I've broken the arm of Pharaoh, king of Egypt. Look! It hasn't been set in a splint for healing or wrapped with a bandage so it could be strong enough to hold a sword!

22 Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'I'm coming to attack Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and I'm going to break both of his arms, the strong one and the wounded one. That will make him drop his sword.

23 I'm going to scatter Egypt throughout the surrounding nations and disperse them throughout the world.

24 'I'm going to strengthen the military might of the king of Babylon, put my own sword in his hand, and break Pharaoh's strength. Then Pharaoh will groan like a dying man right in front of the king of Babylon.

25 'When I strengthen the military might of Babylon, the military might of Pharaoh will fail, and then they will learn that I am the LORD when I place my own sword in the hand of the king of Babylon. He will attack the land of Egypt.

26 When I scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the world, they will learn that I am the LORD.'"

Ezekiel 31

1 On the first day of the third month of the eleventh year of our captivity, this message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, tell this to Pharaoh, king of Egypt and his gangs: 'Who do you think you are? What makes you so great?

3 Think about Assyria, that cedar of Lebanon, beautiful with its branches, like a shady forest, with an awesome height, its summit touches the clouds.

4 Abundant water made it great, Subterranean rivers made it grow. Rivers surrounded the area where it had been planted, and water channels nourished all the trees in the fields.

5 That's why it grew taller than any of the trees in the fields. Its boughs flourished. Its branches grew luxurious because all the water made it spread out well.

6 The birds in the sky made nests in its boughs; all the beasts of the field gave birth under its branches. All the great nations rested in its shade.

7 'Beautiful because it was so great, with its long branches, it was rooted in many bodies of water.

8 The cedars in God's garden could not compare to it; Fir trees could not match its boughs. The plane tree never grew branches like it, and no tree in God's garden compares to its beauty.

9 I made it beautiful, including all of its branches; all the trees in God's garden of Eden envied it!"

10 "Therefore this is what the Lord God says: 'Because of its towering height, with its summit reaching into the clouds, and because it was haughty in its position,

11 I turned it over to the leader of those nations, who dealt with it thoroughly. I have driven it away because of its wickedness.

12 'Foreign dictators have trimmed it down to size and abandoned it. Its branches have fallen off on mountains and in all the valleys. Its boughs have broken off in all the ravines of the land. All the nations of the earth have moved out of its shade and abandoned it.

13 All the birds in the sky will live among its ruins, and the wild animals will forage among its branches.

14 'As a result, none of its watered trees will grow tall, their tops will never reach to the clouds, and they'll never grow so high again, because all of them have been appointed to death in the world beneath where human beings go, that is, down to the Pit.'"

15 "This is what the Lord God says: 'On the day that it descended into Sheol, I shut down its water supplies, covered over its deep water, and shut down its rivers. As a result its abundant water sources dried up, and I caused Lebanon to mourn for it. All the trees of the field wilted because of it.

16 I made the nations tremble when they heard that Assyria was falling, descending into Sheol to join those who go down into the Pit. Then all of the trees of Eden in the world below were comforted, including the choicest and best of Lebanon, all of whom were well-watered.

17 They also went down with it into Sheol, to those who had been killed violently and to those who had trusted in its strength by living in its shadow among the nations.'

18 'So tell me now, which of the trees of Eden compares to you in glory or greatness? Nevertheless, you'll be brought down, along with those trees of Eden, to the earth below. You'll lie in the middle of the uncircumcised, with those who have been killed in war. Pharaoh and all his gang will be just like this!'" declares the Lord God.

Acts 25

22 Agrippa told Festus, "I would like to hear the man." "Tomorrow," he said, "you will hear him."

23 The next day Agrippa and Bernice arrived with much fanfare and went into the auditorium along with the tribunes and the leading men of the city. At the command of Festus, Paul was brought in.

24 Then Festus said, "King Agrippa and all you men who are present with us! You see this man about whom the whole Jewish nation petitioned me, both in Jerusalem and here, shouting that he ought not to live any longer.

25 I find that he has not done anything deserving of death. But since he has appealed to his Majesty, I have decided to send him.

26 I have nothing reliable to write our Sovereign about him, so I have brought him to all of you, and especially to you, King Agrippa, so that I will have something to write after he is cross-examined.

27 For it seems to me absurd to send a prisoner without specifying the charges against him."

Acts 26

1 Then Agrippa told Paul, "You have permission to speak for yourself." So Paul stretched out his hand and began his defence.

2 "I consider myself fortunate that it is before you, King Agrippa, that I can defend myself today against all the accusations of the Jews,

3 since you are especially familiar with all the Jewish customs and controversies. I beg you, therefore, to listen patiently to me.

4 All the Jews know how I lived from the earliest days of my youth with my own people and in Jerusalem.

5 They have known for a long time, if they would but testify to it, that I lived as a Pharisee, adhering to the standards of our strictest religious party.

6 "And now I stand here on trial for the hope of the promise made by God to our ancestors.

7 Our twelve tribes, worshipping day and night with intense devotion, hope to attain it. It is because of this hope, O King, that I am accused by the Jews.

8 Why is it thought incredible by all of you that God should raise the dead?

9 Indeed, I myself thought it my duty to take extreme measures against the name of Jesus from Nazareth.

10 That is what I did in Jerusalem. I received authority from the high priests and locked many of the saints in prison. And when I cast my vote against them, they were put to death.

11 I would even punish them frequently in every synagogue and try to make them blaspheme. Raging furiously against them, I would hunt them down even in distant cities.

12 "That is how I happened to be travelling to Damascus with authority based on a commission from the high priests.

13 On the road at noon, O King, I saw a light from heaven that was brighter than the sun. It flashed around me and those who were travelling with me.

14 "All of us fell to the ground, and I heard a voice asking me in the Hebrew language, 'Saul! Saul! Why are you persecuting me? It is hurting you to keep on kicking against the cattle prods.'

15 "I asked, 'Who are you, Lord?' "The Lord answered, 'I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.

16 But get up and stand on your feet, for I have appeared to you for the very purpose of appointing you to be my servant and witness of what you have seen and of what I will show you.

17 I will continue to rescue you from your people and from the gentiles to whom I am sending you.

18 You will help them understand and turn them from darkness to light and from Satan's control to God, so that their sins will be forgiven and they will receive a share among those who are sanctified by faith in me.'

Ezekiel 32

- 1 On the first day of the twelfth month of the twelfth year of our captivity, a message came to me from the LORD that had this to say:
- 2 "Son of Man, start singing this lamentation about Pharaoh, king of Egypt. Tell him, 'You may have called yourself a lion among nations, but you're a monster at sea. You thrash about in your rivers, muddy the water with your feet, and relieve yourself in the rivers.'
- 3 "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'I'm coming fishing for you! Right in the sight of many nations they'll haul you up in my dragnet.
- 4 I'll fling you up onto the land; I'll haul you into the field, I'll make every carrion-eating bird come to dine on you, and I'll make all the scavenging animals gorge themselves on you.
- 5 I'll cover the mountains with your flesh and fill their valleys with your rotting carcass.
- 6 I'll drench the land with your blood, right up to the mountains, and the ravines will overflow with blood that comes from you!
- 7 When I extinguish your lights, I'll cover the heavens and darken their stars. I'll cover the sun with a cloud and the moon won't reflect its light.
- 8 I'll darken the bright lights in the sky above you and bring darkness to your territory,' declares the Lord GOD."
- 9 "I'll bring distress to the hearts of many nations when I destroy you among nations whose territories you have not known.
- 10 I'll make many nations be appalled at you, and their kings will be terrified because of you when I brandish my sword right in their face. They will all tremble from fear for their own safety on the day that you fall!
- 11 "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'The army of the king of Babylon will attack you.
- 12 I'm going to make your gangs die using the weapons of valiant warriors, all of whom are ruthless people. 'They will devastate the majesty of Egypt, destroying all of its hordes.
- 13 I'm going to destroy all of its livestock along its many riverbanks. Human feet won't muddy the rivers anymore, nor will the hooves of livestock stir up the water.
- 14 That's when I'll make their waterways flow smoothly, and their rivers flow like olive oil,' declares the Lord GOD."
- 15 'When I turn the land of Egypt into a desolation, and the land is emptied of everything that used to fill it, when I strike everyone who lives there, they will learn that I am the LORD.'"
- 16 "This has been a lamentation. They will chant it, and the citizens of the nations will chant it, too. They'll chant it about Egypt and about all of its hordes."
- 17 On the fifteen day of the first month of the twelfth year of our captivity, a message from the LORD came to me, and this is what it said:
- 18 "Son of Man, mourn about the hordes of Egypt. Bring them down — that is, her and the citizens of those majestic nations — whose destiny is the deep part of the Pit.
- 19 "So who's more beautiful than you? You'll be buried with the uncircumcised.
- 20 "They'll die along with others who are killed violently. Egypt has been given over to violence, which will carry off both it and its hordes."
- 21 "Mighty leaders will address them and those who assist them right out of the middle of Sheol: 'They've come down and will lie still, these uncircumcised people who have died violently.'
- 22 "Assyria will be there, along with all of those who keep company with her, all of them killed violently.
- 23 Her grave will be set in the remotest part of the Pit, surrounded by those who accompanied her. All of them will have been killed, executed violently, who spread terror throughout the land of the living.

24 "Elam will be there. Its hordes will surround Elam's grave. All of them have been killed. They died violently, and they have descended uncircumcised into the world below after having spread terror throughout the land of the living. They will bear the shame of those who descend to the Pit.

25 "They have prepared a bed for her and for her hordes that surround her graves. All of them are uncircumcised, having been killed violently, because they had spread terror throughout the land of the living. They will bear the shame of those who descend to the Pit and will take their place among the dead.

26 "Meshech and Tubal will be there, along with all of the hordes that surround her grave. Every one of them is uncircumcised, killed violently, because they spread terror throughout the land of the living.

27 "They won't be buried with dead warriors from ancient times, who went straight to Sheol, buried with their war weapons, with their swords placed under their heads and their shields laid on top of their bones, since they spread terror throughout the land of the living.

28 You'll be broken, and you'll lie down with the uncircumcised who died violently.

29 "Edom will be there, along with its kings and princes who despite all their power have been killed violently. They, too, are lying dead, along with the uncircumcised; that is, with those who descend into the Pit.

30 " All of the princes from the North are there, along with the Sidonians, who have gone down in shame to join those who have been killed because of all the terror they caused by their military might. They lie dead, uncircumcised, with those who have been killed violently. They will bear their shame, along with those who descend into the Pit.

31 " When Pharaoh sees them, he will take comfort in his hordes. Pharaoh and all his army will die violently," says the Lord God, 32 "because he spread terror throughout the land of the living. Therefore he'll be laid to rest among the uncircumcised, who have been killed violently; that is, Pharaoh and all of his hordes," declares the Lord God.

Ezekiel 33

1 This message came to me from the LORD:

2 "Son of Man, speak to your nation's children and tell them: "'If I bring war to a land, and the people of that land appoint one of their conscripted men to serve as a sentinel,

3 and if he notices that violence is approaching and sounds an alarm to warn the people, 4 then if anyone who hears the sound of the alarm does not heed the warning, when the sword arrives and destroys him, his shed blood will remain his own responsibility.

5 After all, he heard the alarm sounding, but did not heed the warning, so his shed blood will remain his own responsibility. If he had heeded the warning, he would have saved himself.

6 If that sentinel notices that violence is approaching, but does not sound an alarm, then because the nation does not take warning and the sword arrives and destroys their lives because of their guilt, I'll seek retribution for their shed blood from the one who was acting as sentinel."

7 "'Now as for you, Son of Man, I've established you as a sentinel for the house of Israel. So whenever you hear a message from me, you are to warn the people from me.

8 If I should say to a certain wicked person, "You wicked man, you're certainly about to die," but you don't warn him to turn from his wicked behaviour, he'll die in his guilt, but I'll seek retribution for his bloodshed from you.

9 However, if you warn the wicked to turn from his behaviour and he does not do so, he will die in his guilt, and you will have saved yourself."

10 "'Now, Son of Man, tell this to the house of Israel: "'You keep saying, "Our crimes and sins burden us so much that we're rotting away, so how can we keep on living?"

11 "Tell them, "As certainly as I'm alive and living," declares the Lord God, "I receive no pleasure in the death of the wicked. Instead, my pleasure is that the wicked repent from their behaviour and live. Turn back! Turn back, all of you, from your wicked behaviour! Why do you have to die, you house of Israel?"

12 "And now, Son of Man, say this to your people: "The righteousness of the righteous won't save them when they keep on committing crimes against me, the wickedness of the wicked won't keep them from remaining away when they're turning from their wickedness, and no righteous person will keep on living by their righteousness when they sin.

13 "If I tell the righteous person that he will certainly live, if he trusts in his own righteousness and commits evil, none of his righteousness will be remembered, and he will die because of the wrong that he commits.

14 "If I tell the wicked person that he will certainly die, if he turns from his sin and acts with justice and righteousness,

15 returning what has been placed as collateral for a loan, paying back what he has taken, following the regulations that promote life, and committing no iniquity, he will certainly live, and not die.

16 None of the sins that he has committed will be remembered against him. Since he did what is just and right, he will certainly live.

17 "Nevertheless, your people's children keep saying, 'Living life the Lord's way isn't right,' when all the while it is their way of living that isn't right.

18 When a righteous man forsakes his own righteousness and commits evil acts, he will die because of those acts,

19 and when the wicked turn away from their wickedness and do what is just and right, he will certainly live because of that.

20 "And yet you keep saying, 'Living life the Lord's way isn't right,' But I will judge every one of you according to the way you live, you house of Israel!""

21 On the fifth day of the tenth month of the twelfth year of our captivity, a fugitive who had escaped from Jerusalem came and informed me, "The city has been destroyed."

22 Now the hand of the LORD had been touching me the evening before that fugitive arrived, so the LORD had given me something to say by the time the messenger arrived the next morning. He opened my mouth and I no longer had nothing to say to him.

23 As a result, this message came to me from the LORD:

24 "Son of Man, those who are living among these ruins of the land of Israel keep saying, 'Abraham was only one man, but he was able to possess the land! As for us, we're a multitude, and the land has been given to us as an inheritance.'

25 "So tell them, 'This is what the Lord God says: "You keep eating flesh along with its blood, you keep looking to your idols, and you keep shedding blood, and you're going to take possession of the land?"

26 You keep trusting in your weapons, you continue to commit loathsome deeds, men keep defiling their neighbours' wives, and you're going to take possession of the land?"

27 "Tell them this: 'This is what the Lord God says: "As certainly as I'm alive and living, those who live in the wastelands are certain to die violently, I'll give those who die in the open fields to the wild animals for food, and whoever takes refuge in caves and fortified places will die of diseases.

28 Then I'll turn the land into a desolate ruin and her arrogant strength will come to an abrupt end. The mountains of Israel will become so desolate that no one will be able to travel over them.

29 Then they'll learn that I am the LORD, when I've turned their land into a desolate wasteland because of all of the loathsome deeds that they've committed.'"

30 "Now as for you, Son of Man, your nation's children keep gathering together to talk about you beside the walls and at the doorway to their houses. Everyone tells one another, 'Please come! Let's go hear what the LORD has to say!'

31 Then they come to you as a group, sit down right in front of you as if they were my people, hear your words — and then they don't do what you say — because they're seeking only their own desires, they pursue ill-gotten profits, and they keep following their own self-interests.

32 As far as they are concerned, you sing romantic songs with a beautiful voice and play a musical instrument well. They'll listen to what you have to say, but they won't put it into practice!

33 When all of this comes about — and you can be sure that it will! — they'll learn that a prophet has been in their midst.”

Acts 26

19 "And so, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision.
20 Instead, I first told the people in Damascus and Jerusalem, then all the people in Judea — and after that the gentiles — to repent, turn to God, and perform deeds that are consistent with such repentance.
21 For this reason the Jews grabbed me in the Temple and kept trying to kill me.
22 I have had help from God to this day, and so I stand here to testify to both the powerful and the lowly alike, stating only what the prophets and Moses said would happen —
23 that the Messiah would suffer and be the first to rise from the dead and would bring light both to our people and to the gentiles."
24 As he continued his defence, Festus shouted, "You're out of your mind, Paul! Too much education is driving you crazy!"
25 But Paul said, "I'm not out of my mind, Your Excellency Festus. I'm reporting what is absolutely true.
26 Indeed, the king knows about these things, and I can speak to him freely. For I am certain that none of these things has escaped his notice, since this wasn't done in a corner.
27 King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know you believe them!"
28 Agrippa asked Paul, "Can you so quickly persuade me to become a Christian?"
29 Paul replied, "Whether quickly or not, I wish to God that not only you but everyone listening to me today would become what I am — except for these chains!"
30 Then the king, the governor, Bernice, and those who were sitting with him got up.
31 As they were leaving, they began to say to each other, "This man hasn't been doing anything to deserve death or imprisonment."
32 Agrippa told Festus, "This man could have been set free if he hadn't appealed to the emperor."

Acts 27

1 When it was decided that we should sail to Italy, Paul and some other prisoners were transferred to a centurion named Julius, who belonged to the emperor's division.
2 After boarding a ship from Adramyttium that was about to sail to the ports on the coast of Asia, we put out to sea. Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica, went with us.
3 The next day we arrived at Sidon, and Julius treated Paul kindly and allowed him to visit his friends there and receive any care he needed.
4 After putting out from there, we sailed on the sheltered side of Cyprus because the winds were against us.
5 We sailed along the sea off Cilicia and Pamphylia and reached Myra in Lycia.
6 There the centurion found an Alexandrian ship bound for Italy and put us on it.

Ezekiel 34

- 1 A message came from the LORD for me, and it had this to say:
- 2 "Son of Man, prophesy against Israel's shepherds. Tell those shepherds, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Woe to you shepherds of Israel who have been feeding yourselves and not the sheep. Shouldn't shepherds feed the sheep?"
- 3 You're eating the best parts, clothing yourselves with the wool, and slaughtering the home-grown sheep without having fed the sheep!
- 4 You haven't strengthened the weak, treated the sick, set broken bones, regathered the scattered, or looked for the lost. Instead, you've dominated them with brutal force and ruthlessness.
- 5 "Since they have no shepherd, they have been scattered around and have become prey for all sorts of wild animals. How scattered they are!
- 6 My sheep have gone wandering on all of the mountains, on all of the hills, and throughout every high place in the whole world, with no one to look for them or go out in search of them.
- 7 "Therefore listen to what the LORD says, you shepherds:
- 8 'As certainly as I'm alive and living, my sheep have truly become victims, food for all of the wild animals because there are no shepherds. My shepherds did not go searching for my flock. Instead, the shepherds fed themselves, and my flock they would not feed!'
- 9 "Therefore, you shepherds, listen to what the LORD says:
- 10 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Watch out, I'm coming after you shepherds! I'm going to demand my sheep back from them and fire them as shepherds. The shepherds won't be shepherds anymore when I snatch my flock right out their mouths so they can't be eaten by them anymore.'""
- 11 "This is what the LORD says: 'Watch me! I'm going to search for my flock. I'll watch over them myself.
- 12 Just as a shepherd looks after his flock during the day time while he is with them, so also I'm going to watch over my sheep, delivering them from every place where they've been scattered during the times of gloom and doom.
- 13 I'm going to bring them out from foreign nations and from foreign lands. Then I'll bring them to their own land and feed them in Israel — on the mountains, in their valleys, and in all of their settlements throughout the land.
- 14 "'I'll feed them in excellent pastures, and even the very heights of Israel's mountains will serve as verdant pastures for them in which they'll rest and feed — yes, even on the fertile mountains of Israel!
- 15 I will feed my sheep and give them rest,' declares the Lord GOD.
- 16 "'I'm going to seek both the lost as well as the scattered, and bring them both back so their broken bones can be set and the sick can be healed. But in righteousness I'll exterminate the fat and the stiff-necked.
- 17 "Now as for you, my flock, this is what the Lord GOD says: 'Watch out! I'm going to judge between one sheep and another, and between the rams and the goats.
- 18 Is it such an insignificant thing to you that you're feeding in good pastures but trampling down the other pastures with your feet? Or that as you're drinking from the clear streams you're muddying the rest with your feet?
- 19 My flock is grazing on what you've been treading down with your feet and they're drinking what you've been making muddy with your feet!'
- 20 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says to them: 'Watch me! I'm going to judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep,
- 21 since you've been bumping aside all the weaker sheep with your backsides and shoulders, butting them with your horns until they're scattered around outside.

22 That's how I'll save my sheep so they won't be plundered any longer. I'm going to judge between one sheep and another."

23 "Then I'll install one shepherd for them — my servant David — and he will feed them, will be there for them, and will serve as their shepherd.

24 I, the LORD, will be their God, and my servant David will rule among them as Prince.' I, the LORD, have spoken this.

25 "I'm going to enter into a covenant with them, one of peace, and I'll eliminate wild beasts from the land so they can live securely in the wilderness and sleep in the forests.

26 I'm going to make them and everything that surrounds my hill a blessing. I'll send down the rain! At the appropriate time there will be a rainstorm of blessing!

27 "I'll bring fruit to the trees in the orchards, the land will yield its produce, they will live securely on their land, and they will learn that I am the LORD when I break the bar that has been their yoke and deliver them from the control of those who have enslaved them.

28 They will no longer be plundered by the nations, and wild animals will no longer devour them. They will settle down confidently, with nothing to frighten them.

29 I'm going to prepare for them the best of gardening spots. They will no longer live as victims in a land of starvation, nor will they have to bear the insults of the international community.

30 That's when they'll learn that I, the LORD their God, am with them, and that they, the house of Israel, are my people,' declares the Lord GOD.

31 "And as for you, my sheep, the flock that I'm pasturing, you are mankind, and I am your God," declares the Lord GOD.

Ezekiel 35

1 A message came to me from the LORD and it went like this:

2 "Son of Man, turn your attention toward Mount Seir and begin to prophesy against it.

3 Tell them, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Watch out! I'm coming to get you, Mount Seir! I'm stretching out my hand to strike you, and I'm going to turn you into a desolate wasteland.

4 I'm going to turn your cities into ghost towns, and you will become a ruin. Then you will learn that I am the LORD.

5 Because of your undying hatred, you kept on making the Israelis experience abuse during the time of their calamity, even when they were in their final stages of punishment,

6 therefore as I'm alive and living," declares the Lord GOD, I'm turning you over to bloodshed, and bloodshed will certainly overtake you, since you never have hated shedding blood. That's why bloodshed will certainly pursue you.

7 "I'm turning Mount Seir over to ruin and desolation. I'm going to eliminate everyone who comes and goes,

8 and I'll fill that mountain with the dead. Those who die by violence will cover your hills, and fill your valleys and all your ravines!

9 I will turn you into an everlasting wasteland, and your cities will never be inhabited. Then you'll learn that I am the LORD!

10 "Because you have claimed, 'These two nations and these two lands are going to belong to me, and we will take possession of them, even though the LORD is there,'

11 therefore as I'm alive and living" declares the Lord GOD, "I'm going to deal with you as your anger deserves. When I judge you, I'll treat you like you did the Israelis — that is, with the same kind of envy that motivated your constant hatred of them.

12 "That's how you'll know that I, the LORD, have heard every loathsome, reviling thing that you've had to say against the mountains of Israel, such as 'They're desolate, and we'll eat them for dinner!'

13 Not only that, you've arrogantly reviled me many times over, and I've heard every word!

14 "So this is what the Lord GOD says: 'Just as the earth rejoices, I'm going to turn you into a desolate wasteland.

15 Just as you rejoiced when Israel's inheritance became desolate, I'm going to do the same thing to you. Mount Seir, you and Edom — all of you — will become a desolate wasteland.' Then they will learn that I am the LORD."'''

Ezekiel 36

1 "And now as for you, Son of Man, prophesy to Israel's mountains and tell them, 'Listen to this message from the LORD, you mountains of Israel:

2 "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'The enemy has been saying about you, "Good! The ancient heights are back in our possession!"

3 Therefore this is what you are to prophesy: "Here's what the Lord GOD says, 'You've been turned into a desolate wasteland and crushed by everyone who surrounds you for a very, very good reason. You've become the property of all the other nations and you've become the object of gossip and whispering campaigns of the nations.

4 "Therefore listen to what the Lord GOD has to say, you mountains of Israel: This is what the Lord GOD says to the mountains, to the hills, to the waterways, to the valleys, to the desolate wastelands, and to the abandoned cities that have become an object of derision to the mountains that surround you:

5 "'Because this is what the Lord GOD says: "Motivated by my burning zeal, I have spoken against the rest of the surrounding nations, including Edom, who confiscated my land, taking possession of it with joyful enthusiasm and with animal-like malice, in order to plunder Israel's pastures.

6 "Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel and speak to its mountains, hills, ravines, and valleys. Tell them 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Pay attention! In my zealous anger I'm speaking because you've had to endure the mockery of the world's nations."

7 'Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says: "I hereby raise my hand to swear this oath: the nations that surround you will have their own mockery to endure!

8 But you mountains of Israel are going to sprout branches and bear fruit for my people Israel, because they'll be coming soon.

9 "Watch me! I'm on your side! I'll be turning in your direction, and you mountains will be ploughed and planted.

10 I'm going to make the entire house of Israel grow — every single member — and their cities will be inhabited with all the ruins rebuilt.

11 I'll make both the population and the livestock increase throughout your territories. They'll increase and be fruitful. I'll make your territories to be settled like you were in the past, and you will be treated better than you ever were before. At that time you will know that I am the LORD.

12 "I'll lead my people, my nation of Israel, across you mountains, and they will take possession of you again, and you'll be their inheritance once more. Never again will you leave them robbed of children.

13 "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'Because some have been saying to you, "You mountains have been devouring human beings and leaving people childless,"

14 'therefore you will no longer devour human beings or leave their nation childless,' declares the Lord GOD.

15 'I won't let you hear other people mock you, and no nation will ever make you childless again,' declares the Lord GOD.

16 This message came to me from the LORD:

17 "Son of Man, when the house of Israel was living on their own land, they defiled it with their lifestyles and behaviour; they were as disqualified to be with me as a menstruating woman is to you.

18 So I poured out my anger on them because of all the bloodshed throughout the land and because they had defiled it with their idolatry.

19 Then I scattered them among the nations, dispersing them to other lands, just as their lifestyles and behaviour deserved. That's how I judged them.

20 Nevertheless, when they arrived in those nations, they continued to profane my holy name. It was said about them, 'These are the LORD's people, even though they've left his land.'

21 I've been concerned about my holy reputation, which the house of Israel has been defiling throughout all of the nations where they've gone.

Acts 27

7 We sailed slowly for a number of days and with difficulty arrived off Cnidus. Then, because the wind was against us, we sailed on the sheltered side of Crete off Cape Salome.

8 Sailing past it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near the town of Lasea.

9 Much time had been lost, and because navigation had become dangerous and the day of fasting had already past, Paul began to warn those on the ship,

10 "Men, I see that during this voyage there will be hardship and a heavy loss not only of the cargo and ship, but also of our lives."

11 But the centurion was persuaded by the pilot and the owner of the ship and not by what Paul said.

12 Since the harbour was not a good place to spend the winter, most of the men favoured putting out to sea from there on the chance that somehow they could reach Phoenix and spend the winter there. It is a Cretan harbour that faces southwest and northwest.

13 When a gentle breeze began to blow from the south, they thought they could make it to Phoenix, so they hoisted anchor and began sailing along the shore of Crete.

14 But it was not long before a violent wind (called a northeaster) swept down from the island.

15 The ship was caught so that it couldn't face the wind, and we gave up and were swept along.

16 As we drifted to the sheltered side of a small island called Cauda, we barely managed to secure the ship's lifeboat.

17 The ship's crew pulled it up on deck and used ropes to brace the ship. Fearing that they would hit the large sandbank near Libya, they lowered the sail and drifted along.

18 The next day, because we were being tossed so violently by the storm, they began to throw the cargo overboard.

19 On the third day they threw the ship's equipment overboard with their own hands.

20 For a number of days neither the sun nor the stars were to be seen, and the storm continued to rage until at last all hope of our being saved vanished.

21 After they had gone a long time without food, Paul stood among his shipmates and said, "Men, you should have listened to me and not have sailed from Crete. You would have avoided this hardship and damage.

22 But now I urge you to have courage because there will be no loss of life among you, but only loss of the ship.

23 For just last night an angel of God, to whom I belong and whom I serve, stood by me

24 and said, 'Stop being afraid, Paul! You must stand before the emperor. Indeed, God has given to you the lives of everyone who is sailing with you.'

25 So take courage, men, because I trust God that it will turn out just as he told me.

26 However, we will have to run aground on some island."

27 It was the fourteenth night, and we were drifting through the Adriatic Sea when about midnight the sailors suspected that land was near.

28 After taking soundings, they found the depth to be twenty fathoms. A little later they took soundings again and found it was fifteen fathoms.

29 Fearing that we might run aground on the rocks, they dropped four anchors from the stern and began praying for daylight to come.

Ezekiel 36

22 "Therefore tell the house of Israel, 'This is what the Lord God says: "I'm not about to act for your sake, you house of Israel, but for the sake of my holy reputation, which you have been defiling throughout all of the nations where you've gone.

23 I'm going to affirm my great reputation that has been defiled among the nations (that is, that you have defiled in their midst), and those people will learn that I am the LORD," declares the Lord God, 'when I affirm my holiness in front of their very eyes.

24 I'm going to remove you from the nations, gather you from all of the territories, and bring you all back to your own land.

25 I'll sprinkle pure water on you all, and you'll be cleansed from your impurity and from all of your idols.

26 "I'm going to give you a new heart, and I'm going to give you a new spirit within all of your deepest parts. I'll remove that rock-hard heart of yours and replace it with one that's sensitive to me.

27 I'll place my spirit within you, empowering you to live according to my regulations and to keep my just decrees.

28 You'll live in the land that I gave to your ancestors, you'll be my people, and I will be your God.

29 In addition, I'll deliver you from everything that makes you unclean. I'll call out to the grain you plant, ordering it to produce abundant yields, and I will never bring famine in your direction.

30 I'll increase the yields of your fruit trees and crops so that you'll never again experience the disgrace of famine that occurs in other nations.

31 "Then you'll remember your lifestyles and practices that were not good. You'll hate yourselves as you look at your own iniquities and loathsome practices.

32 I won't be doing any of this for your sake," declares the Lord God, "so keep that in mind. Be ashamed and frustrated because of your behaviour, you house of Israel!"

33 'This is what the Lord God says: "At the same time that I cleanse you from all of your guilt, I'll make your cities become inhabited again and the desolate wastelands will be rebuilt.

34 The desolate fields will be cultivated, replacing the former wasteland that everyone who passed by in times past had noticed.

35 They will say, 'This wasteland has become like the garden of Eden, and what used to be desolate ruins are now fortified and inhabited.

36 "Then the surviving people that live around you will learn that I, the LORD, have rebuilt these ruins and have cultivated these pastures that used to be desolate wastelands. I, the LORD, have spoken this, and I'm going to bring it about!"

37 "This is what the Lord God has to say: 'I'm going to allow the house of Israel to ask anything they want from me, including this: I'm going to increase their population as a shepherd increases his flock.

38 The desolate cities will be filled with flocks of human beings, just like Jerusalem used to be filled with flocks of sheep during the times of the appointed feasts. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

Ezekiel 37

1 The LORD laid his hand on me and brought me out by the Spirit of the LORD to the middle of a valley that was filled with bones.

2 He led me here and there throughout the valley, and I was amazed to see that the surface of the entire valley was covered with myriads of very dry bones!

3 The LORD asked me, "Son of Man, will these bones ever live?" "Lord GOD," I replied, "you know the answer to that!"

4 Then the LORD told me, "Prophecy to these bones. Tell them: 'You dry bones, listen to the message from the LORD: "

5 This is what the Lord GOD says to you dry bones! 'Pay attention! I'm bringing my Spirit into you right now, and you're going to live!

6 I'm going to grow tendons on you, regenerate your flesh, cover you with skin, and make you breathe again so that you can come back to life and learn that I am the LORD.'"

7 So I prophesied, just as I had been ordered to do so. Immediately there was a noise and a rattling — and then all of a sudden the bones came together by themselves! Each bone came together, all of them attached together!

8 As I continued to watch, I saw tendons growing on the bones, and muscles growing and covering them, and then skin covered the flesh from above. But the bodies weren't breathing.

9 Then he ordered me, "Prophecy to the Spirit, Son of Man. Tell the Spirit, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Come from the four winds, you Spirit, and breathe into these people who have been killed, so they will live.'"

10 So I prophesied as I had been ordered, breath entered them, and they began to live. They stood on their own feet as a vast, united army.

11 "These bones represent the entire house of Israel," the LORD explained to me. "Look how they keep saying, 'Our bones are dried up, and our future is lost. We've been completely eliminated!'

12 "Therefore prophecy to them, and tell them, 'Watch me! I'm going to open your graves, lift you out of those graves, and bring my people back into the land of Israel.

13 Then you'll learn that I am the LORD, when I've opened your graves and caused you to come up out of them, my people.

14 I'm going to place my Spirit in you all, and you will live. I'll place you all into your land, and you'll learn that I, the LORD, have been speaking and doing this,' declares the LORD."

15 A message came to me from the LORD, and this is what it was:

16 "Now as for you, Son of Man, grab a stick of wood for yourself and write on it these words: FOR JUDAH AND THE ISRAELIS, HIS COMPANIONS. Then grab another stick and write on it: FOR JOSEPH, THE STICK OF EPHRAIM, AND ALL THE HOUSE OF ISRAEL, HIS COMPANIONS.

17 Then join them together end-to-end so that they become a single baton in your hand.

18 "When the descendants of your people ask you, 'Would you please explain to us what you mean by this?'

19 you are to tell them, 'This is what the LORD says: "Watch me! I'm taking the baton that represents Joseph, which Ephraim is holding in his hand, along with his companions the tribes of Israel, and I'm going to join them with the baton that represents Judah. I'm making them a single baton, that is, a complete baton in my hand.'"

20 "The batons on which you engrave your writing are to remain right in front of them in your hand.

21 Then tell them, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Watch me take the Israelis out of the nations where they've gone and return them from every direction. I'm going to bring them back into their own land.

22 I'm going to make them a united people in the land, on the mountains of Israel, and I'll set a single king to rule over them. They'll never again be two separate people. They'll never again be divided into two kingdoms.

23 ""They will never again defile themselves with their idols, with other loathsome things, or with any of their sins. Instead, I will deliver them from all of the places where they have sinned, and then I'll cleanse them. They will be my people and I will be their God.'""

24 ""My servant King David will be there for them, and one shepherd will be appointed for them. They will live according to my decrees, keep my regulations, and practise them.
25 They will live in the land that I gave to my servant Jacob and on which your ancestors lived. They will live in that land, along with their children and grandchildren, forever. David my servant will be their everlasting leader.
26 I'll make a secure covenant with them, one that will last forever. I will establish them, make them increase in population, and will place my sanctuary in their midst forever.
27 I will pitch my tent among them and will be their God. They will be my people,
28 and the nations will know that I, the LORD, am the sanctifier of Israel when I place my sanctuary in their midst forever.""

Ezekiel 38

1 This message from the LORD came to me:
2 "Son of Man, turn your attention toward Gog, from the land of Magog, the chief noble of Meshech, and Tubal. Prophesy this against him:
3 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "Watch out! I'm coming after you, Gog, chief ruler of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal.
4 I'm going to turn you around, put hooks into your jaws, and bring you out — you and your whole army — along with your horses and cavalry riders, all of them richly attired, a magnificent company replete with buckler and shield, and all of them wielding battle swords.
5 Persia, Cush, and Libya will be accompanying them, all of them equipped with shields and helmets.
6 Gomer with all its troops, and the household of Togarmah from the remotest parts of the north with all its troops — many people will accompany you.
7 Be prepared. Yes, prepare yourself — you and all of your many battalions that have gathered together around you to protect you.
8 "Many days from now — in the latter years — you will be summoned to a land that has been restored from violence. You will be gathered from many nations to the mountains of Israel, which formerly had been a continual waste, but which will be populated with people who have been brought back from the nations. All of them will be living there securely.
9 You'll arise suddenly, like a tornado, coming like a windstorm to cover the land, you and all your soldiers with you, along with many nations.
10 "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'This is what's going to happen on the very day that you begin your invasion: You'll be thinking, making evil plans, 11 and boasting, "I'm going to invade a land comprised of open country that is at rest, its people living confidently, all of whose inhabitants will be living securely, with neither fortification nor bars on their doors.
12 I'm going to confiscate anything I can put my hands on. I'll attack the restored ruins and the people who have been gathered together from the nations, who are acquiring livestock and other goods, and who live at the centre of the world's attention.
13 Businessmen based in Sheba, Dedan, Tarshish, and all of its growling lions will ask you, "Are you coming for war spoils? Have you assembled your armies to carry off silver and gold, and to gather lots of war booty?"
14 "Therefore, Son of Man, prophesy to Gog and tell him, 'This is what the Lord GOD says: "When the day comes when my people are living securely, won't you be aware of it?
15 You'll come in from your home in the remotest parts of the north. You'll come with many nations, all of them riding along on horses. You'll be a huge, combined army.
16 You'll come up to invade my people Israel like a storm cloud to cover the land. In the last days, Gog, I'll bring you up to invade my land so that the world will learn to know me when I show them how holy I am before their very eyes.""

17 "This is what the Lord God says: 'Surely you're the one about whom I spoke years ago in the writings of my servants, Israel's prophets, aren't you? They predicted back then that I would bring you up after many years, didn't they?'

18 So it will be that on that day, when Gog invades the land of Israel,' declares the Lord God, 'my zeal will ignite my anger.

19 Because of my zeal and burning anger, at that time there will be a massive earthquake throughout the land of Israel.

20 I'm going to shake the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the wild beasts, all the creatures that crawl on the earth, and every single human being who lives on the surface of the earth. Mountains will collapse, as will their mountain passages, and every wall will fall to the ground.

21 Then I'll call for war against Gog on top of every mountain,' declares the Lord God, 'and every weapon of war will be turned against their fellow soldier.

22 I'll judge them with disease and bloodshed. I'll shower him, his soldiers, and the vast army that accompanies him with a torrential flood, hailstones, fire, and sulphur.

23 I will exalt myself and demonstrate my holiness, making myself known to many people, who will learn that I am the LORD.'"

Acts 27

30 Meanwhile, the sailors had begun trying to escape from the ship. They lowered the lifeboat into the sea and pretended that they were going to lay out the anchors from the bow.

31 Paul told the centurion and the soldiers, "Unless these men remain on board, you cannot be saved."

32 Then the soldiers cut the ropes that held the lifeboat and set it adrift.

33 Right up to daybreak Paul kept urging all of them to eat something. He said, "Today is the fourteenth day that you have been waiting and going without food, not eating anything.

34 So I urge you to eat something, for it will help you survive, since none of you will lose so much as a hair from his head."

35 After he said this, he took some bread, thanked God in front of everyone, broke it, and began to eat.

36 Everyone was encouraged and had something to eat.

37 There were 276 of us on the ship.

38 After they had eaten all they wanted, they began to lighten the ship by dumping its cargo of wheat into the sea.

39 When day came, they didn't recognize the land, but they could see a bay with a beach on which they planned to run the ship ashore, if possible.

40 So they cut the anchors free and left them in the sea. At the same time they untied the ropes that held the steering oars, raised the foresail to the wind, and headed for the beach.

41 But they struck a sandbar and ran the ship aground. The bow stuck and couldn't be moved, while the stern was broken to pieces by the force of the waves.

42 The soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners to keep them from swimming ashore and escaping,

43 but the centurion wanted to save Paul, so he prevented them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and get to land.

44 The rest were to follow, some on planks and others on various pieces of the ship. In this way everyone got to shore safely.

Acts 28

1 When we were safely on shore, we learned that the island was called Malta.

2 The people who lived there were unusually kind to us. It had started to rain and was cold, so they started a bonfire and invited us to join them around it.

3 Paul gathered a bundle of sticks and put it on the fire. A poisonous snake was forced out by the heat and attached itself to Paul's hand.

4 When the people who lived there saw the snake hanging from his hand, they told one another, "This man must be a murderer! He may have escaped from the sea, but Justice won't let him live."

5 But he shook the snake into the fire and wasn't harmed.

6 They were expecting him to swell up or suddenly drop dead, but after waiting a long time and seeing nothing unusual happen to him, they changed their minds and said he was a god.

Ezekiel 39

- 1 "Now as for you, Son of Man, prophesy against Gog and tell him, "'This is what the Lord GOD has to say: 'Watch out, Gog, you leader of the head of Meshech and Tubal!
- 2 I'm going to turn you around, drag you along to your destruction, and bring you up from the farthest parts of the north, and carry you to the mountains of Israel.
- 3 There I will strike your bow from your left hand and your arrows from your right, causing your fall.
- 4 You will collapse on the mountains of Israel, along with all of your soldiers and the nations that have accompanied you. There the raptors, vultures, and wild animals will feed on you.
- 5 You will fall dead in the open fields, because I have ordered this to happen,' declares the Lord GOD.
- 6 'I'm also going to set fire to Magog, along with those who are settled down and at home in the islands. That's when they'll learn that I am the LORD.
- 7 I'll make my holiness and reputation known in the midst of my people Israel, and I won't let my holiness be profaned anymore. The nations will learn that I, the LORD, am holy in the midst of Israel.
- 8 Pay attention! It's coming and will certainly happen,' declares the Lord GOD. 'This will be the day about which I've spoken!'"
- 9 "After all this happens, the people who live in the cities of Israel will be kindling fires for seven years, using small shields, large shields, bows, arrows, clubs, personal weapons, and spears to do so.
- 10 They won't need to cut down trees from the fields nor gather firewood from the forests, because they will light fires with the weapons as they plunder the plunderers and loot the looters!" declares the Lord GOD.
- 11 "When all of this happens, I'm going to set aside a grave site for Gog in Israel's Traveller's Valley, near the approach to the Dead Sea. She will block off everyone who tries to bypass it. There they will bury Gog, and rename the area "Valley of Gog's Gang".
- 12 "The house of Israel will be burying them for seven months in order to purify the land.
- 13 Everyone in the land will be involved in the burials, and this will serve as a reminder for them that I have glorified myself," declares the Lord GOD.
- 14 "Men will be assigned to travel continuously throughout the land, exploring for seven full months as they go about burying the bodies that remain from the battle on the surface of the ground, so that the land may be sterilized.
- 15 As scouts go searching throughout the land, whenever they see someone's bones, they will place a sign beside the remains until the remains have been buried in the Valley of Gog's Gang.
- 16 They'll also name the city that is there 'Hamonah,' as they purify the land.
- 17 "Now as for you, Son of Man, this is what the Lord GOD has to say: 'Tell all of the birds and wild beasts to come and gather together and participate in the sacrifice that I'm going to make for you. This great sacrifice will take place on the mountains of Israel, where you'll be eating flesh and drinking blood.
- 18 You'll eat the flesh of mighty men and drink the blood of the world's princes, drinking the blood of these rams, lambs, goats, bulls, all of them fattened as if they're from Bashan, fit for slaughter.
- 19 You'll eat until you're fat and satiated. You'll drink blood until you're drunk from the sacrifice that I'm going to make for all of you.
- 20 You'll be fully satiated at my table, dining on horse flesh, horsemen, elite soldiers, and every kind of warrior," declares the Lord GOD.

21 "I'm going to display my glory among the people, and every nation will see the judgement that I administer by my own hand among them.
22 The house of Israel will learn that I am the LORD their God from that day forward!
23 The nations will also learn that because of Israel's sin the house of Israel went into captivity, since they were unfaithful in their behaviour toward me. As a result, I hid my presence from them, turned them over to the control of their enemies, and they died by violence.
24 It was because of their defilement and transgression that I treated them this way by hiding my presence from them."
25 "Therefore this is what the Lord GOD has to say: 'I'm going to restore the resources of Jacob and show mercy to the entire house of Israel. I'll be zealous for my own reputation and for my holiness.
26 They'll forget their shame and all of their unfaithfulness by which they behaved so unfaithfully toward me. They will live on their land in confidence, not in fear.
27 When I bring them back from the nations and gather them together from the lands that belong to their enemies, I will demonstrate my holiness through them right in front of the eyes of the world,
28 and they will learn that I am the LORD their God, who sent them into exile and who gathered them back to their land. I will not leave any of them remaining in exile.
29 I'll no longer hide my presence from them again when I pour out my Spirit on the house of Israel," declares the Lord GOD.

Ezekiel 40

1 At the beginning of year 25 of our captivity, on the tenth day of the fourteenth year after the destruction of Jerusalem — on that very day — the LORD grabbed me by his hand and took me there.
2 God brought me in a series of visions to the land of Israel and placed me on top of a very high mountain, where to the south there was something that looked like the outline of a city.
3 That's where he took me. All of a sudden, there was a man whose appearance resembled glowing bronze. He had a measuring rod and line in his hand as he stood in the city gate.
4 This is what the man told me: "Son of Man, watch carefully, listen closely, and remember everything I'm going to be showing you, because you've been brought here to be shown what you're about to see. Be sure that you tell the house of Israel everything that you observe."
5 All of a sudden, we were at the exterior wall that completely surrounded the Temple. The man whom I had observed held a measuring rod that was ten and a half feet long as measured in cubits that were a cubit and a handbreadth long. As he measured the thickness of the wall, he measured out one rod. Its height was also one rod.
6 Then he went over to the gate that faced toward the east, ascended its steps, and measured its thresholds. One threshold measured one rod and the other one measured one rod.
7 Each guardhouse measured one rod long and one rod wide, and the distance between each guardhouse was five cubits. The threshold of the gate near the vestibule facing away from the Temple entrance measured one rod.
8 Next he measured the vestibule of the gate facing away from the Temple entrance at one rod.
9 He measured the vestibule of the gate inside at eight cubits and the doorjambs at two cubits. (The vestibule at the gate faced away from the Temple).
10 Gate guardhouses stood facing east, numbering three on each side, each of them of equal size to the door jamb; that is, having the same measurement on each side.

11 He measured the width of the gateway at ten cubits, and the length of the gate at thirteen cubits.

12 The retaining wall in front of the guardhouses measured one cubit wide. It stood one cubit from the wall to the guardhouses, which were six cubits square.

13 He measured the gate from the roof of the guardhouses to the roof of another at 25 cubits from doorway to opposite doorway.

14 Then he measured the open air porch at 60 cubits from the doorjamb of the courtyard that encompassed the gate.

15 The distance from the front entrance gate to the vestibule of the inner gate measured 50 cubits.

16 Latticed windows faced the guardhouses, their side pillars within the gate all around, and also for the porches. Windows were placed all around inside, and the side pillars were engraved with palm trees.

17 Next, he brought me into the outer court, where chambers and a paved area had been constructed all around the courtyard, with 30 chambers facing the pavement.

18 The pavement to the side of the gates corresponded to the length of the gates.

19 He also measured the width from the front lower gate to the front of the exterior inner court at 100 cubits to the east and to the north.

20 Next, he measured the length and width of the outer north-facing gate to the courtyard.

21 It was equipped with three guardhouses on each side. Its side pillars and porches had measurements identical to the first gate: 50 cubits long and 25 cubits wide.

22 Its windows, porches, and palm tree ornaments had measurements identical to the east-facing gate. Reached by seven ascending steps, its porch lay to the front of the steps.

23 From a gate that stood opposite the northern gate he measured 100 cubits, as well as from the eastern gate.

24 Then he led me toward the south, where there was a gate with side pillar and porch measurements identical to the others.

25 The gate and its porches contained windows all around, identical to the other windows. The length of the porch was 50 cubits and its width was 25 cubits.

26 Seven steps led up to it, with a porch in front of them. Palm tree ornaments were engraved on its side pillars, one on each side.

27 The inner court contained a south-facing gate measuring 100 cubits from gate to gate toward the south.

28 Next, he brought me to the inner courtyard by way of the south-facing gate. He measured the south-facing gate as having measurements identical to the others.

29 The measurements of its guardhouses, its side pillars, and its porches were identical to the others. The gate and its porches contained windows all around. The length of the porch was 50 cubits and its width was 25 cubits.

30 Porches lay all around, measuring 25 cubits long and 5 cubits wide,

31 leading to the outer courtyard. Palm tree ornaments were engraved on its side pillars. The stairway leading to it contained eight steps.

32 Then he brought me into the inner east-facing courtyard, where he measured the gate, identical to the others.

33 The measurement of its guardhouses, side pillars, and porches was identical to the others. The gate and its porches contained windows all around. The length of the porch was 50 cubits and its width was 25 cubits,

34 leading to the outer courtyard. Palm tree ornaments were engraved on its side pillars. The stairway leading to it contained eight steps.

Acts 28

7 The governor of the island, whose name was Publius, owned estates in that part of the island. He welcomed us and entertained us with great hospitality for three days.

8 The father of Publius happened to be sick in bed with fever and dysentery. Paul went to him, prayed, and healed him by placing his hands on him.

9 After that had happened, the rest of the sick people on the island went to him and were healed.

10 The islanders honoured us in many ways, and when we were about to sail again, they supplied us with everything we needed.

11 Three months later, we continued our sailing on board an Alexandrian ship that had spent the winter at the island. It had the Twin Brothers as its figurehead.

12 We stopped at Syracuse and stayed there for three days.

13 Then we weighed anchor and came to Rhegium. A day later a south wind began to blow, and on the second day we came to Puteoli.

14 There we found some brothers and were invited to stay with them for seven days. After this, we arrived in Rome.

15 The brothers there heard about us and came as far as the Forum of Appius and the Three Taverns to meet us. When Paul saw them, he thanked God and felt encouraged.

16 When we came into Rome, Paul was allowed to live by himself with the soldier who was guarding him.

17 Three days later, Paul called the leaders of the Jews together. When they assembled, he told them, "Brothers, although I haven't done anything against our people or the customs of our ancestors, I was arrested in Jerusalem and handed over to the Romans.

18 They examined me and wanted to let me go because there was no reason for me to receive the death penalty in my case.

19 But the Jews objected and forced me to appeal to the emperor, even though I have no counter charge to bring against my own people.

20 That's why I asked to see you and speak with you, since it is for the hope of Israel that I'm wearing this chain."

21 The Jewish leaders told him, "We haven't received any letters from Judea about you, and none of the brothers coming here has reported or mentioned anything bad about you.

22 However, we would like to hear from you what you believe, because people are talking against this sect everywhere."

23 So they set a day to meet with Paul and came out in large numbers to see him where he was staying. From morning until evening he continued to explain the kingdom of God to them, trying to convince them about Jesus from the Law of Moses and the Prophets.

24 Some of them were convinced by what he said, but others wouldn't believe.

25 They disagreed with one another as they were leaving, so Paul added this statement: "The Holy Spirit was so right when he spoke to your ancestors through the prophet Isaiah!

26 He said, 'Go to this people and say, "You will listen and listen but never understand, and you will look and look but never see!"

27 For this people's minds have become stupid, and their ears can barely hear, and they have shut their eyes so that they may never see with their eyes, and listen with their ears, and understand with their heart and turn and let me heal them."

28 You must understand that this message about God's salvation has been sent to the gentiles, and they will listen."

30 For two whole years Paul lived in his own rented place and welcomed everyone who came to him.

31 He continued to preach about the kingdom of God and to teach boldly and freely about the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

6th December

Ezekiel 40

35 Next, he brought me to the north-facing gate, where he measured the gate, identical to the others.

36 The measurement of its guardhouses, side pillars, and porches was identical to the others. The gate and its porches contained windows all around. The length of the porch was 50 cubits and its width was 25 cubits,

37 leading to the outer courtyard. Palm tree ornaments were engraved on its side pillars. The stairway leading to it contained eight steps.

38 There was a chamber with a doorway by the side pillars next to the gate where they prepare the burnt offerings.

39 In the porch leading in front of the gate there were two tables on either side for slaughtering burnt offerings, sin offerings, and guilt offerings,

40 and on the outer side, approaching the northern gateway, there were two tables, as well as two tables on the opposite side of the porch in front of the gate.

41 In that way, there were four tables on each side in front of the gate, for a total of eight tables for use in slaughtering the offerings.

42 There were four tables carved from stone for the burnt offering, each one and a half cubits long, one and a half cubits wide, and one cubit high, on which the instruments are laid for slaughtering burnt offerings and sacrifices.

43 Double hooks, a single handbreadth in length, were installed all around in this portion of the temple area.

44 From outside leading into the inner gate there were chambers for the choir. One was beside the north gate facing the south, and another was at the south gate facing the north.

45 The angel told me, "This south-facing chamber is for the priests who maintain the Temple,

46 and the north-facing chamber is for the priests who maintain the altar. These are Zadok's descendants, who, as descendants of Levi approach the LORD to minister directly to him."

47 He measured the court in the form of a square at 100 cubits long and 100 cubits wide. The altar stood in front of the Temple.

48 Next, he brought me to the Temple porch and measured the side pillars at five cubits on each side. The width of the gate measured three cubits on each side.

49 The porch was 20 cubits long and eleven cubits wide. The stairway by which it was ascended was equipped with columns attached to its side pillars, one on each side.

Ezekiel 41

1 Next he brought me to the Temple and measured its door jambs at six cubits wide on each side of the structure.

2 The entrance was ten cubits wide and its door jambs were five cubits wide on each side. He measured the length of the nave at 40 cubits and its width at 20 cubits.

3 Then he went inside and measured the door jambs at two cubits wide and the doorway at six cubits high. The doorway was seven cubits wide.

4 He measured its length at 20 cubits, its width at 20 cubits in front of the structure, and then he told me, "This is the most holy area."

5 Next, he measured the Temple walls at six cubits high and the width of the side chambers at four cubits around all four sides of the Temple.

6 The side chambers consisted of three stories, each above the other, with 30 chambers in each story. The side chambers extended out from the wall that faced the inside of the chambers where the chambers were fastened together, but the chamber walls were not fastened directly into the Temple walls themselves.

7 The side chambers surrounding the Temple were wider at each successive story, because the surrounding structure ascended by proportional increments as it rose, ascending to the highest story by going up successively from the lowest.

8 I observed a raised platform that surrounded the Temple, and the foundations of the side chambers were a full six cubits deep.

9 The outer wall of the side chambers was five cubits thick, and there was an empty space between the Temple's side chambers

10 and its outer chambers 20 cubits in width, surrounding the Temple on each side.

11 The side chamber doorway facing the free space contained a single north-facing doorway and a second south-facing doorway. The width of the free space was five cubits all around the perimeter.

12 The building that faced the west side of the courtyard was 70 cubits wide, and the building's wall was five cubits thick all around. It was 90 cubits long.

13 Then he measured the Temple. It was 100 cubits long, and the courtyard, its building, and its walls were 100 cubits long.

14 The front of the Temple and its east-facing courtyard were each 100 cubits long.

15 Next, he measured 100 cubits as the length of the structure toward the front of the courtyard that stood behind it, where it housed a gallery on each side of it. Then he measured the Temple and the inner porticos of the courtyard,

16 the thresholds, the shielded windows, and the surrounding three-storied galleries that stood opposite,

17 including up to the doorway, up to the Temple (both within and without) and all around both sides of the inner wall, according to his measurement.

18 There were carved cherubim and palm trees, alternating with a palm tree between a cherub, and each cherub had two faces,

19 with a human face looking toward the palm tree on one side and a young lion's face looking toward the palm tree on the other side. These carvings extended all the way around the Temple, 20 from the ground to above the doorway, as well as on the walls of the main sanctuary.

21 The door posts of the main sanctuary were square. Each door post was identical in appearance to the others.

22 The altar was made of wood, three cubits high and two cubits long. Its corners, base, and sides were of wood. He told me, "This table stands in the LORD's presence."

23 The nave and the sanctuary each were equipped with double doors.

24 Each door had two sections mounted on hinges, for a total of two sections for one door and two sections for the other.

25 The doors of the nave had carvings engraved on them, consisting of cherubim and palm trees identical to those on the walls. The front of the exterior porch was equipped with a wooden threshold.

26 Shielded windows and palm trees were visible on both sides; that is, on the sides of the porch, the side chambers of the Temple, and on its thresholds.

Ezekiel 42

1 Then he brought me to the outer, north-facing courtyard into the chamber that stood opposite the structure that was facing north.

2 It stood 100 cubits long and 50 cubits wide, with a door in the middle.

3 Opposite the 20 cubits wide inner court, and opposite the paved area that comprised the outer court, there were three stories of galleries that faced each other.

4 In front of the chambers there was an inner walkway ten cubits wide and 100 cubits wide, the openings to which were on the north.

5 The upper chambers were narrower, since the galleries required more space than did the lower and middle portions of the building.

6 The three part structure had no columns, unlike the courts, which is why the upper chambers were offset from the ground upward, more so than the lower and middle chambers.

7 The outer wall by the side of the chambers toward the outer court and facing the chambers was 50 cubits long.

8 While the chambers in the outer court were 50 cubits in length, the chambers facing the Temple were 100 cubits long.

9 Below these chambers, as one might enter from the outer court, was the east side entrance.

10 There were chambers built into the thick part of the wall of the court facing the east; that is, facing the separate area toward the front of the building,

11 with a passageway in front of them, similar in appearance to the chambers that were on the north, proportional to their length and width, with all of their exits according to their arrangements and doorways.

12 Corresponding to the chamber doorways facing the south was an opening at the beginning of the passage; that is, the passage in front of the corresponding part of the wall facing east as one might enter.

13 Then he told me, "The north and south chamber, which are opposite the courtyard are consecrated areas where the priests who approach the LORD will eat consecrated offerings and lay the consecrated grain offerings, sin offerings, and guilt offerings, because the area is holy.

14 When the priest enters, they will not enter the outer court from the sanctuary without having removed their garments worn during their time of ministry, because they are holy. They will put on different clothes, and then they will approach the area reserved for the people."

15 After he had finished measuring the inner temple, he brought me out through the east-facing gate and measured it all around.

16 He measured the east side at 500 reeds, according to the length of the measuring stick,

17 the north side at 500 reeds, according to the length of the measuring stick,

18 the south side at 500 reeds, according to the length of the measuring stick,

19 and the west side at 500 reeds, according to the length of the measuring stick.

20 He measured a wall that encompassed all four sides, 500 hundred long and 500 wide, dividing between the sacred and common areas.

1 John 1

- 1 What existed from the beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we observed and touched with our own hands — this is the Word of life!
- 2 This life was revealed to us, and we have seen it and testify about it. We declare to you this eternal life that was with the Father and was revealed to us.
- 3 What we have seen and heard we declare to you so that you, too, can have fellowship with us. Now this fellowship of ours is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus, the Messiah.
- 4 We are writing these things so that our joy may be full.
- 5 This is the message that we have heard from him and declare to you: God is light, and in him there is no darkness — none at all!
- 6 If we claim that we have fellowship with him but keep living in darkness, we are lying and not practising the truth.
- 7 But if we keep living in the light as he himself is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus his Son cleanses us from all sin.
- 8 If we say that we do not have any sin, we are deceiving ourselves and we're not being truthful to ourselves.
- 9 If we make it our habit to confess our sins, in his faithful righteousness he forgives us for those sins and cleanses us from all unrighteousness.
- 10 If we say that we have never sinned, we make him a liar and his word has no place in us.

1 John 2

- 1 My little children, I'm writing these things to you so that you might not sin. Yet if anyone does sin, we have an advocate with the Father — Jesus, the Messiah, one who is righteous.
- 2 It is he who is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only, but also for the whole world's.
- 3 This is how we can be sure that we have come to know him: if we continually keep his commandments.
- 4 The person who says, "I have come to know him," but does not continually keep his commandments is a liar, and the truth has no place in that person.
- 5 But whoever continually keeps his commandments is the kind of person in whom God's love has truly been perfected. This is how we can be sure that we are in union with God:
- 6 The one who says that he abides in him must live the same way he himself lived.
- 7 Dear friends, I am not writing to you a new commandment, but an old commandment that you have had from the beginning. This old commandment is the word you have heard.
- 8 On the other hand, I am writing to you a new commandment that is truly in him and in you. For the darkness is fading away, and the true light is already shining.
- 9 The person who says that he is in the light but hates his brother is still in the darkness.
- 10 The person who loves his brother abides in the light, and there is no reason for him to stumble.
- 11 But the person who hates his brother is in the darkness and lives in the darkness. He does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded his eyes.

7th December

Ezekiel 43

- 1 Next, he brought me to the east-facing gate,
- 2 and the glory of the God of Israel was coming from the east. His voice sounded like roaring water, and the land shimmered from his glory.
- 3 His appearance in the vision that I was having was similar to what I observed in the vision where he had come to destroy the city, and also like the visions that I saw by the Chebar River. I fell flat on my face
- 4 while the glory of the LORD entered the Temple through the east-facing gate.
- 5 Just then, the Spirit lifted me up and carried me into the inner courtyard, where the glory of the LORD was filling the Temple!
- 6 I heard someone speaking to me from the Temple, and a man appeared, standing beside me!
- 7 "Son of Man," the Lord GOD told me, "This is where my throne is, where I place the soles of my feet, and where I will live among the Israelis forever. The house of Israel will no longer defile my holy name — neither they nor their kings — by their unfaithfulness, by the lifeless idols of their kings on their funeral mounds,
- 8 by their setting up their threshold too close to my threshold and their door post too close to my door post, with a wall between me and them. After all, they have defiled my holy name by the loathsome things that they did, so I devoured them in my anger.
- 9 But now let them send their unfaithfulness — that is, the lifeless idols of their kings — far away from me, and I will live among them forever."
- 10 "And now, Son of Man, describe the Temple to the house of Israel. They will be ashamed because of their sin. They will measure its pattern.
- 11 If they are ashamed of everything that they've done, you are to reveal to them the design of the Temple, its structure, its exits and entrances, its plans, its ordinances, and all of its regulations. Write it down where they can see it and remember all of its designs and regulations, so they will implement them.
- 12 This is to be the regulation for the Temple: the entire area on top of the mountain is to be considered wholly consecrated. This is to be the law of the Temple."
- 13 "Here are the measurements of the altar in cubits that were a cubit and a handbreadth long: its base is a cubit long and a cubit wide, and its border around the edge at one handbreadth is to be the height of the altar.
- 14 From the base on the ground to its lower edge is to be two cubits, with its width to be one cubit. From the lesser ledge to the larger edge is to be four cubits. Its width is to be one cubit.
- 15 "The hearth is to be four cubits high, and four horns are to extend upwards from the hearth.
- 16 "The hearth is to be twelve cubits long and twelve cubits wide; that is, it will be a four-sided square.
- 17 It is to have a ledge fourteen cubits long by fourteen cubits wide around the four sides. Its border is to be half a cubit and its base is to be a cubit all around, with its steps facing east."
- 18 Then he told me, "This is what the Lord GOD says: 'These are the regulations for the altar, starting the day that it is constructed for presenting burnt offerings and sprinkling blood.
- 19 You are to present to the Levitical priests, Zadok's descendants, who will approach me to serve me, a young bull for a sin offering,' declares the Lord GOD.
- 20 'You are to take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, on the four corners of its ledge, and on the border that surrounds it, thus cleansing it and making an atonement for it.

21 You are also to present a bull for a sin offering, incinerating it in the appointed place at the Temple, outside the sanctuary.

22 "The second day following commencement of offerings, you are to offer a male goat without defect for a sin offering to cleanse the altar the same way they cleansed it with the bull.

23 After you've finished the cleansing, you are to present a young bull without defect and a ram from the flock without defect.

24 You are to present them in the LORD's presence, and the priests are to throw salt on them and then present them as a burnt offering to the LORD.

25 "Every day for a week, you are to prepare a goat for a sin offering, a young bull, and a ram from the flock, each without defect.

26 For a seven day period they are to make atonement for the altar, purifying it and consecrating it.

27 When they will have completed this period, starting the next day, the priests are to offer your burnt offerings on the altar, along with your peace offerings, and I will accept you,' declares the Lord God."

Ezekiel 44

1 Then the Lord God brought me back through the east-facing outer gate of the sanctuary. But it was shut.

2 The LORD told me, "This gate is to remain shut. It will not be opened. No man is to enter through it, because the LORD God of Israel entered through it, so it is to remain shut.

3 The Regent Prince will be seated there, as Regent Prince, and will dine in the LORD's presence, entering through the portico of the gate and exiting through it also."

4 Then he brought me through the north-facing gate to the front of the Temple. As I looked, the glory of the LORD filled the LORD's Temple, and I fell flat on my face!

5 Then the LORD told me, "Son of Man, watch carefully, listen closely, and remember everything I'm going to be telling you about all the statutes pertaining to the LORD's Temple and all of its laws. Pay careful attention to the entrance to the Temple, along with all of the exits to the sanctuary."

6 "You are to tell the Resistance — that is, the house of Israel, 'This is what the Lord God says: "I've had enough of all of your loathsome behaviour, you house of Israel!

7 You kept on bringing in foreigners, those who were uncircumcised in heart and flesh, to profane my sanctuary by being inside my Temple, and by doing so you've emptied my covenant, all the while offering my food — the fat and the blood — in addition to all of the other loathsome things you've done.

8 Furthermore, you haven't paid attention to the requirements for my holy things. Instead, you placed foreigners in charge of my sanctuary.'"

9 "This is what the Lord God says, 'No foreigner who is both uncircumcised in heart and flesh, of all the foreigners who are among the Israelis is to enter my sanctuary.

10 But the descendants of Levi, who went far away from me when Israel abandoned me, who left me to follow their idols, are to bear the punishment of their iniquity.

11 Nevertheless, they are to serve in my sanctuary, overseeing the gates of the Temple, taking care of the Temple, slaughtering the burnt offerings and the sacrifices presented for the people, standing in the presence of the people, and ministering to them.

12 Because they kept serving them in the presence of their idols, becoming a sin-filled stumbling block to the house of Israel,'" declares the Lord God. "'I have sworn to them that they are to bear the consequences of their iniquity.

13 They are not to come near me to serve me as a priest, nor approach any of my holy things, including the most holy things. Instead, they are to bear the shame of the loathsome things that they have done.

14 Nevertheless, I will appoint them to take care of my Temple, including all of its service and everything that is to be done inside of it."

15 "The descendants of Zadok, Levitical priests who took care of my sanctuary when the Israelis wandered away from me, are to come near me to minister to me. They are to stand before me to offer the fat and the blood to me," declares the Lord God.

16 "They are to enter my sanctuary, approach my table to minister to me, and carry out my requirements.

17 Whenever they enter at the gates of the inner court, they are to be clothed with linen garments. They are not to wear wool when they are ministering within the gates of the inner courtyard or in the Temple.

18 Linen turbans are to be on their heads, and they are to wear linen undergarments. Also, they are not to clothe themselves with anything that makes them perspire.

19 "When they enter the outer courtyard, that is, the outer courtyard where the people are, they are to take off their garments in which they were ministering, lay them in the consecrated chambers, and put on different garments so they will not transfer holiness to the people through their garments.

20 Also, they are not to shave their heads nor let their hair grow long. Instead, they are certainly to trim the hair on their heads.

21 "None of the priests are to drink wine after entering the inner courtyard.

22 "They are not to marry a widow or a divorced woman. Instead, they are to marry virgins from the descendants of the house of Israel, or a widow who is the widow of a priest."

23 "They are to teach my people how to discern what is holy in contrast to what is common, showing them how to discern between what is unclean and clean.

24 When disputes arise, they are to serve as a judge, adjudicating matters according to my ordinances. They are to enforce my laws, my statutes, all of my appointed feasts, and they are to sanctify my Sabbaths.

25 "They are not to come in contact with a dead body, so they don't defile themselves, except in the case of their father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or for an unmarried sister, on whose behalf they may defile themselves.

26 After he is cleansed from that contact, he is not to minister for seven days.

27 On the day that he returns to the sanctuary's inner court to minister, he is to offer his own sin offering," declares the Lord God.

28 "Now with respect to the priests' inheritances, I am to be their inheritance, and you are to give them no possession in Israel, since I am their possession.

29 They are to eat the grain offerings, sin offering, and guilt offering. Everything consecrated in Israel is to belong to them.

30 The first portion of all the first fruits of every kind and every offering of any kind is to be for the priests. You are to give the priest the first portion of your grain. As a result a blessing will rest on your household.

31 However, the priests are not to eat any bird or animal that has died a natural death or that has been torn apart."

Ezekiel 45

1 "When you divide the land for an inheritance, you are to present a Terumah to the LORD, a consecrated portion of the land 25,000 cubits long and 20,000 cubits wide. Everything within this area is to be treated as holy."

2 "A Holy Place is to be dedicated from this area in the form of a square measuring 500 by 500 cubits, with a 50 cubit buffer zone surrounding it.

3 From this area a measure is to be made 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide, which is to contain the sanctuary, the holiest of holy objects.

4 It is to be a holy portion of the land, set aside for the priests who serve the sanctuary, who approach the LORD to serve him. It is to be a place for their houses, as well as the Holy Place of the sanctuary.

5 "An area 25,000 cubits long by 10,000 cubits wide is to be set aside for use by the Levite servants of the Temple, 20 parcels for their residential properties.

1 John 2

12 I am writing to you, little children, because your sins have been forgiven on account of his name.

13 I am writing to you, fathers, because you have known the one who has existed from the beginning. I am writing to you, young people, because you have overcome the evil one.

14 I have written to you, little children, because you have known the Father. I have written to you, fathers, because you have known the one who has existed from the beginning. I have written to you, young people, because you are strong and because God's word remains in you and you have overcome the evil one.

15 Stop loving the world and the things that are in the world. If anyone persists in loving the world, the Father's love is not in him.

16 For everything that is in the world — the desire for fleshly gratification, the desire for possessions, and worldly arrogance — is not from the Father but is from the world.

17 And the world and its desires are fading away, but the person who does God's will remains forever.

18 Little children, it is the last hour. Just as you heard that an antichrist is coming, so now many antichrists have appeared. This is how we know it is the last hour.

19 They left us, but they were not part of us, for if they had been part of us, they would have stayed with us. Their leaving made it clear that none of them was really part of us.

20 You have an anointing from the Holy One and know all things.

21 I have not written to you because you do not know the truth, but because you do know it and because lies don't come from truth.

22 Who is a liar but the person who denies that Jesus is the Messiah? The person who denies the Father and the Son is an antichrist.

23 No one who denies the Son has the Father. The person who acknowledges the Son also has the Father.

24 What you have heard from the beginning must abide in you. If what you have heard from the beginning abides in you, you will also abide in the Son and in the Father.

25 The message that the Son himself declared to us is eternal life.

26 I have written to you about those who are trying to deceive you.

27 The anointing you received from God abides in you, and you do not need anyone to teach you this. Instead, because God's anointing teaches you about everything and is true and not a lie, abide in him, as he taught you to do.

28 Even now, little children, abide in him. Then, when he appears, we will have confidence and will not turn away from him in shame when he comes.

29 Since you know that he is righteous, you also know that everyone who practises righteousness has been fathered by God.

8th December

Ezekiel 45

6 "The land allocation for the city is to be set at 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, adjacent to the sanctuary district, reserved for the entire house of Israel."

7 "The Regent Prince is to have a portion on both sides of the consecrated allotment for the sanctuary and the city's land allotment, adjacent to both on the west and the east sides, comparable in length to one of the portions from the west border to the east border.

8 This property in Israel is to belong to the Regent Prince, so my regent princes will no longer mistreat my nation. The remaining portion of the land is to be allotted to the house of Israel, that is, to its tribes."

9 "This is what the Lord God says, 'Enough of you, you regent princes of Israel! Abandon your violence and destruction. Practise what is just and right instead! Stop confiscating property from my people!' declares the Lord God.

10 You're to use an honest scale, an honest dry measure, and an honest liquid measure!

11 "The ephah and the bath are to be of equal volume; that is, the bath is to contain one tenth of a homer and the ephah one tenth of a homer. The homer is to be the standard on which their volume measurement is to be based.

12 "The shekel is to weigh 20 gerahs. The mina is to be comprised of three coins weighing 20, 25, and fifteen shekels, respectively."

13 "Here are the standards for presenting offerings: a sixth of an ephah that is based on the standard homer of wheat, and a sixth of an ephah based on the standard homer of barley.

14 The olive oil quota is to be based on the bath, measured at ten baths to each homer, which is equal to one kor.

15 The sheep quota is to be one from each flock of 200 taken from the pastures of Israel. From all of these you are to present grain offerings, burnt offerings, and peace offerings, to make atonement for them," declares the Lord God.

16 "The entire nation living in the land is to present this offering to the Regent Prince in Israel.

17 The Regent Prince is to provide the burnt offerings, grain offerings, and drink offerings at the feasts, on the New Moons and Sabbaths, and at all of the prescribed feasts of the house of Israel. He is to provide the grain offerings, burnt offerings, and peace offerings in order to make atonement for the house of Israel."

18 "This is what the Lord God says, 'On the first day of the first month, you are to present a young bull without defect in order to cleanse the sanctuary.

19 The priest is to place some of the blood from the sin offering on the door posts of the Temple, on the four corners of the ledge around the altar, and on the posts of the gate leading to the inner court.

20 You are also to do this on the seventh day of the month, to make atonement for any person who wanders away or who sins through ignorance in order to make atonement for the Temple.

21 "'On the fourteenth day of the first month, you are to observe the Passover as a feast for seven days. Unleavened bread is to be eaten.

22 On that day, the Regent Prince is to provide, both for himself and for all the people who live in the land, a bull for a sin offering.

23 Each day during the seven days of the feast, he is to provide a burnt offering to the LORD, consisting of seven bulls and seven rams without defect, offered each day throughout the seven days, along with a male goat offered each day as a sin offering.

24 "'The Regent Prince is also to present a grain offering consisting of an ephah with each bull and an ephah with each ram, along with a hin of olive oil mixed with an ephah of grain.

25 "On the fifteenth day of the seventh month, during a seven day feast, the Regent Prince is to present these as daily sin offerings, burnt offerings, and grain offerings mixed with oil.

Ezekiel 46

1 "This is what the Lord God says: 'The inner, east-facing courtyard will remain shut during the six working days of the week, but on the Sabbath day it will be opened, as well as on the day of the New Moon.

2 "The Regent Prince will enter through the portico of the gate from outside and will stand at the doorframe of the gate where the priests will present the Regent Prince's burnt offerings and peace offerings. Then the Regent Prince will worship at the threshold of the gate and go out. The gate will not be closed until evening.

3 "The people who live in the land will worship at the doorway of the gate on the Sabbaths and New Moons in the LORD's presence.

4 "The burnt offering that the Regent Prince will present to the LORD on the Sabbath day will consist of six lambs without defect, a ram without defect,

5 a grain offering with the ram consisting of an ephah, a grain offering with the lambs consisting of whatever amount he brings with him, and a hin of oil with each ephah of grain.

6 "Furthermore, each New Moon there is to be a young bull presented without defect, six male lambs, and a ram without defect.

7 The Regent Prince will present an ephah of grain along with the bull, an ephah of grain along with the ram, a grain offering — consisting of as much as he is able to give — and a hin of olive oil with each ephah of grain.

8 "The Regent Prince will enter through the portico of the gate and will leave the same way he came in.

9 When the people who live in the land come into the LORD's presence during the feasts, whoever enters through the northern gate will leave through the southern gate, and whoever enters through the southern gate will leave through the northern gate. No one will leave by the same route that he enters, but instead will go straight out.

10 The Regent Prince will enter when they are coming in, and he will leave when they go out.

11 "The grain offering for the festivals and appointed feasts will include an ephah with a bull, an ephah with a ram, and as much grain with the lambs as the Regent Prince brings with him, along with a hin of oil with each ephah.

12 "Whenever the Regent Prince presents a voluntary offering, burnt offering, or peace offering, he will present it voluntarily to the LORD, and the east-facing gate is to be opened for him. He is to provide his burnt offering and peace offering as he does on the Sabbath. When he leaves, the gate is to be shut behind him.

13 "He is to present a one year old lamb without defect for a burnt offering to the LORD in the morning every day.

14 In addition, he is to present a grain offering with it every morning, consisting of a sixth of an ephah mixed with one third of a hin of oil. This grain offering is to be offered to the LORD as a permanent ordinance.

15 "They are to present the lamb offering, the grain offering, and the oil every morning as an ongoing burnt offering."

16 "This is what the Lord God says: 'If the Regent Prince gives a gift to someone, it is to remain with the man's descendants as their own inheritance.

17 But if he gives a gift to any of his servants, it is to belong to the servant until the Year of Release, at which time it is to be returned to the Regent Prince. His inheritance is to belong only to his sons.

18 The Regent Prince is not to appropriate the nation's inheritance nor take advantage of them by taking their property from them. Instead, he is to provide an inheritance for his sons from his own possessions so that my people will not be separated from their possessions."

19 Then the angel brought me in through an entrance beside the gate into the north-facing chambers dedicated to the priests. As I looked toward the rear of the far western end, I saw a place

20 about which he said, "This is where the priests will be boiling the guilt and sin offerings and baking the grain offerings so they don't bring them through the outer courtyard, thus diminishing the people's holiness."

21 Then he brought me out to the exterior courtyard and led me across to each of the four corners of the courtyard. There in each corner was an enclosed area set aside, 22 all of them the same size; that is, each was 40 cubits long and 30 cubits wide.

23 A low wall built of masonry surrounded each courtyard, with boiling places set in rows in the wall.

24 He told me, "This is where the ministers of the Temple will be preparing the sacrifices that will be presented by the people.

Ezekiel 47

1 After this, he brought me back to the doorway to the Temple. To my amazement, there was water flowing out toward the east from beneath the threshold of the Temple. (The Temple faced eastward). The water flowed down from beneath the right side of the Temple, that is, from the south-facing side where the altar was located.

2 Then he brought me out through the north gateway and around to the one outside that faces toward the east. To my amazement, water was trickling out from that part of the south side, too!

3 As the man went out toward the east, he carried a measuring line in his hand. He measured out 1,500 feet as he led me through water that was ankle-deep.

4 Then he measured out another 1,500 feet, where he led me through water that was knee-deep. And then he measured out another 1,500 feet, where the water was waist-deep.

5 When he had measured out another 1,500 feet, the water had become deep enough that I wasn't able to ford it. Instead, I would have had to swim through it.

6 Then, as he was bringing me back along the river bank, he asked me, "Son of Man, did you see all of this?"

7 As we were coming back, I was amazed to see that there were many, many trees lining both banks of the river.

8 He told me, "This river flows toward the eastern territories all the way down into the Arabah, and from there its water flows toward the Dead Sea, where the sea water turns fresh.

9 It will support all kinds of living creatures that will thrive abundantly wherever the river flows. There will be a great many fish, because this water will flow there and turn the salt water fresh. As a result, everything will live wherever the river flows.

10 "A day will come when fishermen will line its banks — from En-gedi to En-eglaim there will be plenty of room to spread out nets. There will be all sorts of species of fish, as abundant as the fish that live in the Mediterranean Sea. There will be lots of them!

11 "The river delta will consist of swamps and marshes that will remain a salt water wetland preserve.

12 Lining each side of the river banks, all sorts of species of fruit trees will be growing. Their leaves will never wither and their fruit will never fail. They will bear fruit every month, because the water that nourishes them will be flowing from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food and their leaves will contain substances that promote healing."

13 This is what the Lord God says: "This is to be the territorial border by which you apportion the land for an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel, with Joseph double-portioned.

14 Apportion it for their inheritances, distributing everything equally as if you were distributing things to your own brother, which is how I promised to give it to your ancestors. This way, the land will fall to you as an inheritance.

15 "This is to be the border for the land: on the north side, from the Mediterranean Sea by the Hethlon Road to the entrance of Zedad, 16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim (which lies between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath), and Hazer-hatticon, which is on the border of Hauran.

17 The border will proceed from the Mediterranean Sea to Hazer-enan (a border of Damascus), and on the north facing north will be the border of Hamath. This will be the north side.

18 "The eastern extremity will proceed from between Hauran and Damascus, then between Gilead, and then through the land of Israel — the Jordan River. You are to measure from the northern border to the Dead Sea. This will be the eastern perimeter.

19 "You will determine the southern extremity running from Tamar as far as the waters of Meribath-kadesh, then from there proceeding to the Wadi, and then to the Mediterranean Sea. This will be the southern perimeter.

20 "The western perimeter will be the Mediterranean Sea, from the southernmost border to a location opposite the entrance to Hamath. This will be the western perimeter.

1 John 3

1 See what kind of love the Father has given us: We are called God's children — and that is what we are! For this reason the world does not recognize us, because it did not recognize him, either.

2 Dear friends, we are now God's children, but what we will be like has not been revealed yet. We know that when the Messiah is revealed, we will be like him, because we will see him as he is.

3 And everyone who has this hope based on him keeps himself pure, just as the Messiah is pure.

4 Everyone who keeps living in sin also practises disobedience. In fact, sin is disobedience.

5 You know that the Messiah was revealed to take away sins, and there is not any sin in him.

6 No one who remains in union with him keeps on sinning. The one who keeps on sinning hasn't seen him or known him.

7 Little children, don't let anyone deceive you. The person who practises righteousness is righteous, just as the Messiah is righteous.

8 The person who practises sin belongs to the evil one, because the devil has been sinning from the beginning. The reason that the Son of God was revealed was to destroy what the devil has been doing.

9 No one who has been born from God practises sin, because God's seed abides in him. Indeed, he cannot go on sinning, because he has been born from God.

10 This is how God's children and the devil's children are distinguished. No person who fails to practise righteousness and to love his brother is from God.

11 This is the message that you have heard from the beginning: We should love one another.

12 Do not be like Cain, who was from the evil one and murdered his brother. And why did he murder him? Because what he was doing was evil and his brother's actions were righteous.

13 So do not be surprised, brothers, if the world hates you.

14 We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love one another. The person who does not love remains spiritually dead.

15 Everyone who hates his brother is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life present in him.

16 This is how we have come to know love: the Messiah gave his life for us. We, too, ought to give our lives for our brothers.

17 Whoever has earthly possessions and notices a brother in need and yet withholds his compassion from him, how can the love of God be present in him?

18 Little children, we must stop expressing love merely by our words and manner of speech; we must love also in action and in truth.

19 This is how we will know that we belong to the truth and how we will be able to keep ourselves strong in his presence.

20 If our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our hearts and knows everything.

21 Dear friends, if our hearts do not condemn us, we have confidence in the presence of God.

22 Whatever we request we receive from him, because we keep his commandments and do what pleases him.

23 And this is his commandment: to believe in the name of his Son, Jesus the Messiah, and to love one another as he commanded us.

24 The person who keeps his commandments abides in God, and God abides in him. This is how we can be sure that he remains in us: he has given us his Spirit.

Ezekiel 47

21 "You are to apportion this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel, dividing it by lottery among yourselves and among the foreigners who live among you and bear children among you. You are to treat them like native-born Israelis. Among you they, too, are to be allotted an inheritance with the tribes of Israel.

23 Furthermore, you are to provide the foreigner's inheritance there in the tribe within which he remains," declares the Lord God.

Ezekiel 48

1 "These are the names of the tribes from the northernmost extremity westward along the road from Hethlon to the entrance of Hamath, Hazar-enan (a border of Damascus) northward to the coast of Hamath. The perimeter is to run east-to-west; the tribe of Dan with one portion;

2 running along the border of the tribe of Dan from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Asher with one portion;

3 running along the border of the tribe of Asher from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Naphtali with one portion;

4 running along the border of the tribe of Naphtali from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Manasseh with one portion;

5 running along the border of the tribe of Manasseh from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Ephraim with one portion;

6 running along the border of the tribe of Ephraim from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Reuben with one portion;

7 and running along the border of the tribe of Reuben from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, the tribe of Judah with one portion."

8 "Running along the border of the tribe of Judah from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter you are to set apart the Terumah, 25,000 units wide, with its east-west length equal to one of the other apportionments, from the eastern perimeter to the western perimeter, with the Temple in the middle of it.

9 The Terumah that you are to give to the LORD is to be 25,000 units wide."

10 "The holy Terumah is to be reserved for these, the priests: Toward the north, 25,000 units in length; toward the west, 10,000 units in width; toward the east, 10,000 units in width; and toward the south, 25,000 units in length. The LORD's sanctuary is to be in its midst.

11 It is to be for use by priests from the descendants of Zadok, who have observed the things with which I charged them and who did not wander astray when the Israelis went astray, just as the descendants of Levi wandered astray.

12 It is to be a Terumah for them from the allotment of the land, a Most Holy Place, adjoining the border of the descendants of Levi."

13 "Alongside the border of the priests, the descendants of Levi are to be allotted 25,000 units in length and 10,000 units in width. The entire length is to be 25,000 units and its width 10,000 units.

14 Furthermore, they are not to sell or exchange any part of it, nor transfer these first-fruits of the land, because it is holy to the LORD.

15 "The rest, 5,000 units wide and 25,000 units along its front, will serve as a common portion for use by the city for housing and open spaces, since the city is to be in its midst.

16 These are to be its dimensions: the north side, 4,500 units; the south side, 4,500 units; the east side, 4,500 units; and the west side 4,500 units.

17 The city is to have urban areas set aside: on the north 250 units; on the south, 250 units; on the east, 250 units; and on the west, 250 units.

18 "The remainder of the length that borders the holy Terumah is to be 10,000 units long eastward and 10,000 units westward. It is to lie adjacent to the holy Terumah. Its harvest will produce food for those who work in the city.

19 The city workers who cultivate it are to come from all the tribes of Israel.

20 The entire Terumah is to be 25,000 units by 25,000 units — you are to reserve it as a holy Terumah in the form of a square within the city limits."

21 "Now the remainder of the allotment on either side of the holy Terumah will be for the Regent Prince and for city property — adjoining the 25,000 units along the eastern border and adjoining the 25,000 units along the western border, and parallel to the allotments. These are to be for the Regent Prince. The holy Terumah and the sanctuary of the Temple is to stand in the middle of it.

22 Except for what belongs to the descendants of Levi and the city property, which will stand in the middle of what belongs to the Regent Prince, whatever is between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin is to belong to the Regent Prince."

23 "Now as to the rest of the tribes: from the east side to the west side, Benjamin will retain one portion.

24 Adjacent to the border of Benjamin running from east to west, Simeon will retain one portion.

25 Adjacent to the border of Simeon running from east to west, Issachar will retain one portion.

26 Adjacent to the border of Issachar running from east to west, Zebulun will retain one portion.

27 Adjacent to the border of Zebulun running from east to west, Gad will retain one portion.

28 Adjacent to the border of Gad to the south and extending toward the south, the border will proceed from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, then to the Wadi of Egypt, and from there to the Mediterranean Sea.

29 "This is the land that you are to allocate by lottery to the tribes of Israel as their inheritance, and these are their respective divisions," declares the Lord God.

30 "These are the exits to the city: On the north side, 4,500 units by measurement,

31 will be the gates of the city. Named after the tribes of Israel, three gates are to serve the north site: one named the Reuben Gate, one named the Judah Gate, and one named the Levi Gate.

32 On the east side, 4,500 units by measurement, there are to be three gates: one named the Joseph Gate, one named the Benjamin Gate, and one named the Dan Gate.

33 On the south side, 4,500 units by measurement, there are to be three gates: one named the Simeon Gate, one named the Issachar Gate, and one named the Zebulun Gate.

34 On the west side, 4,500 units by measurement, there are to be three gates: one named the Gad Gate, one named the Asher Gate, and one named the Naphtali Gate.

35 A perimeter is to measure 18,000 units, and the name of the city from that time on is to be: THE LORD IS THERE."

Daniel 1

- 1 In the third year of the reign of King Jehoiakim of Judah, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came to Jerusalem and laid siege to it.
- 2 Within a week, the Lord handed King Jehoiakim of Judah over to him, along with valuable objects from the house of God. Nebuchadnezzar brought them to the temple of his god in the land of Shinar and stored them in its treasure house.
- 3 The king ordered Ashpenaz, his chief officer, to bring in some Israelis of royal and noble descent.
- 4 They were to be young men without physical defect, handsome in appearance, skilled in all wisdom, quick to learn, prudent in how they used knowledge, and capable of serving in the king's palace. They were to learn the literature and language of the Chaldeans.
- 5 The king assigned them fine food and choice wine on a daily basis, ordering them to be trained for three years, at the end of which time they would enter the king's service.
- 6 Included among the people of Judah were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.
- 7 The chief officer assigned the name "Belteshazzar" to Daniel, the name "Shadrach" to Hananiah, the name "Meshach" to Mishael, and the name "Abednego" to Azariah.
- 8 Daniel determined within himself not to become defiled by the king's menu of rich foods or by the king's wine, so he requested permission from the chief officer not to defile himself.
- 9 God granted to Daniel grace and compassion on the part of the chief officer.
- 10 The chief officer told Daniel, "I fear his majesty the king, who has determined what you eat and drink. If he notices that your faces are more pale than the other young men in your group, I will forfeit my head to the king."
- 11 But Daniel told the guard whom the chief officer had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,
- 12 "Please test your servants for ten days and let us be given vegetables to eat and water to drink.
- 13 Then compare how we look with the young men who ate the king's rich food, and treat your servants in accordance with what you observe."
- 14 So he listened to what Daniel said and tested them for ten days.
- 15 At the end of ten days their appearance was better and their faces were well-nourished compared to the young men who ate the king's rich food.
- 16 So the guard took away their rich food and wine, giving them vegetables.
- 17 As for these four young men, God gave them knowledge, aptitude for learning, and wisdom. Daniel also could understand all kinds of visions and dreams.
- 18 Then at the end of the training period that the king had established, the chief officer brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.
- 19 When the king spoke to them, none of them compared to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, or Azariah as they stood before the king.
- 20 In every matter of wisdom or understanding that the king discussed with them, he found them ten times superior to all the astrologers and enchanterers in his entire palace.
- 21 So Daniel remained there in service until the first year of King Cyrus.

1 John 4

1 Dear friends, stop believing every spirit. Instead, test the spirits to see whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world.

2 This is how you can recognize God's Spirit: Every spirit who acknowledges that Jesus the Messiah has become human — and remains so — is from God.

3 But every spirit who does not acknowledge Jesus is not from God. This is the spirit of the antichrist. You have heard that he is coming, and now he is already in the world.

4 Little children, you belong to God and have overcome them, because the one who is in you is greater than the one who is in the world.

5 These people belong to the world. That is why they speak from the world's perspective, and the world listens to them.

6 We belong to God. The person who knows God listens to us. Whoever does not belong to God does not listen to us. This is how we know the Spirit of truth and the spirit of deceit.

7 Dear friends, let us continually love one another, because love comes from God. Everyone who loves has been born from God and knows God.

8 The person who does not love does not know God, because God is love.

9 This is how God's love was revealed among us: God sent his unique Son into the world so that we might live through him.

10 This is love: not that we have loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the atoning sacrifice for our sins.

11 Dear friends, if this is the way God loved us, we must also love one another.

12 No one has ever seen God. If we love one another, God lives in us, and his love is perfected in us.

13 This is how we know that we abide in him and he in us: he has given us his Spirit.

14 We have seen for ourselves and can testify that the Father has sent his Son to be the Saviour of the world.

15 God abides in the one who acknowledges that Jesus is the Son of God, and he abides in God.

16 We have come to know and rely on the love that God has for us. God is love, and the person who abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him.

17 This is how love has been perfected among us: we will have confidence on the day of judgement because, during our time in this world, we are just like him.

18 There is no fear where love exists. Rather, perfect love banishes fear, for fear involves punishment, and the person who lives in fear has not been perfected in love.

19 We love because God first loved us.

20 Whoever says, "I love God," but hates his brother is a liar. The one who does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love the God whom he has not seen.

21 And this is the commandment that we have from him: the person who loves God must also love his brother.

Daniel 2

1 Now during the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams that troubled him. As a result, he couldn't sleep.

2 So the king gave orders to summon the diviners, the enchanters, sorcerers, and Chaldeans to reveal to the king what he had dreamed. When they came and stood before him,

3 the king told them, "I have dreamed a dream and I will remain troubled until I can understand it."

4 The Chaldeans responded to the king in Aramaic: "May the king live forever. Tell the dream to your servants, and we'll reveal its meaning."

5 In reply the king told the Chaldeans, "Here is what I have commanded: If you don't tell me both the dream and its meaning, you'll be destroyed and your houses will be reduced to rubble.

6 But if you do relate the dream to me as well as its meaning, you'll receive gifts, rewards, and great honour from me. Therefore reveal the dream to me, along with its meaning."

7 They replied again, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we'll disclose its meaning."

8 The king responded, "I'm convinced that you're stalling for time because you're aware of what I've commanded.

9 So if you don't disclose the dream to me, there will be only one sentence for all of you. You have conspired together to present lies and corrupt interpretations until the situation changes. Now tell me the dream and I'll know that you can reveal its true meaning."

10 The Chaldeans answered the king directly, "There's not a single man on earth who can do what the king has commanded. No king, lord, or ruler has ever asked such a thing from any diviner, enchanter, or Chaldean.

11 Furthermore, what the king is asking is so difficult that no one can reveal it except the gods — and they don't live with human beings."

12 At this point, the king flew into a rage and issued an order to destroy all the advisors of Babylon.

13 When the order went out to kill the advisors, they searched for Daniel and his friends to kill them, too.

14 Daniel responded with wisdom and discretion to Arioch, the king's executioner, who had gone out to execute the advisors of Babylon.

15 He asked him, "Why such a harsh decree from the king?" Then Arioch informed Daniel,

16 so Daniel went to ask Nebuchadnezzar for an appointment to see him, and it was granted him so that he could reveal the meaning to the king.

17 Then Daniel went home and told his friends Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah about the king's command.

18 Daniel was seeking mercy, in order to ask about this mystery in the presence of the God of heaven, so that Daniel and his friends might not be executed along with the rest of the advisors of Babylon.

19 When the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision later that night, Daniel blessed the God of heaven

20 and said, "May the name of God be blessed forever and ever; wisdom and power are his for evermore.

21 It is God who alters the times and seasons, and he removes kings and promotes kings. He gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to the discerning.

22 He reveals what is profoundly mysterious and knows what is in the darkness; with him dwells light.

23 To you, God of my ancestors, I give thanks and praise, because you have given me wisdom and power; you have now revealed to me what we asked of you by making known to us what the king commanded."

24 After this, Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to execute the advisors of Babylon. He told him, "Don't destroy the advisors of Babylon. Bring me before the king and I'll explain the meaning to him."

25 Then Arioch quickly brought Daniel into the king's presence and informed him: "I've found a man from the Judean captives who will make known the meaning to the king."

26 King Nebuchadnezzar replied by saying to Daniel (whose Babylonian name is Belteshazzar), "Are you able to tell me about the dream and its meaning?"

27 By way of answer, Daniel addressed the king: "None of the advisors, enchanters, diviners, or astrologers can explain the secret that the king has requested to be made known.

28 But there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and he is making known to King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in the latter days. "While you were in bed, the dream and the visions that came to your head were as follows:

29 Your majesty, when you were in bed, thoughts came to your mind about what would happen in the future, and the Revealer of Secrets has made known to you what will take place.

30 As for me, this secret was made known to me, not because my own wisdom is greater than anyone else alive, but in order that the meaning may be made known to the king, and that you might understand the thoughts of your heart.

31 "Your majesty, while you were watching, you observed an enormous statue. This magnificent statue stood before you with extraordinary brilliance. Its appearance was terrifying.

32 That statue had a head made of pure gold, with its chest and arms made of silver, its abdomen and thighs made of bronze,

33 its legs made of iron, and its feet made partly of iron and partly of clay.

34 "As you were watching, a rock was quarried — but not with human hands — and it struck the iron and clay feet of the statue, breaking them to pieces.

35 Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold were broken in pieces together and became like chaff from a summer threshing floor that the breeze carries away without leaving a trace. Then the rock that struck the statue grew into a huge mountain and filled the entire earth.

36 "This was the dream, and we'll now relate its meaning to the king.

37 You, your majesty, king of kings — to whom the God of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, the strength, and the glory,

38 so that wherever people, wild animals, or birds of the sky live, he has placed them under your control, giving you dominion over them all — you're that head of gold.

39 "After you, another kingdom will arise that is inferior to yours, and then a third kingdom of bronze will arise to rule all the earth.

40 Then there will be a fourth kingdom, as strong as iron. Just as all things are broken to pieces and shattered by iron, so it will shatter and crush everything.

41 "The feet and toes that you saw, made partly of potter's clay and partly of iron, represent a divided kingdom. It will still have the strength of iron, in that you saw iron mixed with clay.

42 Just as their toes and feet are part iron and part clay, so will the kingdom be both strong and brittle.

43 Just as you saw iron mixed with clay, so they will mix themselves with human offspring. Furthermore, they won't remain together, just as iron doesn't mix with clay.

44 "During the reigns of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor its sovereignty left in the hands of another people. It will shatter and crush all of these kingdoms, and it will stand forever.

45 Now, just as you saw that the stone was cut out of the mountain without human hands — and that it crushed the iron, bronze, clay, silver, and gold to pieces — so also the great God has revealed to the king what will take place after this. Your dream will come true, and its meaning will prove trustworthy.

46 Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face before Daniel, paid honour to him, and commanded that an offering and incense be presented on his behalf.

47 The king told Daniel, "Truly your God is the God of gods, the Lord of kings, and the Revealer of Secrets, because you were able to reveal this mystery."

48 Then the king promoted Daniel to a high position and lavished many great gifts on him, including making him ruler over the entire province of Babylon and chief administrator over the advisors of Babylon.

49 Moreover, Daniel requested that the king appoint Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego administrators over the province of Babylon, while Daniel himself remained in the royal court.

Daniel 3

1 Some time later, king Nebuchadnezzar built a golden statue, making it ninety feet high and nine feet wide. He set it up in the Dura Valley within the province of Babylon.

2 Then King Nebuchadnezzar summoned the regional authorities, governors, deputy governors, advisors, treasurers, judges, magistrates, and all of the other administrators of the provinces, ordering them to come to the dedication of the statue that he had erected.

3 So the regional authorities, governors, deputy governors, advisors, treasurers, judges, magistrates, and all of the other administrators of the provinces assembled to dedicate the statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had erected. They took their places in front of the statue that he had erected.

4 Then a herald proclaimed aloud: "People of all nations, and languages are commanded:

5 Whenever you hear the sound of the trumpet, the flute, the lyre, the four-stringed lyre, and the harp, playing together along with various instruments, you are to fall down and worship the golden statue that was set up by King Nebuchadnezzar.

6 Anyone who does not fall down and worship is immediately to be thrown into the blazing fire furnace."

7 Therefore, when all of the people "heard the sound of the trumpet, the flute, the lyre, the four-stringed lyre, and the harp, playing together along with various other instruments," all the "people, nations, and languages" began to fall down and worship the golden statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

8 Just then, certain influential Chaldeans took this opportunity to come forward and denounce the Jews.

9 They told King Nebuchadnezzar, "Your majesty, live forever.

10 You, your majesty, issued this decree: 'Every man who hears the sound of the trumpet, the flute, the lyre, the four-stringed lyre, and the harp, playing together along with various other instruments is to fall down and worship the golden statue.

11 Whoever does not fall down and worship is to be thrown into a blazing fire furnace.'

12 "Certain influential Jewish men whom you appointed to manage the city of Babylon — Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego — have neither paid attention to you, your majesty, nor served your gods. And they won't worship the golden statue that you set up."

13 Nebuchadnezzar flew into a rage and furiously ordered that Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego be brought before him.

14 Nebuchadnezzar asked them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, that you don't worship my gods and that you don't worship the golden statue that has been set up?

15 Now, if you are ready at this very moment to obey 'the sound of the trumpet, the flute, the lyre, the four-stringed lyre, and the harp,' and worship the image that I have made. . . If you do not so worship, you will immediately have cast yourselves into the middle of the blazing fire, and what god is there who can deliver you from my power?"

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered King Nebuchadnezzar, "It's not necessary for us to respond in this matter.

17 Your majesty, if it be his will, our God whom we serve can deliver us from the blazing fire furnace, and he will deliver us from you.

18 But if not, rest assured, your majesty, that we won't serve your gods, and we won't worship the golden statue that you have set up."

1 John 5

1 Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Messiah has been born from God, and everyone who loves the parent also loves the child.

2 This is how we know that we love God's children: we love God and keep his commandments.

3 For this demonstrates our love for God: We keep his commandments, and his commandments are not difficult,

4 because everyone who is born from God has overcome the world. Our faith is the victory that overcomes the world.

5 Who overcomes the world? Is it not the person who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 This man, Jesus the Messiah, is the one who came by water and blood — not with water only, but with water and with blood. The Spirit is the one who verifies this, because the Spirit is the truth.

7 For there are three witnesses —

8 the Spirit, the water, and the blood — and these three are one.

9 If we accept human testimony, God's testimony is greater, because it is the testimony of God and because he has testified about his Son.

10 The person who believes in the Son of God believes this testimony personally. The person who does not believe God has made him a liar by not believing the testimony that he has given about his Son.

11 This is the testimony: God has given us eternal life, and this life is found in his Son.

12 The person who has the Son has this life. The person who does not have the Son of God does not have this life.

13 I have written these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God so that you may know that you have eternal life.

14 And this is the confidence that we have in him: if we ask for anything according to his will, he listens to us.

15 And if we know that he listens to our requests, we can be sure that we have what we ask him for.

16 If anyone sees his brother committing a sin that does not lead to death, he should pray that God would give him life. This applies to those who commit sins that do not lead to death. There is a sin that leads to death. I am not telling you to pray about that.

17 Every kind of wrongdoing is sin, yet there are sins that do not lead to death.

18 We know that the person who has been born from God does not go on sinning. Rather, the Son of God protects them, and the evil one cannot harm them.

19 We know that we are from God and that the whole world lies under the control of the evil one.

20 We also know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding so that we may know the true God. We are in union with the one who is true, his Son Jesus the Messiah, who is the true God and eternal life.

21 Little children, keep yourselves away from idols.

Daniel 3

19 Out of control with rage, Nebuchadnezzar's facial expression changed toward Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and he ordered that the furnace be heated seven times hotter than usual.

20 Then he issued orders to his elite guard to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego with ropes and throw them into the blazing fire furnace.

21 So the elite guard tied them up fully clothed, still wearing their robes, tunics, and turbans, and threw them into the blazing fire furnace,

22 because the king's command was so drastic. Since the furnace was blazing hot, its flames killed those who threw Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego into the blazing fire.

23 Bound firmly with ropes, these three men Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell into the blazing fire furnace.

24 Astonished, King Nebuchadnezzar stood up in terror, and asked his advisers, "Didn't we throw three men into the fire, bound firmly with ropes?" In reply they told the king, "Yes, your majesty."

25 "Look!" he told them, "I see four men walking untied and unharmed in the middle of the fire, and the appearance of the fourth resembles a divine being."

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar approached the opening of the blazing fire furnace. He shouted out, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come out and come here!" So Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came out of the fire.

27 The regional authorities, viceroys, governors, and royal advisors gazed at those men and saw that the fire had no effect on their bodies — not a hair on their head was singed, their clothes were not burned, and they did not smell of fire.

28 Nebuchadnezzar spoke up and announced: 'Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego! He sent his angel to deliver his servants who trusted in him. They disobeyed the king's command and were willing to risk their lives in order not to serve or worship any god except their own God.'

29 So I decree that people from any nation or language who say anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego will be destroyed and their house reduced to rubble, because there is no other god who can save like this.'

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego within the province of Babylon.

Daniel 4

1 AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM NEBUCHADNEZZAR THE KING

To the people of all nations and languages who live on earth.

Peace and prosperity to you!

2 It gives me great pleasure to tell about the signs and wonders that the Most High God has done for me.

3 How great are his signs! How powerful are his wonders! His kingdom is an eternal kingdom, and his dominion lasts from generation to generation.

4 I, Nebuchadnezzar, was resting in my home and prospering in my palace.

5 I had a dream that made me afraid. The thoughts that went through my mind while in bed and the visions in my head terrified me.

6 So I gave an order to bring in all of the advisors of Babylon so they would tell me the interpretation of the dream.

7 Then the diviners, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers came in, and I told them the dream. But they could not reveal its interpretation to me.

8 Eventually, Daniel appeared before me. (He is called Belteshazzar, in accordance with the name of my god, and the spirit of the holy gods is within him). I told him my dream:
9 "Belteshazzar, chief of the diviners, since I know that the spirit of the holy gods is within you, and no mystery too difficult for you, explain to me the vision of my dream that I saw, along with its interpretation.

10 This is what I saw in the visions of my head while I was in bed: I was looking and — listen carefully! — I saw a tree in the middle of the earth, the height of which was very great.

11 The tree grew large, became strong, and its top reached the sky. It could be seen to the ends of the earth.

12 Its foliage was beautiful, its fruit bountiful, and its food sufficient for everyone. The animals of the field found shade under it, the birds of the sky lived in its branches, and every creature was fed from it.

13 "Then I saw in the visions of my head while I was in bed — and take careful notice! — I saw a holy observer descend from heaven.

14 He called out aloud: 'Cut down the tree and cut off its branches. Strip off its foliage and scatter its fruit. Let the animals get out from under it, and let the birds leave its branches.

15 Nevertheless, leave the stump and its roots in the ground, but bind it with iron and bronze in the field grass. Let him be drenched with dew from the sky, and let him graze with the animals in the grass of the earth.

16 Let his mind be changed from that of a man, and let him be given the mind of an animal until seven seasons of time pass by for him.

17 This order is announced by the observers, and the holy ones declare the verdict, so that the living may know that the Most High is sovereign over human kingdoms and grants them to whomever he desires, and he places the least important of men over them.'

18 "This is the dream that I, King Nebuchadnezzar, saw. Belteshazzar, tell me its meaning, since none of the advisors in my kingdom can tell me its interpretation. But you are able to do so because the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

19 Then Daniel (also known as Belteshazzar) was greatly troubled for a while and was terrified by his thoughts. The king said, "Belteshazzar, don't let the dream or its meaning terrify you." Belteshazzar responded, "Your majesty, if only the dream were about your enemies and its meaning about those who oppose you!

20 The tree that you saw, which grew large and strong until its top reached the sky and became visible to the whole earth

21 with beautiful leaves and abundant fruit — enough food for everyone — and under which wild animals of the field found shelter and the birds of the air had nests in its branches —

22 it's you, your majesty! You've become great and strong, your greatness has grown to the heavens, and your dominion reaches to the distant parts of the earth.

23 "Your majesty saw a holy observer descending from heaven and saying, 'Cut down the tree and destroy it, but leave the stump in the ground, along with its roots, bound with iron and bronze in the field grass. Let him be soaked with the dew of the sky and live with the wild animals of the field until seven seasons pass over him.'

24 "This is the meaning, your majesty, and this is the decree that the Most High has issued against his majesty, the king:

25 You'll be driven from people, and you'll live among wild animals of the field. You'll eat grass like cattle and be soaked with the dew of the sky while seven years pass you by — until you realize that the Most High is sovereign over human kingdoms and grants them to whomever he desires.

26 Just as it was ordered for you to leave the stump of the tree in the ground along with its roots, so your kingdom will be restored to you when you realize that Heaven rules over everything.

27 Therefore, your majesty, may my advice be acceptable to you: Stop your sinning, do what's right, and put a stop to your wickedness by showing kindness to the oppressed. Perhaps your tranquillity will continue."

28 All of this happened to King Nebuchadnezzar.

29 About a year later, as the king was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon, 30 he commented to himself, "Isn't Babylon great? I've built a royal palace in it by my own might and power, for the sake of my majesty."

31 As the words were being spoken by the king, a voice came forth from heaven: "King Nebuchadnezzar, this is declared to you: 'The kingdom has been taken from you!

32 You're to be driven away from people. You're to live with the wild animals of the field. You are to be made to eat grass like cattle, and seven years will pass you by until you realize that the Most High is sovereign over human kingdoms and grants them to whomever he desires.'

33 The decree was fulfilled against Nebuchadnezzar immediately. He was driven away from people to eat grass like cattle, and his body was drenched with dew from the sky, until his hair grew like eagles' feathers and his nails like birds' claws."

34 "When that period of time was over, I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven and my sanity returned to me. I blessed the Most High, praising and honouring the one who lives forever: For his sovereignty is eternal, and his kingdom continues from generation to generation.

35 All who live on the earth are nothing compared to him. He does what he wishes with the heavenly armies and with those who live on earth. No one can hold back his power or say to him, 'What did you do?'

36 At that moment I recovered my sanity, and my honour and majesty returned to me, for the sake of my kingdom. My advisors and officials sought me out, my throne was restored, and even more greatness than I had before was added to me.

37 "In conclusion, I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise, exalt, and give glory to the King of heaven: For everything he does is true, his ways are just, and he is able to humble those who walk in pride."

Daniel 5

1 King Belshazzar put on a great feast for a thousand of his officials. He joined all one thousand of them in getting drunk.

2 Under the influence of wine, Belshazzar ordered that the gold and silver vessels his grandfather Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the Temple in Jerusalem be brought in so the king, his officials, his wives, and his mistresses could drink from them.

3 As ordered, they brought in the gold vessels that had been taken from the sanctuary of God's Temple in Jerusalem, and the king, his officials, his wives, and mistresses drank from them.

4 As they drank the wine, they praised gods of gold, silver, bronze, iron, wood, and stone.

5 At that moment, humanlike fingers of a hand appeared near the lamp stand of the royal palace and wrote on the plaster of the wall.

6 While the king watched the back of the hand as it was writing, his facial expression changed. Utterly frightened, he lost control of his own bowels and his knees knocked together.

7 The king cried out to bring in the enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers. He announced to the advisors of Babylon, "Whoever can read this writing and tell me its meaning will be clothed in purple, have a gold chain placed around his neck, and will become the third highest ruler in the kingdom."

8 Then all the king's advisors came in, but they were unable to read the writing or tell the king what it meant.

9 So King Belshazzar became even more frightened, and his facial expression showed it. His officials also were thrown into confusion.

10 Hearing the voices of the king and his officials, the queen entered the banquet hall. "Your majesty, live forever," the queen said. "Don't be frightened by your thoughts or allow your facial expression to show it.

11 There's a man in your kingdom in whom dwells the spirit of the holy gods. During your grandfather's reign, he was found to have insight, intelligence, and wisdom, like that of the gods. Your grandfather, King Nebuchadnezzar — your kingly predecessor — appointed him to be chief administrator over the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers,

12 because he was found to have an extraordinary spirit, knowledge, and understanding, along with an ability to interpret dreams, explain riddles, and solve difficult problems. His name is Daniel, whom the king renamed Belteshazzar. Call for Daniel, and he will reveal the meaning of the writing."

2 John

- 1 From: The Elder,
To: The chosen lady and her children, whom I genuinely love, and not only I but also all who know the truth,
- 2 that is present in us and will be with us forever.
- 3 Grace, mercy, and peace will be with us from God the Father and from Jesus the Messiah, the Father's Son, in truth and love.
- 4 I was overjoyed to find some of your children living truthfully, just as the Father has commanded us.
- 5 Dear lady, I am now requesting of you that we all continue to love one another. It is not as though I am writing to give you a new commandment, but one that we have had from the beginning.
- 6 And this is what demonstrates love: that we live according to God's commandments.
Just as you have heard from the beginning what he commanded, you must live by it.
- 7 For many deceivers have gone out into the world. They refuse to acknowledge Jesus the Messiah as having become human. Any such person is a deceiver and an antichrist.
- 8 See to it that you don't destroy what we have worked for, but that you receive your full reward.
- 9 Everyone who does not remain true to the teaching of the Messiah, but goes beyond it, does not have God. The person who remains true to the teaching of the Messiah has both the Father and the Son.
- 10 If anyone comes to you but does not present his teachings, do not receive him into your house or even welcome him,
- 11 because the one who welcomes him shares in his evil deeds.
- 12 Although I have a great deal to write to you, I would prefer not to use paper and ink.
Instead, I hope to come to you and talk face to face, so that our joy may be complete.
- 13 The children of your chosen sister greet you.

3 John

1 From: The Elder,

To: My dear friend Gaius, whom I genuinely love.

2 Dear friend, I pray that you are doing well in every way and that you are healthy, just as your soul is healthy.

3 I was overjoyed when some brothers arrived and testified about your truthfulness and how you live according to the truth.

4 I have no greater joy than to hear that my children are living according to the truth.

5 Dear friend, you are faithful in whatever you do for the brothers, especially when they are strangers.

6 They have testified before the church about your love. You will do well to send them on their way in a manner worthy of God.

7 After all, they went on their trip for the sake of the Name, accepting no support from gentiles.

8 Therefore, we ought to support such people so that we can become genuine helpers with them.

9 I wrote a letter to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to be in charge, will not recognize our authority.

10 For this reason, when I come I will call attention to what he is doing in spreading false charges against us. And not content with that, he refuses to receive the brothers. He even tries to stop those who want to accept them and throws them out of the church.

11 Dear friend, do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. The person who does what is good is from God. The person who does what is evil has never seen God.

12 Demetrius has received a good report from everyone, including the truth itself. We, too, can testify to this report, and you know that our testimony is true.

13 Although I have a great deal to write to you, I would rather not write with pen and ink.

14 Instead, I hope to see you soon and speak face to face. May peace be with you! Your friends greet you. Greet each of our friends by name.

Daniel 5

13 Then Daniel was brought before the king. The king spoke up and told Daniel, "So you are Daniel, one of the Judean exiles whom my grandfather the king brought from Judah!

14 I've heard about you, that a spirit of the gods is in you and that you have insight, discernment, and extraordinary wisdom.

15 Take note that the advisors and enchanters were brought before me to read the writing and explain its meaning, but they were unable to do so.

16 However, I've heard that you can provide meaning and interpretation, and that you can solve difficult problems. If you are able to read the writing and report its meaning, you will be clothed in purple, have a gold chain placed around your neck, and you will become the third highest ruler in the kingdom."

17 At this, Daniel answered, speaking directly to the king, "Let your gifts and rewards be given to someone else. However, I'll read the writing for the king and tell him its meaning.

18 Your majesty, the Most High God gave your grandfather Nebuchadnezzar sovereignty, as well as greatness, glory, and splendour.

19 And because of the greatness that he gave him, all peoples, nations, and languages revered and feared him. He executed those whom he desired to execute, he spared those whom he wished to spare, he promoted those whom he desired to promote, and he humbled those whom he wished to humble.

20 But when he became arrogant and his spirit hardened, he was removed from his royal throne and his glory was taken away from him.

21 He was driven away from human society and given the mind of an animal. He lived with wild donkeys, ate grass like cattle, and his body was soaked with dew from the sky until he realized that the Most High God is sovereign over human kingdoms and places over them whomever he desires.

22 "But you, Belshazzar, his grandson, haven't humbled yourself, even though you knew all of this.

23 "You've exalted yourself against the Lord of heaven. "You've had the vessels from his Temple brought into your presence. "And you, your officials, and your wives and mistresses drank wine from them. "You praised gods of silver, gold, bronze, iron, wood, and stone, which can't see, hear, or demonstrate knowledge. "But you didn't honour God, who holds in his power your very life and all your ways.

24 "Therefore, the hand that wrote this inscription was sent from his presence.

25 This is the written inscription: MENE, MENE, TEKEL and PARSIN

26 These are the meanings of the words:

MENE: God has audited your kingdom — and has ended it.

27 TEKEL: You've been weighed on the scales — and you don't measure up.

28 PERES: Your kingdom has been divided — and will be given to the Medes and Persians."

29 Then Belshazzar gave orders to clothe Daniel in purple, to place a chain of gold around his neck, and to proclaim him the third highest ruler of the kingdom.

30 That night Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, was killed,

31 and Darius the Mede took over the kingdom at the age of 62.

Daniel 6

1 It pleased Darius to appoint 120 regional authorities over the kingdom throughout the realm,

2 along with three chief administrators from them, one of which was Daniel. The regional authorities reported to these three administrators, so that the king would experience no losses.

3 Daniel distinguished himself among all the administrators and regional authorities, because he was of an extraordinary spirit. Therefore the king planned to appoint him over the whole kingdom.

4 Because of this, the administrators and regional authorities tried to bring allegations of dereliction of duty in government affairs against Daniel, but they were unable to find any charges of corruption. Daniel was trustworthy, and no evidence of negligence or corruption could be found against him.

5 So these men said, "We'll never find any basis for complaint against Daniel unless we build it on the requirements of his God."

6 Then these administrators and regional authorities went as a group to the king and said this, "Your majesty, live forever!

7 All of the royal administrators, prefects, regional authorities, scribes, and governors have concluded that the king should establish and enforce an edict that anyone who prays to any god or man for the next 30 days (except to you, your majesty) is to be thrown into the lions' pit.

8 Therefore, your majesty, establish the decree and sign the written document so it can't be changed, in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians that can't be repealed."

9 So King Darius signed the edict contained in the written document.

10 When Daniel learned that the written document had been signed, he went to an upstairs room in his house that had windows opened facing Jerusalem. Three times a day he would kneel down, pray, and give thanks to his God, just as he had previously done.

11 The conspirators then went as a group and found Daniel praying and seeking help before his God.

12 So they approached the king and asked, "Didn't you sign an edict that for the next 30 days if anyone prays to any god or man, except to you, your majesty, he would be thrown into the lions' pit?" The king responded, "The decree has been established, in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians that can't be repealed."

13 Then they told the king, "Daniel, who is one of the Judean exiles, pays no attention to you, your majesty, or to the written decree, since he is still praying three times a day."

14 When the king heard this, he was greatly upset, because he was determined to make every effort to save Daniel before the sun set.

15 But the men who had gone as a group to the king told him, "Remember, your majesty, that according to the laws of the Medes and Persians, any decree or edict that the king establishes cannot be repealed."

16 At this point, the king ordered Daniel brought in and thrown into the lions' pit. The king spoke to Daniel, "Your God, whom you serve constantly, will deliver you himself."

17 A stone was brought and placed over the opening to the pit, and the king affixed a seal to it with his personal signet ring and with the signet rings of his officials so that no one would interfere with Daniel's situation.

18 Then the king retired to his palace to spend the night fasting. He enjoyed no entertainment, and he couldn't sleep.

19 The king got up at dawn and went quickly to the lions' pit.

20 As he approached where Daniel was in the pit, he cried out to him in a voice filled with anguish, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve constantly, been able to deliver you from the lions?"

21 Daniel replied to the king, "May your majesty live forever!

22 My God sent his angel and sealed the mouths of the lions. They have not harmed me, proving that I'm innocent before him. Also against you, your majesty, I've committed no offence."

23 The king was ecstatic, so he gave orders for Daniel to be released from the pit. Daniel was taken up from the pit, and no injury was found to have been inflicted on him, because he had believed in his God.

24 Then the king gave orders to bring those men who had tried to have Daniel devoured, and they threw them, their children, and their wives into the lions' pit. They had not reached the floor of the pit before the lions had overtaken them and crushed all their bones.

25 Afterward, King Darius wrote to all peoples, nations, and languages who lived throughout his realm: "May great prosperity be yours!

26 "I hereby decree that in every area of my kingdom men are to fear and tremble before the God of Daniel. For he is the living God, who endures forever. His kingdom is one that will not be destroyed, and his dominion continues forever.

27 He delivers and rescues and performs signs and wonders in heaven and on earth. He has delivered Daniel from the power of the lions."

28 Daniel achieved success during the reigns of Darius and Cyrus the Persian.

Daniel 7

1 In the first year of the reign of King Belshazzar of Babylon, Daniel dreamed a dream, receiving visions in his mind while in bed, after which he recorded the dream, relating this summary of events.

2 Daniel said, "I observed the vision during the night. Look! The four winds of the skies were stirring up the Mediterranean Sea.

3 Four magnificent animals were rising from the sea, each different from the other.

4 The first resembled a lion, but it had eagles' wings. I continued to watch until its wings were plucked off, it was lifted up off the ground, and it was forced to stand on two feet like a man. A human soul was imparted to it.

5 "Then look! — a second animal resembling a bear followed it. It was raised up on one side, with three ribs held between the teeth in its mouth. Therefore people kept telling it, 'Get up and devour lots of meat!'

6 "After this I continued to watch — and look! — there was another one, resembling a leopard with four birds' wings on its back. The animal also had four heads, and authority was imparted to it.

7 "After this, I continued to observe the night visions. And look! — there was a fourth awe-inspiring, terrifying, and viciously strong animal! It had large, iron teeth. It devoured and crushed things, and trampled under its feet whatever remained. Different from all of the other previous animals, it had ten horns.

8 "While I was thinking about the horns — look — another horn, this time a little one, grew up among them. Three of the first horns were yanked up by their roots right in front of it. Look! It had eyes like those of a human being and a mouth that boasted with audacious claims."

9 "I kept on watching until the Ancient of Days was seated. His clothes were white, like snow, and the hair on his head was like pure wool. His throne burned with flaming fire, and its wheels burned with fire.

10 A river of fire flowed out from before him. Thousands upon thousands were serving him, with millions upon millions waiting before him. The court sat in judgement, and record books were unsealed.

11 "I continued watching because of the audacious words that the horn was speaking. I kept observing until the animal was killed and its body destroyed and given over to burning fire.

12 Now as to the other animals, their authority was removed, but they were granted a reprieve from execution for an appointed period of time."

13 "I continued to observe the night vision — and look! — someone like the Son of Man was coming, accompanied by heavenly clouds. He approached the Ancient of Days and was presented before him.

14 To him dominion was bestowed, along with glory and a kingdom, so that all peoples, nations, and languages are to serve him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion — it will never pass away — and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed.”

Jude

1 From: Jude, a servant of Jesus the Messiah, and yet a brother of James.

To: Those who have been called, who are loved by God the Father and kept safe by Jesus, the Messiah.

2 May mercy, peace, and love be yours in abundance!

3 Dear friends, although I was eager to write to you about the salvation we share, I found it necessary to write to you and urge you to continue your vigorous defence of the faith that was passed down to the saints once and for all.

4 For some people have slipped in among you unnoticed. They were written about long ago as being deserving of this condemnation because they are ungodly. They turn the grace of our God into uncontrollable lust and deny our only Master and Lord, Jesus the Messiah.

5 Now I want to remind you, even though you are fully aware of these things, that the Lord who once saved his people from the land of Egypt later destroyed those who did not believe.

6 He has also held in eternal chains those angels who did not keep their own position but abandoned their assigned place. They are held in deepest darkness for judgement on the great day.

7 Likewise, Sodom and Gomorrah and the cities near them, which like them committed sexual sins and pursued homosexual activities, serve as an example of the punishment of eternal fire.

8 In a similar way, these dreamers also defile their flesh, reject the Lord's authority, and slander his glorious beings.

9 Even the archangel Michael, when he argued with the devil and fought over the body of Moses, did not dare to bring a slanderous accusation against him. Instead, he said, "May the Lord rebuke you!"

10 Whatever these people do not understand, they slander. Like irrational animals, they are destroyed by the very things they know by instinct.

11 How terrible it will be for them! For they lived like Cain did, rushed headlong into Balaam's error to make a profit, and destroyed themselves, as happened in Korah's rebellion.

12 These people are stains on your love feasts. They feast with you without any sense of awe. They are shepherds who care only for themselves. They are waterless clouds blown about by the winds. They are autumn trees that are fruitless, totally dead, and uprooted.

13 They are wild waves of the sea, churning up the foam of their own shame. They are wandering stars for whom the deepest darkness has been reserved forever.

14 Enoch, in the seventh generation from Adam, prophesied about these people when he said, "Look! The Lord has come with countless thousands of his holy ones.

15 He will judge all people and convict everyone of all the ungodly things that they have done in such an ungodly way, including all the harsh things that these ungodly sinners have said about him."

16 These people are complainers and faultfinders, following their own desires. They say arrogant things and flatter people in order to take advantage of them.

17 But you, dear friends, must remember the statements and predictions of the apostles of our Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

18 They kept telling you, "In the last times there will be mockers, following their own ungodly desires."

19 These are the people who cause divisions. They are worldly, devoid of the Spirit.

20 But you, dear friends, must continue to build your most holy faith for your own benefit. Furthermore, continue to pray in the Holy Spirit.

- 21 Remain in God's love as you look for the mercy of our Lord Jesus the Messiah, which brings eternal life.
- 22 Show mercy to those who have doubts.
- 23 Save others by snatching them from the fire. To others, show mercy with fear, hating even the clothes stained by their sinful lives.
- 24 Now to the one who is able to keep you from falling and to make you stand joyful and faultless in his glorious presence,
- 25 to the only God, our Saviour, through Jesus the Messiah, our Lord, be glory, majesty, power, and authority before all time and for all eternity! Amen.

13th December

Daniel 7

15 " Now as for me, Daniel, I was emotionally troubled, and what I had seen in the visions kept alarming me.

16 So I approached one of those who were standing nearby and began to ask the meaning of all of this. He spoke to me and caused me to understand the interpretation of these things.

17 He said, 'These four great animals are four kings who will rise to power from the earth.

18 But the saints of the Highest will receive the kingdom forever, inheriting it forever and ever.'

19 "I wanted to learn the precise significance of the fourth animal that was different from all the others, extremely awe-inspiring, with iron teeth and bronze claws, and that had devoured and crushed things, trampling under its feet whatever remained.

20 Also, I wanted to learn the significance of the ten horns on its head and the other horn that had arisen, before which three of them had fallen — that is, the horn with eyes and a mouth that uttered magnificent things and which was greater in appearance than its fellows.

21 "As I continued to watch, that same horn waged war against the saints, and was prevailing against them

22 until the Ancient of Days arrived to pass judgement in favour of the saints of the Highest One and the time came for the saints to take possession of the kingdom.

23 So he said: 'The fourth animal will be a fourth kingdom on the earth, different from all the kingdoms. It will devour the entire earth, trampling it down and crushing it.

24 Now as to the ten horns, ten kings will rise to power from this kingdom, and another king will rise to power after them. He will be different from the previous kings, and will defeat three kings.

25 He'll speak out against the Most High and wear down the saints of the Highest One. He'll attempt to alter times and laws, and they'll be given into his control for a time, times, and half a time.

26 Nevertheless, the court will convene, and his authority will be removed, annulled, and destroyed forever.

27 Then the kingdom, authority, and magnificence of all nations of the earth will be given to the people who are the saints of the Highest One. His kingdom will endure forever, and all authorities will serve him and obey him.'

28 "At this point the vision ended. As for me, Daniel, my thoughts continued to alarm me, and I lost my natural colour, but I kept quiet about the matter."

Daniel 8

1 "During the third year of King Belshazzar's reign, I, Daniel, saw a vision after the earlier vision that had appeared to me.

2 As I observed the vision, I looked around the citadel of Susa in Elam Province. While I watched, I found myself beside the Ulai Canal.

3 "Then I turned my head to look — and behold! — a two-horned ram was standing beside the canal. The two horns grew long, the first one growing longer than the second, with the longer one springing up last.

4 I watched the ram charging westward, northward, and southward. No animal could stand before him, nor was there anyone who could deliver from his control. He did as he pleased and exalted himself.

5 "As I watched and wondered, a male goat was coming from the west over the surface of the entire earth without touching the ground. The goat had a distinctive horn between its eyes.

6 It approached the ram with the two horns that I had observed while standing beside the canal, and charged at him, out of control with rage.

7 I saw it approach the ram, overflowing with fury at him, and run into him with the full force of its strength. The goat shattered the ram's two horns, and the ram could not oppose it. So the goat threw him to the ground and trampled him. No one could rescue the ram from its control.

8 Then the goat grew extremely great, but when it was strong, its great horn was shattered. In its place, four distinctive horns grew out in all directions."

9 "A somewhat insignificant horn emerged from one of them. It moved rapidly against the south, against the east, and against the Glory.

10 Then it moved against the heavenly army. It persuaded some of the army to fall to the earth, along with some of the stars, and it trampled them.

11 Then it set itself as great as the Prince of the army, from whom the daily ritual was abolished, in order to bring low his sanctuary.

12 Because of the transgression, the army will be given over, along with the daily ritual, and the horn will cast truth to the ground, prospering while it continues to act."

13 "Then I heard one holy person speaking, and another holy person addressed the one who was speaking: 'In the vision about the daily ritual, how much time elapses while the desecration terrifies and both the Holy Place and the army are trampled?'

14 He told me, 'For 2,300 days. Then what is holy will be restored.'"

15 "After I, Daniel, had seen the vision, I tried to understand it. All of a sudden, there was standing in front of me one who appeared to be valiant.

16 I heard the voice of a man calling out from the Ulai Canal, 'Gabriel, interpret what that fellow has been seeing.'

17 "As he approached where I was standing, I became terrified and fell on my face. But he told me, 'Son of man, understand that the vision pertains to the time of the end.'

18 "While he had been speaking with me, I had fainted on my face, but he touched me and enabled me to stand upright on my feet.

19 Then he said, 'Pay attention! I'm going to brief you about what will happen at the end of the period of wrath, because its end is appointed.

20 The ram that you saw with a pair of horns are the kings of Media and Persia.

21 The demonic goat is the king of Greece, and the great horn between its eyes is its first king.

22 The shattered horn and the four that took its place are four kingdoms that will come from his nation, but they will not have his strength.

23 Toward the end of their rule, as the desecrations proceed, an insolent king will arise, proficient at deception.

24 Mighty will be his skills, but not from his own abilities. He'll be remarkably destructive, will succeed, and will do whatever he wants, destroying mighty men and the holy people.

25 Through his skill he'll cause deceit to prosper under his leadership. He'll promote himself and will destroy many while they are secure. He'll take a stand against the Prince of Princes, yet he'll be crushed without human help.

26 The vision about the twilights and dawns that has been related is trustworthy, but keep its vision secret, because it pertains to the distant future.'

27 Then I, Daniel, was exhausted and ill for days, but afterward I got up and went about the king's business. Nevertheless, I was astonished by the vision, and could not understand it."

Daniel 9

1 "In the first year of the reign of Darius son of Ahasuerus, a descendant of the Medes, who was made king over the kingdom of the Chaldeans, —

2 in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, noted in the Scripture the total years that were assigned by the message from the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet for the completion of the desolations of Jerusalem: 70 years.

3 "So I turned my attention to the Lord God, seeking him in prayer and supplication, accompanied with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes.

4 I prayed to the LORD my God, confessing and saying: Lord! Great and awesome God, who keeps his covenant and gracious love for those who love him and obey his commandments,

5 we've sinned, we've practised evil, we've acted wickedly, and we've rebelled, turning away from your commands and from your regulations.

6 Furthermore, we haven't listened to your servants, the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, to our officials, to our ancestors, and to all of the people of the land.

7 To you, Lord, belongs righteousness, but to us, open humiliation — even to this day, to the men of Judah, the residents of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, both those who are nearby and those who are far away in all the lands to which you drove them because of their unfaithful acts that they committed against you.

8 Open humiliation belongs to us, LORD, to our kings, our officials, and our ancestors, because we've sinned against you.

9 But to the Lord our God belong mercy and forgiveness, though we've rebelled against him

10 and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God by walking in his laws that he gave us through his servants the prophets.

11 And all Israel flouted your Law, turning aside from it and not obeying your voice. Because we've sinned against him, the curse has been poured upon us, along with the oath written in the Law of Moses the servant of God.

12 He has confirmed his accusation that he spoke against us and against our rulers who governed us by bringing upon us great calamity, because nowhere in the universe has anything been done like what has been done to Jerusalem.

13 As it's written in the Law of Moses, all this calamity has befallen us, but we still haven't sought the LORD our God by turning from our lawlessness to pay attention to your truth.

14 So the LORD watched for the right time to bring the calamity upon us, because the LORD our God is righteous regarding everything he does, but we have not obeyed his voice.

15 And now, Lord our God, who brought your people from the land of Egypt with a mighty hand and who made a name for yourself that remains to this day — we've sinned. We've acted wickedly.

16 Lord, in view of all your righteous acts, please turn your anger and wrath away from your city Jerusalem, your holy mountain. Because of our sins and the iniquities of our ancestors, Jerusalem and your people have become an embarrassment to all of those around us.

17 So now, O God, listen to the prayer of your servant and to his requests, and look with favour on your desolate sanctuary, for the sake of the Lord.

18 Lord, turn your ear and listen. Open your eyes and look at our desolation and at the city that is called by your name. We're not presenting our requests before you because of our righteousness, but because of your great compassion.

19 Lord, listen! Lord, forgive! Lord, take note and take action! For your own sake, don't delay, my God, because your city and your people are called by your name."

Revelation 1

1 This is the revelation of Jesus the Messiah, which God gave him to show his servants the things that must happen soon. He made it known by sending his messenger to his servant John,

2 who testified about this message from God and the testimony about Jesus the Messiah.

3 How blessed is the one who reads aloud and those who hear the words of this prophecy and obey what is written in it, for the time is near!

4 From John to the seven churches in Asia. May grace and peace be yours from the one who is, who was, and who is coming, from the seven spirits who are in front of his throne, 5 and from Jesus the Messiah, the witness, the faithful one, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler over the kings of the earth. To the one who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood

6 and has made us a kingdom, priests for his God and Father, be glory and power forever and ever! Amen.

7 Look! He is coming in the clouds. Every eye will see him, even those who pierced him, and all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of him. So be it! Amen.

8 "I am the Alpha and the Omega," declares the Lord God, "the one who is, who was, and who is coming, the Almighty."

9 I am John, your brother and partner in the oppression, kingdom, and patience that comes because of Jesus. I was on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and the testimony about Jesus.

10 I came to be in the Spirit on the Day of the Lord, when I heard a loud voice behind me like a trumpet,

11 saying, "Write on a scroll what you see, and send it to the seven churches: Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea."

12 Then I turned to see who was talking to me, and when I turned I saw seven gold lamp stands.

13 Among the lamp stands there was someone like the Son of Man. He was wearing a long robe with a gold sash around his chest.

14 His head and his hair were white like wool, in fact, as white as snow. His eyes were like flames of fire, 15 his feet were like glowing bronze refined in a furnace, and his voice was like the sound of raging waters.

16 In his right hand he held seven stars, and out of his mouth came a sharp, two-edged sword. His face was like the sun when it shines with full force.

17 When I saw him, I fell down at his feet like a dead man. But he placed his right hand on me and said, "Stop being afraid! I am the first and the last,

18 the living one. I was dead, but look — I am alive forever and ever! I have the keys of Death and Hades.

19 Therefore, write down what you have seen, what is, and what is going to happen after this.

20 The secret meaning of the seven stars that you saw in my right hand and the seven gold lamp stands is this: the seven stars are the messengers of the seven churches, and the seven lamp stands are the seven churches."

Daniel 9

20 "While I was still speaking in prayer, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel and placing my request in the presence of the LORD my God on behalf of the holy mountain of God —

21 while I was still speaking, Gabriel the man of God whom I had seen in the previous vision, appeared to me about the time of the evening offering.

22 He gave instructions, and this is what he spoke to me: 'Daniel, I've now come to give you insight and understanding.

23 Because you're highly regarded, the answer was issued when you began your prayer, and I've come to tell you. Pay attention to my message and you'll understand the vision.

24 Seventy weeks have been decreed concerning your people and your holy city: to restrain transgression, to put an end to sin, to make atonement for lawlessness, to establish everlasting righteousness, to conclude vision and prophecy, and to anoint the Most Holy Place.

25 So be informed and discern that seven weeks and 62 weeks will elapse from the issuance of the command to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the anointed commander. The street will be rebuilt, along with the wall, though in troubled times.

26 Then after the 62 weeks, the anointed one will be cut off, and will have no successor. Then the people of the coming commander will destroy both the city and the Sanctuary. Its ending will come like a flood, and until the end there will be war, with desolations having been decreed.

27 He will make a binding covenant with many for one week, and for half of the week he will pause both the sacrifice and grain offerings. Destructive people will cause desolation on the pinnacle until it is complete and what has been decreed is poured out on the desolator.'"

Daniel 10

1 In the third year of Cyrus, king of Persia, a message was revealed to Daniel (also known as Belteshazzar). The message was trustworthy and concerned a great conflict. He understood it and had insight concerning the vision.

2 "At that time I, Daniel, had been mourning for three straight weeks.

3 I ate no fancy foods — neither meat nor wine entered my mouth. Furthermore, I didn't use any ointment until the end of the entire three weeks.

4 On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, while I was beside the bank of the great Tigris River,

5 I lifted up my eyes to look — and behold! — there was a certain man dressed in linen, whose waist was encircled with gold from Uphaz.

6 His body was like beryl, his face flashed like lightning, his eyes were like flaming torches, his arms and legs were like polished bronze, and his speech roared like that of a crowd.

7 "Now I, Daniel, was the only one to receive the vision — the men who were with me didn't see it. However, an enormous fear overwhelmed them, so they ran away to hide,

8 and I was left alone to observe this magnificent vision. Nevertheless, no strength remained in me — my face lost its colour, and I became weak.

9 As I listened to the sound of his words, I fell down on my face unconscious, with my face to the ground."

10 "All of a sudden, a hand touched me and lifted me upon my hands and knees.

11 He told me, 'Daniel, man highly regarded, understand the message that I'm about to relate to you. Stand up, because I've been sent to you.' When he spoke this statement to me, I stood there trembling.

12 "Don't be afraid, Daniel," he told me, "because from the first day that you committed yourself to understand and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard. I've come in answer to your prayers.

13 However, the prince of the kingdom of Persia opposed me for 21 days. Then — look! — Michael, one of the chief angels, came to assist me. I had been detained there near the kings of Persia.

14 Now I've come to help you understand what will happen to your people in the days to come, because the vision pertains to those days.'

15 "After he had spoken to me like this, I bowed my face to the ground, unable to speak.

16 But all of a sudden someone who resembled a human being touched my lips, so I opened my mouth and spoke, addressing the one who was standing in front of me: 'Sir, I'm overwhelmed with anguish by this vision. I have no strength left.

17 So how can a servant of my lord talk with someone like you, sir? And as for me, there's no strength left in me, and I can hardly breathe.'

18 "Then this person who looked like a man touched me again and strengthened me

19 and said, 'Don't be afraid, man highly regarded. Be at peace, and be strong.' "As soon as he spoke to me, I gained strength and replied, 'Sir, please speak, now that you've strengthened me.'

20 "Then he said, 'Do you understand why I came to you? Soon I'll return to fight the prince of Persia. I'm going forth to war — and take note — the prince of Greece is coming.

21 I'll inform you about what has been recorded in the Book of Truth. No one stands firmly with me against these opponents, except Michael your prince.

Daniel 11

1 In year one of King Darius the Mede, I arose to fortify and strengthen him."

2 "Now I'll tell you the truth: Look! Three more kings will arise in Persia. Then a fourth will gain more than them all. As soon as he gains power by means of his wealth, he'll stir up everyone against the Grecian kingdoms.

3 "A mighty king will come to power, and he'll rule with awesome energy, doing whatever he pleases.

4 However, after he has come to power, his kingdom will be broken and parcelled out in all directions. It will not go to his succeeding descendants, nor will its power match how he ruled, because his sovereignty will be uprooted and given to successors besides them.

5 "The southern king will become strong, along with one of his officials, who will become stronger than he and rule over his own realm with great power.

6 After a number of years, they'll become allies and the daughter of the southern king will go to the northern king in order to craft alliances. But she won't remain in power, nor will he retain his power. Instead, she'll be surrendered, along with her entourage, the one who fathered her, and the one who supported her at that time.

7 "One of her family line will replace him. He'll come against the army and enter the fortress of the northern king, conquering them and becoming victorious.

8 He'll also take their gods, their molten images, and their valuable vessels of silver and gold into Egypt as hostages. He'll avoid the northern king for a number of years.

9 Then he'll come against the realm of the southern king and then return to his own territory.

10 His sons will prepare for war, assembling an army of considerable force. One of them will come on forcefully, overflowing, passing through, and waging war up to his own fortress.

11 "The southern king will fly into a rage and march out to fight the northern king. He'll gather a large army, but that army will be handed over to him.

12 When that army has been defeated, he'll become overconfident and slaughter many thousands, but he won't succeed.

13 The northern king will return and raise a greater army than before. After a few years he'll advance with a great force and with a vast amount of armaments."

14 "During those years, many will rebel against the southern king. The more violent ones among your people will rebel in order to fulfil this vision, but they will fail.

15 Then the northern king will come, erect a siege ramp, and capture a fortified city. The southern forces won't prevail — not even with their best troops — and they'll have no strength to take a stand.

16 "However, the one who invades him will do whatever he wants to do. No one will oppose him. He'll establish himself in the Beautiful Land, wielding devastating power.

17 He'll decide to come with the full power of his kingdom, bringing with him an alliance that he'll implement. He'll give him a daughter in marriage to overthrow it, but it won't succeed or work out for him.

18 Then he'll turn his attention to the coastal lands and will capture many. But a commander will put an end to his insolence, repaying him for his scorn.

19 He'll turn his attention toward the fortresses in his own territory, but he'll stumble and fall, and won't endure.

20 "His successor will send out a tax collector for royal splendour, but in a short period of time he'll be shattered, though neither in anger nor in battle."

21 "In his place there will arise a despicable person, upon whom no royal authority has been conferred, but he'll invade in a time of tranquillity, taking over the kingdom through deception.

22 Overwhelming forces will be carried away before him, along with the Commander-in-Chief of the covenant.

23 From the time that an alliance is made with him, he'll act deceitfully, and he will go up and take power with only a small group of nations.

24 He'll invade the most prosperous areas of the province during a time of tranquillity, accomplishing what neither his predecessors nor his ancestors ever could. He'll distribute war spoils, booty, and wealth to them, and he'll plot the overthrow of fortresses, though only for a time.

25 He'll encourage himself against the southern king by raising a large army. As a result, the southern king will mobilize for war with a large and powerful army, but he won't succeed because they will devise elaborate schemes against him.

26 His own security detail will undermine him, his army will be swept away, and many will fall and be killed in battle.

27 "Now as for the two kings, their intentions will be evil, and they'll promote deception at their dinner table, but none of this will succeed, because the end won't have come yet.

28 Then he'll return to his homeland with great wealth, will focus his attention against the holy covenant, and will take action as he returns to his land."

29 "At the scheduled time he'll return, moving southward, but the end result won't be as before,

30 because ships will come against him from the Mediterranean islands. Disheartened, he'll return, incited to vehemence against the holy covenant, and he'll take action. As he returns, he'll show deference to those who abandon the holy covenant.

31 Armed forces will arise from his midst, and they'll desecrate the fortified Sanctuary, abolish the daily sacrifice, and establish the destructive desecration.

32 Through flattery he'll corrupt those who act wickedly toward the covenant, but people who know their God will be strong and take action.

33 Insightful people will impart understanding to many, though they'll fall by sword, by fire, by captivity, and as war booty for a while.

34 When they fall, they'll be given some relief, but many will join them by pretending to be sympathetic to their cause.

35 Some of the insightful will fall so they may be refined, purged, and purified until the time of the end, since it will surely come about."

Revelation 2

1 "To the messenger of the church in Ephesus, write: 'The one who holds the seven stars in his right hand, the one who walks among the seven gold lamp stands, says this:

2 'I know what you've been doing, your toil, and your endurance. I also know that you cannot tolerate evil people. You have tested those who call themselves apostles, but are not, and have found them to be false.

3 You have endured and suffered because of my name, yet you have not grown weary.

4 However, I have this against you: You have abandoned the love you had at first.

5 Therefore, remember how far you have fallen. Repent and go back to what you were doing at first. If you don't, I will come to you and remove your lamp stand from its place — unless you repent.

6 But this is to your credit: You hate the actions of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches. To everyone who conquers I will give the privilege of eating from the tree of life that is in God's paradise.'"

8 "To the messenger of the church in Smyrna, write: 'The first and the last, who was dead and became alive, says this:

9 'I know your suffering and your poverty — though you are rich — and the slander committed by those who claim to be Jews but are not. They are the synagogue of Satan.

10 Don't be afraid of what you are going to suffer. Look! The devil is going to throw some of you into prison so that you may be tested. For ten days you will undergo suffering. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the victor's crown of life.

11 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches. The one who conquers will never be hurt by the second death.'"

12 "To the messenger of the church in Pergamum, write: 'The one who holds the sharp, two-edged sword, says this:

13 'I know where you live. Satan's throne is there. Yet you hold on to my name and have not denied your faith in me, even in the days of Antipas, my faithful witness, who was killed in your presence, where Satan lives.

14 But I have a few things against you: You have there some who hold to the teaching of Balaam, the one who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the people of Israel so that they would eat food sacrificed to idols and practise immorality.

15 You also have some who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans.

16 So repent. If you don't, I will come to you quickly and wage war against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches. To the one who conquers I will give some of the hidden manna. I will also give him a white stone. On the white stone is written a new name that no one knows except the person who receives it.'"

Daniel 11

36 "The king will do as he pleases. He'll exalt and magnify himself above every god, speaking amazing things against the God of Gods. He'll succeed until the indignation is completed, because what has been determined must be carried out.

37 He'll recognize neither the gods of his ancestors nor those desired by women — he won't recognize any god, because he'll exalt himself above everything.

38 He'll glorify the god of fortresses, a god whom his ancestors never knew, honouring him with gold, silver, valuable jewels, and treasures.

39 He'll take action against the strongest fortresses. With the help of a foreign god, he'll recognize those who honour him, making them rule over many, and he'll parcel out the land for a profit.

40 "At the time of the end, the southern king will oppose him, and the northern king will overrun him with chariots, cavalry, and many ships. He'll invade countries, moving swiftly and sweeping through.

41 He'll enter the Beautiful Land, and many will fall, even though these will escape his control: Edom, Moab, and certain Ammonite officials.

42 He'll extend his power over other countries, and even the land of Egypt won't escape.

43 He'll capture treasures of gold, silver, and all the treasures of Egypt, with the Libyans and Cushites at his feet.

44 However, reports from the east and the north will alarm him, and he'll march out in great anger, intending to destroy and to desolate many.

45 When he pitches his royal pavilions between the seas facing the mountain of holy Glory, he'll come to his end, and no one will help him."

Daniel 12

1 "At that time Michael will arise, the great prince who will stand up on behalf of your people, and a time of trouble will come like there has never been since nations began until that time. Also at that time, your people will be delivered — everyone who will have been written in the book.

2 Many of those who are sleeping in the dust of the earth will awaken — some to life everlasting, and some to disgrace and everlasting contempt.

3 Those who manifest wisdom will shine like the brightness of the expanse of heaven, and those who turn many to righteousness will shine like the stars for ever and ever.

4 Now as for you, Daniel, roll up your scroll and seal your words until the time of the end. Many will rush around while knowledge increases."

5 "Then I, Daniel, continued watching — and look! — two others stood there, one on this side of the river bank and the other on the other side of the river bank.

6 One asked the man dressed in linen clothes, who was standing above the waters of the river, 'How long until the fulfilment of the wonders?'

7 "I heard the man dressed in linen clothes, who was standing above the waters of the river as he lifted his right and left hands to heaven and swore by the one who lives forever that it would be for a time, times, and a half. When the shattering of the power of the holy people has occurred, all these things will conclude."

8 "I heard, but I didn't understand. So I asked, 'Sir, what happens next?'

9 "He answered, 'Go on your way, Daniel, because these matters are wrapped up and sealed until the time of the end.

10 Many will be purified, cleansed, and refined, though the wicked act wickedly, and none of the wicked understand. Nevertheless, the insightful will understand.

11 There will be 1,290 days from the time the daily ritual is rescinded and the destructive desolation established.

12 Blessed is the one who waits and reaches the 1,335 days.

13 Now as for you, go on your way until the end — you'll rest and then rise to receive your reward at the end of the age."

Hosea 1

1 A message from the LORD came to Beeri's son Hosea during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and during the reign of Joash's son Jeroboam, who was king of Israel.

2 When a message from the LORD came to Hosea, the LORD told him, "Go marry a prostitute and have children with her, because the land is prostituting itself by departing from the LORD."

3 So he went out and married Diblaim's daughter Gomer. She conceived with him and gave birth to a son.

4 The LORD told Hosea, "Name the child 'Jezreel,' because in a little while I'll avenge the blood that was shed by Jehu's dynasty at Jezreel. I'll put an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel.

5 At that time I'll shatter the military strength of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

6 Gomer conceived again and gave birth to a daughter, so the LORD told Hosea, "Name her 'Lo-ruhamah,' because I will no longer be showing mercy to the house of Israel, nor will I forgive them.

7 But I'll have mercy on the house of Judah, and I'll save them by the LORD their God — I will not save them by the bow, nor by the sword, nor by battle, nor by horses, nor by cavalry."

8 After Gomer had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived again and gave birth to a son,

9 so the LORD told Hosea, "Name him 'Lo-ammi,' because you are not my people, and I will not be your God.

10 Despite this, the number of the people of Israel will be like ocean sand, which can neither be measured nor counted. And the time will come when instead of it being said, 'You are not my people,' it will be said, 'You are children of the living God.'

11 And the people of Judah and the people of Israel will be united as one. They will appoint for themselves a single leader and will take dominion over the land, for great will be the day of Jezreel.

Hosea 2

1 So call your brothers 'Ammi,' and your sisters 'Ruhamah.'"

2 "Call your mother to account, call her — for she is not my wife, and I'm not her husband. Let her do away with her seductive looks and remove her adultery from between her breasts.

3 Otherwise, I'll strip her naked — as she was on the day she was born — make her like a wilderness, turn her into a parched land, and cause her to die of thirst.

4 Furthermore, I'll not show pity on her children, since they are children of prostitution.

5 Indeed, their mother has committed prostitution — the one who has been conceiving them has acted disgracefully — when she said 'I'm going after my lovers, who provide me food and water, as well as my wool, my flax, my oil, and my wine.'

6 "Look how I'm blocking her path with thorns and building a wall to hinder her, so she can't find her way.

7 She will pursue her lovers, but she won't catch up with them. She will seek them, but she won't find them. Then she will say, 'I'll go back and return to my first husband, because it was better for me then than now.'

8 She didn't recognize that it was I who provided her grain, wine, and oil, and it was I who gave her silver, while they crafted gold for Baal.

9 "Therefore I'll return and take back my grain at harvest time and my new wine in its season. I'll take back my wool and my flax that was to have covered her nakedness.

10 So now I'll reveal her lewdness to the eyes of her lovers, and no man will rescue her from my control.

11 I'll put a stop to her mirth, along with her celebrations, her New Moons, her Sabbaths, and all of her festive assemblies.

12 I'll destroy her vines and her fig trees, about which she said, 'These are the earnings that my lovers paid me. I'll make them grow into a forest, and the wild animals will eat from them.'

13 I'll punish her for the time she has devoted to the Baals, to whom she burned incense, and for whom she put on her earrings and jewels so she could go after her lovers and forget me," declares the LORD.

14 "Therefore, look! I will now allure her. I will make her go out to the wilderness, and will speak to her heart.

15 There I will restore her vineyards to her, and the Valley of Achor will become a doorway to hope. There she will respond as she did in her youth, when she came up from Egypt."

16 "It will come about at that time," declares the LORD, "that you will address me as 'My husband,' and you will no longer call me 'My master'.

17 I will remove the names of the Baals from her vocabulary — they will not be remembered by their names anymore.

18 I will make a covenant with them at that time, a covenant with the wild animals of the field, with the birds of the air, and with the creatures of the ground. I will banish the battle bow, the sword, and war from the earth. I will cause my people to lie down where it is safe.

19 I will make you my wife forever — I will make you my wife in a way that is righteous, in a manner that is just, by a love that is gracious, and by a motive that is mercy.

20 I will make you my wife because of my faithfulness, and you will know the LORD.

21 "It will come about at that time that I will respond," declares the LORD, "I will respond to the heavens, and they will respond to the earth.

22 The earth will respond with grain, new wine, and oil, and they will respond to Jezreel.

23 I will plant my people in the land for myself. I will show mercy on her who has received no mercy I will say to those who are not my people, 'You are my people!' and they will say, 'You are my God.'"

Hosea 3

1 Then the LORD told me: "Go love your wife again, even though she is being loved by another and is committing adultery. Love her the same way the LORD loves the people of Israel, even though they look to other gods and love raisin cakes."

2 So I bought her back for myself for fifteen pieces of silver and about ten bushels of barley.

3 I told her, "You will remain with me a long time, you won't be promiscuous, you won't be involved with any man, and I'll do the same."

4 Likewise, the people of Israel will dwell a long time without a king, without a prince, without sacrifice, without sacred pillars, and with neither ephod nor teraphim.

5 Afterward, the people of Israel will return and seek the LORD their God and David their king. They will come in awe to the LORD and to his goodness in the last days.

Revelation 2

18 "To the messenger of the church in Thyatira, write: 'The Son of God, whose eyes are like flaming fire and whose feet are like glowing bronze, says this:
19 'I know what you've been doing — your love, faithfulness, service, and endurance — and that your last actions are greater than the first.
20 But I have this against you: You tolerate that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophet and who teaches and leads my servants to practise immorality and to eat food sacrificed to idols.
21 I gave her time to repent, but she refused to repent of her immorality.
22 Look! I am going to strike her with illness. Those who commit adultery with her will also suffer greatly, unless they repent from acting like her.
23 I will strike her children dead. Then all the churches will know that I am the one who searches minds and hearts. I will reward each of you as your actions deserve.
24 'But as for the rest of you in Thyatira — you who do not hold to this teaching and who have not learned what some people call the deep things of Satan — I won't burden you with anything else.
25 Just hold on to what you have until I come.
26 To the person who conquers and continues to do what I've commanded to the end, I will give authority over the nations.
27 'He will rule them with an iron sceptre; shattering them like clay pots.'
28 'Just as I have received authority from my Father, I will also give him the morning star.
29 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches.'"

Revelation 3

1 "To the messenger of the church in Sardis, write: 'The one who has the seven spirits of God and the seven stars says this: 'I know what you've been doing. You are known for being alive, but you are dead.
2 Be alert, and strengthen the things that are left, which are about to die. I note that your actions are incomplete before my God.
3 So remember what you received and heard. Obey it, and repent. If you are not alert, I will come like a thief, and you won't know the time when I will come to you.
4 But you have a few people in Sardis who have not soiled their clothes. They will walk with me in white clothes because they are worthy.
5 The person who conquers in this way will wear white clothes, and I will never erase his name from the Book of Life. I will acknowledge his name in the presence of my Father and his angels.
6 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches.'"
7 "To the messenger of the church in Philadelphia, write: 'The one who is holy, who is true, who has the key of David, who opens a door that no one can shut, and who shuts a door that no one can open, 'says this:
8 'I know what you've been doing. Look! I have put in front of you an open door that no one can shut. You have only a little strength, but you have obeyed my word and have not denied my name.
9 I will make those who belong to the synagogue of Satan — those who claim to be Jews and aren't, but are lying — come and bow down at your feet. Then they will realize that I have loved you.
10 Because you have obeyed my command to endure, I will keep you from the hour of testing that is coming to the whole world to test those living on the earth.
11 I am coming soon! Hold on to what you have so that no one takes your victor's crown.
12 I will make the one who conquers to become a pillar in the sanctuary of my God, and he will never go out of it again. I will write on him the name of my God, the name of the city of my God (the new Jerusalem coming down out of heaven from God), and my own new name.

13 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches.'"

16th December

Hosea 4

- 1 "Hear this message from the LORD, people of Israel. Indeed, the LORD brings a charge against the people who live in the land — for there is no truth and no gracious love or knowledge of God in the land.
- 2 Swearing, lying, murder, theft, and adultery are rampant, and blood mingles with blood.
- 3 Therefore the land will mourn, and all who live there will languish, along with the wild animals of the field and the birds of the air. Even the fish in the sea will disappear.
- 4 "Let no one fight or bring charges against another, for my dispute is with you, priest.
- 5 So you will stumble during the day, the prophet also will stumble with you at night, and I will destroy your mother.
- 6 My people are destroyed because they lack knowledge of me. Because you rejected that knowledge, I will reject you as a priest for me. Since you forget the Law of your God, I will also forget your children.
- 7 "The more they increased in number, the more they sinned against me, so I will change their glory into shame.
- 8 They feed on the sin of my people; they purpose in their heart to transgress.
- 9 So it will be: like people, like priest. I will punish them for their lifestyles, rewarding them according to their behaviour.
- 10 They will eat, but will not be satisfied. They will engage in prostitution, but they won't increase, because they have stopped listening to the LORD.
- 11 "Sexual immorality, wine, and fresh wine seduce the heart of my people.
- 12 My people seek counsel from their piece of wood, and their diviner's rod speaks to them. For a spirit of prostitution causes them to go astray; in their immorality they desert their God.
- 13 They offer sacrifices on the mountain tops, burning offerings on the hills, under oaks, poplars, and terebinth trees, since their shade is very good. Therefore your daughters are prostitutes and your daughters-in-law commit adultery.
- 14 However, I'm not going to punish your daughters when they commit prostitution, nor your daughters-in-law when they commit adultery, because their men are themselves immoral — they offer sacrifices with prostitutes. These people who aren't discerning will stumble.
- 15 "Even though you prostitute yourself, Israel — let not Judah incur guilt — don't go to Gilgal, or visit Beth-aven, or swear an oath using the LORD's name.
- 16 For Israel is as obstinate as a stubborn mule! Nevertheless, will not the LORD feed them like a lamb in a broad pasture?
- 17 Ephraim has become entwined with idols; leave him alone!
- 18 While drinking to excess, they prostitute themselves. They're in love with dishonour.
- 19 A wind storm will carry them away in its embrace, and their sacrifices will bring them shame."

Hosea 5

- 1 "Hear this, priests, pay attention, house of Israel, listen, royal family! For judgement is coming your way, because you have been a trap to Mizpah, a snare spread out on Mount Tabor.
- 2 The rebels are deep into their slaughter; I am punishing them all.
- 3 I know Ephraim, and Israel cannot hide from me, since you, Ephraim, have been acting like a prostitute, defiling Israel.
- 4 "Their actions hinder them from turning to their God, because a spirit of fornication is in their midst, and the LORD they do not know.

5 The arrogance of Israel testifies against him; therefore Israel and Ephraim will stumble in their iniquity, and Judah with them.
6 They will go with their flocks and herds to seek the LORD, but they will not find him; he has withdrawn from them.
7 They have been unfaithful to the LORD, having raised unbelieving children. In the coming month they will be devoured, along with their fields.
8 "Sound the trumpet in Gibeah, and the alarm in Ramah. Cry out at Beth-aven Go out, Benjamin!
9 Ephraim will be desolate when it is rebuked. I have made known among the tribes of Israel what will surely come about.
10 The princes of Judah have become like those who move boundary markers: I will pour out my anger on them like water.
11 Ephraim is crushed, broken by judgement, because he willingly pursued idols.
12 Therefore I will consume Ephraim like a moth, and the house of Judah as rottenness consumes.
13 When Ephraim examined his illness and Judah his injury, then Ephraim went to Assyria, and inquired of the great king; but he could not cure you nor heal your injury.
14 Therefore I will be like a lion to Ephraim, and like a young lion to the house of Judah. I — even I — will tear them to pieces, and then I will leave. I will take them away, and there will be no rescue.
15 "I will leave and go back to my place until they admit their offence and seek my face. When affliction comes to them, they will eagerly seek me."

Hosea 6

1 "Come, let us return to the LORD; even though he has torn us, he will heal us. Even though he has wounded us, he will bind our wounds.
2 After two days he will restore us to life, on the third day he will raise us up, and we will live in his presence.
3 Let us know, let us pursue knowledge of the LORD; his coming is as certain as the dawn. He will come to us like the rain, like the autumn and spring rains come on the earth.
4 "What am I to do with you, Ephraim? What am I to do with you, Judah? Your love is like a morning rain cloud — it passes away like the morning dew.
5 Therefore I cut them to pieces by the prophets, killing them by the words from my mouth. The verdict against you shines like a beacon.
6 For it is love that I seek, and not sacrifice; knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.
7 "But like Adam, they broke the covenant; in this they have acted deceitfully against me.
8 Gilead is a lawless town; it is polluted by bloodshed.
9 Like a gang of thieves that stalk a man, priests commit murder along the road to Shechem, committing shameful crimes.
10 I have seen a horrible evil in the house of Israel — Ephraim's promiscuity. Israel is defiled.
11 "So, Judah, a harvest has been appointed for you when I restore my people from captivity."

Hosea 7

1 "When I was healing Israel, Ephraim's sin was uncovered, along with Samaria's wickedness. While they craft lying schemes, the thief invades, and the gang of thieves plunders outside.
2 It never occurs to them that I remember all their sin. Now their actions have caught up with them, and they have my attention.
3 They please the king with their evil, and the princes with their dishonesty.

4 All of them are adulterers — they burn like an oven prepared by the baker, who has ceased stoking it until the dough is leavened.

5 "On the king's festival day the princes got drunk from wine, so the king joined the mockers.

6 For they have stirred up themselves like an oven as they lie in ambush. Their baker sleeps through the night; in the morning, the oven will be blazing like a fire.

7 They all burn like an oven; they have consumed their judges; all their kings have fallen — not even one of them calls on me.

8 "Ephraim compromises with the nations; he's a half-baked cake.

9 Foreigners have consumed his strength, and he hasn't noticed. Furthermore, his head is sprinkled with grey hair, but he doesn't realize it.

10 Israel's arrogance testifies against him; but they do not return to the LORD their God, nor seek him in all of this.

11 "Ephraim is also like a silly dove, lacking sense: They call out to Egypt, and turn toward Assyria.

12 When they go, I'll cast my net over them. I'll bring them down, as one shoots birds in the sky. I'll chasten them, as the assembly has already heard.

13 Woe to them — because they have run away from me. Ruin to them — because they have sinned against me. Even though I redeemed them, they spread lies against me.

14 They will not cry to me from their heart — instead, they wail on their beds. They gather together to eat and drink, turning away from me.

15 "Though I have taught them and strengthened their arms, nevertheless they plot evil against me.

16 They return — but not to the Most High. They are like a defective weapon. Their princes will fall by the sword because of their raging tongue, and they will be a laughingstock in the land of Egypt."

Revelation 3

14 "To the messenger of the church in Laodicea, write: 'The Amen, the witness who is faithful and true, the originator of God's creation, says this:

15 'I know your actions, that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish you were cold or hot.

16 Since you are lukewarm and neither hot nor cold, I am going to spit you out of my mouth.

17 You say, "I am rich. I have become wealthy. I don't need anything." Yet you don't realize that you are miserable, pitiful, poor, blind, and naked.

18 Therefore, I advise you to buy from me gold purified in fire so you may be rich, white clothes to wear so your shameful nakedness won't show, and ointment to put on your eyes so you may see.

19 I correct and discipline those whom I love, so be serious and repent!

20 Look! I am standing at the door and knocking. If anyone listens to my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and eat with him, and he will eat with me.

21 To the one who conquers I will give a place to sit with me on my throne, just as I have conquered and have sat down with my Father on his throne.

22 'Let everyone listen to what the Spirit says to the churches.'"

Revelation 4

1 After these things I saw a door standing open in heaven. The first voice that I had heard speaking to me like a trumpet said, "Come up here, and I will show you what must happen after this."

2 Instantly I was in the Spirit, and I saw a throne in heaven with a person seated on the throne.

3 The person sitting there looked like jasper and carnelian, and there was a rainbow around the throne that looked like an emerald.

4 Around the throne were 24 other thrones, and on these thrones sat 24 elders wearing white robes and gold victor's crowns on their heads.

5 Flashes of lightning, noises, and peals of thunder came from the throne. Burning in front of the throne were seven flaming torches, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 In front of the throne was something like a sea of glass as clear as crystal. In the centre of the throne and on each side of the throne were four living creatures full of eyes in front and in back.

7 The first living creature was like a lion, the second living creature was like an ox, the third living creature had a face like a human, and the fourth living creature was like a flying eagle.

8 Each of the four living creatures had six wings and were full of eyes inside and out. Without stopping day or night they were saying, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God Almighty, who was, who is, and who is coming."

9 Whenever the living creatures give glory, honour, and thanks to the one who sits on the throne, who lives forever and ever,

10 the 24 elders bow down and worship in front of the one who sits on the throne, the one who lives forever and ever. They throw their victor's crowns in front of the throne and say,

11 "You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory, honour, and power, because you created all things; they came into existence and were created because of your will."

17th December

Hosea 8

- 1 "Sound the ram's horn! Like a vulture the enemy will come against the Temple of the LORD, because Israel violated my covenant, transgressing my Law.
- 2 They cry out to me, 'God, we of Israel acknowledge you.'
- 3 "Israel has discarded what is good. The enemy will pursue them.
- 4 They set kings in place, but not by me. They established princes, whom I did not recognize. They crafted idols for themselves from their silver and gold; as a result, they will be destroyed.
- 5 Your calf, Samaria, has been thrown away. My anger is burning against them. How long until they become pure again?
- 6 Because from Israel it was fashioned by craftsmen, it is not God; therefore Samaria's calf will be broken in pieces.
- 7 "Because they sow the wind, they will reap the wind storm. The plant has no stalk and its bud yields no grain. Even if there's a harvest, foreigners will gobble it up.
- 8 Israel has been devoured; now they will live among the nations like a worthless container.
- 9 "Because they went over to Assyria, they are like a wild donkey alone by itself. Ephraim has hired some lovers.
- 10 Even though they sold themselves to the nations, I will gather them. They will mourn for a while for the burden they were to the king and princes.
- 11 "The more altars Ephraim builds for sin, the more altars there will be for sin.
- 12 I prescribed great things from my Law for them, but they considered them profane.
- 13 They offer me meat from the sacrifices of my offerings, and they eat from it, but the LORD does not accept them. He will now remember their transgression and pay them back for their sins; to Egypt they will return.
- 14 "Israel has neglected its maker in building palaces. Judah has multiplied its fortified cities, but I will send fire to their cities, and it will consume their fortresses."

Hosea 9

- 1 "Don't celebrate, Israel, like other nations would rejoice, because you left your God by committing fornication, loving the profit you gained on all of the threshing floors.
- 2 Neither threshing floor nor winepress will sustain them, and the new wine will disappoint her.
- 3 They will not live in the LORD's land — Ephraim will return to Egypt, and they will eat unclean food in Assyria.
- 4 They won't present wine offerings to the LORD, nor will they please him. Their sacrifices will seem like food for mourners — everyone who eats them will become unclean; none of them will enter the Temple of the LORD.
- 5 "What will you do on the designated holiday, when the LORD's festival comes?
- 6 Look! They have gone away because of the destruction — Egypt will gather them up, and Memphis will bury them. Weeds will overgrow their inheritance, and thorns will grow in their tents.
- 7 The time for your judgement has now come; payday is here — and Israel knows it. The prophet is a fool, and the spiritual man is insane. Because of your great sin, the hatred against you is great.
- 8 While Ephraim stands watch with my God, the prophet has snares set that will trap his ways, and hostility lodges in the Temple of his God.
- 9 They have corrupted themselves deeply, as did Gibeah in its day. Therefore God will remember their lawlessness, and he will pay them back for their sins.

10 "I found Israel, as one finds grapes in the wilderness; Your ancestors seemed to me like the fruit gleaned from a fig tree's first harvest. When they went to Baal-peor, they devoted themselves to that filth, and they became loathsome, like what they loved.

11 The glory of Ephraim will fly away like a bird — no birth, no pregnancy, not even a conception.

12 Even if they rear their children, I will, in turn, make them childless — in fact, woe to them when I turn away from them!

13 Ephraim, as I see it, is like Tyre, planted in a comfortable place; Ephraim will bear children but they will be executed."

14 Give them, LORD — What will you give? You will give them a womb that miscarries and dry breasts.

15 "All of their wickedness started in Gilgal, because I began to hate them there. Because of the wickedness of their behaviour, I will drive them from my Temple. I will not love them anymore; all their leaders are rebels.

16 Ephraim is blighted; its roots shrivelled. It can bear no fruit. Even if they bear children, I will kill their cherished offspring.

17 "My God will reject them, because they did not obey him, and they will become wanderers among the nations."

Hosea 10

1 "Israel, the overgrown vine, bears fruit like itself; the more fruitful they become, the more altars they build. The better the land, the more ornate the stone idols.

2 Their hearts are divided; from now on they are to be found guilty. God will tear down their altars, he will destroy their stone idols.

3 From now on they will say, 'We have no king, because we did not fear the LORD — and what would a king do for us?'

4 Their word is falsely given as they make their agreements; so judgement springs up like poisonous weeds in the furrows of a field.

5 "The residents of Samaria will be terrified because of the cows of Beth-aven. Its people will mourn over Beth-aven, along with the priests who will mourn its glory, because that glory has departed.

6 Indeed, that glory will be carried to Assyria — it will become a present for an avenging king. Ephraim will be disgraced, and Israel will become ashamed of its decision.

7 Samaria's king will float away like driftwood on the surface of water.

8 Destroyed will be the high places of Aven, that are the sin of Israel. Both thorn and thistle will grow up over their altars. They will call out to the mountains, 'Cover us!' and to the hills, 'Fall on us!'

9 "From the time of Gibeah, you have sinned, Israel; There they took their stand; the battle at Gibeah could not subdue the lawless.

10 When I'm ready, I will chasten them; and the people will gather against them, to imprison them for their two unrighteous acts."

11 "Ephraim, the well-trained heifer, loves to thresh grain, so I will spare her neck. I will turn Ephraim into a pack animal. Judah will pull the plough, and Jacob will turn up the fallow ground.

12 Sow in righteousness in your own interest, reap in gracious love, break up your own unprepared ground; It is now time to inquire of the LORD, until he comes to pour out righteousness for you.

13 You have ploughed evil; you have reaped unrighteousness; you have eaten the fruit of hypocrisy; because you trusted in your own direction, and in the number of your mighty forces.

14 Therefore a disaster will come upon your people, and all of your fortresses will be ruined. As Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in wartime, mothers were dashed to pieces along with their children.

15 The same will happen to you, Bethel, because of your great evil — early one morning the king of Israel will be totally silenced.”

Hosea 11

1 "When Israel was a young child I loved him, and from Egypt I called my son.

2 The more I called out to them, the farther they fled from me; they sacrificed to Baals, burning incense to carved images.

3 Yet it was I who taught Ephraim to walk, supporting them by their arms, but they never knew that I was healing them.

4 I guided them with human kindness, with loving reins. I acted toward them like one who removes a yoke from their neck; I bent down and fed them.

5 "They will not return to the land of Egypt; instead, the Assyrian will be their king, because they kept refusing to repent.

6 The sword will fall on their cities, consuming and devouring their fortified gates, despite their planning.

7 My people are determined to turn away from me; though they call to the Most High, no one is worshipping.

8 "How can I give up on you, Ephraim? I will deliver you, will I not, Israel? How can I treat you like Admah? I can't make you like Zeboim, can I? My heart stirs within me; my compassion also fans into flame!

9 I will not act in my anger; I will not return to destroy Ephraim, For I am God, and not a human — the Holy One among you — so I will not enter the city in anger.

10 They will go after the LORD, who will roar like a lion; and when he roars, the children will come trembling from the west.

11 Trembling like a bird, they will come out of Egypt, and as a dove from the land of Assyria; and I will settle them in their houses," declares the LORD.

12 "Ephraim surrounds me with lies, and the house of Israel surrounds me with deceit, But Judah still rules with God, and remains faithful, along with the godly ones.”

Hosea 12

1 "Ephraim feeds on the wind, chasing after the eastern winds, storing up lies and desolation day after day. They are making a contract with the Assyrians, and sending oil to Egypt.

2 The LORD accuses Judah, and will punish Jacob according to his ways; he will repay him for what he does.

3 He circumvented his brother in the womb, and as an adult he fought with God.

4 He even fought the angel and won; he cried and prayed to him. Then at Bethel he found him, and there he spoke with us —

5 the LORD God of the Heavenly Armies — the LORD is his name.

6 So you, return to your God; guard grace and justice, and look to your God always.

7 "Now as for the merchant, deceitful balances remain in his hand, and he loves to defraud.

8 Ephraim claims, 'I have become rich, I have made a fortune! Because of all my wealth, no one will find any iniquity or sin in me.'

Revelation 5

- 1 Then I saw in the right hand of the one who sits on the throne a scroll written on the inside and on the outside, sealed with seven seals.
- 2 I also saw a powerful angel proclaiming with a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?"
- 3 No one in heaven, on earth, or under the earth could open the scroll or look inside it.
- 4 I began to cry bitterly because no one was found worthy to open the scroll or look inside it.
- 5 "Stop crying," one of the elders told me. "Look! The Lion from the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered. He can open the scroll and its seven seals."
- 6 Then I saw a lamb standing in the middle of the throne, the four living creatures, and the elders. He looked like he had been slaughtered. He had seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent into all the earth.
- 7 He went and took the scroll from the right hand of the one who sits on the throne.
- 8 When the lamb had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders bowed down in front of him. Each held a harp and a gold bowl full of incense, the prayers of the saints.
- 9 They sang a new song: "You are worthy to take the scroll and open its seals, because you were slaughtered. With your blood you purchased people for God from every tribe, language, people, and nation.
- 10 You made them a kingdom and priests for our God, and they will reign on the earth."
- 11 Then I looked, and I heard the voices of many angels, the living creatures, and the elders surrounding the throne. They numbered 10,000's times 10,000 and thousands times thousands.
- 12 They sang with a loud voice, "Worthy is the lamb who was slaughtered to receive power, wealth, wisdom, strength, honour, glory, and praise!"
- 13 I heard every creature in heaven, on earth, under the earth, and on the sea, and everything that is in them, saying, "To the one who sits on the throne and to the lamb be praise, honour, glory, and power forever and ever!"
- 14 Then the four living creatures said, "Amen!", and the elders bowed down and worshipped.

Revelation 6

- 1 Then I saw the lamb open the first of the seven seals. I heard one of the four living creatures say with a voice like thunder, "Go!"
- 2 Then I looked, and there was a white horse! Its rider had a bow, and a victor's crown had been given to him. He went out as a conqueror to conquer.
- 3 When the lamb opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature say, "Go!"
- 4 A second horse went out. It was fiery red, and its rider was given permission to take peace away from the earth and to make people slaughter one another. So he was given a large sword.
- 5 When the lamb opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Go!" I looked, and there was a black horse! Its rider held a scale in his hand.
- 6 I heard what sounded like a voice from among the four living creatures, saying, "A quart of wheat for a denarius, or three quarts of barley for a denarius. But don't damage the olive oil or the wine!"
- 7 When the lamb opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature say, "Go!"
- 8 I looked, and there was a pale green horse! Its rider's name was Death, and Hades followed him. They were given authority over one quarter of the earth to kill people using wars, famines, plagues, and the wild animals of the earth.

18th December

Hosea 12

9 "Yet I remain the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt. I will make you live in tents again, as in the festival of that name.

10 I spoke to the prophets, giving revelation after revelation, and employing parables in the prophetic writings.

11 "There's iniquity in Gilead, isn't there? They have become truly vain. They sacrifice bulls in Gilgal; their altars are like piles of stone in furrowed fields.

12 Jacob fled into the land of Aram; Israel served there to obtain his wife, tending sheep to gain his wife.

13 "By a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a prophet he was rescued.

14 Ephraim has stirred up violent anger; therefore the guilt of his blood will remain on him, and his Lord will repay him for his contempt."

Hosea 13

1 "When the tribe of Ephraim spoke, there was trembling; and it was exalted within Israel. But when they offended God by Baal, they died,

2 but now they are sinning more and more, crafting idols from melted silver. Their idols are made with the most exacting skill, all of it the work of craftsmen. People say about them, 'They offer human sacrifice, and kiss calf-shaped idols.'

3 Therefore they will be like morning clouds, like early morning dew that evaporates, like chaff blown away from the threshing floor, or like smoke from a chimney."

4 "I am the LORD your God from the land of Egypt, and you have known no god except for me, because except for me there is no saviour.

5 I took care of you in the wilderness, in a waterless land.

6 As their pastures flourished, all their desires were met. As they were satiated, they became arrogant and therefore ignored me.

7 "So I will be like a lion to them. Like a leopard I will stalk them along the road.

8 I will confront them like a bear deprived of her cubs; I will tear open their ribs. I will devour them like a lion — the wild beasts will rip them apart.

9 "You have destroyed yourself, Israel, although I remain your help.

10 Now where is your king? Will he save you in all your cities? And where are your judges, about whom you demanded, 'Give me a king and officials!'

11 I gave you a king in my anger, and I took him away in my fury."

12 "Ephraim's guilt is on record; his sin is stored away.

13 When the time of childbirth comes, he will be so foolish that he will refuse to be born."

14 "From the power of Sheol I will rescue them, from death I will redeem them. Death, where are your plagues? Sheol, where is your destruction? My eyes will remain closed to your pleas for compassion.

15 Even though he is fruitful compared to his relatives, an east wind will come, the LORD's wind storm from the wilderness, and his spring will evaporate. His fountain will dry up, and the LORD's wind storm will plunder all the expensive vessels of the treasury.

16 Samaria will be held guilty, because she has rebelled against her God. By the sword they will fall — with their infants dashed to pieces, and their pregnant women torn open."

Hosea 14

1 "Return, Israel, to the LORD your God, for you have fallen due to your own iniquity.

2 Bring a prepared speech with you as you return to the LORD. Say to him: 'Take away all our iniquity, and accept what is good. Then we will present the fruit of our lips.

3 Assyria won't save us; we won't be riding on horses, Nor will we be saying anymore to the work of our hands, "You are our God." Indeed, in you the orphan finds mercy.'

4 "I will correct their apostasy, loving them freely, since my anger will have turned away from them.

5 I will be like the dew to Israel; Israel will blossom like a lily, growing roots like the cedars of Lebanon.

6 Israel's branches will spread out, and its beauty will be like an olive tree, with its scent like that of Lebanon.

7 Those who live under its protection will surely return. Their grain will flourish; they will blossom like a vine, and Israel's scent will be like wine from Lebanon.

8 "Ephraim, what have I in common with idols? I have listened and will pay attention to him. I am like a flourishing cypress; in me will your fruit be found."

9 Whoever is wise, let him understand these things. Whoever is discerning, let him know them. For the ways of the LORD are right: the righteous follow his example, but the rebellious stumble in them.

Joel 1

- 1 This message from the LORD came to Pethuel's son Joel.
- 2 "Hear this, you elders! Listen, all of you residents of the land! Has there ever been anything like this during your lifetime, or even when your ancestors were alive?
- 3 Pass it on to your children, and from your children to their children, and from their children to the following generation.
- 4 Whatever the devouring locust left behind the locust swarm has consumed! Whatever the locust swarm has left behind, the young locust has consumed! Whatever the young locust has left behind, the ravaging locust has consumed!"
- 5 "Wake up, you drunkards! Cry aloud and howl, you wine drinkers, because your supply of new wine has been snatched from you.
- 6 Indeed, a nation has invaded my land — it is strong and its population is too large to count — with teeth like a lion and fangs like a lioness.
- 7 That nation laid waste my vines, and stripped bare my fig tree, discarding it. It stripped off its bark.
- 8 "Grieve like a virgin, who, dressed in her mourner's clothes, cries out in memory of the man she was going to marry.
- 9 Both grain offering and wine offering have been removed from the LORD's Temple; the priests and ministering servants of the LORD are mourning."
- 10 "The fields lie in ruins and the ground is dried up. Indeed, the grain is ruined, the new wine has evaporated, and the olive oil has run out.
- 11 Be dismayed, you farmers! Cry aloud, you vintners, for the wheat and barley, because the harvest in your fields has been lost.
- 12 The grapevine is shrivelled and the fig tree is withered, along with the pomegranate tree, the palm tree, the apple tree and all of the cultivated trees. Truly, joy has evaporated from Adam's children."
- 13 "Put on your mourning clothes, you priests; and cry aloud, you ministering servants at the altar! Come! Stay the night in mourner's clothes, you ministers of my God, because the grain offering and the wine offering is held back from the Temple of your God.
- 14 Set apart time for a fast! Call a solemn assembly! Gather the elders and everyone living in the land to the Temple of the LORD your God, and cry out to the LORD!"
- 15 Oh, no! For the Day of the LORD approaches, and like destruction from the Almighty, it will come!
- 16 Isn't our food supply cut off right in front of us, along with joy and gladness from the Temple of our God?
- 17 Seeds shrivel within their furrows, the storehouses lie empty, and granaries stand in ruins because the grain has withered.
- 18 Oh, how the livestock groan! The herds of cattle wander about because they have no pasture. Even flocks of sheep suffer!
- 19 To you, LORD, I cry out, because fire has devoured the open pastures, and has set all the cultivated trees ablaze.
- 20 The livestock also cries out to you, because their water sources have evaporated and because fire has consumed the open pastures.

Joel 2

- 1 "Sound the ram's horn in Zion! Sound an alarm on my holy mountain! Tremble, all of you inhabitants of the land, because the Day of the LORD is coming. Oh, how near it is!
- 2 A day of doom and gloom, a day of clouds and shadows like the dawn spreads out to cover the mountains — a people strong and robust. Never has there been anything like it, neither will anything follow to compare with it, even through the lifetime of generation upon generation."

3 "A fire blazes in their presence, and behind them a conflagration rages. Before they come, the land is like the garden in Eden; after they leave, there is only a barren wasteland. Indeed, nothing escapes them.

4 As to their form, they're like horses; and like chariot horses, how they can run!

5 They leap like the rumbling of chariots echoing from mountain tops, like the roar of wild fire that devours the chaff, as an army firmly established in battle array.

6 The people are terrified in their presence; every face grows pale.

7 They run like elite soldiers, climbing ramparts like men trained for war. Each man advances in proper order, never breaking rank.

8 Neither does a man crowd his fellow soldier; each one marches in his own path. When they fall by the sword they are not injured.

9 They swarm through the city, running upon its ramparts. Climbing atop the houses, they enter through windows like a thief."

10 "The land quivers in their presence; even the heavens shake. The sun and moon will grow dark, and the stars will stop shining.

11 The LORD will shout in the presence of his forces, because his encampment is very great; for powerful is he who carries out his message. Truly the Day of the LORD is great, and very terrifying. Who will be able to survive it?"

12 "Yet even now," declares the LORD, "Turn back to me with your whole heart, with fasting, tears, and mourning.

13 Tear your hearts, not your garments; and turn back to the LORD your God. For he is gracious and compassionate, slow to become angry, overflowing in gracious love, and grieves about this evil.

14 Who knows? He will turn back and relent, will he not, leaving behind a blessing, even a grain offering and drink offering for the LORD your God?"

Revelation 6

9 When the lamb opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slaughtered because of the word of God and the testimony they had given.

10 They cried out in a loud voice, "Holy and true Sovereign, how long will it be before you judge and take revenge on those living on the earth who shed our blood?"

11 Each of them was given a white robe. They were told to rest a little longer until the number of their fellow servants and their brothers was completed, who would be killed as they themselves had been.

12 Then I saw the lamb open the sixth seal. There was a powerful earthquake. The sun turned as black as sackcloth made of hair, and the full moon turned as red as blood.

13 The stars in the sky fell to the earth like a fig tree drops its fruit when it is shaken by a strong wind.

14 The sky vanished like a scroll being rolled up, and every mountain and island was moved from its place.

15 Then the kings of the earth, the important people, the generals, the rich, the powerful, and all the slaves and free people concealed themselves in caves and among the rocks in the mountains.

16 They told the mountains and rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of the one who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the lamb.

17 For the great day of their wrath has come, and who is able to endure it?"

Revelation 7

1 After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth. They were holding back the four winds of the earth so that no wind could blow on the land, on the sea, or on any tree.

2 I saw another angel coming from the east having the seal of the living God. He cried out in a loud voice to the four angels who had been permitted to harm the land and sea,

3 "Don't harm the land, the sea, or the trees until we have marked the servants of our God with a seal on their foreheads."

4 I heard the number of those who were sealed: 144,000. Those who were sealed were from every tribe of Israel:

5 12,000 from the tribe of Judah were sealed, 12,000 from the tribe of Reuben, 12,000 from the tribe of Gad,

6 12,000 from the tribe of Asher, 12,000 from the tribe of Naphtali, 12,000 from the tribe of Manasseh,

7 12,000 from the tribe of Simeon, 12,000 from the tribe of Levi, 12,000 from the tribe of Issachar,

8 12,000 from the tribe of Zebulun, 12,000 from the tribe of Joseph, and 12,000 from the tribe of Benjamin were sealed.

9 After these things I looked, and there was a crowd so large that no one was able to count it! They were from every nation, tribe, people, and language. They were standing in front of the throne and the lamb and were wearing white robes, with palm branches in their hands.

10 They cried out in a loud voice, "Salvation belongs to our God, who sits on the throne, and to the lamb!"

11 All the angels stood around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures. They fell on their faces in front of the throne and worshipped God,

12 saying, "Amen! Praise, glory, wisdom, thanks, honour, power, and strength be to our God forever and ever! Amen!"

19th December

Joel 2

15 "Sound the ram's horn in Zion! Dedicate a fast and call for a solemn assembly!

16 Gather the people! Dedicate the congregation! Bring in the elders. Gather the youngsters and even the nursing infants. Call the bridegroom from his wedding preparations, and the bride from her dressing room.

17 As they serve between the porch and the altar, let the priests and ministers of the LORD weep and pray: 'Spare your people, LORD, and do not make your heritage a disgrace so that nations ridicule them. Why should they say among the people, "Where is their God?"'"

18 Then the LORD will show great concern for his land, and will have compassion on his people.

19 The LORD will say to his people, "Look! I will send you grain, new wine, and oil, and you will be content with them. I will no longer cause you to be a disgrace among the nations."

20 "I will remove the northerners from you, driving them to a barren and desolate land — the front toward the Dead Sea and the back toward the Mediterranean. Their stench will rise, and their stinking odour will ascend, because they have done great things."

21 "Stop being afraid, land! Rejoice and be glad, because the LORD will do great things.

22 Stop being afraid, beasts of the field, because the desert pastures will bloom, the trees will bear their fruit, and the fig tree and vine will deliver their wealth.

23 And so be glad, children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God, because he has given you the right amount of early rain, and he will cause the rain to fall for you, both the early rain and the later rain as before.

24 The threshing floors will be smothered in grain, and the vats will overflow with wine and oil.

25 "Then I will restore to you the years that the locust swarm devoured, as did the young locust, the other locusts, and the ravaging locust, that great army of mine that I sent among you.

26 You will have plenty to eat, and will be fully satisfied. You will praise the name of the LORD your God, who has performed wonders specifically for you. And my people will never be ashamed.

27 As a result, you will know that I am in the midst of Israel; that I myself am the LORD your God — and there is none other! And my people will never be ashamed."

28 "Then it will come about at a later time that I will pour out my Spirit on every person. Your sons and your daughters will prophesy. Your elderly people will dream dreams, and your young people will see visions.

29 Also at that time I will pour out my Spirit upon men and women servants.

30 I will display warnings in the heavens, and on the earth blood, fire, and columns of smoke.

31 The sun will be given over to darkness, and the moon to blood, before the coming of the great and terrifying Day of the LORD.

32 And everyone who calls upon the name of the LORD will be delivered. For as the LORD has said, 'In Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there will be those who escape, the survivors whom the LORD is calling.'"

Joel 3

1 "Look, now! In those very days and at that time, when I restore prosperity to Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I will gather all nations, bringing them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. I will set out my case against them there, on behalf of my people, my heritage Israel, whom they scattered among the nations, apportioning my land among themselves.

3 They cast lots for my people — they sold a young boy in exchange for a prostitute, and a girl for wine, so they could drink.
4 Furthermore, what have you to do with me, Tyre, Sidon, and all the sea coasts of Philistia? Are you taking revenge on me? If you are taking revenge on me, I'll send it back on you swiftly and promptly,
5 since you took my silver and gold, carried my precious treasures into your temples,
6 and sold Judah's and Jerusalem's descendants to the Greeks, so you can remove them far from their homeland!
7 Look, I will bring them up from where you sold them, I will turn your revenge back upon you,
8 and I will sell your sons and daughters into the control of the people of Judah. And they will sell them to the people of Sheba, a country far away." Indeed, the LORD has spoken.
9 "Declare this among the nations: 'Prepare for war! Wake up your elite forces! Let all the soldiers draw near! Call them up!
10 Beat your plough blades into swords, and your pruning knives into spears! Let the frail say, "I am strong!"
11 Hurry and come, all you gentiles! Gather yourselves together!'" LORD, cause your mighty army to come down.
12 "Let the nations be awakened and come to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; because I will sit to judge all the surrounding nations.
13 Put in the sickle, because the harvest is ripe. Come and go down, because the winepress is full. The wine vats are overflowing, because their evil is great!
14 Multitudes, multitudes in the Valley of Judgement! For the Day of the LORD is near in the Valley of Judgement!
15 The sun and moon will grow dark, and the stars will stop shining.
16 The LORD will roar from Zion, and shout from Jerusalem. The heavens and the earth will shake, but the LORD will be the refuge of his people, and the strength of the people of Israel."
17 "And truly you will know that I am the LORD your God, dwelling in Zion, my holy mountain. Then Jerusalem will be holy, and no foreigners will invade her again.
18 It will come about at that time that the mountains will drip with newly pressed wine, the hills will flow with milk, and the streams of Judah will flow abundantly. A fountain will spring from the Temple of the LORD, to water the Valley of the Acacias.
19 Egypt will be desolate, and Edom will be a desert, because of violence against the people of Judah since they shed innocent blood in their land.
20 But Judah will live forever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.
21 I will acquit their bloodguilt that has not yet been acquitted. For the LORD lives in Zion!

Amos 1

1 The words of Amos, who was among the sheep breeders of Tekoa, which he spoke concerning Israel during the reign of Uzziah, king of Judah and during the reign of Joash's son Jeroboam, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.
2 He said, "From Zion the LORD roars, and from Jerusalem he shouts aloud. The shepherds' pastures will languish, and Carmel's summit will wither.
3 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Damascus — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they have trampled down Gilead with ironclad threshing sleds.
4 So I will send down fire upon the house of Hazael, and it will devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.
5 I will shatter the gate bars of Damascus, and I will cut off the residents of the Aven Valley, along with the one who holds the sceptre from Beth-eden; and the people of Aram will be exiled to Kir," says the LORD.

6 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Gaza — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they exiled the entire population, delivering them to Edom.
7 So I will send down fire upon the wall of Gaza, and it will devour their fortified citadels;
8 and I will cut off the inhabitants of Ashdod, along with Ashkelon's ruler. I will turn to attack Ekron, and the rest of the Philistines will die," says the Lord God.
9 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Tyre — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they delivered the entire population to Edom, and did not remember their covenant with their relatives.
10 So I will send down fire upon the wall of Tyre, and it will devour their fortified citadels."
11 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Edom — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because he pursued his brother with a sword, refusing to be compassionate. His anger was raging continuously; he kept up his unending wrath.
12 So I will send down fire upon Teman, and it will devour the fortified citadels of Bozrah."
13 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of the Ammonites — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they ripped open the pregnant women of Gilead in order to enlarge their national borders.
14 So I will send down fire upon the wall of Rabbah, and it will devour their fortified citadels with an alarm sounding in the time of battle, and with a whirlwind in the time of storm.
15 Their king will go into captivity — he and his princes together," says the LORD.

Amos 2

1 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Moab — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they cremated the bones of the king of Edom, burning them to lime.
2 So I will send down fire upon Moab, and it will devour the fortified citadels of Kerioth. Moab will die in the uproar of battle, with a war cry and with the trumpeting of the ram's horn.
3 I will execute their rulers among them, killing all of their officials as well," says the LORD.
4 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Judah — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they rejected the Law of the LORD and did not keep his statutes. Their own lies made them wander off, following along the same path their ancestors walked.
5 So I will send down fire upon Judah, and it will devour the fortified citadels of Jerusalem."
6 This is what the LORD says: "For three transgressions of Israel — and now for a fourth — I will not turn away; because they sold the righteous for money, and the poor for sandals,
7 moving quickly to rub the face of the needy in the dirt. Corrupting the ways of the humble, a man and his father go to the same woman, deliberately defiling my holy name.
8 They lay down beside every altar, on garments pledged as collateral, drinking wine paid for through fines imposed by the temple of their gods.

Revelation 7

13 "Who are these people wearing white robes," one of the elders asked me, "and where did they come from?"

14 I told him, "Sir, you know." Then he told me, "These are the people who are coming out of the terrible suffering. They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the lamb.

15 That is why: "They are in front of the throne of God and worship him night and day in his Temple. The one who sits on the throne will shelter them.

16 They will never be hungry or thirsty again. Neither the sun nor its heat will ever beat down on them,

17 because the lamb in the centre of the throne will be their shepherd. He will lead them to springs filled with the water of life, and God will wipe every tear from their eyes."

Revelation 8

1 When the lamb opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

2 Then I saw the seven angels who stand in God's presence, and seven trumpets were given to them.

3 Another angel came with a gold censer and stood at the altar. He was given a large quantity of incense to offer on the gold altar before the throne, along with the prayers of all the saints.

4 The smoke from the incense and the prayers of the saints went up from the angel's hand to God.

5 The angel took the censer, filled it with fire from the altar, and threw it on the earth. Then there were peals of thunder, noises, flashes of lightning, and an earthquake.

6 The seven angels who had the seven trumpets got ready to blow them.

7 When the first angel blew his trumpet, hail and fire were mixed with blood and thrown on the earth. One-third of the earth was burned up, one-third of the trees was burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.

8 When the second angel blew his trumpet, something like a huge mountain burning with fire was thrown into the sea. One-third of the sea turned into blood, 9 one-third of the creatures that were living in the sea died, and one-third of the ships was destroyed.

10 When the third angel blew his trumpet, a huge star blazing like a torch fell from heaven. It fell on one-third of the rivers and on the springs of water.

11 The name of the star is Wormwood. One-third of the water turned into wormwood, and many people died from the water because it had turned bitter.

12 When the fourth angel blew his trumpet, one-third of the sun, one-third of the moon, and one-third of the stars were struck so that one-third of them turned dark. One-third of the day was kept from having light, as was the night.

13 Then I looked, and I heard an eagle flying overhead say in a loud voice, "How terrible, how terrible, how terrible for those living on the earth, because of the blasts of the remaining trumpets that the three angels are about to blow!"

Amos 2

9 Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorites in front of them, though their height seemed like a cedar, though their strength seemed like an oak, but whose fruit I destroyed from above and the roots from beneath.

10 Furthermore, I brought you up from the land of Egypt, leading you in the wilderness for 40 years, to take possession of the land of the Amorites.

11 I also raised up your sons to be prophets, and from your young men I raised up Nazirites. Is this not true, people of Israel?" declares the LORD.

12 "But you forced the Nazirites to drink wine, and commanded the prophets, 'You are not to prophesy!'"

13 "Oh, how I am burdened down with you, as a wagon is overloaded with harvested grain!

14 So the swift runner will not escape, the valiant will not fortify his strength, and the mighty warrior will not save his life.

15 The skilled archer will not be able to stand, the swift runner will not survive, and the mounted rider will not preserve his own life.

16 Even the bravest of elite troops will run away naked at that time," declares the LORD.

Amos 3

1 "Listen to this message that the LORD has spoken about you, people of Israel. It concerns the entire family that I brought from the land of Egypt:

2 "You alone have I known from among all of the families of mankind; therefore I will hold you accountable for all your iniquities."

3 "Will a couple walk in unity without having met?

4 Will a lion roar in the forest without having found its prey? Will a young lion cry from its den without having caught anything?

5 Does a bird fall into a snare on the ground without any bait in the trap? Will a trap snap shut when there is nothing to catch?

6 And when an alarm sounds in the city, the people will tremble, won't they? If there is trouble in a city, the LORD has brought it about, has he not?"

7 "Truly the Lord GOD will do nothing he has mentioned without revealing his purposes to his servants the prophets.

8 A lion has roared! Who will not fear? The Lord GOD has spoken! Who will not prophesy?

9 Announce this in the fortified citadels of Ashdod, and in the fortified citadels of the land of Egypt. Tell them, 'Gather together on the mountains of Samaria; look at the great misery among the citadels, along with the oppression within Egypt.'

10 Because they do not know how to act right," declares the LORD, "they are filling their strongholds with treasures that they took from others by violence into their fortified citadels."

11 Therefore this is what the Lord GOD says: "An enemy will surround the land. He will pull down your defences, and plunder your fortified citadels."

12 This is what the LORD says: "Just as a shepherd might save from the lion's mouth only two leg bones or a scrap of an ear, the Israelites will be saved in a similar manner — those in Samaria who sit on the remains of their broken beds, and those in Damascus who lie on the edge of their couches."

13 "Listen and testify against the house of Jacob," declares the Lord GOD, the God of the Heavenly Armies,

14 "because on that day I will lay out the charges against Israel. I will also bring judgement upon the altars of Bethel; the horns of the altar will be cut off and will fall to the ground.

15 I will wreck both the winter house and the summer house, and the ivory houses will fall. These palaces will surely fall," declares the LORD.

Amos 4

1 "Listen to this message, you fat cows from Bashan, who live on the Samaritan mountains, who oppress the poor, who rob the needy, and who constantly ask your husbands for one more drink!"

2 The Lord GOD has taken a sacred oath: "The day is coming when they will take you away on fishhooks, every last one of you on fishhooks.

3 Each of you will go out through the breaches of the walls straight to Mt. Hermon," declares the LORD.

4 "Come to Bethel and sin, to Gilgal and sin even more! Bring along your morning sacrifices, and pay your tithes every other day.

5 While you're at it, present a thank offering with leaven, and publicize your freewill offerings, letting everyone hear about it, because this is what you really love to do, you Israelis," declares the Lord GOD.

6 "I also have scheduled food shortages for you in all of your cities, and lack of bread in all of your settlements, but you haven't returned to me," declares the LORD.

7 "I therefore have withheld the rain from you three months before the harvest, causing rain to come upon one city, but not upon another, and upon one field but not upon another, so that it would wither.

8 So the people of two or three cities staggered away to another city in order to obtain drinking water, but you have not returned to me," declares the LORD.

9 "I afflicted you with blight and fungus; and the locust swarm devoured the harvest of your gardens, your vineyards, your fig trees, and your olive trees, but you have not returned to me," declares the LORD.

10 "I sent plagues among you as I did with Egypt. I killed your choicest young men with the sword. I took your horses away from you. I filled your noses with the stench of your encampments, but you have not returned to me," declares the LORD.

11 "I overthrew your cities, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. You've become like a burning ember, snatched from the fire, but you have not returned to me," declares the LORD.

12 "Therefore this is what I will do to you, Israel. Because I am about to do this, prepare to be summoned to your God, Israel!"

13 "Look! The one who crafts mountains, who creates the wind, who reveals what he is thinking to mankind, who darkens the morning light, who tramples down the high places of the land — the LORD, the God of the Heavenly Armies is his name."

Amos 5

1 "Hear this accusation that I am bringing against you: "A dirge, house of Israel:

2 Fallen is Israel the virgin — never to rise again! She is abandoned on her own land, with no one to raise her up.

3 "For this is what the Lord GOD says: 'The city that is sending out a thousand will have a hundred left; The city that is sending out a hundred will have ten left of the house of Israel.'"

4 "For this is what the LORD says to the house of Israel: 'Seek me and live,

5 but don't seek Bethel. Don't go to Gilgal, and don't pass over to Beer-sheba. Because Gilgal will surely go into captivity, and Bethel will come to nothing.

6 Seek the LORD and live! Otherwise, he may break out like a fire in the house of Joseph and devour Bethel, and there will be no one to extinguish it.

7 Those of you who are making justice taste bitter, and who have thrown righteousness to the ground:

8 Seek the one who fashions the Pleiades and Orion, who turns the deep darkness into morning, who darkens day into night, who calls out to the waters of the sea, pouring them out onto the surface of the earth — the LORD is his name.

9 It is he who is raining sudden destruction upon the strong like lightning, so that ruin comes upon the fortress.

10 They have hated those who are presenting their cases in court, detesting the one who speaks truthfully.

11 "Therefore, since you continually trample the poor, taxing his grain, building houses of stone in which you won't live and planting fine vineyards from which you won't drink —

12 and because I know that your transgressions are many, and your sins are numerous as you oppose the righteous, taking bribes as a ransom, and turning away the poor in court —

13 therefore the prudent person remains silent at such a time, for the time is evil.

14 "Pursue good and not evil, so that you may live, and this is what will happen: The LORD God of the Heavenly Armies will be with you, as you have been claiming.

15 Hate evil and love good, and establish justice in court — perhaps the LORD, the God of the Heavenly Armies, will be gracious to the survivors of Joseph."

16 Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of the Heavenly Armies, the Lord, says: "There will be dirges in all of the streets; and in all of the highways they will cry out in anguish. They will call the farmer to mourning and those who lament to grieve.

17 And in all of the vineyards there will be mourning when I pass through your midst," says the LORD.

18 "Woe to those who are craving the Day of the LORD! How is it to your benefit, this Day of the LORD? It's a day of darkness to you, and not light.

19 It will be like a man who runs from a lion, only to encounter a bear; or who comes home, leans his hand against a wall, and a serpent bites him!

20 Will not the Day of the LORD be darkness, and not light — pitch black at that, without a ray of sunshine?"

21 "I hate — I despise — your feast days, and your solemn convocations stink.

22 And if you send up burnt offerings to me as well as your grain offerings, I will not accept them, nor will I consider your peace offerings of fattened cattle.

23 Spare me your noisy singing — I will not listen to your musical instruments.

24 "But let justice roll on like many waters, and righteousness like an ever-flowing river.

25 "Was it to me that you brought offerings and gifts in the desert for 40 years, house of Israel?

26 And you carried the tent of your king — and Saturn, your star god idols that you crafted for yourselves.

27 So I will cause you to be taken captive beyond Damascus," says the LORD, whose name is God of the Heavenly Armies.

Revelation 9

1 When the fifth angel blew his trumpet, I saw a star that had fallen to earth from the sky. The star was given the key to the shaft of the bottomless pit.

2 It opened the shaft of the bottomless pit, and smoke came out of the shaft like the smoke from a large furnace. The sun and the air were darkened with the smoke from the shaft.

3 Locusts came out of the smoke onto the earth, and they were given power like that of earthly scorpions.

4 They were told not to harm the grass on the earth, any green plant, or any tree. They could harm only the people who do not have the seal of God on their foreheads.

5 They were not allowed to kill them, but were only allowed to torture them for five months. Their torture was like the pain of a scorpion when it stings someone.

6 In those days people will seek death, but never find it. They will long to die, but death will escape them.

7 The locusts looked like horses prepared for battle. On their heads were victor's crowns that looked like gold, and their faces were like human faces.

8 They had hair like women's hair and teeth like lions' teeth.

9 They had breastplates like iron, and the noise of their wings was like the roar of chariots with many horses rushing into battle.

10 They had tails and stingers like scorpions, and they had the power to hurt people with their tails for five months.

11 They had the angel of the bottomless pit ruling over them as king. In Hebrew he is called Abaddon, and in Greek he is called Apollyon.

12 The first catastrophe is over. After these things there are still two more catastrophes to come.

13 When the sixth angel blew his trumpet, I heard a voice from the four horns of the gold altar in front of God.

14 It told the sixth angel who had the trumpet, "Release the four angels who are held at the great Euphrates River."

15 So the four angels who were ready for that hour, day, month, and year were released to kill one-third of humanity.

16 The number of cavalry troops was 200,000,000. I heard how many there were.

17 This was how I saw the horses in my vision: The riders wore breastplates that had the colour of fire, sapphire, and sulphur. The heads of the horses were like lions' heads, and fire, smoke, and sulphur came out of their mouths.

18 By these three plagues — the fire, the smoke, and the sulphur that came out of their mouths — one-third of humanity was killed.

19 For the power of these horses is in their mouths and their tails. Their tails have heads like snakes, which they use to inflict pain.

20 The rest of the people who survived these plagues did not repent from their evil actions or stop worshipping demons and idols made of gold, silver, bronze, stone, and wood, which cannot see, hear, or walk.

21 They did not repent from their murders, their witchcraft, their sexual immorality, or their thefts.

Amos 6

1 "Woe to those who are at ease in Zion, to those who rest on the mountain of Samaria — the famous men of the nations to whom the house of Israel came!

2 Cross over to Calneh and look around, then go on to that great city of Hamath, and from there go down to Gath of the Philistines. Are you better than these kingdoms? Or is their territory more extensive than yours?

3 "Disbelieving that a day of evil will come, embracing opportunities to commit violence, 4 lying on ivory beds, stretching out on your couches, eating lambs from the flock, and fattened calves from the stall, 5 chanting to the sound of stringed instruments as if they were David, composing songs to themselves as if they were musicians, 6 drinking wine from bowls, anointing themselves with the choicest of oils, but not grieving on the occasion of Joseph's ruin — 7 therefore you will be the first to go into exile, and the celebrations of those who are lounging will end."

8 "The Lord God has sworn by himself," declares the LORD, the God of the Heavenly Armies, "I utterly detest the arrogance of Jacob; I hate his fortresses; and I will deliver up the city, along with everyone in it. 9 "And if there are ten men remaining in one house, they will die. 10 One's relative will pick up the corpse to carry them from the house for burning, saying to whomever remains inside the house, 'Is there anyone still with you?' And he will say, 'No.' He will respond, 'Be quiet, because we do not mention the name "LORD".' 11 For indeed, the LORD is giving the command — and he will smash the large house to rubble and the small house into bits. 12 "Horses don't run over bare rock, do they? One doesn't plough rock with oxen, does he? But you have turned justice to gall, and the fruit of righteousness into bitterness. 13 You rejoice in nothing worth mentioning — that is, you keep on saying, 'We captured Karnaim by our own strength of will and by our own effort, didn't we?' 14 "So look, house of Israel! I will raise up a nation against you," declares the LORD, the God of the Heavenly Armies, "and they will harass you from the entrance of Hamath to the wadi of the wilderness."

Amos 7

1 This is what the Lord God showed me: Look, he was forming locust swarms as the latter plantings were just beginning to sprout. Indeed, the king had just taken his first fruit tax. 2 And so it came about that when the swarm had finished eating the grass of the land, I was saying, "Lord God, forgive — please! How will Jacob stand, since he is small?" 3 So the Lord relented from this. "This will not happen," said the LORD. 4 This is what the Lord God showed me: Look, the Lord God was calling for judgement by fire, and it was drying up the great depths of the ocean and consuming the land. 5 So I kept on saying, "Lord God, forgive — please! How will Jacob stand, since he is so small?" 6 So the LORD relented from this. "This will not happen, either," said the Lord God. 7 This is what he showed me: Look, the Lord was standing upon a wall that stood straight and true, with a plumb line in his hand. 8 And the LORD was asking me, "What do you see, Amos?" I replied, "A plumb line." So the Lord said, "Look, I have set a plumb line in the midst of my people Israel. I will no longer spare them. 9 Isaac's high places will be destroyed, and the sanctuaries of Israel will be ruined. I will rise in opposition to the house of Jeroboam with my sword."

10 So Amaziah priest of Bethel sent a message to Jeroboam king of Israel. It said, "Amos has been conspiring against you in the very heart of the house of Israel! The land cannot bear everything he has to say,
11 because Amos is saying this: 'By the sword will Jeroboam die, and Israel will surely go into exile far from her homeland.'"
12 So Amaziah kept saying to Amos, "Get out of here, you seer! Go back to the land of Judah. Live there and prophesy there.
13 Don't prophesy anymore at Bethel, because it's the king's sanctuary and a temple of the kingdom."
14 Amos replied in answer to Amaziah, "I am no prophet, nor am I a prophet's son, for I have been shepherding and picking the fruit of sycamore trees.
15 But the LORD took me from tending the flock and the LORD kept saying to me, 'Go, prophesy to my people Israel.'
16 "Very well then, hear this message from the LORD: 'You are saying, "Don't prophesy against Israel, and don't preach against the house of Isaac."
17 'Therefore this is what the LORD says: "Your wife will become a whore in the city, and your sons and daughters will die by the sword. Your land will be divided and apportioned, and you will die in a foreign land. Israel will surely go into exile, far from its homeland.'"

Amos 8

1 This is what the Lord God showed me: Look! A basket of summer fruit!
2 And he was asking, "What do you see, Amos?" I answered, "A basket of summer fruit." Then the LORD told me, "The end approaches for my people Israel. I will no longer spare them.
3 At that time," declares the Lord God, "the temple songs will be wailing. Many bodies will accumulate everywhere.
4 "Hear this, you who are swallowing up the needy, who intend to make the poor of the land fail,
5 and who are saying, 'When will the New Moon fade so we may sell grain, and the Sabbath conclude so we may market winnowed wheat?' — short-changing the measure, raising the price, falsifying the scales by treachery,
6 buying the poor for cash, and the needy for a pair of sandals, selling chaff mixed in with the wheat."
7 "The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob: I will never forget anything they have done.
8 Surely the land will tremble because of this, won't it? And all who live in it will mourn, won't they? The entire land will swell up like a flooded river. It will be stirred up and then will sink like the river of Egypt.
9 It will come about at that time," declares the Lord God, "I will cause the sun to set at noon and the earth to darken in the daylight.
10 I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all of your songs to dirges. I will cause all of you to put on sackcloth and to shave all of your heads. I will make that time like mourning for an only son, and its conclusion will be like the end of a bitter day."
11 "Look! The days are coming," declares the Lord God, "when I will send a famine throughout the land — not a famine of food or a thirst for water — but rather a famine of hearing the words of the LORD.
12 People will stagger from sea to sea, from north to east. They will run back and forth, searching for a message from the LORD, but they won't find it.
13 At that time, the beautiful virgins will faint, as will the strong young men — from thirst.
14 Those who have been swearing oaths by the sin of Samaria, or who say, 'As your god lives, Dan. . .' or who say "As the way of Beer-sheba lives. . ." — will fall, and will never rise again."

Amos 9

1 I saw the Lord standing beside the altar as he was saying, "Strike the doorposts so that the thresholds tremble, bringing them down on the heads of all of them. Those who survive I will kill with the sword. Those who flee will not escape. There will be no deliverance for the fugitives.

2 "Even if they burrow into Sheol, from there my hand will find them. Even if they ascend to the heavens, from there I will bring them down.

3 Even if they hide at the top of Mount Carmel, from there I will search and seize them. Even if they hide from my sight in the depths of the sea, from there I will order the serpent to strike them.

4 Even if they go into exile among their enemies, from there I will order the sword to kill them. I will fix my gaze on them to inflict disaster, and not to do good.

5 "The Lord God of the Heavenly Armies who is touching the earth so that it melts and all of its inhabitants mourn there — the land rises like the Nile River, but sinks like the river of Egypt —

6 who is building his stairway to heaven and setting its foundation on earth; who is calling for the waters of the sea and pouring them out over the surface of the land — the LORD is his name!

7 "Aren't you people of Israel like the people of Cush to me?" declares the LORD. "I brought Israel up from the land of Egypt, did I not, as well as the Philistines from Caphtor and the Arameans from Kir?

8 Look! The eyes of the Lord God are on the sinful kingdom. I will destroy it from the face of the earth; but I will not totally destroy the house of Jacob," declares the LORD.

9 "Look! I'm giving the order: I will sift the house of Israel throughout all the nations, as one sifts with a sieve, yet not a single kernel will reach the ground!

10 All sinners among my people will die by the sword, especially all who are saying, 'Disaster will not come upon or conquer us!'"

11 "At that time I will restore David's fallen tent, restoring its torn places. I will restore its ruins, rebuilding it as it was long ago, 12 so my people may inherit the remnant of Edom and all of the nations that bear my name," declares the LORD who is bringing this about.

13 "Look! The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when the one who sows will overtake the harvester and the treader of grapes will overtake the planter. Fresh wine will drip down from the mountains, cascading down from the hills.

14 I will surely restore my people Israel; they will rebuild the ruined cities and inhabit them. They will plant vineyards and drink the wine from them. They will plant gardens and eat the fruit from them.

15 I will plant the people of Israel in their own land, never again to be torn out of their land that I gave them," says the LORD your God.

Revelation 10

1 Then I saw another powerful angel come down from heaven. He was dressed in a cloud, and there was a rainbow over his head. His face was like the sun, and his legs were like columns of fire.

2 He held a small, opened scroll in his hand. Setting his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land,

3 he shouted in a loud voice as a lion roars. When he shouted, the seven thunders spoke with voices of their own.

4 When the seven thunders spoke, I was going to write, but I heard a voice from heaven say, "Seal up what the seven thunders have said, and don't write it down."

5 Then the angel whom I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised his right hand to heaven.

6 He swore an oath by the one who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and everything in it, the earth and everything in it, and the sea and everything in it: "There will be no more delay.

7 When the time approaches for the seventh angel to blow his trumpet, God's secret plan will be fulfilled, as he had announced to his servants, the prophets."

8 Then the voice that I had heard from heaven spoke to me again, saying, "Go and take the opened scroll from the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

9 So I went to the angel and asked him to give me the small scroll. "Take it and eat it," he told me. "It will turn bitter in your stomach, but it will be as sweet as honey in your mouth."

10 So I took the small scroll from the angel's hand and ate it. It was as sweet as honey in my mouth, but when I had eaten it, it turned bitter in my stomach.

11 Then the seven thunders told me, "You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, languages, and kings."

Revelation 11

1 Then I was given a stick like a measuring rod. I was told, "Stand up and measure the Temple of God and the altar, and count those who worship there.

2 But don't measure the courtyard outside the Temple. Leave that out, because it is given to the nations, and they will trample the Holy City for 42 months.

3 I will give my two witnesses who wear sackcloth the authority to prophesy for 1,260 days."

4 These witnesses are the two olive trees and the two lamp stands standing in the presence of the Lord of the earth.

5 And if anyone should want to hurt them, fire comes out of their mouths and burns up their enemies. If anyone wants to hurt them, he must be killed in this manner.

6 These witnesses have authority to close the heavens in order to keep rain from falling while they are prophesying. They also have authority to turn bodies of water into blood and to strike the earth with any plague, as often as they desire.

7 When they have finished their testimony, the beast that comes up from the bottomless pit will wage war against them, conquer them, and kill them.

8 Their dead bodies will lie in the street of the great city that is spiritually called Sodom and Egypt, where their Lord was crucified.

9 For three and a half days some members of the peoples, tribes, languages, and nations will look at their dead bodies and will not allow them to be placed in a tomb.

10 Those living on earth will gloat over them, celebrate, and send gifts to each other, because these two prophets had tormented those living on earth.

Obadiah

1 Obadiah's vision:

This is what the Lord GOD has to say about Edom. We have heard a report from the LORD, and a messenger has been dispatched among the nations to say "Get up! Let us rise up against her to fight!"

2 "Look! I will make you insignificant among the nations; you will be utterly despised.

3 The arrogance in your heart has deceived you, who inhabit hidden places on rocky cliffs, whose dwelling is in the heights, who say continually to yourself, 'Who will bring me down to the ground?'

4 Though you soar high like the eagle and make your nest among the stars, I will bring you down even from there," declares the LORD.

5 "If thieves came against you, if marauding gangs by night — Oh, how you will be destroyed! — Would they not steal only until they had enough? If grape pickers came to you, would they not leave some grapes to be gleaned?

6 "Oh, how Esau is ransacked, how his hidden treasures are thoroughly searched out!

7 All your allies will force you out of the land, your associates will deceive you and prevail against you. Your friends will lay out a trap for you, and you will never understand it!

8 "In that day," declares the LORD, "will I not destroy the wise from Edom, and those with understanding from Esau's Mountain?

9 Teman, our mighty soldiers will be dismayed, so that every man from Esau's Mountain will be slaughtered."

10 "Shame will overwhelm you because of the violence you inflicted on your brother Jacob, and you will be excluded forever.

11 "On the day you just stood by, when strangers carried away Jacob's wealth and foreigners entered his gates, casting lots for Jerusalem, you were just like one of them.

12 "You should not have gloated over your brother, on the day of his calamity. You should not have rejoiced when the descendants of Judah were perishing. You should not have boasted when they were in distress.

13 "You should not have entered the gate of my people on the day of their disaster. Also, you should not have gloated over Judah's misfortune on the day of his disaster, nor should you have plundered his wealth on the day of his disaster.

14 And you should not have taken your stand at the crossroads to cut down his fleeing refugees, nor should you have handed over his survivors on the day of his distress."

15 "Indeed, the Day of the LORD approaches all nations. As you have done it will be done to you — your deeds will return to haunt you!

16 Just as you have drunk from the cup of my wrath upon my holy mountain, so will all nations drink from the cup of my wrath perpetually. They will drink, they will gulp it down, and they will be as if they had never existed!

17 "But there will be a delivered remnant on Mount Zion. There will be holiness, and the house of Jacob will take back their possessions."

18 "The house of Jacob will be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, but the house of Esau will be kindling. Then Jacob and Joseph will burn and consume Esau, and no survivor will remain from the house of Esau." Indeed, the LORD has spoken it.

19 "Those in the Negev will possess Esau's Mountain, and those in the Shephelah the Philistines. They will possess the fields of Ephraim and the fields of Samaria, while Benjamin will possess the territory of Gilead.

20 The exiles, the Israeli host, will possess the territory of the Canaanites all the way to Zarephath. The exiles of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad will possess the cities of the Negev.

21 Deliverers will assemble on Mount Zion to judge Esau's Mountain, and to the LORD will the kingdom belong!"

Jonah 1

- 1 Now this message from the LORD came to Amittai's son Jonah:
- 2 "Get up and go to Nineveh, that great city! Then cry out in protest against it, because their evil has come to my attention."
- 3 But Jonah got up and fled from the LORD to Tarshish. He went down to Joppa, and secured passage on a ship bound for Tarshish. He paid the fare and boarded, intending to go with the mariners to Tarshish to escape from the LORD.
- 4 Then the LORD sent a great wind over the sea, and a severe storm broke out. It seemed as if the ship were about to break up.
- 5 At this point the mariners became terrified, and each man cried out to his gods. They began to throw the cargo into the sea in order to lighten the vessel. But Jonah had gone down into the vessel's hold, had lain down, and was fast asleep.
- 6 So the captain approached him, and told him, "What are you doing asleep? Get up! Call on your gods! Maybe your god will think about us so we won't die!"
- 7 Meanwhile, each crewman told another, "Come, let's cast lots to find out whose fault it is that we're in this trouble." So they cast lots, and the lot indicated Jonah!
- 8 So they interrogated him: "Tell us, why has this trouble come upon us? What's your occupation? Where'd you come from? What's your home country? What's your nationality?"
- 9 "I'm a Hebrew," he replied, "and I'm afraid of the LORD God of heaven, who made the sea along with the dry land!"
- 10 In mounting fear, the men asked him, "What have you done?" The men were aware that he was fleeing from the LORD, because he had admitted this to them.
- 11 Because the sea was growing more and more stormy, they asked him, "What must we do to you so the sea will calm down for us?"
- 12 Jonah told them, "Pick me up and toss me into the sea. Then the sea will calm down for you, because I know that it's my fault that this mighty storm has come upon you."
- 13 Even so, the crewmen rowed hard to bring the ship toward dry land, but they were unsuccessful, because the sea was growing more and more stormy.
- 14 At last they cried out to the LORD, "Please, LORD, do not let us perish because of this man's life, and do not hold us responsible for innocent blood, because you, LORD, have done what pleased you."
- 15 So they picked up Jonah and tossed him into the sea, and the sea stopped raging.
- 16 Then the men feared the LORD greatly, offered a sacrifice to the LORD, and made vows.
- 17 Now the LORD had prepared a large sea creature to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was inside the sea creature for three days and three nights.

Jonah 2

- 1 Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God from inside the sea creature.
- 2 He said: "I called out to the LORD from the midst of affliction directed at me, and he answered me. From the depths of death I cried out for help; and you heard my cry.
- 3 You cast me into the deep — into the heart of the sea. Flood waters engulfed me. All your breakers and your waves swirled over me.
- 4 So I told myself, 'I have been driven away from you. How will I again gaze on your holy Temple?'
- 5 Flood waters encompassed me, the deep surrounded me while seaweeds wrapped around my head.
- 6 I sank to the roots of the mountains; the earth's prison bars closed around me forever. Yet you resurrect the dead from the Pit, LORD my God!"
- 7 "As my life was fading away, I remembered the LORD; and my prayer came to you in your holy Temple.
- 8 Those who cling to vain idols leave behind the gracious love that could have been theirs.

9 But as for me, with a voice of thanksgiving I will sacrifice to you; what I have vowed I will pay. Deliverance is the LORD's!"

10 Then the LORD spoke to the sea creature, and it spewed Jonah onto the dry land.

Jonah 3

1 This message from the LORD came to Jonah a second time:

2 "Get up and go to Nineveh, that great city, and proclaim to it the message that I tell you."

3 So Jonah got up and went to Nineveh to do what LORD had ordered. Now Nineveh was a very large city, requiring a three-day journey to cross through it.

4 As Jonah started into the city on the first day's journey, he proclaimed the message, "40 days more and Nineveh will be overthrown!"

5 The people of Nineveh believed God. They called for a fast, and from the greatest to the least important of them, they put on sackcloth.

6 When the message reached the king of Nineveh, he got up from his throne, removed his royal garments, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat down in ashes.

7 Then he had this proclamation published throughout Nineveh: "By decree of the king and his nobles: No man or animal, herd or flock, is to taste anything, graze, or drink water.

8 Instead, let both man and animal clothe themselves with sackcloth and cry out to God forcefully. Let every person turn from his evil ways and from his tendency to do violence.

9 Who knows but that God may relent, have compassion, and turn from his fierce anger, so that we are not exterminated?"

10 God took note of what they did — that they turned from their evil ways. Because God relented concerning the trouble about which he had warned them, he did not carry it out.

Jonah 4

1 Greatly displeased, Jonah flew into a rage.

2 So he prayed to the LORD, "LORD, isn't this what I said while I was still in my home country? That's why I fled previously to Tarshish, because I knew you're a compassionate God, slow to anger, overflowing with gracious love, and reluctant to send trouble.

3 Therefore, LORD, please kill me, because it's better for me to die than to live!"

4 The LORD replied, "Does being angry make you right?"

5 Then Jonah left the city and sat down on the eastern side. There he made a shelter for himself and sat down under its shade to see what would happen to the city.

6 The LORD God prepared a vine plant, and it grew over Jonah to shade his head and provide relief from his misery. Jonah was happy — indeed, he was ecstatic — about the vine plant.

7 But at dawn the next day, God provided a worm that attacked the vine plant so that it withered away.

8 When the sun rose, God prepared a harsh east wind. The sun beat down on Jonah's head, he became faint, and he begged to die. "It is better for me to die than to live!" he said.

9 Then God asked Jonah, "Is your anger about the vine plant justified?" And he answered, "Absolutely! I'm so angry I could die!"

10 But the LORD said, "You cared about a vine plant that you neither worked on nor cultivated? A vine plant that grew up overnight and died overnight?

11 So why shouldn't I be concerned about Nineveh, that great city, in which there are more than 120,000 human beings who do not know their right hand from their left, as well as a lot of livestock?

Revelation 11

11 But after the three and a half days, the breath of life from God entered them, and they stood on their feet. Those who watched them were terrified.

12 Then the witnesses heard a loud voice from heaven calling to them, "Come up here!" So they went up to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies watched them.

13 At that moment a powerful earthquake struck. One-tenth of the city collapsed, 7,000 people were killed by the earthquake, and the rest were terrified and gave glory to the God of heaven.

14 The second catastrophe is over. The third catastrophe is coming very soon.

15 When the seventh angel blew his trumpet, there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The world's kingdom has become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Messiah, and he will rule forever and ever."

16 Then the twenty-four elders who were sitting on their thrones in God's presence fell on their faces and worshipped God.

17 They said, "We give thanks to you, Lord God Almighty, who is and who was, because you have taken your great power and have begun to rule.

18 The nations were angry, but the time for your wrath has come. It is time for the dead to be judged — to reward your servants, the prophets, the saints, and all who fear your name, both unimportant and important, and to destroy those who destroy the earth."

19 Then the Temple of God in heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen inside his Temple. There were flashes of lightning, noises, peals of thunder, an earthquake, and heavy hail.

Revelation 12

1 A spectacular sign appeared in the sky: a woman dressed with the sun, who had the moon under her feet and a victor's crown of twelve stars on her head.

2 She was pregnant and was crying out from her labour pains, the agony of giving birth.

3 Then another sign appeared in the sky: a huge red dragon with seven heads, ten horns, and seven royal crowns on its heads.

4 Its tail swept away one-third of the stars in the sky and knocked them down to the earth. Then the dragon stood in front of the woman who was about to give birth so that it could devour her child when it was born.

5 She gave birth to a son, a boy, who is to rule all the nations with an iron sceptre. But her child was snatched away and taken to God and to his throne.

6 Then the woman fled into the wilderness, where a place had been prepared for her by God so that she might be taken care of for 1,260 days.

7 Then a war broke out in heaven. Michael and his angels fought with the dragon, and the dragon and its angels fought back.

8 But it was not strong enough, and there was no longer any place for them in heaven.

9 The huge dragon was hurled down. That ancient serpent, called the Devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world, was hurled down to the earth, along with its angels.

10 Then I heard a loud voice in heaven say, "Now the salvation, the power, the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Messiah have come. For the one who accuses our brothers, who accuses them day and night in the presence of our God, has been thrown out.

11 Our brothers conquered him by the blood of the lamb and by the word of their testimony, for they did not cling to their lives even in the face of death.

12 So be glad, heavens, and those who live in them! How terrible it is for the earth and the sea, because the Devil has come down to you, filled with rage, knowing that his time is short!"

13 When the dragon saw that it had been thrown down to the earth, it pursued the woman who had given birth to the boy.

14 However, the woman was given the two wings of a large eagle so that she could fly away from the serpent to her place in the wilderness, where she could be taken care of for a time, times, and half a time.

15 From its mouth the serpent spewed water like a river behind the woman in order to sweep her away with the flood.

16 But the earth helped the woman by opening its mouth and swallowing the river that the dragon had spewed from its mouth.

17 The dragon became angry with the woman and went away to do battle against the rest of her children, the ones who keep God's commandments and hold on to the testimony about Jesus.

18 Then the dragon stood on the sand of the seashore.

Micah 1

1 This message from the LORD came to Micah of Moresheth during the reigns of the Judean kings Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah concerning the vision he saw about Samaria and Jerusalem:

2 "Listen, people! All of you! Earth! Pay attention, and all you inhabitants of it! May the Lord GOD be a witness against you — the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 Look here! The LORD is coming from his place! He will come down and will trample down the high places throughout the land.

4 The mountains will melt under him and the valleys will split apart, like wax in the presence of fire and like water gushing down a steep incline.

5 All this comes about due to the transgression of Jacob, and due to the sins of the house of Israel. What is Jacob's sin? It's Samaria, isn't it? And what's Judah's high place? It's Jerusalem, isn't it?

6 "So I will turn Samaria into a mound of dirt in a field, a place to plant vineyards. And I will dump her building stones into the valley, uncovering her foundation.

7 All of her carved images will be crushed to pieces, all the earnings of her prostitution will be burned up, and I will destroy all her idols; because she collected the wages of prostitution, and to the wages of prostitution they will return."

8 "Therefore I will cry out and grieve loudly; I will walk around stripped and naked. I will cry out like a jackal and mourn like a company of ostriches.

9 For Samaria's injury is fatal, reaching all the way to Judah, extending even to the gate of my people — to Jerusalem."

10 "Don't discuss it in Gath! Don't cry bitterly in Akim! Roll in the ashes, Beth-leaphrah!

11 Run away, you residents of Shaphir, displaying your shameful nakedness. Don't come out, you residents of Zaanen! Your firm standing will disappear as Beth-ezel mourns.

12 Even though the inhabitants of Maroth long for success, nevertheless evil descended from the LORD to the gate of Jerusalem.

13 "You inhabitants of Lachish, harness your chariot to your swiftest steed — the daughter of Zion has begun to sin — because within you the transgressions of Israel were revealed.

14 Therefore give your gifts to Moresheth-gath; that is, the houses of Achzib as a deceitful symbol to the kings of Israel.

15 Nevertheless, I will deliver an heir to you, inhabitants of Mareshah — to Adullam the glory of Israel will come.

16 "Shave your head and cut off your locks as you mourn your beloved children. Make yourself bald as an eagle, because they will go from you into exile!"

Micah 2

1 "Woe to those who are crafting iniquity, planning evil well into the night! When morning's light comes, they carry out their plans because they have the power to do so.

2 They covet fields and seize them; they covet houses, and grab them, too. They harass the valiant man, along with his household, an individual and his estate."

3 Therefore this is what the LORD says, "I'm crafting evil against this family, from which you can't escape. You won't strut around arrogantly, because the times are evil.

4 When this happens, someone will compose a proverb about you, lamenting sorrowfully, 'We are completely ruined! He has given my people's heritage to others. How he has removed it from me, dividing up our fields!'

5 This is why there will not be left even a single person to settle boundary disputes in the LORD's community.

6 To those who speak out, they will declare, 'Don't prophesy to anyone!' so their shame won't go away.

7 "It is said, house of Jacob, 'The Spirit of the LORD is limited, if he acts this way, is he not?' But my words benefit those who live righteously, do they not?
8 Lately my people have acted like an enemy — you strip travellers who thought they were as secure as those who return from war.
9 You have evicted the wives of my people from their dream homes; you have removed my majesty from their children permanently.
10 "Get up and go, for there's no rest for you here! Since everything is polluted, it can only cause destruction, even heavy destruction.
11 Suppose a man who keeps company with a deceiving spirit prophesies like this: 'Drink wine and strong drink!' Won't the people accept him as a prophet?"
12 "Jacob, how I will surely gather all of you! How I will gather the survivors of Israel! I will gather them together like sheep in a pen, like the flock in the midst of the sheepfold. There will be a great commotion because of all the people.
13 God will stand up and break through in their presence. Then they will pass through the gate, going out by it. Their king will pass in front of them with the LORD at their head.

Micah 3

1 He will say, 'Listen, you leaders of Jacob, you officials of the house of Israel! You should know justice, should you not? —
2 you who despise good and love evil, who tear off the skin of my people, along with the flesh from their bones.
3 You eat the flesh of my people, flaying their skin from them. You break their bones, chopping them in pieces like meat for a pot, like meat destined for a soup kettle."
4 Then they will cry to the LORD, but he will not listen to them. In fact, he will hide his face from them at that time, because they were so wicked in what they were doing.
5 This is what the LORD says about the prophets who are causing my people to go astray, who are calling out "Peace" when they're being fed, but who declare war against those who won't feed them:
6 "You will have nights without visions, and darkness without prophecy. The sun will set on the prophets, and the day will darken for them.
7 Those who see visions will be put to shame, and the diviners will be disgraced — every one of them — they will cover their faces, because there will be no answer from God."
8 "As for me, I am truly filled with power by the Spirit of the LORD, filled with judgement and power to announce to Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin.
9 Please listen to this, you leaders of the house of Jacob, you officials of the house of Israel, you who hate administering justice, who pervert the very meaning of equity,
10 who are building up Zion by means of bloodshed, and Jerusalem by means of iniquity.
11 Her leaders judge for the money, her priests teach only when they're paid, and her prophets prophesy for cash. Even so, don't they all rely on the LORD as they ask, 'The LORD is among us, is he not? Nothing bad can possibly happen to us!'
12 Therefore, because of you, Zion will be ploughed up like a field, and Jerusalem will become heaps of rubble, and the Temple Mount like a forest high place."

Micah 4

1 "But in the last days it will come about that the Temple Mount of the LORD will be firmly set as the leading mountain. It will be exalted above its surrounding hills, and people will stream toward it.
2 Many nations will approach and say, 'Come, let's go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the Temple of the God of Jacob. He will teach us about his ways, and we will walk according to his directions.' Indeed, the Law will proceed from Zion, and the message of the LORD from Jerusalem.

3 And he will judge among many people, rebuking strong nations far away; and they will reshape their swords as ploughshares and their spears as pruning hooks. No nation will threaten another, nor will they train for war anymore.

4 Instead, each man will sit in the shade of his grape vines and beneath the shade of his fig tree," since the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has spoken.

5 Because all of the people will walk, each person in the name of his God, and we will walk in the name of the LORD our God forever and ever.

6 "At that time," declares the LORD, "I will assemble the lame; and I will gather those whom I have scattered, along with those whom I have afflicted.

7 I will transform the lame into survivors, and those who were scattered into a strong nation; and the LORD will reign over them in Mount Zion, now and forever."

8 "And you, watchtower of the flock, you stronghold of the daughter of Zion, it will happen even to you: The former dominion, even the kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem, will come.

9 Why are you crying so loud now? There's no king among you, is there? Perhaps your advisor has died? For pain has overtaken you like a woman in labour.

10 Be in pain! Be in labour, you daughter of Zion, like a woman about to give birth, because now you will depart from the city, living in the open fields. To Babylon you will go. There you will be delivered, there the LORD will rescue you from the power of your enemies."

11 "Now many nations have gathered against you, saying, 'Let her be defiled,' and 'Let's look down on Zion.'

12 But they don't know the thoughts of the LORD, and they don't understand his tactics, for he will gather them like harvested grain to his threshing floor.

13 Get up and smash them to pieces, daughter of Zion, because I will make your horn like iron and your hooves like bronze! And you will beat many people to pieces, and I will consecrate their dishonest gain to the LORD and their assets to the Lord of the entire earth.

Micah 5

1 Now marshal yourselves as troops. He has laid siege to us. They will strike the judge of Israel on the cheek with a rod.

2 "As for you, Bethlehem of Ephrathah, even though you remain least among the clans of Judah, nevertheless, the one who rules in Israel for me will emerge from you. His existence has been from antiquity, even from eternity.

3 Therefore that ruler will abandon them until the woman in labour gives birth. Then the rest of his countrymen will return to the Israelis."

4 "Then he will take his stand, shepherding by means of the strength of the LORD, by the power of the name of the LORD his God. And they will be firmly established; indeed, from then on he will become great — to the ends of the earth.

5 And he will be our peace."

6 The shepherds will devastate the land of Assyria with the sword, along with the entrances to the land of Nimrod. This is how he will vanquish Assyria when he invades our land, trampling within our borders:

7 The survivors of Jacob will live among many peoples, as dew from the LORD, as showers upon the grass. They will look to no one, and will place no hope in human beings.

8 The survivors of Jacob will live among the nations; they will live among many peoples, like a lion among flocks of sheep, who, if he passes through, will trample and tear down with no one to deliver.

9 You will turn your power against your adversaries, and all of your enemies will be cut down.

10 "It will come about at that time," declares the LORD, "I will tear away your horses from you, and I will destroy your chariots.

- 11 I will cut off the cities of your land, and I will tear down all of your fortifications.
- 12 I will render your witchcraft powerless, and mediums will no longer exist among you.
- 13 I will separate you from your carved images and sacred pillars, and you no longer will worship what you've made with your hands.
- 14 I will uproot your cultic gods from you, and I will tear down your cities.
- 15 I will execute vengeance, anger, and fury on the nations who do not obey."

Revelation 13

- 1 I saw a beast coming out of the sea. It had ten horns, seven heads, and ten royal crowns on its horns. On its heads were blasphemous names.
- 2 The beast that I saw was like a leopard. Its feet were like bear's feet, and its mouth was like a lion's mouth. The dragon gave it his power, his throne, and complete authority.
- 3 One of the beast's heads looked like it had sustained a mortal wound, but its fatal wound was healed. Rapt with amazement, the whole world followed the beast
- 4 They worshipped the dragon because it had given authority to the beast. They also worshipped the beast, saying, "Who is like the beast, and who can fight a war with it?"
- 5 The beast was allowed to speak arrogant and blasphemous things, and it was given authority for 42 months.
- 6 It uttered blasphemies against God, against his name, and against his residence, that is, against those who are living in heaven.
- 7 It was allowed to wage war against the saints and to conquer them. It was also given authority over every tribe, people, languages, and nation.
- 8 All those living on earth will worship it, everyone whose name is not written in the Book of Life belonging to the lamb that was slaughtered from the foundation of the world.
- 9 Let everyone listen:
- 10 If anyone is to be taken captive, into captivity he will go. If anyone is to be killed with a sword, with a sword he will be killed.
- 11 I saw another beast coming up out of the earth. It had two horns like a lamb and it talked like a dragon.
- 12 It uses all the authority of the first beast on its behalf, and it makes the earth and those living on it worship the first beast, whose mortal wound was healed.
- 13 It performs spectacular signs, even making fire come down from heaven to earth in front of people.
- 14 It deceives those living on earth with the signs that it is allowed to do on behalf of the first beast, telling them to make an image for the beast who was wounded by a sword and yet lived.
- 15 The second beast was allowed to impart life to the image of the first beast so that the image of the beast could talk and order the execution of those who would not worship the image of the beast.
- 16 The second beast forces all people — important and unimportant, rich and poor, free and slaves — to be marked on their right hands or on their foreheads,
- 17 so that no one may buy or sell unless he has the mark, which is the beast's name or the number of its name.
- 18 In this case wisdom is needed: Let the person who has understanding calculate the total number of the beast, because it is a human total number, and the sum of the number is 666.

Micah 6

- 1 Please hear what the LORD says: "Get up and make your case before the mountains, and let the hills listen to your voice.
- 2 Listen, you mountains, to the LORD's argument! Listen, you strong foundations of the earth, because the LORD has a dispute with his people, and he will set out his case before Israel.
- 3 "My people, what have I done to you, and how have I offended you? Answer me!
- 4 For I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and ransomed you from the house of slavery, sending Moses, Aaron, and Miriam into your presence.
- 5 "My people, recall how king Balak of Moab deliberated, and how Beor's son Balaam counselled him from Shittim to Gilgal, so that you may know the righteousness of the LORD."
- 6 How am I to present myself in the LORD's presence and bow in the presence of the High God? Should I present myself with burnt offerings, with year-old calves?
- 7 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, or with endless rivers of oil? Am I to give my firstborn to pay for my rebellion, the fruit of my body in exchange for my soul?
- 8 He has made it clear to you, mortal man, what is good and what the LORD is requiring from you — to act with justice, to treasure the LORD's gracious love, and to walk humbly in the company of your God.
- 9 The voice of the LORD cries out to the city — wisdom fears your name. "Heed the rod, and the one who prepared it!
- 10 Are there still wicked treasures in the house of the wicked, along with deceitful and abominable measuring standards?
- 11 Will I tolerate those who maintain deceptive standards and who use deceitful weights in their business?
- 12 Her rich people are filled with violence, and her inhabitants tell lies — their tongues speak deceitfully!
- 13 "Therefore I will make you ill when I attack you; I will bring you to ruin because of your offences.
- 14 You'll eat, but you won't have enough; and hunger will be common among you. You'll hoard things, but you won't save them, and what you preserve I'll give over to the sword.
- 15 You'll plant, but you won't reap. You'll crush the olive harvest, but you'll have no oil to anoint yourself. You'll tread out the grapes, but you'll never drink wine.
- 16 You keep Omri's statutes and observe the customs of the house of Ahab. Because you live according to their advice, I'll make you desolate and turn your inhabitants into an object of scorn. Therefore you will bear the shame of my people."

Micah 7

- 1 Poor me! I feel like those who harvest summer fruit, or like those who pick grapes — there are no clusters to eat or any fresh fruit that I want.
- 2 The faithful have died off, and there is not one upright human being in the land. They all stalk one another with lethal intent, a man will even hunt his own brother with a net.
- 3 And speaking of evil, they practise it eagerly — with both hands! Both leader and judge demand a bribe, the famous confess their perverted desires, and they scheme together.
- 4 The best of them is like a thorn, and their most upright like a hedge of thorns. The day announced by your watchmen — and by your own calculations — approaches. Now it's your time to be confused!
- 5 Don't trust your friends, don't confide in a companion, watch what you say to your wife.
- 6 The son disrespects his father, the daughter rebels against her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law, and a man's enemies are the people of his own house.

7 But as for me, I will look to the LORD; I will wait for the God who will deliver me. My God will hear me.

8 Don't be glad on my account, my enemy. When I fall, I'll get up. Though I sit in darkness, the LORD is a light for me.

9 I will endure the LORD's anger — since I have sinned against him — until he takes over my defence, administers justice on my behalf, and brings me out to the light, where I will gaze on his righteousness.

10 Then my enemy will observe it, and shame will engulf the ones who asked me, 'Where is the LORD your God?' My own eyes will see them, they will be trampled on like mud in the streets.

11 When the time comes for rebuilding your walls, that time will surely be extended.

12 At that time armies will invade you from Assyria, from Egyptian cities to the Euphrates River, from sea to sea and from mountain to mountain.

13 The land will become desolate because of its inhabitants, and as a result of their behaviour.

14 Use your rod to shepherd your people, the flock that belongs to you, that lives alone in the forest of Carmel. Let them find pasture in Bashan and Gilead, as they did long ago.

15 As I did when you came out of the land of Egypt, I will show you awesome things.

16 The nations will look on and will be ashamed in spite of all their power; they will cup their hands over their mouths, and their ears will be deaf.

17 They will lick the dust like a serpent; they will crawl from their strongholds like snakes. They will fear the LORD our God. They will be terrified because of you.

18 Is there any God like you, forgiving iniquity, passing over transgressions by the survivors who are your heritage? He is not angry forever, because he delights in gracious love.

19 He will again show us compassion; he will subdue our iniquities. You will hurl all their sins into the deepest sea.

20 You will remain true to Jacob, and merciful to Abraham, as you promised our ancestors long ago.

Nahum 1

- 1 A pronouncement about Nineveh: The record of the vision of Nahum from Elkosh.
- 2 A jealous God, the LORD avenges. The LORD avenges; The Lord is an angry husband. The LORD takes vengeance on his enemies, reserving anger for his adversaries.
- 3 The LORD is slow to anger and powerful, and he will never let the guilty go unpunished. The LORD's path is in the windstorm and hurricane; thunderclouds are dust beneath his feet.
- 4 He rebukes the sea, and it evaporates; he dries up all the rivers. Bashan and Carmel wither, while the flowers of Lebanon languish.
- 5 Mountains shake because of him, and the hills melt. The earth goes into upheaval at his presence, as does the world with all of its inhabitants.
- 6 Who can stand before his fury? And who can endure his fierce anger? His displeasure pours out like fire, and rocks are broken to pieces because of him.
- 7 The LORD is good — a refuge in troubled times. He knows those who are confiding in him.
- 8 But with an overwhelming deluge he will bring utter desolation to Nineveh, and his enemies he will pursue with darkness.
- 9 What are you scheming against the LORD? He will bring about utter desolation — adversity will not strike twice!
- 10 Indeed, while tangled as by a thorn bush, while drunken as by a strong drink, the Ninevites will be burned like dry straw.
- 11 Someone has left you who plans evil against the LORD. He is a demonic counsellor.
- 12 This is what the LORD says: "No matter how strong they are, and no matter how numerous, they will surely be annihilated and pass away. Though I have afflicted you, I will do so no more.
- 13 Now I will break off Assyria's yoke from you, and tear apart your shackles."
- 14 Now this is what the Lord has decreed about you, Nineveh: "There will be no more children born to carry on your name. I will cut out the graven and molten images from the temples of your gods. I myself will dig your grave, because you are vile."
- 15 Look! There on the mountains! The feet of the one who brings good news, who broadcasts a message of peace. Judah, celebrate your solemn feasts and keep your vows, because the wicked will never again invade you. Nineveh will be completely eliminated!

Nahum 2

- 1 You are being attacked by advancing forces! Guard your rampart! Watch your roads! Prepare yourselves! Marshall your defences!
- 2 For the LORD will restore the glory of Jacob, just as he will restore the glory of Israel, although plunderers have devastated them, vandalizing their vine branches.
- 3 The shields deployed by Israel's elite forces are scarlet, their valiant men are clothed in crimson. When they are prepared, the polished armament on their chariots will shine, and lances will be brandished about ferociously.
- 4 Their chariots storm through the streets, jostling each other along broad avenues. They look like torches, as they dart around like lightning.
- 5 He will remember to summon his finest troops. They will stumble on their way, hurrying over to Nineveh's wall. Their defensive shield is in place.
- 6 The river gates will be opened, and the palace will collapse.
- 7 It has been determined: The woman is unveiled and sent away, her servant girls mourn. Beating their breasts, they whimper like doves.
- 8 Nineveh is a reservoir whose water is draining away. "Wait! Wait!" they cry, yet not even one person looks back.
- 9 Take the silver! Take the gold! There is no end to the treasure — fabulous riches of every imagination.

10 Nineveh is devastated, deserted, and desolate. Her heart melts, her knees knock. Every stomach is upset, every face grows pale.

11 Where is this lion's den? Where is the place where the young lions fed, where the lion and its mate walked with their young, the place where they feared nothing?

12 This lion rends its prey to pieces to feed its whelps, and strangles enough prey for its mate, filling its lairs with prey and its dens with rendered flesh.

13 "I am against you," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and I will send your chariots up in smoke. A sword will devour your young lions, I will eliminate your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers will no longer be heard."

Revelation 14

1 Then I looked, and there was the lamb, standing on Mount Zion! With him were 144,000 people who had his name and his Father's name written on their foreheads.

2 Then I heard a sound from heaven like that of many waters and like the sound of loud thunder. The sound I heard was like harpists playing on their harps.

3 They were singing a new song in front of the throne, the four living creatures, and the elders. No one could learn the song except the 144,000 who had been redeemed from the earth.

4 They have not defiled themselves with women, for they are virgins, and they follow the lamb wherever he goes. They have been redeemed from among humanity as the first fruits for God and the lamb.

5 In their mouth no lie was found. They are blameless.

6 Then I saw another angel flying overhead with the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on earth — to every nation, tribe, language, and people.

7 He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the time for him to judge has arrived. Worship the one who made heaven and earth, the sea and springs of water."

8 Then another angel, a second one, followed him, saying, "Fallen! Babylon the Great has fallen! She has made all nations drink the wine, the wrath earned for her sexual sins."

9 Then another angel, a third one, followed them, saying in a loud voice, "Whoever worships the beast and its image and receives a mark on his forehead or his hand

10 will drink the wine of God's wrath, which has been poured undiluted into the cup of his anger. He will be tortured with fire and sulphur in the presence of the holy angels and the lamb.

11 The smoke from their torture goes up forever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and its image or for anyone who receives the mark of its name."

12 Here is a call for the endurance of the saints, who keep the commandments of God and hold fast to their faithfulness in Jesus:

13 I heard a voice from heaven say, "Write this: How blessed are the dead, that is, those who die in the Lord from now on!" "Yes," says the Spirit. "Let them rest from their labours, for their actions follow them."

14 Then I looked, and there was a white cloud! On the cloud sat someone who was like the Son of Man, with a gold victor's crown on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand.

15 Another angel came out of the Temple, crying out in a loud voice to the one who sat on the cloud, "Swing your sickle, and gather the harvest, for the hour has come to gather it, because the harvest of the earth is fully ripe."

16 The one who sat on the cloud swung his sickle across the earth, and the earth was harvested.

17 Then another angel came out of the Temple in heaven. He, too, had a sharp sickle.

18 From the altar came another angel who had authority over fire. He called out in a loud voice to the angel who had the sharp sickle, "Swing your sharp sickle, and gather the bunches of grapes from the vine of the earth, because those grapes are ripe."

19 So the angel swung his sickle in the earth, gathered the grapes from the earth, and threw them into the great winepress of God's wrath.

20 The wine press was trampled outside the city, and blood flowed from the wine press as high as a horse's bridle for about 183 miles.

25th December

Nahum 3

1 Woe to this city, contaminated with shed blood, all full of lies and robberies — it is never without victims!

2 The crack of whips and the clamour of wheels! The galloping horses and the bounding chariots!

3 The cavalry attacks — the flashing sword and the glittering spear! Many are the slain — so many casualties! — No end to bodies, and the soldiers trip over the corpses.

4 Innumerable are the harlotries of this well-favoured whore, this mistress of witchcraft, who enslaves nations through her fornication and families through her sorcery.

5 "Look, I am against you," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "so I will pull up your dress over your face. I will show your nakedness to the nations, and your disgrace to the kingdoms.

6 I will hurl abominable filth upon you, making you look foolish, and making an example of you.

7 It will be that everyone who looks at you will run away, saying, 'Nineveh has been violently overthrown! Who will mourn for her? Where will I find anyone to comfort you?'"

8 "Are you any better than Thebes, which sits by the upper Nile, surrounded by water? The sea was her defence, the waters her wall of protection.

9 Sudan was her source of strength, along with Egypt — there were no limits. Put and the Libyans were her allies.

10 But she, too, was exiled — she went into captivity! Her young children were dashed to pieces at every crossroad of their streets, and her famous citizens were sold by lottery, while all of her aristocrats were put in chains.

11 You will also become drunk. You will disappear, trying to hide from your enemies.

12 All your defences are like fig trees with ripe early fruit — when shaken, it falls right into the devourer's mouth."

13 "Look at your people — they are women! Your borders stand wide open to your enemies, while fire consumes the bars of your gates.

14 Draw water, because a siege is coming! Strengthen your fortresses! Make the clay good and strong! Mix the mortar! Go get your brick moulds!

15 In that place fire will consume you, the sword will cut you down, consuming you as locusts do. Multiply yourself like locusts, increase like swarming grasshoppers.

16 You added to your inventory of businessmen — they number more than the stars of heaven. The creeping locust sheds its skin and flies away.

17 Your imperial guards are like the swarming grasshopper; your marshals are like hordes of grasshoppers, settling in the stone walls on a chilly day. The sun rises, and they flee away; no one knows where they went.

18 Hey king of Assyria! Your shepherds are asleep and your nobles are lying down! Your people lie scattered on the mountains, and there is no one to gather them together.

19 There is no healing for your injury — your wound is fatal. Everyone who hears about you will applaud, because who hasn't escaped your endless evil?

Habakkuk 1

- 1 The pronouncement that the prophet Habakkuk perceived.
- 2 "How long, LORD, must I cry out for help, but you won't listen? I'm crying out to you, 'Oppression!' but you aren't providing deliverance.
- 3 Why are you forcing me to look at iniquity and to stare at wickedness? Social havoc and oppression are all around me; there are legal conflicts, and disputes abound.
- 4 Therefore, the Law has become paralyzed, and justice never comes about. Because criminals outnumber the righteous, whenever judgements are issued, they come out crooked."
- 5 "Look out at the nations and pay attention! Be astounded! Be really astounded! Because something is happening in your lifetime that you won't believe, even if it were described down to the smallest detail.
- 6 Watch out! For I am bringing in the Chaldeans, that cruel and impetuous people, who sweep across the earth dispossessing people from homes not their own.
- 7 They are terrible and fearsome; their brand of justice and sense of honour derive only from themselves!
- 8 Their horses are swifter than leopards, and more cunning than wolves that attack at night. Their horsemen are galloping as they approach from far away. They swoop in like ravenous vultures.
- 9 "They all come to oppress — hordes of them, their faces pressing onward — they take prisoners as numerous as the desert sand!
- 10 They make fun of kings, deriding those who rule. They laugh at all of the fortified places, constructing ramps to seize them.
- 11 Then like the wind sweeping by they will pass through — they're guilty because they say their power is their god."
- 12 "Haven't you existed forever, LORD my God, my Holy One? We won't die! LORD, you've prepared them for judgement; Rock, you've sentenced them to correction.
- 13 Your eyes are too pure to gaze upon evil; and you cannot tolerate wickedness. So why do you tolerate the treacherous? And why do you stay silent while the wicked devour those who are more righteous than they are?
- 14 You have fashioned mankind like fish in the ocean, like creeping things that have no ruler.
- 15 "The adversary captures them with a hook, gathering them up in a fishing net. He collects them with a dragnet, rejoicing and gloating over his catch.
- 16 Therefore he sacrifices to his fishing net, and burns incense in the presence of his dragnet, because by them his assets increase and he gets plenty of food.
- 17 Is he to continue to empty his fishing net? Will he ever stop killing entire nations without mercy?"

Habakkuk 2

- 1 "I will stand at my guard post and station myself on a tower. I will wait and see what the LORD will say about me and what I will answer when he reprimands me."
- 2 When he answered, the LORD told me: "Write out the revelation, engraving it clearly on the tablets, so that a courier may run with it.
- 3 For the revelation pertains to an appointed time — it speaks truthfully about the end. Though it delays, wait for it, because it will surely come about — it will not be late!
- 4 "Notice their arrogance — they have no inward uprightness — but the righteous will live by their faith.
- 5 Moreover, just as wine leads astray the proud and powerful man, he remains restless; he has expanded his appetite — like the afterlife or death itself, he is never satisfied. He gathers to himself all of the nations, taking captive all of the people for himself."

6 "Will not all of these ridicule him with mocking scorn? They will say, 'Woe to the one who hoards for himself what isn't his. How long will you enrich yourself by extortion?'

7 Won't your creditors revolt unexpectedly? Won't those who make you tremble wake up? As a result, you'll become their prey!

8 Because you plundered many nations, all of their remnants will plunder you. Human blood has been shed, and violence has been done to the land, to the city, and to all who live in it."

9 "Woe to the one who amasses profit upon unjust profit in order to establish his household, so he can establish a secure place on the heights and escape from the power of evil.

10 You have brought shame to yourself by killing many people — you are forfeiting your own life.

11 Indeed, the stone will cry out from the wall and the rafter will respond from the woodwork."

12 "Woe to the one who founds a city upon bloodshed, and constructs a city by lawlessness.

13 Is it not because of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies that people grow tired putting out fires, and nations weary themselves over nothing?

14 Indeed, the earth will be filled with knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as water fills the sea."

15 "Woe to the one who supplies his neighbour with a drink! You are forcing your bottle on him, making him drunk so you can see them naked.

16 You are filled with dishonour instead of glory. So go ahead, drink and be naked! The LORD will turn against you, and utter disgrace will debase your reputation.

17 Indeed, the violence done to Lebanon will overtake you, and the destruction of the beasts will terrorize you — because you shed human blood and did violence to the land, to the city, and to all who live in it.

18 "Where is the benefit in owning a carved image, that motivates its maker to carve it? It is only a cast image — a teacher that lies — because the engraver entrusts himself to his carving, crafting speechless idols.

19 "Woe to the one who says to a tree, 'Wake up!' or 'Arise!' to a speechless stone. Idols like this can't teach, can they? Look, even though it is overlaid with gold and silver, there's no breath in it at all.

20 "The LORD is in his holy Temple. All the earth — be quiet in his presence."

Habakkuk 3

1 A prayer by the prophet Habakkuk, set to music.

2 LORD, as I listen to what has been said about you, I am afraid. LORD, revive your work throughout all of our lives — reveal yourself throughout all of our lives — when you are angry, remember compassion.

3 God comes from Teman — the Holy One from Mount Paran.

Interlude.

His glory spreads throughout the heavens, and praises about him fill the earth.

4 His radiance is like sunlight; beams of light shine from his hand, where his strength lies hidden.

5 Before him pestilence walks, and disease follows behind him.

6 He stood up and shook the land; with his stare he startled the nations. The age-old mountains were shattered, and the ancient hilltops bowed down. His ways are eternal.

7 I saw the tents of Cushan in distress, and the tent curtains of the land of Midian in anguish.

Revelation 15

1 I saw another sign in heaven. It was both spectacular and amazing. There were seven angels with the seven last plagues, with which God's wrath is completed.

2 Then I saw what looked like a sea of glass mixed with fire. Those who had conquered the beast, its image, and the number of its name were standing on the sea of glass holding God's harps in their hands.

3 They sang the song of God's servant Moses and the song of the lamb: "Your deeds are both spectacular and amazing, Lord God Almighty. Your ways are just and true, King of the nations.

4 Lord, who won't fear and praise your name? For you alone are holy, and all the nations will come and worship you because your judgements have been revealed."

5 After these things I looked, and the Temple, which is the Tent of Testimony in heaven, was open!

6 The seven angels with the seven plagues came out of the Temple wearing clean, shining linen with gold sashes around their chests.

7 One of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven gold bowls full of the wrath of God, who lives forever and ever.

8 The Temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God and his power, and no one could enter the Temple until the seven plagues of the seven angels came to an end.

Revelation 16

1 Then I heard a loud voice from the Temple saying to the seven angels, "Go and pour the seven bowls of God's wrath on the earth."

2 So the first angel went and poured his bowl on the earth. A horrible, painful sore appeared on the people who had the mark of the beast and worshipped the image.

3 The second angel poured his bowl into the sea. It became like the blood of a dead body, and every living thing in the sea died.

4 The third angel poured his bowl into the rivers and the springs of water, and they turned into blood.

5 Then I heard the angel in charge of the water say, "You are just. You are the one who is and who was, the Holy One, because you have judged these things.

6 You have given them blood to drink because they spilled the blood of saints and prophets. This is what they deserve."

7 Then I heard the altar reply, "Yes, Lord God Almighty, your judgements are true and just."

8 The fourth angel poured his bowl on the sun, which then was allowed to burn people with fire,

9 and they were burned by the fierce heat. They cursed the name of God, who has the authority over these plagues. They did not repent and give him glory.

10 The fifth angel poured his bowl on the throne of the beast. Its kingdom was plunged into darkness. People gnawed on their tongues in anguish

11 and cursed the God of heaven because of their pain-filled sores. But they did not repent of their behaviour.

12 The sixth angel poured his bowl on the great Euphrates River. Its water was dried up to prepare the way for the kings from the east.

13 Then I saw three disgusting spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.

14 They are demonic spirits that perform signs. They go to the kings of the whole earth and gather them for the war of the great Day of God Almighty.

15 "See, I am coming like a thief. How blessed is the person who remains alert and keeps his clothes on! He won't have to go naked and let others see his shame."

Habakkuk 3

8 Was the LORD displeased with the rivers? Was your anger directed against the watercourses or your wrath against the sea? Indeed, you rode upon your horses, upon your chariots of deliverance.

9 Your bow was exposed, and your arrows targeted by command.

Interlude

You split the earth with rivers.

10 When the mountains looked upon you, they trembled; the overflowing water passed by, the ocean shouted, and its waves surged upward.

11 The sun and moon stand still in their orbits; at the glint of your arrows they speed along, even at the gleam of your flashing spear.

12 You march through the land in righteous indignation; you tread down the nations in anger.

13 You marched out to deliver your people, to deliver with your anointed. You struck the head of the house of the wicked; you stripped him naked from head to foot.

Interlude.

14 With his own lances you pierced the heads of his warriors, who came out like a windstorm to scatter us — their joy is to devour the afflicted who are in hiding.

15 You rode on the sea with your horses, even riding the crested waves of mighty waters.

16 I heard and I trembled within. My lips quivered at the noise. My legs gave way beneath me, and I trembled. Nevertheless, I await the day of distress that will dawn on our invaders.

17 Even though the fig tree does not blossom, and there are no grapes on the vines; even if the olive harvest fails, and the fields produce nothing edible; even if the flock is snatched from the sheepfold, and there is no herd in the stalls —

18 as for me, I will rejoice in the LORD. I will find my joy in the God who delivers me.

19 The Lord God is my strength — he will make my feet like those of a deer, equipping me to tread on my mountain heights.

Zephaniah 1

1 This message from the LORD came to Cushi's son Zephaniah, the grandson of Gedaliah and great-grandson of Hezekiah's son Amariah, during the reign of Amon's son Josiah, king of Judah:

2 "I'll utterly sweep away everything from the land," declares the LORD.

3 "I'll consume both human beings and animals — I'll consume the birds of the sky, the fish in the sea, and the wicked along with their sin, when I eliminate human beings from the land," declares the LORD.

4 "I will also stretch out my hand against Judah, and upon all inhabitants of Jerusalem. I'll wipe out every trace of Baal from this place, and the name of the pagan priests, along with my own priests.

5 I'll wipe out those who worship the stars that they view from their housetops, those who bow down and swear to the LORD and who also swear by Milcom,

6 those who turn away from the LORD, don't seek the LORD, and never ask for his help."

7 Remain silent in the presence of the Lord GOD, because the Day of the LORD approaches, and because the LORD has prepared a sacrifice for those whom he has invited to be consecrated.

8 "It will come about during the LORD's sacrifice that I'll punish the officials, the royal descendants, and all who wear foreign clothing.

9 At the same time, I'll punish every idol worshipper, especially those who are filling their master's temple with violence and deceit.

10 When all of this happens," declares the LORD, "a loud shriek will come from the Fish Gate, and howling from the Mishneh Quarter, along with great destruction from the hills."

11 "Wail, you who live in the market district, because all of the merchants will be crushed and all of their customers will be eliminated.

12 And it will come about that I will search Jerusalem with candles, punishing the self-satisfied and complacent, who say to themselves, 'The LORD will do neither good nor evil.'

13 "Therefore their possessions will be seized as plunder and their homes left in ruins. They may build houses, but they won't live in them. They may plant vineyards, but they won't drink their wine."

14 "The great Day of the LORD approaches — How it comes, hurrying faster and faster! The sound of the Day of the LORD there includes the bitter cry of the mighty soldier.

15 That day will be filled with wrath, a day of trouble and tribulation; a day of desolation and devastation, a day of doom and gloom, a day of clouds and shadows.

16 a day of trumpet and battle cry against fortified cities and watch towers.

17 "And I'll bring so much distress to people that they will walk around like the blind. Because they have sinned against the LORD, their blood will be poured out like dust and their intestines will spill out like manure.

18 Neither their silver nor their gold will deliver them in the Day of the LORD's wrath; but the entire land will be consumed by the fire of his jealousy, for he will bring the inhabitants of the land to a sudden end."

Zephaniah 2

1 "Gather together! Yes, indeed, gather together, You shameless nation!

2 Before the decree is carried out, before the day flies away like chaff, before the fierce anger of the LORD visits you, before the Day of the LORD's wrath surprises you

3 seek the LORD, all you humble people of the land, who do what he commands. Seek righteousness! Seek humility! Maybe you will be protected in the Day of the LORD's anger."

4 "For Gaza will be forsaken, and Ashkelon deserted — Ashdod will be emptied at high noon; even Ekron will be uprooted.

5 Woe to those who live along the coast, the people of Philistia! This message from the LORD is being spoken against you, Canaan, land of the Philistines: 'I'll destroy you until no one lives there!'

6 The Philistine coast will become meadows for shepherds and sheep pens.

7 The survivors of Judah will find pasture on it; at twilight they will lie down in the houses of Ashkelon, for the LORD their God will visit them, restoring their prosperity."

8 "I've heard Moab's insults and the curses from those Ammonites by which they defame my people and boast about their territory.

9 Therefore as I'm alive and living," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, the God of Israel, "Moab will surely become like Sodom, and the Ammonites like Gomorrah, a place overrun by weeds and salty marshes, unpopulated forever. The survivors of my people will confiscate their property, and those who remain of my nation will inherit what was theirs.

10 This they will have in lieu of their pride, because they have insulted and mocked the people of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

11 The LORD will incite them to terror, because he will cause all the gods of the earth to waste away. They will worship him, every person in his own home, including even the coastlands of the nations."

12 "Now as for you, Cush, you will surely be slain by my sword!

13 "And the LORD will attack the north, destroying Assyria. He will turn Nineveh into a desolate ruin, as dry as a desert wilderness.

14 Flocks will lie down in her midst, along with animals of every kind. Desert owls and screeching owls will nest at the top of the pillars, hooting through the vacant windows 'Ruin sits at these doorsills,' for he will expose even the cedar framework.

15 This is that carefree city that lived irresponsibly, that told herself, 'Me first!' and 'There will be no one else!' How ruined she has become — a habitat for wild animals! Everyone who passes by her will sneer at her and make obscene gestures!"

Zephaniah 3

1 Woe to this filthy, polluted, and oppressive city!

2 It won't obey anyone. It won't accept discipline. It does not trust in the LORD. It does not approach God.

3 Its national officials are roaring lions; its judges are like wolves of the night that don't leave the bones for the morning.

4 Its prophets are arrogant and treacherous. Its priests have contaminated the sanctuary. They give perverse interpretations of the Law.

5 The righteous LORD who lives within her will do no wrong; he will bring justice to light morning by morning. He never fails, but the unjust are shameless.

6 "I have destroyed nations — their fortifications are deserted. I have turned their main thoroughfares into wastelands where no one will travel. Their cities are desolate; as a result, not one man remains — no, not even a single resident.

7 I have said, 'If only you would fear me, if only you would take my instructions to heart.' Then their houses would not have been torn down. I have chastened them, but they were eager to corrupt everything they were doing."

8 "Just you wait!" declares the LORD. "The day will come when I stand up as a prosecutor, for I am determined to assemble the nations and to gather the kingdoms, in order to pour out my indignation upon them — all of my fierce anger. All the earth will be consumed by the fire of my jealousy.

9 Indeed, then I will return my people to a pure language so that they all may call upon the name of the LORD, serving him with a united will."

10 "From beyond the rivers of Cush my worshippers — including my dispersed people — will present offerings to me.

11 When this happens, you will not be ashamed of your actions by which you sinned against me, because I will remove from among you those who revel in pride. Arrogance will have no place in my holy mountain.

12 I will keep a humble and gentle people among you, and they will trust in the name of the LORD.

13 The survivors of Israel will not practise lawlessness nor tell lies, nor will a deceitful message be found in their mouths, because they will eat and rest, with no one to cause fear."

14 "Sing aloud, daughter of Zion! Shout out, Israel! Rejoice with all of your heart, daughter of Jerusalem!

15 The LORD has acquitted you; turning back your adversaries. Israel's king, the LORD, is among you; you will not fear disaster anymore.

16 "When all of this happens, it will be told Jerusalem, 'Don't be afraid!' and to Zion, 'Don't lose courage!'"

17 "The LORD your God among you is powerful — he will save and he will take joyful delight in you. In his love he will renew you with his love; he will celebrate with singing because of you.

18 I will gather the afflicted from the solemn assembly; those who were with you, who were bearing a burden of disgrace.

19 "Watch how I deal with everyone who oppresses you! At that time I will rescue the one who is lame, and I will draw to me the one who has been driven away. I will honour them with praise and with a good reputation in every land where they have been put to shame.

20 At that time I will gather you; at that time I will bring you home. Indeed, I will give you a good reputation, making you praiseworthy among all of the people of the world, when I restore your prosperity before your eyes," says the LORD.

Revelation 16

16 The spirits gathered the kings to the place that is called Armageddon in Hebrew.
17 The seventh angel threw the contents of his bowl across the sky. A loud voice came from the throne in the Temple and said, "It has happened!"
18 There were flashes of lightning, noises, peals of thunder, and a powerful earthquake. There has never been such a powerful earthquake since people have been on the earth.
19 The great city was split into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell. God remembered to give Babylon the Great the cup of wine filled with the fury of his wrath.
20 Every island vanished, and the mountains could no longer be found.
21 Huge hailstones, each weighing about 100 pounds, fell from the sky on people, who cursed God because the plague of hail was so terrible.

Revelation 17

1 Then one of the seven angels who held the seven bowls came and told me, "Come, I will show you how the notorious prostitute who sits on many waters will be judged.
2 The kings of the earth committed sexual immorality with her, and those living on earth became drunk with the wine of her immorality."
3 Then the angel carried me away in the Spirit into a wilderness. I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that was controlled by blasphemy. It had seven heads and ten horns.
4 The woman wore purple and scarlet clothes and was adorned with gold, gems, and pearls. In her hand she was holding a gold cup filled with detestable things and the impurities of her immorality.
5 On her forehead was written a secret name: BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF PROSTITUTES AND DETESTABLE THINGS OF THE EARTH
6 I saw that the woman was drunk with the blood of the saints and the blood of the witnesses to Jesus. I was very surprised when I saw her.
7 "Why are you surprised?" The angel asked me. "I will tell you the secret of the woman and the beast with the seven heads and the ten horns that carries her.
8 The beast that you saw existed once, but is no longer, and is going to crawl out of the bottomless pit and then proceed to its destruction. Those living on earth, whose names were not written in the Book of Life from the foundation of the world, will be surprised when they see the beast because it was, is no longer, and will come again.
9 This calls for a mind that has wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman is sitting. They are also seven kings.
10 Five of them have fallen, one is living, and the other has not yet come. When he comes, he must remain in power for a little while.
11 The beast that was and is no longer is the eighth king, but it belongs with the seven kings and goes to its destruction.
12 The ten horns that you saw are ten kings who have not yet received a kingdom. They will receive authority to rule as kings with the beast for one hour.
13 They have one purpose: to give their power and authority to the beast.
14 They will wage war against the lamb, but the lamb will conquer them because he is Lord of lords and King of kings. Those who are called, chosen, and faithful are with him."
15 The angel also told me, "The bodies of water you saw, on which the prostitute is sitting, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and languages.
16 The ten horns and the beast you saw will hate the prostitute. They will leave her abandoned and naked. They will eat her flesh and burn her up with fire,
17 for God has placed within them a desire to carry out his purpose by uniting to give their kingdom to the beast until God's words are fulfilled.
18 The woman you saw is the great city that rules over the kings of the earth."

Haggai 1

1 On the first day of the sixth month of the second year of the reign of King Darius, this message from the LORD came by Haggai the prophet to Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, and to Jehozadak's son Joshua, the high priest:

2 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'These people keep saying, "No, the right time for rebuilding the LORD's Temple has not yet come.'"

3 Then this message from the LORD came by Haggai the prophet:

4 "Is it the right time for all of you to live in your own panelled houses while this house remains in ruins?"

5 "Now this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, says: 'Carefully consider your ways:

6 You have sowed much but have reaped little. You have eaten but don't have enough to become satisfied. You have drunk but don't have enough to become intoxicated. You have clothed yourself but don't have enough to keep warm. And the hired labourer deposits his salary in a bag full of holes!"

7 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Carefully consider your ways:

8 Go up into the mountains, bring timber, and reconstruct my house. Then I will be pleased with it and I will be honoured,' says the LORD.

9 'You turned away in pursuit of abundance, but look at how little you found! What you did manage to bring home, I blew away! And why?' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. 'It's because of my house! It lies in ruins while each of you runs off to his own house!

10 That is why the heavens keep withholding dew from you, and the earth withholds her fruit.

11 I sent a drought on the land, on the mountains, on your grain, on your new wines, on your oil — on everything the ground produces — on men, on livestock, and on everything you do!"

12 Then Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel, Jehozadak's son Joshua the high priest, and all the rest of the people obeyed the LORD their God and the words of Haggai the prophet, because the LORD their God had sent him. And the people feared the LORD.

13 Haggai, the messenger of the LORD, spoke to the people with a special commission from the LORD: "'I am with you,' declares the LORD."

14 Then the LORD revitalized the spirit of Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, the spirit of Jehozadak's son Joshua the high priest, and the spirit of all the rest of the people, so they came and began to work on the house of their God, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

15 This took place on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month of the second year of the reign of King Darius.

Haggai 2

1 On the twenty-first day of the seventh month, this message from the LORD came by Haggai the prophet:

2 "Speak to Shealtiel's son Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, to Jehozadak's son Joshua, the high priest, and to the rest of the people, asking,

3 'Who is left among you who saw this house in its former glory? And what does it look like now? From what you can see, it seems like nothing, doesn't it?

4 Now be strong, Zerubbabel,' declares the LORD, 'and be strong, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and be strong, all you people of the land,' declares the LORD. 'Go to work, because I am with you,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

5 'My Spirit continues to dwell among you, according to the covenant I established when you came out from Egypt. Don't be afraid!

6 'For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Once more, in a little while, I will make the heavens, the earth, the sea, and the dry land to shake.
7 I will shake all nations, and the One desired by all nations will come. Then I will fill this house with glory," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.
8 "'The silver belongs to me, as does the gold," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.
9 "The glory of this present house will be greater than was the former," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. "And in this place I will grant peace," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.'

10 On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month of the second year of the reign of King Darius, this message from the LORD came to Haggai the prophet:
11 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Ask the priests about what the Law says:
12 If a man carries consecrated meat in the folds of his garment, and if his garment touches bread, stew, wine, oil, or any other edible thing, will these things become consecrated?'" The priests answered, "No."
13 So Haggai responded, "If someone who is unclean because of contact with a dead body were to touch any of these things, would they become unclean?" The priests responded, "They would be unclean."
14 Then Haggai answered, "'That's how I look at this people and this nation,' declares the LORD. 'And that's how it is with everything they undertake and with what they offer there — it is unclean.
15 "'Pay attention from now on to how things used to be before one stone had been laid upon another in the Temple of the LORD.
16 When someone came to a pile of grain to get twenty bushels, there were only ten. Or when someone approached the wine press to siphon out 50 measures, there were only twenty.
17 I punished you and everything that you undertook — with scorching wind, with mildew, and with hail, and you still did not return to me,' declares the LORD.
18 "'Pay attention from now on, from this twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, when the foundation of the LORD's Temple was laid. Pay attention!
19 Is there seed left in the granary? Up until now, neither the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, nor the olive tree has borne fruit, but from this very day I will bless you.'"
20 This message from the LORD came a second time to Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month:
21 "Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah. Tell him: 'I am going to shake the heavens and the earth.
22 I will overthrow royal thrones. I will annihilate the strength of national governments. I will overthrow chariots along with those who drive them. Both horses and their riders will fall, each one by means of his comrade's weapon.
23 On that day,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, 'I will take you, my servant Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel,' declares the LORD, 'and I will set you in place like a signet ring. For I have chosen you,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies."

Zechariah 1

1 In the eighth month of the second year of the reign of Darius, this message from the LORD came to Berechiah's son Zechariah, the grandson of Iddo the prophet:

2 "The LORD was very angry with your ancestors.

3 So tell them, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Return to me," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and I will return to you."

4 " Don't be like your ancestors, to whom the former prophets proclaimed: 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "It's time to turn from your evil lifestyles and from your evil actions,"' but they would neither listen nor pay attention to me," declares the LORD.'

5 "Your ancestors — where are they? And the prophets — do they live forever?

6 But my words and my statutes that I gave as commands to my servants the prophets — did they not overwhelm your ancestors? And they returned to me: 'The LORD of the Heavenly Armies acted toward us just as he planned to do — in keeping with our lifestyles and in keeping with our actions.'"

7 On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month (the month Shebat) in the second year of the reign of Darius, this message from the LORD came to Berechiah's son Zechariah, the grandson of Iddo the prophet:

8 "I stared into the night, and there was a man mounted on a red horse! The horse was standing among the myrtle trees in a ravine. Behind him there were red, brown, and white horses.

9 Then I asked, "Who are these, sir?" The messenger who was talking to me answered, "I will tell you who these are."

10 The man who stood among the myrtle trees answered, "These are the ones whom the LORD sent out to wander throughout the earth."

11 Then they reported to the angel of the LORD who stood among the myrtle trees, "We have wandered throughout the earth — and look! — the entire earth is at rest. Everything is quiet and peaceful."

12 And the angel of the LORD replied, "LORD of the Heavenly Armies, how long will it be until you show mercy to Jerusalem and to the cities of Judah, with whom you have been angry for these past seventy years?"

13 So the LORD answered the angel who was speaking to me with kind and comforting words.

14 Then the angel who was speaking to me told me, "Announce this: "'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "I have a deep concern for Jerusalem, a great concern for Zion.

15 I am deeply angry with the nations who are complacent, with whom I was only a little displeased — but they made things worse!"

16 "'Therefore this is what the LORD says: "I have returned to Jerusalem with compassionate intentions. My Temple will be rebuilt there," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and the measuring line will be stretched out over Jerusalem."

17 "Also announce the following: "'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "My cities will again overflow with prosperity. The LORD will comfort Zion once more and will choose Jerusalem again.'"

18 Then I looked up and saw four horns.

19 I asked the angel who was talking to me, "What are those?" So he answered me, "Those are the forces that have dispersed Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem."

20 Then the LORD showed me four artisans.

21 Then I asked, "What have they come to do?" He answered, "Those horns that dispersed Judah — so that no one could lift up his head — those artisans are coming to disrupt the power of nations, tearing them down now that they've come to power and dispersed the land of Judah.

Revelation 18

- 1 After these things I saw another angel coming down from heaven. He had great authority, and the earth was made bright by his splendour.
- 2 He cried out in a powerful voice, "Fallen! Babylon the Great has fallen! She has become a home for demons. She is a prison for every unclean spirit, a prison for every unclean bird, and a prison for every unclean and hated beast.
- 3 For all the nations have drunk from the wine of her sexual immorality, and the kings of the earth have committed sexual immorality with her. The world's businesses have become rich from her luxurious excesses."
- 4 Then I heard another voice from heaven saying, "Come out of her, my people, so that you don't participate in her sins and also suffer from her diseases.
- 5 For her sins are piled as high as heaven, and God has remembered her crimes.
- 6 Do to her as she herself has done, and give her double for her deeds. Mix a double drink for her in the cup she mixed.
- 7 Just as she glorified herself and lived in luxury, inflict on her just as much torture and misery. In her heart she says, 'I am a queen on a throne, not a widow. I will never see misery.'
- 8 For this reason, her diseases that result in death, misery, and famine will come in a single day. She will be burned up in a fire, because powerful is the Lord God who judges her."
- 9 The kings of the earth, who committed sexual immorality with her and lived in luxury with her, will cry and mourn over her when they see the smoke rising from the fire that consumes her.
- 10 Frightened by the torture that she experiences, they will stand far away and cry out, "How terrible, how terrible it is for that great city, the powerful city Babylon, because your judgement arrived in a single hour!"
- 11 The world's businesses cry and mourn over her, because no one buys their cargo anymore —
- 12 cargo of gold, silver, gems, pearls, fine linen, purple cloth, silk, scarlet cloth, all kinds of scented wood, all articles made of ivory, all articles made of very costly wood, bronze, iron, marble,
- 13 cinnamon, spice, incense, myrrh, frankincense, wine, olive oil, flour, wheat, cattle, sheep, horses, chariots, and slaves (that is, human souls) —
- 14 "The fruit that you crafted has abandoned you. All your dainties and your splendour are lost, and no one will ever find them again."
- 15 Frightened by the severity of her punishment, businesses that had become rich because of her will stand at a distance, crying and mourning:
- 16 "How terrible, how terrible it is for the great city that was clothed in fine linen, purple, and scarlet and was adorned with gold, gems, and pearls,
- 17 because all this wealth has been destroyed in a single hour!" Every ship's captain, everyone who travelled by ship, sailors, and everyone who made a living from the sea stood far away.
- 18 When they saw the smoke rising from the fire that consumed her, they began to cry out, "What city was like that great city?"
- 19 Then they threw dust on their heads and shouted while crying and mourning: "How terrible, how terrible it is for the great city, where all who had ships at sea became rich from her wealth, because it has been destroyed in a single hour!"
- 20 Be happy about her, heaven, saints, apostles, and prophets, for God has condemned her for you!"

21 Then a powerful angel picked up a stone that was like a large millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, "The great city Babylon will be thrown down violently — and will never be found again.

22 The sound of harpists, musicians, flutists, and trumpeters will never be heard within you again. No artisan of any trade will ever be found within you again. The sound of a millstone will never be heard within you again.

23 The light from a lamp will never shine within you again. The voice of a bridegroom and bride will never be heard within you again. For your merchants were the important people of the world, and all the nations were deceived by your witchcraft.

24 The blood of the world's prophets, saints, and all who had been murdered was found within her."

28th December

Zechariah 2

- 1 Then I looked up and saw a man with a measuring line in his hand.
- 2 I asked, "Where are you going?" He responded, "To measure Jerusalem in order to determine its width and length."
- 3 Look! That angel who was talking to me left, and another angel came forward to meet him.
- 4 That other angel told him, "Run and tell that young man: 'Jerusalem will be an inhabited city without walls due to the number of people and livestock within it.
- 5 I myself will be an encircling rampart of fire,' declares the LORD, 'and I will be the glory in her midst.'
- 6 "'Come now! Come now! Flee from the land of the north,' declares the LORD, 'for I have dispersed you like the four winds of heaven ,' declares the LORD.
- 7 "'Come now, Zion! Escape, you who are living with the residents of Babylon.
- 8 For this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "In pursuit of glory I was sent to the nations who plundered you, because whoever injures you injures the pupil of my eye.
- 9 And look, I will shake my fist over them, and they will become plunder for their former slaves. And you will know that the LORD of the Heavenly Armies sent me.'""
- 10 "Sing and rejoice, daughter of Zion! Take note! I am coming to live in your midst," declares the LORD.
- 11 "Many nations will cling to the LORD at that time and will become my people. I will live in your midst, and you will know that the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has sent me to you.
- 12 The LORD will take possession of Judah as his own property in the Holy Land — and he will choose Jerusalem again.
- 13 "Be silent, every living thing, in the presence of the LORD, because he is emerging from his Holy Place."

Zechariah 3

- 1 Then I saw Joshua the High Priest standing in the presence of the angel of the LORD, with Satan standing at his right to oppose him.
- 2 The LORD told Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, Satan — in fact, may the LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! This man is a burning brand plucked from the fire, is he not?"
- 3 Now Joshua was wearing filthy clothes as he stood in the presence of the angel.
- 4 So the angel continued to tell those who were standing in his presence, "Remove his filthy clothes." And he told Joshua, "Look how I've removed your iniquity. Now I'm clothing you with fine garments."
- 5 Then I said, "Let them place a pure diadem on his head." So they placed the pure diadem on his head and clothed him with fine garments while the angel of the LORD was standing beside them.
- 6 Then the angel of the LORD gave this charge to Joshua:
- 7 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'If you will live according to my ways, and if you will keep what I have entrusted to you, then you will also administer my Temple, and you will also guard my courtyards. And I will give you access to these who serve here.
- 8 "'Listen, High Priest Joshua, you and those companions of yours who sit with you, for these men are a sign that I am presenting my servant, the Branch.
- 9 Look, the stone that I put in place in Joshua's presence — on that one stone are seven eyes. And look, I will do the engraving myself,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, 'and I will remove the perversity of that land in a single day.

10 At that time,' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, 'you will invite each of your neighbours to join you under the vine and fig tree.'"

Zechariah 4

1 Then the angel who had been speaking with me returned and woke me up as if I had been asleep.

2 Then he asked me, "What do you see?" So I said, "I have been watching — and look! — there is a menorah made completely of gold with a bowl on top of it. And there are seven lights on it, along with seven feeder channels to the lamps, which are also on top of it.

3 Two olive trees are near it, one on the right side of the bowl and one on the left."

4 Then I asked the angel who had been speaking with me, "Sir, what are these?"

5 The angel who had been speaking with me answered by asking, "You don't know what these mean, do you?" So I responded, "No, sir."

6 Then he replied to me, "This is this message from the LORD to Zerubbabel: 'Not by valour nor by strength, but only by my Spirit,' says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

7 'Who are you, great mountain? You will become a plain in Zerubbabel's presence, and he will position the capstone, exulting over it, "How beautiful! How beautiful!"'

8 Then this message from the LORD came to me again:

9 "Zerubbabel's hands have laid the foundation of this Temple, and his hands will finish it, so that you will know that the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has sent me to all of you.

10 For who has despised the time of insignificant things? They will rejoice to see the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel. These seven lights represent the eyes of the LORD, which are looking throughout all of the earth."

11 Then I asked the angel, "What are these two olive trees, one on the right of the menorah and one on the left?"

12 I also asked him a second question: "What are these two olive branches on either side of the two golden feeder channels that carry the golden oil to the seven lights?"

13 The angel replied, "You don't know what these are, do you?" I responded to him, "No, sir."

14 He said, "These are the two anointed ones, who continually stand beside the Lord of the whole earth."

Zechariah 5

1 Then I looked up and saw a flying scroll!

2 And the angel asked me, "What do you see?" I answered him, "I'm looking at a flying scroll. It's 30 feet long and fifteen feet wide."

3 He responded to me, "This is the curse that is going out over the surface of the whole earth, because, according to this side of the scroll, all thieves will be ejected, and according to the other side of the scroll, all liars will be ejected."

4 "I am bringing this about," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. "The curse will enter the house of the thief and the house of the one who lies in my name. The curse will remain in his house until that house has been completely destroyed, right down to its timber and stones."

5 Then the angel who had been talking with me stepped forward and told me, "Please look up and see what's going out."

6 So I asked, "What is it?" He replied, "This is a basket making its appearance." He also said, "This is what it appears to be in the entire land."

7 Look, a round lead cover was being lifted, and there was one woman seated inside the basket!

8 And the angel said, "This is evil!" So he shoved her back into the basket and snapped the round, lead cover over the opening.

9 Then I looked up to see two women coming forward with the wind filling their wings. (They had wings like those of a stork). They took up the basket, holding it between the earth and sky.

10 So I asked the angel who was talking to me, "Where are they taking the basket?"

11 He answered me, "To the land of Shinar, so they can build a temple to the woman in the basket. Then when its preparations are complete, the basket will be set there in its place."

Zechariah 6

1 Then I looked up and saw four chariots coming out from between two mountains! And the mountains were made of brass!

2 Attached to the first chariot were red horses. Attached to the second chariot were black horses.

3 Attached to the third chariot were white horses. Attached to the fourth chariot were speckled horses and grey horses.

4 In response, I asked the angel who had been talking with me, "Sir, what are these?"

5 The angel told me, "These are four heavenly spirits that are going out on patrol after having presented themselves to the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The black horses are headed into the north country, and the white ones are headed out after them. The speckled horses are headed toward the south country."

7 Then the grey horses went out. They were eager to go out on patrol throughout the earth, so the angel said, "Go patrol the earth." So they went out on patrol throughout the earth.

8 Then he called to me, "Look! The horses that went north have caused my spirit to rest in the north country."

9 Then this message from the LORD came to me:

10 "Go take up an offering from those who came out of the Babylonian exile, that is, from Heldai, from Tobijah, and from Jedaiah. Go along with them today into the house of Zephaniah's son Josiah, who returned from Babylon.

11 Take silver and gold and fashion crowns to set upon the head of Joshua son of Johozadak, the High Priest.

12 Then tell him, 'This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Here is the man whose name is The Branch. He will branch out from where he is and will rebuild the Temple of the LORD.

13 Yes, he will indeed rebuild the Temple of the LORD, and he will exalt its majesty by sitting and ruling on his throne. He will serve as priest on his throne, and no contention will exist between them.

14 The crowns will go to Helem, to Tobijah, to Jedaiah, and to Zephaniah's son Hen, as a memorial in the Temple of the LORD.

15 Those who are now far away will come and do reconstruction work in the Temple of the LORD. Then you will know that the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has sent me to you. This will come about if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.'"

Revelation 19

1 After these things I heard what sounded like the loud voice of a large crowd in heaven, saying, "Hallelujah! Salvation, glory, and power belong to our God.

2 His judgements are true and just. He has condemned the notorious prostitute who corrupted the world with her immorality. He has taken revenge on her for the blood of his servants."

3 A second time they said, "Hallelujah! The smoke goes up from her forever and ever."

4 The twenty-four elders and the four living creatures bowed down and worshipped God, who was sitting on the throne. They said, "Amen! Hallelujah!"

5 A voice came from the throne, saying, "Praise our God, all who serve and fear him, from the least important to the most important."

6 Then I heard what sounded like the voice of a large crowd, like the sound of raging waters, and like the sound of powerful thunderclaps, saying, "Hallelujah! The Lord our God, the Almighty, is reigning.

7 Let us rejoice, be glad, and give him glory, because the marriage of the lamb has come and his bride has made herself ready.

8 She has been given the privilege of wearing fine linen, dazzling and pure." (The fine linen represents the righteous deeds of the saints).

9 Then the angel told me, "Write this: 'How blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the lamb!'" He also told me, "These are the true words of God."

10 I bowed down at his feet to worship him, but he told me, "Don't do that! I am a fellow servant with you and with your brothers who rely on what Jesus is saying. Worship God, because what Jesus is saying is the spirit of prophecy!"

11 Then I saw heaven standing open, and there was a white horse! Its rider is named Faithful and True. He administers justice and wages war righteously.

12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many royal crowns. He has a name written on him that nobody knows except himself.

13 He is dressed in a robe dipped in blood, and his name is called the Word of God.

14 The armies of heaven, wearing fine linen, white and pure, follow him on white horses.

15 A sharp sword comes out of his mouth to strike down the nations. He will rule them with an iron rod and tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God Almighty.

16 On his robe and his thigh he has a name written: KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS

17 Then I saw an angel standing in the sun. He cried out in a loud voice to all the birds flying overhead, "Come! Gather for the great supper of God.

18 Eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of commanders, the flesh of warriors, the flesh of horses and their riders, and the flesh of all people, both free and slaves, both unimportant and important."

19 Then I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies gathered to wage war against the rider on the horse and his army.

20 The beast was captured, along with the false prophet who had performed signs on its behalf. By these signs the false prophet had deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and worshipped its image. Both of them were thrown alive into the lake of fire that burns with sulphur.

21 The rest were killed by the sword that belonged to the rider on the horse and that came from his mouth, and all the birds gorged themselves with their flesh.

Zechariah 7

- 1 During the fourth year of the reign of King Darius, a message from the LORD came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month Kislev.
- 2 The people of Bethel were sending Sharezer, Regem-melech, and their men to pray in the LORD's presence
- 3 and to speak to the priests assigned to the Temple of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies along with the prophets, asking, "Am I to go about mourning, denying myself throughout the fifth month, as I have these many years?"
- 4 Then this message from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies came to me:
- 5 "Talk to everyone in the land, as well as to the priests. Ask them, 'When you were fasting and mourning during the fifth and seventh months for the past seventy years, were you really fasting for me?'"
- 6 And when you eat and drink, you're eating and drinking for your own benefit, aren't you?
- 7 Isn't this what the LORD proclaimed through the former prophets, when a prosperous Jerusalem was inhabited, as were its surrounding cities, the Negev, and the Shephelah?"
- 8 This message from the LORD came to Zechariah again:
- 9 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Administer true justice, and show gracious love and mercy toward each other.
- 10 You are not to wrong the widow, orphans, the foreigner, or the poor, and you are not to plan evil against each other.
- 11 But they refused to pay attention, turned their backs, and stopped listening.
- 12 They made their hearts hard like a diamond, to keep from obeying the Law and the messages that the LORD of the Heavenly Armies sent by his Spirit through the former prophets.
- 13 Therefore, just as when I cried out and they would not listen, so also they will cry out, and I will not listen,' says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.
- 14 'I will scatter them to all of the nations, which they have not known.' Now the earth was left desolate after them. As a result, no one came or went because they had turned a pleasant land into a desert.

Zechariah 8

- 1 This is this message from the LORD of the Heavenly Armies:
- 2 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'I'm greatly jealous about Zion, and that makes me furious about her.'
- 3 "This is what the LORD says: 'I will return to Zion and I will live in the midst of Jerusalem. And Jerusalem will be called "The City of Truth" and the mountain of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies will be called "The Holy Mountain".'
- 4 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'There will yet be old men and old women sitting in the parks of Jerusalem, each one of them holding canes in their hands due to their old age!
- 5 The city parks will be filled with boys and girls. They will play in the city's open parks.'
- 6 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'It may seem impossible to the survivors of this people, but is it impossible for me?' declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.
- 7 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Look! After having saved my people from the land of the east and from the land of the west,
- 8 I will also bring them back to live in the midst of Jerusalem. They will be my people and I will truly be their righteous God."

9 "This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: 'Be strong so the Temple can be built, you who are now listening to this message spoken by the prophets when the foundation was laid to the Temple of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

10 Before then, everyone was unemployed — even the draught animals — and no one was safe coming or going because of the enemy, because I caused everyone to oppose each other.

11 "'But now I will not treat the survivors of this people as I did formerly," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

12 "For there will be a sowing of peace: the vine will produce its fruit, the earth will produce its full yield, the sky will produce its dew, and I will make the survivors of this people inherit all these things.

13 Furthermore, house of Judah and house of Israel, even though you used to be a curse among the nations, now I will surely save you, and you will be a blessing. Stop being afraid. Instead, grow stronger."

14 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "Just as I intended to bring harm to you when your ancestors angered me," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and I did not relent, 15 so I have decided at this time to do good things for Jerusalem and for the house of Judah. So stop being afraid.

16 Here's what you must do: tell the truth to your neighbours, administer true and peaceful justice in your courtrooms,

17 don't plot evil in your heart against a neighbour, and don't tolerate false testimonies, because I hate all these things," declares the LORD.

18 Once again this message from the LORD come to me:

19 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "The fasts that occur in the fourth, fifth, seventh, and tenth months will be joyful and glad times for the house of Judah, replete with cheerful feasts. Therefore, love truth and peace."

20 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "In the future, people will come, including residents of many cities,

21 and they will travel from one place to another place and say, 'Let's go quickly to pray in the presence of the LORD and to inquire of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.' And I will go, too.

22 Many people and powerful nations will come to inquire of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies in Jerusalem, and to pray in the presence of the LORD."

23 This is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "In the future, ten men speaking all the languages of the nations will grab hold of one Jewish person by the hem of his garment and say, 'Let us go up to Jerusalem with you, because we heard that God is with you.'"

Zechariah 9

1 A declaration: this message from the LORD in the land of Hadrach, with Damascus its confederate, because the eyes of humanity will look to the LORD, along with those of all the tribes of Israel.

2 Also Hamath, which borders on it — along with Tyre and Sidon — indeed they are very wise.

3 "Tyre built itself a fortification, hoarding silver like dust and pure gold like mud in a street.

4 Look! The Lord will evict her, striking at her power in the sea, and she will be consumed by fire.

5 Ashkelon will see it happen and will be terrified; Gaza will tremble greatly. Ekron will be ashamed of her expectations, Gaza's king will perish, and Ashkelon will become uninhabited.

6 A strange people will inhabit Ashdod, and I will eliminate the arrogance of Philistia.

7 I will remove the blood from its mouth, along with its abominations from between its teeth. Its survivors will be dedicated to our God; It will be like a clan of Judah, and Ekron will be as a Jebusite.

8 I will set a garrison around my Temple, to hinder those who might come and go, and to guard against oppressors who intend to invade; for I have taken note of this with my eyes."

9 "Rejoice greatly, daughter of Zion; cry out, daughter of Jerusalem! Look! Your king is coming to you. He is righteous, and he is able to save. He is humble, and is riding on a colt, the foal of a donkey.

10 I will banish chariots from Ephraim and horses from Jerusalem. War weapons will be banished, and your king will speak peace to the nations. His dominion will extend from sea to sea, and from the River to the farthest portion of the earth.

11 Now concerning you and my blood covenant with you, I have liberated your prisoners from a waterless pit.

12 Return to your fortress, you prisoners who have hope. Even today I am telling you: In return I will repay you double.

13 For I have bent Judah as if it were my bow, loading it with Ephraim. I raised up your sons, Zion, against your sons, Greece, wielding you like a mighty warrior's sword.

14 The LORD will appear over them — his arrow will shoot like lightning. The Lord GOD will blow the trumpet, and go out with the southern windstorm.

15 The LORD of the Heavenly Armies will defend them; they will devour and conquer those who sling stones. They will drink and be boisterous like those who are drunk. They will be filled to the brim with blood, like the corners of the altar.

16 The LORD their God will save them at that time as his very own flock of people, because they are his crown jewels, exalted throughout his land.

17 For how great is his goodness, and how great is his beauty! Grain will make the young men thrive, and new wine the virgins.

Revelation 20

- 1 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding the key to the bottomless pit, with a large chain in his hand.
- 2 He captured the dragon, that ancient serpent, also known as the devil and Satan, and tied him up for a thousand years.
- 3 He threw him into the bottomless pit, locked it, and sealed it over him to keep him from deceiving the nations anymore until the thousand years were over. After that he must be set free for a little while.
- 4 Then I saw thrones, and those who sat on them were given authority to judge. I also saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of their testimony about Jesus and because of the word of God. They had not worshipped the beast or its image and had not received its mark on their foreheads or hands. They came back to life and ruled with the Messiah for a thousand years.
- 5 The rest of the dead did not come back to life until the thousand years were over. This is the first resurrection.
- 6 How blessed and holy are those who participate in the first resurrection! The second death has no power over them. They will be priests of God and the Messiah, and will rule with him for a thousand years.
- 7 When the thousand years are over, Satan will be freed from his prison.
- 8 He will go out to deceive Gog and Magog, the nations at the four corners of the earth, and gather them for war. They are as numerous as the sands of the seashore.
- 9 They marched over the broad expanse of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city. Fire came from God out of heaven and burned them up,
- 10 and the devil who deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulphur, where the beast and the false prophet were. They will be tortured day and night forever and ever.
- 11 Then I saw a large, white throne and the one who was sitting on it. The earth and the heavens fled from his presence, and no place was found for them.
- 12 I saw the dead, both unimportant and important, standing in front of the throne, and books were open. Another book was opened — the Book of Life. The dead were judged according to their actions, as recorded in the books.
- 13 The sea gave up the dead that were in it, and Death and Hades gave up the dead that were in them, and all were judged according to their actions.
- 14 Death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. (This is the second death — the lake of fire).
- 15 Anyone whose name was not found written in the Book of Life was thrown into the lake of fire.

Revelation 21

- 1 Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, because the first heaven and the first earth had disappeared, and the sea was gone.
- 2 I also saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared like a bride adorned for her husband.
- 3 I heard a loud voice from the throne say, "See, the tent of God is among humans! He will make his home with them, and they will be his people. God himself will be with them, and he will be their God.
- 4 He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There won't be death anymore. There won't be any grief, crying, or pain, because the first things have disappeared."
- 5 The one sitting on the throne said, "See, I am making all things new!" He said, "Write this: 'These words are trustworthy and true.'"

30th December

Zechariah 10

1 "Ask the LORD for rain in the spring — the LORD who fashions lightning thunderstorms, giving rain showers to mankind along with grain in the fields.

2 Truly the family idols talk nonsense and the diviners discern lies, describing delusional dreams. Since their comfort is vacuous, they wander off on their own like sheep, because there is no shepherd.

3 "Against the shepherds my anger rises — I am punishing the leaders also, because the LORD of the Heavenly Armies has visited his flock, the house of Judah, appointing them as his royal war horse for battle.

4 From them arises the cornerstone and tent peg, from them the battle bow, from them arise all sorts of oppressive rulers.

5 They will be like mighty soldiers who trample mud in the streets during battle. They will fight because the LORD is with them, and the opposing horsemen will be confused.

6 "I will fortify the house of Judah, and the house of Joseph I will save. I will surely bring them back, because I care about them. They will be as if I had never cast them away. Since I am the LORD their God, I will answer them.

7 "The people of Ephraim will become like mighty soldiers; they will be glad, like those who have wine. Their children will see this and rejoice; their hearts will find joy in the Lord.

8 I will whistle for them, gathering them together, because I have redeemed them, and they will multiply as they were before.

9 I will scatter them among the nations, and so they will remember me in distant countries. They will rear their children, and they will return.

10 I will bring them once again out of the land of Egypt, gathering them from Assyria. I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, but there will not be enough space for them.

11 They will pass through the sea of affliction, and they will strike the waves in that sea. All of the depths of the Nile will evaporate, Assyria's arrogance will be brought down low, and the ruling power of Egypt will disappear.

12 "I will strengthen them in the LORD, and they will march here and there in his name," declares the LORD.

Zechariah 11

1 Open your doors, Lebanon, and fire will consume your cedars.

2 Wail, cypress tree, for the cedar has fallen while the stately trees are destroyed. Wail, oak trees of Bashan, for the old growth forest has been cut down.

3 Hear the wailing of the shepherds, for the magnificence of the forest is ruined! Hear the roar of the lions, for the Jordan's arrogance is ruined!

4 This is what the LORD my God says: "Shepherd the flock marked for slaughter.

5 Their buyers slaughter them without being punished, continuing to sell them as they say, 'Bless the LORD!' and 'I'm rich!' Meanwhile, their shepherds show them no compassion.

6 Therefore I will no longer show compassion upon those who live in the land," declares the LORD. Look, I will deliver every single person into the control of his neighbour and into the control of the king. Even though they assault the land, I will not deliver it from their control."

7 So I became shepherd of the flock marked for slaughter, paying attention to the oppressed of the flock. I took two staffs — naming one "Pleasant" and the other one "Union" — and then I pastured the flock.

8 In a single month I got rid of three shepherds because I grew tired of them, and they despised me.

9 So I said, "I will no longer be your shepherd. Let those who are about to die perish, and let what is about to be destroyed be destroyed. As for the survivors, let them devour each other."

10 Then I took the staff that I had named "Pleasant" and broke it, showing I was breaking my covenant that I had made with all of the people.

11 It was broken at that time so the oppressed of the flock who were observing me would know that it had been a message from the LORD.

12 I told them, "If it's alright with you, pay me what I've earned. But if it isn't, don't." So they paid out what I had earned — 30 shekels of silver.

13 Then the LORD told me, "Throw the money into the treasury — that magnificent value they placed on me!" So I took the 30 shekels of silver and threw them into the treasury of the Temple of the LORD.

14 Then I broke my second staff — the one I had named "Union" — breaking the union between the house of Judah and the house of Israel.

15 The LORD told me, "Pick up the tools of a worthless shepherd again,

16 for I am now raising up a shepherd in the land who will neither search for the lost, nor care for the young, nor fix the broken, nor sustain the healthy. Instead, he will devour the meat of the best of the sheep, tearing off their hoofs."

17 "Woe to the worthless shepherd, who deserts the flock! May the sword strike his arm and his right eye. May his arm wither and his right eye be completely blind."

Zechariah 12

1 A declaration:

a message from the LORD to Israel. The LORD, who stretches out the heavens, who lays the foundation of the earth, and who frames the spirit of man within himself, declares,

2 "Look, I am making Jerusalem an unstable cup toward all of its surrounding armies when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem.

3 It will come about at that time that I will make Jerusalem a heavy weight; so everyone who burdens themselves with it will be crushed, even though all of the nations of the earth gather themselves against it.

4 At that time," declares the LORD, "I will strike every horse with panic and every rider with insanity. I will keep my eyes on the house of Judah, but I will blind every horse of the invading armies.

5 "The leaders of Judah will say to themselves, 'Those who live in Jerusalem are my strength through the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, their God.

6 At that time, I will make the leaders of Judah like a brazier filled with blazing wood, or like a torch setting fire to harvested grain. They will devour all the invading armies, both on the right hand and on the left. As a result, Jerusalem will again be inhabited in its rightful place — as the real Jerusalem.

7 "The LORD will deliver the tents of Judah first, so that neither the glory of the house of David nor the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem overshadows Judah.

8 At that time, the LORD will defend those who live in Jerusalem, and the one who is feeble among them at that time will be like David. The entire house of David will be like God — indeed, like the angel of the LORD in their midst!

9 "At that time, I will search out and destroy all of the nations who have come against Jerusalem.

10 I will pour out on the house of David and on the residents of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and of supplications, and they will look to me — the one whom they pierced."

11 At that time, Jerusalem will mourn deeply, like the mourning about Hadad-rimmon that took place in the plain of Megiddo.

12 And so the land will mourn, families by families alone by themselves — the family of the house of David by itself with their wives by themselves, the family of the house of Nathan by itself with their wives by themselves,
13 the family of the house of Levi by itself with their wives by themselves, the family of Shimei by itself with their wives by themselves —
14 all of the surviving families by themselves, along with their wives by themselves.

Zechariah 13

1 At that time, a fountain will be opened for the house of David and for those who live in Jerusalem so they can be cleansed from sin and ceremonial impurity.
2 "At that time," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "I will eliminate the names of the idols from the land, and they will not be remembered anymore. I will also force both prophet and demon to leave the land.
3 "It will also come about that if any man would dare to prophesy, then his father and his mother who bore him will respond to him, 'You will not live, because you are speaking lies in the name of the LORD.' Then his father and mother who bore him will stab him for prophesying.
4 "Furthermore, it will come about at that time that every prophet will become ashamed of his vision as he prophesies. They will wear no rough garments intended to deceive others."
5 "He will say, 'I am no mere prophet. A servant of mankind am I, because a man dedicated to this have I been from my youth.'
6 "Someone will say to him, 'What are these injuries to your hands?' "He will reply, 'They're what I received at my friend's house.'
7 "Arise, sword, against my shepherd, against the mighty one who is related to me," declares the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. "Strike the shepherd, the sheep will be scattered, and I will turn against the insignificant ones.
8 It will come about in all of the land," declares the LORD, "that two thirds of the people living there will die, but a third will survive who live there.
9 And I will bring that surviving third through, testing them as if through fire, purifying them like silver, assaying them like gold. They will call on my name, and I will answer them. I will say, 'This is my people,' and they will say, "The LORD is my God."

Zechariah 14

1 "Look! A day is coming for the LORD, when your plunder will be divided among you.
2 I will gather all the nations against Jerusalem, to lay siege against it. The city will be captured, the houses will be ransacked, the women raped, and half of the city will go into exile, but the remaining people will not be cut off from the city.
3 "Then the LORD will go out to battle against those nations, waging war as in a day of battle.
4 His feet will stand in that day on the Mount of Olives, east of Jerusalem. Then the Mount of Olives will be split in two from east to west, forming a very large valley, with half of the mountain moving toward the north and half toward the south.
5 "You will run away through my mountain valley, because the valley of the mountains will extend as far as Azal. You will flee, as you fled from the earthquake during the reign of King Uzziah of Judah. And so the LORD my God will come, and all his holy ones will be accompanying you."
6 "At that time, the daylight will be neither bright nor overcast.
7 It will be a unique day, known only to the LORD — neither daytime nor night-time — and it will come about at twilight there will be light!
8 At that time, flowing waters will run perennially from Jerusalem, half toward the Dead Sea and half to the Mediterranean Sea.

9 The LORD will be king over all the earth at that time. There will be one LORD, and his name the only one.

10 The entire land will become like the Arabah plain from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem. It will be raised up and inhabited where it is, from the Gate of Benjamin to the First Gate, then to the Corner Gate, to the Hananel Tower, and to the king's winepresses.

11 People will live there, there will be no more destruction, and Jerusalem will be safely inhabited."

12 "This will be the plague with which the LORD inflicts all of the people who have attacked Jerusalem: he will cause their flesh to rot away, even while they're standing on their feet. He will cause their eyes to rot away in their sockets, and their tongues to rot away in their mouths.

Revelation 21

6 Then he told me, "It has happened! I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. I will freely give a drink from the spring of the water of life to the one who is thirsty.

7 The person who conquers will inherit these things. I will be his God, and he will be my son.

8 But people who are cowardly, unfaithful, detestable, murderers, sexually immoral, sorcerers, idolaters, and all liars will find themselves in the lake that burns with fire and sulphur. This is the second death."

9 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came to me and said, "Come! I will show you the bride, the wife of the lamb."

10 He carried me away in the Spirit to a large, high mountain and showed me the holy city, Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven.

11 The glory of God was its radiance, and its light was like a valuable gem, like jasper, as clear as crystal.

12 It had a large, high wall with twelve gates. Twelve angels were at the gates, and the names of the twelve tribes of Israel were written on the gates.

13 There were three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three gates on the south, and three gates on the west.

14 The wall of the city had twelve foundations, and the twelve names of the twelve apostles of the lamb were written on them.

15 The angel who was talking to me had a gold measuring rod to measure the city, its gates, and its walls.

16 The city was square: its length was the same as its width. He measured the city with his rod, and it was about 1,374 miles long. Its length, width, and height were the same.

17 He also measured its wall. According to the human measurement that the angel was using, it was 252 feet.

18 Its wall was made of jasper. The city was made of pure gold, as clear as glass.

19 The foundations of the city wall were decorated with all kinds of gems: The first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third agate, the fourth emerald,

20 the fifth onyx, the sixth carnelian, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth and the twelfth amethyst.

21 The twelve gates were twelve pearls, and each gate was made of a single pearl. The street of the city was made of pure gold, as clear as glass.

22 I saw no temple in it, because the Lord God Almighty and the lamb are its temple.

23 The city doesn't need any sun or moon to give it light, because the glory of God gave it light, and the lamb was its lamp.

24 The nations will walk in its light, and the kings of the earth will bring their glory into it.

25 Its gates will never be shut at the end of the day — because there will be no night there.

26 People will bring the glory and wealth of the nations into it.

27 Nothing unclean, or anyone who does anything detestable, and no one who tells lies will ever enter it. Only those whose names are written in the lamb's Book of Life will enter it.

31st December

Zechariah 14

13 At that time, they will be stricken with a terrible panic from the LORD. Everyone will attack each other.

14 Judah, too, will fight at Jerusalem. Then the wealth of the surrounding nations will be gathered up: gold, silver, and clothing in great abundance.

15 "A similar plague will also strike horses, mules, camels, donkeys, and all of the animals in those camps."

16 "It will come about that all of the survivors of the nations who came against Jerusalem will come there from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, and to observe the Feast of Tents.

17 If anyone from the families of the earth will not come to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, there will be no rain for them.

18 "If the people of Egypt do not come to Jerusalem to take part, they will have no annual Nile overflow. A plague will come from the LORD to strike the nations who do not come to observe the Feast of Tents.

19 This will be the punishment for Egypt and all nations who do not come to observe the Feast of Tents."

20 "At that time, there will be written on the bells of the horses: HOLINESS TO THE LORD and the pots in the Temple of the LORD will be like the bowls in front of the altar —

21 every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah will be consecrated to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. Everyone who offers sacrifices will come, will take them, and will cook in them. Furthermore, at that time, there will no longer be a Canaanite in the Temple of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies."

Malachi 1

1 A declaration:

a message from the LORD to Israel by Malachi.

2 "I've loved you," says the LORD. "But you ask, 'How have you loved us?' "Was not Esau Jacob's brother?" declares the LORD, "yet I loved Jacob,

3 rejected Esau, turned his mountains into a wasteland, and gave his inheritance to desert jackals.

4 Even though Edom may claim, 'We were crushed, but we will return and rebuild the ruins,' this is what the LORD of the Heavenly Armies says: "They may rebuild, but I'll demolish. People will call them 'The Wicked Land,' and 'The People With Whom the LORD is Forever Angry.'

5 Your own eyes will see this, and you will say 'Great is the LORD even beyond the borders of Israel!'"

6 "A son honours his father and a servant his master. So if I'm a father, where is my honour? And if I'm a master, where is my respect?" says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies to you priests who are despising my name. "But you ask, 'How have we despised your name?'

7 By presenting defiled food on my altar. And you ask 'How have we defiled you?' By saying 'The Table of the LORD is contemptible.'

8 When you bring blind animals for sacrifice, is that not wrong? And when you sacrifice crippled or diseased animals, is that not wrong? Offer that to your governor — would he be pleased with you or receive you favourably?" asks the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

9 "And now, go ahead and implore God by saying, 'Be gracious to us.' Will he receive you favourably and accept offerings like that from your hand?" asks the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

10 "Oh, that one of you would shut the Temple doors and not light useless fires on the altar! I'm not pleased with you," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and I'll accept no offerings from you.

11 Even so, from where the sun rises to where it sets my name will be great among the Gentiles. Incense will be brought to me everywhere, along with pure offerings, because my name will be great among the Gentiles," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

12 "But you are profaning my name by saying that the Table of the LORD is defiled and that its fruit and its food are contemptible.

13 "And you say 'What a burden!' and sniff contemptuously at it," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "when you present maimed, crippled, and diseased animals, and when you bring the offering. Should I accept this from your hand?" asks the LORD.

14 "Cursed is the deceiver who has an acceptable male in his flock, and vows to give it, but sacrifices a mutilated one to the LORD. Indeed, I am a great king," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and my name is feared among the Gentiles."

Malachi 2

1 "Now this commandment is for you priests:

2 "If you don't listen, and if you don't choose to give honour to my name," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "then I'll curse both you and your blessings. I've even cursed them already, because none of you are taking it to heart.

3 Look! I'm rebuking your descendants because of you, and I'll spread waste on your faces, the waste of your festival sacrifices, and you will be carried off with it.

4 "You will know that I sent this commandment to you in order to continue my covenant with Levi," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

5 "My covenant with him was for life and peace, and I gave the commandments to him so he would fear me. He did fear me as he stood in my presence.

6 True teachings were in his mouth, and falsehood was not found on his lips. He walked with me peacefully and righteously, and he turned many from sin.

7 For the lips of a priest should preserve knowledge, and people should seek instruction from his mouth, because he's the messenger of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

8 "But you priests turned aside from the way, and by your teaching you caused many to stumble. You have violated the covenant of Levi," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

9 "So I also made you despised, humiliating you before all of the people, because you aren't following my ways and are showing partiality when you teach."

10 Do we not have one father? Has not one God created us? Why does each of us act deceitfully, each man against his own brother, to profane the covenant of our ancestors?

11 Judah has become unfaithful, and a detestable thing was committed in Israel and Jerusalem. Indeed, Judah profaned the Holy Place of the LORD, which he loves, and married a daughter of a foreign god.

12 May the LORD exclude from the community of Jacob any man who does this, whoever he may be, even though he brings offerings to the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

13 "This is another thing you do: you flood the altar of the LORD with tears, weeping and wailing because he no longer pays attention to your offering nor takes pleasure in it from your hand.

14 Yet you ask, 'For what reason?' Because the LORD acts as a witness between you and the wife of your youth, because you were unfaithful to her, your partner, the wife of your covenant.

15 Did he not make them one? And the vestige of the spirit remains in him. And why did he make them one? He was seeking godly offspring. So guard yourselves in your spirit, and don't be unfaithful to the wife of your youth.

16 "Indeed, the LORD God of Israel says that he hates divorce, along with the one who conceals his violence by outward appearances," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. "So guard yourselves carefully, and don't be unfaithful."

17 "You have wearied the LORD with your words. You ask, 'How have we wearied you?' By your saying 'All who do evil are good in the eyes of the LORD and he's pleased with them,' or 'Where is the God of justice?'"

Malachi 3

1 "Watch out! I'm sending my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the LORD you are looking for will come to his Temple. He is the messenger of the covenant whom you desire. Watch out! He is coming!" says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

2 But who will survive the day when he comes? Or who can stand when he appears? For he's like a refiner's fire and a launderer's soap.

3 He will sit refining and purifying silver, purifying the descendants of Levi, refining them like gold and silver. Then they'll bring a righteous offering to the LORD.

4 Then the offering to the LORD by Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable as it was in the past, even as in former years.

5 "I'll come near to you for judgement. I'll be a witness, quick to speak against sorcerers, against adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those who defraud the labourer of his wage, against those who defraud the widow and the orphan, against those who deprive the alien of justice, and against those who don't fear me," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

6 "Because I the LORD don't change; therefore you children of Jacob, aren't destroyed."

7 "Even since the time of your ancestors you have turned away from my decrees and haven't kept them. Return to me and I'll return to you," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies. "But you ask, 'How will we return?'"

8 Will a person rob God? Yet you are robbing me! But you ask, 'How are we robbing you?' By the tithe and the offering.

9 You are cursed under the curse — the entire nation — because you are robbing me!"

10 "Bring the entire tithe into the storehouse that there may be food in my house. So, put me to the test in this right now," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "and see if I won't throw open the windows of heaven for you and pour out on you blessing without measure.

11 And I'll prevent the devourer from harming you, so that he does not destroy the crops of your land. Nor will the vines in your fields drop their fruit," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

12 "Then all the nations will call you blessed, for you will be a land of delight," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

13 "You have spoken arrogant words against me," says the LORD. "Yet you ask, 'What did we say against you?'

14 You said, 'It is futile to serve God,' and 'What did we get out of it when we carried out his requirements and went about like mourners in the presence of the LORD of the Heavenly Armies?'

15 and 'Now we call the arrogant one blessed. Those who do evil prosper and those who challenge God escape the consequences.'"

16 Then those who feared the LORD talked with each other. The LORD listened and took note, and a scroll of remembrance was written in his presence about those who fear the LORD and honour His name.

17 "They'll be mine," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "in the day when I prepare my treasured possession. I'll spare them, just as a man spares his own son who serves him.

18 When you return, you will see the difference between the righteous and the wicked, between the one who serves God and the one who does not."

Malachi 4

1 "Truly, the coming day is burning like a furnace. All the arrogant and all who practise evil will be stubble. The coming day will set them on fire," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies, "so that it will leave them neither root nor branch.

2 But the Sun of Righteousness will arise with healing in its light for those who fear my name. You will go out and leap like calves released from their stalls

3 and trample down the wicked. Indeed, they will become ashes under the soles of your feet on the day I do this," says the LORD of the Heavenly Armies.

4 "Remember the Law of Moses my servant that I gave him at Horeb for all Israel — both the decrees and laws.

5 Pay attention! I'm sending Elijah the prophet to you before the great and dreadful Day of the LORD comes,

6 and he will turn the hearts of fathers to children, and the hearts of children to their fathers. Otherwise, I'll come, strike the land, and utterly destroy it."

Revelation 22

1 Then the angel showed me the river of the water of life, as clear as crystal. It was flowing from the throne of God and the lamb.

2 Between the city street and the river, the tree of life was visible from each side. It produced twelve kinds of fruit, each month having its own fruit. The leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations.

3 There will no longer be any curse. The throne of God and the lamb will be in the city. His servants will worship him

4 and see his face, and his name will be on their foreheads.

5 There will be no more night, and they will not need any light from lamps or the sun because the Lord God will shine on them. They will rule forever and ever.

6 He told me, "These words are trustworthy and true. The Lord God of the spirits and of the prophets has sent his messenger to show his servants the things that must happen soon."

7 "See! I am coming soon! How blessed is the person who keeps the words of the prophecy in this book!"

8 I, John, heard and saw these things. When I had heard and seen them, I bowed down to worship at the feet of the angel who had been showing me these things.

9 But he told me, "Don't do that! I am a fellow servant with you, your brothers the prophets, and those who keep the words in this book. Worship God!"

10 Then he told me, "Don't seal up the words of the prophecy in this book, because the time is near.

11 Let the one who does what is evil continue to do what is evil. Let the filthy person continue to be filthy. Let the righteous person continue to do what is right. And let the holy person continue to be holy."

12 "See! I am coming soon! My reward is with me to repay everyone according to his action.

13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

14 "How blessed are those who wash their robes so that they may have the right to the tree of life and may go through the gates into the city!

15 Outside are dogs, sorcerers, immoral people, murderers, idolaters, and everyone who loves and practises falsehood.

16 "I, Jesus, have sent my angel to give this testimony to you for the churches. I am the root and descendent of David, the bright morning star."

17 The Spirit and the bride say, "Come!" Let everyone who hears this say, "Come!" Let everyone who is thirsty come! Let anyone who wants the water of life take it as a gift!

18 I warn everyone who hears the words of the prophecy in this book: If anyone adds anything to them, God will strike him with the plagues that are written in this book.

19 If anyone takes away any words from the book of this prophecy, God will take away his portion of the tree of life and the holy city that are described in this book.

20 The one who is testifying to these things says, "Yes, I am coming soon!" Amen! Come, Lord Jesus!

21 May the grace of the Lord Jesus be with all the saints. Amen.
